The county commissioners in session in Ellsworth this week made final report on the location of street lines in Bluehill village. Last spring the commissioners were petitioned to fix bounds of streets in the village, about which question had arisen. A surveyor was put on by the commissioners and ran the lines. There was no material change in lines.

The officers and members of Nokomis Rebekah lodge sewing circle met at Odd Fellows hall Monday afternoon and elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: Zilpha M. Orcutt, president and treasurer; Grace C. Eldridge, vice-president; circle committee, Louise Woodward, Minnie Osgood, Ophelia Gould, Amanda Leland. The Helpsomehow society was delightfully entertained by Miss Carrie Russell at her home on Lincoln street last evening. A large number attended, and the evening passed very quickly. Various games were enjoyed, after which delicious refreshments were served. Plans were made in the business session to assist in the roll-call and annual church supper next Tuesday evening, to which the society is looking forward with much anticipation. C. S. Donnell, Misses Winnie Southard and Carrie Estey were appointed a committee on nominations for officers at the next meeting, which is to be held with Mrs. Rodney Higgins, Dec. 18. After music by the company, the meeting adjourned.

There was a hearing before Justice L. A. Emery in the supreme court yesterday, on petition for dissolution of injunction. The petitioners were Herbert L. Cleaves and Mr. Young, of Sullivan, and the injunction was defended by Dwight Braman. Some time ago Mr. Braman, who owns the Manor Inn property at Sullivan, built fences along the road leading to the inn, and erected stone pillars, claiming to own the land over which the road ran. Messrs. Cleaves and Young claimed they owned the land, and took steps for the removal of the fences and stone pillars. Mr. Braman obtained an injunction restraining them. The hearing yesterday was on the petition for dissolution of this injunction. Considerable evidence was taken. L. B. Deasy appears for the petitioners, and B. E. Clark for Mr. Braman.

Giles, of Ellsworth, manager, is 100 feet square, with boiler house 30x40 feet, constructed of brick and cement at a cost of $4,000. This mill is furnished with three 6x18 boilers and one Corliss-Atlas 325-horse-power engine. The engine room is 20x50 feet. The plant is lighted with electric lights. The electric plant was installed at an expense of $2,000. The main building is built of wood on concrete piers, and contains one rotary, five stove machines, heading machines, planer, two cut-off saws, trimmers, wood carrier, sawdust carriers. The company manufactures long lumber, laths, shingles, staves and headings. It has twin haul-up slips in order to accommodate the taking of logs and stave wood at the same time, with a sawing capacity of 600,000 feet per week. The mill employs ninety men with a weekly pay roll of $1,200. On an average it will saw 50,000 staves per week, and with its fine power is well claimed to be the best mill in the State."

Francis Captured To-Day.

Francis, the escaped convict, was captured north of Bangor to-day. His feet were badly frozen, and he was unable to go further.

BRAVE BLUEHILL WOMAN.

Wife of Capt. McGuire, of Schooner Gold Hunter, Saved Vessel.

From Machias comes a story of the saving of the little Bluehill schooner Gold Hunter in which the bravery of Capt. Frank McGuire's wife played a large part. The Gold Hunter, with Capt. McGuire, his wife and one man left Portland on Saturday, Nov. 10, with a general cargo for Machias. Sunday she was making good progress with clear weather until 4 o'clock in the afternoon when it braced up from the northwest while the vessel was off Petit Manan light.

A sudden gust of wind split the main-sail of the Gold Hunter and carried away the jibs. Without her headsails the little schooner became unmanageable. The sea made up rapidly, and the vessel was continually smothered in the wash of the combers.

Mrs. McGuire was below preparing supper, but when she felt the craft fall rapidly off to leeward she rushed up on deck and took the wheel while her husband and his one-man crew worked to bend on a foresail.

