White, the tenor soloist who was to appear here that evening under the auspices of the Help-somehow society of the Baptist church, and caused the indefinite postponement of the recital. mayor will issue a warrant to a constable that all the members who attended had a to kill all dogs not licensed on or before royal good time. One of the features of the evening was a "senseless suggestion contest", and the pastor, though coming in last, was the prize-winner, although he had no time to spare. The prize was a box of Apollo chocolates, which the champion handed around to his fellowcontestants, when he made the startling discovery that for some strange and almost anomalous reason, many of the young ladies present did not care for confec tionery. It so dazed him that he forgot to take the prize home. The refreshments were a temptation that no one could withstand and that no one wanted to, and they fully sustained the reputation of the house of Stratton. Games and music counded out the evening, and so pleasantly did the time pass that many wished to continue beyond the usual hour set for closing. "Another good time" was the unanimous verdict of all present.

A telegram was received from the chief of police at Washington, D. C., Friday, asking for information of relatives of Josie Eva Kent, aged twenty-nine years, who had died in a hospital in that city from the effects, it is believed, of a criminal operation. City Marshal Silvy ascertained that she was the youngest daughter of Richard Kent, who formerly lived at Beechland. She was only about five years old when her family left here. Her father is dead, also an older brother and sister. Her mother is living in Brooklyn, N. Y. No near relatives live here now, and Officer Silvy so advised the Washington police. She visited here a short time about five years ago. According to the Washington police, Miss Kent was engaged to be married to a Washington man, who died shortly before the wedding. As though expecting soon to follow him, Miss Kent recently took out an insurance policy for $400, saying that at any rate she would have enough money to pay for her burial. The police have the policy. five years old when her family left here.

It has been the unwritten rule heretofore that bills against the city should be presented on or before the Saturday preeding the regular monthly meeting, and frequently bills were not presented until the day or evening of the meeting. #### Prayer Meeting Topic For the Weel Beginning April 1. By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic. — Lives that endure. — Matt. vii, 14, 25; I Cor. iii, 10-15; Eph. ii, 19-22; I Cor. vi., 17-19; Il Tim. ii, 14-19. (Consecration

The desire to lead a life that will endure or to do something that will be a memorial to us after we have passed away from life is a very strong and a very natural one. Few men want to be forgotten when they die. The vast majority want to be remembered. That he might be remembered Absalom built a pillar in the king's dale, and all the Absaloms are not dead yet. But, more than this, men want to be honorably remembered. No man wants the evil that he does to live after him and the good to be interred with his bones. We want the best that is in us to be remembered. We would if we could blot out the weaknesses and failures of our lives and leave only that which is worthy of remembrance. An-cient kings only inscribed their victories on the monuments they erected. They wished their defeats to be forgotten. But, alas, we cannot do so on the memorials of our lives. All things We are remembered for all endure. that we have been and all that we have done; hence if we want to leave an honorable name among men we must live honorably-we must "cease to do evil and learn to do well." "eschew evil and do good."

But the temporary endurance of our lives is not all that we are to consider. Few of our memories long endure in this life. Only a few names endure beyond a generation or two. Those who know us soon pass away also, and, as in ancient Egypt a new king arose who knew not Joseph, new generations arise who know not us. A life, then, really to endure must make an impression upon the future, upon eternity. And to do this life must be spent on eternal things. No purely temporal achievements will insure endurance for the future. All temporal things will pass away. The most substantial earthly monument will sooner or later crumble to dust. Today nothing but remnants remain of the vast works of the ancients, and when centuries shall have passed these remnants shall entirely pass with them. The fortunes of the financially successful are soon spent; the laws of the greatest statesmen will become obsolete and forgot-ten; the wisdom of the greatest philosophers will see the day when it is looked upon as folly; the work of the greatest artists will be dimmed by that of their successors, until the day dawns when "there shall be a new heaven and a new earth, for former things [all former things] shall pass away.'

The life, therefore, that endures must touch eternity. And consequently if we want our lives to endure we mustnot spend them upon the things which are seen, for they are temporal, but upon the things which are not seen, which are eternal. Character endures forever: treasures laid up in heaven by a self sacrificing Christian life here endure; moth and rust do not destroy Christian work endures, espe cially if it be the work of saving human souls. A saved soul is forever saved and is an eternal monument to the one who in the providence of God has been instrumental in its salvation. We want our lives to endure. There fore let us consecrate them more fully to the service of God. Let us give our lives to God in Jesus Christ, and they will endure forever, and let us make our life work redound to the honor and glory of God, and it will endure for-

Endeavor a Revival Force

Endeavorers, arouse you to the bat-tle! God is waiting to bless in the bringing in of many, but the practical work must be done by Christian men and women. If the young people of your community are reached for God you will be the instruments used to accomplish that end. As to methods, never mind how; only do something, anything that will bring you face to face with the problem of reaching the unpaved for Christ. BEALING BALM.

"The little sharp vex stions, And the briars that catch and fret, Why not take all to the Helper Tho never has falled us yet? Tell Him about the heartache,

And tell Him the longing, too, Tell Him the baffled purpose, When we scarce know what to do-With the One divinely strong.

Forget that we bore the burder

And carry away the song." There is a lot of help in just "carrying away he song" that should never die out in the heart just being serene and helpful and cheerful in attains to the highest degree of victory in this life. Fretfulness is weakening and invites defeat. Gloominess and despondency undermine the spiritual life and create fear and doubt. Cowardice results from a distrust of one's self, and actual morbidness leads even to distrust in

After all, many of the troubles of life are more imaginary than real, and real troubles have a hard time of it trying to down one of a cheerful spirit. A sense of honor often belps out algood deal when trouble comes to the front. I incline to the belief that God has given us this sense to cheer us up under many of our trials and to keep some of us from fainting and falling by the wayside. Humor has its place in every wholesome and happy life, and the best way to cultivate this "saving grace" is to think only of the pleasant things of lite and to let the troublesome things "go hang" as far as possible.

No quality of the Christian life is more ess tial than pure joy-the joy of living, the joy of faith in God, the joy of service, the joy of vic-torious achievement. And who should know more of all these joys than the children of God who are working for him? Joyfulness, hopefulness-these are real Christian duties. There is healing balm in His word for all who read it aright and believe it means just what it says.

"For every evil under the sun There is a remedy or there is none."

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred there is for all the troubies or evils that so vex and ffret us. We simply increase the trouble by worrying or brooding over it, and we doubt God's promises when we come to the conclusion there is no help for it.

"Why not take all to the Helper Who never has falled us yet?"

-By Manton Marlowe.

Selected by N. L. H.

The above selection abounds in helpful thoughts. Each of you will doubtless find your own portion. I want to mention the "sense of humor" which is referred to in it. How many times that sense of humor has "saved the day", redeemed the situation, and preserved us from a threatened heart-break. The person destitute of humor must go through life a great deal like a sled over bare ground; but fortunately he does not know what he misses.

