

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic for the Week
Beginning Oct. 30.Topic—How giving reacts upon men.
Prov. III, 9, 10; II Cor. ix, 6-11.

By REV. S. H. DOTY.

Action always produces reaction. A ball thrown against a solid wall will rebound. This principle is universally true in nature, so that in mathematics we have the axiom, "Action and reaction are always equal." This principle, practically defined, means that results are measured by effort. The power with which the ball makes its backward bound depends entirely upon the force with which it is thrown against the wall. In other words, we get what we give and in proportion as we give it. It is only the magician who can put nothing into a hat and yet bring out an egg or a silver dollar, and he really does not do so; he only seems to do so. Many men think that in life they are shrewd enough to get something for nothing, but they will awake some day and find that it was only a dream. Men may follow illusions for awhile and find them satisfactory, but the dreamer must sometimes awaken, and how rude and depressing that awakening usually is!

This principle is particularly applicable to the subject of giving—giving money to the Lord's cause in the work. Giving always reacts upon the giver, and the character of the giving always determines the character of the reaction. If we give liberally, joyously and willingly, the reaction is always for good. Our souls are fortified against one of the most repulsive forms of selfishness—miserliness. Who more contemptible than the miser? And yet he has brought himself to that condition by failure to respond to the demands of giving upon him. The rich and those who are growing rich should be most liberal givers. Giving is their only salvation from a niggardly miserliness that will make them despised by their fellow men and even by the most high God. Moreover, giving enlarges the soul and sympathy of the giver. "The soul of the liberal giver expands instead of contracting; it is broadened rather than narrowed. The man who gives liberally to missions is the one most interested in the work of missions; the one who gives of his money that the poor and infirm may be cared for has his sympathies broadened to ward those whom he helps. Giving also uplifts the soul of the giver. God gave His best gift for the human race, and the man who gives abundantly, systematically and cheerfully becomes more and more like God.

The promises of God, as well as the laws of nature, prove the beneficent results of reaction in giving. "Honor the Lord with thy substance and with the first fruit of all thine increase; so shall thy farms be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine." "He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly, and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully."

A Model Business Endeavor.

Christian Endeavor is largely in the debt of Mr. George B. Graff, the general agent of the publishing department of the United Society. It is largely to his untiring efforts that this business end of Christian Endeavor is made profitable. The money thus accumulated is altogether used for the spreading of the cause. Mr. Graff is an ardent advocate of Christian Endeavor and a thorough believer in its principles. He is a platform speaker of no slight ability.

Indefatigable Dr. Clark.

Few men would travel around the world in the interest of a movement and pay the major part of the expenses of the trip by the use of their pen; fewer men could. And yet this is what Dr. Clark did in his recent journey. The world admires his spirit the more when it remembers that he wrote nearly every line at a time when he ought to have been resting for his next day's convention labors.

A California Worker.

J. E. White, the retiring president of the California State union, an attorney of San Francisco, has given a wonderful year of service. In the interests of state work he has traveled 9,700 miles more than three times the distance between San Francisco and New York; has written 980 personal letters, delivered more than 80 addresses, and the total expenses of his office to the state union were $82.35.

From Dr. Cuyler's Successor.

There's room for somebody to work whenever there is somebody willing to work.

There's nothing so fine as a man who is good, but there is nothing sadder than a man who is good for nothing. The same is true of a movement.

If this convention should lead the people of this city simply to care that they are not saved, that would be enough for it all.

Do not let the fear of making mistakes keep you from trying. People who don't make mistakes don't make anything else.—Rev. Dr. Cleland R. Afee in New York State Endeavor Convention.

Mutual Benefit Column.

EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE".

Its Motto: "Helpful and Hopeful."

The purposes of this column are succinctly stated in the title and motto—it is for the mutual benefit, and aims to be helpful and hopeful. Being for the common good, it is for the common use—a public servant, a purveyor of information and suggestion, a medium for the interchange of ideas. In this capacity it solicits communications, and its success depends largely on the support given it in this respect. Communications must be signed, but the name of writer will not be printed except by permission. Communications will be subject to approval or rejection by the editor of the column, but none will be rejected without good reason. Address all communications to—

THE AMERICAN,
Ellsworth, Me.

LET NOT YOUR HEART BE TROUBLED.

Words of comfort to me come,
Many a sad hour beguiled;
Whispering of a brighter home,
Turn my sadness into smiling;
Tell me every trouble heart,
Shall sweet peace in Jesus find,
Love, the balm to heal each smart,
Tears and cares are left behind.

As life's ladder reaches up,
Far beyond the shores of time;
Faith will lead us step by step,
Prayer will teach us how to climb,
As we rise from touch to round,
Fighting sin along our way;
Gaining strength and gaining ground
With the duties of to-day.

Life will not all sadness seem,
When we look at it aright;
Let us strive to catch a gleam
Of bright sunshine in our night.
Taking all our burdens up,
Striving hard to do our best;
Drink the bitter in our cup,
Trusting Jesus for the rest.

When the highest round we reach,
We can lay our burdens down;
Boundless love that passeth speech,
Giveth in their stead a crown;
Through the gates we'll enter then,
If our robes are pure and white,
Sorrow never can come again,
In that land that knows no night.

Dear M. B. Friends:

First, I will give you the following "postal":

"IN MAINE'S LOG CABIN,"
ST. LOUIS, OCT. 16, 1904.

Aunt Madge, Dear Madam:
This is a very comfortable home on this rainy day. The whole business looks and feels Maine-like. I enjoy it very much. Yours truly,

SUSAN.

Next a little correction in the form of an addition. S. J. Y. writes that she hopes no one has tried her recipe for the fruit cake as it read, as by some one's mistake the sugar was omitted and she fears the cake would be a failure. One cup of sugar is the amount needed to complete the recipe.

Aunt Maria heard from at last! though I had begun to be anxious about her. I call her letter and Ernestine's, which immediately followed it, companion letters, and there is much to enjoy in both.

Dear Aunt Madge and Friends of the M. B. C.:
Good morning! Isn't this a glorious day? How lovely that it has really cleared off. We have had it tough—think of digging potatoes out of frozen mud. The farmer "Johns" are having blue times—this fall—rotten potatoes and frozen vegetables and not much hay in the barns.

But never mind, so long as we are well and have each other, and can go to an M. B. jubilee once in a while. And why wouldn't "Jubilee" be a good name for our M. B. meetings? I think it was a season of great joy and festivity. What a good time we did have! How I wish all of the M. B.s. could have been there! I think they will try harder to get there next year.

I can tell you that it was worth a very big try all right—and a wet home. We got home between 7 and 8, and only wet in spots. My "Johns" got a few drops of water down the back of his neck and in his overcoat pocket, because I didn't hold the umbrella right.

He did some sputtering, and among his remarks was this: "Yes, I think women smart; they are 'it' in most things, but the one thing they can't do is to hold an umbrella right." Poor me! You can imagine how squelched I felt, hanging to that "brilla" for dear life, the water running off my elbows, the wind howling.

I said: "And after that came the deluge," yes, and I believe there were other remarks, but no matter—I'd do it again and love to—reunion, umbrella and all.

"S. J. Y." I'm very sorry you lost the wish-bone, but am glad you are having such a good time, and you beat us all sending in the first letter. But I didn't mean to write till it cleared off, and I've been very busy; have just finished pickling. I have forty-one quarts in all and forty-eight quarts of preserves. It seems rather a small lot, but we didn't get as many berries as usual this year; hope to do better next year.

And I do hope our summer will be longer than this summer has been. Our warm season seems to be growing shorter, or we are crowded in so much work there is no time to enjoy warm weather? Now if we were smart, like "Susan", and drove our work so far ahead we never had to do it, we would always have a clean apron; could change our dresses before dinner, have a spit curl and never mislay our glasses.

Never you mind, "Susan," you come to our reunion next year, and we will feed you on Maine pumpkin pies and other Maine goodies till you will need two aprons to cover that immaculate front of yours. And you may put your glasses in the wrong pocket, and how funny that would be for a woman! But we will forgive you for not getting soiled, for you write very interesting letters, and I for one thank you for them heartily.

"Bea," I'm glad you are one of us yet; you write a nice letter. Yes, I believe in kind words; they are a big help, and so is a cheerful smile.

Elma and Aunt Martha, how do you do? Please come again and often. Think what a long winter we have before us. Let's all write often to help Aunt Madge out; she has many ways for her time and is so good to edit our column. Didn't she write up the reunion fine?

Now I must see about some dinner. Here's best wishes for a happy winter to you all.

Yours truly, AUNT MARIA.

