AUTOMOBILE COLLISION INSURANCE to pay the bills when YOUR OWN CAR is smashed up by collision or upset. Liability insurance does not cover this hazard. If the "other fellow" after hitting you in the night, keeps on going and you don't get his number, or if he won't pay so that you would have to go to the expense of suing and then perhaps not collect, or if he is uninsured and "very sorry" but doesn't own the car he is sitting in or anything else, or if there isn't any "other fellow" at all (you might upset), YOU MAY HAVE TO PAY A BIG REPAIR BILL ON YOUR CAR. Collision Insurance will pay those bills.

We can't give you this special low rate unless you also place the liability with us.

A BIG INVESTMENT

Cement Industry Third In Capitalization Per Wage Earner

The portland cement industry's investment is about $500,000,000 or more than $10,000 worth of machinery, buildings, etc., per employee. This places the industry third in capitalization per wage earner, according to census reports. Comparative figures from the last census giving data on capital are as follows:

Cement manufacture	$10,627
All industries	4,583
Crude iron and steel	4,355
rolled products	6,741
Food and kindred products	6,223
Automobiles	5,494
Iron and steel and their products	3,783
Textiles and their products	3,075
Lumber and its manufacture	2,975

Cement is unique in that it is used but not consumed. As the binding material in concrete, it adds permanently to the world's wealth. Concrete does not deteriorate with age like most building materials, but actually grows stronger through the years.

TENANT'S HARBOR DAYS

We are told that in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, but as I do not come under that category, nine turns to motor boats.

The page in the Sunday Herald devoted to them claimed my attention for sometime. Lawley had an ad. of a 38-footer, four berths, galley, six cylinder, 100 h. p. motor, and only 2 ft. 9 in. draft. O boy! just to have one of 'em and put in a summer cruising along the Maine Coast from Kittery to Calais, stopping enroute at the Harbor to show the ship to the people and give them a sail!

That has been a dream of my young life, but as A. Ward said, "Alas, it has never happened." I envy no man his auto or his aeroplane, only his motor boat. And the chances are that when the final call shall come I shall still be dreaming of that motor boat cruise along the coast of Maine. One thing I cannot be cheated out of, is my cruise along that coast in 1882. I just dug out my old diary (not Dad's) and found that about this time I was cruising. In fact, 44 years ago today in the good schooner Challenge, we left Perry, Maine, at 1:30 a. m. and this is the entry:

"After we got outside I was seasick all day. (Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling?) Got into Machias about 4 o'clock, bed 7:30.

"May 6—Got underway about 6 a. m. Beat all day. Got into Boils about 5 o'clock. Good harbor."

We made a number of harbors on that trip. I could have qualified as a pilot at that time, but I have forgotten the courses. Speaking as an honest man I can truthfully say that I didn't enjoy that spring cruise "Along the Coast" 44 years ago. But I am going to enjoy the motor boat trip. I am going to the Corinthian Yacht Club, Marblehead, June 5, my way. That's a starter. Boze, May 5, 1926.

MOTHERS' DAY—1926

The Superfluous Mother
Once she was lovely in bounteous grace,
Fair as a flower, and as fleet in the race
As the fawn.
Now she is wrinkled and faded and bent,
Gone are the roses, with all the content
Of her youth.

Where is the beauty that beamed from her face,
And each house of her children too full for her stay?
Seems to be
Yet naked and homeless, unlovely, unknown,
Came each little stranger to love and to throne
In her arms.

No home and no money has Mother today,
And each house of her children too full for her stay.
Seems to be
Yet naked and homeless, unlovely, unknown,
Came each little stranger to love and to throne
In her arms.

THE MAYOR'S SUGGESTIONS

Rubbish is bound to accumulate in and about our homes and unless it is removed it becomes a menace to health, increases the danger of fire, and furthermore gives our premises a cluttered and untidy appearance.

Therefore, having full confidence in the civic pride of our citizens, I set apart the week of MAY 10, as CLEAN-UP WEEK, and ask the co-operation of all in order to establish our reputation for well kept homes.

The city teams will collect rubbish that is placed in proper receptacles on the side of the street.

J. F. CARVER, Mayor.

ALDENS ARE HOME

Wildcat Schemes Disappearing From Florida, the Doctor Says.

"Florida's all right," says Dr. Eben Alden, who has just returned from his winter sojourn in Fruitland Park. "They simply got to overdoing the real estate boom, that's all. Things are now getting down to a normal basis, and the outlook is very promising."

"Lots of folks have made the mistake of thinking that they could buy land and sell it at a big profit inside of six months. The more sensible way is to buy land in a 'going place,' and hold it for the proper opportunity. Real estate operations slackened up a good deal during the winter, but the wildcat schemes are being eliminated, and the undesirable class of realtors are disappearing from the scene. They are no longer seeking to inflate values, and there will be more chance of making money next year."

"There have been more people in Florida than for any preceding winter, but many left when they found difficulty in securing accommodations and when their expectations of picking up a fortune in the streets failed of realization."

Dr. Alden tells of the best winter he ever spent in Florida. It was a trifle cool, but there was no frost capable of doing damage to the shrubbery. The hibiscus and roses in front of his house were in bloom all winter.

The Aldens had as a guest most of the winter Lawrence Dunn of Thomaston, who has since bought a house in St. Petersburg, and with whom the Florida habit will now probably become permanent.

Dr. Alden says that Fruitland Park is growing and that permanent improvements in the way of new sidewalks and paved streets are being made. The town is only four miles from the thriving city of Leesburg, and connecting the two are four miles of the finest road imaginable.

Frank H. Whitney, who was one of the discoverers of Fruitland Park, has sold one of his houses there at a satisfactory figure and is now occupying the other.

"Tell 'em we will be home sometime this month," was the rather indefinite message which Mr. Whitney sent up by Dr. Alden.

Hunting has of course been the doctor's chief diversion during the winter. He long ago qualified as an expert at quail shooting.

The Aldens stopped at the Rolyat Hotel in St. Petersburg, and describe it as beautiful beyond words. This property is owned by Jack Taylor whose name, reversed, it bears.

"St. Petersburg is coming all the time," Dr. Alden told a Courier-Gazette reporter yesterday, "and it would pay anybody to buy land there if they can get it."

The Aldens stopped in Wilmington, Del., on their way home and called upon ex-Senator Willard Saulsbury, who was so near to death's door while at the Sanmost last summer. He made a remarkable rally under the care of Dr. Alden, and has had a fairly good winter. He plans to come to Rockland Breakwater, as usual, this summer.

