REPORTS from our insurance companies state that all losses from the conflagration at San Francisco will be paid in full.

The companies represented by us paid out in the Baltimore conflagration over six million dollars ($6,000,000), and may have to pay ten million ($10,000,000) in San Francisco, and will keep on doing business.

Your business is perfectly safe in our hands.

MORAL: Place your business with the leading agency in Hancock county.

THE GEO. H. GRANT CO., ELLSWORTH, BAR HARBOR and BUCKSPORT.

INSURANCE NOTICE.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:
We are pleased to state that we are in receipt of advices, from the several companies represented by us, stating that their financial standing will not be seriously impaired by their losses in the San Francisco conflagration.

That they will be able to pay all losses in that fire, in full, and still have ample surplus to meet all other liabilities.

Ellsworth, April 24, 1906. C. W. & F. L. MASON.

I HAVE heard from every company represented by this agency; and while I had no fears as to their ability to take care of San Francisco's losses, they assure me that in no case will the surplus be exhausted.

I solicit your business for the largest companies doing business.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving M. Whittaker and infant daughter are visiting Mr. Whittaker's mother here.

Frank H. Jellison, an Ellsworth boy now employed in Boston, is at home for a vacation of three weeks.

Louis Nicholls and wife, of Woonsocket, R. I., are visiting Mrs. Nicholls' parents, Josiah H. Higgins and wife.

C. B. Simonton has returned to Boston, after spending his vacation with his father, Rev. J. P. Simonton.

Miss Rena B. Roberts is in the city for a two-weeks' vacation. She is with her parents, Carlton McGown and wife.

Rev. S. W. Sutton, of the Unitarian church, will conduct service at East Lamoine Sunday, July 22, at 2:30 p. m.

The annual reunion of the McGown family will be held at Agricultural hall, North Ellsworth, Thursday, Aug. 30.

The members of the 6 o'clock whist club are being entertained to-day at the summer home of Mrs. A. L. Saunders at Lamoine.

Elmer E. Rowe and George F. Newman sailed Saturday with Capt. W. P. Woodward, in schooner Henrietta A. Whitney, for a trip to New York.

President George E. Fellows, of the University of Maine, who recently purchased the Moore farm at Bayside, moved there last week for the summer.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. George S. Foster, of Portland, at the home of Mr. Foster's parents, L. D. Foster and wife, in this city, last Thursday.

Miss B. M. Miller, of Calais, a teacher in the high school at Great Barrington, Mass., is the guest of Miss Harriet Rollins, who has also been teaching there.

Mrs. Irving Thompson, with her infant son, left last week for her home in Machias. Her mother, Mrs. Elmer L. Kingman, accompanied her for a visit.

Mrs. S. L. Lord returned home Monday from Capitol island, where she has been spending three weeks at the Smith cottage with her daughter, Mrs. F. S. Smith.

Abie L. Friend has purchased the Isaac Grant house on Bridge hill. His father, David Friend, and family will move to the house about the middle of September.

George W. Dunn, formerly of this city, has gone to England on the yacht Alaha, of which he is engineer. He sailed from New York July 3, and will return in October.

The Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson, pastor of the Channing Religious Society, Newton, Mass., will preach at the Unitarian church, Ellsworth, Sunday, July 22, at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. F. W. Rollins, who has been making an extended visit in Massachusetts, is home. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Harriet, who will remain during the summer.

President William DeWitt Hyde, of Bowdoin college, who occupied the pulpit of the Congregational church last Sunday, and Mrs. Hyde were guests while in Ellsworth of Mrs. A. P. Wiswell.

Llewellyn D. Woodward and wife, of Colfax, Wash., are visiting relatives here. Mr. Woodward is a native of Ellsworth, a son of the late Matthew Woodward, and this is his first visit here for twenty years.

Rev. Albert J. Lord, pastor of the First Congregational church of Meriden, Conn., occupied the pulpit of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, N. Y., Sunday, July 8. The Brooklyn Eagle prints his sermon in full.

A meeting of the First Unitarian society will be held in the vestry Monday, July 23, at 7:30 p. m., to make arrangements for entertaining the Hancock county conference Aug. 14 and 15. A full attendance is requested.

I. L. Halman, of Boston, spent a few days here during the past week with his family. Mr. Halman made the trip from Boston to Ellsworth and return in a large automobile—a Pope-Toledo touring car—which he has recently purchased.

The annual reunion and banquet of the Ellsworth high school alumni association will take place at Manning hall Thursday evening, Aug. 9. There will be a reception at 7:30 o'clock, to be followed by banquet and annual business meeting.

At the Congregational church last Sunday morning, President William DeWitt Hyde, of Bowdoin college, delivered a strong sermon. There was a large congregation, the Unitarian and Congregational churches uniting for the service.

I. L. Halman came from Boston to Ellsworth in an automobile last week, bringing with him Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worcester, of Boston. He started on the return trip via Bangor yesterday, taking with him Mr. Worcester and wife and M. Gallert.

C. P. DeLaitre, of Aitkin, Minn., is spending the summer here and in Lamoine. Mrs. DeLaitre is at present attending the encampment of the Castine normal association at Sandy Point, and will join her husband here later.

Mrs. J. L. DeLaitre and daughter Marie, of Minneapolis, Minn., are spending the summer with relatives in Ellsworth and Lamoine. Miss DeLaitre, who has a fine soprano voice, rendered a solo at the Baptist church Sunday morning.

Miss Leah Friend, who has been visiting in York and elsewhere since her school closed, has returned to her home here for the summer. Miss Friend has been engaged to teach at the Cony high school, Augusta, for another year at an increased salary.

Judge L. A. Emery was in the city Monday for the first time since his return from Europe. He is now with his family at Hancock Point. His daughter, Mrs. F. G. Allinson, is also at the Point. Prof. Allinson is in Baltimore, but is expected East shortly.

The steamer Percy V. will bring an excursion to Ellsworth next Monday from McKinley and West Tremont. On the following Monday, July 30, it is proposed to run an excursion out of Ellsworth, either to Stockton Springs, Stonington or Southwest Harbor.

The special republican county convention to nominate a candidate for register of deeds will take place at Hancock hall to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. Interest in the convention has been growing, and it is probable that there will be almost as full a delegation present as at the regular convention.

Richard T. Laffin, a Hancock boy who is now prominently identified with the development of the electric railroad system, Manila, Philippine Islands, has been on a short visit to his old home. Mr. Laffin came by way of the Pacific, and will return by way of Europe and Asia, completing the circuit of the globe.

The baseball game at Wyman park last Saturday between Ellsworth and Franklin teams was a veritable batting carnival. The score was 28 to 22 in favor of Franklin. Foster and Maddocks were the battery for Ellsworth and Bradgon and Madison for Franklin. A return game will be played at Franklin next Saturday.

The Bar Harbor-New York express which left here Sunday afternoon crashed into a train of empty coal cars near Lawrence, Mass., Sunday night. The train took an open switch unexpectedly, and crashed into the train on a siding. The locomotive ploughed its way through half a dozen freight cars and then turned over on its side. None of the passengers was hurt.

Rev. H. N. Pringle, of Waterville, secretary of the Maine civic league, delivered a temperance lecture at the Baptist church Sunday evening, to a large congregation. The lecture was illustrated by interesting stereopticon views. Mr. Pringle touched upon the resubmission and enforcement questions, but treated the temperance question more in its moral than its political aspect.

The members of the Nicolin club who were able to respond to the invitation of Senator and Mrs. Hale to meet them at their camp last Friday afternoon will not soon forget the occasion. It was difficult for them to realize that the beautiful cottage that has replaced the famous old camp was really on the same spot, so changed are the surroundings. Between thirty and forty were present. The occasion was thoroughly enjoyed.

The first R. F. D. carrier in this section to adopt the "auto-terror" in the distribution of mail is Frank E. Gray, of route No. 2—the Lamoine route out of Ellsworth. Mr. Gray has sent in his order for a machine, and expects to have it in commission in a few weeks. He estimates that he can run the machine from eight to nine months out of the year, and even with horses for the rest of the time, the use of the automobile will be the more economical.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Walker, who are just getting settled in their new house, were given a house-warming surprise last evening. The affair was arranged and carried out successfully by the clerks and ex-clerks of C. L. Morang's department store. The unexpected guests presented to Mr. and Mrs. Walker a handsome Wilton rug. Ice-cream, cake and fruit arrived opportunely. A delightful evening was spent in the pleasant new home of Mr. and Mrs. Walker, who express grateful appreciation.

The excursion of the Congregational Sunday school by steamer Percy V. Monday afforded a pleasant day for those who braved the threatening weather of the morning. Their confidence in the weather clerk was not misplaced, and after a little shower in the forenoon the sky cleared and the excursionists enjoyed a delightful day. The full complement of seventy-five tickets had been sold, and seventy persons went. Atlantic was reached soon after 11 o'clock, and four pleasant hours were spent there.

A republican caucus to choose delegates to the special county convention to be held to-morrow to nominate a candidate for register of deeds, was held Friday evening. John F. Knowlton was elected chairman and L. M. Moore, secretary. The following delegates and alternates were elected: Delegates—A. C. Hagerthy, Thomas J. Holmes, J. T. Giles, O. W. Tapley, G. R. Caldwell, L. F. Giles, L. M. Moore, F. H. McFarland, F. W. Rollins, J. P. Eldridge, O. W. Tripp, E. L. Drumme, John Silvy, B. T. Sowie, Frank R.

Moore, J. A. Peters. Alternates—F. F. Simonton, William E. Whiting, H. B. Moor, L. H. Cushman, R. E. Mason, R. M. Campbell, E. J. Walsh, Charles C. Knowlton, L. D. Foster, H. L. Crabtree, F. H. Osgood, John F. Royal, M. C. Smith, George W. Patten, A. L. Witha n, Harry E. Rowe.

Mrs. Mary W. Brown, mother of Capt. S. L. Lord, of this city, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Beede, in Surry, this morning. Mrs. Brown was the oldest citizen of Surry, being in the ninety-sixth year of her age. She was also the oldest member of the Methodist church. Funeral services will be held at the home of her daughter at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Rev. J. P. Simonton, of this city, will officiate in the absence of the pastor at Surry.

There has been no musical event in Ellsworth since the production of "Priscilla" some years ago that has created the interest that is now being taken in that unique comic opera, Mikado, that is to be given in Hancock hall next week Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The cast is entirely local, with the exception of the parts of "Nanki-Poo" and "Ko-Ko"; the former will be sung by Emory F. White, of New York, and the latter by James Gilbert, of Boston, who is also training the singers. As the affair is given under the auspices of the Ellsworth festival chorus, and in part for its benefit, it is hoped that the patronage will be liberal.