Dear M. B. Sisters:

Did you get home all right? And have you tired yet of talking about the picnic? Let me tell you of another picnic, numbering only two. One beautiful morning since our reunion, my John and I decided to take a lunch for man, woman and beast, and spend the greater part of the day in the carriage, planning to rest the horse at noon in some sheltered, sunny spot, and eat our lunch, in case we were not near a farmhouse.

The question arose: Toward which point of the compass should we travel? I was given the privilege of choosing (all other Johns take notice) and off we sped. Those who came from a distance on our picnic day do not need any pen pictures to portray the gorgeous coloring of our forests. That is not what I was to tell you about.

After we had gone some distance on the road we decided to stop and rest at—wait a bit, sisters, we will soon be there. Upon another long hill, and still another, around two bends of the road, and we came to a guide-board. Inquiring at a house on the left, we found that we were nearly to our resting place. Down one more grade and there, nestled on the side of a hill, was Aunt Maria's house, with a grand view of mountain and valley spread out on all sides of it.

Was Aunt Maria surprised? Just a little. We rehearsed the reunion again and again, while the two Johns entertained each other. We looked at her flowers, her old-fashioned dishes and bronze lamp. We visited the spacious barn and admired the sleek calves and frisky pigs, and strolled about gazing on all sides at the autumnal glory of the woods.

After spending a pleasant hour there, we reluctantly said good-bye, and turned our backs toward home. If more of our tired housewives would occasionally spend a day out of doors, they would appreciate this extract from Longfellow:

"If thou art worn and hard beset
With sorrows that thou wouldst forget,
If thou wouldst read a lesson, that will keep Thy heart from fainting, and thy soul from Go to the woods and hills! No tears
Dim the sweet look that nature wears."

ERNESTINE.

I hope none of our sisterhood will envy you that lovely ride and delightful hour with Aunt Maria! No, they will not, I'm sure, for dear Ernestine, don't we all remember how unceasingly you worked all day for our pleasure and comfort, and how you planned and prepared days before we had that happy meeting, to make it a red letter day for us.

I have said many times we should not have had the reunion at all this year, if it had not been for your invitation.

And Doll has reported herself, and when we think of you, Doll, that delicious ice-cream is instantly brought to mind, and how we all enjoyed it! I am glad to hear so good a report of Aunt Madge's cook-book.

Dear Aunt Madge and Sisters:

I am very glad to learn of the safe arrival home of one after another from Contention Cove. I felt selfish as I sat by my warm fire and thought of you going up hill and down in the rain to your homes, and wished for a wireless message from each of you. Hope for a better day next year.

My foster daughter, who is visiting me, is trying Aunt Madge's cook book from beginning to end, and not one yet has failed, and she asks me to send her recipe for hermits which I find comes in handy these busy days of fall work, with John away all day and poor me with all the house to care for.

HERMITS—Three eggs well beaten, 1½ cups sugar, 1 cup melted butter, 1 cup molasses, 2 cups flour, 1 cup raisins, 1 cup currants, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 cup chopped apples, 1 cup chopped oranges, 1 cup chopped lemons, 1 cup chopped limes, 1 cup chopped peaches, 1 cup chopped cherries, 1 cup chopped plums, 1 cup chopped pears, 1 cup chopped apricots, 1 cup chopped figs, 1 cup chopped dates, 1 cup chopped figs, 1 cup chopped dates, 1 cup chopped figs, 1 cup chopped dates.

We were sorry you and "Meb" and many others of our circle could not be with us, but we are glad to know you are better and able to report yourself by letter. We hope you will be nicely now.

Dear Aunt Madge and M. B. Sisters:
I must confess that I waited somewhat impatiently for the arrival of THE AMERICAN last week, because I wanted to see what Aunt Madge had to tell us about the meeting of the M. B.s., and judging from her report, I should say that it was a decided success. What an interesting letter Mr. T. sent!

Although I was sick in bed when the day arrived for the gathering together of M. B.s., my mind wandered to Contention Cove many times during the day, and I wished that I might have been permitted to be there too, but it was very gratifying to me to know that I was not forgotten, and I thank Aunt Madge and the sisters many times for the "box of remembrance" which I received by the kindness of "C."

Do I hear someone say: "I wonder what was in the box?" Well, I will tell you whether you inquired or not. There were sandwiches, tea biscuits, cake, pie, tarts, cookies, fruit, and other good things, which I do not believe were made by "nom de plumes," but by real live cooks.

I was much surprised to learn that "Meb" did not go to the meeting, for I thought that she would surely be there, to meet the contributors of the M. B. C. and to get that "pumpkin pie". What do you suppose Aunt Madge meant by saying: "If these gatherings become a settled thing," is there any reason why they should not be?

I have a presentiment that the badge will make its appearance in due time, and that it will be quite as satisfactory as the M. B. C. badge was.

Drawing the Disease Out.

The Chinese have a curious custom of trying to cure a sick man. A friend of the patient obtains a straight branch with a few leaves and twigs at the end. On this he hangs a mirror of polished steel, and under that one of the sick man's coats. Then he goes for a short walk, a priest in the meantime performing a ceremony. The coat, being carried in this way, is supposed to draw the disease from the sufferer.

Wives of Russian Priests.

A White Russian priest must be married, but he cannot marry a second time. If his wife dies he must enter a monastery. Hence the Russians tell many stories of the extraordinary means to which the priests resort in guarding the health of their wives. If the priest's consort sneezes, a mild panic ensues in the household.—World's Work.

Miss Rose Peterson, Secretary Parkdale Tennis Club, Chicago, from experience advises all young girls who have pains and sickness peculiar to their sex, to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many beautiful young girls develop into worn, listless and hopeless women, simply because sufficient attention has not been paid to their physical development. No woman is exempt from physical weakness and periodic pain, and young girls just budding into womanhood should be carefully guided physically as well as morally. Another woman,

Miss Hannah E. Merston, Collingswood, N.J., says:

"I thought I would write and tell you that, by following your kind advice, I feel like a new person. I was always thin and delicate, and so weak that I could hardly do anything. Menstruation was irregular."

"I tried a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and began to feel better right away. I continued its use, and am now well and strong, and menstruate regularly. I cannot say enough for what your medicine did for me."

A CHURCH AT SEA.

Interesting Work Carried on at Outer Long Island.

Eight miles out in the Atlantic, south of Mt. Desert Island, the farthest out of the Mt. Desert group, lies the little islet called Outer Long Island. On it live some thirty families of sturdy fishermen, the total population being about 170. In the district school are over forty pupils.

For over a hundred years there were various intermittent attempts to carry on religious work, but nothing permanent resulted, until some twenty years ago a Sunday school was started by the veteran coast missionary, Capt. Lane, under the direction of the Congregational Sunday school and publishing society. Ten years later a Congregational church was organized by Rev. A. P. McDonald, then a student supplying there, and the following year a church building was erected.

For ten years more there was intermittent preaching by "supplies" sent by the Maine missionary society. In the spring of 1903, Rev. Charles G. Fogg and Mrs. Fogg were sent there by the same society, as the first settled pastoral couple. At once the need of a parsonage was apparent. No permanent rest was to be had. So all went to work. With the generous help of outside friends a six-room cottage has been built and made habitable.

There is still a debt of $400, and the little society will be indeed grateful to any kind friend who might wish to assist in abolishing that obligation. Anyone so disposed is requested to communicate with Rev. Charles G. Fogg, the pastor, or Hiram A. Lunt, the treasurer, at Frenchboro.

The people themselves are very loyal, and each year raise $300 toward the running expenses of the church, which are about $550 a year. This is a very good showing.

Rev. Charles G. Fogg and his estimable and devoted wife have been doing a splendid work among this people and are exerting a wide influence for good. Instead of a horse and carriage, Mr. Fogg employs a sail boat as a means of transportation to these different appointments.

Both are intensely devoted to the people. Mrs. Fogg instructs the children in the Sunday school, and conducts the sewing classes, and is in great demand in times of sickness among the people. The home-life of the pastor's family has given much inspiration and comfort to the other families on the island.

Mrs. Fogg sometimes occupies the pulpit in the absence of her husband, and one night after her earnest appeal, five men rose to declare their purpose to lead a Christian life.

This church is a centre of increasing coast work. The pastor and his wife are reaching out to the neighboring islands, planting Sunday schools and reaching isolated families. Many fishing vessels put into the harbor. In a few years it will be one of the most beautiful summer resorts of the Maine coast.

Autumn.

The summer is past with its hot, sultry days, and we hail the cool breeze of October again, as we welcomed the rainbow with bright, tinted rays.

That came like a benison after the rain.

