THE PRISON BILL

Would Create a Commission of State Penal Institutions.

An Augusta despatch says: The much talked of bill to abolish the State Prison Commission is expected to come into the Legislature within the week.

Instead of taking the form which has been expected of returning to the old system of having the warden of the State Prison appointed by the governor with the approval of the executive council, it will provide for a Commission of State Penal Institutions.

This Commission will be given charge of the State Prison at Thomaston, and the State Reformatory for Men at South Windham and State Reformatory for Women at Skowhegan, substituting a single board of five for the three prison commissioners and the five trustees for the Men's Reformatory and five trustees of the Women's Reformatory. In this way five persons would take the place of 13 and the advocates of the bill say that it would prevent a great deal of confusion, as their duties are along the same general lines.

It is understood that the bill will be presented by Senator Perkins of Penobscot. The delay in its presentation is understood to be due largely to the attitude of members of the Knox County delegation who were strong at the outset for a return to the old system with the appointment of warden by the Governor but are said to be coming around to the consolidated commission plan.

This consolidated commission plan is understood to be one which would be satisfactory to Governor Brewster and members of the Executive Council and also to those who see in the appointment of a warden by the Governor a possible return of State Prison management to politics.

The present Board of Prison Commissioners includes Henry H. Hastings of Bethel, Charles S. Hichborn of Augusta and Phineas H. Gay of Newcastles.

BUTLER A POOR GUESSER

The prediction by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, that 1928 would mark the eclipse of President Coolidge was fulfilled Monday night at the annual dinner of the Vermont Society in the Hotel Plaza, New York. "Mr. Butler should be an expert on eclipses through personal experience," said Walter C. Low, president of the Society, "but he is all wrong about Coolidge. The politicians who say that Coolidge is as cold as the ice of his native state will find that he is hot stuff and will burn their fingers when they try to break him." President Coolidge sent his greetings to the 300 men and women who attended the dinner.

DOGS RIDE FREE

A stray dog's credit is always good for a taxicab ride in Chicago. When ever a homeless pup is found, wandering around the city, cab drivers are authorized to pick it up and take it to the home of the Anti-Cruelty Society, which will pay the taxi bill. Several scores of friendless and hungry dogs are taken thus each year to the home, most of them discovered by kindly folk and committed to a taxi driver to be taken to the humane headquarters. But most of the dogs, drivers say, like the cabs so well that they hesitate to leave them even for a permanent home.

A CHARMING NEW "FOODLAND"

The Remodelled Perry Market Will Be Open To Public Saturday Afternoon—Many Gifts To Be Had.

With the opening of the doors of the M. B. & C. O. Perry Market, better known as Perry's Foodland, at 130 Saturday afternoon this community is to be given a genuine thrill for the perfection and the scale on which the remodelled Foodland is laid out is a revelation. A well known authority on marketing methods over the country was interviewed by a Courier-Gazette reporter giving an inspection of the store yesterday, and stated emphatically that no retail market in any city, bar none, possessed more modern or complete equipment or more sanitary and efficient arrangements.

The alterations and enlargements which have brought the store to its present condition began the day after Thanksgiving and in these intervening weeks and months a large crew has been constantly employed. The interior arrangements have been almost entirely renewed, the work being so carried on however that the daily routine would go forward unhampered. The greatest changes however have taken place in the large three-story addition, entirely unknown to the casual passer. The store was first opened May 10, 1919 and its growth has been steady. On Jan. 1, 1925 it went on a cash and carry basis to such good effect that a very much larger plant at this time was imperative. Coupled with their increased facilities comes a service of such quality as was never approached or possible before. Rockland can justly be proud as it inspects this splendid plant Saturday.

As one enters from Main street he finds on his right hand the fruit and vegetable counters with rank on rank of all the handsome fruits and vegetables obtainable. The counter arrangement allows the customer storage of a large quantity of the articles in full view of the customer and for easy and efficient access by the clerks in charge.

Next on the right comes the butter, eggs and cheese counter backed on the Limerock street side by a handsome new oak plate glass and nickel refrigerator. The counter and refrigerator with their tempting wares are kept cooled to a constant temperature of 35 deg. by the huge plant in the basement.

During the past year the Perrys have made a marked success of their fish department and that is located next to the butter and egg counter on the Limerock street side. This counter is cooled with ice as the sea products thrive best so. A complete line of fresh fish of all kinds, lobsters and crabs is obtainable, the dressing tables and sals being located in the basement. The counter is immaculate at all times.

Turning to the right is the delicatessen department, complete in every detail. Next moving up the "horseshoe" or great central counter, back toward the end of the main aisle, the front of the horseshoe is given over to the fancy staks and choice cuts, all arranged of course in trays in the refrigerated counters. The northern side of the horseshoe is given over to chops and roasts displayed to great advantage.

Midway down each side of the horseshoe are wrapping counters where all the parcels are wrapped quickly and easily by means of all the latest devices along that line. White porcelain Dayton scales are in use everywhere.

Across the entire rear wall extends a white and oak partition with a great gold leaf "Foodland" midway. Windows from the office on the mezzanine floor look down on the store proper and under the office is a general passageway communicating with the rear section, with all counters and with the Limerock street loading door.

Now the visitor enters the new building and sees a lofty room 23x52. It is separated by automatic fire doors arranged that a small breath of flame or heat will cause them to close on all floors. The main room contains a large landing platform where the most of the merchandise is received and from which it is distributed as needed. A track with a scale allows meats to be transported directly to the cold box and an elevator connects this platform with the other two floors. One side of the room is occupied by the meat cutters and there is storage space at the other end, 300 square feet in all.

The cooler naturally claims attention next and it is well worth a visit. Outside and inside it is of water-proofed concrete and the space between the heavy walls is filled with cork, the best known construction. The room as entered from this floor is light, sweet smelling and immaculate. The floor is carpeted in saw-dust and of handling a full carload of beef. The center is held by the long poultry racks and the western side by the all metal shelving for all cuts of meats. The northern end is claimed by three great corned meat tanks as fine as the country affords where the meat is at all times floating in the liquid which can be drained by the turn of a valve. This method will produce the best possible corned meats. The temperature is at all times kept at 33 degrees.

The upper floor of the same size is reached by elevator and used entirely for storage of dry groceries. The lower floor is of equal size and provides a chance for trucks to drive directly into the building and unload vegetables into the vegetable cooler which is fronted by a large glass cooler on the main floor. This fruit and vegetable cooler is of course kept at a somewhat warmer temperature. Adjoining this is the 15x15 foot freezer, a room whose temperature is kept constantly at only 15 degrees above zero. In this chilly atmosphere the reporter saw a great pile of hams, 4018 pounds to be exact and learned that they were ageing for Easter. Hams like other well-known products, require ageing to be prime. This process was never possible here without the result of an extraordinary dry conducted by Alden Ulmer, Jr., in the closing hours.

The best of feeling was shown by the contestants and there was not the slightest intimation of the

The next trip is to the old basement where is housed the heating plant in a brick room. A very large storage space for dry groceries and the big new refrigerating plant. It is what is known as a 7 1/2 ton machine, developing refrigeration equal to that caused by the melting of 7 1/2 tons of ice daily. It is the largest cooling plant east of Portland. It was installed by the experts from the Automatic Refrigerating Co. and is entirely automatic in action. Gas masks and first aid kits are handy in case accident should ever befall the big machine. The plant serves the three coolers and all the counters in the main store as well.

The whole store comprises 4,140 square feet of floor space and every foot is scientifically utilized. The display windows on the Main street side and the 14-foot display on the Limerock street side have been rearranged for display of goods.

Maurice B. Perry laid out the plant, the carpentering was done by Everett L. Spear & Co., W. H. Glover Co. and Lewis Rokes and the decorating and painting by E. H. Orie. There are 14 employees at the store at the present time.

STRAND THEATRE
Today is the last opportunity to see an unusual double feature program, "Fools of Fashion," starring Mae Busch and Marcellus Day, and "The Fighting Cheat" with Wally Wallace.

"Pleasures of the Rich" is the feature at the Strand Friday and Saturday. It gives in detail the trials and tribulations of a self-made man and his family who make an effort to get into that social sphere where money means pleasures of all sorts. Helene Chadwick does some very excellent acting and Jack Mulhall as the youthful son of a socially prominent family gives a very creditable performance. A feature of the entertainment is a fashion display of the latest in midday's wearing apparel worn by some very beautiful manikins.—adv.

PARK THEATRE
John Gilbert in "Barclays in the Magnificent" will have his last showing today.

"An Affair of the Follies," film version of "The Fish" magazine story, "Here You're Brother," comes Friday and Saturday. Billie Dove appears as the famous Broadway dancer who marries a clerk and tries to adjust herself to living on a small income. Lloyd Hughes is the husband and if you see the millionaire who admires the dancer.