The first straw hat made its appearance on Main street Thursday, and it was worn by the driver of an ice wagon. Sullivan would probably need a palm leaf fan at the North Pole in midwinter.

THEATRE AT THE BROOK

Options Taken On Old Courier-Gazette Building and Land At Rear of Salvation Army Building Seem To Indicate That It Will Be Built.

Once more the new theatre project looms as a strong possibility, and this time the proposed site of it is in that populous section of Main street known as the Brook, only a biscuit's toss from where the famous old Farwell Opera House used to be the gathering place of many hundreds of theatre lovers.

According to a well defined rumor one-third of the old Courier-Gazette building is to be lopped off to make room for a foyer, and the theatre proper will be erected on the land back of that building owned by Everett L. Spear and the Salvation Army.

Charles T. Smalley, who has been acting as agent for the Maine Theatres, Inc., has on numerous occasions of late been observed making measurements, with strangers, around the building above referred to—a fact which could scarcely escape observant eyes fastened upon him through the editorial windows of the present Courier-Gazette building.

An interview yesterday found Mr. Smalley disinclined to talk about new theatre prospects, but he finally admitted that substantial sums had been paid to Everett L. Spear, owner of the old Courier-Gazette building; and Robert U. Collins, agent of the Salvation Army property. Furthermore the options are of short term duration.

The section of the building which is to be sliced off (if the project goes through) is the eastern end, occupied by the Brookside Lunch and on the second floor by the Latter Day Saints Church and the John M. Richardson sail-loft. The other tenants of the building would not be disturbed.

No portion of the Salvation Army building is to be used, but the land at the rear of it would serve as part of the site for the theatre, which it is indicated, will be built parallel to the buildings which now face Main street.

Inasmuch as the report lacks verification there can be no definite statement at this time concerning the proposed theatre, but the size of the lot which has been obtained would seem to indicate a structure capable of seating not less than 1200 persons.

There is every reason to believe that the theatre will be built the present season.

"The northward trend of business makes it an ideal location," said a man yesterday, who is familiar with the theatre situation.

MENACE TO RUM RUNNERS

Formidable Fleet of Chasers Now Assembled At This Port, With Full Wireless Equipment.

With Rockland as the base of enforcement operations rum running on this section of the New England Coast is going to be a hazardous occupation.

A week ago The Courier-Gazette told of the plans which were in the making, and to those who have frequented the waterfront the past few days it is quite evident that those plans are being fulfilled.

The Coast Guard Cutter Morrill, which made an enviable record for herself on the Great Lakes, has arrived at this port to act as another ship to the rum chasing fleet, and will dock for the present at the Deep Sea Fisheries wharf where she. She is commanded by Lieut. Gilley, a resident of Camden, and carries a complement of 48 men.

The flotilla which she will serve comprises at present the following craft:

C. G. 129, commanded by William Teshin, bos'n (T).

C. G. 172, commanded by Earle B. Drinkwater (of Rockland) bos'n (T).

C. G. 191, commanded by A. C. Hopper, bos'n (T).

C. G. 279, commanded by Walter A. Devine, bos'n (T).

The boats in this flotilla are all 75-footers, capable of 18-knot speed, and will base at McLoon's wharf. The First Customs District which they will serve extends from Calais to Portsmouth, and the Coast Guard boats will go where the occasion demands. Each is equipped with a radio transmitter which can be used for both voice and key, together with a highly selective receiver built especially for the Coast Guard service in its work against the rum-runners. Later, if all goes well, a radio set will be installed at the Custom House for the purpose of communicating directly with the fleet.

The Customs Department is co-operating with the above mentioned flotilla to the extent of furnishing the speed boat Mary, commanded by Capt. Ivan Cunningham of Rockland; the Avis L., commanded by Capt. Harry Webster and one boat each at Belfast, Bath and Eastport. The Mary can do 20 knots, and those who have made a trip in her say that it is like riding in a high powered automobile.

It is also expected that a 30-foot cabin boat will be added to the fleet as a picket boat. She will be capable of making about 20 knots.

At the head of this intensive service is S. C. Sleeper, who made a fine record for the government while deputy collector of customs at Eastport. L. R. Dunn, formerly commander of the Coast Guard Station at Whitehead, and known as one of the most efficient men in the service is base commander, and Capt. A. R.

SCOTIA'S LOBSTER CATCH

Official figures for the 1925 catch of lobsters for Nova Scotia show 16,927,809 pounds, against 11,541,909 pounds in 1924, which is an increase of over 45 per cent. Quantities shipped to Canadian markets and exported to the United States show little change, those to Continental Europe were below the previous year, but about 25,000 cases more were sent to Great Britain. The continuing demand in England was good during last spring and early summer, but fell off later and a large carry-over is reported to be still in wholesalers' hands there. Canned lobsters appear to have lost their popularity in the American markets, being supplanted in many markets by canned crab meat, which is cheaper and improved in quality of late so as to be more uniform than the average of lobsters from the smaller canneries of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

But to the evening:
And, having pray'd together, we

CLEAN-UP WEEK

Rubbish is bound to accumulate in and about our homes and unless it is removed it becomes a menace to health, increases the danger of fire, and furthermore gives our premises a cluttered and untidy appearance. Therefore, having full confidence in the civic pride of our citizens, I set apart the week of May 10, as Clean-up Week, and ask the co-operation of all in order to establish our reputation for well kept homes.—From Mayor Carver's proclamation.

Many of The Courier-Gazette's readers are already familiar with the plans for "Clean-up Week," which begins next Monday, and the purpose of it is obvious. The City Government is co-operating with this movement in the interest of civic pride, and on specified days the city teams will be sent into indicated zones to remove the rubbish which has been accumulated. Dr. Clarence F. Kendall, State health commissioner, in a letter to the mayors of cities and the selectmen of towns, says that through the special advertising of the State of Maine, it is expected that there will be a large influx of visitors in the State during the summer. His letter is timely and the excellent advice it contains will not be lost upon our readers. He says:

Many of them [the visitors] have never been in the State and will judge the State according to the conditions which they find.

