

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP

It is the purpose of this announcement to give notice to the public that Charles W. Proctor has taken over the business and good will of the firm of G. W. Palmer & Son. Mr. Proctor has been associated with the establishment for the past 20 years, and since 1919 has been manager of the business. The old firm name will be continued and the time honored traditions and customs maintained.

Don't Tell Me How It Works Or I'll Walk Out On You

I AM the average prospect. I am "the man on the street" who comes in, attracted by your window display or by your advertising and says "I hear you got a good radio set."

Don't think for a minute that I understand why it is necessary to have two kinds of batteries to run a radio set.

Don't think that I know anything about how a vacuum tube works, or the difference between a plate and a grid—except in the kitchen.

Don't think that I know what a wavelength is or how a condenser condenses, or what is the mysterious function of the variocoupler.

Honest, Mister Dealer, I know as little about these things as I know about what makes the telephone work, which is nothing.

All I know about a radio set is that it is a machine which (when some wise man sets it up and connects the batteries for me) will bring in some music, some speeches, some interesting news from all over the Continent—and these things I would like to get.

Set me down in front of a Day-Pan. Let me turn the dial myself and be surprised at the ease with which I get whatever is on the air. Show me a newspaper number and tell me to turn the Day-Pan dial to it. I can understand that.

When I have once found out how easy it is to get the broadcast, point out to me that the sound of that piano is the same as if the piano were in the next room; that that speaker's voice might be the voice of somebody at the front door.

I can understand that, because you are only asking me to take the evidence of my own ears.

Then tell how Little Day-Pan costs, with its greater range, with its greater selectivity, with its more beautiful tone, as compared with other radio receivers costing two and three times as much.

That's the way to sell me, Mister Dealer.

I'll ask you to bring the radio up to the house that very night and set it up for me.

If you try to tell me how it works, I'll walk out on you.

THE ROTARY CLUB

Hears Two Fine Papers and a Concert—The Slave Yacht Wanderer.

Two subjects of general interest engrossed the attention of the 41 Rotarians present at yesterday's meeting in the Thorndike Hotel. "What Is Steel?" The answer was given by A. Bruce Higgins, proprietor of the Higgins Automotive Repair Shop, and the information imparted by the speaker was a revelation to the majority of his hearers. The other speaker was Capt. Israel Snow, and his topic was a nautical nature, having to do with the yacht Wanderer which was at one time owned and sailed by his father.

Another form of entertainment which lent much pleasure to the program was the concert under the direction of L. W. Fickett of the Maine Music Store on an Orthophonic Victrola.

The visiting Rotarians yesterday were A. J. Huston, Portland, Harry McDevlin, Damariscotta and A. V. Elmore and Frank P. Alexander, Camden.

Capt. Snow's paper follows:

President Walter, Rotarians and guests, your committee commands we Rotarians respond, hence this sketch, written partly from memory, partly from an article published in The Rudder several years ago, but mostly from information from my father, the late I. L. Snow, who owned and sailed this wonderful masterpiece of American shipbuilder's skill, the yacht Wanderer.

To many of you she is, perhaps, known at all, just a memory, but to us, the Snow family, she is indeed a reality. The Wanderer was built at Port Jefferson, Long Island, for the slave trade, modeled by the same hand that shaped the America of glorious memory and on somewhat the same lines, sharp dished hull, a hollow water-line, sharp dead rise, clean run and considerable tumble in to her quarters.

The Lamars of South Carolina and Savannah contracted for her and there was considerable mystery as to her ownership and future occupation during her building, but the fact that water containers of metal were built in between her timbers, as found at the time she was repaired, is good proof that she was meant for long voyages and large passenger lists.

The government officials watched her very closely, but through some arrangement she sailed under the flag of the New York Yacht Club and made several trips to Africa. Knowledge of her movements at this time is rather hazy, but there is record that she was boarded by an officer of an English sloop of war off the coast of Africa. The captain made the testaments before the flag of the New York Yacht Club and made several trips to Africa.

FISH ACCEPTS WARDENSHIP

State Probation Officer To Succeed Mr. Eaton—Deputy Colgan Retained, and Guards To Be Reinstated.

The State board of Prison Commissioners in session Wednesday at the State House settled the question of the wardenship of the State's Prison at Thomaston by a unanimous vote appointing State Probation Officer F. Morris Fish of Hallowell, to succeed Warden Lester D. Eaton, resigned. Mr. Fish has accepted the position and will enter upon his new duties Dec. 1.

The prison commissioners assert that "Mr. Fish has never been a candidate; he accepts the appointment not as the result of his desire but in response to what the Commission presented to him as a public duty."

Mr. Fish will become warden at the same salary and emoluments as were received by Warden Eaton, the salary amounting to $3000, payable monthly, and the additional emoluments consisting of the rent of the warden's house at Thomaston, with heat, light and water, and such products from the prison farm as he may require for his household. This was determined by the Governor and Council, who were in conference with the Prison Commissioners Wednesday afternoon. The Governor and Council have the duty of determining the salary of all new State employees.

During the prison investigation the name of Mr. Fish was mentioned as a possible candidate in case the wardenship was vacated by Mr. Eaton, but at that time it was understood that Mr. Fish preferred to remain in his present position as State Probation Officer.

Reviewing the qualifications of Mr. Fish for the office to which he has been appointed, the Prison Commissioners issued the following statement Wednesday:

"The Prison Commissioners today by unanimous vote appointed F. Morris Fish of Hallowell as warden, and he has accepted the position."

Mr. Fish has never been a candidate; he accepts the appointment not as the result of his desire but in response to what the commission presented to him as a public duty.

Here is a Maine man, a clean man, a strong man, one of the best-trained men in New England. He knows everybody in Maine, everybody knows him.

Not one word of criticism has ever been or can be justly made of him. He has made a success of his own affairs and as State Probation Officer he has a record unsurpassed by any like office in this country.

He is one of the substantial citizens of the city of Hallowell, interested in all good works, has been city marshal and from its incorporation has been a trustee of the Hallowell Trust and Banking Company. For six years he was president of the Hallowell Loan and Building Association.

He was postmaster of the city of Hallowell for eight and one-half years. He has had an unusual training for this position.

He was for four years deputy sheriff of Kennebec County under Sheriff Hann.

For five years he was with the Fuller-Holway Company and thus became thoroughly posted in the buying and handling of merchandise.

Since 1918 he has been State Probation Officer and as such has had in his charge all the men paroled from the State Prison.

He is the warden or by himself he had for years conveyed all prisoners to the prison.

Mr. Fish's duties have thus taken him to Thomaston once or twice a week for all these years.

He knows the prison thoroughly; and of which comes rolling down to me even now.