The other feature is "War Paint," with Tim McCoy and Pauline Starke. "War Paint" is a thrilling drama of the eighties when a general spirit of restlessness pervaded the Indian tribes of the Far West. More than five hundred red Indians take part in the picture, most of which was filmed on location in Wyoming.—adv.

FAITH ULMER WINS CROWN

Attractive Rockland Maiden Scores Victory In the Rockland Band's Popularity Contest.

The popularity contest conducted in connection with the Indoor Bazaar given under the auspices of the Rockland Band, resulted in a very substantial victory for Miss Faith Ulmer, who had a plurality of 154,035 in a vote which reached the amazing total of 7,616,725.

The polls closed promptly at 9:30 Tuesday night, and when the great mass of votes was dumped on the table in front of the committee, the members of the latter were confronted by a task which lasted until 1:15 yesterday morning. On that committee, as it was then composed, were Judge Frank B. Miller, Milton M. Griffin, William A. Sullivan, Leon J. White, Thomas Fleming and Dick Reed. Kenneth V. White and Robert A. Webster, who had been members of the original committee, were compelled to withdraw because they were otherwise occupied.

The final tally stood:
Faith Ulmer ..... 1,556,099
Maxine Boyd ..... 1,402,055
Evelyn Perry ..... 1,166,255
Annie Delmonico ..... 1,154,225
Mary Pratt ..... 1,072,695
Audrey Bowen ..... 865,510
Evelyn Elwell ..... 206,910
Maybelle Fales ..... 259,075

The contest throughout had been running so close that it had everybody guessing. The last few hours saw the candidates and their friends working at feverish speed, and votes fell into the big box much as snowflakes fell on Rockland streets in the month of February. Although nobody could know it at the time the turning point in the contest was reached when Alden Ulmer, Jr., brother of the winner, unfolded a large package from which poured an avalanche of votes, all of high denominations, and bearing the name of Faith Ulmer. In that contribution are said to have been at least 300,000 votes, most of which were the result of an extraordinary drive conducted by Alden Ulmer, Jr., in the closing hours.

The best of feeling was shown by the contestants and there was not the slightest intimation of the "scrap" which some of the patrons had fully expected to see. When it was announced at midnight that the counting would be completed in about three-quarters of an hour, a small fraction of the audience departed for home, but the others stuck to their guns, and waited considerably more than the prescribed period. Had they seen the mountain of coupons which confronted the tellers they would have been in an even more patient and chastened spirit.

The result was announced from the platform by Judge Miller, who wisely began at the foot of the list and worked up to the climax. Miss Ulmer was called to the platform where her newly won crown was affixed by Mayor James F. Carver. Extended speeches are foreign to Jim's purpose, and in this instance, with the hour-hand traveling rapidly toward 2 he confined himself to a few congratulatory sentences. In addition to being crowned, Miss Ulmer received the coveted prize, a handsome wrist watch. Miss Boyd was called to the stand to receive second prize, a large box of confectionery, and Miss Perry was presented with the third prize, a necklace. Speeches were suggested by His Honor.

"Miss Rockland," in an attractive gown, and wearing the glittering coronet, presented an alluring picture, for she is a maiden of exceptional beauty and would do credit to Rockland in any gathering. She was very self possessed, and her words acknowledging her gratitude to loyal friends, could be distinctly heard in all parts of the big hall. Miss Boyd, bearing up bravely under her keen disappointment, also expressed gratitude to those who had worked so hard in her behalf. What Miss Perry said the world will never know for her remarks were betrayed by the applause which had followed Miss Boyd's little speech. But Miss Perry was wearing her customary happy smile, and she got a big hand from the crowd.

Thus ended the chapter.

FIRE AT HEBRON
Sturtevant Hall Burned To the Ground—Classes Suspended.

Sturtevant Hall, one of the dormitories at Hebron Academy, was burned to the ground Monday. The building, erected in 1900 at a cost of $84,000 and repaired two years ago at an expense of $16,000, was said to have a replacement value of $200,000. It was the gift of Mrs. R. F. Sturtevant of Jamaica Plain, Mass., widow of one of the original benefactors of the school.

The students were at recitations in Sturtevant Hall when the fire broke out from an unexplained cause on the top floor. Furniture and belongings of the students on the first two floors were saved. Classes were suspended for two weeks, after which, it is expected, the work of the year can be finished on schedule.

The students fought the flames to the best of their ability, but were handicapped by the low water pressure. Help was summoned from surrounding towns but the condition of the highways after last Saturday's storm, made it impossible for fire-fighting apparatus to reach the scene in time for assistance. Practically everything was removed from the two lower floors and placed in the arena. Students who occupied rooms on the upper floors lost a good many of their belongings. In the excitement which followed the discovery of the blaze, they seized many articles of little value, and carried them to places of safety leaving behind more useful and valuable possessions. The loss is said to be covered by blanket insurance.

MAINE CENTRAL SURPLUS
A surplus after charges of $105,415 is shown by the Maine Central Railroad for its first operating month in 1927, the January report issued by President McDonald revealed. This compares with $40,740 in the corresponding month last year and represents an increase of $65,075 over 1926.

Freight revenues for the months were about 10 per cent higher than a year ago and the passenger revenue account also increased approximately the same amount. The detailed report follows:
January 1927
Freight Revenue, $1,358,566 $1,239,394
Passenger Revenue 321,516 292,995
Railway Operating Revenues 1,820,846 1,666,342
Surplus after Charges 105,415 40,740

BIRDS LIKE CANDY
Commenting on grackles, Mrs. Ansel O. Cole of Iowa informs Nature Magazine of Washington of an interesting bird party she held for her many bird friends. Mrs. Cole put candy on the bird's feeding table. The result was surprising for among those who attended the party were robins and their young, orioles and their babies, catbirds, bluejays, cardinals, rosebreasted grosbeaks, chickadees, nuthatches, tufted titmice and, of course, English sparrows. Grackles flocked in and carried off bits to their young. They also tried the soaking process in the bird bath and appeared much surprised and chagrined to see the candy dissolve.

Responsibility for the education of physically or mentally handicapped children of Pennsylvania has been placed by legislative enactment upon the local school districts. Aid is given by the State either in helping to pay the salary of a special teacher, or by payment of direct costs of the cost when institutional care is needed.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM
If I had to live my life again I would have made a little more poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

FAREWELL
Thou goest to what distant place
Wilt thou thy sunlight carry?
I stay with cold and clouded face:
How long am I to tarry?
Where'er thou goest, more will be:
Thou leavest night and gloom to me.

The night and gloom can but take;
I do not grudge thy splendor:
But souls of eager men awake;
Be kind and bright and tender,
Give aid to other souls; for me
It must suffice to dream of thee.

—John Addington Symonds.

THREE TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Maine, March 3, 1927.
Personally appeared Frank S. Liddle, who on oath declares that he is Pressman in the office of The Courier-Gazette and that of issue of this paper of March 1, 1927 there was printed a total of 6480 copies.

THE CARLTON BRIDGE

We dare say that someday—even though, nobody would hazard a guess as to how many years distant the time might be—a bridge would be spanning the river at Bath. Public inertia is a difficult thing to overcome. The day might have been half a century hence. We decline to lose sight of the fact that it is to the fiery energy and bulldog tenacity of one man that the present generation lies indebted for the glorious privilege it is to enjoy of passing over a completed bridge during this very year of nineteen hundred and twenty-seven. However his methods might have failed to recommend themselves to some, the fact lies open as fact that they were productive of the individual and public awakening without which no great piece of business is successfully brought to pass. We think the bridge should bear the Carlton name. Some time the great State of Maine will honor the memory and achievements of its gallant sons in war, and do it in adequate and appropriate fashion with some great memorial in which the mingled substances of beauty and dignity and romance shall commemorate the deeds of sacrifice and valor of the soldier dead. We fail to discover in this commercial structure bridging the Kennebec River the type of memorial with which the emotions sacred to patriotism are commonly associated.
Call it the Carlton Bridge.
The Augusta hospital fund canvasser who telephoned London and got a subscription of $100 certainly showed enterprise and as a piece of campaign publicity the $75 expenditure for tolls was doubtless justified.
"Drink to me only with thine eyes." After drinking, you may not have any eyes.—Macon News.

A SUBSIDIZED PRESS

A column of the present issue of The Courier-Gazette is devoted (gratuitously) to a communication upon the water power question. Another communication of even greater length had space given to it in the Tuesday issue. Both articles present the argument from the standpoint of opposition to the proposed measure to authorize sending electricity beyond the borders of the State, and strongly assail the business interests that are registered in support of the measure. Without commenting upon either article further than to note that the writer of each is a gentleman of character and independent views, we call attention to the fact that the columns of this paper are and always have been freely open to the discussion of topics of general public interest. And what is true of this paper is, we believe, equally true of the other Maine papers, daily and weekly, and refutes the charge sweeping advanced by Mr. Baxter that the press of the State is the subsidized tool of "the interests."