We have had an unusually long and severe winter, and it is inevitable that a great deal of filth and rubbish have accumulated. In many places the snow has been very deep and it has been impossible to make a proper disposal of waste material. As the snow has melted it has uncovered a large amount of decayed animal and vegetable matter, often in conspicuous places, where it is likely to become a serious nuisance unless taken care of properly. The municipality is responsible for the condition and care of the highway, but each citizen is responsible for the sanitary condition and appearance of his premises. If the citizen does not do his part promptly and thoroughly to get his place clean, the work of others may be undone through the scattering of refuse from his premises to the property of others.

It is not only necessary that property be properly cleaned up in the spring, but a constant effort should be made to keep premises clean and in sanitary condition throughout the year.

Flies are a menace to health and every effort should be made to destroy the breeding places of flies, especially in rural districts. Care should be taken to see that all privies are properly cleaned and all manure piles should be protected so that they will not become breeding places for flies. All places where mosquitoes might breed should be carefully looked after, tin cans should be buried, rain barrels screened, swamps drained as far as possible, and all rubbish that can be burned should be destroyed in this manner so that it will not become a home for rats or mice or be blown about by the winds.

Each citizen should take pride in the appearance of his community and should assist in "Clean-up Week," so that when our visitors come they will be favorably impressed with the general cleanliness of our State and will feel that their health is being properly looked after.

Warning is sent from Honolulu that 1000 Hawaiian ukuleles a month are being shipped to the mainland, in addition to the many being carried aboard ships by tourists. With such an influx everybody should know how to pronounce the name of Hawaii's most popular musical instrument. Chances are that you call it "you-ka-lay-lee," but we have the authority of a Honolulu Associated Press despatch that the correct pronunciation is "oo-kay-lay-lay."

Now that Rockland is to become a great manufacturing point for cement, let us consider the proper pronunciation of the word. There are some who affect semi-ent, accenting the first syllable. The old-fashioned pronunciation is semi-ent, accenting the final syllable. That is Webster's preferred usage, and of all other authorities that we have consulted. The Courier-Gazette purposes admitting no other pronunciation to its columns.

That Illinois family burned to death calls attention anew to the folly of kindling the kitchen fire with gasoline. Kerosene used to be the favorite beverage employed as the quick agent of individual and family suicide, but the convenience of gasoline is now fully recognized. And besides, it is more instantaneous in its action.

It's cheering news that the plant of the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corporation is being operated to capacity. Taken in conjunction with our hopes of another big industry and another nearing completion Rockland should face the summer season with uncommon optimism.

LUCY W. HAZLETT

Death of Prominent D. A. R. Member Who Espoused Knox Memorial.

Mrs. Lucy Woodhull Hazlett, former State Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Maine, who died at her home in Bangor, Wednesday, was born in Thomaston, Sept. 3, 1840, the daughter of Rev. Richard and Sarah Forbes Woodhull. Mrs. Hazlett came to Bangor with her family at the age of 16, her father becoming associated with Bangor Theological Seminary. In 1864 she was married to Samuel Hazlett, a banker, of Washington, Pa. They lived in Washington until 1903, when they came to this city and took up their residence at 14 Fifth street. Mr. Hazlett died the following year.

Mrs. Hazlett has been a leading figure in D. A. R. activities since the organization of the society in 1893. She was one of the charter members of Chapter Number 27 in Washington County, Pa., having a national number of 1348. In March, 1919, she was elected State Regent of Maine, ably serving the customary two-year term. She also served a term as State Chaplain of the D. A. R. of Maine. In 1913, '14 and '15, she served as regent of the Francis Dighton Williams Chapter of this city. Her fluency of speech, her unusual executive ability, wide general knowledge and natural gift of leadership combined to make Mrs. Hazlett's official services in D. A. R. work, as well as all other work with which she was affiliated, of permanent value.

During the World War she was made State Vice Chairman of War Relief Work and State Director and Chairman of the Children of American Revolution Society. She was also prominent in Red Cross activities.

Perhaps the greatest of her life works was her founding of the General Henry Knox Memorial Association. Her father, incidentally, was executor of the estate of General Knox, who was the first war secretary of the United States.

Mr. Woodhull, Mrs. Hazlett's father, saw the great desirability of preserving Montpelier, the General Knox mansion in Thomaston, and used his most persuasive arguments with people of means to secure the beautiful home. He died before his work had far advanced, but his vision lived in his daughter, who as a little girl had been the guest of the General's daughters, and through untiring efforts she eventually founded the General Henry Knox Memorial Association.

Natural results were registered toward preserving this historic home in 1925, when the General Knox Chapter was given nation-wide impetus, Secretary Mellon sending a check for $1,000 to be used in the cause, and President Calvin Coolidge wiring a personal letter to the head of the Society endorsing the move started by Mrs. Hazlett.

Despite her advanced years, Mrs. Hazlett retained the fine mentality and active interest in affairs that ever had characterized her life and work. Her loss will be keenly felt not only locally, but throughout many places in the country, and those surviving—two sons, Charles Hazlett of Bangor and Samuel Hazlett, Jr., of Philadelphia; and one daughter, Mrs. Forbes Rickard, of Denver, Col.—Bangor Commercial.

Rotary and Forty Clubs Have Completed Plans For Big Boys' Day Monday—The Details.

MOBILIZATION ORDER

Pursuant to the instructions of the General Committee all automobiles participating in the Boys' Scramble, Monday, May 10th, will report to Edward R. Veazie and John W. Thompson at 8 a. m. sharp, at the Children's Playground, corner of Union and Limerick streets, this city, and each automobile will there be loaded with the boys assigned to the particular car. As soon as loaded each automobile will proceed south on Union street, falling in behind the automobile of Adelbert L. Miles, General Chairman of the Committee, who will lead the convoy.

Automobiles detailed to carry boys from the Benner Hill School and the Highland School will pick up their passengers at 8 o'clock at points in accordance with instructions already received and will return to Union street and there fall in with the general convoy which will start at 8:30 in parade formation and will proceed as follows: Union to Park, Park to Main, Main to Maverick Square, Maverick Square to Broadway, Broadway to Atlantic Highway, and thence West on Atlantic Highway in convoy formation, viz.: fifty feet apart to point of destination. Cars will govern their speed through cities and towns at fifteen miles an hour, and on the highway not over twenty-five miles an hour. All long hills will be taken in SECOND GEAR, and NO AUTOMOBILES WILL LEAVE THE POSITION ASSIGNED THEM, except in case of trouble. In case of break down on the road, car in trouble will cut out of formation, and in case of serious trouble will transfer boys to other cars. A wrecking car will trail the convoy.