The two men labored for hours to get their little rag of sail set, while Mrs. McGuire, lashed to the wheel, aided as well as she could by what little steering was possible on the almost helpless craft. Finally a foresail was rigged, double-reefed, and while the two men clung exhausted to the mast, Mrs. McGuire brought the vessel around to the wind and held her there for forty-eight hours.

Before the fury of the gale the vessel drifted out to sea for ninety-six miles off Mt. Desert Rock. In all this time it was impossible to cook food or even to heat up any coffee, for the cook stove could not be kept on its foundation on account of the violent pitching of the schooner. Kept up only by excitement and her pluck, the captain's wife clung to her post through the height of the gale while Capt. McGuire and his man attended to their little storm-sail which continually broke from its insecure fastenings. It was a man's work at the wheel, with the helm "kicking" strongly to the wild plunges of the vessel, but Mrs. McGuire was equal to the test, and she stood her "trick" with the men.

Wednesday the gale abated, and the two men rigged temporary sails before Mrs. McGuire could be relieved from her post. All hands were exhausted with their struggles and exposure, and under such scanty canvas as could be set it was hard and slow work bringing the Gold Hunter into Machias.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

Topic for the week ending Dec. 3. V. S. H. DOYLE. Cowardice is a common name for a cowardly man. It is a name that is given to a man who is afraid to stand for his principles. It is a name that is given to a man who is afraid to stand for his principles.

But there is usually a great difference between what we should choose and what we do choose. No one will praise cowardice, yet many become its victims when put to a severe test. Moreover, there are many who possess physical courage who are moral cowards.

In the world's broad field of battle, in the bivouac of life, be not like dumb, driven cattle; be a hero in the strife. Our only fear should be fear of displeasing or disobeying God.

BIBLE READINGS. Deut. xxxi, 6; Josh. i, 6, 7; Judg. iv, 14-16; vii, 15-23; II Sam. x, 9-13; II Chron. ix, 8-11; Ezek. x, 1-4; Isa. xli, 8, 7; Dan. vi, 10-23; Heb. xi, 32-40.

Christian Endeavor in Ceylon. Christian Endeavor work in Ceylon was thus described by the Rev. Bruce Etherington, a Baptist missionary, while he was recently visiting his home in England, says a correspondent of the London Christian Endeavor Times: "I am glad to say," said the missionary, "that Christian Endeavor is especially prosperous in Ceylon and has seemed from the first to be admirably suited to the native character and taste.

There is one form of missionary endeavor which deserves special mention. I refer to the Lanka Mission society. Lanka means Ceylon. This society was founded by the native churches as their own missionary agency. Our native converts are now supporting a native missionary and will soon add another.

There is now a Christian Endeavor union in Ceylon, including Baptists, Presbyterians and Wesleyans. The American Christian Endeavor societies have recently joined in with the others to strengthen this union. The latter are the most powerful, for they have used Christian Endeavor with great energy.

REV. BRUCE ETHERINGTON.

Mutual Benefit Column.

Its motto: "Helpful and Helpful."

The purpose of this column is to be a mutual benefit, and thus to be helpful and helpful. It is for the common good. It is for the common good. It is for the common good.

Dear Mutuals: The poem is sort of a chapter two of last week's thought, and will perhaps be a reminder of one or two resolutions I hope we made when we read the former one.

A. M. Y. comes first with a correction in the "bran bun" recipe. It should read one cup white flour instead of two.

Dear Aunt Madge: Some time ago Sister B asked for the recipe for raisin filling. I've delayed too long before sending it. Hope it will be received for Thanksgiving: One cup sugar, one-third cup water, bring to boiling point, add one cup seeded raisins chopped, cook a very little, take from the stove.

I am very anxious to have my pin, and hope to call on you soon and get it. I am going to have the one you think the prettiest, so have it ready. Kind regards to all.

I shall be very glad to see you, but I have not ordered any pins yet. I have been waiting to see how many will be wanted, as they will be made to order.

