WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1905. The Sturgis commission, through its deputies, swooped down upon Kennebec county Saturday night, causing a panic among the liquor-sellers.

Speaking of the novel sight of an auto on the streets of Bar Harbor recently, Bar Harbor Life says: "The sad part of the story is that not a single horse was frightened by the big machine, much to the disappointment of the anti-autoists."

The next number of the Maine agricultural bulletin will treat upon the construction and ventilation of farm buildings. In the usual circular asking for answers to questions the department says: "No subject that engages the attention of the farmer is more worthy of careful consideration than the construction and sanitary arrangement of his buildings."

A very important step was taken Saturday in the convening in Washington of the special board of consulting engineers who will settle the question of whether the Panama canal shall be a lock canal or built at sea level. The board expects to get its report ready for transmission to Congress in December.

Of course the plaudits of the world that have been showered on President Roosevelt have awakened talk as to whether the enthusiasm was likely to carry him off his feet and make him willing to accept a nomination for a third term.

fear if the President were renominated he would carry all before him. In this connection it will only be necessary to point to President Roosevelt's statement last election night, when he said that under no circumstances would he consent to another nomination.

Bar Harbor does not intend to have any more water scares. A $40,000 filter plant will be installed before another season.

J. B. Mason, of Southwest Harbor, has a squash vine that seems bound to get up in the world, having climbed an apple tree and started a squash on the tip top, while side shoots meander all over the tree.

The "club idea", as exemplified at Bar Harbor, failed to pass muster in the Ellsworth municipal court. It may be that the club was unfortunate in its choice for "janitor", or the janitor unfortunate in the choice of the club he should work for.

A correspondent of the Lewiston Journal tells a story of fox-farming at Trenton. This is it: "In Trenton, near the Bayside section, J. D. Remick and Harvey Moore have several young foxes of a rare color, the silver gray and black fox, which are attracting the attention of trappers of Hancock. It is said the black fox is becoming exceedingly rare, and when found brings fancy prices in the market for its fur, ranging from $50 to $500, and while the gray fox is also valuable the price commanded is considerably less.

The brown tail moth has invaded Hancock county. State Entomologist Hitchings reports that on a recent visit to Bar Harbor, while inspecting a piece of nursery land containing about twenty-five acres, a large number of the moths were discovered, which would seem to indicate that unless the inhabitants of that section get after the winter nests this fall, there will be a healthy colony of the moths there next summer.

KLARK-URBAN COMPANY. The Klark-Urban Co. will play a three-night engagement at Hancock hall, commencing Thursday, Sept. 7. One of their own plays, "The Silent Partner," has been selected for the opening performance. This has proved itself the most popular comedy Mr. Klark has ever had in his repertoire.

BENNETT-MOULTON CO. The opening play for the engagement of the Bennett-Moulton Co. coming to Hancock hall for the week commencing Monday, Sept. 18, is a sensational comedy-drama, "Princess of Patches."

OBITUARY. THOMAS FORD. THOMAS FORD, an aged and esteemed citizen of Ellsworth, died at his home in this city on Wednesday, Aug. 30. Mr. Ford had been an invalid for many years, the result of wounds received during the Civil war.

Mr. Ford was born in county Galway, Ireland, in December, 1825. He came to America in May, 1847, coming direct to Ellsworth, which has since been his home. In 1851 he married Abbie Kellher, who survives; to them were born eleven children, of whom five are living—Mrs. Jeremiah Hurley, Mrs. D. L. Fields, Mrs. E. E. Doyle, of this city, Mrs. O. H. Bradbury, of Nashua, N. H., and James E. Ford, of Boston.

He leaves four sisters—Margaret, widow of Charles Gaylor, Sabina, widow of William Scott, Annie, widow of Dennis Hurley, Miss Bridget Ford, and one brother—Patrick Ford.

Mr. Ford was naturalized in 1852; he early took an intense interest in political affairs, and identified himself with the whigs, later becoming a republican. It is said that at one time he was the only Irishman in Ellsworth belonging to that party.

On Aug. 19, 1861, he enlisted in Co. G, Capt. J. E. Bryant, 8th Maine regiment. He was severely wounded in the battle of Cold Harbor on June 2, 1864, and was discharged on Sept. 15, 1864.

MRS. JOHN DONOVAN. Ellen, wife of John Donovan, died at her home on Grant street Saturday morning, aged about seventy years.

