Life is too short to learn by personal experience. Books enable one to benefit by the experiences of others.
For the writer, definitions hold certain inescapable fascination. For instance, there is the following from the pen of Henry Seidel Canby, stating that a Squid (if our biology is correct) sucks in whatever comes its way and when excited, squirts out ink." Perhaps it was only natural for the writer immediately to see the personal application of such a definition, especially after learning from Webster that this same squid was "very abundant on the North Atlantic Coast and often used for bait." In view of her present occupation further explanation seems unnecessary.
Readers of the Forum seem also to be held by this fascination of definitions. For some months now they have been contributing their own definitions of various subjects. "Define the Perfect Child," demanded the editors and straightway came forth a volley of definitions wide and diverse in their conceptions. You enjoyed that, rejoined the editors, now define for us the word "Intelligence." From

An article appearing recently has stressed the often unrealized effect the publication of an author's picture has upon the selling power of his book. The attractive pictures of Anne Parrish, for instance, have doubtless done much to increase the sales of her books, but what about the "badly spoiled boy" face of Winston Churchill, or that of Woodrow Wilson, which though boasting of a pair of eyes that immediately attracts attention, surely has nothing else to convince a reader that here indeed is a man capable of producing a "Story of Philosophy." The writer of this article made no mention however of Sinclair Lewis, though it is hard to realize the reason for this omission. One careful examination of his picture which is so conspicuous in advertising his latest book would warn the prospective reader more effectively than anything else imaginable of just what to expect when this man attempted to write a book depicting present day ministers.
An exhaustive compendium of American Genealogy has just been added to the library collection. It contains over 1600 records and over 5000 lineages and many illustrations showing coats of arms. It is the second volume of what will eventually be a really comprehensive genealogical history of the American Nation. It is much to be regretted that lack of funds at the time of the publication made it impossible for the library to purchase the first volume. Although this library does not attempt to do any exhaustive genealogical work, such work calling for a large collection of rare and expensive books and specially trained assistants, it receives many demands for local families and genealogical data. It is hoped that the presence of this new volume will greatly aid in its facilities for filling these demands.
This week the librarian sent in to the State Library at Augusta a list of the books purchased with the $500 given by the State for this purpose. Under the regulations of the law this money must be spent for books, other than adult fiction. The amount is based upon the sum appropriated each year by the city. It is wondered if Rockland citizens realize how very dependent the library is upon this State stipend, and how much it has meant to its book collection. With the exception of the year 1925 the local city appropriation has never been adequate to cover more than operating expenses of the library. With the exception of the money used for rebinding books, usually less than $100 per year, and that taking care of the cost of magazine subscriptions, no part of the money appropriated each year has been used for books. The library is entirely dependent upon the State stipend and the fines collected for overdue books for purchasing its real stock-in-trade books. For the most part, fine money is used for buying popular adult fiction and new books for children, while that derived from the State is used exclusively for building up the reference and research library. The important books of non-fiction which have done so much toward increasing the library's actual usefulness to the community.

far and wide came the definitions, Rocklandites being especially interested in this set because that submitted by a former Rockland boy, Sidney I. Snow, was one of the prize winners. On goes the contest. The twelfth series appears in the May issue. Its subject is "Tolerance." The next to appear is "Love." Interest seems to be kept at a high pitch and there is much to be learned from the many views and ideas presented in these brief, to-the-point definitions. The Forum and its back-files are always available at the library.

All book lovers have a tender spot in the heart for that inveterate book collector A. Edward Newton. From Christopher Morley's Bowling Green in the Saturday Review of Literature the following was gleaned:

"One of the pleasantest of Caliph Newton's humors is to have framed in his guest-rooms the Table of Kindred and Affinity which one finds in the back of the Anglican prayer-book. It is reassuring and sedative, before turning out the light, to contemplate the list of 30 people (Sister's Son's Wife, Wife's Brother's Daughter, etc.) whom a man cannot marry. At least, one ponders, life is that much simplified."

Because some newspapers unfairly released before publication date, Governor Smith's answers to Chief Justice Marshall's challenge as to whether he could rightfully take the oath as President of the United States and remain true to the Catholic faith, the Atlantic Monthly has been forced to issue the May number much earlier than usual. The discussion of an intense interest to all thinking people. Many versions of it have appeared in various newspapers. Both Marshall's and Smith's letters in full are given in the Atlantic Monthly, files of which are always available at the library.

Recent transportation developments have demonstrated that many people desire cheap excursions, even to the extent of overnight trips in coaches, asserts M. L. Harris of Portland, General Passenger Agent of the Maine Central Railroad. To meet the progressive ideas of the day, he announces, and to fill this demand, the Maine Central is cooperating with the Boston and Maine and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroads in trying out one of these low-rate special excursions to New York City, leaving Maine on May 6 and New York on the 8th. Full details can be secured at the local railroad ticket office.

ONE-THIRD ALREADY SUBSCRIBED

Knox County's Allotment For the Mississippi Flood Sufferers Will Speedily Be Raised—Have You Made Your Subscription?—Don't Delay.

The tremendous proportions of the Mississippi River tragedy have not diminished in the week, but rather have grown from day to day. Yesterday high explosives were used to break down the levees below New Orleans, in the hope to divert the current of the river from its threatening attacks upon that city.

While the Red Cross, with which government agencies are co-operating in relief work, is making splendid progress, Mr. Coolidge is convinced that more than the $5,000,000 already asked by the organization will be required for relief work. He expects to join in an appeal for another specific sum as soon as he confers with Secretary Hoover who is in the flood district.

Everywhere throughout the country the people are with quick generosity responding to the call for funds.

Knox County has been asked by Red Cross National Headquarters to contribute $1300, a sum equal to that raised here for the Japanese earthquake sufferers.

One-third of this sum is already pledged and the rest of it will be quickly forthcoming. Under the auspices of the local Red Cross the towns are being represented by the following patriotic citizens. The amounts allotted are based upon the Japanese drive:

Rockland (Red Cross Chapter)	$500
Thomaston—Mrs. R. O. Elliot	118
Camden—John Taylor	200
St. George—E. E. Allen, J. W. Hupper	50
Rockport—Everett Libby	50
West Rockport—Stewart Ormiston	125
Vinalhaven—H. W. Fiddell	15
Warren—Mrs. Ralph Wentworth	15
Union—Dr. Plummer	75
No. Haven—Mrs. W. Hopkins	50
Owl's Head—Walker Brewster	32
St. Thomaston—C. L. Sleeper	54
Washington—Dr. Pierpont	6

All quotas have been accepted and towns are working. Thomaston and Vinalhaven have made some payments. St. George is paid in full. Subscriptions may be made with any of the above or sent direct to Red Cross headquarters at Rockland; or to The Courier-Gazette. Make checks payable to American Red Cross.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Election Day Monday. Call 779 for returns around 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Hoosier factory expert is at the Stonington Furniture Co. store today and Monday explaining the merits of his famous product.

Winslow-Holbrook Post has announced its intention of presenting an American flag to Edwin Libby Post, G. A. R., and one to the city building.

The postoffice carriers and staff will be special guests of Manager Benson at Park Theatre Monday night to see Eddie Cantor in "Special Delivery."

Phyllis Fletcher, a pupil at the Warren street school, was knocked down by an auto truck Wednesday on Warren street, receiving bad cuts and bruises.

A special meeting of Golden Rod Chapter, O. E. S., is called for 1.30 p. m. Sunday, for the purpose of attending the funeral of Sister Merle Merry Rollins.

The Maine Butlers' Association will have a meeting at the Great Northern Hotel in Milbrook next Monday afternoon. Two out of State speakers are expected.

The members of Limerock Council, Knights of Columbus, are to attend services in a body at St. Bernard's Church at 8 a. m. Sunday, after which they will proceed to the Rockland Hotel for their annual communion breakfast.

Joseph Leopold, the well known New York paving contractor, was in the city Thursday on his way home from Vinalhaven, where he inspected his busy granite plant. "We look for a good season," he told a Courier-Gazette reporter.

Several Junior Harmony Club members are anxious to attend the State Convention of Music Clubs in Augusta, May 11. If there is anyone in the city who would be willing to take two or more by auto on that date, please telephone 873-R.

Miriam Rebekah Lodge will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, following the circle supper at 6.15. The housekeepers are Mrs. Rose Sawyer, Mrs. Alice Patterson, Mrs. Margaret Rackliffe and Mrs. Lillian McCurdy. Unsolicited members will furnish cake or pastry.

The instruction will be directed by Major Oscar C. Warner and Lieut. Robert E. Demmitt, U. S. Army instructors, and another instructor from the Artillery not yet announced.

In the course of his Rockland visit Col. William Tudor Gardner dropped into the C. M. Tibbette fruit store, which is the headquarters of the famous Bean Barrel Club. He was promptly admitted to the open forum and passed the tenderfoot test with surprising ease. A discussion of the sheep problem with Woodbury M. Snow proved one of the features.

John Meehan & Sons have built a 50-foot granite extension to their wharf at Clark Island and after filling in will erect thereon an additional 15-ton derrick which will be used to facilitate the loading of barges. The extension gives three extra feet of water. The company is putting in a new compressor and electrifying the plant in part. More than a mile of railroad track is used in the handling of the stone. The company had more than a million blocks of paving at the winter season.