Since attending the reunion and meeting so many I feel that I am "really and truly" one of you, and now the dreary days have come (which affect me unpleasantly) it is a pleasure and help to live it over again in memory. It was all very enjoyable, the long ride, the call at Dell's to inquire the way.

On our return trip to Massachusetts the sail to Rockland through the islands on a beautiful morning was charming. We visited in Kennebunkport, one of the prettiest places on the Maine coast, "Blowing Cove" was at its best.

CHOCOLATE PUDDING—One egg, one-half cup sugar, one cup flour, one-half cup milk, one square chocolate melted with one teaspoon butter, one teaspoon baking powder. Steam one hour and fifteen minutes. Serve with whipped cream or any pudding sauce preferred.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Albans, Vt., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment, but grew steadily worse, until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say three bottles effected a complete cure."

CRISIS OF GIRLHOOD

A TIME OF PAIN AND PERIL. Miss Emma Cole Says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Saved Her Life and Made Her Well.

How many lives of beautiful young girls have been sacrificed just as they were ripening into womanhood! How many irregularities or displacements have been developed at this important period, resulting in years of suffering!

A mother should come to her child's aid at this critical time and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: I want to tell you that I am enjoying better health than I have for years, and I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When fourteen years of age I suffered almost constant pain, and for two or three years I had sores and pain in my side, headaches and was dizzy and nervous, and doctors all failed to help me.

stop writing, wishing you all a happy holiday season. EUNICE. A note from M. A. B. relating to a pin, says: "It was kind of you to think of my escaping the storm, but I did not. I am still in Maine as you see and very 'still', too, for I am all alone at home. Love to all."

Alexia, I also received yours. Am glad you too are interested in the pins. I hope some time you will meet many if not all of the sisters, and Aunt Madge, too, for she is always glad to make the acquaintance personally of the nieces.

Dear Aunt Madge and Sisters: The summer is past and a large slice of winter has dropped down at our doors, reminding us that Christmas is coming, but there, most of us have been plying our needles for weeks, as that is the usual first present to be thought of. I regret that I have no grandchildren, but then there are lots willing to be called our grandchildren at this time.

Now a word to the Johns. Last Christmas my John brought in a large willow rocker and said: "This is for the kitchen." Of course I wanted to take it straight to the parlor, but he said no. So it has remained right before our eyes ever since, and oh, the comfort there has ever enjoyed in it. By the aid of a little crash I have kept it clean so that it looks almost as nice as new.

L. E. T., of Lynn, has made her yearly visit to Maine. I spent a pleasant half day with her. The M. B. got talked of, you bet. Jennie visited last week almost to my door, but on account of the big snow storm I did not see her. She has had luck visiting Surry in storms.

To those who have to pick fowl for Thanksgiving let me say, just as soon as the heads are cut off, throw them into a pail of cold water, colder the better, we use ice, take out as soon as dead and they pick far better than if scalded, and look as well as if picked dry; we have so picked hundreds. Just try it; they warm right up as soon as taken from the water; don't kill but one at a time unless you have more than one picker. DELL.

W. C. T. U. Column. [The editor invites secretaries of local unions of the W. C. T. U. in Hancock county, and white-bibbons generally, to contribute to this column reports of meetings or items that will be of interest to workers in other parts of the county. We would like this to be a live column, but it needs some effort on the part of W. C. T. U. women to make it so. It is a column of their making, not ours, and will be what they make it. Items and communications should be short, and are, of course, subject to approval of the editor.]

SOUTHWEST HARBOR Y'S. The Y's will meet at the home of the president, Miss Marie Sawyer, Friday, Nov. 30. A Thanksgiving programme is being prepared. PRESS COR. Among the Grangers.

This column is devoted to the Grange, especially to the granges of Hancock county. The column is open to all grangers for the discussion of topics of general interest, and for reports of grange meetings. Make letters short and concise. All communications must be signed, but names will not be printed except by permission of the writer.