Edward R. Veazie and Scout Executive John W. Thompson are assigned as assistant transportation officers. Mayor James F. Carver with traffic officer and officials will pilot the convoy, and Sheriff Raymond E. Thurston will accompany the convoy in his official capacity. Returning from destination, cars and boys will assemble promptly at 4 p. m. and return in convoy formation, to arrive at Rockland not later than 5:30 p. m.

In case of inclement weather and postponement, the "No School" bell will ring at 7:40 a. m.

Be prompt and have each car numbered and decorated.

(Signed) WALTER H. BUTLER, Transportation Officer.

The major topic for conversation this week, especially among the boys, has been the "Scramble" noted in the above mobilization order. It is designed to bring the men and boys of Rockland into closer touch, and any man, whether a member of Rotary or Forty Club or not, is urged to be present at the Playground at the appointed hour with his car and lurches. As to the boys—well, it is a boys' time anyhow and all are welcome and they are to bring absolutely nothing except the desire to have a good time—and are urged to wear their old clothes.

It should be again emphasized that the boys are not to take lunches. The oldsters will look after that—the lunches to consist of plenty of meat sandwiches, stuffed eggs, doughnuts, pie and cake. No food should be taken to be cooked on the grounds. Gun, peanuts, tin horns and an American flag should be provided by each car driver. Any volunteer driver will be welcomed at the Playground by Assistant Transportation Officer E. R. Veazie.

The question of the destination of the convoy has been kept a profound secret but any parent or interested person may learn where the picnic is to be held by calling The Courier-Gazette office after 8 o'clock Monday morning, not before. It may be said, however, that the place is on the main highway, provided with ample shelter in case of a shower and that the water supply is pure. In case of inclement weather the no school bell will signal postponement at 7:45.

There is a need for more automobiles to avoid crowding the boys and it is hoped that a sufficient number will be volunteered. It must not be felt that the Scramble is a Rotary or Forty Club idea. This is not the case. It is distinctly a community proposition and any person who can give the day with his car and make some youngsters happy is doing a real community service. Notify A. L. Miles, telephone 909, or E. C. Black.

Clearly know and understand I think that we will say, that God knows best." The bearers were George W. Britto, Pearl Studley, Walter Britto, and C. Clifton Blake. The interment was in the family lot at West Rockport.

LADY KNOX CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Annual Meeting Hears National Congress Report—Ancestors of Regent Mary Perry Rich.

The annual meeting of Lady Knox Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held at the home of Mrs. E. F. Glover, with Mrs. Oscar E. Blackington, assisting hostesses. Mrs. J. E. Walker, past regent of Gen. Knox Chapter, was a guest of the hostesses.

Mrs. Mary B. Cooper, who recently attended the National Congress of the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Washington, D. C., sent a fine report to the Chapter, giving a detailed account of the proceedings of every session during the Congress. Of particular interest to the Chapter were the doings of the Maine delegates at the Capital. A luncheon was tendered the Maine delegates by Senator Hale, with Congressman White and Healy when ex-Governor Carl E. Miliken and Vice-President Charles A. Davies were present. Mrs. Cooper described the installation of the newly elected national officers amid a profusion of flowers, and said it was an impressive sight, "and none looked more charming," she wrote, "than my esteemed friend and our sister member of Gen. Knox Chapter, Mrs. Herbert M. Lord, who was installed as corresponding secretary-general. She received warm applause as she gracefully responded to the congratulations extended to her by the Congress."

There was a reception at the White House for all of the delegates to the Congress, when "President" Calvin Coolidge was true to form and passed us kindly and quickly along. Mrs. Coolidge had a charming welcome for each and a smile for all.

The report of the officers of Lady Knox Chapter was given by the secretary, Mrs. Lucia H. Walsh; registrar, Miss Anna J. Thordike; and treasurer, Miss Kitty S. Coburn. The regent, Mrs. Mary Perry Rich, reported a pledge of $50 from John Grubell of Rockport and Philadelphia, one-third of the price of a chair, to be donated by Lady Knox Chapter for the new auditorium, the balance of $150, to be raised by the Chapter, hence the rummage sale on May 20 or 21.

Resolutions of regret were offered by Mrs. Julia W. Blackington on the passing of Mrs. Lucy Woodhull Hazlett of Bangor, who at one time held the office of State regent of the Maine Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Lucia H. Walsh, who was associated with Mrs. Hazlett as State treasurer, spoke of her in her mind, her intense spirit of patriotism and her high sense of Revolutionary ancestry, which was strongly manifested through all the work pertaining to the office of State Regent. The death of Mrs. Lucy Woodhull Hazlett is a distinct loss to the Maine Society, D. A. R.

Mrs. Ann Nutt of Rockville extended a cordial invitation to members of the Chapter to picnic with her, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Geneva Collamore, in Rockport, some time during the first week in June. The invitation was gladly accepted by the Chapter, and Miss Hazel Parker, Mrs. Susan Orbeton, Mrs. Hester Chase, Mrs. Mabel Sherman and Miss Kitty S. Coburn were appointed a committee to assist Mrs. Nutt.

Mrs. Hester Chase, chairman of the nominating committee, reported the following list of candidates: Regent, Mrs. Mary Perry Rich; secretary, Mrs. Ethel L. Hayden; treasurer, Mrs. Mary B. Cooper; registrar, Mrs. Sueella Sheldon; registrar, Mrs. Ellen C. Cochrane; historian, Miss Anna J. Thordike; auditor, Mrs. Ella N. Buffum. These officers were duly elected.

Preparations are being actively carried on for the rummage sale to be held in the B. P. W. club rooms the 21st or 22d of May. The exact date will be announced. Any member of the following committee will be pleased to call for articles if friends will notify by telephone: Mrs. Sueella Sheldon, Mrs. Ella N. Buffum, Mrs. Annie Haskell, Mrs. Mabel Sherman, Mrs. Hester Chase and Mrs. Grace Black.

Additional members giving name of the ancestor with sketch which entitles them to become members of the N. S. D. A. R. were: Miss Edith Bicknell, ancestor Amos Perley; Mrs. Angelica G. Glover, ancestor Jonathan Spear; Mrs. Mary Perry Rich, ancestor John Perry.

After adjournment tea was enjoyed. Mrs. J. A. Walker of Thomaston poured and the hostesses served.