Rev. William Vaughan, pastor of the Universalist Church in Belfast and a member of the Rotary Club of that city, spoke to Rockland Rotarians at yesterday's luncheon upon the three great fundamentals of leadership for what is wrong in the world today—selfishness, jealousy, greed, and against which, he was glad to say, the modern service clubs are engaged in combat. The world wants peace, and especially America desires it, the speaker said, and he noted the declaration of four great personages, each put into four words: Grant, "Let us have peace"; Joffre, "They shall not pass"; Pershing, "Lafayette, we are here"; and Jesus above all, "Peter, put up thy sword," as furnishing texts for the world-wide desire. Break down the old walls of jealousy and hatred, the old spirit of war among business men. Seek peace and pursue it. The speaker warmly commended the work Rotary and other clubs are doing among the boys, laying foundations of future citizenship. Warm applause and congratulations followed the address. Victor Elmore of Camden and Leonard L. Bishop of Bath were visiting Rotarians and Cleveland Holbrook of Camden was a visitor.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Ye banks and braes o' bonnie Doon,
How can ye bloom sae fair!
How can ye chant, ye little birds,
And I sae fu' o' care!

Thou'll break my heart, thou bonnie bird
That sings upon the bough;
Thou'lt mind me o' the happy days
When my fause love was true.

Thou'll break my heart, thou bonnie bird
That sings beside thy mate;
For sae I sat, and saw a sang,
And wist na o' my fate.

And ilka bird sang o' its love;
And sae did I o' mine.

But left the thorn wi' me.

THE FLOOD FUND

Arrangements, as elsewhere noted, for the work in the towns will doubtless see the sum allotted Knox County for Mississippi flood relief quickly forthcoming. The amount is based upon that raised here in 1923 for the Japanese earthquake sufferers ($1,325). Prospective givers should not wait to be called upon. It should be a free-will offering, if ever there was one. Contributions may be sent to Rockland Red Cross, or to The Courier-Gazette. Make checks payable to "American Red Cross." Boys Week is peculiarly an American institution, celebrated with countrywide observance and we are glad that Rockland is to give it so cordial a recognition. Camden also is to see to it that the importance of the boy as a community asset is not lost sight of. We are not advised whether in other parts of the county the anniversary is receiving attention, but with its gradual extension the time is bound to come when in every town and village notice will be taken of it.

Three months in jail or fifty dollars fine is the penalty prescribed by State law for the visitor to the Rockland Public Library who last week tore out and carried away a dozen leaves from a copy of the Biographical Encyclopedia. The reference books of the library have lately been in requisition by a score or so of visitors seeking information in connection with a "Presidential Contest" appearing in a Boston paper. Some contestant, carried away by the ardor of research, has made it impossible for other contestants to avail themselves of this particular source of information. The least he (or she) can do by way of reparation is to supply a fresh copy of the violated book and so keep out of jail. The local library has been favored, this being the first recorded act of real vandalism.

"Year after year," says the Providence Journal, "a few opponents of daylight saving raise their voices in Rhode Island, but in vain. The latest attempt to stir up the issue is not likely to produce any other result. The only trouble with the wholesome summer system as we have it," the editor adds, "is that it does not last long enough—it ought to continue a month longer than it does." (We are sorry our legislators have made it impossible for Maine to conform with those other sections of New England that are to enjoy the long twilight hours in conformity with which the railroad schedules are to be made up.)

Over a billion dollars will be spent this year upon the roads of the country. Our own locality will see its proportion of this noble sum. In particular the prospect of the rebuilding of that part of the Atlantic Highway lying between this city and Rockport is highly pleasing to the public which travels it. The worn-out condition has long called for replacement and we may look this time to see done the thorough piece of work which this much-used thoroughfare demands.

A national movement is being organized asking motorists to co-operate in saving lives of birds and wild animals on the highways. The annual toll of wild birds, domestic fowl, squirrels, rabbits and other wild life from death by motor car is tremendous. There is need for great care in saving lives of dogs and cats from destruction, as well as a larger animals which because of their size frequently wreck cars.

Paraphrasing some earlier writer, we wish we could feel ourselves as right part of the time as Mr. Menckner knows himself to be all the time. And what about a Girls Week? Let us not forget that our girls are quite as important an asset as the boys.

The political pot is sizzling for fair today with a deal of vigorous campaigning very much in evidence for election will be held Monday when the voters of tomorrow will register their choice for mayor, city councilmen and school committee members. The election is held in connection with National Boys' Week and constitutes one of the high lights of the year for Rockland High School. The idea is by no means new but is being carried to a greater extent than heretofore attempted. The idea behind it is to familiarize the boys and girls with the machinery of city elections and city government and if possible create a lively interest in civic affairs.

The machinery of a regular municipal election will be followed as closely as possible from caucus to final count of ballots and the city government chosen will organize, select a complete slate of officers and departments as its heads, and after proper instruction by the present incumbents, will take possession and carry on the routine city business for a day, probably next Friday.

The majority caucuses were held Thursday morning and several sharply contested. The 6th and 7th grades were divided into two parties, the Liberals, (girls) and the Conservatives (boys) being very nearly equal in number. The Liberal caucus was held first and resulted in the selection of Palmer Pease as standard bearer with four other nominees. The Conservative caucus followed and keen campaigning was in evidence during the five minutes allowed for the caucus to be at ease. Donald Merriam was the choice of the Liberals and the Conservatives.

These groups were met by a committee composed of Mayor Carver, Supt. Toner, Anna E. Coughlin, veteran civics teacher, F. S. Rhodes, Judge A. L. Miles, Scout Executive John W. Thompson and Alderman John M. Richardson. Supt. Toner presided over the meeting and introduced Mayor Carver who told the story of the plan and what was hoped from it in the building of future citizens. Mr. Richardson explained the machinery of a municipal election and acted as chairman of the caucuses.

Bob McCarthy, William Davis, Clarence Cunningham, Fred Overlock, Richard Bird and Francis Orne, Ruth Koster, Edna Gregory, Elizabeth Annis, Ruth Crouse, Hattie Hupper and Ethel Thomas served on the committees to receive, sort and count ballots at the majority caucuses while Randall Marshall and Mae Johnston were secretaries.

The election will be held Monday, the polls to open at 1:30 sharp in the specified polling places. There will be seven wards—Seniors I; Juniors I; Sophomores III; Half Freshman Class IV; Other Half Freshman Class V; three Eighth Grades VI; three Seventh Grades VII. Full ward organizations will operate the election in each precinct, ward clerks, election and ballot clerks. The voting lists in each ward will be carefully checked and all conducted according to rule. Complete returns will be bulletined at The Courier-Gazette office as usual, possibly by 3 o'clock, and will also be available at the High School after 2:30. The newly elected mayor and his aldermen will be special guests at the May meeting of the City Council Monday evening. They will

NO VITAL ISSUES

But Prominent Speakers Will Be Heard At Congregational Conference.

The Congregational Conference of Maine will be held in Bar Harbor next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and so far as can now be estimated will be devoted very largely to routine business. No controversies or spirited debates loom on the horizon.

On the other hand there will be a number of prominent speakers among them Dr. George L. Cadys of New York, and Rev. Sidney Lovett of Mt. Vernon Church, Boston. Dr. Henry Stiles Bradley of the Bates Street Church, Portland, will preach the convention sermon.

Rev. W. S. Rounds expects to attend the conference, and others who may go from the local church are J. C. Perry and Dr. R. W. Bickford. New members received into the Congregational churches of Maine last year, according to the report prepared for the new denominational Year-Book by Rev. Alfred V. Bliss of Portland, Conference superintendent, numbered 1254, of whom 884 were received upon confession of faith and 350 by letters of transfer from other churches. The present total membership is 22,379 and the members of young people's societies number 3873. The number of churches is 249.

An increase of $633,625 in contributions were reported by the churches for last year, the total raised being $762,432. The amount for local expenses was $659,815 and $102,616 was for missions and other benevolences. The amount given for the regular denominational missionary budget was $71,500.

An increase of $25,400 was reported in the value of church property, the total valuation now being placed at $2,999,050. Sixteen churches received legacies totalling $15,374. Invested funds held by churches now amount to $79,886. The average pastoral salary was reported as $1791. In addition to salary most of the pastors are supplied parsonages.

MRS. HOWARD E. ROLLINS

Mrs. Frances, wife of Howard E. Rollins and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis W. Merry died at her home on North Main street at 2:05 o'clock Thursday morning after a short illness.

Mrs. Rollins, formerly Miss Merle Merry leaves behind her a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. She was born Dec. 11, 1893. She was graduated from Rockland High School, a member of the class of '21 and from Farmington Normal School in 1924. In her work as teacher of the First Grade in Thomaston, she has been very successful and was popular with all. Mrs. Rollins had wonderful musical talent and was an excellent piano player. She had played for many entertainments at Rockland High School and while in Farmington played for chapel and also assisted in many of her entertainments. She received many compliments while there.