In response to inquiry from many grangers throughout the county, THE AMERICAN has decided to establish a grange column as a regular feature of the paper each week. This column will be devoted primarily to the granges of Hancock county. The interest of grangers throughout the county is solicited. A letter to secretaries of all granges in the county has met with such immediate and hearty response, that we feel that the success of the column is assured, for on the interest of the grangers themselves depends its success.

HANCOCK POMONA GRANGE. On Saturday, Dec. 8, Hancock county Pomona grange will meet with Narramissic grange at Orland for a grand union. The home grange will furnish a baked bean supper and the trimmings, while the visitors are expected to bring cake or pastry.

GREEN MOUNTAIN POMONA. Green Mountain Pomona will meet with John Dority grange Friday, Dec. 7. The programme follows: Call to order, fifth degree Reading minutes of last meeting Address of welcome, Master of John Dority grange Response.....A. G. Emery, Bay View grange Report of committee; unfinished business; new business; report of granges What are the advantages and disadvantages in co-operative stores connected with our granges? The Monhegan also makes a trip Wednesday night from Portland, going only as far as Rockland, returning to Portland Thursday.

The other day a man and a boy came into a shop to buy a hat. After a time the man was fitted to one. Looking in the glass he said to the youngster, "How do I look in this hat?" "Like a thief," promptly replied the boy. The man angrily darted towards him, but the boy fled from the shop pursued by the man. The shopkeeper laughed and thought it all very funny until their prolonged absence made him realize that he had been robbed. Then he stopped laughing.

COUNTY NEWS

WEST HANCOCK. IN MEMORIAM.

The death of Lena Joy McFarland on the evening of Nov. 17, as briefly recorded in THE AMERICAN of last week, cast a deep gloom over the entire neighborhood, and also in Franklin, her former home, where she had many warm friends.

Mrs. McFarland had been in failing health for some time, but by reason of her strong will, had only been confined to her bed a few weeks. The devoted husband, who was constantly with her, and the sister who had been a faithful and loving attendant during the past few months, also the relatives and friends who did everything possible to alleviate her sufferings, could not realize they must part with her—that this sweet, young life had already passed beyond them. Just before the end came she said to her husband, with a smile of ineffable joy: "Do not weep for me; I am ready and so happy." Her last words were: "They have come to take me over." Then she fell asleep to wake in that land where there is no sorrow.

Mrs. McFarland was born in Winter Harbor, Nov. 25, 1884, the daughter of Sanford and Nellie Emerson Joy. At the death of her mother when she was about nine years of age, she was adopted by Samuel Springer and wife, of Franklin, with whom she lived until her marriage to Irving M. McFarland in November, 1903. Since that time she had made her home in Hancock.

One child was born to them, which gladdened their hearts but one short week. Mrs. McFarland was of a lovable disposition, which won for her many true friends who will miss her sadly, but are the better for having known her. To the companion who will so deeply feel the loss of a devoted wife, to the father and sisters, Misses Stella, Amy and Nellie, of Winter Harbor, to the foster mother and sisters, who regarded her as their own, deepest sympathy is extended.

Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday. A large number of friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect. Rev. J. P. Simonton, of Ellsworth, officiated. Three selections were sung by a quartette composed of Mrs. J. P. Eldridge, Miss Bertha L. Giles, J. A. Cunningham and O. W. Tapley, of Ellsworth. The pall bearers were Sherman McFarland and Watson K. Springer, of Hancock, Victor R. Smith, of Northeast Harbor, and Fred Moore, of Ellsworth Falls.

"Sometime, when all life's lessons have been learned, And sun and stars forevermore have set, The things which our weak judgment here has spared, The things o'er which we grieve with lashes wet, Will rise before us out of life's dark night, As stars shine most in deeper tints of blue, And we shall see how all God's plans are right, And how, what seemed reproof, was love most true." Nov. 24. A FRIEND.