I have not recently looked up the definitions of wit, humor, repartee and the like; but wit seems more like a sudden flash of humor, while humor itself is an abiding element of the mind, which grasps the situation and throws a flashlight on it that reveals it in all its bearings.

WEST FRANKLIN, March 9, 1906. Dear Friends of the M. B. Column:

How I have enjoyed your letters this winter, and wish to thank all for the good cheer contained in them. Am very sorry for all those that have been sick this winter, and feel that I can truly sympathize with them, for as poor "Uncle Hiram" used to say, I have had nearly "all the ills that human flesh is heir to", and I still live to enjoy this warm, beautiful winter.

No one needed to go South this winter.

Would say to Janet that there is one advantage when we lose our voices. We cannot scold if we have any desire to do so, for it is too bard work. Hope you are all right ere this. And to Esther, I do not know as I had just the same kind of measles as she had, but should judge by my looks at that time that it was all blended in one. I asked for the glass one morning, but one look was sufficient. I laughed with all the strength I had; but such a sight!

Dear Grandma G., I was so interested in your letter. What would the girls of to-day think if they should be asked to live in that way? My, how their heads would go up! But I say, God bless the dear old people who endured so many privations. We are proud of them; also for the noble sons and daughters that the State of Maine is blessed with, and just at this time how much we need them—those who are honest and "dare to do right, dare to be true". When our country is filled with such men as that there will be no need of prisons, jails or sheriffs, and God grant that in the year 1906 every voter in this State will vote for prohibition.

I fear that I am trespassing, so will make my bow and say good morning to you all, with best wishes from AUNT EMMA.

Thanks for the letter and the above recipes, Aunt Emma. We are glad you are better and that you are enjoying the letters. So are we all. Aunt Madge enjoys them as well as the others. We all say amen to your sentiments on the children of the old Pine Tree State. We believe yet the majority of them stand for purity and truth

Such warning symp-toms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, head-aches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timid-ity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, palpitation of the hear, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipa-tion, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by in-telligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Piakham's Vegetable Com-pound was prepared to meet the needs of womans system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system.

JOHN BARTLETT.

Half a mile or so north of Deep Cove and the house of James Day, was the lot and house of John Bartlett, so well known to the writer "in days lang syne", but, like the others mentioned, long since descried of habitation and of habitant. John Bartlett was born at Mt. Desert in the early years of 1800, married Mary Hale, of Sedgwick, July 27, 1826, and set up housekeeping upon Long Island. Their children were:

- 1. Caroline Hale, born Dec. 23, 1823, out of wedlock.
- 2. George Gurley, born July 2, 1827; - Hamilton.
- S. Mary Ann, born Sept. 2, 1828; married William A. Hall.
- 4. Frederick Augustus, born Oct. 21, 1830; died July 15, 1848. Vienna, born May 1, 1833.
- John Bushrod, born Aug. 27, 1834; died May, 1866.
- 7. Nancy Elizabeth, born June 30, 1836; died July 12, 1853.
- 8. Hiram Hinckley, born Dec. 4, 1838.
- 9. James Candage, born April 20, 1841. John Bartlett was a fisherman, and gained his livelihood in that business, with a little farming. In 1840 and 1841, he resided upon Outer Duck island which had but a single house upon it. When his wife was about to be confined with her last child she was brought to Blue Hill Falls to the house of the writer's grandmother where the child was born and named James Candage Bartlett for the writer's grandfather.

When Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett returned to Duck island, the writer accompanied them and spent two weeks with the family on the island in fishing and in visiting little Duck island, Baker's island and its lighthouse, Gott's Island. Bass Harbor, etc. It was a new experience to the writer and in all his wandering about the world since then he has not forgotten it.

The boy, James Candage Bartlett, grew to manhood, settled and married at Somerville, Mass., where he still resides. John Bartlett, his father, died many years ago, the date not recorded. His mother died in Charlestown, Mass., at the house of a married daughter some years ago at nearly ninety years of age.

URIAH MARKS.

A mile or so north of the house of John Bartlett on Long Island, stood, years ago, now gone, the house of Uriah Marks, son of Joseph Marks, whose wife was Melvina Day, daughter of James and Nancy Yates

Upon the head or northern end of Long island seventy years ago, was the farm, house and barn of Joseph Marks, who there resided many years, although at this writing but little evidence is seen that it was ever inhabited. The Marks and Bartlett places were favorite resorts for berrying parties and for parties indulging in bakes, fishing and other sports.

Of the family of Joseph Marks there is no data at hand by which the writer can make a true record, but from memory he can speak of a son, Uriah, and a daughter, and to Long Island from either Sedgwick or Penobscot, and there it would be natural to look for the family history.

Joseph Marks' wife was Martha A. Billings, who came from Sedgwick or Penobscot. He died in April, 1855, and she in 1872. They had nine children, among whom were: Joseph, Abel B., Otis R., William, Caroline, Calorn B.

THE CARTER FAMILY.

Returning from the upper end of Long Island to the earliest settlement made by James and David Carter, we find located etween the houses erected by them, the house of Robert Carter, the son of David and Abigail, who was born Jan. 9, 1803, and married Melinda Candage, daughter of Joseph Candage, jr., Sept. 1, 1837.

The house referred to in which he and his family resided was built shortly after his marriage, but has been gone from the spot many years. Robert Carter was blind, having been made so when a child by measles or some other disease incident to children. He was a kindly and wellinformed man, possessing that remarkable memory so characteristic of his race, which enabled him to retain what was read or told to him. He died in 1867 at the age of sixty-four. His children were:

- 1. Vienna, born Dec. 14, 1839.
- Matilda, born May 5, 1846. 3. Rose Eleanor, born Jan. 29, 1854.

In the David Carter house (father of Robert), long since demolished, lived, after the death of the builder, Samuel brother of Robert, and his family. He was born in 1800, married Sally Curtis, of Surry (Newbury Neck) by whom he had seven children.

- 1. Abijah Sprague, born Nov. 21, 1830.
- Sarah, born Nov. 3, 1832.
- Deborah, born July 4, 1836.
- Joanna, born March 4, 1839 Susan Emeline, born March 27, 1841.
- Abigail, born Feb. 11, 1843.

Mary Jane, born June 2, 1845. Samuel Carter was a farmer, a man of good reputation, and a deacon of the Neck and Long Island Baptist church. The writer knew him and his family well, at the time he taught a winter school upon the island, but of his and his wife's later life and their deaths he knows nothing.

In the youth of the writer, Samuel Cain. brother to the wives of James and David where, it is now not easy to locate. He was a tall, thin man with sharp features and a prominent nose, and by the wags of the day, was called "the mosquito maker". When he made his appearance on the main land the word would be passed around with the caution "Look out for mosquitos, for Sam Cain has just brought raft of them from Long Island."