For nearly sixty years, with the exception of about three years spent in Minnesota soon after her marriage, she has been a resident of Ellsworth.

She leaves one daughter—Mrs. Nellie Linnehan, of this city, and two sons—Timothy Donovan, now in Bar Harbor, and John H. Donovan, of Ellsworth.

Funeral services were held Monday at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Rev. P. A. Hayes officiating.

JOHN GREENAN. John Greenan died at his home on Grant street Monday, after a long illness resulting from paralysis. He suffered another shock last week, and failed rapidly until his death.

Mr. Greenan was sixty-one years of age. He was a native of New Brunswick, but had lived in Ellsworth the greater part of his life. Of a large family, only one daughter survives—Mrs. Herbert Young, of Lamoine. He leaves also a granddaughter, Helen Greenan, who made her home with him.

Correspondence. The Auto Terror. WEST FRANKLIN, Sept. 2, 1905. To the Editor of The American: In your issue of Aug. 30 I noticed an article over the signature of B. T. Sowie, of Ellsworth, "auto terror" owner and "public benefactor".

In your issue of Aug. 30 I noticed an article over the signature of B. T. Sowie, of Ellsworth, "auto terror" owner and "public benefactor". In the same issue I noticed an item stating that a horse of Senator Hale became frightened at Mr. Sowie's automobile, throwing the coachman, breaking three ribs, etc.

All will not murder, but there is a law to protect people from those who do. Mr. Sowie ends his communication prettily, hoping the time will come when the farmer will jump into his machine and go to church on a Sabbath morning.

In a country town the roads are narrow and many horses become unmanageable at the sight of the automobile coming upon them, throwing the occupants, mauling or crippling them, smashing the carriages. One woman died from injuries received by the horse which she was driving becoming frightened by an automobile.

WEDDING BELLS. MONAGHAN-SWAN. Miss Mabel Monaghan, of Ellsworth, one of the best-known lyric sopranos in Maine, was married last Wednesday, Aug. 30, to Carroll J. Swan, of Boston, one of the leaders among the younger set of special advertising agents.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. O'Brien, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, of Ellsworth, in the presence of the immediate family and a few intimate friends.

The main hall of the hotel, the parlor, the spacious dining-room and the grounds were most artistically decorated for the occasion, the work being done by a bevy of the bride's young friends who had gathered for a house party for three or four days preceding the wedding.

The neighboring forests and fields had yielded of their abundance fir and spruce and pine and cedar and white asters, and golden rod, and these, with garden and cut flowers, had, with the aid of deft and willing hands, transformed the place into a veritable garden of Eden.

Immediately after the ceremony, which took place in the parlor at 3.30 a. reception was held in the dining-room. The bride and groom were in a bower of pine trees banked with golden rod, and received about 200 of their friends who came from far and near—from Lamoine, Ellsworth, Bar Harbor, Hancock Point, Bangor, Boston, Hartford, Conn., Brooklyn, Saugerties, Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Washington.

The ushers were Messrs. James and Fred Rice, of Bangor, Fred Brickmeier, of Hartford, Alton P. Swan, of Brooklyn, and Misses Margaret Monaghan, Sophia Walker, Helen Rollins, of Ellsworth, Annie and Sadie Rice, of Bangor, Louise Broxnan, of Ogdensburg, and Kathleen Leavitt, of Worcester, Mass.

The bride's gown was of ivory colored messaline silk trimmed with princess lace. She wore a veil and carried a large bouquet of white sweet peas. The bridesmaid wore a gown of white India silk trimmed with Valenciennes lace.

An interesting feature of the occasion was the presence of three generations of each family, Mrs. Boston, of Norridgewock, the grandmother of the groom, and Stephen Monaghan, the father of the bride, and little Winifred and Christina Doyle, her nieces, being present.

Not the least enjoyable feature was the delightful music which was arranged for by M. C. Rumsey, of Bar Harbor, who brought with him the following artists, members of the Boston symphony orchestra: W. Swornsbourne and H. Hoyer, violin, H. Leve, clarinet, A. Brooke, flute, C. Russell, trumpet; Mr. Rumsey at the piano.

The wedding presents were many and beautiful, attesting the high esteem in which the young couple are held by a host of friends.

The bride is one of Maine's sweetest singers. During the past decade she has been heard in various parts of the country, and always enthusiastically received.