The next winter father made several trips to the West Indies buying and selling his own cargoes, as was customary at that time. He loaded her with potatoes for Savannah, which he put peddlers on the streets and sold his cargo, bought a cargo of lumber and proceeded to Curacao where he sold at $33 per M. profit; loaded salt for Baltimore, thence to Savannah, lumber to Curacao, thence to Turk's Island and salt to Rockland.

The Wanderer was later stranded on Cape Henlopen on her way from Brazil, sold to Philadelphia parties, who loaded and repaired her and sent her to the Mosquito Coast. She was lost on her second trip on the Colorado Reef, northwest coast of Cuba. I have in my office two legions that were taken out from between her timbers when she was repaired. She is a set of balance scales and a panel of bird's eye maple. Her old bowsprit is a part of the wharf near where we build the vessels at the railway and that is all that is left of the wonderful yacht, excepting her reputation among the legends that are occasionally told around the stove at the Barnacle Club of her wonderful sailing qualities.

It was said that she was never out-sailed, even after having her mast shortened 10 feet and her sail plan reduced accordingly. I have heard my father say that nothing under sail could compare with her.

At one time when going to Matanzas they fed her with the fleet of Gloucester mackerel fishermen off Munroe's Island. The fishermen, seeing the Wanderer coming and knowing her reputation, started the best one of the fleet to try conclusions with her, but in less than half an hour the fisherman was so badly beaten that they gave up the race.

At another time she left her anchorage off Matanzas in the face of a southeaster to come to Rockland. Taking a departure from the Wooden Ball she passed in by Owl's Head in one hour, a distance of over 18 miles. At another time the writer was aboard when beating down the Muskege Ridge Channel in company with a large fleet of coasters; the Wanderer walked through them as though they were at anchor. The last I saw of her she was at the railway wharf fitting away for a voyage to Brazil under command of the late Joseph Thorndike. She had her yard crossed to swing a square foresail. She never came back to Rockland.

STRAND THEATRE
"Dollar Down," with Ruth Roland and Henry B. Walthall and $50,000 Reward will be shown at the Strand the last times today.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the management takes pride in presenting the feature picture "Drusilla with a Million," which is a story of a pathetic little old lady, long a charity inmate of an Old Ladies' Home—And suddenly, out of the clear sky, a bolt of good fortune strikes! She inherits a million dollars! What she does with it, her troubles and her joys in befriending her former "girl" friends and in trying to provide a gorgeous home for all the orphan babies in the world, form the background of a wonderful story which, as most people will remember, was Elizabeth Cooper's popular best-selling novel under the title of "Drusilla with a Million" not so long ago. With a splendid cast which includes Mary Carr, Kenneth Harlan, William Humphrey, Priscilla Bonner and Claire Du Barry.

Drusilla, the great magician, and his company are coming to the Strand Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, featuring Edwin Brush, the brilliant, dexterous, daring magician, entertainer and illusionist, and Miss Ada Mary Porter, mezzo-contralto, who sings in English, French, German and Italian.

Miss Porter is also a crystal gazer, and will answer any question you wish to ask.

There will be an entire change of program and paraphernalia each day. Reserved seats. Popular prices, adv.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Thanksgiving Day was crisp with frost but had some summer attributes as proven by Dr. C. H. Leach of Tenants Harbor when he plucked a fresh dandelion blossom.

Erwin Chase has been elected captain and Rockland High School football team for next season. He has played in the backfield the past two seasons, and has used brain as well as his 180 pounds of brawn in making his plays. His election was unanimous.

Wreckers were aboard the old schooner Mary Brewer Thursday, removing her spars and running gear. Capt. C. A. Patterson was in charge of operations. The Brewer is one of Rockland's old-time coasters and has been laid up at the Bicknell wharf for several years.

Hon. Edward W. Murphy, who died in Portland Wednesday was prominent in State politics and was keenly interested in baseball. He owned the Portland team the year that it won the New England League championship, and managed the Murphy Balm when they were making their trips to Rockland in "Chummy" Gray's day.

When it comes to fox hunting it's hard to beat that trio comprising John Beaton, Bernard Butler and Cleveland Butler. The Courier-Gazette recently told how these hunters bagged a couple of fine foxes in Union, and now we are in a position to say that they duplicated the performance Thanksgiving Day. One of the foxes was "the father of them all," to quote John, who insisted upon dragging Mr. Reynard out of the woods unaided. It was about all gone when I got through, confessed John, who felt prouder of the feat than Daniel Boone did when he topped over his first Redskin.

The Turkey Shoot at Oakland Park, Thanksgiving Day, under the auspices of the Rockland Gun Club and Knox County Fish and Game Association, was a complete success with about 60 participants and 40 spectators. Albert P. Blaisdell was high gun, winning three birds. A. C. McLoon and Mr. McFarland were tied for second honors with two each, while among those who carried away a single bird were John H. McLoon, Thomas J. Foley, Charles Mitchell, H. J. Barter, Harold B. Burgess and H. Hall. Harold Marshall, A. C. McLoon and H. B. Burgess were judges. It was 40-yard marksmanship.

Dr. Burton E. Flanders has resigned from the staff of Dr. R. W. Bickford, same being effective tonight, and will open a dental office in his own name in Chase block over Knowlton's Market. The handsome new suite of offices will be ready for occupancy in about a fortnight. Meantime Dr. Flanders will, through the courtesy of Dr. E. W. Peaslee, meet his patients in Dr. Peaslee's office where he has the use of a chair. Dr. Flanders, a graduate of Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Class of 1909, has been with Dr. Bickford the past 11 years. Prior to that he practiced five years in Wadsworth.

THE MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN

A number of years ago a group of citizens interested in Rockland's municipal welfare, made an earnest and honest effort to eliminate party politics from city affairs, and as a result of their labors a citizens' ticket was nominated. Out of deference to the fact that Rockland was then under Democratic control the committee which was authorized to select a citizens' ticket endorsed Frank C. Flint, the Democrat nominee for mayor, and gave due recognition to the then dominant party in all of the wards. The movement, in spite of all precautions and the disinterestedness of the workers, was viewed with suspicion by both parties, and those citizens who had undertaken what they considered a patriotic duty were looked upon in the light of political renegades, except by those who honestly supported the movement in face of such criticism, and with only the remotest prospect of success. A citizens' ticket in Rockland was ditched for an indefinite period.

In view of this well remembered political episode it is interesting to note that the Democrats are now waging a quiet but systematic campaign among the Republicans and independent voters, saying that there should be no politics in city affairs, and in the same breath urging them to throw their strength for the Democratic mayoralty nominee.
 That such an ingenuous, though ancient plea, should gain some support is in the nature of things, but Republicans who might be considering such contingency are hereby asked if they can recall when that argument has ever been used in the Republican party's favor. This does not mean that Democrats have not voted the Republican ticket; lots of them did two years ago, because they felt that the Democratic party was getting into an undesirable rut.
 But every fair-minded citizen will admit that when Democratic success has been achieved in Rockland it has been through Republican assistance.