Yesterday was Ash Wednesday, which marked the beginning of Lent. In common with those denominations throughout the world the Catholic and Episcopal churches of our city are giving recognition to the season of forty days of renunciation. We notice that in the larger cities of the country other Protestant churches recognize the Lenten season with noonday meetings. Perhaps this is not so practical in smaller communities, but it sometimes has been essayed here. We recall the meetings carried on with marked success at the Congregational church, under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Newton.

Tomorrow, March 4, Calvin Coolidge will have served two years of the term to which the people elected him. Previously he had completed for President Harding the term to which that gentleman had been elected. Now Mr. Coolidge is halfway through his first term. The Courier-Gazette is going to hazard the prediction, that two years from tomorrow, namely on March 4, 1929, Calvin Coolidge will again take oath of office and enter upon his second presidential term.

With the BOWLERS

Forty Club 3, Legion 1

The Forty Club slid into first place Tuesday night after a royal battle with the Legion team which it defeated by 44 pins. Connor composed in the spotlight by virtue of his string of 133 and his three-string total of 327. Rosenbloom was high line for the victors. The score:

Forty Club		Legion
Powers	95 112 97—307	M. Fogg	87 94 77—258
Black	101 86 84—271	Brewer	89 112 99—301
Orff	93 102 86—282	Stinson	71 92 89—252
Rosenbloom	97 92 117—306	Connor	160 133 94—327
Milligan	110 105 86—301	Valley	112 89 84—285
Totals	499 493 470—1467	Totals	459 521 442—1422

Lefty Mitchell and Ovide Caron, the professional bowlers who were recently tripped up in this city, turned in a 10-string summary at Belfast which is believed to be a world's record. Mitchell bowled 1159 and Caron 1115, making a grand total of 2274. The largest string was 135, bowled by Mitchell.

Alleys 2, Forty Club 2

The Forty Club beat the Alleys 52 pins last night but was forced to divide the points. Milligan had the highest string and the largest three-string total. Rosenbloom, F. Stevens and Cobb were also hitting them well. The score:

Forty Club		Alleys
Powers	82 101 90—273	Lawrey	86 83 81—250
Black	95 80 97—272	P. Stevens	94 120 83—297
Orff	93 97 88—278	Thomas	85 99 78—262
Rosenbloom	85 120 95—298	Mayo	91 91 89—271
Milligan	89 94 122—305	Cobb	104 103 90—297
Totals	444 495 490—1429	Totals	469 496 421—1377

UNFAVORABLE HOME CONDITIONS AFFECT SCHOOL WORK

To determine the influence of home conditions and health upon the school work of children, a special study was made last session of a group of 64 pupils in grades 2 to 8, inclusive, in Scott School, Chicago, who had failed of promotion. Examination of the children by a physician from the Chicago health department showed that not a single child was free from some physical defect. It was found that 54 of them, or 84 per cent, had goiter, adenoids, or tonsil defects; and in 29 cases there were teeth defects. Though parents were notified and requested to have the children given needed attention, in 80 per cent of the cases, either because of poverty or indifference, nothing was done to build up the health of the children.

Investigation of home conditions showed that 48 per cent of the children lived in broken homes, and in 45 per cent of the homes the mothers were either working or had died. The discovery was made that 42 of the children, or 65 per cent, had been in the school only five months or less, indicating that their parents belonged to nomad groups following floating trades, or were wanderers, traveling from place to place.

MY EUROPEAN EXCURSIONS

By Edwin Robert Petre

WHERE TASSO FIRST SAW THE SEA

I was staying for but two nights at the Hotel Tramontano at Sorrento, Italy, on the lovely orchard edge of the Bay of Naples which everyone hopes to see some day. It was early morning and I was wandering back to the gardens of the hotel from a ramble under the lemon and orange trees, when off in a shrubby corner of the grounds I saw a pedestal bust of ancient workmanship. It was the sculptured head of Torquato Tasso, the celebrated poet best known outside of Italy for his "Jerusalem Delivered." I immediately sought out the manager of the hotel and asked "Why is Tasso here?" He answered with a beaming hand and took me off to the darkest corner of the hotel and opened a locked door into a little room whose frescoed walls looked older than anything I had seen outside of Pompeii, and said, "In this room on March 11, 1544, nearly 400 years ago, Tasso was born, the hotel was built over it." There were plenty of tourists in the hotel but I was the only one who asked the question and the only one to get the answer. It pays to question when you travel.

ALL MONTHS ALIKE

Proposed Reform of the Calendar To Be Taken Up In August.

Determined efforts to bring about a reform of the calendar with a 28-day month have been taken with the view of definite action at Geneva in August.

In 16 capitals of northern Europe steps already have been taken to show the advantages of the fixed calendar idea. There are opponents of the plan but no organized effort has yet appeared.

Under the proposed plan of reform all months would have 28 days, the first day of the month always falling on Sunday and the last on Saturday. If the year remained the same length an extra month would be introduced, leaving one day over and two in leap year. Thirteen months would look like this:

ANY MONTH
Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28

"Did your friend completely recover from his broken leg?"
"No. Complications set in."
"How so?"
"He married his nurse!"—Fliegende Blaetter (Munich).

Ralph Thorndike has moved into the Abbie Connors apartments on South Main street.

George Burgett of the Consolidated Baking Co. cut one of his fingers badly the other day.

John J. Perry, who has been in the city on income tax business, returned to his home in Lewiston yesterday. He comes to Rockland again the last of next week.

Louis Marcus has returned from a trip to Boston, New York and Philadelphia in the interests of Stenington Furniture Co. Mrs. Marcus went to Boston this morning where she will join her daughter, Sadie in a visit with relatives.

Excellent progress is being made by the boys' band and new recruits are being received daily. Director Kirkpatrick is particularly anxious right now to strengthen the organization with two trombones and a base. The instruments are available now and the boys will be very welcome.

At the invitation of Mr. Verrill, principal of the High School, the W. C. T. U. will conduct the Prohibition Day exercises at the High School Friday the first period in the morning at 8:40 o'clock. Miss Ann Coughlin will address the assembly. It is hoped all "white ribbons" who possibly can will plan to attend.

The La France engine at the Central Fire Station is being overhauled by an expert from the factory; the work being so arranged that this piece of apparatus could be quickly re-assembled in case of an emergency. A service man is expected here soon to administer a course of osteopathic treatment on the Bear tractor.

A patriotic meeting in honor of Washington and Lincoln was held recently by the Legion Auxiliary to Wade Camp, S. of V., of Westbrook. Mrs. Ella Jackson Dailey, a former Rockland girl and daughter of G. W. Dowlin of Thomaston, is the president of Wade Auxiliary, and the program opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Tilton and flag salute of her four color guards. Through her untiring efforts the wonderful program was made possible. Recently Wade Auxiliary had a distinction seldom seen in patriotic work, namely: The president installed was Ella Jackson Dailey and her counselor was her husband, Charles E. Dailey, a former Rockland boy. Her daughter, Celia Dailey Morse, acted as guide and had the honor of escorting both her mother and father to their respective stations. Mrs. Laura Dowlin Fyfe, sister of Mrs. Dailey, was the installing officer. Celia Dailey Morse, the granddaughter of G. W. Dowlin, was later installed as president of Shepley Auxiliary of Portland, while Mrs. Laura Fyfe is Division vice president of Maine S. of V. Auxiliary.

Perry's Foodland will be closed Saturday forenoon preparatory to the big opening at 1:30 to which the public is most cordially invited. There will be all sorts of free souvenirs and gift groceries in addition to record bargains—adv.

NOT HOW CHEAP—BUT HOW GOOD

Special services were held at St. Peter's Church yesterday, Ash Wednesday.

King Solomon's Temple Chapter has work on the Mark Master's degree tonight.

Hats off to the ladies of St. Bernard's Church, who netted nearly $1400 from their annual coffee party last week.

Engine 2 was called to the Orange street residence of A. S. Niles to extinguish a chimney fire this morning.

John H. McGrath is having his winter vacation from Knowlton's Market. E. B. Ingraham has resumed his duties there.

During the month of February there were but three arrests, occasioned in each instance by over indulgence in barbed wire extract.

The Boston auto show begins Saturday. Mechanics' building will be wonderfully decorated in honor of the Silver Jubilee which the auto show marks this year.

A bill reducing the pay of the recorder of Judge Miller's Court from $1000 to $600 was defeated yesterday in the Legislature and Fees committee hearing at Augusta.