The groom is a well-known Harvard man, class of 1901, prominent in college athletics. He stroked the senior World crew in 1900, and rowed in his junior class crew. In 1901, he ran a half-mile and mile, and was in the championship two-mile relay team which won the college championship of America.

He is a successful advertising man, with offices in the Penn building, 24 Milk street, Boston. He is a member of the Harvard club of New York, is secretary of the Boston "Ad" men's club, and is a member of the New Hampshire and Winthrop yacht clubs.

His leaving Lamoine about 6 o'clock was unique. They left the house with apparently no objective point in view, but made for the shore amid a shower of rice and confetti, and there boarded a launch, of whose presence no one but themselves knew, quickly jumped aboard and in a twinkling were off, headed for Grand Neck.

FROM BAR HARBOR.

The Auto Discussion—Death of Mrs. John S. Lynam—Dinner to Miss Root.

During the summer the question of changing the law which exists at present with regard to the use of automobiles in the town of Eden has been agitated to a considerable extent, and as usual there is a division of opinion.

There is no denying the fact that the season which is just drawing to a close has not been very brilliant nor very prosperous for many of the business men of Bar Harbor. Many reasons are assigned for the dull business, and several remedies are suggested, among the latter being the relaxation of the restrictions upon the use of the automobiles in the town.

Under the present law the use of the horseless carriage is practically prohibited here, and many people are of the opinion that if automobiles were allowed the freedom here which they enjoy elsewhere, it would add new life to the resort.

One of the largest dinners given in Bar Harbor this season was that Saturday evening by Mrs. Henry F. Dimock in honor of her guest, Miss Root, daughter of Secretary of State Elihu Root.

The engagement of Miss Florence Davis, daughter of W. H. Davis and wife, and Bert H. Young is announced. It is understood that the wedding will take place next month.

MUTUALS MEET.

SECOND ANNUAL REUNION AT CONTENTION COVE. "AUNT MADGE" AND HER GROWING FAMILY DISCUSS A BOUNTIFUL PICNIC DINNER.

The memory of the second reunion of the contributors to THE AMERICAN'S M. B. column is likely to linger long in the minds of those who were wise enough to attend. It is no wonder that Aunt Madge refused to "write it up", for it would certainly have been not an easy task for her—so modest a woman—to have put on to paper the avalanches of compliments that were heaped upon her.

It all happened at the Wyman cottage at Contention Cove. The weather—unlike that of the reunion last year—was ideal for the occasion, and from first arrival early in the forenoon of last Friday to the last departure late in the afternoon, a more delightfully spent day for kindred souls cannot well be imagined.

Aunt Madge herself was early on the spot, and had a genuine "Aunt Madge" greeting for everyone. She brought along her "John" and her two children. Soon came Aunt Maria; she too brought her "John" and one of her brood of five. And there were other "Johns" and other children whose presence lent enjoyment to the day.

WEST FRANKLIN, Aug. 28, 1905. Dear Friends of the M. B. C.: As I do not expect to be with you at your rally will send just a word of greeting. I was looking for it to be a little later in the month.

Suffered Long With Catarrh. Miss Clara Case, 715 9th street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I can think of no event in my life that fills me with more gratitude and at the same time a sense of future security, as a cure after long suffering from catarrh, brought about by using Peruna as directed. It has completely cured me."—Clara Case.

Entire System Toned by Pe-ru-na. Miss Mary Bennett, 1619 Addison Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"A few months ago I contracted a cold by getting my feet wet, and although I used the usual remedies I could not shake it off. I finally took Peruna. In a week I was better. After several weeks I succeeded in ridding myself of any trace of a cold, and besides the medicine had toned up my system so that I felt splendid."—Mary Bennett.

EAST BLUEHILL. Miss Ella Bennett, of Everett, Mass., is the guest of Mrs. M. H. Long.

J. B. Chase, wife and child returned to their home in Boston last Thursday. A. E. Webber returned from the Jordan Pond house, Seal Harbor, yesterday.

Edwin W. Barton, of Holyoke, Mass., left last Wednesday for Bar Harbor. During his visit here he bought of Solon A. Long a shore lot on the eastern side of the harbor. The lot is a very desirable one, with a good view of the bay and islands.

Melinda Carter and Mrs. Betsy Stanley, both of the east side, who have been visiting in South Brewer, returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Samuel Hale died last week at the home of her son, Cyrus Young, aged eighty-three. She was formerly the widow of Nathaniel Young, of Surry; her maiden name was Day.