Some Ellsworth People Fully Realize it Now.

When the back aches from kidney ills, When urinary troubles annoy you, There's a certain way to find relief; A sure way to be cured.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do it. Ellsworth people endorse this claim.

Ralph T. Young, farmer, living at the Birch Tree Farm, on the Partridge Cove Road, one and a half miles north of Lamoinie, Me., says: "Before I used Doan's Kidney Pills in the spring of 1902 I had so severe an attack of backache that I could hardly move about without suffering severe twinges of pain. I think it was caused by a cold which seated itself in my kidneys. I had read about Doan's Kidney Pills and heard a number of people speak highly of them and I procured a box at Moore's drug store in Ellsworth. The treatment brought me prompt relief, and I continued to use this remedy with increasing benefit until completely relieved. Since then I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many of my friends, and in all cases they report the most beneficial results."

The largest and most interesting convention of Hancock county school teachers which has been held for years, assembled at Hancock hall, Ellsworth, Friday and Saturday of last week.

The registration at the opening session passed the century mark, and the total registration was about 130. Many in attendance did not register. The people of Ellsworth showed their interest by turning out to the meetings in generous numbers, especially at the Friday evening session.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

The convention was called to order at 1:15 o'clock Friday afternoon by Principal W. H. Dresser, of the Ellsworth high school. After prayer by Rev. P. A. A. Killam, Mr. Dresser gave a few words of welcome. Miss Wilhelmina Frost was appointed secretary pro tem.

The chairman was empowered to appoint committees on nominations, resolutions and constitution, which later in the afternoon he announced as follows: Nominations—O. L. Flye, Brooklin; Miss Nellie M. Miss Mary H. Black, of Ellsworth, read an excellent paper on the importance of geography in the primary school, and Miss Willia S. Frost, of Ellsworth, conducted a fourth grade class in arithmetic, the little ones doing remarkably well.

Clerk of Courts John F. Knowlton, in a ten-minute talk, expressed appreciation of the work being done by teachers.

Principal Dresser gave a few parting words, and the convention closed. The time and place for the next convention were not decided upon, being left to the executive committee and officers.

FRIDAY EVENING.

There was a good attendance at the Friday evening meeting, citizens of Ellsworth turning out quite generously. Music was furnished by a double quartette from the high school.

Payson Smith, superintendent of schools of Auburn, delivered an unusually strong paper on "The Relation of Home and School", giving many new thoughts on this much discussed question.

State Superintendent Stetson spoke in his usual happy manner. He called attention to what he considered errors in present school methods, and pointed the way to correction of many of them. He laid particular emphasis on the fallacy of devoting too much time to books, cramming the pupils through a prescribed course of study, and not studying each child individually and developing the best in that child by directing its course along lines toward which the best in the child was naturally bent.

SATURDAY FORENOON.

The Saturday forenoon session opened with a business meeting. The old constitution of the association was adopted without amendment.

The following resolutions were adopted: Resolved, That we, the members of the Hancock County Teachers' Association, hereby extend our thanks to the city government of Ellsworth for the use of Hancock hall, and to the citizens for their cordial welcome. Resolved, That we extend our thanks to the Maine Central railroad for services granted. Resolved, That thanks are due to those gentlemen whose efforts have made this convention possible. Resolved, That we express our appreciation of the help of all who have contributed to the success of these meetings.

THE GYPSY MOTH.

Facts About the Pest Which Now Threatens Maine.

With the report that the gypsy moth has made its way over the boundary line of the State, and there seems to be little doubt that the report is correct, the people of Maine are confronted with a pest compared with the ravages of which those of the brown-tail moth are reduced to the minimum, for while the latter attacks only certain kinds of vegetation, the gypsy moth attacks and destroys everything in sight in the line of vegetation, including nearly every useful grass, plant, flower, garden or field crop, fruit, shade or forest tree which grows in the State, and is a menace to the agriculture, horticulture and forestry of the entire country. This moth is considered the most fearful insect pest in America.