Mrs. Mary Perry Rich, regent of Lady Knox Chapter presented the following interesting data concerning her Revolutionary ancestors:

First John Perry commander of the armed boat, "Fly." 2d Joseph Drinkwater, private soldier in the company of Capt. George Rogers. 3d Ebenezer French, 1st soldier in Battle of Bunker Hill, June 17, 1775. The service of John Perry is strongly linked with local history and further information is solicited especially as to exact location of the homestead which was burned at the time British soldiers were seeking to take his life, as a price had been set upon his head. This homestead is said to have been located at the Highlands and it is added that John Perry had taken refuge in a brush pile in the yard to escape capture, and fire was set to this pile, but he escaped again.

John Perry had rendered valiant service against the English prior to receiving his revolutionary commission as commander, which was granted by John Hancock Aug. 21, 1775, then Governor of Massachusetts.

This boat "Fly" was navigated by 14 men, was 7 tons burthen, having on board as provisions two barrels of beef and pork, 700 weight of bread, as ammunition 25 weight of powder and shot in proportion; it was detailed for coast defense to cruise against the enemy and designed to check the trade carried on between the enemy and inhabitants of Penobscot.

The Republican Journal of Belfast, Maine, published the following "Incident of the Revolution": "The very interesting history of Vinalhaven, Maine, published during the recent centennial celebration, contains sketches of the early settlers of that town and the North Fox Island, now North Haven.

The story of John Perry's killing two British man-of-war-men and his subsequent escape has been current on this island for years. The local editor of the Journal had pointed out to him when a boy the very spot where the two sailors were killed. Discolorations on the rocks were said to be blood stains which time, rains and snows had failed to efface.

Here is the story as told by the historian of Vinalhaven: John Perry was born in Duxbury, Mass., in 1741 and came here about 1764. He settled on what is now Crabtree's Point. He also took up a lot between Perry's Creek and Seal Cove on the South Island. About 1775 he was living on the South Island where he cultivated a small patch of land. He was one of those who suffered from foragers during the occupancy of Castine by the British.

One day a party of these foragers landed at his place and were helping themselves to his corn, etc., thinking, probably, that one man alone would not dare resent their actions. It is said there were 15 of them but Perry secured his guns and selecting a favorable spot shot two of the party and then fled into the woods. The rest of the party pursued him, but he evaded them by hiding in an old hollow tree. He remained in his hiding place about 48 hours and when it appeared that the coast was clear, he hurried to the shore, sprang into his dug-out and paddled to Owl's Head. From there he went to Boston. He returned here shortly after, and when it came to the British strenuous efforts were made to capture him without success. Several times he came near falling into the hands of the enemy, but always managed to escape.

Once while picking up some birds that he had shot in the vicinity of Crockett's River, he was ordered to come ashore by some British who happened to be there. He answered that he would as soon as he gathered all of the birds. His would-be captors stood carefully watching him, a fact which he probably noticed, and while pretending to be getting ready to go ashore, he suddenly turned and with all his might paddled in the opposite direction. A shower of bullets followed him, but he escaped unharmed.

It is said that on account of his killing single-handed the two British men-of-war-men and his own second subsequent escape by strategy, and his undimmed zeal, that his family was so persecuted that they were obliged to move away and went to Rockland, and a price was set on his own head. So, for the safety of his family, he was obliged to keep away from his home mostly. In one of their searches for him, finding him gone, the British burned his house to the ground, and turned his wife and little ones out of doors. The baby, Wilder Perry, was knocked on the head by the soldiers and called "a damned rebel," although he was only two years old at the time.

Perry Rock, Perry Creek and Perry Cove at North Haven are famed to commemorate these incidents of the American Revolution.

While a general appeal is being issued to the citizens of Rockland to observe "Clean-up Week," it would be a good idea for all places of business to be equally observant. A store can easily be made more sanitary and less of a fire hazard if rubbish is removed from the basement and back yard.

Steamer Gov. Bodwell of the Vinalhaven line was hauled out on the South Railway Thursday to be overhauled and painted for the summer work. John F. Snow hoisted the admiral's flag on the steam lighter Sophia this week and went down the Mussel Bluffs on a wrecking trip. His first destination was Two Dush, with a view of recovering some valuable machinery which was lost when a scow piled up on the island the middle of the winter. A Vulcan steam hammer which had been under water ever since that time was fished out with the same ease that barefooted kid catches a canner on the end of the breakwater, and upon being tested at Snow's yard later was found to have suffered no rheumatism or other ailments as the result of its long sojourn at the bottom of the bay. The Sophia then swung around to Old Cliff, where Capt. John cast a shrewd prospector's eye on the mass of wreckage of what was once the cement steamship Pollas. He found that the whole after part of the craft had disintegrated and that the engines were six feet under water at low tide. The boilers were about two feet out of water. Some concrete is still showing on one or two bulkheads and that too is rapidly disintegrating. Rusty iron bars are laying in a confused mass on what was once the deck of the million-dollar freight steamer.

"ON MY SET"
Reception Thursday night was so much power than common that I gave up the ghost good and early. I happened to be listening in on WBZ, however, while an orchestra was playing "Rock-a-By-Baby," an old-time selection which will never die, written by the way, by a Rockland girl, Effie Channing Crockett. If my memory serves me correctly, The Eskimos were still flourishing on WEEL and there is nothing about the weather to indicate that they will have to shed their furs. They tell me that Irving G. Barbour, master of the Snow Marine Co.'s "Sophia" is a dyed in the wool radio fan. You've heard that charming little ditty about Mary and the lamb, "Wherever Mary went the lamb was sure to go." And so it is with Capt. Barbour's radio. Wherever the Sophia goes the set is sure to go. This considerable skipper has so equipped the Sophia that there is a set of earphones in each bunk, and the men are never so happy as when the craft is rolling in the trough of a heavy sea and they tune in on their favorite station. Capt. Barbour stands by till the last operator signs off.

I shall stop my subscription to the broadcasting service unless there is an improvement. Had enough when the boy doesn't leave The Courier-Gazette at your door, but infinitely worse when you twist the dial and hear only a faint and indistinct voice. KDKA and a few other stations came in last night but with so little volume that the pleasure of listening was not there.