Judge Edward K. Gould is in Augusta where he represents the Knox Bar in the hearing before the Judiciary Committee on the various bills changing the courts and the court procedure.

Oscar M. Ellens of the Central Fire Station crew is raising a set of King George whiskers, not from any sudden accession of pride, but because of the difficulty of shaving until his recovery from an abscess.

Miss Esther Stevenson has been chosen as musical director of Thomaston and Camden schools for the balance of the school year. Miss Stevenson formerly directed music in Rockland and Westbrook schools.

Fred H. Sanborn, time-keeper of the snow shoveling crews, reports that the deepest drifts are near the residence of Willis Snow on Lake avenue and on Maverick street. Those sections are seldom sighted by the nor'easters.

At future Educational Club meetings the treasurer's lists of members whose dues are paid strict to date and ahead will be read to the club. The credit consists in paying so promptly as to receive a small number, as delinquent members receive the biggest numbers.

"Barbary's Magnificent" is one of the season's most interesting pictures and is being shown today at Park Theatre. The feature film for the weekend comprises "An Affair of the Folies" and "War Paint." The Empire has a double header today—"The Ice Flood" and "The Lightning Reporter." For the weekend "The Gray Devil."

Seven in a row, and straight as a die. We have reference now to Frank B. Allen's seven new bowling alleys which are being constructed in the second story of Havenor block, now owned by Harry Carr, opposite The Courier-Gazette office. The alleys were furnished by the Brunswick Balke Collender Co. and are being laid by Shaw Brothers of Boston. It is expected that they will be ready for use in about three weeks. Meanwhile Mr. Allen plans to open his Recreation Rooms on the ground floor tomorrow.

The leading article in the Cape Cod Magazine of Feb. 15 is entitled "The Passing of the Lime Coaster" and was written by Albert E. Averill of the Rockland Postoffice staff, who not only writes in an attractive style, but who, as the son of a sea captain brings to the eye an intimate picture of old coasting days which could not have been drawn except by one who has felt the tang of the sea or inherited it. The article is in two installments, the first being illustrated by a picture which is entitled "The Little Square-Toed Barnacle Chaser." Mr. Averill has been highly complimented by the editors.

Friday has been set aside by the mission boards of all denominations as the "World Day of Prayer for Missions," when around the world, wherever christianity has gone, its followers are asked to unite in prayer for its missionary enterprises. Answering this call, the Women's Missionary Societies of Rockland will observe together the hour from 3:30 to 4:30 in the Congregational vestry. The interdenominational program will be used and representatives from all the churches will have part. All women are cordially invited.

Since the last snow storm Chickawaukie Lake is numbered in classification of "lost, strayed or stolen," so far as the turf fans are concerned, and quite certain it is that there will be no further racing on that pond this season. But here comes Henry Jordan has the new owner of a handsome brown gelding known in Who's Who of the turf as Mokolite. Mr. Jordan swapped a goodly number of iron men with George M. Simmons for the sake of becoming possessor of this proud stepper, whose record of 2:20 1/2 is expected to go down like the temperature at Oyster River on a winter's night. At heavy expense Mr. Jordan has signed up Fred Carlin as his manager and under the latter's hypnotic influence it is expected that Mokolite will bring new fame to the turf king of Warren street.

Harriet M. Nesbitt sends up the Washington's Birthday menu which was provided for the guests of the Royal Victoria Hotel in Nassau, N. P., Bahamas. It is evident that the tourists in addition to enjoying the "best climate, best bathing and best hotels," did not go short of food, all of the season's delicacies being numbered on the bill. "You will see," writes Miss Nesbitt, "that even if we are in a British Colony we decorated for that night. We had American and British flags in the dining hall, and on each table in the dining room we had an American flag, which I was glad to see. We have the American Consul, wife and baby at our hotel and guests are coming and going. The climate here is fine, and for a salt water bath the water is clear as crystal and the beach is sandy."

Rockland Lodge of Elks will appear in the role of theatrical magicians three days the latter part of this month, having hired Strand Theatre outright for the presentation of the famous picture, "The Winning of Barbara Worth." The story is by Harold Bell Wright, and the film stars will be Vilma Banky and Ronald Coleman. The proceeds will go for charity. The committee in charge of the ticket sale comprises, A. C. Jones, chairman, H. M. Dane, Fred M. Blackington, Austin Moody, Ralph Stone, Thomas J. Foley, Augustus Levy, Percy McPhee, G. W. Bachelder, Philip Sullivan, Harold J. Philbrook, V. F. Studley, Abram W. Nye, Everett Davis, Thomas Anastasio, of Rockland, Charles McDonald of Thomaston and J. H. Hobbs of Camden. The picture will be shown March 23, 24 and 25.

Every seat at the High School gym will be checked for tomorrow night's R. H. S.-Lincoln Academy games. Part of them will be special reserved and part rush depending on the price paid, but the fans should know that there will be a seat for every ticket sold and none obtainable otherwise. Already over half of the seats are gone and Lincoln is clamoring for more, but Principal Verrill desires to protect Rockland first. If the seats are not all sold by tomorrow noon it is probable that he will send a few more to Newcastle. Standing room admissions will be sold at the door but it is very doubtful if there will be any seats obtainable. To those desiring seats Mr. Verrill's advice is to call 324-W, High School, this afternoon, 4 to 6, and secure the seats before it is too late. A social will be held after the games.

Rummage sale at the Universalist Church Saturday morning, March 5.—adv.

CAMDEN

The much advertised Mardi Gras ball given for the benefit of the Camden Community Hospital was held Tuesday evening at the Opera House and the hall, corridors and Business Men's Club were filled to overflowing. It was the largest event of its kind ever attempted locally and one of the prettiest, over 50 per cent of the audience being in costume, many showing much taste and talent in designing whether they were artists or comic. The only prize given was a five pound box of candy donated by Chandler's Pharmacy and the judges, after much deliberation awarded it to Mrs. C. Vernal Gray. Mrs. Gray was attired in her grandmother's complete costume of the vintage of the sixties and made a very sweet and adorable little lady of that period. It is impossible to give a description of all the costumes, but the following were especially noticeable: Mrs. Grace Achorn, Quakeress; Ethel Burkett, nurse; Sarah E. Chandler, Spanish damsel; Mrs. Donald Crawford, school girl; Eliza Derry, Japanese; Elizabeth Freeman, called maid; Mrs. Edwin French, Spanish costume; Miss Grace Russell, a tiny nurse; Mrs. Robert Jamieson, domino; Mrs. Percy Luce, old fashioned girl; Mrs. J. Hugh Montgomery, society girl; Mrs. Charles Moore, a very attractive colonial costume; Anne Rankin, a girl of the last generation; Mrs. Faustina Miller, Quakeress; Mrs. Winnie Talbot, old fashioned girl; Alvah Anderson, boatman; Dr. Wilson D. Merron, Chinese; Joseph Brewster, who always officiates as dancing master at these times was very elaborate as Ring Master with the whip and all the fixins; Ernest Barker, fencer; Marcus Chandler, Spanish dancer; Ray Conley, Spaniard; Harold Gross, comic; Joseph Emery, domino; Edwin French, pirate; Percy Good, farmer; Josiah Hobbs, Indian Chief; Robert Jamieson, advertised as the biggest man in Camden; Charles K. French, a school boy with a black eye looking for the hospital; John Leach, just himself; Charles E. Lord, country school teacher with the little old fashioned derby; Millard Long, chef; Earle Merringer, comic; Arthur Miller, Quakeress; Miller, pirate; J. Hugh Montgomery, another pirate; Charles E. Moore, a seven footer in school garb; Frank Morrow, domino; Skip Parsons, a very much bandaged hospital patient; Alphonso Prince, domino; Captain Emmet Eaton, a very elegant marine costume; J. Strong, Spaniard; Bill Stover, small town sport, very effective. The ladies of the Friends-In-Council, under whose auspices the affair was held, were all costumed alike in gowns of dark velvet with a touch of black at the throat. Miss Hazel Pitt and Miss Hazel Lunt made very sweet and attractive salesladies. They were also very touching, as their sales record for the bows dispensed will show. Mrs. Skip Parsons had charge of the confetti booth and general entertainment. Gertrude Morrow handled the tickets assisted by Charles C. Wood in the box office and Major E. B. Clark on the gate. All in all it was a big time and all hands enjoyed the peppy music by Marston's Tube Orchestra who so generously donated their services, and best of all a goodly sum was raised for the hospital.