The forests are glistening with gay autumn leaves, that sparkle and glow in the bright morning sun;

The reaper has garnered his harvest of sheaves, and bound up the long, slender stems every one.

The orchards are glowing with fruit-laden trees, they gracefully bend their rich boughs to the earth,

They rustle and shake in the cool evening breeze, while the sound of the cricket is heard near the hearth.

Each day brings its work in the changeable year, as calmly and swiftly the months come and go; Then gather the sunbeams ere twilight draws near,

For in autumn we reap what in springtime we sow.

PREVENTING FALL COLDS.

BY MARY ANNABLE FANTON.

Some people seem to think that they have to have at least one heavy cold every fall. They accept the idea as they accept unpleasant November winds, or slippery pavements or cold rooms. Especially Americans seem to be fatalists about taking colds.

And it is really a perfectly absurd attitude of mind. One might as well say: "Oh, the pipes have to burst with the first frost," or "I must have my hands frosted every winter," or "I must be uncomfortable because there is a change of season."

A cold is just as abnormal as a headache or toothache, and is a condition to be prevented rather than remedied.

"I don't see how it's going to be prevented," the person with the annual cold will answer. "Goodness knows I bundle up enough."

Of course he does, and that is one of the troubles. In fact, there are two sure ways of getting a fall cold; one is bundling up the shoulders and throat so that they are moist with perspiration and sensitive to every breath of air, and the other is to forget that a cold bath is as much of a luxury in winter as in summer, and much more important to good health in cold weather.

It stands to reason that the return of winter will bring draughts and cold winds and uneven temperature, and there are naturally ways provided for meeting these difficulties. If one's circulation is stimulated, if one has plenty of fresh air and if clothes are at once warm and light it is possible to entirely avoid colds, unless there is catarrhal or tubercular weakness.

First there is the important task of stimulating the circulation, which can be done by cold baths, proper breathing and exercise, especially tramping. The cold bath is the beginning of good health in frosty weather. It should be, of necessity, taken in a warm room. If the bathroom or bedroom is not heated then use a small gas or oil stove that will heat a small room in five minutes.

Fill a tub half full of distinctly cold water, very cold indeed when you get used to the shock, and if you have sufficient reaction, step at once in the tub, kneel, dash the water about the throat and chest, and the waist, then stand, quickly splash over the hips and legs. Dry quickly with a crash towel and rub with alcohol.

To insure the water quickly opening the pores and starting the circulation, it must be soft. The best way of softening any water is by using a little pure borax, four teaspoonfuls to a half a tub of water. The borax water will not only render water more cleansing, but actually contains properties that are stimulating to the skin, and so, beneficial to the circulation.

If there is no tub in the house, there the cold bath must be a sponge. Add one teaspoonful of borax to a pail of cold water, rub dry as the bath progresses, and use the alcohol over chest and throat.

Where the cold plunge is found a little too severe at the start, it is good to begin by standing at the edge of the tub, splashing the water over the neck and arms, drying the upper part of the body, and then to plunge in one leg at a time. This will prevent a chill, and insure nothing but benefit from bath.

It is an excellent plan to do breathing exercises while the bath-room is heating and the tub filling. Throw a woolen bath gown around you, stand erect near an open window, hold the chest high, the spine straight, the hips back, and draw in long slow breaths through the nose, and exhale the air as slowly as possible through the mouth.

Five minutes of breathing in this pure air will freshen the lungs, start the blood moving briskly through the veins, and thoroughly prepare one to face a cold plunge without a shudder, and to get full benefit from it.

EXERCISES FOR HEALTH.

A Little Shaking Up Before Breakfast is a Good Thing.

For almost every person under fifty, and for a great many people over fifty, exercise is the nearest approach to a panacea for bodily ills that has yet been devised. Causing the body to move and stretch and push and pull makes the blood circulate, the liver do its work and the nerves pick up their dropped stitches. An excellent time to exercise is before breakfast. Neither man nor beast, as a rule, goes to sleep hungry. During sleep there is little waste of energy. On waking there is no immediate demand for replenishment of lost tissues. Furthermore, the long sleep has left the nerves and the digestive apparatus dull and leaden. To sit down to a heavy breakfast without in fifteen or twenty minutes after getting out of bed means that the stomach receives food which it does not need and will not readily digest.

A little shaking up before breakfast arouses the vitality and consequently makes the appetite and digestion better. That means better work done during the day. If a man can get away from work in time to take additional exercise during the afternoon he will have a better appetite for the evening meal and more power to digest it. That will mean better sleep at night. Many a man has succeeded in the world without paying any attention to his body—Joseph Chamberlain, for instance. But such men would probably have succeeded more easily and certainly with more pleasure to themselves if they had taken care of their bodies. A strong mind is certainly stronger and more enduring in a healthy body than in a sickly one. The best way to keep the body healthy is to use it.—Chicago Tribune.

"Hades is supposed to be located in the centre of the earth, isn't it?" remarked the thermometer. "Yes, but what of it?" inquired the barometer. "It seems funny," I was just thinking the lower down I should get in that direction the higher up I'd go."

Forgot Name of his Intended.

"Lemmo see," reflected George Sanders, colored, as he stood before Deputy Walter Ratcliff's desk in the county clerk's office at the courthouse, a perfect picture of perplexity. "Let me see, what is the name of dat girl I'm goin' to marry?"

As the bystanders laughed and made suggestions, Sanders, who had come to the courthouse for a marriage license and forgotten the name of his fiancée, scratched his head and made an explanation:

"I am plumb excited, I ain't used to all this to-do of gettin' married, and I've just forgot that gal's name as clean as a whistle."

The witness that Sanders had brought with him was not acquainted with the girl's first name, having known her only as "Miss Johnson", and could not help out. Finally Sanders got his bride-elect over the telephone and this is what he said:

"Say, honey, what is yo' front name?" What the reply was cannot be stated but Sanders hastened to explain: "You see, honey, I'm so plumb excited that I've done forgot it, and I can't get de license." She told him, and he turned away from the instrument exclaiming: "Of course I oughter have remembered it. Matlie Johnson, boss."

More Evidence.

It is Coming in Rapidly in Ellsworth.

Evidence on the following subject will prove of interest to every Ellsworth reader. So many people go through the same experience daily. This public statement should be proof positive to every wavering doubter. Read it carefully:

Mrs. Geo. W. Day, Shore road, Morrison district, says: "The statement I made in 1897 about procuring Doan's Kidney Pills at Wiggin & Moore's drug store and taking a course of the treatment which stopped an attack of backache, many of which I had suffered from for five years, was not only absolutely true but it has had my approval since. I was told years ago that I had catarrh of the kidneys, and the dull, dragging, constant pain in that neighborhood showed that there was intense inflammation if not catarrhal condition. Doan's Kidney Pills, as I said above, stopped the severe attack. Since then when symptoms of a recurrence have taken place I have appealed to the medicine on more than one occasion, thereby preventing serious complications."

LAMOINE.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening (Oct. 19), at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Reynolds, 229 Franklin street, when their daughter Persis was married to Sumner W. Foster, also of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. L. Campbell, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, under a canopy of asparagus vine.

The bride was gown in white liberty satin and wore a veil of tulle; she carried a bouquet of bride roses. Her cousin, Miss Grace C. King, of Ellsworth, Me., a student at Wellesley, was her only attendant, and she wore pale green crepe and carried white corymbiums.

The best man was Arthur Peckard, of Lexington, and the ushers were Frank Fuller, Lester Foster, brother of the groom, Walter Reynolds, brother of the bride, all of this city, and Herman Delant, of Boston.

The bridal march was played by Miss Harriet Dexter, whose piano pupil Miss Reynolds has been for several years.

A largely-attended reception followed the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Foster, of this city, parents of the groom, assisting the young couple in receiving their guests. After an extended trip, Mr. and Mrs. Foster will be "at home" Tuesdays in December at 34 Glenwood avenue, this city.—Cambridge, Mass., Chronicle.

Mr. Foster is a Cambridge boy, known with affection and admiration by a host of friends. He is an active worker in the society of the Harvard street Methodist church, and has distinguished himself especially by his services along musical lines. For twelve years he has been in the employ of the Brown-Durrell Co., of Boston, and the tokens of esteem received from his employers and associates bear powerful evidence that he is a faithful and efficient employee.

Miss Reynolds is a native of Lamoine, although most of her life has been spent in Cambridge. She, too, has been very active in church work, and her services have been rendered largely through her ability as a musician. She is a graduate of the Cambridge latin school. Among her most highly valued presents is a china teaset from the Chinese members of the Sunday school where she has been organist for several years.

After the wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Foster will reside in Cambridge, at 34 Glenwood avenue.