Mr. Cain has been dead many years peace to his ashes-and though a very worthy man the story of his mosquitomaking doubtless sticks to some people left who knew him besides the writer.

James Carter, jr., lived upon his father's place on the island. He married and moved to Sedgwick, where he died at a good old age.

The next place below Carter's Point, in Joseph Gott, who came from Mt. Desert, and married Hannah Carter, daughter of David and Abigail (Cain) Carter, December 16, 1812. He was a farmer and fisherman and was lost at sea about 1840, from the bowsprit of schooner "Mary Ann", Capt. Samuel Eaton, owned by John Cheever. He had children as follows:

- 1. Lemuel, born Oct. 23, 1813.
- Harriet, born Sept. 2, 1815.
- Mary, born May 9, 1818. Joseph, born Nov. 9, 1820.
- Sophia Carter, born Nov. 20, 1822. Martha, born May 29, 1825.
- 7. David, born Oct. 25, 1827.
- David Gott, brother of Joseph, also lived on Long Island, probably at this place. He married Joanna Carter, a sister of his brother's wife, June 27, 1808. He was
- shows that he had four children: 1. Abigail, born Aug. 20, 1810; married
- Moses Friend. 2. Joanna, born March 28, 1812; married Amos Gott, Brooksville.
- 3. Hannah, born March 28, 1812; mar ried Galen O. Marks, Brooksville.
- 4. David, born March 23, 1814; died March 31, 1815.

FRANCIS AND ISAAC GRANT.

The next place and house was that of Francis Grant, who came from the Kennebec and married Mercy Gray, Sept. 2, 1812. He gained his livelihood by farming and fishing and the children were:

- 1. Thomas, born Oct. 27, 1813.
- Moses, born Jan. 9, 1816. George Stevens, born Sept. 6, 1818.
- Lydia Gray, born July 24, 1822.
- Francis, born Feb. 26, 1824. Mercy, born July 3, 1827.

Francis Grant died Feb. 17, 1873, aged eighty-five, and Mercy, his wife, in 1844. Isaac Grant and family, he a brother of Francis, from Bath, settled upon the island near his brother sometime previous to 1840. He was a ship's caulker by trade, caulked the ship Tahmaroo buit at Blue Hill Falls in 1842, and other vessels built in the town. He and his family moved at a later date to Ellsworth, where his sons Isaac and George became vessel owners and active business men. The members of his family are not given in the Blue Hill

THE CHATTEAUS.

Another family by the name of Kitfield resided for some years near the Grants, but there is no entry in the town records concerning the family. Farther down the island shore lived three families by the name of Chatteau-Joshua, Charles and John - who came there from Deer Isle. They Thankful. The family came to Blue Hill were fisherman, boatbuilders and farmers. The record of family of Joshua is not found in the town books.

Charles Chatteau, (afterwards changed to Chatto) married Martha Eaton, daughter of Jeremiah and Patty Eaton, of Blue Hill Neck, Jan. 6, 1825. The births of his children as recorded were:

- 1. Louisa, born Aug. 3, 1825; married George Closson Aug. 29, 1840.
- 2. Almira Jane, born Feb. 21, 1828; died
- 3. Abigail, born May 6, 1829.
- Dates of deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Chat-

In the boyhood of the writer, Charles Chatteau was master and owner of a pinkstern fishing vessel named "Credit". It was in the days when bounties were given to fishing vessels. The writer and other boys of his acquaintance made a fishing cruise with Capt. Chatteau among the outer islands-Swan's Island, Outer Long Islands, etc.-finding their own provisions and having half the fish they caught. They did not eatch many fish but had a pleasant outing at what was called "bounty catching" for the vessel. A year or two later the "Credit" was seized by the United States authorities for obtaining a bounty illegally; .was condemned and sold. And the connundrum among the boys was, "Why cannot Charles Chatteau do any more business?" The answer was, "He has lost his Credit." John Chatteau married Hannah (Barks) Friend, widow of Daniel Friend, July 22, 1829. She had by her first husband, Mr

- Friend, three children as follows: 1. Deborah Shacksford, born April 16,
- Martha Dodge, born Nov. 10, 1824.
- 3. Daniel B., born Dec. 28, 1826. and by Mr. Chatteau her second husband,
- 4. Hannah, born May 27, 1830.
- John Roundy, born Nov. 26, 1833. Stephen, born Dec. 13, 1835.
- The dates of deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Chatteau are not given.

Farther down toward the extreme lower end of the island resided Amos Carter, son of James, jr., born upon the island June 3, 1805, married Martha Choate, by whom he had children, as follows:

- 1. Joan Emeline, born March 11, 1830. Hannah Angeline, born March 11,
- 3. Mary Augusta, born May 13, 1832. Lavina H., born Dec. 20, 1833.
- Martha Edna, born Feb. 13, 1837.
- Mercy Caroline, born Dec. 20, 1840. Amos Pierce, born Oct. 20, 1842.

Mr. Carter died about 1844, and his vidow married Elder Samuel Macomber, a Saptist preacher, October 2, 1847. Mos Carter, a brother of Amos, lived on the lower end of the island. He married Olive Grove's signature is on each box. 23c.

OTHER LONG ISLAND FAMILIES.

Capt. Merrill Dodge, whose wife was Abigail Carter, a daughter of David Carter, lived on the island at the lower end but later removed to the main land in the tide-mill district, where he lived and died. A history of him and his fa nily belong to that part of the town.

Nathan Staples, whose wife was Sally, from Sedgwick, lived upon Long Island the memory of the writer, was that of near the lower end. His family record is as follows: Children:

- 1. Elizabeth, born July 10, 1838.
- John, born Jan. 3, 1841. Nathan, born April 20, 1843.

David Cain and family once lived here, but their family record is not found in the Blue Hill records.

Long Island sixty or more years ago. His wife was a Chatteau, sister of Charles, Joshua and John. He had a family of children, the eldest being Sarah, who married Pearly Cain, who lived in Brooklin. Mr. Fogg's house was on the east side of the lower end of the island. His family record is not found in the copy of the town records in possession of the writer.

Next to Mr. Fogg's place was that of Stephen Dunham, a half brother of the Chatteau's above named. His wife was a sister of Eliphalet Grindle. They had no Abel S. Town also lived on Long Island before and at the time of his marriage to

Sarah R. Choate, youngest daughter of George Choate. One or more Conary lived at one time on Long Island, and in later days other families, unknown to the writer, have lived there. Along the ridge, from the upper end to the Carter places and thence along to the lower end ran a rough and

A granite quarry was opened at the lower end some years ago, but was eventually abandoned and several mines were opened, but did not prove a success.