At a meeting of Keystone Royal Arch Chapter Wednesday, there was work in the Royal Arch Degree. Mrs. Alice K. French is confined to the house by illness. Wallace Easton who has been sick is able to be out. Carpenters are remodeling the Brown building on Main street recently purchased by Mark Ingraham, two stores will be on the ground floor and one or two apartments in the upper story. At the Republican caucus held Monday evening the following were nominated for selectmen: Andrew V. Elmore, Frank J. Wiley, John Bird and George E. Allen. The Democratic caucus will be held Friday evening at the Opera House. Mrs. Carlton F. Snow is to be leader of the civics study at the Educational Club Friday evening. The lesson is chapter six in textbook "Essentials of Citizenship." Henry Hudson is the subject of Ava Jackson's paper. Mrs. Sueila Sheldon, appointed critic, will present her report. This includes errors in use of English and in pronunciation.

Ernest K. Cris has taken a position with the Livingston Mr. Cris, as its New England traveling representative, with his headquarters at Quincy, Mass., one of the chief centers of the granite industry. Mr. Cris' education and training well fit him for the position. He has been in the past month engaged in the company shops familiarizing himself with details of the business and will go to Quincy the coming week.

Rehearsals will be started for the musical comedy "The Runaways" in the armory at 7:30 tonight, and the show committee of Battery G. under whose auspices the production is being given, are assembling a cast and chorus of nearly 100 local singers, dancers and comedians. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Philbrook, of the Philbrook Productions, of Framingham, Mass., arrived last evening and will have personal charge of the rehearsing and staging of the new play.

Jack, seven, and Charlie, eleven, were watching their mother skim a pitcher of milk. After several minutes the older boy said: "Mother, why is it that the cream comes to the top of the milk?"

Without giving his mother a chance to answer, Jack exclaimed: "Because, don't you know, if the cream would stay at the bottom, people couldn't skim it off!"

Religious instruction in week-day classes is provided for grade children in 17 cities of Wisconsin.

CARD OF THANKS

How can I express to all you kind people my sincere thanks for the loyal assistance you gave me in the "Miss Rockland" contest? I have not the opportunity to do it in person, but the gratitude is there. I also want to thank "A Friend" who sent a large quantity of votes by special delivery.

The band will give the usual concert and the Patrol its beautiful drill.

The Daily Tribune of Pratt, Kansas, describes an airplane trip made by Thad C. Carver, formerly of Vinalhaven. The journey from Pratt to Wichita was made in one hour, against the wind and with no attempt at "speeding." Mr. Carver went to Wichita to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Travel-Air Manufacturing Co. and on other business, and enjoyed traveling by air very much.

It is wholly immaterial which side of the debate on the Direct Primary Law is favored by any speaker, for that will have no bearing whatever on the assignment of prizes of $25, $5 and $2 with silver cup recently offered under D. A. R. auspices. But it is very material that there should be a wide response in the effort made to earn these prizes and very material that a decided interest be manifested in this timely issue.

Saturday, March 5th, at 1:30

There will be Pinks for the Ladies; Cigars for the Men; Candy, Hot Frankfurts, Balloons, Red Bird Flyers, Baseballs and many other presents for the Kids.

Hundreds of dollars worth of goods will be given away and our counters will be loaded with all sorts of Bargains to interest you.

The reason for all this is to celebrate the Opening of our Remodelled and Enlarged Market at the Corner of Main and Limerock Streets. Most of our customers know that we have been making some changes, but we change so often that very few people realize just what a big change we have made. Since the last of November a large crew of men have been hard at work on this job, until now we claim to have the finest market east of Boston. We want everybody to come in and see just what we have done to improve our service to customers. There will be somebody on hand to show you all over the market and answer all your questions. We want you all to see the kind of goods we handle and see the sanitary manner in which these goods are prepared and kept for you. No market in America is better equipped to serve you.

WELCOME IN BOGOTA

Airships Visited City Mile
Higher Than Mt. Washington.

"Departing from the route originally planned, the American 'Good Will' flyers on their way around South America went 600 miles up the Magdalena River to Bogota, capital of Colombia.

Only two planes made the trip from Barranquilla at the mouth of the River to Girardot, which is the port for Bogota. From Girardot they traveled by train and automobile to the capital to present a letter of greeting from President Coolidge to the President of Colombia.

"When one remembers that Bogota is situated in the mountains a mile higher in the air than the peak of Mt. Washington, New England's highest mountain, an airplane trip to the capital seems like a hazardous trial," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its headquarters in Washington, D. C. "But the Army flyers are only carrying the most successful commercial air route in South America.

Has Passenger Plane Service

"Since 1921 airplanes have been carrying passengers up the Magdalena River. Bogota has more reason to be thankful for the invention of the airplane than any city in the world. Her citizens may now enter the capital by air, and the route is a most successful commercial air route in South America.

"After the flyers leave the Magdalena River they will cross a mountain range and drop down into the Savanna of Bogota. Of course they will not drop far because the Savanna, a broad plain of 600 square miles area, is still high above sea level. They will pass prosperous farms and villages of this land of eternal spring to reach Bogota, which spreads up a small stream valley on the far side of the Savanna and hangs grimly to the sheer mountain sides. Two hills flanking the city are capped by two shrines whose towers are visible for miles and miles.

"Bogota, as isolated almost as Lhasa or Kabul, carries the imprint of the Conquistador as firmly as when Spain stamped it.

"When in Bogota, walk. This advice is given by most travelers in deference to the cobblestone streets. There is a running stream of mountain water in nearly every Bogota street, as there is in Salt Lake City, Utah.

"There is, of course, the huge cathedral, the presidential palace and the government departments housed in old monasteries or convents, and a university years older than Harvard. Of the houses, almost nothing can be seen from the streets. More may be observed from an airplane.

"One is impressed by the solid blocks in Bogota's residence district. A street consists of two solid concrete parallel walls. The walls are pierced by heavy doors, a few tiny windows on the first floor level, perhaps, and a few balconies on the second floor level. Count the doors and you count the number of homes in the block. The balconies are the only hints that Bogota families take the slightest interest in the world beyond its four walls.

"If an outlander can gain entry to one of these medieval Spanish-Moroccan homes he will find the inevitable patio. The house is hollow. The family lives chiefly on the second floor, except when it uses the middle ground-floor court, open to the sun and probably having a fountain. Second floor front, where one saw the balcony from the outside, is the living room, or parlor. The side rooms are bed chambers. The back rooms are dining rooms. All are connected by a long balcony. In such a Spanish-American community people tend to look in upon themselves just as their houses do, and not out to the world.

"A new Colombia is in sight if the houses of a developing suburb of Bogota can be taken as an omen. A good road out of the capital leads to Chapinero, where Swiss chalets and French chateaus are being built by wealthy Colombians and foreigners. Chapinero houses have plenty of wide windows looking out!

"Travelers used to report that Bogota was the most silent city in the world. There were no street cars. The president and the archbishop owned the only carriages in the not-so-old days. There were no factories of importance. Later travelers reported that Bogota was the most silent city in the world at night. Now the taxis have come to Bogota and the Bogota driver, like his Parisian brother in service, loves the squawk of a horn. Bells of the many churches clang. The hillside and walled streets echo the boom of the bells until the sound fairly beats down on the heads of pedestrians. Development of the oil business in far away Maracaibo has brought a new element to the capital. The airplane and the high cost of platinum have promoted the change. But at night Bogota sinks into deep and silent slumber."

LIME AND ITS USES

To Be Made Subject of Three
Day Discussion At Spring
Meeting.

The American Chemical Society, because of the increasing importance of lime in the chemical industries, has decided to devote three half-day sessions of its spring meeting at Richmond, Va., April 11 to 16, to a discussion of the problems related to lime and its uses. A survey shows that 115 industries, including the manufacture of paper, textiles, leather, glass, soap, butter and steel, use lime in their processes, and the symposium promises to be the most extensive and widely discussed business of the industrial section of the society.

Men prominent in industrial circles, as well as scientists and leaders in the 115 industries, have expressed their intention of attending and participating in the discussions. Recent scientific developments will be presented, together with subjects of vital interest to the general public, such as water-softening and purification, sewage and sanitation, treatment of trade wastes, etc.

The extent to which lime is used may be gained from production and sale figures in 1926. The lime produced and sold in that year amounted to approximately 5,000,000 tons with a value of $46,000,000. More than 40 per cent was consumed by the chemical industries, most of the remainder going to construction, with a small percentage to agriculture.

The following recognized authorities in their various lines are included in the list of speakers: P. A. Parsons, Kinross, S. Y.; Prof. G. L. McLachlin, University of Cincinnati; C. P. Hoover, Columbus, Ohio, Water Purification Works; L. F. Warlick, Wisconsin State Board of Health; W. E. Carson, Riverton Lime Co., Riverton, Va.; Prof. G. L. Clark, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dr. C. H. Herty, Jr., U. S. Bureau of Mines, Pittsburgh; V. J. Azbe, Consulting Combustion Engineer; Prof. O. R. Overman, University of Illinois; R. K. Meade, Consulting Engineer.