Among the guests were the following who are known to Lamoine people: Dr. T. J. King, Mrs. Addie Reynolds, Miss Grace Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. William Lyman and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Coolidge and son, Harry Lynde, Edward Young, Clifford Lynde, Clinton Coolidge, Miss Abbie Padelford, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Tweedie, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Hodgkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Reynolds and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Whitaker, Otis Googins, Miss Helen Googins, Mr. and Mrs. Eben H. Googins, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Googins and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Reynolds were for many years residents of Lamoine, where with their family they spend the summer at their old home. Mr. Reynolds was formerly a well-known teacher in Hancock county, and many men and women will remember the friend of their childhood. Miss Reynolds, now Mrs. Foster, has many friends in Ellsworth as well as in Lamoine, the place of her birth. All wish for both bride and groom a long and blissful wedded life.

LONG HUSSEY.

On Oct. 18, Miss Ethelyn M. Long, of East Bluehill, was married to George H. Hussey, of Everett, Mass., at "The Rawson," Corey street, Everett, an apartment house owned by the groom.

The bride is well known in Hancock county, having graduated from the Castine normal school and taught in the public schools in Bluehill, Machiasport and Sedgwick. For the past few years Mrs. Hussey has taught in Everett, and her success is best attested by the high esteem in which she is held by the school board and parents of the children who from year to year have been under her care and instruction.

Mr. Hussey is a Maine man born and bred; he has lived in Everett for several years. He is employed by the Revere Rubber Co., with whom he holds a very responsible position.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. Richard Peede, pastor of the First Baptist church of Everett, of which Mr. and Mrs. Hussey are members. Miss Alice M. Hall was the bridesmaid, and H. H. Nay best man.

The house was tastefully decorated with evergreens and cut flowers. The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mrs. Daniel Hussey.

The many beautiful gifts were fitting testimonials of the sincere regard of the many friends of the happy couple.

Light refreshments were served, after which the bride and groom departed amid a shower of rice, confetti and old shoes on their bridal trip to the White Mountains.

SURREY.

Capt. C. M. Coulter came home from Boston Wednesday.

Mrs. R. G. Osgood returned from Boston Monday. She has been there for medical treatment.

Capt. W. S. T. Sworgy, who has been sailing master of the yacht Caeque the past season, came home Wednesday.

Frank L. Jordan went to Bangor Wednesday to join a vessel at that port bound for New York. Mr. Jordan goes as cook.

Orlando Staples, who has been in the schooner Klenzi, of Stonington, Emory McFarland, of Surry, captain, is at home suffering from injuries received by falling from the deck load.

Earthquake shocks were felt in Surry and vicinity Saturday morning. Some report hearing the ominous rumbling at between 1 and 2 o'clock, while others are equally certain they heard it at 4:30. If both reports are correct there must have been two shocks.

Oct. 24. G.

Mrs. C. D. White, of Marlboro, Mass., has come to Surry to see her sister, Mrs. Allen Gaspar, whom she has not seen for nearly twenty-three years. Her health is very poor, and she will probably spend the remainder of her days in the place of her birth.

FRANKLIN.

The schooner Mary Augusta has loaded with curbs for W. B. Blaisdell & Co. and sailed for Boston.

State Superintendent of Schools, Hon. W. W. Steison, will give an address at the town hall Thursday evening.

Several from here plan to ride to DeMyer's camp this evening, and enjoy one of Mrs. DeMyer's good suppers.

The severe storm of Friday evening was made memorable by another slight earthquake in the early morning following.

Raymond, youngest son of Curtis Hooper and wife, Georges Pond, is a student at Portland business college. Raymond, the second son, is taking a final course in dentistry at Baltimore dental college.

The cemetery association, at a recent business meeting, elected Joseph E. Dunn to superintend work at the cemetery, and he has made a good commencement. It is hoped that each year will see some continuation of improvement. It is hoped also that Mrs. M. J. Springer, who was a prime mover in securing land at Ryefield for a burial ground, may live to see the fulfillment of her desire for beautifying and making attractive Bay View cemetery. Mrs. Springer, as president of the association more than twenty years, labored earnestly for all that has been achieved. Now that she has retired from office, her interest continues. Mrs. L. Tyler Bunker has taken up the work with enthusiasm, and makes a good presiding officer.

DEATH OF W. F. MARKS

William F. Marks, a respected citizen, died Oct. 21. He had been an invalid for fifteen years, but was as well as usual until about a week ago when he took a slight cold, which developed alarmingly, and ended in his death. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the whole community.

The funeral was held at his late home Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23.

Mr. Marks was born in Bath March 11, 1857, and was the son of the late Stephen F. and Sarah Margaret Marks. He lived in this town for the most of his life, and for the past ten years had been confined to his wheel chair on account of paralysis of the spine.

During all these years he did not lack for tender care by those in the home—a kind patient mother, who passed to her reward May 27 last, and his brother Frank gladly spent themselves for him, and within the past few months his sister and her family also brought comfort to him.

The end came peacefully Friday morning, Oct. 21. He leaves two brothers—Mebourne A., of Brookline, Mass., and Frank R., of this town; two sisters—Mrs. Ella Rose Lord, of Brookline, Mass., and Mrs. Florence Heald, with whom he lived, besides other relatives.

Many relatives and friends gathered at the home Sunday afternoon to pay their last respects to his memory. Rev. E. S. Drew, of Brookline, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. S. M. Thompson.

Appropriate selections were sung by a quartette. Choice flowers were brought by friends. The interment was at Sedgwick.

SULLIVAN.

Mr. Otis Hinman will entertain the reading club on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 26.

Mrs. S. R. Downing leaves Oct. 25 for Boston, where she will remain with her son during the winter.

Dr. Henry Hawkins and his bride left town last week, for their new home in Dorchester, where he carries with him the best wishes of a host of friends in this vicinity.

Lay services were held at the Church of our Father Sunday afternoon, and were in charge of Mrs. Fred Noyes. Mrs. William Lord read, in her always acceptable manner, a sermon of Rev. Brooke Herford on the "Mind of Jesus." These services are open to all who care to come, and all are cordially invited to be present.

The sympathies of the people here go out to H. L. Cleaves in the death of his wife, which occurred last week. She had been a great sufferer, and her case, perhaps from the first, a hopeless one.

Funeral services were held at her home here last Friday conducted by Rev. S. W. Sutton, of Ellsworth. Interment was at Ellsworth.

There were special services at the East Sullivan church, Sunday morning, Oct. 23, the occasion being the first service after extensive repairs on the same. The sermon on the occasion was the same one delivered by Rev. Mr. Adams, of Portland, at the dedication of the first church, on the site of this one, seventy-nine years ago, and was read by Rev. O. G. Barnard.

It was an able sermon and compared favorably with the sermons of to-day. Mr. Adams, its author, has long since been gathered to his fathers, and though "being dead yet speaketh." The donors toward the repairs were very gratefully remembered and the names read. Miss Helen Bartlett sang a solo in her usual sweet voice which greatly enhanced the interest of the occasion.

EAST SULLIVAN.

The morning service in the Union church on Oct. 23 was one long to be remembered. The Methodist pastor, Rev. O. G. Barnard, by his labor, enthusiasm and unfailing good cheer, has led a united people to love "The habitation of thy house, and the place where thine honor dwelleth."

A large congregation gathered, many coming down from Sullivan Harbor. Miss Nellie Bartlett sang a solo which was greatly enjoyed. Then the pastor gave a summary of money expended in the painting, shingling and repairing of the church, the amount paid toward the same, mentioning the names of those from out of town who had contributed, and gave the balance on hand which will be deposited for use when needed.

The sermon read was the dedicatory sermon preached by the Rev. Charles S. Adams when the first union meeting-house was dedicated in 1825. It stood well the test of a lapse of seventy-nine years. The text was Psalms 23:3.

The following are those living out of town who showed their interest in the church either of their own volition or their fathers who sleep near by: Morton Urann, $5; Frank Haskins, $2; Edgar Simpson, $2; Mrs. Eben Hill, $5; George S. Hill, $2; Capt. Charles Webster, $2; Miss Wilma Googins, $2; Ernest Hill, $2; Mrs. Lizzie Tufts Hill, $5; Mrs. Margaret Graham, $1; Mrs. Daniel S. Emery, $20; Daniel S. Emery, $5; Frank P. Noyes, $1.50.

CAMP-FIRE TALES.

GLEASON L. ARCHER.