Mrs. Frank E. Butler, better known as Annie Oakley, the celebrated rifle shot so long with Buffalo Bill's Wild West show, gave an exhibition of rifle shooting at Wyman park Saturday afternoon. The principal object of the exhibition was to demonstrate the accuracy and penetrating power of cartridges manufactured by the Union Metallic Cartridge Co., and also of the rifles of the Remington Arms Co., in the interests of which concerns Mrs. Butler is travelling. She has lost none of her skill with the rifle, and gave a remarkable exhibition of marksmanship. The hitting of five eggs thrown in the air at one time was a wonderful performance. An automatic shot-gun was used, it being impossible to do a thing of this sort with any other kind of a gun. The hitting of marbles, pennies, and other objects showed remarkable skill.

A SAD CASE.

Ellsworth Woman and Four Children Stranded in Bangor.

The Bangor papers report the pitiable plight of Mrs. Clara A. Wilson, who arrived there on the midnight train Monday, from Ellsworth, bound for Illinois, with four children. She was without money, and was taken to the Deaconess home in Bangor for the night, and yesterday taken to the city farm, there to await arrangements for her transportation or return to Ellsworth.

The case of Mrs. Wilson is a sad one. Her home originally was in Surry. For some years she lived in Illinois, where it is believed her husband, from whom she is separated, is still living. She has a sister, brother and other relatives living in Surry.

Mrs. Wilson returned to Surry from the West four or five years ago. From there she came to Ellsworth, and has been living in the house known as "the castle" on Bridge hill. She has six children. One daughter is employed in Bangor, and another in Northeast Harbor, while four are with the mother.

Mrs. Wilson's mind is undoubtedly unbalanced, particularly on the subject of religion. When she left here with her four children for Illinois, with only $7 in money, it was after telling a neighbor that the Lord had told her the railroads would give her a pass to Illinois. It is probable Mrs. Wilson and her family will be returned here.

THE "GO SOME".

New Ellsworth-Built Launch Ready for the Water.

Isaac L. Hodgkins has about ready for launching a power launch which he has built himself. Mr. Hodgkins laid the keel for the craft last summer, and has worked at the boat at odd times during the winter and spring. His skill with tools is well known, and he has turned out a handsome piece of work.

The launch is 27 feet, over-all; breadth, 7 feet; draught, 2 ft. The only unusual feature in her construction is the carrying up of the sides of the boat forward and decking over from side to side to form a cabin. The cabin is thus the full width of the launch, and 12 ft. long. It has two transoms long enough for two berths. The cockpit is 10 feet long.

The body is planked with cypress, painted, and all the upper work and deck is of oak, finished bright. She will be equipped with an eight-horse-power engine, and is calculated to develop a speed of 8½ knots or better. She will be christened "Go Some".

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 22.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE. Topic—Christ's Life VII. How Christ prayed and how we should pray.—Matt. xiv, 23; xxvi, 36-44.

There is nothing more impressive in the life of Christ than His habit of prayer. If a sinless humanity, linked to divinity, needed to hold communion with God, how much more does a weak and sinful humanity need "to carry everything to God in prayer?"

Prayer with Christ meant, for one thing, petition. He asked God for power to raise Lazarus from the dead, and before the event He said, "Father, I thank Thee that Thou hast heard Me, and I know that Thou hearest Me always."

Prayer with Christ meant spiritual communion with God. It was His custom to go apart and spend nights in prayer, alone with God.

Every phase of prayer is illustrated in Christ's life of prayer. He addressed God reverently as His Father. He prayed in secret and in public.

More Young Men. Secretary Chaplin of the British Christian Endeavor union recently took a census of 3,000 societies and discovered that 40 per cent of the members were young men—"a far greater percentage of male members," he asserts, "than the churches would show."

A Seed Bed. "The seed bed of the church is Junior Christian Endeavor," said the Rev. Mr. Wynkoop in the Christian Endeavor conference at Landour, India.

Endeavor. "Endeavor" is the watchword of the present age; it will be increasingly the watchword of the new.

O Christ, I will endeavor To serve Thee day by day! Help me to make Thee ever My Life, My Truth, My Way.

Trust in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would like to have me do.

O Jesus, I have promised To serve Thee to the end; Be Thou forever near me, My Maz or and my Friend, I shall not fear the battle If Thou art at my side.

Mutual Benefit Column.

EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE". Its Motto: "Helpful and Hopeful."

The purpose of this column are succinctly stated in its title and motto—it is for the mutual benefit, and aims to be helpful and hopeful.

Once on a time I spoke a word That was bitter of meaning and harsh of tone, And it went as straight as a poisoned dart To the very core on a true friend's heart.

Once on a time I cast a sneer At the small mistake of one I knew, And his soul, discouraged, let slip the rope, That anchored it to the shore of hope.

Once on a time I whispered a tale Tainted with malice, and far and near It flew, to cast on a spotless name The upas shade of a hinted shame.

Never that word could be unsaid That lost me a friendship old and true— Never that sneer might be undone That broke the trust of an erring one.

Little Kindness. You gave on the way a pleasant smile And thought no more about it; It cheered a heart that was sad and white, That might have been wrecked without it.

You spoke one day a cheering word, And passed to other duties; It warmed a heart, new promise stirred, And painted a life with beauties.

You lent a hand to a fallen one, A lift in kindness given; It saved a soul when help was none, And won a heart for heaven.

In looking over my clippings of poetry for something to use this week, I came upon "Irrevocable", and after reading it over, it left such an echo of sadness in my mind that I laid it aside.

Prayer with Christ meant spiritual communion with God. It was His custom to go apart and spend nights in prayer, alone with God.

Dear Aunt Madge and M. B. Sisters: I know it's not my turn to write again so soon, but I want to ask S. J. Y. if she has tried "fresless" cookery for baking beans.

I am going to put up some rhubarb in cold water. I welcome with delight anything to save work. I wonder if you all know that the nicest way to wash strawberries is to throw them in a pall of water, when they will rise to the top, the sand and dirt sinking.

From a book of tested recipes, sent me by Melissa, I think, I copy the following: POP-OVERS—One egg, one cup milk, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon butter.

MEAT BALLS—Use cold meat of any kind, minced very fine, mix with an equal quantity of bread crumbs which have been soaked and pressed rather dry, add one finely-chopped onion, season with pepper and salt; mold with a beaten egg, form into balls and fry in hot lard.

Another good way to make meat balls is to use the meat without soaking, putting that and the bread through a meat "grinder" or chopping them together, season with salt, pepper and sage; wet up with warm water, and use a little flour when frying them.

THE ART OF MARRIED LIFE. (Concluded.) It is community of feeling and of interests that draws close the marriage bond, and it gets its perfection when the common feeling and interest are staked in what is most precious and most permanent.

Brought by that union into a nearness to each other, of which the language is "we are one", the two are not thereby isolated from the rest of the world; they are led into closer, more vital relation with the whole living universe.

A Hard Lot of troubles to contend with spring from a torpid liver and blockaded bowels, unless you awaken them to their proper action with Dr. King's New Life Pills; the pleasantest and most effective cure for Constipation. They prevent Appendicitis and tone up the system.

Arrivals at The Homestead last week: Mr. and Mrs. Chase and their daughter, Miss Mary Wood Chase, the concert player of Chicago; Miss Mona Brown.

What is a Backache?

IT IS NATURE'S WARNING TO WOMEN

Diseases of Woman's Organism Cured and Consequent Pain Stopped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It seems as though my back would break." Women utter these words over and over again but continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, "bearing-down" pains, nervousness and no ambition for any task.

Miss Maude Morris

They do not realize that the back is the mainspring of woman's organism, and quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the female organs or kidneys, and that the aches and pains will continue until the cause is removed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been for many years the one and only effective remedy in such cases. It speedily cures female and kidney disorders and restores the female organs to a healthy condition.

"I have suffered with female troubles for over two years, suffering intense pain each month, my back ached until it seemed as though it would break, and I felt so weak all over that I did not find strength to attend to my work but had to stay in bed a large part of the first two or three days every month. I would have sleepless nights, bad dreams and severe headaches. All this undermined my health."

"We consulted an old family physician, who advised that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it regularly and soon found that I could sleep and eat better than I had done for months. Within two months I became regular and I no longer suffer from backache or pain."

County News. BUCKSPORT. Westry Ladd, a native of Bucksport but now residing in Arizona, with his wife, arrived Friday.

After July 31 the postoffice at Bucksport Center will be discontinued. Fred Forsyth, the R. F. D. No. 4 carrier, will be the traveling postoffice. He will leave Bucksport every morning at 8.30 or on the arrival of the train and goes by the shore road as far as Hincks' corner, returning by the back road and entering the town on the west side of Silver lake, arriving about 1 o'clock.

The country fair to be given on the seminary campus Aug. 1 for the benefit of the Methodist church will have a great variety of attractions. The fair will begin in the afternoon and continue throughout the evening. Some of the features will be baby show, winding of May pole, hall of curios, silhouette gallery, chamber of horrors, camp fire, crystal gazing, spooks and others. All are invited to come in costume. Supper will be served for out-of-town guests.

At a meeting of the selectmen Thursday, $21,800 in town notes, given on account of the Fisher Spofford fund, by the selectmen of Bucksport to the overseers of the poor in the year 1902, was taken up and cancelled. The selectmen, treasurer, auditor and town clerk were present. The bonds that were called for are being paid rapidly, $12,000 of the $18,000 having been paid. The principal of the Spofford fund is now a town trust. The interest at 3 1/4 per cent on $9,800 can only be used by the overseers of the poor.

Bucksport is at last making an effort to do some summer business. For a long time the matter of building a summer hotel has been agitated off and on, but was never carried into effect. This year the prudential committee of the East Maine seminary voted to keep the school dormitory open during the vacation months, and have placed Mrs. Etta B. Lyons in charge. Mrs. Lyons has for a number of seasons successfully conducted a private boarding-house at Castine, and her management of the house at Oak Hill is proving very satisfactory. About twenty-five guests are being entertained at present.

BLUEHILL. PARKER POINT. Mrs. Knowlton, of Boston, is visiting Mrs. A. W. Johnston.

Dr. and Mrs. Ramsey, of St. Paul, are guests at Kappahannock.

Charles Bartlett has erected a small garage on his lot at Indian Point.

Judge J. W. Lusk, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Riggs, of St. Paul, arrived last week.

Mildred Bettel, Ethel Snowman and Irene Billings, of Bluehill, are working at The Homestead.

A party of little folks at The Oaks July 14 assisted Jonathan Rose to celebrate his eighth birthday and share the birthday cake.

Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln, of Boston, and Mrs. George Webster, of Old Town, left The Homestead July 10, for a few weeks' visit at Swan's Island.

Arrivals at The Homestead last week: Mr. and Mrs. Chase and their daughter, Miss Mary Wood Chase, the concert player of Chicago; Miss Mona Brown.

Miss Bertha Turner, of Bangor, is spending her vacation with her mother, Mrs. George Turner.

Miss Cora Ashdown, of Cambridge, Mass., is the guest of Miss Vera Harding.

Correspondence.