J. H. Withrow, head of the Department of Chemical Engineering, Ohio State University, is in charge of preparation for the symposium and will preside at the sessions.

WORLD'S LARGEST HOTEL
The weary traveler will not have to worry about finding accommodations in Chicago any longer, as the city's hotel facilities will be added to by more than 4000 rooms soon. The largest hotel in the world, the Stephens, with 3000 rooms, will be opened this spring. It faces Lake Michigan and fronts on Michigan boulevard. Hereafter the largest hotel has been the Pennsylvania Hotel in New York with 2200 rooms. In addition to the new Stephens Hotel, several of the hotels in the Loop district are planning extensions which will bring an additional 1000 or more rooms to the housing facilities of the city.

Yosemite Park Bears Immune to Tear Gas

Depredations of bears in Yosemite National park upon the cabins of workers and rangers have become so serious that the national park service is seeking a means of curbing them without injury. In an effort to discourage the bears, or put them to flight, experiments with tear gas were recently conducted in co-operation with the chemical warfare service. A small black bear was chosen as the victim for the experiment, and a heavy concentration of the gas was given him. It apparently caused the bear no discomfort whatever. He did not even blink. It previously has been demonstrated that horses and mules are indifferent to the gas, probably because they have no tear glands. Visitors to Yosemite find the bears among the most interesting of the park's wild life, and during the travel season they are well fed at the hotels and camps, as well as by visitors. By the time the hotels close the bears have become fat and lazy, and begin stealing slabs of bacon and other food, even though this may involve breaking a window or tearing a hole through a wall. With the apparent failure of tear gas, the park authorities are seeking other means of holding the bears in check without driving them out of the park.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Where Husbands Need to Watch Their Steps

Another reason for not yielding to the temptation of living in a Serbian town called Velik Kikinda has been produced in the Italian press.

It seems that, instead of forming a sewing circle, the wives of this light-hearted community band together in a secret association under the name of Santa Lucia, founded in honor of the redoubtable Lucezia Borgia, with the worthy purpose of poisoning their husbands, fiancés and lovers.

From across the frontier—though which frontier the Italian paper does not say—they procure strong poisons, which are unobtrusively slipped into their husbands' food or drink.

Even as the existence of the secret society became public, many husbands and prospective husbands left town. The Italian paper advises them not to let civic pride in next year's census return prevent them from forming a Santo Lucia or Santa Lucia lodge and going to it.—The Living Age.

Hancock a Real Patriot

During the siege of Boston, General Washington consulted congress upon the advisability of bombardment. John Hancock, a distinguished merchant, was the president of congress. When Washington's letter was read, a silence ensued, and all waited John Hancock's opinion. Naturally, he was personally interested to a great degree, for his large and valuable estate was located in the heart of Boston. John Hancock, after a moment's silence, addressed the committee in the following words: "It is true, sir; nearly all the property I have in the world is in houses and other real estate in the town of Boston; but if the expulsion of the British army from it, and the liberties of the country require their being burnt to ashes—issue the order immediately for that purpose.—The Market for Exchange.

Philippine Islands

There are 7,093 islands in the Philippine group, of which only 2,441 are named. Total area of the archipelago is 115,025 square miles. The Philippines are mountainous, rising out of the sea, and the islands are connected with each other and with the East Indies by submerged mountains. Part of the land is volcanic in origin and there are a dozen active volcanoes. The highest mountain, Mt. Mayon, is 14,374 feet high. The range is from north to south, but there are innumerable rugged spurs which cut the larger islands into many isolated sections. Coral reefs fringe the shores, of which there are altogether more than twice as many miles as on all the coasts of the United States. In the largest islands there are a few rivers, but they have rapid descents and, except near the sea, are navigable only by rafts.

Proud Woman

Once upon a time there was in Salem a woman who did not like round people, not even if they were among her customers. He had one patron who was extra proud. She sent her servants to do her shopping. That was when a "hired girl" got $3 a week pay, and a wealthy family kept two or three maids.

So proud was this woman that she would not even let her servant carry bundles. She insisted that the storekeeper send them. One morning she ordered a suit of clothes. The storekeeper called his errand boy, told him to get a wheelbarrow. He put the cotton on the wheelbarrow and ordered the boy to deliver it. Did it have an effect? It did not.—Salem News.

Strange Race of People

There is an ancient race in India, the Todas, nearly extinct now, that resembles the gypsies. Its members speak a strange tongue, make hoveis out of mud topped with a kind of pyramid, in the hills. They are sullen, savage, chary of approach. They worship dirt, accoutrements who preside over death and life. They do not wander like the gypsies. In their isolation one supposes that the wolves and the vultures and the Jackals are their familiars—far being on neither side. They worship stone and stars, the grass, the dawu and the moon.—Grit.

Little Folks' Spring Coats Copy a Grown-up Styling

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

WHAT'S new in children's coats? The very latest is two and three-tone effects achieved by inter-working the same fabric in several colors. Not only for children but for grown-ups as well, a styling wherein color complements color is being linked up with thoughts of coats and dresses for spring.

The charming little coat in this picture, which, if you please, bears a Paris label, carries out the new color-trim idea most attractively. For this model, rose-colored wool velours is inset into a foundation of red wool velours. In coats of will or flannel, the tendency is to exploit fabric effects in an ornamental way. For instance, a coat of navy charmeuse has a long tuxedo collar and cuffs of lighter blue self-fabric, scalloped along the edges.

Many and novel are the developments along the line of thought of fabric effects for trimming. One cunning spring coat is bordered all around, also collared and cuffed with a banding composed of three strips of the broadcloth, each of a different color. There is a clever pocket also in this tri-color combination.

AN OVEN DINNER

ECONOMY of time and economy of money have always been the biggest problems in planning meals. The housekeeper using an electric, gas or oil stove of any kind will be interested in oven dinners from the standpoint of economy of fuel, for much heat is lost in the process of cooking through radiation.

I have planned a menu which may easily be prepared on any type of stove. It requires just two hours to cook, and all previous preparations may be made several hours in advance. The menu:

Stuffed Steak Spiced Tomatoes Escalloped Potatoes Biscuits or Bread Apple Dumplings

Whenever possible, I like to prepare meat and vegetables after breakfast. The steak may also be stuffed and put in a cool place until two hours before dinner. This is the recipe for Stuffed Steak:

2 lb. slice of round steak
½ cup kitchen-tested flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
2 cups of any good bread dressing
2 tsp. bacon drippings
1½ cups water

Pound the flour, salt and pepper into the round steak. Spread the dressing in thick layer over steak. Roll up and fasten with soft twine or skewers. Place in long narrow roasting pan with bacon drippings. Sear in hot oven, 500° F. for 15 minutes. Add the hot water, cover the roaster and reduce heat to moderately hot oven, 400° F., and roast until tender, about 1½ hours. This serves six.

The potatoes may be peeled, sliced and placed in cold water early in the morning. After the steak has been in the oven about an hour, the potatoes are drained, placed in a baking dish in layers each sprinkled with a little flour and seasonings, and the whole covered with milk and placed in the oven. They will begin cooking more quickly if the milk is hot.

The Apple Dumplings may also be made in the morning and placed in the refrigerator until time to bake. They require about fifty to sixty minutes and may be placed in the oven after the meat has been cooking for 20 minutes. They will come out of the oven about 30 minutes before the meat is done.

The actual cooking of this dinner will require two hours. If you serve dinner at 6:30, have your oven very hot—500° F.—at 4:30. Place the Stuffed Steak in the oven and sear it in an open pan for 15 minutes. Then cover the meat and reduce to a moderately hot oven—400° F., by turning down the flame and opening the oven door. Put in the Dumplings at 5 o'clock, and at 5:30 put in the Escalloped Potatoes. At 6 o'clock the Dumplings are ready to come out and it is time to put in the Spiced Tomatoes.

Aspirin Gargle in Sore Throat or Tonsilitis

Prepare a harmless and effective gargle by dissolving two "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in four tablespoons of water. Gargle throat thoroughly. Repeat in two hours if necessary.

Be sure you use only the genuine Bayer Aspirin, marked with the Bayer Cross, which can be had in tin boxes of twelve tablets for few cents.

MAKING THE LAWS

And Some of the Unusual Problems Which Face the Lawmakers.

Bills providing for a curfew law for dogs, for prohibition of the sale of "stink bombs" and sneeze powders, for deer hunting with bow and arrow and proposed laws to forbid raffles on behalf of sheriffs and to force pedestrians to wear red lights at night, are among the measures that have come before New England legislatures for consideration this session. Here are some of the bills and resolves proposed.

Augusta, Me.—The good old custom of having raffles for sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and police officers would be knocked on the head in a bill proposed by Representative Rounds of Portland.

