HAGERTHY PHILLIPS.

The Phillips house was the scene of a pretty home wedding on Thursday evening, Dec. 8, when Nellie Mae Hagerthy, of Surry, was married to Fred Williams Phillips, younger son of Mrs. Edith H. Phillips.
Wedding bells could not have chimed on a more beautiful evening. About 100 guests were present who cordially were received by Mrs. Phillips. Promptly at 8 o'clock, to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, ably rendered by Owen L. Flye, of the Lokout, the wedding party descended the stairs and entered the tastefully decorated parlor, where under a beautiful arch of evergreen, the bridal couple were awaited by Rev. E. S. Drew, of the Baptist church. The bridal party was preceded by eight small boys and girls, which made a pretty addition to the scene.
The bride was attended only by the little girls. L. Granville Phillips, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ring service was used, and was very impressive.
The bride was becomingly gowned in pale blue crepe de chine, with panne velvet and lace trimmings, and wore white caruations. The groom wore the conventional black.
The many beautiful and costly presents of linen, silver and cut-glass testified to the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Among them was a handsome quilt made by a grandmother of the groom, at the age of eighty-one years, to be given him on this occasion, which she did not live to witness.
The ceremony was followed by an informal reception, after which dainty refreshments were served by Misses Grace Tapley and Florence Bartlett, assisted by Susie Allen, Katie Staples and Hattie Kane. Several guests from out of town were present, among whom were J. F. Staples and wife, of Surry, uncle and aunt of the bride.
Mrs. Phillips is one of Surry's most popular school teachers, but for the past year has served faithfully and successfully as teacher of the village school in this town, where she has made many friends.
The groom is the popular captain of the yacht Aurora, owned by Col. W. H. Thompson, of Washington, D. C.
Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will be "at home" at the Phillips house after December 20. They have the best wishes of a host of friends.