The Courier-Gazette has naught to say against Mr. Prescott or the Democratic ticket as a whole, but this is a partisan election, and the Republicans have named strong tickets, headed by a man whose entire life has been spent in Rockland,
 who is numbered among its successful merchants, and who, because of his City Government experience,
 would not be obliged to devote valuable time in learning new ropes.

Enters into the campaign another element of a political nature—the necessity of keeping the Republican organization intact in anticipation of next year's County, State and Congressional elections. It is, of course, possible for a Republican to support the Democratic city ticket one week from Monday and to vote the Republican ticket next September,
 but before doing this it is well to remember that a Democratic victory
 Dec. 7 would greatly imperil Republican success next September.

THE WARDENSHIP

The problems created by the recent prison investigation appear to be working out as satisfactorily as could have been expected. Warden Eaton withdraws not because his system was under fire, but because he did not choose to remain and reinstitute the discharged officials. His policy in regard to the government of the men resulted in an honest division of opinion, but throughout the whole investigation there has never been a word said against him personally and he will retire from office next Tuesday with the good will of everybody, and the best wishes for whatever future he may select. His honesty of purpose has never been questioned and it would be extremely difficult to question the executive ability of an official who so soon brought order out of chaos
 after the conflagration of two years ago, and who personally directed the construction of one of the best prison plants in the country. In the new warden, F. Morris Fish, we have a man who has already proven his worth in an official capacity, for as State Probation Officer he has made a splendid record. His knowledge of criminology and how to handle men incarcerated for crime is of a calibre that could not be expected from a novice for several years. Familiar with all phases of the investigation, and with his hand closely on the people's pulse, Mr. Fish will know what reforms or changes, if any, are desired, and will probably lose no time in putting them into effect.
 His decision to retain Deputy Warden Colgan is likely to be regarded as prudent, for as executive officer inside of the prison walls Mr. Colgan possesses a valuable knowledge of the workings of the institution and cannot fail to have profited from whatever benefits the investigation may

ERS CHANGE PLACES

A number of English and French teachers of secondary schools will change places this fall for a year of exchange work, each taking over as far as possible, the entire work of the other. An English teacher, to be eligible for this assignment, must be 25 years of age or over, a graduate of a British university, and must have been an instructor for at least two years in a secondary school in England or Wales, with experience in teaching French. Teachers will continue to be paid by their own school authorities, and the exchange service will be recognized for pension purposes.

ROY L. KNOWLTON

Sudden Death of Another
 Prominent Rockland Business Man.

Death again invaded Rockland's commercial district yesterday, selecting as its victim one of the city's comparatively young business men, Roy L. Knowlton, proprietor of Knowlton's Market. Even to his closest associates the news of his death at 3:30 yesterday morning came as a great surprise and shock, for while his condition for the past two years was known to be of a serious nature, he was able to be at his place of business at least a portion of the time until last Monday,
 and on the forenoon prior to his death
 was helping to superintend the turkey shoot at Oakland Park. During the night he sank rapidly and Mrs.
 Knowlton, who had started for New York on her annual vacation, was intercepted in Boston. She arrived home yesterday afternoon.

The funeral services will be held at the family residence, 216 Lincolnton street Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be attended by the members of Rockland Lodge of Elks.
 Roy Lambert Knowlton was born in South Hope, Sept. 1st, 1881, a son of Edward A. and the late Harriet R. (Hewett) Knowlton. The family moved to Rockland during his boy-hood, and he received his education in the public schools, being president of the class of 1900 Rockland High School.

In school athletics he occupied a position of much prominence being one of the best pitchers the school has ever produced, and an exceptionally strong defensive football player. His interest in athletics never waned, and during the quarter century since he left school he has always been a patron of outdoor and indoor sports. He was a director of the Rockland Baseball Association and was ever a generous supporter of the nation's greatest outdoor game.
 This patronage extended to all other sports.

After leaving school Mr. Knowlton became clerk for E. R. Spear & Co., who conducted a book and stationery store. In 1906 he joined the staff of Cobb, Wight & Co., as traveling salesman, later being promoted to the management of the store,
 which had meantime become known as Francis Cobb & Co.

In the spring of 1918, Mr. Knowlton and two other well known young men organized a corporation known as Cobb's, Inc., which took over this important business. Mr. Knowlton was elected president of the corporation. Ensign Otis was treasurer, and Clayton E. Gilley was secretary. Mr.
 Otis remained with the concern two years, and the corporation did not finally dissolve until about two years ago when Mr. Knowlton bought Mr.
 Gilley's interest and became the sole proprietor. The name of "Cobb," which had so long appeared over the entrance of the store disappeared last March, and in its place was raised the new firm name, "Knowlton's Market." The store is one of the best in Eastern Maine, and has been made so by Mr. Knowlton's insistence upon carrying high grade goods, and furnishing high grade service, which he was able to do with a carefully selected staff. He was a good buyer, and in his death
 the city loses a good business man.

In politics Mr. Knowlton was a Republican. He was elected to the Common Council from Ward 4 in 1904, but subsequently moved to another section of the city and did not return for another year. Among the local organizations which had found him a valued worker were the Chamber of Commerce, the Rockland Community and School Improvement Association, the Knox County Fish & Game Association,
 the Rockland Gun Club and Rockland Lodge, B. P. O. E. He had been president of the Gun Club and held the second highest office in the lodge of Elks.

In any project he was a worker whose hours knew no limitation, and whose efforts were regulated only by his physical endurance. He was generous and loyal to the last degree.
 Mr. Knowlton is survived by his wife, (Elizabeth C. Collett) one son, Richard; his father, Edward A.
 Knowlton; one brother, Edward F.
 Knowlton and five sisters—Miss Grace Knowlton, Mrs. Arthur L.
 Orne, Mrs. George A. Wooster, Mrs.

You'll Find A Happy Home Where There's A GLENWOOD

Housewives have thrown off the old,
 misplaced belief that the "parlor"
 was the heart of the home. Today women know that from the kitchen comes the real source of happiness.
 The Glenwood has solved the age-
 old problem of how to have contented homes. It conserves your strength and beauty; saves from one-half to three-fourths of your time. It helps bring restfulness and happiness in even the most remote home.

GULF ISLAND PLANT

New Power Dam On the Androscooggin Will Cost Five Million Dollars.

Lewiston, Nov. 21.—(Special to The Courier-Gazette.)—Better watch out,
 Jack, they're goin' to blow!

We turned about and followed a score of men to a safe position in the shelter of a storehouse. A moment later the earth trembled, followed by the loud report of the blast.

That was our introduction to the construction work at the site of the Gulf Island Development above Lewiston-Auburn on the Androsco-ggin river. Since the first of October, when actual work of the big power
 dam now under construction here
 was started, a picturesque river countryside has been transformed into a maelstrom of excitement.