A resolve introduced would reimburse a man who was unloading coal at the State hospital for an assault by an insane person.

Concord, N. H.—The legislators at Concord have been puzzled at this session to determine how the game commissioner could ascertain the number of fish caught from a pond in a year! A bill introduced would require that the game commissioner replace in certain ponds at least half the number of fish caught during the season by fish hatched from eggs.

This State in common with some others has a so-called anti-evolution bill introduced in its legislature. At hearings, charges were made that pupils in this State were being taught that Adam was an ape.

Montpelier, Vt.—Curfew shall not ring this year, at least not for pups, hounds and other dogs in Vermont. After due consideration, the legislature has laid aside a bill that would have provided that all dogs be in the house at sunset and stay in until sunrise.

Some legislators wondered how the dogs could be taught to return home at the appointed hour, or how they would know on a cloudy day when the sun had set. The law was designed to prevent dogs from harassing sheep and cattle. One legislator said that he felt that the $30 dog laws already on the books provided herd owners sufficient protection from dog damage.

Boston—"Stink bombs" are in bad odor with P. E. Murray of Boston who has petitioned the General Court, asking that "whoever sells, offers for sale or distributes a stink bomb, so called or sneeze powder, so called, shall be punished by a fine of five hundred dollars."

Hartford, Conn.—A return to the primitive method of hunting that prevailed when Indians roamed through the Connecticut woods was suggested in a bill providing for an outdoor season on deer-hunting by bow and arrow.

The much-jostled pedestrian would be required to carry a light in a red reflector, visible at 40 feet, in another proposed measure. The same pedestrian would be required to travel on the left side of the highways in a companion bill.

Providence, R. I.—Residents of this third of states which has 567 persons per square mile of territory, have been exercised over the pros and cons of a bill which would provide for deer hunting within its borders. While proponents stressed its advantages, the Richmond town council urged its defeat on the ground that it would fill the woods with inexperienced hunters and that the resulting excitement would cause indiscriminate and reckless shooting endangering life and property.

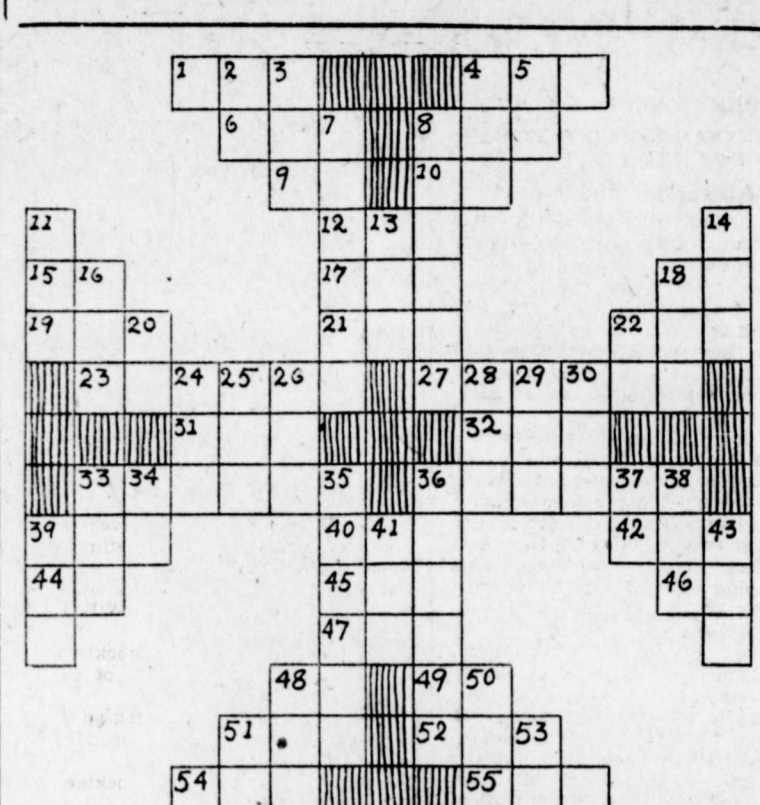

One-teacher schools in Charleston County, S. C., have been reduced in 10 years from 25 to 2. Substantial brick buildings replace inadequate buildings of past years, and transportation of pupils is universal in the county. In Orangeburg County a system of high schools has been established, making available to every country boy and girl the opportunity of attending a high school.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL

Sandwiches
WITH a cup of tea, cocoa or coffee, and with a few well-made sandwiches one may serve a most acceptable luncheon or supper.

Hot Shrimp Sandwiches.—Remove the intestinal veins from the shrimp, then finely chop; there should be one cupful. Melt one tablespoonful of butter in an omelet pan, add the shrimp and stir until hot; add two eggs beaten with two tablespoonfuls of milk, season with salt and a few grains of cayenne, stir and scrape from the bottom of the pan, as for scrambled eggs. Have ready six slices of bread, toasted lightly and well buttered, cover half the slice with a layer of the mixture and cover the remaining half with slices of cold buttered toast. Pour around a cream sauce, sprinkle with paprika. Serve hot.

Toasted Marmalade Sandwiches.—Cut slices of bread one-fourth inch in thickness. Spread with creamed butter, cover half the slices with a layer of orange or grapefruit marmalade. Put together in pairs, press lightly, trim off the crusts, cut into triangles, brush both sides lightly with butter and toast delicately and quickly on both sides.

Hot Ham Sandwiches.—Cut white bread one-third of an inch thick, toast lightly and spread with mustard butter, cover with very thin slices of broiled ham, cover the ham with a slice of buttered toast and set a poached egg on each. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with sprays of water cress or parsley.

Sauteed Egg Sandwiches.—Finely chop four hard-cooked eggs, then pound them to a paste with two tablespoonfuls of butter, adding gradually two tablespoonfuls of cream; stir until well blended and add a dash of salt. Spread the bread with the mixture, cover with the remaining slices of toast, together and dip each sandwich into egg beaten with a little milk, allowing two tablespoonfuls for each egg. Sauté in an equal measure of butter and lard, brown on both sides. Serve at once.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All Druggists. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c, 30c, 60c.

PENTATHLON PLANNED FOR TEXAS RURAL SCHOOLS

Rural pentathlon a five-event athletic contest for pupils in rural one and two teacher schools in Texas, has been inaugurated this year, sponsored by the Interscholastic League of the State. It is designed to promote all-round development rather than specialization upon one form of athletics, and at the same time to supply wholesome competition among rural schools where contestants will meet on terms of equality as to equipment and coaching advantages.

To this end five events have been chosen. They consist of a 100-yard dash; a running high jump; a 12-pound shot put; a standing hop, step, and jump; and a running broad jump. It is the only athletic event carrying a special division for rural schools, organized on a state-wide basis. The pentathlon winner at the county meet qualifies for the district, and the winner at the district meet may represent his district at the State meet. In this final contest four prizes are offered, bronze, silver, and gold medals, and a silver loving cup—School Life.

Never before such FLAVOR in a whole wheat food

There's a meal in every Muffet

A new breakfast delight! Strength-giving, body-building, choice, ripe whole wheat with a zestful new tang due to the exclusive Muffets process of cooking, crushing and toasting.

You'll like Muffets so much with milk or cream or butter, you'll want to have this new palate-tickling flavor at luncheon and dinner too.

You can! Muffets' clever shape permits you to slice them for sandwiches or as bases for vegetables; or hollow them out as patty shells for creamed foods or dainty desserts.

But try Muffets first for breakfast. The vital food elements of the whole wheat put into the most digestible and tasteful form by the Muffets process make Muffets the ideal cereal for young and old.

WASHINGTON

J. Freeman was in town a few days last week taking orders of the storekeepers, while here he stopped at Sidney Kaler's.

D. H. Mathieson, superintendent of schools stopped over night at B. K. Ware's Wednesday.

Claude Wing cut his hand last week while chopping wood, several stitches had to be taken.

Charles Eassey is boarding at Charles Sukeforth's for a few weeks. Bad colds and distempers are prevailing in this vicinity.

Harold Kaler and Urie Peabody called on Charles Sukeforth's Monday. The heavy snowfall of Saturday and Sunday night accompanied by extreme high winds filled the highways so it made several days of hard shovelling before they were opened for travel. It is reported to be the worst storm for many years.

George Ames of Jefferson was a Sunday caller at B. H. Lincoln's. He made the trip on snowshoes.

Mahlon Turner is stopping at Arthur Sherman's.

Will Hatch is clerking for F. L. Ludwig and Ernest Pardoe is assisting him as Mr. Ludwig is confined to his home with illness.

Alonzo Hanson has returned from Unity where he has been employed. Town meeting will be held March 14.