Fred B. Foss and wife are visiting J. P. Staples and wife. Mr. Foss went from here twelve years ago, and after going to see a few years, went into business in Vicksburg, Miss., where he married. Their home is now in Guilford, Miss.

Physicians Had Given Up the Case—Now Entirely Well. Miss Gertrude Linford, Vice President Parkside Whist Club and teacher of Whist, 221 Niagara street, Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

"Peruna has effectually cured me after physicians had practically given up my case. For a long time I suffered with catarrh of the kidneys, had a weakness and pain in the back, lost flesh rapidly, my feet were swollen, my face was puffed under the eyes and I had a waxy sallowness of the skin. I took Peruna for some time and am entirely well. I cannot endorse Peruna too strongly."—Gertrude Linford.

Advertisement: If you suffer from catarrh in any form, do not delay. Take Peruna at once. Delays are dangerous.

Smith Reunion at Mariaville. WALTHAM, Sept. 4 (special)—On Wednesday, Aug. 30, at the home of John C. Jordan and wife, Mariaville, the thirty-fifth annual reunion of the daughters of the late James and Jerusha (Moore) Smith took place.

For thirty-five years these sisters have met on the last Wednesday in August, at their respective homes or homes of son or daughter. This Smith family consisted of twelve children, two sons and ten daughters. One son was drowned in early manhood; the other for many years has made Washington state his home.

In the afternoon a short but interesting programme was arranged by Miss Mary Garland. A song by little Lester Edminister, eight years old, late of San Francisco, Cal., great-grandson of Mrs. Priscilla Jordan, was nicely rendered, and much enjoyed. A song by Mrs. Mary Marsh and little daughter Lillian was very pleasing. Miss Garland recited, then all joined in familiar hymns, Miss Garland presiding at the organ.

The hour arrived all too soon to start for home, but all agreed that a delightful reunion had been enjoyed. Much credit is due the genial host and his wife for their united efforts to make it pleasant for all. Good-bys were said, each feeling glad he was kin to the "Smith sisters".

Eddie Austin, of Ellsworth, has been the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Walter Young, the past week.

Mrs. Margaret Young, who has been employed with Mrs. C. M. Kittredge through the summer, has returned home. She is now visiting relatives in Ellsworth. Coleman Butler, wife and little daughter June, who have been visiting Mrs. Butler's mother, Mrs. Ira Hagan, have returned to Pawtucket, R. I.

Schools begin on Tuesday, Miss Ethel Reynolds will teach here and Miss Eunice Coggins at the Cove.

Mrs. M. H. Coombs, of Birch Harbor, was the guest of Mrs. E. F. Young the last of the week. She came to attend the reunion of the "Mutuals" at Contention Cove.

Miss Nalley's Story—Short, But Interesting to Every Woman. Miss Addie Nalley, 137 D street, S. E., Washington, D. C., writes:

"A cough, the grip, catarrh of the meanest kind—all sorts of remedies, home, patent and prescribed by doctors, and no relief,—that tells my story, a story of suffering and distress that lasted four years. Then—three bottles of Peruna—catarrh gone, appetite and strength returned—a happy woman, and none more grateful for the blessing of health—that is what Peruna has done for me."—Addie Nalley.

A reward of $10,000 has been deposited in the Market Exchange Bank, Columbus, Ohio, as a guarantee that the above testimonials are genuine; that we hold in our possession, authentic letters certifying to the same. During many years' advertising we have never used a single untrue testimonial.

Asa M. Barron returned from the east Maine general hospital Friday, after a successful operation on his elbow.

Miss Mary Smith came home Friday from Clapboard island, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Herbert Seeds. Twenty of Dollardtown's young people had a picnic at Patten's pond Saturday. They had dinner, supper, and ice-cream, and lighted the landscape and water in the evening with a bonfire.

Miss Helen C. Mitchell left the first of the week for Mattapan, Mass., where she has employment. Her little nieces, Mary and Myrtle Meade, accompany her to their home in Beverly.

LAKELAND. Fred Maxwell, wife and child have returned to their home in Quincy, Mass.

Mrs. C. E. Billington, of Surry, who has spent a few weeks here, has returned home. John Ballentyne and party, of Boston, have returned home after a month's vacation here.

Tuesday the Moores held their annual reunion here. There was not as large an attendance as usual, but it was an enjoyable day. It was voted to build a pavilion and hold dances. Lynch's band, of Ellsworth Falls, furnished music.