Her mother, father and sister Helen had always been so proud of her musical talent and her success at teaching that her sudden death has prostrated them with grief.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Eastern Star will attend in a body, also the members of her class in Rockland High School.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Rockland High and Thomaston High meet for the second time this season, at Community Park, this afternoon. The first game, played in Thomaston, resulted in a 10 to 9 victory, but this was not brought about until after Rockland had made a substantial rally and overcome a 7 to 1 lead. The Thomaston team may make an effort to offset that defeat. The game will be played at 2:30.

The Kennebec Valley league including Moose High of Bath, Cony of Augusta, Hallowell High, Gardiner and Brunswick, will swing into action today. Cony is the favorite to retain its title won last year.

In Ralph Brewer, Lincoln Academy of Damariscotta should have the best scholastic shotput in the State this spring, including prep schools as well. In fact one or two of the Maine colleges could use the light haired flash to advantage. Brewer is a product of Somerville, Mass., baseball and was all Massachusetts scholastic shotput champion. He attained his early training by practicing summers with the Boston Braves and is a mighty fast, sure throwing in field as well as a good stickler.

DEEP SEA LOBSTERING

A Portland man plans to set his lobster traps 80 miles off shore—going out on Cashes Bank, he says, and catch the big ones lobster men never land. The bank is 22 miles long, 17 miles wide and consists of three shoals over which water runs from four to seven and 11 fathoms, while just off the shoals it may be anywhere from 25 to 60 fathoms deep.

FISHER VS. QUIRION

Boxers Well Known Here Disregard the Bell In Bangor.

Bud Fisher, of Dexter, and Wild Man Quirion, of Waterville, have been rematched for a boxing match at the Bangor Chateau, May 9.

Fans who were at Connors' show Monday night will recall that it was Fisher and Quirion who staged the overtime battle, in the last round of the first bout of the evening. The two had been having an ordinary, interesting lively milling affair, when suddenly something happened. Fisher went after Quirion pell mell, and the bell found them sprawled in the middle of the ring banging away at each other. And they refused to stop! Bell or no bell! The respective seconds were forced to get into the ring to pull the pair apart.

The announcement that Connors has rematched Fisher and Quirion, and will offer three other all-star bouts in addition to a certain raise, will doubtless strike a pleasant spot with local fans. Further details concerning this forthcoming May 9 show should be given out soon.

The above information is from Thursday's Bangor Commercial. The local fans have seen Bud Fisher in action many times the past two years, thanks to the charity committee of the Elks Lodge, but had not seen the Waterville wild man until last Friday night when he knocked out Young Watson, of Thomaston in the third round. He looked like the real goods.

A LOOK-SEE TRIP

Congressman White Going Abroad To See if U. S. Gets Square Deal.

Representative Wallace H. White, Jr., will sail for Europe next Saturday on the Leviathan to make a survey of European shipping to attend the meeting at Stockholm in June of the International Chamber of Commerce. He will represent the United States Chamber of Commerce on the committee of communication at the conference at the request of Owen D. L. Young, member of the board of directors of the United States Chamber.

"This is a look-see trip," said Mr. White to a reporter, "I don't know exactly what I am going to do, except that I want to see, first hand, how the European countries are handling their shipping. I want to see the docks and the stevedores and the warehousemen. I want to know how much and in what way foreign governments help their shipping interests. I want to see if America is getting a square deal at the seaports of the world and I want to see if our ships are rendering the best service possible under their limitation."

"I want to see what progress America is making in her fight for a place in the front rank of world commerce. If she has dropped back I want to know why. If she is standing still I want to know what can be done to help her forward."

COULDN'T FIND ONE

Equal of Star Spangled Banner Not Produced In Big Contest.

A new national anthem, great enough to take a place beside "The Star Spangled Banner" has not yet been found, the National Federation of Music Clubs announced recently. A contest, in which nearly 1000 manuscripts were entered from every State in the Union, Alaska, Hawaii, England, India and France, failed to produce a melody of sufficient merit to provide music to carry the famous poem of Katherine Lee Bates, "America, the Beautiful."

Four nationally known music critics, Dr. Frank Damrosch, of New York; Frederick S. Converse, of Boston; Edna Brownell, of Chicago; and Dean Peter K. Lukin, of Evanston, Ill., were instructed by the Past Presidents' Assembly of the Federation to select a hymn only if it showed unmistakable greatness. They were told they were not to pick a winner from the deluge of manuscripts unless it was of magnitude sufficient to "sweep people off their feet."

"After giving careful consideration to them (201 offerings) we beg leave to report that, although some of the settings showed fine musicianship, no one impressed us as reaching the high standard called for. None were fully adequate to the inspiring text," said the judges in their decision. "We, therefore, recommend that no award be made."

STRAND THEATRE

Raymond Hitchcock and Marjorie Dawn starring today in "Red-Headed Preferred." The story tells of two men who believed that a night off unknown to their wives would not hurt. They get in touch with a friend of the out-of-town customer and she promises to get a red-headed girl to entertain the visitor. The red-headed girl turns out to be the wife of the younger of the two, but as it all occurs at a masked ball, the young husband does not recognize his wife. The complications that follow the young man's efforts to keep the audience in continuous roars of laughter.

A Helen Holmes picture is also on the bill. "One Hour of Love," with a brilliant cast, headed by Jacqueline Logan, is the feature for Monday and Tuesday. The story in brief tells of a young athletic society girl who after becoming engaged to a man of her own set, after putting him through some thrilling tests, visits a vast engineering project sponsored by her father and there meets the young engineer. He makes her conform to his camp rules, and she piqued by his attitude tells her three girl friends that she will make him fall in love with her. With all the wiles at her command, she succeeds, but finds that she is also spitted. In a tense scene in the man's home, where they both had gone for shelter during a rain storm he tells of his love, and then learns from the three girls who have hidden in the house that he is the victim of a joke. He angrily keeps the society girl a prisoner in his house. She holds him off with the aid of a gun, but his better self asserts itself and he leaves the house. How the lovers are again reunited makes a pretty and clever ending to a highly entertaining picture.

You will also like "Alaskan Adventures" on the same program. Next Wednesday and Thursday, George Sidney in "The Auctioneer,"—adv.

PARK THEATRE

Alice Terry in "The Magician" will be shown for the last time today. A climax you'll never forget, just one of a thousand thrills in Rex Ingram's masterpieces. The other feature is Viola Dana in "Naughty Nanette."

When Eddie Cantor got his job as postman in his latest comedy vehicle, "Special Delivery," which comes to the Park Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, he was given a route to cover. Tugged out in his gray uniform with his nickel-plated buttons and his shrill whistle, he rang the door bell at his first stop and waited. His ring was answered by the appearance of a pudgy, squinty-eyed Chinaman who spoke nothing but his native tongue. Eddie tried every gesture known from the book of Etiquette to no avail. He finally convinced the man from the Orient that he had a letter for him and opened it to prove it; only to discover that he had ripped open the wrong letter. This is but one of the many comical and embarrassing situations which befell Eddie as a postman. The rest of the cast includes such well known favorites as Jobyna Ralston, William Powell, Donald Keith and Mary Carr.—adv.

EMPIRE THEATRE

The attraction today at the Empire is Tom Tyler in "The Sonora Kid." The most fascinating role she has played on the screen is depicted by Colleen Moore in "Orchids and Ermine," coming Monday and Tuesday. A little telephone switchboard operator in the lobby of a huge New York hotel is the heroine of this humorous and romantic story. "The telephone operator is one of the most interesting persons in the United States," says Colleen, who spent several hours daily for three weeks in a Los Angeles main exchange, practicing for the part she plays in the picture. "She must be fast thinking and fast acting. She must have the disposition of a saint. She must have unlimited self-control. In fact, she must be a very nice and a very unusual person"—adv.

BELFAST SHOE OUTLOOK

Belfast business men and those dependent on the R. P. Hazard Company shoe factory for their livelihood have been some worried of late as the company has been obliged to lay off some of its help and the future did not look any too bright. It was announced Saturday, however, that on Monday they would start the slogan "Better cutters on 250 dozen per day, or workmanship and Better Shoes."

1500 dozen for the week and that their slogan is "Better Shoes." Competition was never as keen as today and it depends on the workmanship of the shoes which are put out without in the next few weeks, whether or not the Belfast factory will continue to operate. It behooves every operator," said Mr. Glidden today, "to do the best work he can and keep always in mind the slogan 'Better cutters on 250 dozen per day, or workmanship and Better Shoes.'"

SERMONETTE

I Am the Resurrection and the Life
Jesus' friend Lazarus was sick. Mary his sister, sent for him, saying, "Lord, he whom thou lovest is sick." His disciple would have detained him, but he said, "Our friend Lazarus sleepeth; but I go that I may awake him." Then said his disciples, "Lord if he sleep, he shall do well." Then said Jesus, "He that believeth in me though he were dead yet shall he live. Believest thou this?" She saith unto him "Yea, Lord." Standing by his grave, Jesus wept; then he cried with a loud voice, "Lazarus, come forth!" And he, Lazarus, that was dead came forth.