Equal Suffrage. NORTH PENOBSCOT, July 12, 1906. To the Editor of The American:

I believe in suffrage for women. I have always believed in it. If the fact that a majority of men and a large percentage of the women do not favor it was a conclusive reason why I should oppose it, then I should oppose it. It is pleasant to be in the swim—to sail along peacefully with the current of public opinion—but there can be no progression without opposition, no education without agitation, and no agitation where there is a perfect calm of ideas. It is the collision that stirs the mental and moral world; the lightning of inspiration that purifies the upper ether that envelops us.

Since man became conscious of his physical greatness, woman has been denied of her political standing. She has been accepted as a gracious gift, a beautiful ornament, a delightful addition to the softening influences of our civilization, a gentle slave in man's service, a star in the moral and spiritual world; as a superior illustration of the finest feelings of human nature, love, sympathy, companionship, but as too good for the blighting atmosphere of political life, too slight to be clothed with the duties of citizenship.

We live in an age where knowledge is preeminently power. The multiplied forces of to-day are the results of past ages of mechanical knowledge. To-day man's physical power counts for little unless linked with the knowledge of the past. Unless his mind directs and his hand touches the key of the mechanical forces of to-day, he is more powerless than the lower animal in their best estate.

Never before, as in this age of vast mechanical power, was woman so nearly the equal of man physically. If there have been reasons in past ages, and under different forms of government, why woman should not constitute a factor of the political power of a nation, they are no longer valid in our day and in our country.

Our nation is founded on ideals; it is the development of moral and natural rights. Its keystone is push; its foundations are equal rights; its glory is universal opportunity for the largest individual development. In four-fifths of the public schools of our State, women are fitting the rising generation for good citizenship, and yet this vast body of teachers, among the purest and brightest of our female population, are not citizens, but merely subjects, and have no right to participate in the making of laws to regulate our school system for which their wisdom and experience so well fit them. She is a ruler in the schoolroom, but a subject in the State.

In one-half of the homes of Maine to-day woman is the recognized authority, by reason of her superior endowments, and yet in the broader sphere of government she cannot lift a hand to save the little republic. Her mission is to stand at the door of this great republic and plead and pray—while man has full possession of the inner courts of justice and law.

She has filled and honored in the progress of material civilization, nearly every occupation and department of human activity known to man, and in many she has superseded him. In education, art, law, medicine, she is rapidly snatching laurels from the other sex. In brain power she is man's equal; in character his superior. In heroic endurance, in depth of interest in home, society, the school, the church, she leads the race, and this government can never attain its most perfect representation until both sexes are happily blended in its citizenship.

That a majority of women do not care for suffrage, should be no bar to the few who honestly and earnestly desire it, and their denial of the franchise is a political injustice without reasonable excuse. It is woman's duty to plead for it and man's duty to grant it.

Let every influence for just government be centered on the next legislature to bring it about. The republican party has a duty to the race here. Let not be too slow to accept it.

Do good to thy friend to keep him, to thy enemy to gain him.—Benjamin Franklin.

Medical.

Nature's Warning.

Edwards' Backache Remedy. Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously. But nature always warns you through the urine.

Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy—If there are settlements and sediment, Passages too frequent, scanty, painful. It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes. Doan's have done great work in Ellsworth.

W. B. Jordan, of 56 High St., Ellsworth, Me., says: "My case was unlike many others, for backache did not bother me much, but the secretions from the kidneys were excessive and the muscles of the bladder were too weak to control them. At night I was obliged to get up every few minutes, which disturbed my rest greatly. In the daytime I was no better, and had to pass the secretions every few minutes. I chanced to read about Doan's Kidney Pills and went to E. G. Moore's for a box. Had anyone told me they would help me so quickly I could not have believed it. I have used six boxes and they have so strengthened and regulated the kidneys that the least I can do is to recommend them to others. After what they have done for me old chronic case like mine, there is no doubt of their beneficial effect in cases of a milder form."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

N. E. COAST RESORTS.

Boston & Maine R. R. Literature—The North Shore Beaches.

The call from the seashore has already sounded! Vacation dreams were planted months ago, but the advent of hot weather and the sultriness of city heat have set in bloom and matured the early seedlings and budding plans of previous days. Vacation days are already here! The seashore resorts are fast preparing, and in a short while the coast of northern New England, from Boston harbor to the bay of Fundy, will be welcoming the resorters.

Massachusetts has certainly a gay procession of seashore resorts. The North Shore, whose unbounded fame gains year by year, boasts of everything that is best in the seashore line. Swampscott with its magnificent palatial summer hotels and delightful opportunities for bathing; Marblehead, famed for its spacious harbor, where congregate the fleets of summer yachtsmen and the admirable location of the summer colony at the Neck; Beach Bluff, Clifton, Devereaux, Manchester, Magnolia, Gloucester, Rockport, Plum Island and Salisbury Beach; New Hampshire has not so much to offer in her shore resorts as to number, but the beauties and attractions of Hampton and Bay, the fame of Newcastle with its never to be forgotten "peace conference associations" well balance any laxity in number.

Maine is the premier shore land of the United States. Her entire coast from Kittery to Eastport is a stretch of broken coast land which forms beautiful harbors and coves, the most magnificent summer resorts to be found anywhere. York, Old Orchard, the queen of the north Atlantic beaches, Scarborough, Wells, Kennebunk, Peaks Island, and so on to Bar Harbor, Maine's shore possessions are numerous and attractive.

In order fully to appreciate the glories of New England's coast, one should spend a vacation at some of these resorts. The Boston & Maine railroad will give you the necessary directions. In the Hotel Booklet for 1906 may be found a list of all the shore resorts, their hotels and accommodations, and a beautifully illustrated and descriptive booklet called "All Along Shore", describing in detail the glories of the north Atlantic coast, will be sent upon request.

The Hotel Booklet will be sent free by the general passenger department, Boston & Maine railroad, Boston.

A delightfully illustrated portfolio containing thirty-one beautiful half-tone reproductions of the choicest views along the shore will be mailed upon receipt of six cents in stamps.

Itch? Itch? Itch?—Scratch? Scratch? Scratch! The more you scratch the worse they itch. Try Doan's Ointment. It cures piles, eczema, any skin itching. All druggists sell.—Advt.

Mrs. Dudley Dolliver is at Oak Point visiting her old home while her brothers are all at home on their vacations.

Charles Newman was here from Mt. Desert Rock last week for a few days. He will return later in the month and bring his family.

Lindall Cleveland and wife, Mr. Jacovis and Miss Hennessey, of Rosindale, Mass., came Friday to spend their vacation at Samuel Moore's.

Mrs. Lina Butchers, with son Clyde, of Boston, Miss. Josie Mollins, of Allston, Mass., and Mrs. Ella Smith and baby, of Charlestown, Mass., are visiting their sister, Mrs. Amos Dolliver.

July 9. DOLLY.

Mrs. Josie Mollins returned home last Thursday.

John Dolliver, of Oak Point, was here last week to see his mother, Mrs. William Dolliver.

Mrs. Dudley Dolliver, who has been visiting her old home at Oak Point, came home Sunday.

D. S. Mooney has been very poorly for the past week, with an attack of rheumatism, but is better now.

The Cleveland family returned to Rosindale, Mass., Tuesday, after a pleasant stay of ten days at Samuel Moore's.

Mrs. William Dolliver is still quite ill. Her daughter, Mrs. Lilia Campbell, of Salisbury Cove, has come to care for her.

July 16. DOLLY.

NORTH BROOKSVILLE.

Postmaster William Linsburner and Edward Bickford are very ill.

Henry Young returned to Kingman Monday, after a short visit here.

Mrs. Augusta Lord, of Philadelphia, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Edwin Lord.

Jesse Gray was in town last week, looking after the estate of Mrs. Nancy Bickford.

Byron Tracy, wife and daughter, of Deer Isle, were guests of Miss G. Allen Sunday.

Mrs. Erastus Gray and children, of Brockton, have rented Mrs. A. K. P. Bidgett's house for the season.

NORTH PENOBSCOT.

Work on the Dorr cottage will be suspended until after haying.

Mary W. Hutensin is attending the summer school at Bucksport.

Charles Montgomey and family, of Camden, arrived in his automobile Sunday. He is a native of this place, and will spend a short time at his old home.

Samuel D. Staples, a veteran school teacher, who has more than a hundred schools on his records, is one of the smartest old men in this section. He is past eighty, and puts in many hours' labor daily as any man in town.

In the death of Mrs. Abbie Condon this town loses one of the smartest business women it ever produced. From poverty she advanced in wealth until she became one of the largest tax-payers in town. She was an advocate of woman suffrage and took a deep interest in town and political affairs.

Highland grange has received an invitation from Verona grange to a clambake on the shore of Verona in August. Many granges have been invited, and should the weather be favorable, there will doubtless be a large turnout of the sturdy sons of the soil. The clambake there last year was the first of its kind, and proved to be a happy affair.

SOUTH SURRY.

There will be services at the church next Sunday at 10.30.

Mrs. Lillian Thurston went to Sedgwick Saturday to visit relatives.

William P. Stewart, jr., arrived last Thursday with the remains of his aunt.

A tragic finish. A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver, of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at E. G. MOORE'S drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Miss Alberta Carter, of South Braintree, Mass., was a recent guest of her aunt, Mrs. William H. Blaisdell.

Eugene Bunker, wife and young daughter Marion, of Kingman, are in town during Mr. Bunker's vacation.

E. S. Foster, wife, and two children, of New York, and Mrs. Dudley Foster, of Big Rapids, Mich., are guests with relatives here during Mr. Foster's brief business trip.

Miss Bernice Dunn was the pleasing soloist at the Methodist church Sunday evening. The ladies' quartette also favored the audience—Miss Dunn, first soprano; Mrs. Lee, second soprano; Miss Springer, first alto; Miss Fickett, second alto.

Allen Fernald, one of the foremen at the Waltham watch factory, who has spent his vacation at home, left last week on his return, accompanied by his brother Lysie. Arthur Fernald and wife also have been here during their vacation, leaving Sunday night for Waltham. Mr. Fernald thinks there is no place like the old home for genuine comfort.

The automobile terror has struck town. A horse driven by Miss Rosa Crimmin, of Eastbrook, while standing at the store of F. E. Blaisdell, was seized with fright at the sight of an advancing machine which was quickly brought to a stop. Miss Crimmin alighted in safety, but the terrified horse ran, colliding with another team, resulting in broken shafts and cramped axles.

SEDGWICK.

The death recently of Mrs. J. D. LaPrarie, a native of Sedgwick, at her home on the Pacific coast, has been briefly reported in THE AMERICAN. A western paper prints the following tribute to her: Ruth Lane, daughter of Capt. F. W. Lane, was born Aug. 5, 1878 in Sedgwick, Maine. She lived in Sedgwick and Bar Harbor until she was seven, then moved to Boston, and lived there until she was fourteen. In 1893 she and her mother came to Chicago, where her mother was united in marriage to George W. Dieter, of Rochester, Minn. They then came to Rochester, where she resided with her mother until her marriage to J. D. LaPrarie of Winnebago, Wis., in 1899. They lived in St. Paul until a year ago, when Mr. LaPrarie went to Washington, Mrs. LaPrarie not going until March 5, 1906.