There sat the old guide in his usual jacked-up manner, his back rounded against the rough log wall, and the rest of his ungainly person bestowed as near as possible upon the "deacon seat", which extended beneath and before him. His knees, well up toward his range of vision, formed a convenient resting place for his two uneasy arms that lay crossed at the wrists and dangling at the ends. It was his end of the "deacon seat" that he occupied; it was his corner, just in front of his berth and not far from the dorm stove.

'Twas a cozy winter evening in the old logging camp. The crew had indulged in their usual past-times; but the drowsy hour had fallen as I came in from the cook room, and a preliminary quilt was preparing the men for bed. The old guide had, as usual, vanquished his opponent at checkers, and was now, as we have seen, withdrawn from the others, and silent and pensive in his corner. I crossed over and spoke to him.

"Come, Uncle Henry," for the whole crew in our logging camp called him uncle, "this is just the time for a story. My camp work is finished, and I know we are all anxious to hear one of your adventures before we turn in."

A chorus of voices seconded my appeal, and the men crowded up and pulled their benches along. The old guide unlimbered himself and came back to earth with his usual exclamation: "Ho! Lord, I can't tell a story."

But such a storm of contradiction assailed him that he dared not repeat the offense. One foot dropped down from the deacon seat; he ruffled his whitening locks; his gray eyes lighted up; and he fell to stroking his grizzled mustache as if to conceal the grained smile that worked beneath it. These were all favorable symptoms. He cleared his throat, got up, stretched himself, went to the door and spat into the logging road. I was sure of him.

"What is the strangest adventure you ever had in the woods?" I asked insinuatingly as he settled down again into a story telling attitude.

"Well! well! I don't know as I can just place it. I've had too many for that. But I'll tell you something that happened once when I was working in the woods same as you be."

"One night after the crew had turned in, and I was just hanging up my apron, 'bout ready to lay myself horizontal, I heard an all-fired scratching and clawing on the side of the camp. Say I to myself, 'that must be a bear.' And sure enough it was a bear and a big one, too, for he clim' up onto the roof, and he was that heavy that the ribs of the camp creaked and buckled fit to break."

"He came clear up to the smoke hole—'twas a fireplace camp you see—and looked down at me and said real hungry-like: 'Got any beans down there?' And I says: 'Yes, I hev, but they're cold. If you'll stay where you air I warm 'em up for ye, and hand 'em up.'"

"He said: 'All right,' and poked his head down the hole a little further, and asked me real confidential how many men there was in the crew. I told him there was twenty, not including me and the teamsters, last I knew; but there might be one or two less than that, now, specially if any of 'em had been down the logging road star gazing that evenin'."

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

NATIONAL ELECTION, NOV. 8, 1904.

FOR PRESIDENT,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS, OF INDIANA.

Republicans believe in reciprocity, combined with protection. Democrats want the kind of reciprocity that means free trade.

The American people cannot be fooled by the democratic talk about the price of things. They know that it is the ability to get things that counts.

Judge Parker will gain nothing by representing President McKinley as favoring a policy of reciprocity which called for the sacrifice of any American industry.

Col. Bryan is now a grandfather. According to the Henry G. Davis standard, he will be eligible for the vice-presidential nomination in about half a century.

The democrats promise legislation on the tariff, and yet they stand just where they did in 1892, without a definite tariff policy, without even the vaguest idea of what they would do if they came into power.

If free trade is the more desirable policy for the United States to adopt, free traders should explain why American ships in competition with foreign ships upon a perfectly free trade basis during a period of more than forty years carry but 9 per cent. of our foreign commerce where they previously carried 65 per cent.

The republican party is a party of high ideals and high courage. Other parties have dreamed and fulminated; the republican party has wisely planned and bravely performed. Witness the abolition of slavery, the greenback, reconstruction, resumption of specie payments, the war with Spain, the annexation of Hawaii, the independence of Cuba, Cuban reciprocity and the Panama canal.

At Carnegie hall in New York last evening (Friday) ex-President Cleveland emerged from innocuous desuetude long enough to coin a new phrase, "the limbo of negation." For the benefit of the layman who doesn't have time to consult an encyclopedia, we hasten to explain that the limbo of negation is an elbow of the Salt river. It is a new democratic resort just across the river from innocuous desuetude, and will be honored by Judge Parker's presence early in November.—Leiston Journal.

The misunderstandings growing out of the assumption of sovereignty by this country over the Panama canal strip have afforded the President an opportunity to give the most reassuring promises to Panama of the good intent of the United States. He has assured Panama, by means of a letter to the secretary of war, that this country does not intend, even within the rights granted her by the Panama treaty, to impose on Panama or to do anything which may prove detrimental to the prosperity of the new republic. Secretary Taft has been directed to proceed to the isthmus, there to ascertain the facts and all their bearings, and to confer with the officials of Panama regarding the methods whereby the interests of both nations may best be served.

A Populist's View.
Thomas E. Watson, the breezy candidate for President of the populist ticket, makes the following remarks on Roosevelt and Parker in his letter of acceptance:

Much abuse has been heaped upon me because more time has been devoted by me to denunciation of Parker than of Roosevelt. The reason is obvious enough. Roosevelt is a straight-out republican, who declares boldly for republican principles, defiantly defying existing conditions. To attack him is a short, easy job. He is so conspicuous and stationary a target that no one who wished to take a shot at him could possibly miss the mark. He is not in ambush; he is behind no "blind"; he stands out in the open, and he says to his enemies: "Here I am—a republican who stands pat on all existing conditions; if you want to fight, come on!"

Now, I can understand a republican like that; and while I would love to make my battleaxe ring on his helmet until one of us went down in political defeat and death, yet I could respect him all the while as a foe worthy of any man's steel.

Mr. Roosevelt will get republican votes, and no others. He is not seeking the support of Bryan democrats upon false pretenses. He is not playing a confidence game on the negro question. He is not attempting to win Jeffersonians by a sham adherence to Jeffersonian principles.

In short, there is no danger that Jeffersonian democrats will vote for Roosevelt upon the assumption that he is a Jeffersonian democrat. There is no danger that Roosevelt will get a single vote to which I, as a Jeffersonian in principle, am entitled.

Roosevelt stands in the open, and dares Parker, defiantly, almost mockingly, and Parker meekly stay out of the fight. In his formal letter of acceptance he says that he takes up the glove thrown at his feet, declaring that he will revoke that pension order, No. 78. But in the same breath he hastens to admit that Roosevelt did precisely what he, Parker, thinks ought to be done.

If elected, he, Parker, will at once have Congress to do what Roosevelt has already done. Heavens! what a meek warrior is this! "Roosevelt did the right thing, but not in the right way, and if you will elect me President I will do the same thing in the proper way!" Did any nominee ever seek the presidency on that kind of platform before?

In his formal letter of acceptance, just made public, it is curious to note that Mr. Parker does not once mention the name of Jefferson, Jackson, or any other great democrat. He makes no reference to the titular duties of the democratic party.

The man to whom he alludes with the greatest reverence is William McKinley, and the next is James G. Blaine. He eulogizes the policy of both these statesmen, and finds fault with Mr. Roosevelt because he has not followed their illustrious example. Really Mr. Parker's peculiar kind of democracy amounts to a riddle.

If republican policies are to be overthrown, it must be done by men who boldly declare against them, and who go up against them with a determination to defeat them. The way to whip the enemy is to fight it. The democratic party has known what it was to be led by a captain who put the battle cry into plain language so that all could understand where the difference was on vital issues.

Such a leader was J. F. Johnson. Such a leader was Andrew Jackson. Such a leader was Stephen A. Douglas. Such a leader was William J. Bryan. In this campaign it has no such leader. To their secret shame and disgust, the rank and file of the great democratic party see that their captain will not fight.

In spite of party loyalty and a wish to believe otherwise, they see that Parker remains what Bryan says he was last April, "an artful dodger." "Absolutely unfit for the presidential nomination." That Mr. Bryan himself supports the ticket does not change facts nor create satisfaction.

WEDDING BELLS.

TRIPP SCRIBNER

Last Monday, Oct. 24, Laura C., daughter of Alderman Orrin W. Tripp and wife, was married to Fred A. Scribner, by Rev. P. A. A. Kilham, pastor of the Baptist church.

The ceremony was performed at the personage, Mr. and Mrs. Scribner leaving on the noon train for Caribou.

The bride was for some time book-keeper for the Union Shoe Mfg. Co. The groom is foreman of a construction crew of the New England Telegraph & Telephone Co.

The newly-married couple have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

New Corporation.

The Parker Point association has filed a certificate of organization at Augusta.

The association was organized at Bluehill for the purpose of dealing in real estate, with $10,000 capital stock of which $1,500 is paid in. The officers are: President and treasurer, John Teagle, of Cleveland, Ohio.