BESTS THE PACK ANIMAL

Chevrolet Proves More Efficient and Economical in Great Gold Rush of 1927.

Recalling the thrilling days of Virginia City, Goldfield and other famous Nevada mining camps in the period that succeeded the rush of the Forty-Niners to California, the new gold excitement at Weepah in Nevada promises to provide more material for romantic present-day writers just as those early-day mining camps give inspiration to Bret Harte and Mark Twain for their immortal fiction. The father of the latest gold craze is Frank Horton, Jr., the actual discoverer of the new ledge, with Frank Horton, Sr., as his guide and backer. Whether their gold claims warrant the wild excitement that has been aroused or not, Weepah already is a flourishing community of some four hundred tents and cabins—with the lowly burrow displaced in most cases either by shiny new automobiles or cars of ancient vintage.

Early visitors to the camp found Chevrolet to be the favorite means of transport among these busily engaged in mining operations. The automobile was declared to be more economical, less unruly and far more trustworthy than the pack-animals of an earlier era for the long trips across desert and mountainous country which are incidents of a mining engineer and prospector's life. Chevrolets may be found everywhere about the camp—adv.

THE COMMANDER'S RECORD

Not only can Studebaker's Commander maintain a speed of more than a mile a minute for more than 5000 miles but under test driving conditions it can average 17 1/2 miles to the gallon of gasoline. The former fact was proved on the Culver City speedway under the auspices of the American Automobile Association. The latter fact was proved in 62 cities under the supervision of accredited officials of local motor clubs. The average of the economy tests in these 62 cities showed the Commander operating on 17 1/2 miles to the gallon of gasoline. In every case the motor club officials examined the car before its start to ascertain that it was a stock model, witnessed the economy run throughout and reported the results direct to South Bend.

STUDENTS INTERESTED

As an added evidence of public interest in Maine's new program of advertising and developing the resources of the State, school students are now preparing to give graduation essays on the general subject of Maine Development. Letters are being received at the office of the Governor, asking for information and suggestions. The latest letter was from a selectman of a town in Knox county. He wrote on behalf of a student who hopes to make her Maine essay of sufficient interest to win the graduation essay prize.

NO ANSWER EXPECTED

President Coolidge is not expected at the White House to make any response to a letter asking whether he would be a candidate for re-election. Edward T. Whether the letter has been called to the attention of the President or whether it would be was not disclosed by Mr. Clark.

AN HOUR OF LOVE

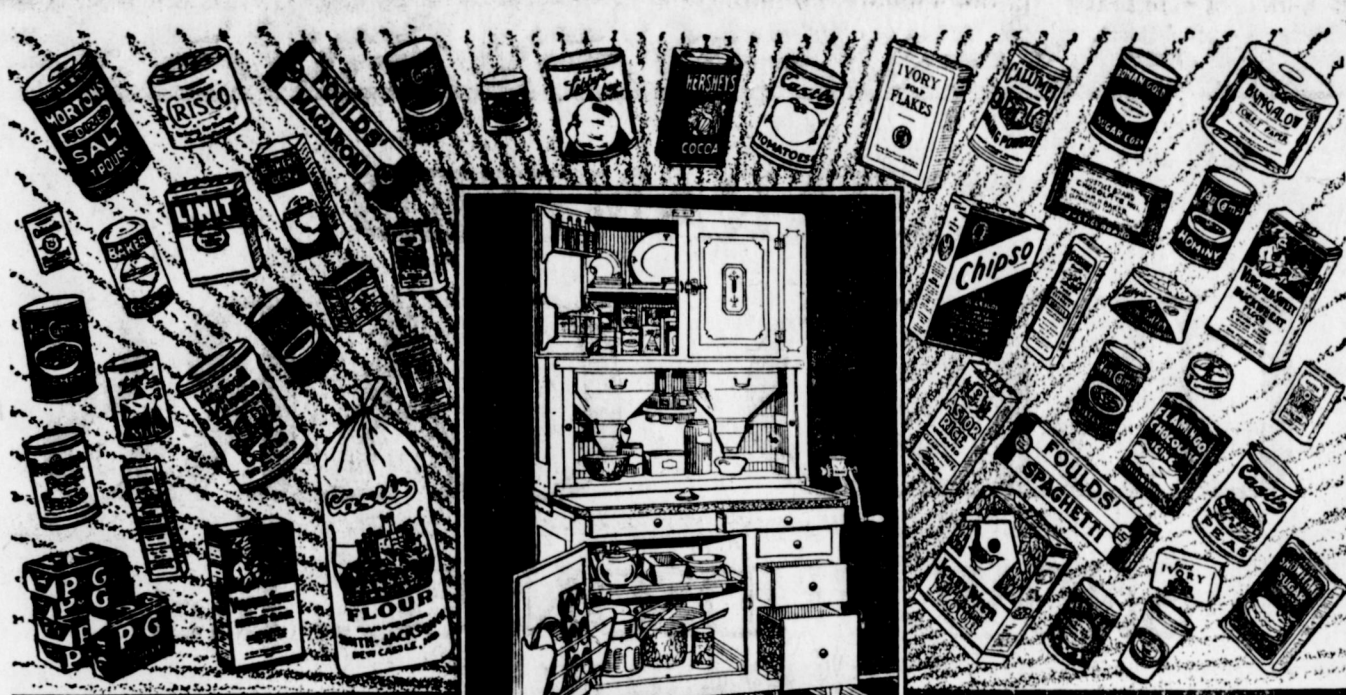

Story of Society Girl Who Met Her Match in a Young Engineer.

An unusually entertaining picture will be seen at Strand Theatre Monday and Tuesday when the Tiffany production, "One Hour of Love" will be shown.

Jacqueline Logan and Robert Frazer, who portray the leading roles are both excellent in their portrayals with the former bringing to the screen a rare beauty and winsome personality.

The picture opens with the heroine engaged in a tennis game after which she is besieged by a young society man to become his wife. She agrees if he will enter her car and let her drive as fast as she pleases. He sticks it out, and she reluctantly accepts him. Soon after, she and her three girl friends go to her father's estate in the mountains where an engineering job is in progress. There she is handled without gloves by the handsome young engineer in charge of the work. Unused to being kept in bounds she determines to humble this young man in the process of this our heroine succumbs to his charms and it is with the unravelling of the love affair that springs up between them both lies the charm and excitement of the picture—adv.

A GOOD JUDGE

Ashley St. Clair, Rockland Native, To Serve Calais Again.

Ashley St. Clair of Calais has been reappointed judge of the Calais Court for a third term. This is of interest to Rockland people, as Mr. St. Clair is a native of this city and lived here until about 20 years of age. Mr. St. Clair celebrated his 80th birthday March 22. He is one of the few Grand Army men in the United States holding an active position. His reappointment had the unanimous endorsement of many organizations and individuals in Washington County.

When a boy of 16 Mr. St. Clair enlisted in Co. E of the Second Maine Volunteer Cavalry, and during the Civil War saw much active service. Returning from the War he resumed his High School studies, and later went to the Farmington Normal School from which he was graduated in 1869. He then turned his attention to teaching, his first school being the Miltown Grammar School of Calais. After several years of teaching he began the study of law and has made a distinct success in this profession. He was a member of the Legislature in 1913 and afterwards of the Executive Council.

Mr. St. Clair has several relatives in this vicinity, including two sisters in Rockland, Mrs. R. L. Jones and Mrs. Eda Oxtun, a brother Elmer in Rockport. He is also a brother of Penno St. Clair of Newbury, Mass., who spends his summers in Rockland, his former home.

METHODISTS MEET

Doings of the Maine Conference Session Being Held In Lewiston.

Addressing the Maine Methodist Conference Thursday Dr. Clarence T. Wilson secretary of the Board of Temperance and Public Morals, declared that the Methodists were pioneers in temperance and that it was through their headquarters at Washington that the "bone dry amendment" was secured. He said that his organization is directing its efforts to clean up the movies, the stage and purify the literature of the country. He claimed credit was due his organization for what had already been done in this line in New York.

Dr. Wilson declared that "never again should we allow anyone to bootleg his way into the presidency of the United States without saying where he stands on prohibition." He declared that there are sinister influences at work in Washington and that wherever the president goes someone pulls him back.

Rev. L. G. March, superintendent of the Rockland district, reported 4841 full members with 392 in the preparatory list. Total membership in the church school is 5209. There are 261 members of men's clubs and 492 in women's clubs.

Two hundred thirty are reported in organized men's Bible classes, and $56 in members of the ladies' aid in other organizations for men there are 75. Under young people's work, there is reported a membership of 512. A junior league membership of 218 is given, 101 of whom are at Livermore Falls. Two hundred are enrolled on Scout organizations or kindred societies. One troop of Girl Scouts is given with a membership of nine. There are 75 members of girl reserves.

In the work of religious education, 26 schools are graded in full or in part. Eight had no system of graduation, whatever. Eleven have a teachers' meeting weekly or monthly; 23 did nothing whatever in teacher training.

In finances, 28 local budgets reported a total of $61,499; 26 reported world service apportionments accepted in part or in full totalling $9,362.

Eight churches have some modern equipment. Twenty-six parsonages are modern in their appointments and eight have few or none.