At this writing, 1905, probably few, if any, of the descendants of the families named in this paper are living on the island. In outline and physical appearance, except having been denuded of its forest trees, it remains much in the consixty or seventy years ago.

The statehood bill has gone to conterence. There was a strong show of resistance to submitting it to conferonce at all, but now it is out of the way for the time being and it remains to be seen whether the House in the end will have the tomerity to defy the Senate and the obvious wishes of the people of Arizona and probably the majority in New Mexico.

Senator Tillman says the decate on the rate bill will last six weeks more and that the Hepburn bill will be materially amended before it passes the Senate. Senator Dolliver says that the bill will be passed without amendment and the debate will not last more than a week or ten days longer. Anyone interested can draw his own deductions from these di-THESE VIEWS.

All the talk that has been made about the imminence of an outbreak in China and the necessity of immediately sending warships and emergency proops to the far east, seems to be dving down. Reports have reached the state department that the antiforeign feeling is subsiding, and that the boycott is apt to fall by its own weight. The navy department has withdrawn the battleships that it had sent to north China waters, and the bulk of the American fleet is now at Shanghai and southward. The agents of the state department are alert and not apt to be caught napping, for though the outlook at present is promising, a calm in China frequently preludes the bursting of the real

This government is making more effort than ever to push American trade abroad. The latest move has been a bill introduced by Senator Overman to create a presidential commission to study the needs of the cotton trade in the far east. This plan has been presented to the secretary of commerce and labor, who approved it in its intent but suggested that as the department already had the organization completed for such work, it was useless to go to the expense of equipping a special commission. Consequently some cotton experts may be sent to the far east to study market conditions, and arrangements have been made to send to all of the great milling centres samples of the clothes and designs most in demand in the eastern market.

As Senator Hale shut off the reopen ing of the question of tariff revision in the Senate by killing the Philippine tariff bill in committee, so Chairman Payne of the House ways and means committee has shut it off in that branch of Congress. This has been done by a reply of Mr. Payne to a letter from the Massachusetts delegation asking for revision. True, the national republican platform committed the party to a readjustment of duties when conditions demand, but Mr. Payne points out that the House republicans are divided as to what schedules require readjustment, while many perhaps a majority, are opposed to any change. Conditions do not seem to justify the attempting of revision at the present time, and he is satisfied that in this opinion a decided majority of the ways and means committee

To the claim sometimes heard, even in Bar Harbor itself, that the material interests of that town have been injured by strict enforcement, Rev. S. L. Hanscom, in last week's Bar Harbor Record, sets forth some facts that rather upset the claim. In the same article he makes a strong protest against resubmission, and we fancy that in this the people of Hancock eounty are with him. In this issue of THE AMERICAN Dr. R. L. Grindle treats the same topic from a political point of view, and we fancy, too, that in this the people of the county are with him. Revolt against the Sturgis law must not be mistaken for revolt against the prohibitory law or against strict enforcement. We commend Dr. Grindle's forceful letter to all our readers, but especially to faint-hearted republicans if there be any in Hancock county.

There are apt to be family disturbances among the grangers of eastern Hancock . The debate at next week's meeting of Green Mountain Pomona will be on the question: "Resolved, That farmers wives should work harder than their husbands." The Gossiper moves to strike out the word "should".

The fishermen who have been selling short lobsters will have to keep a weather eye on Cranberry Isles now, or they will get into trouble. Leander R. Bunker, of that town, has been appointed a fish and game warden, for the special purpose of putting a stop to the catching of short lobsters in that vicinity.

N. C. Tripp, of North Lamoine, had a lively battle with a wildcat one evening last week. He was returning on foot from Trenton, where he had been calling at his father-in-law's. He saw an animal in the road, but thought at first it was his dog coming to meet him. He paid little attention until the creature uttered a fierce growl and grabbed him by the leg Mr. Tripp, being entirely without any de fence, the only thing that seemed left for him was to use his feet. He kicked with such effect that, after two or three returns to the assault, the wildcat gave up the battle and slunk away to the woods.

Do cats think? E. E. Brady, of Ellsworth, has a cat in his store which was particularly fond of a snug corner in a show window where it could revel in the luxury of a sun bath and watch passing canines from a safe position. One day recently Mr. Brady placed in the window a lithographed advertising sheet. The sheet was pretty, but it shut out pussy's sunshine and view of the "passing throng" Taking advantage of Mr. Brady's absence from the store, pussy tore down the offending advertisement and chewed and clawed it into small bits. When Mr. Brady returned, the pretty hanger was in pieces, while the tell-tale marks of colored ink on pussy's jaw told the culprit. Pussy got whipped, and for two days sulked behind the meal bags, but now again enjoys the sunny show window with no lithographs to obstruct the view.

A generous-hearted Lamoine man, who, although advanced in years, is young in heart and ever willing to aid Cupid in his enterprises, freely offered the use of his sleigh to a certain young man in the community. It so happens that in the home of this generous-hearted townsman is a young lady who receives occasional visits from a young man belonging in another town. This young man fixed upon one of the recent pleasant days as a favorturn home the next day. The next day dawned clear and beautiful. The sleigh ing was excellent, and Cupid's victim No. I thought it was just the day for a sleigh ride. Accordingly he hurried to the stable of our generous-hearted citizen, took therefrom a sleigh and started for the home of the young lady of his choice When young man No. 2 went to the stable he found with constarnation that his sleigh was missing. His host was soon able to offer an explanation. young man reassured himself that the members of the household were all pres ent, and breathed a sigh of relief that nothing more precious than the wrong sleigh had been taken. Although forced to prolong his visit, he was not an unhappy prisoner; while the other young man enjoyed the day in blissful ignorance of his mistake.

Recent City Elections. Mr. DESERT, March 26, 1906. To the Editor of The American:

The question frequently asked What will be the effect of the recent city elections on republican voters generally as regards their attitude toward resubmis

So far as I can learn the effect on republicans in the small towns is simply to in tensify their determination to fight for prohibition maintained and enforced. But in the cities certainly some of the republicans are urging upon republican leaders the necessity of making a compromise with the rum element by making it inserted in the platform of our next State onvention. This is practically a propobinnacle (or barnacle) with not a very good prospect of saving even that append-

The substance of the proposition is this: A movement to make resubmission on the people of these places.

Where did this movement originate? dollar. Certainly not among the people of these small places; it was started by resubmissionists in the cities, and is really a move to have agents from the cities invade the small towns, equipped with rum and money with which to "carry the caucuses". Certainly rum and money are powerful instruments for electioneering purposes, but probably in most cases the invaders the object sought.