Engineers, carpenters, electricians,
 plumbers, firemen, drill operators and craftsmen of all kind have been rushed to the site of the development. A crew of about 400 men is now employed. Two big Marion steam shovels, two or three scows of trucks, tractors and horse drawn carts are transforming the topography of the riverside into a suitable foundation for construction operations.

Already some two miles of railroad track have been laid. Another half-mile remains to be completed before the track reaches the dam where a great terminal is being built for unloading construction material and equipment. Near where the track takes off the Maine Central Railroad lines opposite the Maine State Fair Grounds a 20-foot railroad trestle was built across a small ravine. It is understood that gravel for the construction of the dam will be hauled from Leeds via the Maine

 Central over this spur track.

Visitors to the site of the development find plenty of interest between the siding at the fairgrounds and the site of the development. All along the way men are working, grading
 the track, filling in the roadway and transporting material. A veteran M. C. R. R. freight engine No. 7 is already operating over the part of the track that has been laid.

Frequent blasting is going on around the ledges of the island, the material from the blasting being dumped into the coffer dams.
 Across the channel on the Auburn side of the river a wooden foot bridge, suspended by heavy steel cables, affords communication between the two banks. Power lines for operating the construction machinery have been built to the dam and electric lights for twilight work
 have been provided.

The new dam, which is being built by the Morton C. Tuttle Construction Co. of Boston, for Central Maine Power Co., will be completed early in 1927. The power house will be equipped with three or four generators of 9,000 horsepower each,
 with a maximum capacity of generating 28,000 horsepower, of hydroelectric energy. The dam is being built less than two miles above the Deer Rips dam and power plant of the same company. It will flow back the Androscooggin river about nine miles and create a new storage reservoir of over a billion cubic feet of water.

Before completion the Gulf Island development will cost nearly $5,000,- 000. The surplus power energy provided by the new plant will be available for immediate consumption for existing and new industries attracted to Lewiston-Auburn. All lines inter-connected with Central Maine

Power Co. system will benefit materially from the development.
 Visitors are welcome at the dam.
 The site of the development may be reached by automobile by following the river road north from either Auburn or Lewiston. For pedestrians it is a two-mile walk from the terminal of the Main street line of the Androscooggin & Kennebec
 trolley service in Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Watkins of Northport were holiday guests of their son Harry in this city.

H. M. deLocheant is installing a new hot water plant in the home of Elmer E. Benner on Limerock street.

Crosby L. Ludwig of Chestnut street brought a handsome pansy into the office yesterday picked during the snow-storm.

The Marston's Orchestra dances in Spear block Wednesday nights are deservedly popular. Round and square dances, you know.

An Ash Point dandelion was added to our related summer collection yesterday. It was picked Thanksgiving Day by Miss Alice White.

On account of the hard southeast storm the steamer Belfast laid over at Boston and will arrive here tomorrow morning, sailing tomorrow night. All connecting boats will make the round trip tomorrow.

Earle C. McIntosh and mother have taken the Eichelder apartments on Oak street for the winter, as Mr. McIntosh has sold his home on Prospect street to W. F. Berry of Fairfield.

The concluding chapter of "Play Ball" will be presented at Empire Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. This is a good snappy serial and all of the Empire patrons will want to see how the plotters are circumvented.

Because of the inclemency of the weather the young people from Bath, Augusta and Gardiner will not be present at the Y. P. C. U. meeting at the Universalist church Sunday afternoon. The Y. P. C. U. will hold its regular meeting at 6 o'clock.

Capt. John Bernet is building a two-car garage on his premises, Rockland street. Capt. Bernet is home from his seafaring duties, enjoying the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, for the first time in 11 years.

The next event on the Chamber of Commerce schedule will be the supper and open forum at the Copper Kettle Tuesday night, Dec. 8. Supper will be served at 6.30. Local problems will be discussed at the open forum.

The Thanksgiving Eve social and dance given at the High School by the Senior Class proved a highly successful affair with nearly 300 in attendance. Stanley Walsh, Howard Tarr and Miss Frances March provided the music. The general committee included Dana Cummings, Hugh Little, Charles Coughlin, and Oliver Rollins. Miss Katherine Veazie presided over the punch bowl.

Riley F. Strout, formerly of this city, has returned to Rockland as assistant manager of the Prudential Insurance Co. in this district which comprises Rockland, Rockport, Camden and Thomaston. Mr. Strout has been with the Prudential the past two years in the Lewiston district with an office at Brunswick. The Rockland appointment is a cause for congratulation. He will bring Mrs. Strout and their five children to this city in the course of a few weeks.

The Harmony Club's Wednesday night meeting was featured by a discussion of plans and the appointing of committee chairmen for the annual New Year's ball which will be held in Temple hall Jan. 1. Mrs. Madelyn Lawrence will look after the music; Mrs. Leah Freeman Davis the tickets; Miss Marion Marsh the posters; Mrs. Geneva Rose Huke the favors; Helen Feeney the decorations and Miss Jeanette Smith the publicity. The club hopes to duplicate the outstanding success of last year.

A motor car new to Rockland is being shown by the Sea View Garage of Rockland and the Bay View Garage of Camden. It is a six-cylinder sedan known as the Ajax, has a Daimler paint finish, four-wheel brakes and four balloon tires.

Hugh Snow, a former Spruce Head boy, is now keeper of the Burnt Island Coast Guard Station, succeeding A. R. Tabbutt, who was transferred to White Head. Mr. Snow has been in the service 11 years, and comes to Burnt Island from Rye Beach, N. H.

News was received here yesterday of the death of Mrs. Lola E. Fitch of this city, which took place Thanksgiving Day in Worcester, Mass., where she had gone to spend the winter with her daughters Myra and Winifred. The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, 28 Warren street.

Park Theatre is due off three big audiences today for everybody will want to be on hand at the farewell to Jimmy Evans' Musical Revue. The company is larger and better than any other that this popular comedian has ever brought to Rockland, and in the entire program there is nothing but bright and clean entertainment, with lots of new and novel features to supplement the two fun-makers and the exceptional chorus. There will be two performances tonight, the first beginning at 6 o'clock sharp, and the second at 8.30. Wednesday afternoon, after their performance at Park Theatre Jimmy Evans and his company gave a complete show at the State Prison, and every member of the troupe was remembered with a nice gift by the delighted inmates.

Friends have been receiving interesting cards from Misses Ada and Alena Young, who have been on a Southern tour since the middle of October. After leaving Washington, where they attended the National Council of Congregational churches of the United States, they proceeded South, visiting various places in the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. In the last named State they visited Roper's Rock, Lookout Mountain, Chattanooga, that historic scene of Civil War fame. On account of poor train connections many of the places which they planned to visit, had to be passed by, notwithstanding which they have seen much to interest and please them, and the trip will have gained for them many pleasant memories.