There she underwent a surgical operation from which she never recovered. But she passed away happy. She was a woman who made friends wherever she went. "None knew her but to love her; none named her but to praise." Beside a grief-stricken husband and mother, she leaves a daughter, Vivian, six years old. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. E. E. Amshury, of Greenwood, Mass.; two aunts, Ada Shea, of Bar Harbor, and Mrs. E. A. Griffin, of Brookline, Maine. Mrs. LaPrarie became a communicant of Calvary church at the age of eighteen years.

In her life we are richly blessed; in her passing we but let the silver cord slip through our hands until it shall tighten and draw us to her.

OCEANVILLE.

Miss Slowey and Miss Cameron, of New York, and Miss Head, of Detroit, are stopping at Mrs. H. M. Hatch's.

Mrs. Ida Hatch and three daughters, Mrs. Gladys Joyce and son, of Malden, Mass., and Miss Marion Cleveland, New London, Conn., arrived Sunday morning.

Eunice, wife of Capt. Thaddeus Gross, died at her home here Friday morning. Mrs. Gross has been an invalid for many years, but through it all displayed a fine Christian character. She leaves a husband and three sons, besides other relatives, also a large circle of friends to mourn her loss. Funeral services were held at her home on Sunday, Rev. O. C. Herbert officiating. There was a large number of friends in attendance. The floral tributes showed the high esteem in which she was held. Interment at Greenwood cemetery.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS.

Eggs are Higher—Butter Firm—Native Strawberries Plentiful. Eggs, which have remained steady at 25 cents for some weeks, took another start upward this week. The farmers are getting "24 cents quick," and the retail price is 25 to 28 cents, with 30 cents touched. New potatoes have advanced a little, owing to the lateness of season in the northern states. Native strawberries are in the market in plentiful quantity and of good quality. Price ranges around 15 cents. Beef is higher in the wholesale markets again, but retail price range as quoted for the local market covers the rise. The quotations below give the range of retail prices in Ellsworth.

KITTERY TO CARIBOU.

Samuel Grant, for many years interested in the lumber business in Bangor, died Friday, aged nearly ninety years. William H. Sanborn, ex-city marshal of Belfast, and a veteran of the Civil war, died Friday, aged sixty-four years. Charles B. Caldwell, chief clerk in the State treasurer's office at Augusta for many years, died Saturday, aged sixty years. Mrs. David McLaughlin, aged seventy-three, of South Levant, was thrown from her carriage in a runaway Friday, and instantly killed. Usher B. Thompson, aged sixty-five years, of West Newfield, who has served in both branches of the Maine legislature, and was for several years sheriff of York county, died Thursday night. Miss Eva Vashon, of Waterville, aged twenty, was drowned in the Penobscot river at Old Town Monday, by the overturning of a canoe. Her three companions succeeded in reaching shore. Five armed and masked men overpowered and bound the night watchman and another employee at the car house of the Atlantic Shore Line railroad at Town House Crossing near Kennebec, Sunday night, took $300 from the unlocked safe, and escaped. Blood poisoning from a slight cut on the chin while being shaved in a Bangor barber shop, resulted in the death on Friday of Guilford Small, aged thirty-two years, of Beddington. The cut was but a small one, and at the time he gave it no thought. A few days later his chin began to swell and blood poisoning had set in. He went to the hospital at once, and grew rapidly worse until his death two days later. The Maine Coast Transportation Co. is soon to improve its service along the coast east from Portland. This company has recently leased additional wharves at Camden and Bar Harbor, and will hereafter make regular landings at these places. In September a new steamer will be added to this line which will operate between Boston, Portland and Penobscot river landings, up to Cape Jellison, connecting with the Bangor & Arrostook railroad. The following statement of the amount of lumber surveyed at the port of Bangor from Jan. 1 to June 30, 1906, as compared with the amount surveyed in 1901 and 1905 in the same period has been issued by Surveyor General Bunker: Dry pine, 1901, 11,571,488; 1905, 13,460,443; 1906, 16,376,276. Green pine, 1901, 653,240; 1905,

317,037; 1906, 978,285. Spruce, 1901, 30,254,761; 1905, 41,139,477; 1906, 25,456,211. Hemlock, etc., 1901, 10,997,280; 1905, 9,394,724; 1906, 3,197,521. Total, 1901, 53,476,867; 1905, 64,308,681; 1906, 46,008,293. One of the biggest catches of mackerel ever known on the coast of Maine was made a week ago, about a mile outside of Wells, by a stock company of Wells fishermen. Two weeks ago last Friday these hardy fishermen set their mammoth nets, which cover an area of nearly two acres, at a point known as Bass Rock. From the proceeds of their catch they divided up to last Saturday night $1,600. This amount was realized after sustaining a loss of three hundred barrels of mackerel which escaped before they could be taken from the net. The three-masted Thomaston schooner Helen L. Martin, which sailed from Boston for Newfoundland, to load a cargo of lumber for New York, was totally wrecked on the Newfoundland coast. The crew was saved with difficulty. The Helen L. Martin was built at Thomaston in 1882, and had been employed most of the time in transporting lumber from southern ports to Boston and other northern cities. She was 137 feet long, 34 feet beam, 12 feet depth of hold, with a net tonnage of 345 and a gross tonnage of 424. The vessel was valued at $10,000 and was uninsured. She was owned by D. S. Martin, of Camden, and others. A strange fatality seems to have followed Julian Lambert, of Minneapolis, on a visit East. Wishing for a vacation he could think of nothing pleasanter to do than to visit his cousin of the same name as himself, whose home is in Auburn, and whom he had never seen, and on the way to visit other relatives. First he stopped off at a town where was his sister's home, only to find that she had been buried two days before. He then continued his journey into Canada to visit his father-in-law, only to find that he had been buried the day before. Mr. Lambert next came to Auburn to visit his namesake. His host's wife died four hours after his arrival. "What's the difference between vision and sight?" "See those two girls across the street?" "Yes." "Well, the prettier one I would call a vision of loveliness, but the other one—she's a sight!" REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

STATE ELECTION, SEPT. 10, 1906.

STATE TICKET.

For Governor, WILLIAM T. COBB, of Rockland. For Representative to Congress, (Third District) EDWIN C. BURLEIGH, of Augusta.

COUNTY TICKET.

For Senators, SUMNER P. MILLS, of Stonington, LUERE B. DEASY, of Eden. For Clerk of Courts, JOHN F. KNOWLTON, of Ellsworth. For Judge of Probate, EDWARD E. CHASE, of Bluehill. For Sheriff, WINFIELD S. TREWORGY, of Surry. For County Attorney, CHARLES H. WOOD, of Eden. For County Commissioner, FRED R. PAGE, of Bucksport. For Register of Deeds, ROBERT B. HOLMES, of Ellsworth.

FOR REPRESENTATIVES.

From Eden, G. RAYMOND JOY, of Eden. From Mt. Desert, Tremont, Southwest Harbor, Swan's Island and Cranberry Isles, GEORGE R. HADLOCK, of Cranberry Isles. From Winter Harbor, Sorrento, Franklin, Sullivan, Gouldsboro, Eastbrook, Walden and townships and plantations, J. S. 7, 8, 9, 10, 21 and 33. JOSEPH H. DOYLE, of Franklin. From Bucksport, Dedham, Mariaville, Wis. Veona, Amherst and Penobscot, HADLEY P. BURRILL, of Dedham. From Surry, Hancock, Bluehill, Lamoine and Trenton, JOHN F. WOOD, of Bluehill.

It is rare that such a musical treat is afforded outside of the large cities as that to be given in Bluehill on August 3 by talent famous the country over. The programme is printed in full elsewhere in this issue.

Warnings to automobile owners have been erected just outside of the city on all roads leading into it—a step that is timely on the part of the city government. Thus far there has been no flagrant disregard of this reasonable request, and it is hoped that there will be none.

The attention of the county will be directed to the special republican convention which meets in this city tomorrow to nominate a candidate for register of deeds. The candidates and their supporters have been actively at work, and with so many in the field, there is unusual interest in the outcome.

Throwing off the Mask.

The real underlying motive and purpose of the democratic plan of campaign hereabouts was revealed by the speeches at the convulse of party leaders Friday night, and especially by the speech of Sheriff Pennell, which was delivered in installments. The real object is discovered to be the repeal of the prohibitory law and the substitution of license and local option. Nor is it much of a discovery. It has been suspected all the time—in fact, has been a moral certainty—but now for the first time it is frankly avowed.

shall know where our opponents are at. But the Cumberland county democrats are way ahead of their party in the State. The Water-ville platform says nothing about license and local option. It very carefully keeps these subjects out of sight.

It reiterates the demand for "the enforcement of all law, including the prohibitory law", and then proceeds practically to repudiate this demand by demanding the repeal of the enforcement law, and it declares for re-submission, not on the ground taken by the Cumberland section, that license and local option may be substituted, but that "the question of constitutional prohibition may be settled for a generation and may be removed from political discussion".

Political Notes.

Sullivan delegates to the special republican county convention are John N. Hill, Herman D. Joy, George Patten and George Colson. The republicans of Bucksport have elected the following delegates to the special county convention to-morrow: O. F. Fellows, George H. Emerson, William A. Remick, Stinson Hooper, F. W. Ginn, George A. Eldridge, Luke H. Soper and W. T. Hill.

Nominated by the Governor.

Among nominations by Gov. Cobb recently announced is the following in Hancock county: Notary public—M. D. Chatto, Brooksville.

Correspondence.

A Tribute to Mr. Campbell.

NORTH PENOBSCOT, July 16, 1906. To the Editor of The American: The death of Mr. Campbell removes one of the most popular and efficient public officers Hancock county ever had. His patience, good nature and ever-ready helpfulness were phenomenal, and will be more and more appreciated as the years go by. Few men have left their individuality more indelibly stamped on the memory of their friends. J. M. H.

BAR HARBOR.

Improvements on Water Front—The Coming Dog Show.

Mrs. Charles P. Anderson and son Clifford, of Bangor, and daughter, Mrs. C. R. White, of Hallowell, are the guests of Mrs. Melvin Leighton.

Daniel A. Foster, of this place, was found dead in bed at the home of A. M. Folsom in South Orrington, Monday morning. He had been there for several weeks with Mrs. Foster, in search of health. The cause of death was an overdose of laudanum. Mr. and Mrs. Foster have been at the Folsom farm, for several weeks. He went to bed as usual Sunday night, and is supposed to have taken an overdose of the laudanum. He leaves a widow and one son, W. H. Foster, of Bangor. Mr. Foster was in the fifty-eighth year of his age.