A blooming idiot isn't necessarily the flower of the family.

A lazy liver may be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. A stick is all right for the back of a lazy man. But it would be a savage as well as a stupid thing to beat a weary man or a starving man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging liver it is a great mistake to lash it with drastic drugs. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a torpid liver or sluggish liver is but a symptom of an ill-nourished body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Let your liver alone. Start with the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in proper working order, and see how quickly your liver will become active and energetic. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burden imposed upon it by the deflection of other organs.

COUNTY GOSSIP.

Now that Bar Harbor has settled on a site for its new postoffice, the next thing in order is to get an appropriation from Congress for the building. Every effort should be made to induce Congress to make the appropriation large enough to erect a building commensurate with the ever-growing importance of the place. It is hoped that an appropriation of $75,000 may be secured.

This will interest sportsmen who know how shy a partridge is: Mrs. J. B. Cole, of Prospect Harbor, was sitting on her piazza on one of our recent warm days when she was surprised by a partridge which alighted first on the rail and finally fluttered to the floor near where she was sitting. A few days afterwards the lady living in the next house found one with her hens when she went to feed them at night, possibly the same bird.

County Commissioner Perry W. Richardson, of McKinley, will have a feast of apples after his retirement from office in January. By a late steamer a barrel of apples arrived labeled not to be opened until Jan. 1, 1905. While the name of the donor is not made public, inasmuch as the barrel comes from Hancock, it is thought to be the courteous act of Capt. O. W. Foss, county commissioner-elect, who is to take Mr. Richardson's place on the board at the beginning of the new year.

It is a singular fact that the only great reciprocity treaty recently adopted—that with Cuba—was finally opposed almost alone by the representatives of the very party which now states that it favors reciprocity. And here again we ask that the worth of our words be judged by comparing their deeds with ours.—President Roosevelt.

That whenever the need arises there should be a readjustment of the tariff schedules is undoubted; but such changes can with safety be made only by those whose devotion to the principle of protective tariff is beyond question; for otherwise the changes would amount not to readjustment but to repeal. The readjustment when made must maintain, and not destroy the protective principle.—President Roosevelt.

FROM BAR HARBOR.

Old Town Downed at Football—Water Works Improvements.

BAR HARBOR, Oct. 25 (special).—By the score of 14 to 0 the Y. M. C. A. middle school defeated the Old Town high school in an interesting football game last Saturday afternoon at the new athletic park on Spring street.

When the two teams came onto the field at 2:30 it was apparent that the visitors were considerably heavier than the local players, and many of the spectators decided that the Y. M. C. A. boys were sure to be beaten. But before the first half was finished the opinions of these skeptics underwent a gratifying change. The Bar Harbor boys played a fast, snappy game, and their team work was far superior to that of their opponents.

When it came to mass plays through the center, the weight of the Old Town players told, and they had a little the better of it in this respect, but in the work of the backs they were distinctly outclassed. When Old Town had the ball, their attack was mainly on the center of the line, and while their gains were slow they generally made their distance.

Bar Harbor sent the ball around the ends and a good gain resulted on almost every try. The distinctive feature of the game came early in the first half when Silk made a fine place kick for Bar Harbor from the 35 yard line.

Before time was called for the first half Shaw made a touchdown, a goal was kicked and the score stood 9 to 0 for Bar Harbor.

Near the end of the half Silk was quite severely injured in the knee, and his place was taken by Mayo.

In the second half the local team made another touchdown, but failed to kick a goal. The field was in poor condition, and the players were covered from head to foot with slimy mud. An enthusiastic crowd of spectators watched the game.

The line up:

The Bar Harbor water company will soon begin work upon additions to the water works system of the village, which will add greatly to the efficiency of the system. A large amount of pipe will be laid in different parts of the town, and in addition all the pipes will receive a thorough cleaning.

The work will cost about $18,000 or $20,000, and a large force of men will be employed. The work of putting in new pipe will be let by contract, and several bids have already been received. It is understood that the lowest bid was made with a view of employing Italian laborers.

The contract has not been awarded yet, and there is considerable interest as to who will be the successful bidder.

To the working men of Bar Harbor, should the contract be awarded to a local contractor or to one who would employ native labor, the job means much this fall when work bids fail to be rather dull. The idea of employing foreign labor is not at all popular, as may be readily imagined.

The new pipe has arrived, and as the company desires to begin the work as soon as possible the contract will probably be awarded very shortly.

Dr. Elmer J. Morrison left town Tuesday afternoon for Mattawamkeag lake where he will join Mrs. Morrison and her children who, accompanied by Mrs. Morrison's father, William Fennelly, left for the lake several days ago. The party will spend about ten days in the woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Walls left last week for the St. Louis fair.

WASHED ASHORE.

Body of Unknown Man Found Last Sunday at Swan's Island.

The body of a man, apparently forty-five or fifty years of age, was found on the southern shore of Swan's Island on Sunday, Oct. 23.

There were no papers or marks on the body whereby it could be identified, and as it was in a badly decomposed state, the municipal officers decided to have it buried as soon as it could be done.

There was no coat or vest on the body, but part of a white shirt and collar, a cotton undershirt, striped pants, red flannel drawers, laced shoes and cotton stockings.

The body had apparently been in the water a long while before it was cast ashore in one of the recent storms.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; not cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

GEO. P. WESCOTT DEAD.

Prominent Portland Man—A Native of Bluehill.

Hon. George P. Wescott died at the Lafayette hotel, Portland, at 4 o. m., Saturday, Oct. 22. Mr. Wescott had been in failing health for the past year. Saturday evening, Oct. 15, he was taken with a paralytic shock in his apartments at the Lafayette. With the best of medical attendance and nursing he partially recovered, but his illness took a serious turn Friday morning, and he passed away without suffering.

George P. West, who has been Mr. Wescott's intimate business associate for the past twenty years, when seen by a reporter Saturday evening said:

"I was greatly shocked by the sudden termination of Mr. Wescott's illness. His friends have known that he had been an invalid for some time; but his faculty of constant cheerfulness and his non-complaining manner have made his friends feel that he was to remain with us for some years to come.

"His loss is a great one to Portland, and people in all walks of life will miss him. In twenty years I have never had an unkind word from him. He was one of Nature's noblemen."

George Peters Wescott was born at Bluehill, on Dec. 24, 1842, the son of Joseph and Caroline B. Wescott. He is survived by his step-daughter, Annetta Fletcher, wife of Harry A. Fletcher; by a brother-in-law, Dr. H. G. Beyer, of the United States navy; and by two nephews, George W. Beyer and Henry G. Beyer. Mrs. Wescott, who was Sarah Gordon West, daughter of Henry N. West, of Haverhill, Mass., died some years ago.

Mr. Wescott was the only son in a family of six children. His ancestors came from England and settled at Castine prior to the Revolutionary war. His boyhood was spent at home, where he received a good education in the common schools. For some time he was a student in Bluehill academy. At the age of eighteen he went to California, and was a civil engineer in the Mare Island navy yard for two years.

Then spending one year in the silver mines of Nevada, he returned to California, and at Vallejo, engaged in mercantile business in which he continued until 1866. He was appointed postmaster of that place, and held the office as long as he was in business there. In January, 1866, he came to Portland.

Soon after coming to Portland, Mr. Wescott began to take a prominent part in business affairs, and to identify himself closely with the growth of that city. Almost immediately it became evident that he was destined to be a strong influence in every local work of importance.

He and his father formed the successful firm of Joseph Wescott & Son, granite contractors and commission merchants. In 1869 and 1870 he was alderman for ward 5, and in 1873 was elected mayor by the republicans. He was re-elected the year following. That constituted his local political career.

The funeral was held in the High street Congregational church at 2 o'clock Tuesday, Rev. Dr. W. H. Fenn officiating.

OBITUARY.

D. F. TRIBOU.

The community was grieved to learn of the death last Monday of David F. Tribou, who for some years has been in the crockery and small wares business in the Manning block on Franklin street.

Mr. Tribou was born in Brockton, Mass., about seventy-five years ago, and spent nearly all his life in the shoe manufacturing business. He came to Ellsworth some eight years ago as the superintendent of the B. E. Cole factory.

About two years ago he sold his business to his son D. H., and retired, although he gave some attention to business matters. He leaves two sons and two daughters.

Mr. Tribou was a man of sterling worth. He was a thorough master of his business, and was successful. Although rather reserved, he had a warm heart, and his many admirable qualities were appreciated by his friends.

The family has the sincere sympathy of the community.

The funeral was held at the family residence on Water street this forenoon at 10 o'clock, Rev. J. P. Simonton officiating.