It is much more likely that wherever they put their work into a caucus they all come from away. would be very successful in splitting th party into bitter factions at once, and make it at most impossible to secure party harmony, mutual confidence or united duct of caucuses in these places will forestead of the peaceful, quiet gathering of a made on the roads and new ones built. dozen or two public-spirited men who have the confidence of everyone, and who large caucus of excited men, divided into two factions, each intent on beating the other. And men having their feelings wrought up, and in some cases their pasbe very discreet in their language or con-

So there is little prospect that a caucus of this kind will settle anything. The side defeated will certainly feel disappointed, and probably disgusted. And in many cases the experience in this kind of caucus will be such as to dispel the last ray of hope of persuading honest prohibitionists to vote for republican candidates, provided the party were standing on a resubmission platform.

The discord and distrust engendered would no doubt be continued in the caucus nominating candidates for the legislature, and be the cause of much bolting in some cases, and the nomination of prohibition (third party) candidates in others. It requires no great amount of sagacity to see that the effect of this movement will be general and long-lasting demoralization of republican interests wherever it goes.

It seems to me that any thoughtful person should see that to encourage, sanction or connive at this movement is simply making trouble for ourselves-causing suspicion and distrust of us in the minds of those on whom we must depend for

But is there any certainty that the promise of resubmission will secure the return of all, or even the greater part of the prodigals? No doubt the rum element is against us. And no doubt it would have us believe that it constitutes the power to return to us the whole crowd.

There is much reason to doubt its ability to do this For where a party is a long time in power in a large place, there will always develop jealousies, rivalries and conflicting interests which will prepare many persons to join any opposition movement which shows reasonable signs

So if the republican party were to promise resubmission, hoping on account of such promise to make gains, it would be simply paying an enormous price for an uncertain quantity of a very untrustworthy article. I say paying an enormous price. For I believe that for every vote saved or gained on account of this prom ise we would lose twice or thrice that number. And I believe that the only safe, self-respecting and common-sense cours for our party to take, is to make a square, honest and aggressive fight for what it always has been advocating.

It is folly to suppose that we can offer the rum element as much as the opposing party will promise it; and so to round" or "back down" is not only inconsistent and cowardly, but is simply iseless and worthless as a vote-getter. S it is much more expedient to stand firm by our accepted party principles, for the average republican believes in prohibition. With his party it always has been sound doctrine, while to him resubmission is political heresy. It is the opposing party's pet. It is not our natural offspring; and if we adopt the bastard, and enthrone him as a ruling power in our our voters to party, we shall be asking support something which they do not pelieve in. And we will bring about a condition of things such that we must do one of three things to our voterseither fool them, or convert them, or los

There is very little prospect that they can be fooled. For they all know that th move for resubmission is a move for license law.

Nor is there any prospect that they can be converted. For the sudden change of MOSES, FLORIST, BAR HARBOR. Established for many years.

long-cherished convictions on the part of very large numbers of persons is not at all

But failing to fool or convert them, the inevitable will happen, and we shall lose them by tens of thousands.

Can anyone imagine any greater folly than that of fooling with such a dangerous experiment? R. L. GRINDLE.

Summer Boarders or Fish Glue. MANSET, March 19, 1906. To the Editor of The American:

I see that E. F. Teague claims that the glue factory at Manset is a great injury to the town, and that the hotels have been and still are a much greater help. Now I must disagree with him.

The town of Tremont gave to the Eastern Oil & Glue Co., a ten-years' permit the promise that resubmission shall be to build its factory and make glue and fertilizer from fish heads and bones. Since then the town has been divided, and sition to scuttle the ship to save the the people who gave the permit are natives of the new town, for when the meeting was called only a few men came from the the other side of the town. Now, if the town should try, and make the factory out a nuisance and cause the company to an issue in the republican caucuses of the shut down, they could sue the town for small towns with the expectation of se- damages, and that probably would cost curing delegations in favor of that the town a large sum, and those who are measure, but putting all the responsibility now so anxious to do away with the factory would not be willing to give one

The factory is in about the centre of Manset. The summer people who come to Southwest Harbor do not trouble themselves about it, as it does not trouble them; neither does it cause the people of Seawall, about one mile from Manset, any inconvenience. There are two hotels in Manset-the Stanley house and the Ocean house. The Ocean house is nearest the would not be successful in accomplishing factory. The largest amount of what is used in the hotel is bought in Massachusetts at wholesale. The employees nearly

Aside from the taxes, the town derives very little benefit from the hotels, and according to the town report of last year the taxes are not much help. All the hotel work in the future. For everyone who is keepers and cottage owners are nonat all familiar with the methods and con-residents. The coming of summer people to the place has caused the taxes to go up, see something of what will occur. In- because they have wanted improvements

All of our men who sail summer people go out of town for their summer work select delegates in a way to promote party and it is men from away who sail the interest and good fellowship, it will be a Manset people. A majority of the townpeople say they will keep the fishing industry and the glue factory and let the hotels close and the summer people go if they want to. AN INTERESTED READER.

Will Support Mr. Mayo. BAR HARBOR, March 23, 1906. To the Editor of The American:

I have received several letters from different parts of our county which indicate that false impressions have somehow gotten abroad as to what my attitude will be on the sherift question in the coming campaign. In justice to myself and others, I would like to correct all such impressions through your paper, which I know has a wide circulation in the county

Two years ago I had something to do with the matter of inducing Mr. Mayo to become a candidate for the office of sheriff, an office which, I am confident, he had never thought of seeking and did not care to hold. Later I had something to do with his election, as many others had. We worked and voted for him, because we believed him to be a man of intelligence, virtue and honor, who, if elected, would do his duty to the best of his ability. It now appears that our confidence was well-grounded. Mayo has done better work than we had a right to expect under the circumstances.

Many obstacles stood in his way. Among them were these: He was new, and a stranger to the business; the liquor traffic had taken deep root in our county, as in other parts of the State; dealers had become so accustomed to the "Bangor plan" that it was almost impossible for them to believe that a real change of policy was really intended, and if intended, that it could be successfully pursued. Hence they made heoric efforts to hold on until the spasm should subside; they had won out many times in that way, and hoped to do so again. But, now it is evident that the spasm will not be likely to subside as long as Mr. Mayo shall remain in the office as sheriff. Their only hope of ever reviving the traffic is in putting him out. I do not propose, and believe the temperance voters of the county do not propose, to help do that.

Among the five or six or more men who are seeking the republican nomination for the office are some whom I regard as personal friends, but if my own brother was among them and should get the noming. tion of his party and mine, I should still stand for Mr. Mayo, because I think it would be right and best.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a f wyears of married life will make in the appear, ance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo, of the charming malden. There are two reasons for this change—ignorance and legiect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the tupleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and mother-hood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness. As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once winess to the fact in renewed comeliness. Half a million women and more have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Women Who Wear Well.

LEJOK DAMAGED.

ELLSWORTH VESSEL AND GOV-ERNOR AMES IN COLLISION.