At a meeting held Thursday evening in the interest of starting a Girl Scouts organization, a committee was appointed to confer with the Community Chest in regard to an appropriation for that purpose and to see what further plans can be made. That committee comprises Henry B. Bird, Mrs. Ruth Ellingwood, Mrs. Edith Crasto Picher and Miss Kathleen Snow. It was stated there are already several groups of girls clamoring for leadership along these lines, and to insure future success such leaders should be trained ones. Such good results have been shown in the work with boys that it seems to the promoters as though a city of Rockland's size should manifest interest also in its girls, as surely the women of the city are as keenly interested in the welfare of their girls as the men in their boys. After the Community Chest has been consulted another meeting will be held to form a Girl Scouts Council, which will be composed of a group of representative men and women of the city who will give their support, advice, etc., to the organization. Then, when even a few leaders have been secured, a leaders' training class will be formed. The B. P. W. Club has kindly offered the use of its rooms as headquarters.

Joseph Cloutier has rejoined Marston's Orchestra after playing the past season in Florida. There is an urgent need for a lawn mower at the Home for Aged Women. If any person can give the Home a machine, used or new, it will allow a saving in the expenditure of the funds and thus bring additional comfort to the ladies. There is also a shortage of dining room chairs.

Boys' Day in school was observed yesterday by Rockland High, the idea of student responsibility being worked out as far as possible. Principal Verrill retired temporarily in favor of Principal Charles Coughlin. Oliver Tollins was sub-principal and student teachers handled every class.

In making his regular rounds of Main street basements the past week Chief Engineer Havener found an abnormal accumulation of paper and cellar debris. He urges that delinquent property owners get these hazards removed as early as possible. This is Fire Prevention Week as well as the clean-up season.

The fishing season opened with a bang this morning when local sportsmen discovered a handsome 5-pound salmon in the window of the Rockland Hardware Co. Donald L. Karl took the beauty from Lake Megunticook yesterday and the result is little business in some offices this morning, for minds are astream.

Chemical I was given a stiff little at the Engine Quarry Thursday afternoon and behaved perfectly under all manner of loads. City Mechanic Hodgson was in charge of the big pumps with Enginemen Cheyne and Smith operating. The idea of these tests is to have each engineman perfectly familiar with the operation of both pumps.

Writing from his home in Dover, Foxcroft Rev. Leonard G. March, superintendent of the Rockland Methodist District says: "I wish to add a personal testimony, to the many already expressed, in regard to the attitude of the people of the city, during the week past. I felt proud to be connected with such a wide awake enthusiastic bunch of humanity. From the first arrival to the departure of the last guest, good will was manifest on every hand. An expression current in my boyhood days in the west seems fitting on this occasion 'May your shadow never grow less.'"

Rev. Charles A. Moore of Bangor, formerly pastor of the Rockland Church, was again elected to serve as president of the Maine Congregational Ministerial Relief Society, at a meeting of this body held in conjunction with the Congregational Conference in Portland. Rev. E. M. Cousins, formerly of Thomaston, was elected treasurer. The purpose of the Relief Society which was founded in 1925, is to care for retired Congregational pastors, or their widows or orphans. The Maine organization works in co-operation with the National Board of New York City.

THE GORDON FOXES

The sale of foxes ordered by the receivers of the Frank Gordon, Inc., promoters of extensive fox ranches in Lincoln and at other points, resulted in no bids being received. This was ordered that funds might be provided for reimbursing the receivers and owners of foxes who have advanced money for the feeding and care of foxes since the receivership took place. The sale was to take place Saturday at the office of Artemus Weatherbee in Lincoln, who is serving with Patrick H. Gillin of Bangor at the direction of the court in the receivership. Less than half a dozen people attended the sale and little interest was manifested. Mr. Weatherbee or Mr. Gillin would make no statement as to the next move. It is expected that the next move to realize on the assets will be negotiations for sale of foxes at private sale. There are some groups of fox contract holders who may negotiate for the purchase of animals later.

Rev. W. S. Rounds attended the Congregationalist State Convention at the St. Lawrence Church in Portland this week as delegate from the local church. One of the outstanding features of this gathering was the discussion relative to constructing a new church in Washington, D. C., to replace the First Church, which has been condemned. It is hoped to raise $1,125,000 to carry on the work. Rev. Harold Harbutt, who has been secretary of the denomination's work in this State for 25 years, presented his resignation and was made secretary emeritus on salary. Rev. Alfred Bliss was installed as his successor. Dr. Cornelius Patton, president of the American Board of Commissioners gave an address at the laying of the corner stone of the Woodfords Congregational parish house, which will cost about $60,000. The convention had about 250 delegates. Bar Harbor was selected as the place for holding next year's convention.

Who Was Swedenborg?

EMANUEL SWEDENBORG, the son of a bishop, was the great Swedish scientist, philosopher and theologian whose vast range caused Emerson to term him the mastodon of scholars and who recently was named by Dr. Parkes Cadman the universal genius.

Pressing on from his great discoveries in mechanics, geology, hydraulics, mathematics, chemistry, astronomy and biology—not to mention music, colors and drawing—SWEDENBORG continued his search for the soul. How his spiritual senses were opened, and how he served the Lord with his exposition of the Bible may be read in the above named uplifting, useful books.

The Senior class is working on a play, "The Adventures of Grandpa," which is to be presented May 12. A good cast and well adapted parts promise to make the play a success.

ROCKVILLE

The ice in Chickawaukie Lake broke up the 28th and the lake was practically all clean April 30. The smelt received a wireless message to that effect and were in evidence Friday night for the first time this spring. Many men and boys have been enjoying the sport of dipping for them in the brooks. All along the roadside from the lake up Smeltbrook hill autos have been parked every night.

Miss Mabel Oxton spent the weekend at her home here last week.

There were beautiful Northern Lights Tuesday night.

Mrs. Perry has had a bird house erected in the orchard. It is on an apple tree and pussy can never get at it, unless he flies.

The Sunday school will begin at 6 o'clock in the afternoon immediately followed by the preaching service when Mothers' Day will be observed with special services.

Wednesday State Horticulturist A. E. Yeaton from Augusta addressed the Farm Bureau meeting in the Grange hall on "Flower Culture." Owing to the fact that the items were delayed in printing very few knew about the meeting and it was not attended largely.

[The matter of the delayed item was in no way the fault of the correspondent but was due to a series of unavoidable mishaps.—Ed.]

Wednesday night a most enjoyable evening was spent in the Grange when Mrs. Coombs, Mrs. Crowley and Miss Susie Sleeper had charge of the program and introduced some novel mirth-provoking numbers. Next Wednesday night, Mrs. Hanley and Charles Watts will have charge of the program and judging from statements overheard it is to be a "scream." Every Granger should plan to attend now as some fine meetings are in order.