Special Saturday only, $5.00 Reversette Toaster $3.55. A. T. Thurston, 444 Main street—adv.

Mrs. Ivan Cunningham and Mrs. Edridge will sing at the Methuen Club Friday afternoon.

A brief note from H. A. Daniels, who is circumnavigating the globe, says: "Our first view of Naples was from the ship, across the Bay of Naples, on a Sunday morning. Smoke was pouring out of the crater of Vesuvius as it always does, and the glow of the morning sun was just showing in the sky directly behind the mountain. This made a wonderful pink background for the black smoke. In the distance, the chimneys of a hundred or more churches were rising, calling the Italians to early mass. The old city, reminding us of the days of the Roman emperors, was built up in tiers along the mountainside and in the morning sun presented a picture that would be hard to describe. By this time J. C. Perry has probably told you all about Italy, the Italian Lakes, the Riviera (where I am at present), and all about Nice, Monte Carlo, and Southern France, and so I will skip on to Spain, and then home."

THE WATER POWER

Mr. Perry Opposes Any Attempt To Send It Out of the State.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:

It is a big question. Perhaps in the last analysis, it will be found that there is too much water in the stock of the various water power companies, especially the holding companies, which of themselves, do not generate hydro-electric power, but instead hold the majority of the common stock of the various local and individual companies, taking another rake off, in the way of a dividend, from the earnings of these said individual companies.

The common stock of a company is the company. The preferred stock has a prior lien on the earnings of the company, but has no voting power. There are various holding companies, like one at New England, grouping the local companies in New England States, like the Central Maine Power Company, together with others in New Hampshire and Vermont. Then there is the great big mogul company of all, holding these smaller holding companies, together with the individual power companies, called the Middle West Utilities Company.

In Harper's Magazine for March (perhaps in other publications too) there is a full page advertisement of this Middle West Utilities Company, claiming to hold companies in nineteen states, among which are Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, a neat outline map of these three states heading the full page advertisement. The hydro-electric power companies in these three states of New England have, in recent years, been acquired by the Insull interests, which own the big holding company—the Middle West Utilities Company, covering as the advertisement says, nineteen states.

Within the past few weeks this big holding company—the Middle West Utilities Company—has announced an issue of $20,000,000 (twenty millions) prior lien and preferred stock, which is a little better, on an average, than a million to a state, increase in valuation. Every individual consumer of electricity in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, as well as in the other sixteen states, that go to make up the nineteen states, covered by the Middle West Utilities Company, pays or will have to pay the interest on this twenty millions of watered stock, and, in the end, the whole issue itself, unless Uncle Sam, through the operations of the Interstate Commission, by investigation, takes a directing hand in this gigantic financial operation.

Were it not for the "extra profit" gathered in by these holding companies, it is evident that the cost of electricity to the consumer in these nineteen states would be greatly reduced, especially in Maine, with its great undeveloped water power. It looks like a great mistake for the Central Maine Power Company majority stockholders to have sold out to the Insull interests.

The plea, made by this Insull combination, is that more business will result from it.

Wait a moment. In the salesrooms of all these hydro-electric companies there are on sale improved appliances for household work, such as for laundry work, and also for heating stoves in which to do cooking. This great improvement, in this advanced age of improvements, is only in its infancy. When full grown it will consume much more of this so called "surplus water power," generating electricity, than it does now, not only in Maine, but in all the other states, nineteen, grasped by the Middle West Utilities Company.

Then again were it not for the profit of these holding companies, which do not generate electric power, the rates could and no doubt would be reduced, perhaps to such an amount that even a house, or many of them, in Maine, at least, could be heated by electricity at less expense than in any other way.

My story is a short one this morning for the reason that the crowning of "Miss Rockland" enforced my absence from the set Tuesday night, and last night I had to conclude that the reception was coming from Station NG.

The only stations which I listed last night were WEEI, WNAC, WBZ, WJZ, WABC, WSAI and WIOD. I found lots of static, much fading and a general trend toward balkiness.

I was interested in the Boston Globe news bulletins which told me that Babe Ruth had accepted a compromise offer of $700,000 a year for three years to play baseball with the New York Yankees; that the odds were 9 to 5 on Sharkey in his bout with McGitte tonight; and that George B. Polley, "The Human Fly" had died a natural death at his home in Virginia. Polley had visited Rockland twice and climbed the face of Talbot block each time. In connection with Babe Ruth's successful bid for a higher salary it is interesting to note that the poor boy was receiving only $4000 a summer for his work 13 years ago.

POULTRY PROGRAMS

Will Figure Prominently In Farmers' Week At University of Maine.

"For the average poultryman not selling day old chicks, hatching eggs or breeding stock, the profits are pretty largely determined by whether or not the hens lay regularly when the price of eggs is high," says Leitch P. Gardner, assistant professor in charge of poultry work at the college.

"How to recognize the characteristics of high laying hens is one of the phases of poultry keeping that is to be emphasized in the poultry program at Farmers' Week."

For several years poultry programs have been one of the features of Farmers' Week. Again this year because of the interest in poultry keeping and because of the demand for another strong poultry program is being arranged.

Selection of breeders and disease control will be two of the subjects given particular attention. Several successful poultrymen in the state have been invited to give talks. One or more good speakers from outside the state are being secured.

The lectures on poultry will begin the first day of Farmers' Week, March 29, and continue through Friday, April 1.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO TOKYO UNIVERSITY'S NEW LIBRARY

Contributions of books to the number of more than 400,000 have been made by libraries and agencies in Europe and America to the new library of Tokyo Imperial University, Japan, to replace the books destroyed by fire during the earthquake of 1923. In addition, valuable private collections have been donated by many of the nobility and people of Japan, gifts from native sources, including 2700 books on Japanese history, law and economics, from the Imperial Household Agency. The new library building, for the construction of which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., contributed $2,000,000, will house approximately 2,000,000 volumes, and is expected to be ready for occupancy next year.

Our Lawmakers At The Capitol

"The present law requiring the labelling of prison-made goods is not observed by the State Prison Commission because prison-made goods could not be unloaded anywhere outside the State," Henry H. Hastings, chairman of the commission, told the legislative committee of State Prison Tuesday.

He was pleading for the repeal of the law passed in 1887, which requires the labelling of prison-made goods. Chairman Hastings also admitted that another section of the same law which required that no more than 20 percent of the prisoners should be employed in any one industry, was not observed to the letter.

Benjamin F. Cleaves, secretary of the Associated Industries of Maine, and Howard C. Woodside, legislative agent of the State Federation of Labor, opposed the measure.

Mr. Cleaves said that the association which he represented was opposed to the repeal of the law as a matter of principle and objected to any attempt on the part of the State to enter into industry. "I do not believe that the State should be bettered at the expense of our own citizens," he asserted.

"I have found out but recently that the law is not being enforced and I believe the prison commissioners should be required to observe it," declared Mr. Woodside. He said that it was wrong for the State Prison to enter into competition with the Maine Institution for the Blind in the making of brooms. He believed that goods manufactured at the State Prison should be sold to some of the State institutions.

Representative Albert J. Rawley of St. George objected to prison labor on the highway when it interfered with farmers who desired to work on the road, but said that he had no objections to their working on trunk lines if properly guarded.

He charged that prisoners had been "running at large" while the work was going on along the Union-Rockport road and that "women folks did not feel safe out of doors." His own wife, he said, had become so nervous that she asked him to "load up the rifle and put it in the bathroom."

Charles S. Hichborn of the Prison Commission said that the commissioners had given consideration to the manufacture of automobile plates, but had found that it could not be profitably done. Replying to the suggestion of Mr. Woodside that several states in other parts of the country had planned to enter into industry, whereby one line of goods was manufactured in the prison of each state for the several states and that Maine might do the same thing, Mr. Hichborn declared that while such a union effort had been discussed, there was not a single instance where it had been put into practice.

F. Morris Fish, warden of the State Prison, said with great earnestness "some work should be provided for the 229 prisoners at the State Prison. The most dangerous element in the prison is the idle man who is going to do if you cannot sell the goods that you make in the prison."

Chairman Hastings in presenting to the committee a proposal to increase the annual appropriation for personal service at the prison from $50,000 to $55,000 asserted that there was great need for two extra guards. Phineas H. Gay of Newcastle added his voice to the appeal for the two extra guards. "Men are working from 10 to 24 hours a day and sometimes the warden himself has to do guard duty. These extra guards are needed for the safety of the people of Maine and the safety of the prison officials," he said.

Chairman Hastings said that while the Union-Rockport road work was a good one for the prison, it was a losing one for the prison. He further declared that the Highway Department allowed but $1.75 daily for the men.

Replying to the inquiry of Representative Rawley, Chairman Hastings asserted that the $1.75 paid to the prisoners by the Highway Commission was paid into the State Treasury.