SEA GULL A CHASER
The Sea Gull, a large motor boat formerly owned by John McIntire of Belfast, and used in connection with his wharf, has been put into the revenue service and will be used as one of the fleet of patrol boats which at the request of ex-Governor Carl E. Milliken, Collector of Customs, will patrol the coast to enforce the liquor law. Philip Bickford of Camden will have command of the Sea Gull, which will have headquarters in Belfast, and the work there will be under the direction of Deputy Collector Renworth R. Rogers, who will accompany the officers on her.

COURIER-GAZETTE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "Horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "Vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Read what the Supt. of Guilford Water Co., Guilford, Maine, says about RHEUMATISM

The Buxton Rheumatic Medicine Co. Abbott Village, Maine.

Dear Sirs:—In the Spring of 1923, I was taken with a severe attack of rheumatism in my hips and legs, and was so lame that I was hard to get around. I commenced taking Buxton's Rheumatic Medicine. After the first bottle was taken I commenced to feel better and after taking six bottles I was entirely free from rheumatism and have been ever since. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one who is troubled with rheumatism.

Very truly yours, H. A. ELLIOT.

OUT AGAIN, IN AGAIN

Stephen Hoppe, Escaped Maine Convict, Celebrates Thanksgiving Day.

Stephen H. Hoppe of Boston, who was arrested in Windsor, Vt., after an escape from the Maine State Prison, escaped Wednesday night from the Vermont state prison but was recaptured Thursday evening in West Claremont, N. H., after less than 24 hours of Thanksgiving liberty.

While a fugitive from Maine, Hoppe was shot in the leg and captured while attempting a store burglary in Vermont. Only recently he had been discharged from the prison hospital and since he was still using crutches was allowed the freedom of the corridor. Wednesday night he propped up a dummy in his bed which fooled the officers at the night "check-off," and made his escape in a way still undetermined. Prison officials found him just across the New Hampshire line. He was returned to await trial on the burglary charge.

County Notes

ROCKVILLE

We hope the voters of Rockville will not forget that there is a Referendum Dec. 7, when two important questions are to be voted on. Be on hand with your vote ladies and gentlemen.

The "Klans" gathered on the lovely Thanksgiving morning for a big feed at the old stone house around the corner. Now they come in automobiles to spend the day; formerly they came in wagons of all kinds, even the one-horse sleigh, which some traveled in when the snow covered the ground, and there were double sleighs and even horse sleds, filled with merry families for a jolly time at the old homestead and to gather around the beautifully laden table of nice old fashioned cooking which mother or grandmother had done.

Capt. John Cushman of Philadelphia writes about those good old times when the whole world seemed to center about Rockville and the little village was the best place in it. An auto went down past Wednesday pushed by two men. They got it as far as the pond and after working for some time left it for a doctor to attend to. The matter with its "infernal" organs.

Such beautiful weather. Indian summer in November. Don't you like it?

Miss Mabel Oxton has been home for a few days.

A man was arrested here one night last week for driving a car while intoxicated. He was taken to Rockland jail where he will convalesce for 60 days. A bottle of beef wine and iron was sent in car. What next?

Mrs. Ellen Cushman and daughter Mrs. Millett of Rockland are in town to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

HOPE

W. K. Robbins and E. N. Hobbs have returned from a trip to Portland.

Mrs. George N. True arrived home last Saturday after a few months' stay in Massachusetts.

The canning factory started work on apples Monday with a good sized operative force.

The Grange will hold a meeting this Saturday evening. Refreshments will be a feature.

Mrs. Eleanor Payson, and Dorothy and Raymond Ludwig visited Mr. and Mrs. Will Wellman in South Hope last Sunday.

APPLETON RIDGE

Lizzie P. (Davis) Wentworth was born in Natick, Mass., Nov. 4, 1862, and died Nov. 19, 1925. At the age of 16 she was united in marriage to Newell Wentworth of this place, who died several years ago. She spent practically all of her 40 years in the old place. She was the mother of four children, two sons now living, Warren of Searsmont and Adelbert of Camden. Besides the sons she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Laura Allen of Bolton, Mass., and Mrs. Minnie Towne of Camden, and one brother, George Davis of Searsmont; also six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Kind hearted, neighborly and sympathetic, Mrs. Wentworth will be much missed among her many friends. She had "borne the burden and heat of the day" for those of the home circle whom she loved so dearly. She passed through several trying hospital experiences and during the past few months was a great sufferer. Special mention should be made of the son Adelbert, who made a home for her in Camden for some months and gave her every attention and care in his power. Realizing her condition it was her wish to come back to the old home for her last days, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Todd entertained at dinner Thanksgiving Day and Mrs. Wentworth was given a room at her place of business in Camden to be with her mother until the end.

The funeral services, conducted by Rev. E. M. Holman of Camden, were held Nov. 21, and the interment was in Pine Grove cemetery, Appleton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Keller and daughter of Lincolnville and Mrs. Mabel Richards and daughter Rita of Camden were Sunday afternoon guests of their aunt, Elizabeth Newbert.

A. G. Pitman and family were in Union Monday.

Hayden Fuller has had 1820 bunches of Christmas trees cut from his place, with from one to six in a bunch.

Mrs. Minnie Newt is spending the winter with her mother, Mrs. Lizzie McCarrison.

NORTH HAVEN

"The Christian Living With Others" will be the subject of Rev. M. G. Perry's address at the Baptist church, Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock. At the 7 o'clock evening service the pastor will speak on "The Joyous Journey." Sunday School meets at the church at 9:45 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the North East schoolhouse. All are cordially invited to attend these services.

A meeting of the Unity Guild will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Plans will be made for the Christmas sale to be held during the Christmas week of December.

An important business meeting of the church will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and all members are urged to be present. The following articles will be considered:

Art. 1. To see if the church will vote to locate a place for and to build a parsonage.

Art. 2. To see what action the church will take in regard to raising money for payment of parsonage, if vote is taken to build.

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I had a bearing down feeling all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters from women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the bearing down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them that this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W. Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

There were beautiful floral offerings, silent tributes of love and esteem. Those who attended the service from out of town were Mr. Allen and Chester Smalley of Thomaston, and Mrs. Pearl Dyer of Rockland.

COTTON FOR RUSSIA

Russia has bought in the United States during the year ended Sept. 30, cotton to the value of $44,284,823 which has been delivered by Americans. This is an increase of 34 percent over the first year's operations of the All-Russian Textile Syndicate, Inc., which transacted the business. In addition dyes valued at $66,796 and machinery worth $294 were shipped to Russia. The company is incorporated under the laws of New York, with the stock all held by the All-Russian Textile Syndicate of Moscow, which the president, Alex. Gumbert, reports has done a business of more than $513,000,000 a year.

FLORIDA PROBLEMS

Industries Turned Away in Real Estate Rush—As To Getting Rich.