Biggs—I see that a Kansas man has just married a spinster who owned 900 chickens. Diggs—That's just like a woman; if she can't get a husband by fair means she will by foul.

SOUTHWEST HARBOR.

Quite a number from here went to Bangor last week, among them being Mrs. Augusta Clark, Mrs. A. O. Giley and William Fowler, wife and son.

J. T. Finney, of South Framingham, Mass., recently took his annual ten-days' vacation trip to Mt. Desert, returning home on Sunday, much benefited by his outing.

A good delegation from the church here attended the local union of Christian Endeavor at Salisbury Cove on Saturday. The fine weather and good reports and discussions made the day a most enjoyable one.

R. J. Lemont was called to New Brunswick recently, as the illness of his brother, Marcus Lemont, had taken a critical turn. He arrived a little too late to see his brother alive, but staid for the funeral services.

Rev. Dean A. Walker and wife are visiting friends in Massachusetts for two or three weeks. Their friends here hope to find Mr. Walker restored to his usual health and vigor when they return to Southwest Harbor.

Feeling the pressing need of a vestry to avoid heating and lighting the entire church on all occasions, the pastor has raised funds sufficient to convert the western end of the porch annex into a parlor, with a stove, chairs and the "Y" piano—a very desirable convenience for small gatherings.

Mrs. Ellen Johnson, of Oregon, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Ada Freeman, for two weeks. She will stay with her relatives in Rockland until the middle of November, when she will return to her western home. Since Mrs. Johnson's visit here two years ago she has been bereaved of her husband.

Ned Manchester and wife, of Bangor, were guests at W. W. Tibbets' Sunday.

Bennie Pharesinton and wife, of Bangor, are at W. W. Tibbets' for several weeks.

Benjamin Warren and W. T. Warren, of Eddington Bend, visited relatives here Saturday.

Herman Salisbury and wife returned from a week's visit with Mrs. Salisbury's relatives at Hill's Cove the 21st.

Mrs. Charles Kenney, of Eddington Bend, spent last week at her old home here. Her brother, James Jordan, accompanied her home.

Willis Salisbury, a former resident here, but who has lived in Brewer three years, has bought the Parsley place, so called, and moved his family there last week.

Sanford Grindal and Carrie Tibbets, of this place, were married in Bangor last Saturday evening, returning home Sunday. Miss Tibbets' many friends here wish her much happiness.

Whitcomb and Salisbury, of Ellsworth Falls, put on a large crew last week to finish digging their large crop of potatoes. They planted five acres, and the yield was about 800 bushels, which is very satisfactory to them. It is their first trial on potatoes.

Edgar Robbins, wife and little son Clyde, Harry Stearns, wife and boys, of Salisbury Cove, are in town on a hunting trip of several weeks. They are occupying the E. L. Grover house. Mr. Stearns is the hero of the hour, as he has shot, among other game, a monster wildcat which has been the terror of the neighborhood, but which has eluded the hunters for a long time.

EAST LAMOLINE.

Capt. S. P. Cousins was the victim of a severe cold last week, but he is about and attending to business again.

Rev. R. N. Toms has so far recovered from his illness as to be able to preach again, but he still suffers considerably with a lame side.

The storm of Saturday blew down quite a number of trees. The wind seemed to have more power than the storm that caused the wreck at the cooling station.

Several of our people are suffering from the peculiar cold that seems to be epidemic just now, and the weather seems to be very conducive of the rheumatic complaint.

The Union church at North Lamoine has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Trustees, C. M. Kittredge, J. M. Norwood and W. S. Archer; Mrs. Fannie L. Kittredge, secretary; Capt. John Kief, treasurer. Rev. R. N. Toms is pastor. The affairs of the church are in a very good condition. The trustees have elected C. M. Kittredge president. Provision has been made for heating and lighting. Harvard W. Kittredge is janitor for six months. In order to provide funds for current expenses Mr. Toms has consented to deliver his popular lecture on "Life amongst the Indians" at the schoolhouse, North Lamoine, next Saturday evening. There will be special music by visitors and local talent.

Harry Hardison and Miss Grace Donnell, two of our popular young people, stole a march on their friends on Oct. 22, went to Ellsworth and were married at the Baptist parsonage by Rev. P. A. A. Killam.

Their friends wish them a long and happy life. They will live for the present with Mrs. Hardison's mother, Mrs. E. H. Donnell.

George C. Gordon and wife have moved and are nicely settled in their new home. Feeling that Mr. Gordon, as an adopted son of the late J. P. Gordon, had not been fairly dealt with, and knowing something of their brother's feelings in regard to George, the heirs, or part of them, bought the pretty buildings of Calvin Springer and gave them to him. Those who so kindly gave were Simpson Gordon, Mrs. Little Gordon, Augustus Gordon, Mrs. Della Colson, and his niece, Mrs. Lottie Tyler Bunker. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon's friends are pleased for this and think the heirs have done a praiseworthy act.

Quite a remarkable thing happened here last week, which shows if a pig is stubborn and contrary he yet has some sense. Mr. Rutter had a four-weeks-old pig brought to his stable and put in a pen three feet high. He was brought in a crocus sack just at dark. The next morning he jumped out of his pen and went with a lot of pigs about the same age, and played for an hour or two, then left for his former home at Mr. Reed's across the head of the bay bridge. It isn't known whether he crossed the bridge or took to the water. He got up the hill and very near his home, but was caught by J. Wentworth and kept until called for.

Hatch Flood, of San Francisco, Cal., was calling on his many friends in town last week. This was his native place, and he seemed to remember everybody.

Constable Shepleigh held up a piddler yesterday who was cruelly beating his horse as well as breaking the Sunday law. Charles Beede, the officer for the prevention of cruelty to animals, compelled him to leave his load and lead his horse home. He promised not to harness the horse for a week, and feed him properly.

Mrs. Susan Lord expects to leave for Mendocino, Cal., next Monday to visit her son, Austin Lord. She expected to go a year ago, but was disappointed, and all hope she will get safely there this time. She will be greatly missed, as she has spent her whole life here, and all will gladly welcome her back when her visit is over.

One of our sea captains was at Bangor in his vessel last Saturday, and wishing to visit his family procured his ticket and boarded the train, refusing to occupy the smoker with his crew, and got a seat as comfortably as you please. When the conductor took his ticket and informed him that train was bound for Bucksport, the good captain, decided to get back to his vessel as soon as he could, where he was obliged to enter by the window as the cook had the key. Sunday he succeeded in reaching home. As he is a noted testotoler with a big T. the "Bangor plan" had nothing to do with the event.

ISLESFORD.

A GROWING SUMMER RESORT. Little Cranberry Island, on which is situated the postoffice and village of Islesford, is becoming a summer resort. Ten summer cottages have been built, and are owned and occupied by summer residents, and five other cottages are usually rented and occupied during the hot season, and a commodious hotel and a good-sized boarding house are, each summer, filled with guests.

Last summer a lady had a cottage built on the May Pole, a stony point facing the open sea, and almost surrounded by water. The life saving station is at the south-east point.

Islesford is a prosperous village. A Congregational chapel was built here in 1898. The island is beautiful for situation. The summer guests are now gone, and the birds are gathering in flocks to get ready to leave.

Most of the schools here have been in session five weeks. The school at Baker's Isle began last Monday, Mary A. Carroll, teacher.

Capt. J. W. Kane placed his flag at half mast Sunday in respect to the memory of Hon. George P. Wescott, as the house in which Capt. Kane lives was that owned and occupied by the Wescott family until their removal to Portland.

In the death of E. L. Gross, which occurred last week, the town has lost a good citizen. He had the respect of a large circle of friends and acquaintances, by whom he will be greatly missed. His remains were taken to Portland, Saturday, for burial. He leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters, who have the sympathy of many friends.

The news of the death of Hon. George P. Wescott, of Portland, came as a sad surprise to many who knew him well here in his native town. It was here in the town schools and academy that he acquired his education, and his interest in the friends of his youth, and in the educational advantages of the place never waned. A few years ago he gave a thousand dollars to the fund of the Bluehill academy, and within a year he made provisions for the repairing of that school building, work on the foundation having already been completed.

It is something unusual that so many sad events are crowded in one week's record from so small a town as this, but there is one more to be added to the number. News has been received that Mrs. Annie Tripp, of Minot, North Dakota, lost her youngest daughter, Maude Avis, by typhoid fever and very soon after her only son Horace was killed in a railroad accident. Mrs. Tripp is the widow of H. A. Tripp, ex-cop., and daughter of the late Elnathan Hinckley and wife. Her relatives and friends here sympathize with her in her sad bereavements.

Oct. 26. M.