The supper and social dance which is to be given by the Parent-Teacher Association is to be May 14 in the Grange hall. Everybody come and help a worthy cause. The Parent-Teachers have undertaken a bit of fine public enterprise and well deserve a cordial public support.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwinski of 526 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brown, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the newspapers, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A. R. Carle has eight little pigs added to his supply of live stock.

Although the spring has been cold yet many are enjoying their favorite spring dish of dandelion greens.

Miss Belle Orne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Orne of this place, graduated from St. Barnabas Hospital, Portland, last week, where she entered two and one-half years ago to study for a trained nurse. The graduation which was a most brilliant affair, was largely attended. The class ode was composed by Miss Orne and was sung by the 10 graduates. Belle is one of our most attractive and popular young women who with her cheerful disposition has won her a host of friends, who extend congratulations.

Pleasant Point was saddened Sunday when the news came that Jennie, wife of John Fales of Broad Cove, had died Saturday. Only last week Mr. and Mrs. Fales had a cottage built at A. W. Orne's shore and it was there that they always spent the weekends. When the Pleasant Point Improvement Society served a supper Mrs. Fales was always on hand with a cake and was anxious to help get good roads in this part of the town. She was a friend to everyone, and none knew her but to love her. Much sympathy is extended to her sorrowing family.

Delia, wife of G. A. Davis, formerly of this place, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cora Coombs, in Islesboro, April 30, after a short illness of pneumonia. Mrs. Davis was born in Cushing Nov. 7, 1848, and at the age of 18 years was married to George A. Davis of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Davis spent all their life here until they lost their home by fire two years ago. They then went to Glenmere where they spent a year with their son Byron and family. They went to Islesboro to make their home with their daughter, Mrs. Cora Coombs, who so tenderly cared for her mother during her last illness, being assisted by her son Byron and wife. Mrs. Davis was devoted to her home and family.

Possessing a kind heart she was friendly to all. A good neighbor, ever ready to lend a hand when it was needed. Her remains were brought from Islesboro and funeral services were held at the cemetery Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Kilborn of Thomaston officiating. Her favorite hymn, "Pass Me Not Oh Gentle Saviour," was sung by Mr. and A. W. Orne, Mrs. Florence Geyer, and Mrs. Grace Maloney. Besides her husband, son and daughter, she is survived by two grandchildren, Byron Coombs of this place and Mrs. Chauncey Keene of Rockland, and one great grandchild, Marion Coombs, besides more distant relatives.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

Supreme for a Generation

TWENTY-SIX years ago the first Packard car was built by a wealthy man for his own use. It was the finest car he knew how to build. Friends who wanted the best regardless of price ordered cars from him. So was a business born.

And that business, started as a rich man's hobby, has now grown to be the largest builder of truly fine cars in all the world.

For as the public has learned to use sound business judgment in buying motor cars, Packard volume has grown, costs have been lowered, and the saving resulting from vastly increased production passed on to Packard buyers. Packard cars of today are finer cars by any standard of comparison than Packard ever built before. Yet they cost far less than the Packards of even ten years ago.

Packard engineering supremacy has been proven again and again—on land, in the air, on the water. Packard beauty and distinction have been acclaimed and imitated the world around. Packard comfort and performance have been impressed by the most extraordinary tests.

And when Packard prices and Packard's liberal monthly payment plan are considered, it is not surprising that nearly twice as many Packard cars were sold last year as in 1924.

There is every indication that taffeta will be continued through the summer season, not in its entirety as it is used for spring costumes, but as a foundation for plain and printed chiffons. Its perky stiffness offers smart contrast to the soft sheerness of chiffon. Flower printed chiffons are repeatedly seen posed over foundation slips of taffeta. Frilly and fringed shades of blue predominate. The idea is shown in a dress in which taffeta makes both the foundation slip and the bows which trim the skirt. Another feature of this design in the harem hem, of which we have spoken before in these columns. —Dry Goods Economist.

GOV. BREWSTER'S VERSION

Of the Sectarian Bill Now So Widely Discussed—Addresses Woman's Educational Club.

The closing meeting for the year of the Woman's Educational Club at the Methodist Church last evening was a notable event and enjoyed by a large number.

A banquet was served in the vestry at 6.30, the guest of honor being Gov. Ralph O. Brewster, who gave an address in the church auditorium. Mrs. Ida Simmons, general chairman of the entertainment committee, was in charge of the supper, assisted by a very efficient committee. These officers who served so well last year were re-elected: President, Mrs. Mary Perry Rich; first vice president, Miss Clara O. Spalding; second vice president, Mrs. Rebecca A. Ingraham; third president, Mrs. Nettie E. Stewart; treasurer, Miss Alice C. Hovey; secretary, Mrs. Winnie Horton; auditor, Mrs. Anna Stevens.

The subject unanimously chosen for next season's study is "United States History," showing eagerness on the part of the club members to become thoroughly acquainted with the history of their own country.

Upon adjournment to the auditorium Mrs. Frank C. Flint led in the opening exercises. A solo was rendered by Mrs. Gladys Jones Morgan, with organ accompaniment by Mrs. Faith Berry. The president, Mrs. Mary Perry Rich, in the easy and gracious manner so characteristic of her, introduced ex-Mayor Frank C. Flint, who briefly spoke of good word for the club, he was followed by Mayor James F. Carver, who also paid compliment to the club and the line of work in which it is engaged. He spoke enthusiastically too on the Boy Scout question and in favor of the movement which is being set afoot to establish a Girl Scout Council in the city.

Gov. Brewster paid a very high compliment to the club and its ideals, saying that he believed all definite action should be preceded by careful thought and study and that from such a body of women only good, and great good, was sure to emanate. His address was on "The Maher Amendment." He also paid a glowing tribute to the grand old State of Maine, and in a most impressive manner he held the close attention of his audience, who appreciated to the full the opportunity of listening to him and his kindness in coming to them. Gov. Brewster said:

It should be clearly understood by all citizens of Maine that the constitutional prohibition against the use of public funds for other than public institutions or public purposes is not an issue with which candidates in the approaching primary or election are in any way concerned, except to the extent that their action in the last Legislature in submitting this amendment to the people is considered a proper matter for criticism at this time.

The people of the State of Maine in solemn referendum will pass upon the adoption of this amendment on the same day that they elect the next administration for the conduct of state affairs. It would not seem of especial importance to know the views of candidates upon an issue which is to evaporate four months before the candidates take office.