ABANDONED BY CREW BUT AFTER-WARD TOWED INTO NEW YORK-CREW LANDED IN BOSTON.

A despatch from Boston last Friday announced the loss of the Ellsworth and Franklin streets. schooner Lejok. The vessel was afterward towed into New York. The despatch was from Capt. W. S. Norwood, of Tremont, who had been in the Lejok two trips while her regular captain, Charles L. Smith, remained at his home here.

Capt. Norwood and crew had been picked up by the steamer Persian, of the Boston Philadelphia Steamship Co., and landed in Boston. The first despatch simply announced that the vessel had been run down by an unknown four-master, but a later despatch from Vineyard Haven announcing the arrival there of the fivemaster Governor Ames, reporting that she had been in collision with an unknown three-master in the locality the Lejok was in when run down, fixed the identity of the vessel.

The Lejok sailed from Brunswick, March She had fair weather the first seven days, but during the succeeding nine days, was knocking about under double reefed sails and part of the time was hove to, this being necessary by long-lasting gales from the northeast and the south east which were accompanied by sleet and rain and rough seas. The Lejok was not damaged, riding out all the storms.

At 2 a. m. Thursday, when about forty miles off Sandy Hook, and with Sandy Hook light bearing N. W. by N., the Lejok sighted a large schooner coming swiftly through the darkness. The wind was south-southwest and both vessels were running free, the Lejok running northwest for Sandy Hook, and the Ames running about northeast with more sheet off than the Lejok. The Lejok yielded the right of way to the Ames, and started to luff under her stern. At the same time the Ames luffed, and the port bows of the vessels crashed together.

The vessels parted and soon lost sight of each other. Within ten minutes the Lejok filled with water, but as there seemed to be no immediate danger that the schooner would founder, Capt. Norwood and his men remained by her. At daylight a flag of distress was hoisted, and at 7.20 a. m., when the Lejok had settled badly, the Persian appeared and took

The crew saved practically none of their effects; everything below deck was flooded. The crew consisted of W. S. Norwood, captain, Tremont; Bert McLeod, mate, Calais; Chaney Sadler, cook, Ellsworth; John Terrell, engineer, Sydney, C. B.; Charles Brown, home unknown; John Ray and Leroy Cousins, Ellsworth.

Cousins had been ill since March 12. The exposure resulting from the wreck had aggravated his illness. On reaching the steamer his condition was regarded as precarious, and he was unconscious part of the time on the trip to Boston. It was found that he had typhoid fever. The disease was aggravated by exposure, and Cousins died Saturday night at the hos pital in Boston.

The schooner Governor Ames arrived at Vineyard Haven Friday morning, and reported that she had been in collision early Thursday morning with an unknown three-masted schooner about twenty-two miles southwest of Fire Island lightship. The Governor Ames was bound from Nor-folk for Boston with coal.

Capt. King refused to make any statement as to the cause of the two vessels coming together, but others on board the Ames expressed the opinion that it resulted from a sudden shift of course on the part of the Lejok. As a result of the collision a great hole was stove in the port bow of the Ames, a portion of her head gear was torn away and the fore-castle deck was broken up. No difficulty was experienced in working the schooner to port.

The Lejok was picked up by the steam pilot boat New York. and towed into New York Saturday. There will be heavy salvage claims against the vessel.

Capt. Smith left immediately upon hearing of the accident, and has already beer in consultation with the agents of the Responsibility for the collision has not yet been definitely fixed.

Depositions of the crews have been taken, as a precaution if the case gets into the courts. It will cost about $3,500 to repair the Lejok, and $1,500 to repair

The Lejok was built at Milbridge by the Sawyers in 1901. She hailed from Ellsworth and several pieces of her are owned here. Among the Ellsworth owners are Smith, Capt. Joseph M. Higgins, Whitcomb, Haynes & Co., Col. C. C. Burrill and C. L. Morang. Capt. Smith was insured for $800, but it is understood the others were not insured.

TO RETIRE FROM BUSINESS.

C. H. Grindal, of Ellsworth, Will Take a Well-Earned Vacation.

The first of April will mark the retire ment from business of one of Ellsworth's oldest business men-old not in years, but in business life-Charles H. Grindal, the Water street grocer. For thirty-five years Mr. Grindal has been in business at the same spot, his store occupying the flatiron building at the junction of Water

His business career has been a remarkably clean one, and none will begrudge him now the privilege of a well-earned rest, and the wherewithal to enjoy it. During the thirty-five years he has been in business, he has allowed himself few relaxations. A few business trips to Portland or Boston, a few pleasant days at his cottage at Pleasant beach, and you have summed up all his vacations. Mr. Grindal was born in North Penobscot in 1842, and came to Ellsworth a young man to work in a cooperage shop. At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted, and served in Co. H of the 26th Maine regiment. He returned to Ellsworth after the war, and a few years later, when twenty-eight years of age, started a small grocery store at Water and Franklin streets.

He has been a good citizen-conservative, right-minded, sound in judgment and upright in his business dealings. He was for many years, under the old school system, agent for the school in his district, and later, when the new system was inaugurated, served capably as a member of the school board.

Mr. Grindal will be succeeded in business by his sen, C. W. Grindal, who has grown up with the business. The trans-

Mr. Grindal contemplates a visit to his daughters in the West-Mrs. Addison Saunders, of Green Bay, Wis., and Mrs. David McRae, of Minneapotis, Minn.—in the spring or early summer. There is little danger that-the West will wean him from his old home, for even now, he says, the thought of leaving Elisworth for a few weeks brings a feeling akin to homesickness.

ROAD MEETING.

Hancock County Road Builders to Meet in Ellsworth.

State Commissioner of Highways Paul D. Sargent, under the auspices of the county commissioners, will hold a county road meeting in Ellsworth on Thursday. April 19, which all highway commissioners in the county will be asked to attend.

This meeting is held under the provision of the law by which a State commissioner of highways was chosen, one section of that law reading as follows:

"S 4d commissi over may be consulted by, and of countles, cities and towns, having care and authority over the public ways, as to their big national questions. In the last ten construction, maintenance, alteration and repair, but such advic: shall not impair the legal obligation of any such county, city or town officer. Said commissioner shall hold each year, under the auspices of the county commis sioners, a meeting in each county for open discussion of questions relating to the building notice shall be given to the towns and cities in sen county by the said county commissioners."

The object of these meetings is to get at the fundamental principles of road building, and as they will bring together the best authorities on such matters in the State, it can be easily seen that they will prove of much value.

The programme for the meeting in Ells-The programme for the meeting in Ellsworth will include a short, informal address by Commissioner Sargent, and general discussion by those present on road-building. A question-box may be one of the features, the questions to be answered by the State commissioner and discussed by the meeting.