The Eastern Steamship Co. has at last begun work on the new terminal here which it was announced last season would be built. It was at first expected that the station would be finished this season early enough for the summer business, but other large repairs and improvements have delayed work here. Last week a crew began to tear down the old Tobias Roberts wharf where the new one will be built. The new wharf will be somewhat larger than the old, and while it will be about the same length, will probably be wider at the end. The buildings will be ample for all the business of the company, and will include waiting rooms, toilets, freight rooms, etc. It will be a marked improvement to the water front.

THE DOG SHOW.

The prize lists for the Bar Harbor dog show have been issued and entries are being received at the office. There have been provided 319 classes, with winners' classes for nearly all breeds. Judges for the show will be H. F. Mulcahy, Boston, Boston terriers; F. J. Lenoir, Greenwood, Mass., setters, pointers and foxhounds; E. M. Oldham, New York city, all other breeds.

A large number of special prizes have been offered in addition to the cash prizes in regular classes, a good portion of these being solid silver cups, plate, etc. Among the donors may be mentioned the Pine Tree kennel club, of Portland, which offers a solid silver cup for the best American-bred dog, either sex, any breed, open to all. Entries close on Tuesday, July 31, after which date no entries will be accepted under any circumstances, the rules of the American kennel club imposing fines for the acceptance of entries after the advertised date of closing of entries. Prize lists are being mailed to any applicant addressing the superintendent, H. E. Gero, Bar Harbor.

Some time ago in New York city a man was awakened in the night to find his wife weeping uncontrollably. "My darling," he said, in distress, "what is the matter?" "A dream?" she gasped. "I have had such a horrible dream." Her husband begged her to tell it to him in order that he might comfort her. After much sobbing she was induced to say this: "I thought I was walking down Broadway and I came to a warehouse where there was a large placard, 'Husbands for Sale.' You could get beautiful ones for $1,500 or even for $1,200, and a very nice looking one for as low as $100. The husband asked innocently: 'Did you see any that looked like me?'" The sob became strangling. "Dozens of them," gasped the wife, "done up in bunches like asparagus and sold for ten cents a bunch."

COUNTY GOSSIP.

Oh! a far sure voyage this ship fares On her swerveless upright keel, Through measureless seas of time she bears Aims true as the pole stars feel. Steady her helm, Though the wild waves whelm, More firm her quest, For their keen unrest— Vary and draw Fixing the law Whereby all staunch ships go, Oh! a tireless and dauntless voyage dares This Isle au Haut.

Oh! a deep-eyed angel bears her brow Where the light spray leaps and laughs, And the gaunt cliff at the giant bow The sea's wine thirstily quaffs.— The sea's strong wine In the wide sunshine Or swooning calm Of the moon's white balm; Stormy or still, Good is the will In the angel's eyes aglow, God-wise, God-sure her guidance at the prow Of Isle au Haut.

The new wharf and station of the Eastern Steamship Co. will improve Bar Harbor's water front.

Hancock county's share of the State school fund is $30,822.83, or $2.77 for each child of school age.

Bar Harbor's harbor was lived up last week by the arrival of the Eastern yacht club fleet, which ended its annual cruise there last Friday. Now for the warships.

Down on the Cooksey drive near Northeast Harbor to-day, a memorial to Samuel de Champlain, the explorer who discovered and named Mt. Desert island, is being dedicated. The stone is at a point overlooking the sea.

The haying campaign is on this week with full vigor. Reports as to the conditions of grass in different sections of the county vary considerably, but summing up all these reports it would appear that the hay crop this year will be "some better" than last year.

On an apple tree at Fairview, Cape Rosier, is a blossom measuring about seven inches in circumference. The flower is shaped rather more like a pansy than like a rose, and is quite double. The remainder of the tree is covered with green fruit. The flower was discovered by Mrs. J. P. Stubbs, and was very pretty and was like when she first found it.

The presence of State Detective Hartnett in Deer Isle last week has revived rumors of "something doing" in the Robbins murder case. The Deer Isle Messenger says: "Mr. Harnett's presence here at this time encourages one to believe that this case is not yet a dead issue, and it would surprise but few hereabouts if there was an indictment and arrest when the next grand jury sits."

Down at the East Lamoine coaling station last week the crew tackled the hardest proposition it has yet been up against in the way of a coal cargo. A steamer arrived recently with nearly 5,000 tons of coal. It was not one of the regular government colliers with wide hatches and open hold, but a freighter, with coal stowed between the three or four decks where it had to be handled over two or three times before reaching the buckets. Three hundred to 500 tons a day was the best that could be done in discharging her.

The recent sudden death of Detective M. F. Haskell, of Haverhill, Mass., formerly of Auburn, recalls the Sarah Ware murder case. Mr. Haskell was employed by W. T. Treworgy, to seek evidence in the case which would show that he was innocent of all complicity in the crime. While Mr. Haskell was not a witness in the trial of the case in July, 1902, at Ellsworth, and he was in constant attendance, and to him largely was due the marshalling together of the great mass of evidence which Lawyers Fellows and Hutchings had available for the defense of Treworgy.

The Maine Central oil train is now working between Waterville and Bangor, giving the road bed a coating of crude oil to lay the dust. The train is composed of a number of tank cars with a sprinkler car attached. Pipes were run from the sprinkler car to the tank cars and the train proceeded at about four miles an hour. The oil is distributed between the rails and for a distance of about four feet each side. It leaves a bad smell which wears away in a few days. The officials of the road say that the work has only to be done about once in two years, where the ties are not disturbed, but where work is done on them it is necessary to do more oiling. There is need for this train down on the Mt. Desert branch. The "gravel" recently laid is little better than a light, sandy loam, and the road was never so dusty as at present.

North Ellsworth Fair.

The officers of the North Ellsworth Farmers' club are busy with preparations for the North Ellsworth fair, which this year they say will be "bigger and better than ever". The premiums to be given in nearly all departments, both livestock and produce, will be doubled. Arrangements are being made for an attractive card of racing events. The dates of the fair are Sept. 26 and 27. The season has been so backward that too much should not be expected in agricultural exhibits, but the farmers of North Ellsworth may be depended upon to show the best that the season affords.

OBITUARY.

MRS. SOPHIA J. CHILCOTT. Mrs. Sophia J. Chilcott, of this city, widow of James C. Chilcott, formerly editor of THE ELLSWORTH AMERICAN, passed quietly away on Thursday last, at the old Chilcott homestead, Sullivan, where she had been making her home for about a year past.

Mrs. Chilcott was the daughter of the late John O'B. Tupper, of Jonesboro, and was born in that town July 23, 1835. She was married Dec. 13, 1855. The earlier years of her married life were spent in Sullivan, Mr. Chilcott moving his family to Ellsworth in 1872.

Mrs. Chilcott was a member of the Baptist church of this city, in which she was very active until her health began to fail. In her best years she did a great deal of charitable work, and went on many an errand of mercy to relieve the needy and suffering. She had been prominent in the W. C. T. U. and W. R. C., and at the time of her death was a member of the Eastern Star.

The funeral services were held at the family residence in this city on Saturday afternoon, her pastor, Rev. P. A. A. Killam, officiating. Mr. Killam spoke helpfully and read feelingly Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar". The profusion of flowers was a testimony of the love that was borne her, and of the fact that the great work she did when she had the strength has been appreciated.

Mrs. Chilcott was the mother of six children, four of whom are left to mourn her loss—Dr. Langdon S. Chilcott, Hamlin Emery Chilcott, Dr. Arthur J. Chilcott, and Miss Clio M. Chilcott. The pall bearers were Irving Osgood, James E. Parsons, Melvin S. Smith and James Hamilton. She was laid at rest in the family lot at Woodbine cemetery.

WEST BROOKLIN.

Orrin Pearl Carter died at his home Thursday, July 12, at the age of sixty-seven years and nine months. Mr. Carter was born in Surry, the son of Asa and Mary Carter. He spent the early part of his life in that town, where he served on the board of selectmen.

Mr. Carter learned the ship carpenter's trade, and worked in several ship yards in the State. Later he went to California, returning in two years to his native town. Twenty-four years ago he moved to Brooklin, making his home here until his death. He worked at house carpentering.

Mr. Carter was made a Mason in Lygonia lodge, at Ellsworth, in 1871, coming from that lodge to Eggmoggin lodge, of Sedgewick, and serving that lodge for eight consecutive years as secretary. He was a justice of the peace for several years.

Mr. Carter married four times. His last wife was Mrs. Rose Lufkin, who survives him, and who tenderly and patiently cared for him in his illness. He had five step-children, to whom he was very much attached. He also leaves one brother, Edwin, of Bar Harbor. Mr. Carter was a man of genial manner, with always a hearty greeting for all, and will be much missed.

Funeral services were held at his late residence Saturday morning, under masonic direction. Appropriate remarks were made by Rev. C. C. Koch, of Sedgewick, and Rev. A. B. Carter, of West Brooklin. Interment at Hillside cemetery, Sedgewick. The bearers were S. Hazen, W. A. Pert, W. N. Means and E. P. Bridges. July 16. SPEC.

State Examination of Teachers.

The annual examination of candidates for State certificates will occur Friday, Aug. 31, beginning at 8 o'clock a. m.

The places at which the examination will be held, about thirty in number, will be so arranged, as far as practicable, that every teacher taking the examination can leave home in the morning, take the examination in full, and return the evening of the same day. Definite selection of places and public announcements of them, will be made Aug. 10, and special notice thereof will be sent to all persons registering before that date.

The subjects in which candidates will be examined are reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, English grammar, United States history, physiology and hygiene, elementary science or nature studies, civil government, theory and practice of teaching, and school law.

All actual or prospective teachers desiring to take the examination must register on or before Aug. 10, by forwarding to the educational department at Augusta complete preliminary examination reports, blanks for which will be sent on application. This is especially important in order that circulars stating places of examination may be mailed to candidates as soon as such places are definitely determined, as well as others of special importance as giving valuable suggestions and advice. These circulars will be sent only to registered candidates.

Circulars of information and registering blanks will be mailed at once to all applying for same. Aid in preparing for examination in "Nature Studies" may be found in circular entitled "Improvement of School Buildings and Grounds", and in "Theory and Practice" in circular entitled "Manual for use of Officers and Members of County Teachers' Institutes". These and "School Laws" will be sent to all applicants for them.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MIKADO HANCOCK HALL, Ellsworth, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 24-5.

Kelth's Theatre, Boston.

Toby Claude, a popular comedienne, will be one of the leading entertainers of the Kelth programme for the week of July 23. Miss Claude has been prominent in the cast of many musical comedy productions, and has always been a favorite. She is only temporarily in vaudeville, and this will be her debut at Kelth's.

The surrounding show contains the names of many newcomers and others who are known from their successes in former years. Prominent on the list will be Zazelle and Vernon, in their acrobatic pantomime, "The Elopement"; Jack Norworth, with his "college boy" monologue; Selbini and Grovini, acrobats, tumblers and bicycle riders; Coakley and McBride, blackface comedians and dancers; the Deiton brothers, acrobats and balancers; Delmore and Darrell, in a comedy and singing specialty; Wiora trio of Hungarian dancers, and Harry Burgoyne, English coster comedian.