All citizens of Maine are properly concerned, however, in the question of public policy that this proposed constitutional amendment presents. A great number of our citizens had been viewing with growing concern movements to secure the grant of public funds for sectarian schools. Thirty-three States faced by conditions very similar to our own have already enacted constitutional amendments to protect the integrity of the public schools. The amendment here is practically identical with the amendment adopted in Massachusetts ten years ago and it is a matter of gratification that here in Maine as in Massachusetts any possible suggestion of sectarian discrimination has been eliminated by the submission of an amendment sponsored by a member of a religious denomination which has been most sensitive regarding legislation upon this score.

Governor Baxter has long advocated the absolute prohibition of the grant of public funds to private institutions of any sort with very limited exceptions. In his last official message to the people of Maine he said: "I am an advocate of the passage of a comprehensive constitutional amendment providing that public money be used only for purposes that are strictly public." He went on at some length to discuss the considerations which moved him to advocate an amendment of this sort.

Two years ago the Republican Party met in convention with this subject a matter of statewide discussion and of intense popular interest and incorporated in its platform a plank dealing with this subject in these terms:

"While we recognize and commend the public service rendered by the numerous private institutions of learning within the State, we believe public funds devoted to education should be expended in support of the public schools to the exclusion of private institutions of learning except such as are the sole instrumentalities of furnishing high school education within the localities they serve and which are wholly under the supervision of the Commissioner of Education; and as for those who recommend such legislation as may be necessary to restrict the aid which they receive to such as is fair and equitable and measured by their actual requirements."

The Republican candidates were elected by an overwhelming majority and the Republican Legislature in accordance with the pledge of its party platform has adopted by a vote of 111 to 29 in the House and 20 to 7 in the Senate submitted to the people for adoption the constitutional amendment to be voted upon in September of this present year.

This amendment does not affect in any way the continuance of the present system of aid to hospitals, infirmaries, or institutions for deaf, blind, or insane.

The amendment specifically provides in Section 2 that "nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the state or any political division thereof from paying to such institutions not more than the ordinary and reasonable compensation for care or support actually rendered or furnished by such institutions to such persons as may be in whole or in part unable to support or care for themselves."

Under existing law grants of aid for such institutions are expressly limited to compensation at reasonable rates fixed by legislative enactment for care actually furnished to persons whose own resources or the resources of whose responsible relatives are insufficient to pay for the same. The amendment, therefore, clearly does not affect the continuance of the existing system of grants insofar as these institutions are concerned.

The citizens of poor country towns supporting struggling high schools should not be taxed to make disproportionate grants to secondary schools in other towns that are equally or more affluent but happen to call their school an academy.

Mrs. Winnie Horton, secretary, presented her annual report thus: "Tonight we stand at the threshold of another club year. In looking into the future there is whispering hope in the view of the year. The club's name explains its object and purpose, education and culture. There are at present 448 memberships paid in advance, plus the many in arrears who will "pay when they come." Since the beginning of this term there have been 179 new names proposed.

The programs for the meetings have consisted of studies in civics, citizenship, the Constitution of the United States, current events, word study, pronunciation, correct formation of sentences, errors in grammar, vocal and instrumental music by some of the talented members, interesting papers on various matters of interest, educational lectures by prominent women and men who have very graciously given to the club of their time and talent, which have been a vast source of enjoyment and education. To all these the club is truly grateful. Among those contributing were:

Former Governor Carl E. Milliken, "Enforcement of Laws," "Books in The Public Library of Our Home City," Miss Kathleen Snow, "The Drama of Modern Society," with solos by Lieut. E. Whitefield Laite, Mayor Ernest L. McLean of Augusta, "Liberty and Partisanship," Mrs. Rebekah S. Marsh of the Maine Publicity Bureau, "Publicity," and Major Arthur L. Thayer of Bangor.

Hon. Frederick S. Dyer, U. S. District Attorney, "Prohibitory Laws," Mrs. Sara H. Bates, State Vice President of the W. C. T. U., address, April 16 the club met at the Copper Kettle Porch and had as its guest of honor Associate Justice Norman L. Bassett of the Supreme Court, whose discourse on the "Constitution" fitted admirably into the lesson of the evening.

During the past term the study of the "Constitution of the United States," has been conducted by Mrs. Mabel A. Stevens, who has proved herself an adept in the line of instruction, and has been a compelling factor in the lessons.

The club's personnel is: President, Mrs. Mary Perry Rich; vice presidents, Miss Clara O. Spalding, Mrs. Rebecca A. Ingraham, Mrs. Nettie E. Stewart; treasurer, Miss Alice C. Hovey; secretary, Mrs. Winnie Horton; auditor, Mrs. Anna Stevens. Mrs. Rich has the distinction of having been the club's president ever since its birth May 6, 1920. Miss Alice C. Hovey has also been the club's proficient treasurer during that time. Your present secretary, Mrs. Winnie Horton, has substituted one year and served four.

The meetings have been well attended, and in the six years meetings have been held on the evening scheduled, not one missed, and the president has reported present at every one. Rain, snow, hail, thunder or lightning have not deterred her. One remarkable feature in the club's existence, one great incentive to success, is the splendid co-operation of all its true and loyal members, who have kept ever ready to assist in all things, and never indulged in any little petty disagreements, so harmful to life of a club. The board is truly grateful for their co-operation and loyal support.

New names have been added at every meeting. The largest number at any one meeting being 58, and the smallest number 7. During the recess of last summer five picnics were enjoyed at the homes of members, who are looking forward to others during the coming summer. During this time the study of "Essentials in Civil Government" by Forster will be renewed. Those who have not the study book can procure them of Mrs. Roscoe Staples, 37 Spring street for 60 cents.

There are six on the honor roll who have been present at every meeting this term. They are: Mrs. Mary P. Rich, Miss Alice C. Hovey, Mrs. Grace P. Armstrong, Mrs. Etta Covel, Mrs. Jennie Dickey and Mrs. Anna Burton.

Refreshments have been served at the close of every meeting to those present, the average being 75.

Some have failed to recognize the fact that for 25 cents they can get a season's course of lectures by talented people and a study season filled with all the knowledge one can absorb. The club is not a money making proposition; it is for civic betterment, and the loyal public spirited workers give of their services. The club has recently from its meagre store of finance loaned $100, without interest, to a worthy cause.