Florida is having its problems as well as its prosperity. A friend sends certain extracts, clipping from a Florida newspaper which he thinks will interest the members of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce, who are seeking new industries for this city. "Knowing full well, as every sane business man knows that industry is the only substantial foundation upon which any city can be built."

The editorial follows:

Think For The Morrow

What will it profit a man to ask several thousand dollars a front foot for his land if that is more than it is worth?

Certain Tampa property suitable only for warehouse or industrial use, but much needed for such service, is being kept vacant, being held for prices above the return which any such business can expect. This is the serious charge made by different civic leaders at two separate meetings Tuesday.

Use of Tampa's greatest natural asset, its port, is being neglected. And the condition is not confined to the waterfront, but keeps out other business.

Edward L. Treitz, nationally known municipal expert, further told the Rotary Club that the city failed to carry out all provisions of its agreement with the federal government to have certain streets and make other improvements in return for the dredging of the Ybor Estuary.

The Rotary Club, commendably, lost no time in mere talk about discreditable conditions, but promptly called on the Board of Trade to appoint a committee to get the action which is absolutely necessary for the permanent welfare of Tampa.

The Board of Trade is the proper organization to act. The club also did well in specifying that the committee chairman be Major F. L. D. Carr, As local manager of Lykes Brothers Steamship Company, and as chairman of the Water Commerce Bureau of the Board of Trade, he has already shown himself an able and an energetic champion of our water commerce needs.

But the property owners of Tampa, any business man, the city officials, will be derelict in their duty if they fail to co-operate actively with the committee. Some definite, workable plan for port improvement we hope can be devised. But the prohibitive prices on industrial sites can not be remedied without general co-operation and moral support for the committee.

It is high time for the city to arouse itself. For ten years, perhaps forever in the past, there has been too little interest in water commerce or industries.

Secretary Dickie of the Board of Trade told the Lions Club that 25 or more industries have been lost to Tampa in the last three months due to grasping landholders.

And here's another Florida editorial, with a good deal of common sense to it.

Getting Rich

Some people who have come to Florida are surprised because they do not become rich over night. They have heard that such things happen here, and wonder why it does not happen to them. The explanation may have been found by The Elkhart, Ind., Truth.

The Truth says: "Those getting rich in Florida, however, are not those who failed at home. The essentials of success are about the same everywhere. It is unfair to Florida to expect of it what one would not expect of his own country. A man who has been a failure in Indiana or Ohio or New York is rather likely to be a failure in Florida. It takes intelligence, hard work, knowledge of conditions, and a lot of other things to win large success in this State, just as it does in any other."

Some people have come to Florida, have made investments, and have received returns from them larger than they would have received from similar investments in their home towns. There has been nothing magic about this, however. They have made their investments intelligently, after full investigation and with some knowledge of how investments should be made.

As a general thing the people who have won large success in Florida have had to go through about the same course that wins success anywhere else. They have worked hard, have kept themselves informed, have not depended upon blind chance. There is little more likelihood of picking a fortune out of the air in Florida than there is anywhere else, but Florida is fully as responsive as any other section to industry and perseverance and common sense.

REACH—DEER ISLE

Capt. A. F. Holden, who was stricken with a shock recently, died Wednesday, Nov. 18. He leaves one brother, Capt. Clarence Holden; a sister, Mrs. Percy Pressey of New York, and an adopted daughter, Mrs. George Amerige (nee Nellie Haskell) of Winchester, Mass., to mourn his loss. The funeral was from the Congregational church, interment in Mt. Adams cemetery, where his wife was buried several years ago. During his sickness he was tenderly cared for by Mrs. Amerige who hastened to his bedside as soon as she learned of his sickness, and who was assisted by Mrs. Sadie Adams. Neighbors and friends extend their sympathy.

Capt. S. T. Lowe, who has been here for several weeks, returned to Rockland last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Knight have closed their house and were to be the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Ed. Johnson, at Stonington, over Thanksgiving week, going from there to Boston and Ludlow, Mass., to pass the remainder of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams are moving to the Greenlaw District for the winter where their daughter Miss Annie will attend school.

The men who are fishing for scallops around here report fine catches.

Waldo Lowe and sister, Miss Emily were in Rockland to spend Thanksgiving with Capt. and Mrs. S. T. Lowe.

Mr. and Mrs. George Amerige and Lloyd K. Allen who were here to attend the funeral of Capt. Holden, returned home Saturday.

John Adams, who has been in Boston since early last fall painting at Lawley's Basin, Neponset, returned home last Saturday.

Capt. and Mrs. I. G. Barbour came from Boston Saturday and called on relatives and friends, returning Sunday night.

Waldo Lowe and Capt. Wm. Green have been up country on a gunning expedition, going in Mr. Lowe's car. They returned Tuesday of this week after having been gone several days, and brought home a deer.

THE CHILD'S WELFARE
An Article Which Every Parent Should Read Carefully.

As already explained, a child who is to grow and develop normally requires plenty of good food, sleep, exercise and out of door life. In addition special care must be devoted to the prevention of any illness for any illness, however slight, is a hindrance to growth, and every hour spent by him in pain or disturbance means some loss to him and may result in permanent impairment to some organ or some function of his body. Therefore the old idea that a child is destined to have the children's diseases and the lungs which in turn should be no methods employed to prevent them is an old fashioned, false idea. Children should be kept from having them and under no condition should any mother let her child be exposed to a disease intentionally. To expose a child intentionally is just like giving some poison to him for it is dangerous both to the child and to the other children in the community.

It has been proven that many of the defects and weaknesses of children have resulted from some of the children's diseases. Measles often leaves deafness in children or perhaps paralysis affects the limbs and often makes cripples of the innocent victims. Whooping cough may result in congestion of the lungs which in turn can easily develop into tuberculosis. Chicken and small pox leave ugly scars on the body. Scarlet fever, diphtheria, influenza, mumps, pneumonia and typhoid fever may all leave some form of weakness to the body which may seriously impair the health of the child. Last but by no means least is the common cold and sore throat. How prevalent is this disease, yes, it is a disease, and how often nothing is done to prevent it from spreading from one member of the family to another! And yet how serious it can be. Frequent colds weaken the body and make it susceptible to tuberculosis. Just as much care should be taken of the child who has a cold as of the one who has whooping cough.

THE CHILD'S WELFARE

An Article Which Every Parent Should Read Carefully.

The symptoms:
The symptoms vary with the disease so that no definite ones can be put down which will hold true in all cases. As soon as any disturbances or sign of illness is noted in a child the advice of a physician is the best thing to get. Either a call to the office or a call of the physician to the home of the child.

The State Department of Health of Maine at Augusta, will send leaflets which have the symptoms, causes, treatment and other information about all the different diseases, to anyone asking for them. (Send to the Department and ask for the reference list of the blanks, circulars and leaflets about disease and sanitation. Then from this list you can check the leaflets you want and the department will send them to you.)