Word has been received here of the death on Oct. 14 near Lone Tree, N. D., of Horace G., son of the late Harrison A. Tripp, formerly of this town. He was a brakeman on the Great Northern railroad, and fell from a freight car and was cut to pieces under the wheels. His father was an attorney residing and practicing first at Bluehill, and later in Utica, N. Y., and St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn., who lost his life in a railroad accident at Princeton Junction, N. J., Aug. 27, 1893. His wife was Miss Annie D. Hinckley, of this town. There were four children, of whom Horace was the second, and the only son. He was born in Bluehill in March, 1882, and had been in the employ of the Great Northern for some seven years. A year or two ago he was transferred from Barnsville, Minn., to Minot, N. D., and his mother afterwards moved to that place in order to make a home for him. The youngest daughter died Oct. 19, and in the letter informing her brother-in-law, O. H. Tripp, of Rockland, of this event, Mrs. Tripp spoke especially of her son, what a help and support he was to her in her trouble. Her oldest daughter is the wife of a Congregational clergyman named Griffith, and resides in Minnesota; the second daughter, Flora, is teaching in Ewston, Minn. Mrs. Tripp, who is a sister of Arch W. Hinckley, will spend the winter in Maine.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Miss Pauline Hammond, supported by the New York Comedy Co., will begin a three-nights' engagement at Hancock hall to-morrow evening, Oct. 27, the first production being "The Golden Giant Mine". Miss Hammond needs no introduction to the theatre-going public, as her work here last spring is still fresh in their memory. She is an actress of unusual ability, and is fast establishing herself as a prime favorite. The company is under the management of Clifton Whitman, who has taken great pains to surround his star with a company of capable actors and actresses, nearly every member of which contributes some special feature towards making up a most satisfactory ensemble. The Perry brothers, John and Willie, give an astonishing exhibition of acrobatic agility, for performers so young, their ages being seven and ten respectively. The advance sale of seats at Wiggins & Moore's is now going on. The usual ladies' tickets will be sold for the first evening.

Monument to Champlain.

SEAL HARBOR, Oct. 26 (special).—It was just 300 years ago that Baron Champlain sailed along the coast of Maine, and made discoveries which have linked his name forever with the island of Mt. Desert.

His coming is to be commemorated by the placing of a monument near the shore on the Seal Cliff drive at Seal Harbor in the town of Mt. Desert.

The monument is to be an immense moss-covered boulder, on which will be cut an appropriate inscription which will be written by President Charles W. Elliot, of Harvard university, whose summer home is in the vicinity.

The stone has already been selected, and will soon be moved to the site that has been selected for it.

LAKEWOOD.

Mrs. Flora Garland visited friends at Boggy Brook last week.

Zelmon Garland spent a few days in Brewer recently, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Moore.

DEER ISLE.

Capt. John W. Greene, a respected citizen, died Oct. 18, aged nearly sixty years. He was a son of the late William and Elizabeth Greene. He started going to sea early in life, and at eighteen was in command of a coasting schooner. He married Lydia Torrey who, with three sons, survives. A daughter died in infancy.

MANSET.

A dance at Centennial hall is announced for Friday evening, Oct. 28. Music by Joy & Kelley.

Tom—I wonder what makes Fred so melancholy? He says he doesn't care a rap what turns up. Jack—Oh, he proposed to Miss Grotz last night, and she turned him down.

"I suppose," said Homer, "that you would not take its weight in gold for that baby of yours, eh?" "Of course not," answered Newpaw, "what would be the use in selling out at cost?"

FROM BUCKSPORT.

Recent Weddings—Looking for Wharf Property—Locals.

Miss May Harrison has gone to Augusta for the winter.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Elmhurst, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

"I feel it my duty to express my gratitude to you for the benefit I have received and am now receiving from Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. Three years ago I was severely troubled with liver complaint. It was impossible for me to eat of the lightest food without distress. At last I was advised by a friend to try 'Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root' and after using two bottles I was perfectly well. It is also a spring medicine which cannot be equaled, and can never be too highly praised."—Fred J. Leonard, West Farmington, Me.

GALLERT'S Dry Goods and Shoe Stores

The Most Attractive Places of Business in Ellsworth.

Strangers coming into town are attracted by the appearance of the stores on the outside; also by the conveniences and the modern way the stock is kept on the inside. Our shoe store, which we opened last spring, is a big success and easily takes the lead. We have sold more shoes during the few months we have had this store, than were ever sold in any single shoe store in the city during the same length of time. The cause is easily explained; we offer our customers modern footwear at reasonable prices. We have the shoes for men, women, boys, girls and children that people want. Any width, size and style. Our specialty in school shoes for boys and girls cannot be duplicated or surpassed. They don't cost any more than the poor stuff other dealers have been offering to the public. Our price is from $1 to $2 per pair. Give these shoes a trial.

OUR LADIES' BOOTS.

Where can there be found two better grades of boots than the celebrated both well-known makes. We are showing twenty-five different styles in them, in all kinds of shapes and all widths, the narrowest to the widest. At $3 we sell a boot called the GALLERT BOOT. We thought so well of this boot that we are selling them under our own name, and have them specially made for us.

BURT BOOT at $4, or PATRICIAN at $3.50?

At $2.50 the SUPREME BOOT. At $2 we are showing the best Ladies' Boot at that price in the market, as handsome in style and fit as any boot in our store.

MEN'S BOOTS.

Our STETSON, GRAHAM, CRAWFORD and CURTIS—four distinct makes at $3.50 and $5 per pair. Representing every style, shape and form. All recognized as leading makes.

Our $2 and $2.50 shoes cannot be beaten. For workmen we offer specially constructed shoes at $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.

SPECIAL TO LUMBERMEN. We have a full and complete line of footwear suitable for Lumbermen at prices lower than elsewhere.

DRY GOODS.

While our shoe store contains the most complete assortment, OUR DRY GOODS STORE at this season is more attractive than ever. The byword, if you want anything good: "Go to Gallert's," still holds good. But this isn't all; we claim reliable goods at lowest prices, or, in other words, you do not pay any more for good goods you get from us than for inferior goods anywhere else. As we keep almost everything usually carried in a modern dry goods store, the advantage is with you to patronize the store which has the reputation of using everyone well. Note the following: Our display of

Fall and Winter Garments

in Rain and Tourists' Coats, Jackets and Cloaks, Suits, Dress and Walking Skirts.

Also CAPES, prices from $5 to $25, this being undoubtedly the best and most attractive department, stocked with the latest production of the manufacturers' art. Mohairs, also wool novelties for shirt waist suits are very popular. We have them from 50c to $1.50 per yard.

New Waists and Furs. Furs are coming in. A great fur season this winter. Early furs are more carefully made. For protection against cold we offer to the ladies an entirely new outside garment, made in Michigan, not so expensive as furs, but as comfortable and durable; particularly adapted for riding. It is an imitation of Buffalo Fur and Astrakhan Cloth. This garment is a prime favorite in foreign countries, embracing all the qualities of a real fur coat, and at a price within reach of all. It is made in either brown or black, stylish cut, neatly made and lined, 42 inches long; bust from 32 to 44. Price from $15 to $20.

Our FUR SCARFS in all the different kinds of furs from $2.50 to $50.

WAISTS. Always the best line of popular-priced Waists. GREAT WRAPPERS. We make a specialty of one dollar wrappers, and always have a big line of the best we can buy to sell at one dollar.

OUTING FLANNELS and FLANNELETES. If you are in need of flannelettes for wrappers and children's dresses, buy now. We have them from 10c to 15c. Outing flannels, 5, 8 and 10c.

TABLE LINENS. The largest stock of popular-priced goods in town. Special at 25c, 39c, 50c, 75c and $1. Towels and Napkins of every grade and price.

HEAVY UNDERWEAR. Extra quality for the prices is the inducement to early purchasers. Particular attention is directed to the Ladies' Underwear at 25 and 50c, Misses' Underwear at 25 and 50c, Children's Underwear at 25c, Boys' Underwear at 25 and 50c.

WARNER'S CORSETS. Satisfaction always with these splendid corsets. If you are not familiar with these Corsets, let us show you. All fine qualities, from $1 to $3.

YARNS. The largest stock of all kinds of Yarn in stock. Ours isn't the poor kind, but the best made.

OUR CARPET ROOM

is well stocked with Carpet Rugs, Art Squares, Linoleums, Yard Goods, Oil Cloths, Mattings, Curtains, Portieres, Denims and Art Goods.

People like to shop where there is a large stock for their inspection. You are welcome here, if you don't buy. Come in and see what we have to show. You can see many things you can't see anywhere else. We are up to the times. Reliable goods at low prices.