"Half the world is yet in utter ignorance and barbarism," said Dr. R. J. Wade, Chicago, Illinois, executive secretary of the World Service Commission of the Methodist Episcopal Church Thursday.

"Hundreds of millions of people live in squalor, never knowing relief from hunger," said Dr. Wade. "Three-fourths of the human race live in spiritual darkness, hearing nothing of the Gospel of Christ as a Savior. In order to carry this Gospel to these people, the World Service Commission of the Methodist Episcopal Church needs an additional $500,000 in China, India, Africa and other foreign lands.

"The World Service Commission," said Dr. Wade, "is at work of five continents and many islands of the sea, including over forty countries outside the United States, using more than one hundred languages and dialects. It is working in more cities of over 250,000 population and over, outside of America, than in the States."

WHEN THEY DUCKED

One of the Good Stories Told By Col. William Tudor Gardner.

On his recent visit to Rockland Col. William Tudor Gardner told a number of good stories.

One of them concerned the traveling man who went into a certain town and was impressed by the quietness of the main street. There was not a soul in sight. The traveling man's curiosity finally got the better of him, and he dropped into a store where he found three or four townsmen chatting.

"I don't see anybody on the street," said he, "where is everybody?" "Oh, this is tag day" was the illuminating reply.

On another occasion the traveling man revisited the same town and found the main street alive with people. It seemed as if the entire population was out.

"What's the meaning of so many persons on Main street?" he asked. "This is the day of house canvassing," was the reply.

"Civic pride was evidently at a low ebb in the town where these incidents occurred."

Boy Scouts

With recent certification of Warren Davis, Troop 6 now has its full quota of 32 scouts. E. G. Thayer and Wilbur Senter are scoutmasters and assistant scoutmaster, respectively.

Preparatory to the Court of Honor session which is to be held next Wednesday evening, a group of 27 local scouts is going to Bangor Saturday in order to qualify in the first class swimming test in the Y. M. C. A. tank in that city. Arrangements have been made to have the use of the tank through the courtesy of the Bangor Council executive, Mr. Roundy. The party is to be under the supervision of scoutmasters Thayer and Bowden.

Thursday evening was a busy night at the beach under Ingraham Hill where a group of about 75 scouts gathered to roast "weenies" and bake clams. It looked like a "shortage" of clams due to the inconvenient time of low water but every scout seemed to have had enough of clams or other delicacies, to satisfy the outdoor appetite. After an hour of "flaming" without much success on either side, the scouts took up the trail Rocklandwards. The only casualty developed in the wetting of a Seascout's coat where it was left in the path of the rising tide, and even a tenderfoot knows that tide rises.

May 14, weather permitting, is the day set for an outdoor Scout Rally at Oakland Park. Scout contests will be run off for prizes. A list of contests will be given to each group next week in order to select the contestants.

ASK FOR JUSTICE

Four Sailors On Sch. T. N. Barnsdall Say They Were Marooned.

Four sailors allege that they were marooned at Martinique Oct. 9 of last year and they have filed a libel in their demand for justice in the U. S. District Court. Service was made on Alan L. Bird, president of the Camden Vessel Co., owner of the schooner T. N. Barnsdall, Wednesday.

It is set forth in the libel that they signed articles at Newport News and sailed from that port with a miscellaneous cargo June 14, bound for Martinique in the West Indies. They arrived Oct. 4, discharged and were to sail Oct. 9. While on shore leave by permission of Capt. E. A. Johnson, they allege that he weighed their baggage and said when they returned to the point where the schooner was moored that they had signed a new crew and put to sea.

The four men remained in this port in idleness for a considerable period after which they signed on with another captain and worked their way back home. They received a portion of the wages stipulated and sued to recover balance, value of their baggage on board the schooner and balance from Oct. 9 to Feb. 14 at the rate of two days' pay for one.

Three of them hail from Newport News. John Frith files a claim for balance of $142 from June 14 to Oct. 9 at the rate of $60 a month, having received $88 and the $142 he claims that is due together with $256 in wages and clothing worth $132 makes his bill $520.

Lazarus Daniels has a claim for $164.50, balance of wages from June 14 to Oct. 9, having received $67.50, clothing is worth $116 and subsequent wages amount to $256 for a total of $536.50.

Owen McLain claims $117 of the balance due while he was in the ship, $62.85 as value of his baggage and $256 since Oct. 9, a total of $435.85.

Albert Felix of Roxbury, Mass., files for a balance of $147 with $85 paid him, $175 worth of clothing and $256 as wages after the ship sailed to Feb. 14, a total of $578.

The court is petitioned for an order to compel the ship's officers to present the signed articles of the men to an agent to work the ship both to and from Newport News on the round trip voyage.

SPRING? HUH!
[For The Courier-Gazette]
Sometimes the air is balmy,
And then, again, we freeze,
The weather is so changeable,
This is April if you please.

We are surely glad to see the spring
And wish for warmer weather
When the icebergs in the air will melt
And pass us all together.

We'd like to shed our overcoats,
Winter caps and mittens too,
And feel that spring had really come,
And not chill through and through.

We hope that May will kinder be
When April does depart,
And bring us warmer weather
For the cookies of our heart.

We'd like to go a-riding
To sense our lovely world,
Without our fur coats buttoned snug
And our zipper, overhauled.

Martinsville. Alice Barber.

FARMERS HAPPY

Members of Camden Union Receive Dividend of 6 Percent.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Camden Farmers' Union was held at Megunticook Grange hall, Camden, recently with an attendance of 80 farmers. As usual a free dinner was given all those in attendance by the Union, who hired the members of Megunticook Grange to serve it. Following the dinner President Leon O. Crockett acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers, Manager George E. Nash, J. Herbert Gould and Charles Cavannagh.

The report of the manager showed the Union to be in a very prosperous condition, and showed that the usual custom had been followed this year of paying a stock dividend of 6 percent and a liberal trade dividend of 2 percent. This trade dividend amounted this year to $115, and was paid to members only. The current prices of grain and groceries are very reasonable, oftentimes being below other stores, thus a trade dividend seems like a gift.

The Camden Farmers' Union is cooperative in every respect and all loyalty have won. Camden Farmers' Union recently mailed to each stockholder the annual 6 per cent stock dividend and in addition a substantial trade dividend. This Union seems to be a continuing lesson of what co-operation can do when both management and members really practice it. In this instance the manager has been persistent in procuring the kind of goods that the members want. He has always been a stickler for quality and then has tried to get the goods to the members in the best possible condition, and at the least possible cost. The members have been particularly loyal in trading with their own organization. Over 50 per cent of the volume of business being with the membership. The result is a good sized concern with overhead at a low cost and service efficiently performed.

Charles M. White, Chief of the Bureau of Markets, State Department of Agriculture writes:

MEN HAD CHARGE

Women Not Allowed In Kitchen At Glencove Grange Supper.

More than 30 sat down to an appetizing fish chowder with pickles and crackers on the side and doughnuts and custard pie for the second course, not to mention first class coffee, which was provided and served by the men of Penobscot View Grange at the hall, Thursday evening.

The usual baked beans were also in evidence for confirmed bean eaters. This supper was furnished as a result of the recent contest, in which the women were victors over the men, contributing the larger amount to the charity fund boxes.

Past masters Fred E. Leach, Charles E. Gregory and Frank A. Richardson were the committee in charge. Mr. Richardson making the chowder. This was his first attempt as a chowder maker, though he is an expert in the art of making oyster stews, but his initial effort was a success.

The ladies were not allowed in the kitchen and the committee members qualified as expert dish washers, as well as cooks and waiters on the table.

The breaking of one small fish marred what would otherwise have been a perfect record, but was probably an old dish, cracked anyway, and not suitable for use.

Following the supper 25 attended the meeting of the Grange, including one visitor, Jesse A. Tolman of Rockland.

The lecturer's program was much enjoyed, the feature being a roll call in which those present were called upon to tell about their birthplaces.

Only two of those present were born out of Maine, our mother commonwealth of Massachusetts being the native state of these two.

The topic proved of much interest, as he different ones responded and the beauties of the different birthplaces were mentioned, and youthful events recalled.

Natives of Hope, Friendship, Rockland and Glencove particularly emphasized the strong points of their respective earliest homes, but several claimed that Glencove and Rockland, their present places of abode, were the best of all.

Lincolnville, Waldoboro, Rockport, Camden, Houlton, Harrington and Belfast were others represented and the Massachusetts birthplaces were Lowell and Brighton.

Other numbers on the program were violin selections by P. S. Philbrick, a reading by Mrs. Inez Strong, recitation by Frank H. Ingraham and singing of America by all.

Mrs. S. Henderson was the pianist. Another good time by Penobscot View patrons was the very successful representative of Penobscot Valley did his part and spoke entertainingly on incidents of his natal day (or night). Those who do not attend these meetings are missing a good time.

South Thomaston Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. George Green and J. P. Spaulding arrived at their homes here after spending the winter in Cambridge, Mass.

A business meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held Friday night.

Mr. C. L. Sleeper entertained the Outing Club at her home here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wiggin are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Sunday night.