The Athletic Club held an all day shooting match at the Frosting Park Thanksgiving with a big crowd present and many prizes on the list.

About 4 o'clock Thursday morning, alarm 46 sounded for a fire at the Arthur Webster farm on upper Washington street, formerly the Watson Hopkins farm. The buildings have recently been burned over and have belonged to Mr. Webster only a short time. The property was vacant at the time of the fire, and again our mysterious firebug did his work apparently.

The fire had such a start that in the high wind it was impossible to save the buildings, with the exception of the barn, and they were a total loss.

All stores are now turning their attention to attractive Christmas displays and working for the interest of Camden shoppers. May the motto be "Do your trading at home and help the town that helps you."

Ernest H. Rice, an experienced blacksmith and machinist has opened a shop on Bayview street.

Dr. F. S. Powers has returned after a visit at Deer Isle.

It is wondered if many persons in Camden realized that there were several needy families in our town who, without a helping hand, would have no cheer at Christmas? In order that help Camden folks who might otherwise have no Christmas, the Camden Garden Club and Civic Committee will this week place in Chandler's and Boynton's Pharmacies, Dickens' News Stand and many other shops, appropriately placed jars, in which those who are perhaps a little more fortunate than their neighbor, can deposit a penny, a nickel, a dime or a dollar, to help make at least this one day in the year, a happy one for the giver as well as the recipient.

A new truck has been placed in service by the telephone exchange.

"The Hands of Pilate" will be the sermon subject of Rev. H. I. Holt at the Congregational church tomorrow morning. The Christian Endeavor will meet at 6 o'clock in the chapel. A union service will be held at the Baptist church in the evening.

RAZORVILLE

A wedding of more than usual importance occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Overlock.

Thanksgiving Day when Miss Frances, only daughter of the late Dr. Phineas A. and Nellie Johnson Crocker of this place, became the bride of Roy H. Genthner of Nobleboro.

Mrs. Genthner is a graduate of Bucksport Seminary and Castine Normal School, where she graduated with honors, and is a very successful teacher. She has just closed a term of school at Thorndike village, and is very popular wherever she is known.

Mr. Genthner is an efficient traveling salesman. They will be at home in Nobleboro, after December 15, at the bridegroom's home. The ceremony was performed by Missionary Overlock, an intimate friend of the bride's family, who made use of the beautiful and very impressive double ring ceremony.

Alonso Farrar, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. Addie O. Farrar and her aunt Mr. and Mrs. Farrar, returned home to Pittsfield Monday. He turned his luck hunting while here.

Rev. Mr. Sampson of Jefferson will preach at the West Washington Adventist Chapel Sunday afternoon, at 2:30.

A very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed at the Razorville school Wednesday afternoon by the pupils and visitors. The children had appropriate recitations for Thanksgiving. The visitors were then called upon for remarks, after which a bountiful and delicious treat was served by the teacher, Miss Doris Overlock, and was enjoyed by both visitors and pupils. The treat was of old fashioned cornballs as large as small pumpkins of which the teacher, who must have sat up all the night before to make, allowed everybody to have all they wished. The children did exceptionally well with their pieces showing a lot of hard work both on their part and their teacher's.

Fifth Avenue sponsors checks for Southern resort wear, and it also thought that there is every prospect for a favorable spring season for checked fabrics, says the Dry Goods Economist. Two-piece frocks are shown in a fabric checked in alternate squares of red, blue and white. Checks are also sponsored for coats, but very often take on larger patterns than those for frocks, particularly for coats of strictly sports type. Very youthful two-piece frocks are frequently noted with pleated checked woolen skirts, accompanied by blouses of plain wool or velvet.

THE HIGHWAY TO LIFE

Millions Now Living Will Never Die.

Building Good Roads Synchronizes With Laying the Foundation for Better Government.

Many have wondered why so many inventions, labor-saving devices and other conveniences have been thrust upon us so rapidly during the past few decades. The penalty against the race was "Dying thou shalt die;" for mankind has been eking out an existence amidst laborious toil and hardships while man is a dying creature.

Man's hope of life lies in the resurrection of the dead. If it has been necessary to earn one's bread through efforts causing "sweat of face," may we not conclude that labor-saving machinery is the forerunner of a time when man will not be a dying creature? And as a new government under Christ is promised, may not the casting up of roadways to facilitate the traveling of automobiles suggest the laying of a foundation of a better government in which will be cast up the highway to life upon which humanity shall be invited to walk?

The past six thousand years have been years of death and its concomitants. But the Bible speaks over and over again of a "way to life," a "highway of life," and of a "new and living way." This implies the reversal of the present order. If it were established beyond cavil by indisputable Bible evidence that the millions who have gone down into the graves during all the past of man's history were coming back to life during the thousand-year reign of Christ—some to heavenly glory but the masses of mankind to the promised paradisaic conditions when humanity will have the privilege of being restored to health and happiness and life—what a thrill should stir the hearts of the present generation.

Mr. H. H. Dingus of Brooklyn, N. Y., representing the International Bible Students Association, will lecture on "The Highway to Life," Monday evening, Nov. 30, at 7.30, in the Gospel Mission, and will take up the subject of redemption as it relates to humanity setting life in its fullness, without sickness and the fear of death.

The meeting is free and no collection will be taken. All are invited.—Adv.

Public interest calls for Water Power Development

PUBLIC INTEREST calls for water power development.

Maine's public interest calls for this development in Maine NOW—while Maine can take advantage of the Great Opportunity.

Water power development can come only as fast as the people of Maine will invest their money in Maine. Fortunately for Maine its people ARE investing at home, to develop Maine water power. The broadminded forward looking men in the communities are investing for themselves and urging others to invest.

They recognize that home investing, to develop Maine power, is the most important and the most profitable investing they can do; and the safest.

If you too want to invest safely at home, to develop Maine power, to bring prosperity and lower taxes, to bring growth and a bright future, invest in Central Maine Power Company 7% Preferred Stock.

NEW POWER LINE

Augusta-Oakland Unit Will Connect With Maxcy-Union Section.

Holes have been dug and poles are set in position about half the distance on the new 33,000 volt extension line being built by Central Maine Power Company between Augusta and Oakland. A squad of 40 linemen under the direction of T. J. Pelkey is pushing through the extension, which was started about a month ago.

Progress on the construction of the new high tension line has been hampered by heavy autumn rains that have made the roads in the vicinity almost impassable. In addition the town of Sidney has passed a regulation prohibiting trucks with loads over two tons cross from traveling on its roads until the ground is frozen solid. Compliance with this ordinance has necessitated light loads in transporting material through this township.

Nature has provided a solid foundation for most of the poles set on the hilltops outside of Augusta. It has taken 50 pounds of dynamite a day to open many of them. Because of the rocky nature of the soil a compressed air drill has been required among equipment carried by the men as they advance along the right of way.