The invitation to the meeting will be extended to city officers and selectmen as well as highway commissioners.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Death of Former Ellsworth Girl-Senator Frye's Re-election - Senator Hale Again in Harness.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 27 (special) One of the saddest and most mysterious deaths in Washington for a long time occurred last week in the death of Josephine Eva Kent, an attractive young woman who once lived at Ellsworth. She had maintained a manicuring establishment here, but was taken ill as the result of an injury, which some say possibly resulted from an operation. She died apparently without friends at a local hospital. For several days her body was retained at Wright's undertaking establishment, while the police were busy seeking some clue to the identity of her relatives.

It was known that she lived six years ago in Ellsworth, but a telegram to that place disclosed that the whereabouts of her parents were unknown. She had few, if any, friends here, and those who knew her have been very reticent about her except to say that she always told them she was unmarried, and that both her parents were dead. The undertaker had made ready to bury her last Friday in Rock Creek cemetery, but was stopped by

A dispatch from the police in Boston announced that her mother, Mrs. Hulda Kent, is now living in Brooklyn, at Rochester and New York avenues. police have been trying to ascertain from her what disposition she wishes made of her daughter's body. Miss Kent had an insurance policy of $400, which will be ample to pay all the expenses of her inter-

A statement to the department of commerce and labor by Consul-General Mason at Paris indicates that the French sardine industry is seriously on the wane, which is likely to accrue to the benefit of the sardine industry on the coast of Maine.

The supply of French sardines is already so small, the consul-general writes, that the sardines have to be fed with extra supplies of their natural food. The fishermen have recourse to the roe, or eggs of codfish and mackerel, which heretofore have come from Norway. Now this supply of foreign food for the French sardines is running short, and there is a brisk demand for a supply from America. The usual price paid in France is from $12 to $20 a barrel, but this year the price has advanced to $30 a barrel. The necessity of careful packing so that the barrels will be full and airtight is emphasized by Consul-General Mason.

The feature of the Maine election next September, of most interest in Washington, is the choice of a legislature that elects for another term Senator William P. Frye. The junior Maine senator, who is the junior senator because he came into the Senate for the first time twenty-five extra supplies of their natural food. The the Senate for the first time twenty-five years ago, just ten days later than Senator Eugene Hale-the two being now the oldest men in point of service in the Senate from New England-has long been looked upon as one of the most useful men in Congress. Everybody, of course, takes it for granted that he will be re-elected, and that he will not have to turn a hand to bring his own re-election about.

Senator Frye will be seventy-five years old by the time the next election in Maine is held. He is easily one of the grand old men, as he is one of the most active men in the Senate. He was fighting battles in the public service for ten years before he entered the Senate, having served five full terms as a member of the House. There is now no man in the Senate who has had a more varied or thorough experience with legislation than he. With his long service in the House, he knows that body quite as well as he knows the Senate, all of which makes for his capacity for good

No Maine man who has been sent to Congress in the last twenty-five years, has ever been more loyal to his constituents and to Maine interests than Mr. Frve. but he has also had a lot to do with the ears his most important services have been on the commerce committee, of which he has long been chairman, and on the foreign relations committee, of which he is the second republican, and of which he could have been chairman had he been willing to relinquish his other chairman-

For the commercial and maratime interests of the entire country he has been especially active. That was the reason for his sticking to the chairmanship of the commerce committee.

Furthermore Mr. Frye has the distinction of being the most competent presiding officer the Senate ever had. It never fell to the lot of any senator to be presiding officer as long as he was, for he served out the terms of two vice-presidents-Hobart and Roosevelt. He wielded the gavel with more precision than any vice-president could, because he had long been familiar with the Senate rules and methods of procedure.

Things look pretty dark for the enactment of a ship subvention at this session of Congress. As the bill passed the Senate, where Mr. Frye was one of its earnest champions, it would have afforded quite a subsidy to certain sailing vessels owned on the coast of Maine and engaged in the foreign trade. Representatives Burleigh and Littlefield, aided by the other Maine congressmen, have been working to get the bill out of the House committee on merchant marine and fisheries, where it is now impounded, and where it will probably stay for some time to come.

Speaker Cannon thinks the time inopportune for the passage of such legislation but delegations are calling upon him to give careful consideration to the Atlantic coast states, whose delega-tions want the bill enacted into law. Mr. Cannon comes from Illinois, an interior state, which has little or no interest in foreign shipping.

Chicago interests want the bill passed but Mr. Cannon comes from the central portion of the state, where the people care little about maratime matters. The efforts to get the bill out of committee have not ceased, however. If it fails at this session its friends, who include all the Maine men in Congress, will try to have it passed at the next session of Congress.

Senator Hale returned here late last eek from his brief sojourn in Maine, feeling much better and stronger. Th feeling much better and stronger. The grip, which has persistently attacked him this winter, seemed to yield for good when the senator was able to get back into the rigorous Maine climate for a few days. The senator thought he could "freeze that grip to death" in the bracing Maine air, and he now believes he succeeded.

As soon as Mr. Hale returned he found his hands full of business. The Senate has been engaged in legal debate on the railroad rate regulation bill in his absence. The senator, like many others, felt little interest in these wranglings of the constitutional lawyers, but he is much interested in efforts to bring the republicans together and secure the passage of a good bill.

These efforts at adjustment of differences have not progressed very well of late, and there were many requests of Mr. Hale to take hold and help untangle the snarl. He has been in conference with many senators since his return, and is looking into the general legislative situation very carefully.

INSURANCE ADJUSTMENT.

Important Decision by the Law Court

An important decision in regard to insurance adjustment has recently been handed down by the law court in a Washington county case. The rescript follows:

1. All the referee- provided for in the Maine tandard fire insurace policy to fix the amouof the loss must be disinterested men, not only in the narrow sense of being without relation-ship and pecuniary interest, but also in he broad, full sense or being competent, impartial, fair and open minded and substantially indifferent in thought and feeling between the parties and without partizanship or blas either

2. When it appears that even one of the referees was not thus disinterested the award in which he joined will be set aside

3. An unexplained refusal by a referee nom insted by the insurance company to agree upon any man in the vicinity of the property as the third referee is unreasonable, and is evidence of want of the requisite disinterestedness. Bingen as a Sire.

Bingen's success in the stud has been truly wonderful, writes Frank G. Trott, in the Boston Globe. Not only has he gotten speed uniformly but he has transmitted his handsome and strong conformation to a marked degree. The "Bingen back" is a common expression in this section of the country, and it is difficult for a breeder to lead out a Bingen youngster and not have his visitor remark: "No need to tell the sire of that one." Speed and conformation are not the only fine characteristics that he stamps his offspring with, for the young Bingens are good headed, every one of them. They do not have to be broke. Put a harness on them and drive them, that is all there is to it. Electrics, steam trains and autos look alike to them, and after the first look they pay no attention to them. The first and unquestionably the most essential requi-site for a race horse is speed, but manners are almost as necessary.