The Wessawesque Grange begins a series of dances next Friday night, at the grange hall. Each one is expected to carry a box lunch.

Millinery is the project and all who wish may be instructed in the making of the soft felt hats so much in vogue now.

All those who expect to make hats should bring a spool of thread to match the felt they ordered and a spool of white, scissors, needles, a tape measure and a strip of bleached sheeting, about 1/4 of a yard.

Capt. Lawrence Brown has recently shingled his house and built a piazza on the front of the porch.

Wednesday night Alton Williams was initiated in the third and fourth degrees in Wessawesque Grange.

Miss Mildred Smith has the agency for Progressive Textile Co. of New York line of fabrics and is showing some beautiful samples.

Mrs. J. M. Bartlett who has been very ill, is much better under Dr. Frohock's treatment.

Lemuel Grant, Albert Grant and Harry Smith are working in Rockland on the new wing on Knox Hospital.

Thursday Mrs. Harry Smith visited her mother, Mrs. Frank Howes who is very ill in Rockport.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. French of Camden entertained Miss Bertha Clouson and Miss Jessie Hosmer at a birthday party here at Wessawesque Inn Friday night.

Mrs. Margaret Pond of Union was a recent guest of her relatives at Wessawesque Inn.

Rep. Hollis Gilchrist of Thomaston was in town on business Tuesday and verified the report that through his efforts at the last session of legislature it was voted to give South Thomaston $500 to be expended upon the road leading from the P. O. to the Owl's Head town line at Drew's Creek. This being the first time that any such good fortune has fallen to the lot of our town from the State Departments it speaks very highly for Rep. Gilchrist's ability and shows that he loves the town where he lived so many years. Townspeople feel very grateful for his efforts in their behalf. This money will not be available until next season but it is a sure thing.

VISIT PORT CLYDE

Here the Joys of Sea and Shore Are To Be Had At Their Best.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Out where the ocean rolls, 20 miles at sea, with everything the deep blue has to offer, and yet on dry land with a splendid State road running all the way.

This is what Port Clyde has to offer and we are positive you will like the aroma, and even more, the absence of mosquitoes, for we offer a reward of 50 cents each for any of these animals that bother you while in our company. Do not mind the weather, for we have rooms enough for all to get under cover, with all the fixings for a sea-going trip, minus the sea sickness.

This is where the Waymouth Cross is erected to commemorate the landing of that famous voyager on these shores more than 300 years ago. The Indians also were unable to resist this region's peculiar charm and remained here until the arrival of the white man.

This is not a land of milk and honey, for we all have to work for a living, and for that reason alone you will like our treatment, for we will not overcharge you on a single item while you are at Port Clyde.

Whenever the occasion arises, drive down to the sea in that nice looking sedan of yours, or come on foot. It matters not to us how you get here—we will give you a royal welcome and go with you all the way, that you may give the family, young and old alike, the benefits of the salt sea air fresh from the bosom of the great Atlantic Ocean. Remember, if your eyesight is hitting on all cylinders, you can look off-shore and see England. Come down and try it. Perhaps you may need glasses; anyway, it is worth trying and it costs not a cent as the oculist will be away on that day.

Just off shore, the steamer Pollux went on the rocks, losing 11 men before the coast guard, located a short distance away, could render assistance.

Please remember we are 20 miles at sea. Fish is always plentiful, always ready, night or day. If you cannot get completely cooled off before you return, we have a large cold storage plant, which has never failed to do the job in a few minutes. Lobsters are so plentiful that sometimes the fishermen are over-stocked and have to find storage for them before they can fish another day. Lobsters are probably the greatest treat of any fish ever set before the civilized world. Prices are very low compared to country towns.

Think this matter over and give us a call before the season closes. Go back to the city or country, filled with the iodine of the sea. There are places in the U. S. A. where this ingredient is added to the water supply for the health of the community. But we have enough of it for all, and no charge.

F. S. Seavey, Port Clyde, Me.

SEEKS REFERENDUM

Senator Harriman Seeks Method of Killing Railroad Excise Bill.

Senator Merle J. Harriman of Kennebec County stated Monday that he had just placed in the mail several hundred copies of a printed petition calling for a referendum on whether or not the citizens of Maine wish the Railroad Excise Tax bill, which recently became a law over the veto of the Governor, to become law.

"Believing that it was unjust to shift a tax burden of about $250,000 yearly from the railroads to the shoulders of the farmers and to increase the tax on the rural towns, I opposed this bill in the Legislature," says Senator Harriman. "As I said in a letter accompanying these petitions, conditions in Maine do not seem to me to warrant the lowering of the tax on one railroad over the 18 percent and reducing the property tax only about seven percent."

"My letter further stated: 'The industries in Maine are suffering today much more than the railroads. In fact the earnings of the railroads have been steadily increasing for the last three years. In 1925 the Maine Central Railroad showed net earnings of more than one million dollars. In 1926 its net income was more than $1,250,000, and thus far each month in 1927 has shown a marked gain in revenue. We all know the tax rate in the rural towns is very high, and that the farmers and many of our industries are suffering from conditions beyond their control, and need relief as much as any taxpayer.'

"The Maine Central Railroad today is not taxed as heavily as the average citizen of Maine."

"I want to make it clear that although I am State Lecturer of the Grange, my action is not officially connected with the Grange. I am doing this on my own responsibility, although I hope, of course, that Grange members will give this careful consideration along with other citizens."

RECALLING HIS GRANDSIRE

Captain Cottle Finds Him at Camden in the War of 1812.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—My grandsire was born in 1793 (six years before the death of George Washington) and died in 1855. As a boy I had often heard him tell of the stirring events of the War of 1812. Such tales do not make a great impression on a youthful mind.

CAMDEN

I had often heard the story of how, when the town of Camden was threatened, my grandmother and he sat up all night cooking a goose so that grandfather might have a hot dinner for his birthday. He was a member of the 1812 war, until his death. In after years I came to think more about those events and his part in them.

Once, in Boston with time to spare, I went to the State House on Beacon Hill, visited the adjutant general's office, and asked to be shown the 1812 war rolls of my native part of Maine. So a clerk showed me the original rolls. My records of Maine up to 1820 you will find at this office. While my grandfather's name did not appear, it was there all right.

From September to November, 1814, he served with the Maine Militia, being 21 years of age. I found in the adjutant general's office in Augusta the record of his command as captain, dated July 15, 1822. He was assigned to the Fifth Regiment of Infantry Second Brigade, Fourth Division (late Eleventh Division) of the Militia of Maine. He was discharged in 1828. To complete this story I am indebted to Robinson's History of Camden and Rockport.

"Sept. 3, 1814, Capt. Curtis will take command of the Parapets at Eastons and Jacobs Points, etc. The companies from Thomaston and St. George will meet at the Camden meeting-house and take quarters for the night, also the Troops from Hope and Appleton. By order E. Foote, Lt. Col. Com. 5th Reg. 2d Brig. 11th Division."

Grandfathers must have been with this outfit. When it was found that the British did not attack, the outposts of town companies returned to their homes. His service in November, 1814, must have been when Camden was having another exciting time over a threatened British attack. The historian thus records:

"At one time an alarm was given that the British were preparing to land a force near Spring Brook and the drums around the sleeping warriors by the 'roll' being called. The tired soldiers, many of whom, as recruits had been in the line between a northern and southern county should carefully note this difference in the seasons."

The department of inland fisheries and game Thursday in a statement reminds trappers that the closed season on muskrats will begin May first in the eight southern counties, Androscoggin, Cumberland, Kennebec, Franklin, Hancock, Penobscot, Piscataquis, Oxford, Somerset and Washington, will not begin until May 15. The department warns trappers located near the line between a northern and southern county should carefully note this difference in the seasons.

ROCKLAND RHYMES
Written for The Courier-Gazette by
R. O. H.
MYSTERY
She drew me by a gesture
Out from the merry throng,
A matron young and charming
Who has not lived here long.
"Tell me," she said, with an appeal
That no man's eye could miss,
"What DO you do with garbage
In a city such as this?"
CHIVALRY
"Down — street is a perilous place to go,"
Said she; "I know;
Hurrying along one night I caught my toe
On an old water-pipe, which flung me flat
And tore my hose
And other clothes,
And sent me to an osteopath.
That's that!"
"Next time I went that way I walked with care,
And could but stare.
Was it a mislaid key who lives right there
Who vengeance on that water-pipe did do?
With bark of axe
And mighty whistles
'Twas pounded flat—
"That's true!"
Now shall I go and tumble down
On every stuck-up pipe in town,
And caught a breath of pure romance.
That chivalry may win renown!"
I hope that no one else will fall;
That matters enough
To call her bluff
Live on — street!
That's all!"
ROMANCE
Upon seeing the model of The Santa Maria in the show window of Mr. Daniels' jewelry store.
Upon the busy, prosy street—
A glimpse of there by chance—
The flag-ship of Columbus' fleet
And caught a breath of pure romance.
No dirty sailors on her deck,
No rats among her gear,
No smell of bilge, no thought of wreck,
No mutiny, no fear.
With loving care the craftsman wrought
A caravel to carry thought
Across the Sea of Time.