The Fadettes will have an entire new programme and the usual new list of motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinematograph.

All Wrong.

Captain William Ellinger, the noted oyster grower of Chesapeake Bay, said recently: "Once I dined with an English farmer. We had ham for dinner, a very delicious ham, baked. The farmer's son soon finished his portion and passed his plate again. 'More 'am, father,' he said. 'The father frowned. 'Don't say 'am, my son,' he said, 'say 'am.' 'I did say 'am,' the lad protested in an injured tone. 'You said 'am,' cried the father fiercely. 'Am's what it should be. 'Am, not 'am.' 'In the midst of the squabble the farmer's wife turned to me with a little deprecatory laugh, and said: 'They both think they're saying 'am.'"

RED CROSS.

Latest Bulletin of the American National Society. Bulletin No. 3, issued by the central committee for July, has been received, and a most interesting report of a most interesting work it is.

Especially touching is the report of the Japanese Red Cross. Last February, when the news came that Japan was suffering from a terrible famine, the American National Red Cross sent to that country $265,855.87. Most grateful letters acknowledging the generous contribution and deep sympathy of our people were received from the government of Japan.

As the American people were ready and glad to aid Japan in the day of her trouble so promptly has she turned to our help when calamity came to us in the disaster in California, for the Japanese Red Cross sent at once $110,000 for the sufferers from the dreadful earthquake and fire.

This from the country that had just experienced a cruel, expensive war and great famine was generous indeed.

When a horse picks up a nail in his foot, what does the driver do? Does he whip the limping, lagging animal and force him along? Not unless he wants to ruin the horse. At the first sign of lameness the driver examines the foot and carefully removes the cause of the lameness. What is called "weak stamper" is like the lameness the cause of the trouble. If you stimulate the stomach with "whisky medicines" you keep it going, but every day the condition is growing worse. A Medical Discovery will put the disordered stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition in perfect condition. "Medical Discovery" will cure the worst ailments originating in diseases of the stomach. It always helps. It almost always cures. To cure constipation, use Dr. Pierce's Peppermint Pellets. They're sure.

"THE MIKADO."

Gilbert & Sullivan's Charming Opera to be Given in Ellsworth.

That most charming of comic operas, the Mikado, is to be given at Hancock hall, Ellsworth, on the evenings of July 24 and 25 by local talent, assisted by the well-known tenor, Emory F. White, of New York, and James Gilbert, of Boston.

Mr. Gilbert is a professional trainer of choruses; he is a stage director of large capacity, and is indefatigable in his work with both the principals and the chorus. He has staged plays for the "Hasty Pudding" club of Harvard; for the famous Boston cadets, and for other equally prominent organizations.

Mr. Gilbert is to take the part of Ko-Ko, who is really the comedian of the opera, and the indications are that he will make a great hit.

The play is to be given under the auspices of the Ellsworth festival chorus, although the participants are by no means confined to that organization, many from outside having generously volunteered their services. The chorus will consist of about twenty-five ladies and fifteen men, all of whom are working hard to help make the affair a pronounced success.

The patronesses are: Mesdames Eugene Hale, A. P. Wiswell, H. M. Hall, H. W. Cushman, S. J. Morrison, J. A. McGown, G. A. Parcher, F. W. Rollins, O. W. Tapley, A. W. Greely, A. W. King, J. F. Whitcomb, C. C. Burrill, S. K. Whiting, J. F. Knowlton, A. W. Ellis, H. F. Whitcomb, H. W. Haynes, Lewis Hodgkins, C. A. Hanscom, A. C. Hagerthy, E. K. Hopkins, J. T. Giles, W. H. Titus, T. E. Hale, F. C. Burrill.

The cast of characters is as follows:

The Mikado of Japan..... J. A. Cunningham
Nanki-Poo (his son, disguised as a wandering minstrel, and in love with Yum-Yum)..... Emory F. White
Ko-Ko (lord high executioner), James Gilbert
Pooch Bah (lord high everything else)..... C. P. Halpin
Fish Tush (a noble lord)..... A. L. Witham
Yum-Yum (Three sis- (Miss Bertha L. Giles Pitts) sing (Mrs. W. W. Billington)
Peep-Bo (of Ko-Ko) (Miss Julia Cushman)
Katsaha (an elderly lady in love with Nanki-Poo)..... Miss Helen E. Bonsey
Chorus of school girls, nobles, guards and coolies.
Miss Mary F. Hopkins, accompanist

Behaviors are being held every evening at Manning hall. The play is immensely interesting, the costumes picturesque and the music catchy. The stage will represent a Japanese garden, and this, combined with the pretty costumes, is bound to produce a charming effect.

Everything points to a successful outcome of the affair.

The Governor's Miracle.

Occasionally the most brilliant of lawyers will encounter a witness wonderfully adroit in evading the desired answer. The late Governor Robinson was examining a witness, and the question arose as to the true definition of a miracle. Endeavoring to get an answer by illustration, Governor Robinson said: "If a man should fall from a three-story window, striking his head on a brick sidewalk, then get up and walk away, what would that be?"

"That would be an accident," quietly replied the witness.

"Well, if the same man should fall the next day from the same window, striking his head again on the brick sidewalk, and walk away unharmed, what would that be?"

"That would be a coincidence," said the witness.

The lawyer smiled, and then said, with the complacency of one sure of his victory: "And if the third day the same man should fall from the same three-story window on the same brick sidewalk, and strike his head, and then rise and walk off, what would you call that?"

"The same man?"

"Yes."

"The same window?"

"Yes."

"And fell on the same sidewalk?"

"Yes."

"I should call that a habit."

Life of a Glove.

Economy in gloves lies in taking proper care of them.

It lengthens the working life of a glove to take pains in putting it on for the first time. French women know the importance of this point, and never grudge trouble and time spent over it.

Choose a time for trying on gloves when the hands are cool and dry.

Turn back the wrist over the back of the hand and insert the fingers, keeping the thumb outside until they are worked into place.

This should be done slowly, taking special care that the seams on the forefinger are straight, as they are to become twisted.

To help the process the first finger and thumb should be slightly moistened when working them on.

When drawing off a glove, turn back the wrist as in putting it on, loosen the tips of the fingers, and so remove the glove.

Do not turn it inside out. Stretch the gloves lengthways, put tissue paper between them and lay them away.

Origin of "Grass" Widow.

"She is a grass widow," said the professor, nodding in the direction of a lady with yellow hair.

"A 'grass' widow? Oh, professor; I didn't think you would use slang."

"Grass' widow is not slang," said the professor stoutly. "It is, on the contrary, a very ancient and correct expression. It comes from the French 'grace.' It was originally written 'grace' widow. Its meaning is 'widow by courtesy.'"

"There is nothing slangy or disrespectful in the term 'grass widow.' A widow may call herself that with propriety, and with propriety any one may call her that."

A SAINTLY LIFE.

An Appreciation of a Former Bucksport Seminary Principal.

Lost friend, for whom these waking eyes
May weep, but never see,
A night of memory and of sighs
I dedicate to thee.

How many readers of this paper have had the blessed privilege of being a favorite pupil for two years of a godly, righteous, and saintly preceptor. Such fortune was mine. With the passing of years, and as "brother follows brother from sunset to the sunless land", memory brings him clearer and clearer before my spiritual vision, and I sigh to think how many hurts he received from careless youth.

By the way, I have always thought that quotation should read from "sunset to the sunny land". Perhaps it does, for the only time I ever heard it was by a member of Congress, and they almost invariably misquote until a sensitive ear is harassed, not to say distressed.

I know the subject of this sketch, J. B. Crawford, former principal of the East Maine Conference seminary, could never think of heaven but as a sunny land. One of the hymns oftenest given out by him began, "No night shall be in heaven," and as he led the music his face shone with a light that never was on land or sea.

His was not a striking personality in daily life. He was of medium stature, neither dark nor fair, sparely built and his laborious life combined with the New England climate had set the seal of consumption upon his face; but when he prayed or preached his features became transfigured. I am told by critics that it is bad form to quote, but at the risk of giving offense, I am moved to make one more. "There was the look of heaven upon his face that lingers give to the beloved disciple."

His life was one continuous round of sacrificial duty. His twenty-four hours were divided something like this—seven for sleep, dressing and bathing; one for his three meals, and sixteen hours to teaching, studying and sermon writing, for he was not content to rest on Sunday. He drove in the bitterest weather seven miles to a little country church, too poor to have a fire, preached in his overcoat, both forenoon and afternoon, and returned to a supper of cold pork and beans and brown-bread.

Two of "us girls", hero worshippers, once procured a sleigh and followed him to the church. He would have sent us back had we been seen, fearing for our health, but we carried our point and heard him, with freezing toes and fingers tingling even inside our muffs. But can we ever forget one moment when, in the course of his address, he stretched forth his hands over the snowy head of a ninety-five-year-old parishioner and said, in a tremulous voice and with misty eyes: "Ah, I would like to have the seat prepared in heaven for my venerable brother!"

The saint congregation sobbed aloud, for as they looked on his transparent hands and stooping frame, they could not but ask of one another, "who will go first?" After this the aged brother rose and made a short, but moving prayer. The people rose and sang "The Star of Bethlehem". Mr. Crawford pronounced the benediction, and service was over.

Every Wednesday evening there was a prayer-meeting in the school chapel, at which attendance was optional, but we never missed it, though my father was a Universalist, many of the girls were Catholics and several were the daughters of ministers of other creeds and sects. It was the magnetism of the man and his saint-like example that drew us.

Amid the multiplicity of his duties he had found one-half hour that he could call his own, and what did he do but call together a "normal class". That was, he explained, for those who had been or ever expected to be teachers. At these meetings anyone could present a difficult problem for elucidation, or the time was filled with good advice as to the care and control of young and refractory pupils.

The half-hour given to elocution was most interesting of all. It was recreation. Each one in turn would be asked to select the subject. Sometimes it was "Paradise Lost". He was a most excellent speaker, calm, lucid, logical, disapproving "cool gymnastics", for which he had an antipathy.

He often asked me to read my own selection. On one occasion after I had given the "Song of the Shirt", some of the girls giggled at the reiteration of the sad refrain. When it was concluded he rose and with a slightly heightened color said, in his most dignified and impressive manner, "The poem we have just heard is one of the most beautiful and pathetic in the English language. In London there is a handsome monument to Thomas Hood, the author, paid for entirely by contributions of grateful sewing women, and it bears in addition to his name and years this legend, "He sang the song of the shirt."

When our subject was Shakespeare, that was my triumphal hour, for I had spent one glorious season in Washington and had heard Forrest in all his plays. There is, in my opinion, but one living man today who can rank in the class with Forrest, and he is not an actor but a priest; Father Spofford, of St. Patrick's church, Washington, had he elected to become an actor, might be a worthy successor.