The department of agriculture is making preparations for conducting some thorough work in York county, where the presence of the moth is reported, with a view to heading it off at the point where it has commenced its inroad, and if possible to check it before it has a chance to spread to other localities, and no pains will be spared to make the investigation complete in every detail. Prof. E. F. Hitchings will conduct the work, and it is hoped that the pest can be halted and destroyed where it is.

In connection with the above following description of the pest may be timely. The appearance of the male and female of the gypsy moth is very different, for while the female is about two inches across the wings and of a grayish white in color, with black markings on the wings, the male is smaller and blackish brown in color, with black markings on the wings. The body of the female is light buff and that of the male black and brown. The female of the gypsy moth, however, can readily be distinguished from other white or whitish winged moths of similar size by the fact that, though she often flutters her wings, she never really flies.

The eggs of the moth are laid in August and in clusters of 500 or more, and are deposited upon trees, shrubs, boulders, in rubbish heaps and many other situations, and as they are laid the female mixes and covers them with down from her body and finally moulds them into a cluster. These egg clusters ordinarily resemble to the eye and touch small, silk-like cushions of a bright buff or "sponge" color, but they are sometimes bleached nearly white or stained quite dark by the weather. When examined closely they are not easily mistaken. The lives of both the male and female moths are very brief, the female dying soon after she has laid her eggs.

The egg clusters remain where they are formed through the winter and the greater part of the spring, hatching into caterpillars in May. These are very small on hatching, but grow rapidly and feed upon whatever vegetation is at hand. As they grow they periodically shed their skins, and about the middle of July many of them have attained a length of about two inches, while others are larger or smaller. About the last week in July the bulk of the caterpillars have changed into the pupa or chrysalis form, in which they remain about two weeks before changing into winged moths. During the first half of August the bulk of the moths crawl from the pupa skins or "cases", leaving them hanging empty. Then the female lays her eggs, and having completed her mission, dies.

Gypsy moth caterpillars of any age are decidedly hairy. When first hatched the bodies of the tiny caterpillars are quite light in color, but in a few hours they darken to a brownish or grayish hue. The head of the caterpillar is large in proportion to the body, this being especially noticeable when the caterpillars are small. The gypsy moth caterpillar is easily identified by a double row of blue spots followed by a double row of crimson spots, for no caterpillar in New England except the one in question is spotted with blue and crimson. It should be remembered, however, that the gypsy moth caterpillars when quite young and small appear to the ordinary observer to be unspotted, and until they grow the length of an inch and a half they do not always show the crimson and blue spots very distinctly.

Many a man has made a fortune to gratify other men's curiosity.

A colored preacher made the following announcement from his pulpit: "The slidin' elder will open a distracted meetin' in the house endurin' of las' Sunday in May, if Providence is willin' and de weather permits; if not, den de nex' Sunday weather or no."

A few days ago two men were in Smith's barber shop. One had red hair and the other was bald-headed. Red Hair (to bald head)—You were not around when they were giving out hair? Bald Head—Yes, I was there; but they only had red hair left and I wouldn't take it.

The Original Porous Plaster. It's Alcock's, first introduced to the people sixty years ago, and to-day undoubtedly has the largest sale of any external remedy—millions being sold annually throughout the whole civilized world. There have been imitations, to be sure, but never has there been one to even compare with Alcock's—the world's standard external remedy.

For a weak back, cold on the chest or any local pain, the result of taking cold or overstrain, there's nothing we know of to compare with this famous plaster.

ELLSWORTH MARKETS.

Thanksgiving Display—Turkeys Are from 27 to 30 Cents.

This is Thanksgiving week, and the Ellsworth markets make attractive displays, with turkey the king. Turkeys range from 27 to 30 cents. There is also a special showing of green stuff for Thanksgiving, including cucumbers and other "unseasonable" delicacies. Eggs are only 45 cents a dozen, with little prospect that even the passing of Thanksgiving will knock the price down below 40 cents. Butter remains high and scarce.