TURN WOMEN AWAY FROM DRUGS

Dangerous Stimulants No Longer Needed -Rexall Mucu-Tone Brings Permanent Health and Vigor

"My husband worries so, Doctor, you my husband worries so, Doctor, you simply must give me something to key me up—something that will make me bright and cheerful when he comes home at night." Thousands of unfortunate women are in just this position—women who are rapidly breaking down in body and whose minds are becoming dark and dull with They have tried to fight off ill health; have struggled to keep up in spite of pain and weakness that their husbands should not guess their condition.

At last comes a day when they can do this no longer. Their strength is gone; this no longer. Their strength is gone; their will power no longer strong enough to carry them through. So they turn to druggist and doctor, not for slow acting tonics that will gradually restore health, but for some drug that will give temporary strength—that will key them up—that will make them "bright and cheerful" for even a few hours.

The result of such a course needs no comment. How different it would have been had they turned to Rexall Mucu-Tone instead of drugs. From the first dose Mucu-Tone's strengthening influence is felt—but instead of ruining mind and body, it restores both to health and vigor. body, it restores both to health and vigor. Read what it did for Mrs. Funk:—

"Thank Heaven for Rexall Mucu-Tone. It has given me back health and strength after years of weakness, pain and physical exhaustion. I was completely broken down and certainly looked ten years older than I am. Local treatment would benefit me temporarily but in a few weeks my trouble always returned worse than ever. Then I heard of your Mucu-Tone, and though I did not believe it possible to cure complaints of this nature by taking anything in the stomach, I determined to give Mucu-Tone a trial. I can't tell you how glad I am that I did. Almost the first dose seemed to brace me up and give me new strength, and by the time the first bottle was gone all disagreeable symptoms had disappeared. I am now finishing the second bottle and I can truth-fully say I never felt better in my life. I cat well, sleep well and have already gained seven pounds in weight. A WONDERFUL RECOVERY.

Mrs Funk

Rexall Mucu-Tone works through the bloodvessels, acting directly upon the mucous membranes, the congestion and inflammation of which produce the catarrhal conditions which are the sole cause of all your trouble, driving out the poison and healing the raw surfaces. It fills the arteries with rich, red, life-giving blood, builds up the body, stops all vital drains, soothes the fagged nerves and brings sound, restful sleep.

We promptly refund your money if you are not more than satisfied with Mucu-Tone. 165 Second St., Albany, N. Y.

CASTINE.

The town of Ca-tine, Maine, altuated on the Penolecot river, is one of the most pictures que and historic viliages in that section. Its original lower for the property of the castine, in France, book for his bride the daughter of the France, book for his bride the daughter of the chief of the Tarnarine tribe of Indians. They eventually went to France, but somehow the Baron's name clung to the place. It subsequently became a British encampment, and later on it sent many brave soldlers to the war of the Rabellion. MY VISION.

Along the coast of old Cas.ine-The poet calls it "Bagartuce Shore", I take my skiff and lightly sall, And dreaming see things as of yore.

For the' the modern mind may rail At duliness of this qua nt old town, I seem to find its charm enhanced By just this drowsiness of its own.

And so, e'er drifting on the lee.

I see amid the darkened aisles of deep primeval forest, the The Baron and his dusky bride, Their happiness beyond compare.

What, tho' he barters for her soul. And buys her as a slave, perchance Scarce any queen such courtier had

And this, and other things I see n dream's amazing witchery.

My eyes fall on a goodly show, A merry gailant company; What the' their coats are scarlet red. They are a wholesome enemy.

Our cousins from far off the seas, Not much removed in blood and name And many a staunch Colonial lase So like the Baron and his bride,

They left these green shores and away They salled to other lands and far; Alas! and ne'er returned to stay.

But still another light than these

Once more, a gallant sight I see, To see fair faces drawn and pale And empty sleeve and crims

But drum and fife have ceased their play, And mother, wife and sweetheart greet The home-returning soldier lad Or grizzled veteran from the fray.

For the' the grim Rebellion shed Our country's richest blood upon The battlefield, there yet remained Some war-spent heroes marching home

So this strange vision fled from me. Of love, and war, and unity.

And rousing from my day dream, I Reheld with clear awakened eye, The Baron's village, fair Castine, As goodly sight as e'er was reen.

Sunken Eyes and Hollow Cheeks Tell Story of Ravages of Dyspepsia. Beauty depends upon health.

Wrinkles, crow's-feet, deep-set eyes, ollow cheeks and hysteria follow closely in the wake of a disordered stomach.

Of all nerve destroying maladies, dyspepsia is the worst. It will tear your system to pieces and make life miserable. system to pieces and hand to you grow thin.

"I have suffered from acute dyspepsia for the past eight years and could find no relief from doctors or medicine until I procured box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. These I am pleased to say gave me immediate relief. They do all that is claimed for them and are easy and pleasant to take."

This is the only remedy we know of that will positively and permanently cure dyspepsia. It embodies a new medical principle heretofore unknown in the treatment of this disease. We have enough confidence in it to make this offer:

Where shall the new schoolhouse be located? This is the burning question in the minds of the people at present. As the pupils have never had suitable play grounds, taking the street for this purpose, to the annoyance of those passing along, it is quite important that this pressing want should be supplied. This may result in a new lot, in which case a special town meeting may be called.

On March 13 the Congregational sewing circle met with its youngest member, Mrs. Grace Carroll Clark, at her pretty home. Though cold weather prevailed outside, all was warmth and cheer within where a large number of circle members plied needles and tongues industriously, the hostess entertaining with the grace of her name and nature. A delicious lunch with hot coffee was enjoyed. All were glad of this new home to open hospitable doors to the circle.

George Harmon and wife have moved into the cottage purchased of D. L. Mayo, whose family left here on Monday last to join him at the new home in Franklin, Mass. Great regret is felt over the departure of these good neighbors, and the absence of Miss Gladys will be keenly felt at the church, where she has faithfully served as organist for about three years, during the past year freely giving her services to the church, of which she is a member. Miss Mayo is an accomplished musician and will no doubt find her musical talent appreciated in her new home.

A. E. Farnsworth, on his trip to the West a few weeks ago, extended his journey to the Pacific coast, and visited his former townsman, Clarence Moore, who with his wife is very pleasantly situated at Port Townsend, Wash. News of Mr. Farnsworth's arrival was sent to Capt. W. C. Moore and wife at the fort, and they came forthwith to welcome the Maine friend and gather in the news from their Southwest Harbor neighbors. A most enjoyable day was spent with these "own folks". As Mr. Farnsworth's stay was limited he could not look up the other boys of the family, but was glad to learn of, their continued success in business. He found an opportunity after his return home to call on the mother of Mrs. Clarence Moore and gratify her with loving messages from her daughter.