Mr. Crawford had a way of drawing everybody out and putting them at their best. But alas, we were all baffled, himself included, by one poem of Felicia Hemans. It is entitled "Evening Prayer at a Girls' School", and in it there occurred the following obscurity which eluded discovery:

"Her lot [woman's] is on you—silent tears to weep
And patient smiles to wear thro' suffering's hour,
And sunless riches from affections deep
To pour on broken reeds—a wasted shower."

Now why sunless? What did the author mean? Many and various were the opinions offered. Some thought they must refer to gold lying in a mine or cave, but that was voted very far-fetched. Mr. Crawford frankly owned that he had no opinion to offer, and of course I followed Hemans. I meant to send him a Christmas present of the copy, but time flew and the world, et cetera, claimed me.
He died a few years later, but I often wonder if he has met Mrs. Hemans over there, and if so, whether the first question he asked would not be, "What did you mean by that line in your poem?"
May his soul rest in peace, and that the Pine Tree State may have many imitators of his godly life and noble one, is the prayer of your correspondent.

The Economy of a Straight Line

The National Cigar Stands Company is an easy, uninterrupted, straight-line channel between tobacco planter and cigar smoker. The tobacco makes only one stop on the way—at the factory where it is turned into cigars. It pays only one small fare for the whole trip.

It used to go in a roundabout way, from planter to leaf-broker, from broker to cigar-maker, from cigar-maker to cigar-jobber, from cigar-jobber to retailer, from retailer to you. It paid a fare—that is, another profit—at every stage.

The National Cigar Stands' plan saves four stages and four fares. That is why the cigars sold by them give

Better Cigar Values at Lower Prices Than Ever Sold Before

As examples, try any of these—selecting the cigar that best suits your taste and pocket-book:—

College Days—Fine domestic cigar - 6 for 25c
Adad—A first-class Domestic cigar representing superior workmanship - 7 for 25c
Cuba-Roma—All Cuban leaf, 8 for 25c. quality, at 5c
Black and White—10c. quality seed-and-Havana 5c
Stirling Castle—Large, plump, clear Havana 6c
La Idelia—Choice clear Havana, especially good value at 3 for 25c

Drug Stores that conduct National Cigar Stands can be distinguished by the emblem on the windows and the new, scientifically designed cigar-keeping case, with which all National Cigar Stands are equipped, and which maintains the cigars in the proper smoking condition at all times.

CASTINE.

George D. Wheeler spent Sunday in Castine.

Prof. Brastow, of Yale, occupied the pulpit at the Congregational church Sunday. It is rumored that Castine will be treated to a visit from the merry-go-round soon.

George Goodrich, a normal graduate, spent Sunday in Castine on a visit to old friends.

The schooner yacht Indra was in the harbor several days last week with a party of ladies.

Paul Wescott and son arrived Saturday for a visit to Mr. Wescott's sister, Miss Josephine Wescott.

Miss Lottie Gray, who has been in Augusta the past winter, arrived last week to visit her parents.

Miss Alice Grindle spent several days last week on a visit in the family of H. S. Jones at North Penobscot.

Mrs. Otis Parker and son Carl left last week for a visit of several weeks with Mrs. Parker's parents in Portland.

Miss Etta Vogel, who has been spending the winter and spring in Boston and vicinity, is at home for the summer.

Oliver McClintock's yacht Narcissus, which joined the eastern yacht club on the cruise ending at Bar Harbor, returned last Saturday.

The Robinson house, at the corner of Main and Court streets, has been leased for the summer to Bangor parties who will open it this week.

Mrs. Henry Chamberlain and children arrived last week for a visit of several weeks with Mrs. Chamberlain's parents, Frank Dunham and wife.

W. A. Walker is making good progress in his artesian well, but as yet has not struck water in any amount. At this writing he is down about 250 feet.

On Tuesday evening last a small party of friends was pleasantly entertained at the home of Capt. R. B. Brown, the occasion being the anniversary of Mrs. Brown's birthday.

It is understood that Jos. Peterson, druggist for W. A. Walker, has purchased a store at Stonington and will open a drug store there. There will be a clerk in charge of the store until the expiration of Mr. Peterson's engagement with Mr. Walker this fall.

The protected cruiser Maryland, with the Massachusetts naval reserves on board, appeared off the harbor entrance on Sunday, and raised the hopes of the citizens that she would come in for a day or two, but she steamed slowly past the entrance, and at last accounts was anchored about half way between Turtle Head and Northport.

Dr. J. W. Grindle will launch his new speed boat, the "i Don't No", on Tuesday. Motor boat enthusiasts are looking forward to her appearance with a great deal of interest, as she is expected to develop speed. She is built on one of the Brooks models, thirty feet long, five feet, two inches wide, and has an eighteen horsepower Tuttle engine. No pains or expense have been spared to make her the best-built boat ever going out of Castine.

SOUTHWEST HARBOR.

Miss M. A. Carroll, who has been with her sister, Mrs. Kate Stanley, for a few months, is now with her niece, Mrs. John Tinker.

Mrs. Hattie Milan Hamblen, the bride at a few weeks, is very much pleased with some lovely presents received last week from her sister "Stars" of Jephthah chapter.

The Keystone Dramatic Co. entertained good crowds at masonic hall three nights last week. Though new to the public here, the company earned the good will of those who attended.

Martin and Freeman Lurvey, of Lowell, Mass., are here for a week or two, called a little earlier than they had planned their visit by the critical illness of their sister, Mrs. Myra Walls, who is very low with heart trouble.

Capt. Clarence Hendersen, of the schooner Robert W. of Frankfort, with his father and son, was the guest of Mrs. Howard Robbins last week. The vessel loaded with stone at Hall Quarry for New Haven, Conn.

Rev. William Ramsey and family, of Hartford, Conn., will visit their summer home, "The Pointed Firs," this season, as they are making a tour of foreign lands. Mrs. Ramsey, formerly Helen Street, will be greatly missed by her many friends here.

The Congregational sewing society will hold its midsummer sale and entertainment at the two halls here Tuesday, August 7. The sale will take place in the banquet hall in the afternoon, and "Valley Farm" will be presented at masonic hall in the evening. The circle solicits aid from all interested in the work of the church.

Very rarely the fire fiend visits our town, but it got in its work of destruction last Thursday on the pretty cottage of Patrick O'Connor, which burned down. The fire broke out around the chimney, and was first discovered by Mr. O'Connor and Mr. Norris, who were at work in the hayfield nearby. Had there been a hose and hydrant in the vicinity, the house might have been saved. When the few who were fighting the flames with the means at hand found their efforts no avail, they tried to save the furnishings, and succeeded in getting most out of the things on the first floor and some of the chamber furniture, but a good many articles went to feed the flames. This is a great loss to Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, who had but recently returned from Florida, where they had spent two or three years for the benefit of Mr. O'Connor's health. They had just put their home in tidy trim for the entertainment of summer visitors who were expected to arrive in a few days. It was at first feared that the small insurance on the house had lapsed, but later accounts say the policy holds good. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, with their two children, are staying for the present with Mrs. O'Connor's sister, Mrs. Frank Norris.

Guests registered at the Claremont are: John McDonald and wife and Miss Alice McDonald, Philadelphia; R. F. Smith and wife, New York; Mrs. H. M. Kent, Miss Mary E. Simonds, Boston; Miss Edna W. WEST TREMONT.

Mrs. L. W. Rumill is at Portland hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Rev. J. P. Simonton, of Ellsworth, exchanged pulpits with Rev. A. B. Carter here Sunday. All enjoyed his excellent sermon.

Capt. Thomas Rich, schooner Commerce, got ashore at Deer Isle recently, on account of the buoy being under water. He is here now for repairs.

Mrs. M. L. Dix, who has been at work for the past month at Bar Harbor, visited last week at Mrs. A. A. Murphy's at the Sound, and came home Saturday.

The Misses Zulma, Nettie and Beatrice Lunt, of Boston, and Miss Edna and Master Rodney Lunt, of Portland, arrived Sunday to spend their vacations at the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lunt. Miss Edna and Rodney make their home with their aunt, Mrs. W. A. Clark.

Roy Eaton is employed at Stonington.

Mrs. Minnie Staples, of Swan's Island, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Thurston.

Arthur Bain and wife, of Northeast Harbor, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. Bain's parents, Daniel Dow and wife.

Mrs. Abbie N. Stanley, of Monhegan, who has been at Manset for the past two weeks, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Zulma Clark.

Beatrice Lunt returned to Boston Saturday, having spent her week's vacation at the home of her parents, G. W. Lunt and wife.

Edna S. Lunt, of Portland, who visited relatives here the past week, went to Manset Sunday. Her brother Rodney is visiting here.

Mrs. A. A. Hannah and children, of Somerville, who have been here visiting relatives the past two weeks, returned home Sunday.

Mrs. Laura Norwood and Mrs. Agnes Norwood, of Brewer, returned home last week. They visited Mrs. Maud and Mrs. Julia Webster and other relatives.

Capt. Charles Branscombe and wife, of New York, came Wednesday to visit relatives at B. B. Reed's and at Seal Cove. Capt. Branscombe has come East for his health.

Mrs. Lizzie Thurston, with her daughter Ruth, has returned from Bar Harbor, where she visited her son Eugene and wife. Mrs. Eugene Thurston and daughter came with them.

Guy Holmes, the ten-year-old son of Capt. Lewis Holmes of the schooner John B. Norris which runs as a packet between Tremont and Portland, had a narrow escape from drowning on a recent trip. The schooner put into Boothbay Harbor on account of the fog. After everything had been made snug all hands went down into the cabin leaving Guy on the deck. For a time his presence on deck was made known by his noise, and when this ceased Capt. Holmes ran on deck to look for him. He saw his son struggling in the water about thirty feet from the vessel. Fortunately the ship's boat was alongside, and jumping into it the captain reached the boy just as he had ceased his struggles. When taken from the water he showed no signs of life. Capt. Holmes rowed ashore and throwing the unconscious boy over his shoulder carried him to a doctor's office, where he was resuscitated.

Bad Breath Gives A Bad Character

In our daily intercourse with people in both social and commercial life it is absolutely essential that one's breath should be sweet and beyond criticism. For even friends cannot conceal their aversion to a foul breath.

A REASON

The Rexall Remedies have cut the running expenses of many a family in our city. Not only do they give more for the money because of their direct selling plan (only one profit between the manufacturer and yourself) but you take no chances—we take them all.

If you are troubled from any ailment whatever, tell us what it is and we will give you the particular Rexall Remedy that will benefit you. If it doesn't do all you expect of it we will refund you your money.

The United Drug Company's plan of selling their 200 Rexall Remedies, one for each ill, reduces the cost of producing; not by reducing the quality, but by cutting off all jobbers' profits and unnecessary handling. The Rexall Remedies stand for everything that is highest in pharmacy at the lowest prices.

Many of our townsmen may be suffering as was Mr. Hardwood; if so, we will gladly give them our personal guarantee that a twenty-five-cent box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will relieve them or we will refund their money.

AN ALASKAN WELCOME.