The right of way for this line extension is 100 feet wide. It is the widest right of way Central Maine Power Company has acquired for a line extension. The new 100 foot limits provide ample space for clearing trees blown down by storms. The new line is a duplicate of the line on the east side of the Kennebec between the Augusta station and Winslow. The new extension will connect with the Fort Halifax station at Winslow by way of Oakland. In event of trouble on the present line between Winslow and Augusta power for Augusta may be sent over the new line, or power for Waterville from the Farmingdale steam plant sent up river vice versa.

A new line between Union and Maxcy tying in with the Rockland transmission system will make it possible to transmit power over the new Augusta-Oakland line from Fort Halifax station to Rockland. Central Maine Power Company's service will be more secure in all points of central Maine when these lines are in operation later this winter.

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

A most delightful surprise came to me in the mail yesterday—a letter from Thomas P. Haynes, who is now in Washington, D. C., in the textile division of the U. S. Tariff Commission, bearing the title of "Assistant Economic Analyst." Mr. Haynes recently had the good fortune and privilege to hear the English Singers, who in the three short weeks they were in this country, established an enviable reputation and fascinated music lovers with their novel and interesting programs and their exceptional ability as part singers. Here is the program Tom heard, and it will prove of interest I am sure:

Four Madrigals and a Ballet for Unaccompanied Voices:
a Ladies, you see time fleeth (six voices)
b The Silver Swan (five voices)
c Orlando Gibbons (1583-1625)
d All Creatures (five voices)
e John Bennett (1600)
f On the Plains (ballet for five voices)
g Stay, Corydon (six voices)
h John Wilbye (1574-1638)

In the program he marked the numbers which to him seemed to be outstanding, although all were wonderfully done. The special ones were: "Ave Verum," (which by the way, have been done by the Victor people into fine records); "The Dark-eyed Sailor;" "Wassail Song;" and the madrigal "Stay, Corydon," which, so aroused the Washington audience that it called aloud for encores, which as Tom expressed it, is an unusual and almost unprecedented thing for a Washington audience to do.

Although he sent clippings of this concert and made notes in the program, to me his letter was far more interesting, and I am going to quote from it:

"It was one of the most enjoyable affairs I have ever had the good fortune to attend. The singers in particular showed evidence of a thorough love for their music and thorough training for the difficulties of that particular type of music. Their manner of singing at each other and at the audience was very pleasing. Their enunciation and pronunciation were practically perfect, so that the program was really unnecessary. This was especially remarkable in view of the fact that usually the six parts were all working independently.

"The madrigal, as you may know, is not now used as a form of composition. It was at its height about the sixteenth century, and was developed by the musicians at that time to a wonderful degree. It had its beginning in the community gatherings of the feudal barons and lords. The parts were written in separate books—that is, the soprano part was in one book, the alto in another, and so on. When the books were passed out one was asked what he sang, and given a book accordingly. The result was that as time went on many of the books were lost or mislaid, so that gradually full parts were unavailable and the art of madrigal singing became lost. In later years through the effort of the British Museum and private collectors, many of the early madrigals have been recovered, and it developed that there had been many composers who had used this form, and many compositions written. I understand that the composers did not publish their songs as fast as composed, but waited until they had from 20 to 30, and then published them in book form. From the fact that the parts worked independently, composition was especially difficult, as, of course, the harmony had to be worked out accordingly.

"If the English madrigal singers ever come anywhere near you, you will be well repaid for any effort you may make to hear them. They have made Victrola records, but I do not know whether they are obtainable in this country."

So much for that, and doesn't it make you wish you could hear these English Singers? And doesn't it make you eager to know more about madrigals? And wouldn't you like to hear their records on the new Orthophonic Machine which the Victor people have just brought out? Remembering Mr. Haynes' fine madrigal voice, this part of his letter will not make us particularly rejoice:

"Am not doing any singing myself these days, and have not for nearly two years. I have no piano and do not get opportunity except rarely. I often think of the good songs we used to have at home and the good times I have had with the old quartets. Referring to your column, which, by the way, I always read, I recall stories my mother used to tell me of the 'Great Peace Jubilee' and her enjoyment of Jenny Lind, whom she heard at a later date."

Glancing over the announcement of the Steiner course which will be given in Portland this season, I note that Roland Hayes is to appear Feb. 2. Undoubtedly many from this vicinity will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear this talented and unusual singer.

Do you remember Charles Harrison who substituted at short notice for an indisposed singer at a Maine Festival of a few years ago? He was a delightful appearing young chap and had a lovely voice, if you will remember. I read that he was married Nov. 16, at Nyack, N. Y., his bride being Mrs. Beulah Gaylord Young. Mrs. Harrison is said to be a prominent musician, also, and has been a member of the Harrison summer music colony and a frequent visitor in Portland and vicinity.

Fine musical things going on in Boston. Padewski is there Sunday afternoon; Isa Kremer, who is called the foremost lieder singer before the public today, Sunday evening; Reinold Werrenrath on Dec. 3; and Galli-Curci Sunday afternoon, Dec. 6. Paul Whiteman, himself, and his orchestra appear Dec. 6, and doesn't it seem a bit odd yet to see the name of the "Jazz King," appear in line with artists such as I have named above? And yet the high-brows flock to hear him, as they do the renowned artists aforementioned.

James Wolfe, bass of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who made such a favorable impression at the recent Maine Festival, was among the candidates for naturalization admitted recently to citizenship by Federal Judge Hand.

I note that the Lewiston-Auburn Festival Chorus, at their annual meeting last week, voted to assume the balance of the financial obligations of this year's festival. Loyal music loving citizens have come forward with contributions, reducing the obligations by several hundred dollars.

A naturalist, Dewey Soper by name, is spending two years in the interior of Southern Ruffinland in the Arctic Circle for the Canadian Government. At present he is at Pangnirtung, where the Royal Canadian mounted police and a large fur company maintain posts. One of Soper's letters home reads:

"Fortunately, the Hudson Bay Company post at Pangnirtung received a small outfit (radio) from the 'Nascope' in September, with ample tubes, and glorious concerts came in all winter long. With my three ear phones extra we used to sit around over there and have some perfectly wonderful experiences. Some of the speaking and singing was as loud as if coming from the next room. One night we got a girl singer (I think from Westinghouse Station, KFKX, Hastings, Neb.) whose voice was so clear that her breathing could be detected. How is that for the Arctic Circle?"

Old Mr. Carter Helped By Simple Mixture

"After taking Adlerika I feel better than for years. At my age (60) it is ideal—so different from other medicines." (signed) W. W. Carter. Adlerika is a simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., which removes GAS in ten minutes and often brings surprising relief to the stomach. Stops that full, bloated feeling. Brings out old waste-matter you never thought was in your system. Excellent for chronic constipation. C. H. Moor & Co., Druggists, in Thomaston by C. C. McDonald.