The Forty Club May dance will be held in the Arcade, May 2, with Marston's Orchestra, special decorations and a jolly good time. Public

BERRYS WERE HOSTS
New Fireman's Hall Opened
With Highly Successful
Smoker.
The handsome new firemen's hall
in the second story of the old Gen.
Berry Engine Co. house received its formal opening at the first annual smoker of the "Berrys" given last night. Mayor Carver and the board of Aldermen were special guests with all four companies of the department invited.
There were some 60 men in the hall when ex-Mayor Frank C. Flint dropped the gavel, presiding in his usual graceful manner. Mayor Carver received a great hand from the boys as he reviewed the department's fine work during his administration and told of the good things to come with marked enthusiasm at the mention of the much needed hook and ladder truck. Chief Havener expressed his appreciation of the good work and loyalty of all companies, their unfailing pep and willingness. Alderman Richardson who has headed the first committee for four years past told the boys where he stood and Alderman Duncan received an ovation from the
V. F. A. when he concluded. Alderman Thurston felt that the praise was well deserved and promised to do all he could to further the department's interest. It was Alderman Andrews who made the big speech though City Marshal Webster was anxious to consider the ginger-pop and the hot dogs but did take time to thank the firemen and fire police for their unfailing co-operation with his department.
Simple but earnest and sincere were the words of the men of the department when called upon including Capt. Wheeler of the Seers, Capt.
Walker of the Burpees in his maiden speech, the veteran Capt. Fowle of the Hooks and Capt. Hastings of the Berrys in a neat speech of welcome at the conclusion of which he presented the key to the hall to Mayor Carver. Other speakers were Assistant Chief Melvin, Lieutenants
Doak, Staples, King, besides Harry Phillips and Charles W. Lawry for the Veteran Firemen.
Smokes were passed and hot dogs with mustard and fly pickle in addition to Havener's fine soda. Clara-ence Simmons, Harry Phillips and George Tibbetts served the eats assisted by a capable committee. The new hall is ideal for such meetings and as a general club room for all the department. Many comfortable chairs and settees are there, newly painted floors, handsomely decorated walls and a choice assortment of pictures of great interest.
Many of the pictures over a half century old and there is a large assessment of hand-tub enlarged photos presented by Harden Gray, an interested member of the V. F. A.
All the vast amount of work necessary was done free by the boys and the Rockland Fire Department can be justly proud of its fine new club room.

eight persons for a cruising radius of 60 hours at a top speed of 62 miles

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

On the evening of May 6 in the High School auditorium the High School Glee Club will appear in an operetta, "College Days." The production is being coached by the public school supervisor of music, Mrs. Eleanor Howard, and from what I have gathered it is going to be thoroughly delightful. The music is very tuneful and catchy, with enough action in the story to hold the interest. Among the singers in the cast are Kendall Green, tenor, and Wendell Clark, baritone, who have already won attention by their promising voices. I sincerely hope the auditorium will be "filled full" so that a tidy sum can be realized.

Mrs. Faith Berry, president of the Rubinstein Club, has the complete program of the State Federation of Music Clubs, to be held in Augusta May 16 and 17. The "Central Club" of that city will act as host, and the Pease Memorial Church is to be the center of all the activities. The morning of May 16 will be devoted to reports of club officers, interspersed with musical numbers. At noon a luncheon will be served, resomably at the Augusta House, $1.25 per plate. It is requested that Mrs. George Leadbetter, 56 South Crescent street, Augusta, be notified not later than May 7 regarding luncheon reservations. At this luncheon there will be several prominent representatives of the National Federation officers. All attending the luncheon are invited directly after a tea, to be given at the Blaine Mansion by Mrs. Ralph Brewster, wife of the Governor. In the evening a concert will be given, featuring artists from the different clubs.

May 17 will be devoted to Junior work, opening at nine o'clock. First part will be reports from the clubs. Special speakers engaged in this line will be heard. At 11 o'clock a concert will be given by representatives from the Junior Clubs, followed by luncheon at the Parish House at 50 cents a plate. Presidents will be called upon for reports. Miss Miriam Best, 10 Winter street, Augusta, should be notified regarding luncheon reservations. Miss Best is connected with the Cecilia Club and is engaged in Junior work almost exclusively, and is meeting with particular success in this line.

Mrs. Berry, Tel. 94-M, will be glad to supply any further information.

The Rubinstein Club is to be represented in the concert program by Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Averill, in an organ and piano number. Knowing the ability of these two musicians, the club feels pride in sending them. For some time they have shown a peculiar understanding of the people, for in work for the organ and piano, and since they have become regularly associated at the Sunday services of the Congregational Church, their performances have seemed to gain even greater artistry. They are greeted with delight whenever they appear together.

Rockland takes pride that it has a Junior music club to send to the State Federation. At the present outlook the officers of the Junior Harmony Club will attend, as well as several of the members. Mrs. Noyes and Mrs. Rankin, who are just bringing to a close a season's work marked with distinct accomplishment, also plan to be in the delegation. The club will be represented on the program by Miss Thelma Blackington, the young pianist, and Mrs. Noyes and Mrs. Rankin, who will give two piano numbers, those she played at the open meeting of the Junior Harmony some few weeks ago. She is the pupil of Mrs. Leon Noyes, and is already one of the most brilliant pianists among the younger people. I am certain now will make a better appearance than our Junior Harmony. Miss Blackington's piano work would do justice on an adult program, and if any Junior Club can produce a president who is more attractive than Miss Louise Delaney, let them produce her. She has admirable poise and the ability to present her story in a straightforward and businesslike manner.

Sunday (tomorrow) opens National Music Week which will be observed from coast to coast. Rockland is making a more active observance than in the past, due to the thought of Mrs. Faith Berry. Through her effort a union musical service will be given Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Congregational Church, in which all church quartets and choirs are to participate. There will be three choruses, numbers, quartet numbers, solos, duets, etc.—the program appears in full on another page. The rehearsal of last Sunday was well attended, and the chorus which reported then will be augmented by members of quartets or choirs which have rehearsed on their regular nights. A rehearsal is called for Sunday at 2:30 o'clock.

The church should be filled to capacity. The worth of the program should be sufficient attraction, and not even a silver collection will be taken. The audience is going to get a lot for nothing. Our church choirs embrace some of our finest musicians who are giving their services gladly.

A brief Boston item has significant bearing on Rockland's first union sing. It reads: "On May 5 the Ensemble Choir of 400 voices, under the direction of Thompson Stone, will give a concert in Tremont Temple. The choir is drawn from the Synagogue, the Roman Catholic and Protestant Churches. The directors and singers of these choirs are co-operating for the purpose of creating greater public interest in worthy religious music."

Maine has another Boys' Band which has just made its first public appearance. Eastport is the place and the youngsters did escort duty in a parade of the Knights Templar on Easter morning. The band is composed of boys between the ages of 11 and 16, and was organized about a year ago. This was their first public appearance, but they are to furnish music on Memorial Day and will have uniforms. Early in May they will make a trip to St. John. Their work Easter morning called forth many compliments.

Another Rockland singer is entering the broadcasting field—Miss Clara Thomas of the Highlands, who on Friday evening, May 13, will appear before the microphone of WCHS (Portland). Miss Thomas, whose voice is a mezzo-soprano of lovely quality, will sing two songs, "The Home Song" by Fritz Kreisler, and "Come With Me to Romance." As plans are not completed, I cannot tell the exact time she will broadcast, but will have the information for an issue early in the week. Miss Thomas, a former Westbrook girl, has won many admirers since coming to Rockland, by her charming manner and fine voice. I am sure that WCHS will have many "listeners."

I add congratulations to the many which are pouring in on Mr. O'Hara, who has just signed up for another year with Mr. Dandis, as organist of the Strand Theatre. Mr. O'Hara, who has been playing in many ways other than his music, which is always a source of delight. That he is to remain here is welcome news. In all the time Mr. O'Hara has never given better work than during the past year. It has borne many marks of advancement.

The sacrifice which jazz plays on the classics will never cease, I have about decided. Two new ones are added to the ever growing list—"The Volga Boatman" and "Schubert's Amour," the latter the melodious composition of Elgar's which is known to many.

Have any of you radio fans been bothered by the daylight saving time which has arrived in the larger cities? I was bothered last Sunday evening when after we had all day anticipated the Atwater Kent hour which featured Paul Althouse, Richard Crooks, Charles Harrison, and three other eminent male singers, we tuned in at a few minutes after nine o'clock and got the closing group of their concert. They were scheduled for 9:16 which was 8:16 by our time. It would be wise to keep this in mind for tomorrow evening when the Atwater Kent begins before the microphone such artists as Miss Louise Homer and her daughter, Louise Homer Stires, and Reginald Werrenath, baritone. Just time in an hour earlier than the time shown in the papers.

The new Portland Municipal Orchestra of which Charles R. Cronham is director appeared in concert in Bridgton last Tuesday evening. Miss M. L. Linde, a former Rockland girl, is one of the first violinists and played on this occasion. The review said the program was unusually attractive, evoking enthusiastic applause after each number.