Steamer Dora With Maine Captain Back on Her Run.

The story of the eventful trip of the steamer Dora, commanded by Capt. Zemro Moore, formerly of Manset, was told in THE AMERICAN a few months ago. The many friends of the captain in Hancock county will be interested in the following sequel to the story, as told recently in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

In all the annals of the Pacific coast and of the seafarers on its beautiful and sometimes treacherous waters, none is more remarkable than the tale of the little steamer Dora, whose eventful voyage last January is still fresh in memory. The most remarkable part, however, was never told—the reception accorded to the Dora when she returned fresh from Seattle to the regular run between Alaskan ports, when her captain, "Zim" Moore, and crew were hailed as heroes—as indeed they were. The following account was written by J. E. Thwaites, postal clerk on the little steamer.

The little steamer Dora, whose terrible experience of last winter caused so much anxiety among owners of the ship and friends of the crew, recently returned to Alaska and resumed her regular trips.

Her regular route is from Valdez, Alaska, to Unalaska and Dutch Harbor, Alaska, making one round trip per month. The work of the crew in the summer is unusually pleasant, the sea being smooth and delightful.

Most of the freight, it is true, has to be landed by means of small boats, in the surf, but in the beautiful long summer days this serves as a diversion for the sailors and officers, while the magnificent panoramas of wild, barren rock coast, with lofty, snow-clad mountains rising above the clouds in the background, presents an ever-changing picture during the entire 1,300 miles of her course.

Numerous glaciers, valleys covered with cottonwood, hills clothed with spruce, with vast fields of snow beyond, please the eye for the first half of the journey. Leaving Kodiak island, however, all trees are left behind. Bold, rocky headlands, often dropping hundreds of feet, yes, thousands of feet in some cases, straight into the sea; little islands, like haystacks in shape, dotting the waters in many localities; volcanoes, with their slender columns of smoke lazily floating skyward; whales sporting themselves about the ship, and a thousand other things combine to make life one continuous round of pleasure.

But when winter approaches, all is changed. The landscape remains with its trees, its mountains and its islands; so also do the rocks remain. Things of beauty in the quiet, sparkling waters of summer, they become objects of terror on a winter's night when the wind screams through the rigging and blinding snows fill the air.

Such was the condition when the Dora was blown away from the coast by a hurricane January 1, her engine disabled, decks loaded deep with ice and her sails frozen in.

Happier were the conditions when, after nearly two long, cold wintry months, the staunch little vessel sailed proudly, though slowly, into Puget sound, just eighty-nine days from the time she started from Valdez and fifty-four days from the time she was blown from her course.

Four months after leaving Valdez for her noted drifting match, the Dora started again from Valdez to finish her voyage and deliver the freight and passengers with which she started out.

The trip was attended by many interesting incidents, chief of which were the receptions of the ship's crew by the people at the different ports along the way.

The people along the route had, for the most part, given the Dora up for lost, especially after the steamship Santa Ana and the United States steamship Itish had returned after their unsuccessful search for her.

At Kodiak the people had made preparations for a grand ball, but on hearing that their favorite little ship was supposed to be lost, all festivities were called off, prayers were offered in the church in behalf of the crew, and for weeks the town wore an air of mourning.

News of her safe arrival had preceded her, having been carried by the steamer Farallon, but although the Dora reached Kodiak in the night and it was pouring down rain, nearly the whole town flocked to the wharf to bid the crew welcome, and to congratulate them on their return.

All sorts of manifestations of emotions were to be seen. Some greeted their old friends in a hilarious manner with a shout and a hearty slap on the shoulder as they shook hands, others silently clasped each other's hands, the expression of their countenance being far more eloquent than words.

At Uyak, Chignik and other places where no news had been heard of her, the people looked, rubbed their glasses and looked again. "By George, that ship looks like the Dora," "Dora nuthin', Gimme the glass," "Must be the Excelsior," says another. "No, boys, it's either the Dora or her ghost." "Well, I'll be d—," "Thank God they were not lost, after all." And so the speculations would run until the boat cast anchor or tied up to the dock.

Unalaska was reached about noon. The whole town was in holiday garb. Flags were flying, the people all flocked to the wharf, and the children, native and white, all carried flags.

Long before the lines were made fast, men leaped over several feet of space, boarding the ship in their eagerness to clasp the hands of those they thought lost.

Even there it was found that the news had traveled ahead of the ship. A fishing schooner from San Francisco, on her way to the Bering sea, had called at Dutch Harbor, reaching there three or four days ahead of the Dora.

It was early in the night when she made the harbor. After making things fast the officers went up town and reported at the custom house, etc., after which the conversation drifted from one subject to another for perhaps an hour or two.

Some one then asked about news from the outside world. The captain replied to the effect that there was not much to relate. After speaking of a few items of ordinary interest, he casually spoke of the arrival of the Dora in Seattle and the excitement it produced.

"The Dora?" they shouted. "Is she safe?" "Why, yes, I supposed you knew that," said the captain.

A bomb exploding in their midst could hardly have caused more excitement. Every habitant present jumped to his feet and the recital of news by the captain was at an end.

A messenger was at once dispatched to Unalaska, two miles away, to notify the parents of Hugh McGlashen, one of the passengers on the long cruise. The messenger told the news to the first person he met and the word went all over town like a flash.

People were at home for the night. Most of them had retired. Mr. McGlashen said: "Some boy shoved my door open a few inches and shouted, 'The Dora's safe!' slammed the door and was gone." On down the street the boy ran, shouting the joyful news into every house as he went, the inmates of each rushing out in turn to confirm it.

Finally the lad reached the Jessie Lee home, near the end of the street, where a prayer meeting was in progress at the time.

Not stopping on ceremony, he burst into the room and yelled, "The Dora's safe!" Instantly the meeting broke up and prayer was changed into glad thanksgiving.

Everywhere along the line was heard someone to say: "I said so right along;" "I told the folks Capt. Moore would fetch the Dora back;" "So did I;" "So did I."

Mixed Wives.

In the early part of the last century there lived in an old New England town a Mr. Church, who in the course of his earthly life was bereft of four wives, all of whom were buried in the same lot. In his old age it became necessary to remove the remains to a new cemetery. This he undertook himself, but in the process the bones became hopelessly mixed.

His "New England conscience" would not allow him, under the painful circumstances, to use the original headstones, so he procured new ones, one of which bore the following inscription:

"Here lies Hannah and probably a portion of Emily."

Another:

"Sacred to the memory of Emily Church, who seems to be mixed with Matilda."

Then followed these lines:

"Stranger, pause and drop a tear. For Emily Church lies buried here. Mixed in some perplexing manner With Mary, Matilda and probably Hannah."

Stung.

In the cross examination of a woman called to the witness stand in a recent trial at Pittsburg one of the first questions put was:

"At what time of the night was it that you saw the prisoner in your room?"

"About 2 o'clock," said the witness.

"Was there a light in the room at that time?"

"No; the room was quite dark."

"Could you see your husband at your side?"

"No, sir."

"Then, madam," observed the attorney, his eye gleaming with triumph, "you will kindly explain to this intelligent jury how it was that you could see the prisoner and yet could not see your husband?"

"Because my husband was at his club," quietly responded the lady.

"More strength is lost in worry than in meeting the difficulties when they arrive."

Wigg—All his friends say he is the soul of honor. Wagg—Well, all I can say is he needs half soiling.

When a man gets a chance to dispose of his troubles he always heaps up the measure.

Willie—Have you got any more speaking tubes? Dealer—Yes, little man, several. Willie—Then just put one in our baby, 'cause he can't speak a word.

"Patching and darning as usual, are you?" said the caller. "Yes," answered Mrs. Lapsling. "I tell Samuel I save him a good deal of money by being so mendacious."

She—Did you ever see the Homer twins? He—Yes. She—Don't you think the boy is the picture of his father? Yes—and I also think the girl is the phonograph of her mother.

Mrs. Hunks—I wish you wouldn't be so positive. There are two sides to every question. Old Hunks (with a roar)—Well, that's no reason why you should always be on the wrong side!

BLUEHILL.

Henry Saunders is away on business. P. J. Gott is quite ill with a fever.

Miss Mabelle Babson is spending a week at Brooksville.

Miss Edith Eichel, of Boston, is visiting Miss Alice Mayo.

John Ralph's family returned to their home at Southwest Harbor July 15.

Mr. Walker, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, with his wife and three children, is at the Pendleton house.

A concert is to be given the evening of July 27, for the benefit of the Bluehill baseball association. Two violinists will take part—Misses Pearson and Wilson; Mrs. Bently, will sing with the accompaniment of violin, cello and piano. There will be other musical numbers and readings.

S. B. Wescott and family have the sympathy of many friends in the death of one of their household, Alva Wescott. A particularly sad feature of his death is the fact that he had about completed a new house, located near his father's, and would have been married the past spring if it had not been for his failing health. July 17. M.

THE COMING CONCERT.

Following is the programme of the concert and lecture which the members of the musical colony at Bluehill have arranged for August 3, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the improvement of the roads:

Sonata in E for violin and pianoforte.—Bach Franz Kneisel and Mrs. Thomas Tapper An Illustrated Study of American Folk-Song Mr and Mrs H E Krehbiel Intermission.

Pianoforte Solos: (a) A Bridal Procession Passing By... Grieg (b) Nocturne in D-flat... Chopin (c) Etude Mignonne... Schuett Mrs Tapper

Serenade Humeristique, on Spanish Themes, for three violins... Leonard Mr Kneisel, Mr von Theodorowicz and Miss Bach

"Angel's Serenade," with Violin Obligato, Braga Mrs Krehbiel and Mr Kneisel

At the concert given under the same auspices for the same purpose last summer, over $600 was realized, and a model piece of road was constructed near Parker Point. Much good is expected to follow the excellent example which has thus been set.

The affair is a happy blending of art, instruction and philanthropy. Mr. Krehbiel's lecture is one that in a more extended form he has delivered in scores of cities, and has for its purpose not only to exhibit the beauty of the music which has grown up among the negroes of America, but also to point out its peculiarities of structure—peculiarities which differentiate it from the folk-music of European peoples.

Mrs. Krehbiel will sing Foster's "Old Kentucky Home", to illustrate the spirit of art-song which is based on the songs which are not composed, but made by the common people themselves, and half a dozen slave and creole songs from her husband's collection.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, the Great Master, in His infinite wisdom, has removed from our lodge Brother Hollis H. Smith, while we bow in submission to the divine power, be it

Resolved, That Bluehill lodge, No. 79, I. O. O. F., has lost a worthy member, a young man of sterling integrity and honest purpose; he will be greatly missed in our lodge, and in the town in which he lived.

Resolved, That to the aged sorrowing father and mother, and to the sister we extend our tenderest sympathy. May He who said "I will not leave you comfortless" comfort them in their affliction.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to THE ELLSWORTH AMERICAN for publication, one sent to the parents of our deceased brother, and a copy spread upon the records of our lodge.