Why the Cabbage Was Stringy.

George Brown was very fond of cold cabbage and one day, seeing that quite a dishful was left after dinner, asked his wife to save it for his salad at night. About midnight George came home laboring under a stress of heavy weather. Feeling hungry and thinking of the cabbage, he asked his wife where it was. She replied, "In the pantry on the shelf."

Down he went, got the cabbage and ate it all. In the morning his wife noticed the cabbage where she had left it, and asked George why he didn't eat it.

"I did," he said, "but didn't like it very well; it was tough and stringy."

"But here is the cabbage," said his wife, then with another look at the shelf, "Oh, you have eaten 20 worth of lace collars and cuffs that I had put in starch; stringy cabbage, indeed!"

The above ad. was written and published several years ago. It will bear repeating now, a little ahead of the times then, but never mind. I have always been ahead of the times, and I hope so to continue. It is much better to be in the lead. This is why I have such a good business, and if every Ellsworth business man will join hands with his neighbor and work to make Ellsworth a prosperous and beautiful city—not only a business centre, but also a fine summer resort—the happy result will soon follow.

Every business man, wake up and join the new Board of Trade; contribute your mite financially and sentimentally, and hustle for Ellsworth. Let the local editors also wake up and talk something besides politics and the Sturgis bill; say some good things about Ellsworth, once in a while; put some new energy into your paper.

When your Watch Stops

You cannot make it go by shaking it. When the bowels are constipated you can disturb them with cathartics but, like the watch, they will not be able to do their allotted work until they are put into proper condition to do it.

One cannot mend a delicate piece of mechanism by violent methods, and the use of pills, salts, castor-oil and strong cathartic medicines is the violent method. The use of the herb tonic laxative, is the method adopted by intelligent people.

Lane's Family Medicine

Headache, backache, indigestion, constipation, skin diseases—all are benefited immediately by the use of this medicine.

Druggists sell it at 25c. and 50c.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.
Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.
Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.
Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters By Using Pe-ru-na.

"I Attribute my Extreme Old Age to the Use of Pe-ru-na."

In speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says: "After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.
"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 117 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.
"I have always been a very healthy man, but, of course, subject to the affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature. During my long life I have known a great many remedies for coughs, colds and diarrhoea.
"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only, reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.
"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it keeps me in good appetite; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things which I need medicine.
"When epidemics of the grippe began to make their appearance in the country I was a sufferer from the disease.
"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that the grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for the grippe and found it to be just the thing.
In a later letter, Mr. Brock writes: "I am well and feeling as well as have for years. The only thing that bothers me is my sight. If I could see better I could walk all over the farm and it would do me good. I would not be without Peruna."
Yours truly,
Isaac Brock.

Mr. Isaac Brock, 117 Years Old Last Birthday.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 117 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.
Some time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture, holding in his hand a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson. Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 117 years ago.

Born before the United States were formed.
Saw 22 Presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shod a horse when 99 years old.
Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na.
Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.
Believes Pe-ru-na the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal troubles.

STOMACH'S IMPORTANCE

How to Strengthen it so That It Will Act as It Should.

To enjoy both health and happiness it is absolutely necessary that the stomach and digestive organs should be strong enough to properly digest the food. If they are weak and inactive, the body will soon be in a state of semi-starvation.

Nothing equals Mi-o-na stomach pills in giving strength and tone to the whole digestive system. Use this remedy for a few days, and you will find the appetite keen, the digestion prompt, no nausea or distress after eating, sleeplessness, no nervousness and backaches and headaches that are direct results of a weakened stomach will soon be overcome.

Ask G. A. Parcher to show you a guarantee which he gives with every 50 cent box of Mi-o-na. It is the remedy he has enough faith in to guarantee.