Mrs. Dora Bird has passed me a very interesting letter from George Thompson Edwards, author of "Music and Musicians of Maine," who writes:

"You will be pleased to learn that a resolve for the purchase of 300 copies of 'Music and Musicians of Maine' has been passed in both branches of the Legislature, and that as soon as the book can be published, copies will be placed by the State Librarian in every public library in Maine. I am sure that this book, which has been hoped for, still I feel sure, with the interest which has been created in the matter, that sufficient subscriptions will soon be forthcoming so that we will not be embarrassed in our endeavor to publish the work."

"It has occurred to me that perhaps your club as a club, or one of more of your members, would like to add a copy of 'Music and Musicians of Maine' in the library at the High School or in some other school or institution. It would be very gratifying, indeed, and would hasten the publication of the work which I am told by many librarians is much needed. A special page, a specimen of which is enclosed, will be bound into each book intended for a presentation copy, and in this way the name of the donor will be pleasantly recalled by all those who see the book for many years to come."

It seems to me it would be a fine thing to place a copy of this book in the school library of the town in which one was born or spent her early years (for there is a certain sentiment connected with the place of one's birth or where one has spent her childhood days) where the story of the lives of those who have become famous through music, should be an inspiration to aspiring young music students and where the name of the donor of the book would always be held in high regard. Would it be asking too much to bring this letter to the attention of the Rubinstein Club? Perhaps quite a number might like to subscribe for the book and place presentation copies of it in institutions in which they are interested.

"Will you kindly ask all the members of the Rubinstein Club who have not done so whether they will

NEW LAWS READ

At Monthly Meeting of Fish & Game Association.

The Knox County Fish & Game Association held its monthly meeting and banquet at American Legion hall Thursday night, when the supper end of the Lily Pond was again handled in a satisfactory manner by the service men.

The members listened with interest while Secretary Lord summarized the work which the last Legislature did with reference to the fish and game laws. It is an imposing task to wade through the public laws to gather the necessary information, and everybody appreciated the handy manner in which the existing measures were set forth by Secretary Lord.

Three new members were added to the rolls—William H. Robinson of Warren and Laforest A. Thurston and S. D. Robinson of Rockland.

It is very probable that the next membership meeting will be held in Warren, and May 13, but that is a matter which the executive committee will determine. George W. Walker, one of the mill dam owners will be invited to attend, and the matter of stocking the Georges River with sea salmon will be discussed with him.

The executive board had gone on record as favoring the reappointment of Willis Parsons as "commissioner of inland fisheries and game," and since that time Mr. Parsons has been appointed.

Secretary Lord gave a report of the various fish and game legislation passed at the last session.

The closing of the Lily Pond for two years beginning Sept. 30, was passed and signed by the Governor March 2.

The Act establishing Grassy Pond and Glenoche as sanctuaries which would prohibit hunting, for four years from August 1st was passed and signed on the same date.

The Afford Lake Screen Resolve which would refund to the Knox County Fish and Game Association one-half of the expense for erecting a screen at Afford's Lake, was passed and signed by the Governor.

The two Association bills covering fox trapping and sealing of smelts were reported back to the session by the Committees unfavorably because they deemed it as class legislation, namely a benefit to a few at the expense of others.

Other public laws passed were: Chapter 53, prohibiting the digging out of fox dens at any time whether the season is closed or open. The previous law prohibited this Act only during the closed season. Chapter 112, makes the open season in Knox County for rabbits between Oct. 1st and March 31st. Chapter 134 in connection with fur bearing animals is between Nov. 1st and Feb. 15—it is lawful to hunt, trap, kill, pursue or catch any animal except bears, muskrats, beaver, bobcats, Canadian lynx, weasels and foxes.

The fox season in Knox County is the same as the previous law, and the muskrat season is from Dec. 1st to May 1st.

Chapter 191—Trapping. It is now necessary to get a permit from the owners of the land to set a trap within one mile from cultivated land or pastures in addition to the previous law.

Chapter 194—Black Bass. It is unlawful to fish for, take, catch or kill black bass from any lake, pond or river between Oct. 1st and June 1st the following year, except Crawford Pond and Lake Megunticook, where they may be taken by fly or trolling from the time the ice goes out.

Chapter 232—Moose. It is now lawful to kill one bull moose between November 21st and November 26th in Aroostook, Penobscot, Piscataquis, Somerset, Waldo, Lincoln, Washington or Hancock Counties.

Chapter 248 establishes a bounty on porcupine and claims bounty on fish taken within ten days by the City or Town Treasurer with the seal and all feet as identifications.

Game Warden Smallwood announced that there were available a large number of trout fry at the Camden Hatchery and anyone interested in any particular stream or brook should file application for these trout. The Association has already made application for 15 brooks for a total of 150,000 trout fry, and the same will be planted under the supervision of the warden.

The Secretary read the notification from Commissioner Parsons relative to the opening of the Lily Pond on April 27 to allow fishing until the pond is closed on Oct. 1st for a period of two years.

It was brought out that at the present time there was considerable water getting over the Crawford Lake screen and the question was brought to the attention of those present. After a brief discussion it was voted to let Warden Smallwood on his next trip up into that section investigate the condition of the screen and that if he finds any indication of the screen not being in the proper condition he can report to the Commissioner's office and they in turn would get in touch with the holders of the permit secured from the State to build a screen. In this way it may be possible to secure the action desired.

Moving pictures of rainbow trout and sea salmon, secured from W. J. Jamison Company were shown.

subscribe or not, to fill out and mail at once the questionnaires that were sent some time ago? If any have lost them, we shall be pleased to send many as needed."

This publication is gotten up in a very comprehensive and thorough manner. Nothing like it has been undertaken before, and the book should find ready sale among the musicians and music lovers of Maine. A copy will probably be placed in our Public Library for reference.

WASHBURN'S WASHINGTON WEEKLY

By R. M. Washburn

This is a Weekly of sunshine and yet of some shadow. It is a strong believer in that philosophy, that progress hangs more on the emphasis of the good than on that of the bad. Nevertheless it believes that healthy friction is often vital to advance, rather than in that type of harmony which is often a symbol of decay. So now an opening word on Edith Nourse Rogers, a congresswoman from Massachusetts, in a spirit of sunshine. Mrs. Rogers has won the admiration of all who have studied her public service. She has shown a tireless fidelity to the duties of her office. She lives on the sunshine of life rather than on its shadow. She sees the good, always, the bad never. She is on her job, day and night. She is a tonic to the weary and discouraged. May she hold her office as long as it appears to her best to hold it. And if she should become a candidate for the Senate, may she receive a splendid vote, whether she wins or loses, for this paragraph has all the splendid virtues of a political party platform, where those who love discreet caution seek themselves in saturation and satisfaction.

The Sacco case has come to Washington. It is an amazing spectacle, two of the leading clergymen of New England, in distinct cleavage. The case is already dividing families. William Lawrence has asked the Governor to appoint a commission to review the case. George A. Gordon replies that this suggestion is unjustified. It is beyond the province of this Weekly to inquire whether the defendants are innocent or guilty. It has not the insight of a Cadman. Nevertheless it ventures to assert that this case should be determined along the established lines of the law. The Supreme Court is controlled by the test of the workability of a law in its decisions. The same kind of justice should be doled out to all. If these defendants are entitled to a commission to review their case, so am I previous in any kind of an action, civil or criminal. Who is to determine just how much of a popular howl justifies a review by a commission in any case.

Again, if the commission finds for the defendants, then the score is but one to one, and is the Governor to follow the commission or the court? The Governor can refer the matter to the Council. That is the body established by the law. Why not cling to it? As the Governor intimates, it is an amazing suggestion that Massachusetts shall formally repudiate its trial system. There is remedy enough under the present procedure. The individual citizen may petition the Council, it will give a hearing. There may be a trial, from the judicious well-informed Northampton school-girl, up or down to the law school professor.

These men should not of course be executed simply because they are said by some to be reds. This would be a great wrong, of course. It would be a far greater wrong if they are to escape simply if they are reds. Pending which no one has a word to say for the victims of a crime which was committed by some of them. It would be impossible to raise a fund of ten cents for the orphaned Parmenter boys. It is far less unfashionable to kill than to be killed. It is far more to see that justice is done. And now let me dangle up before the people one or two lines on the judge who has been hampered hard for months. I have known Judge Thayer since the old days, when, with gently curving calves, he adorned in 1830 the pilot bag on the Dartmouth nine. He was an artist at second base. He was, more, a sportsman. Once a sportsman, always a sportsman. He has established his fidelity. It is true he has not the infallibility of the Pope. But that he did his duty in a high-minded way no one who knows him questions.

And now I must suspend, for a well-meaning woman named Milled, who is to show me in a thirty minute, ex-parte exposition, that these two men are innocent. I do not know whether they are or not. I am sure that the responsibility is not mine to determine. I shall never leave the matter to the Governor and Council where it belongs. If the defendants are not safe in the courts, then are they safe in the hands of the defendant given by the law to the Governor and Council. But if these two men are entitled to a review of their case by a commission, then is not Mr. Willet entitled to the same relief, and anyone else who applies, with the same right to a repudiation of the present procedure? A material part of the public is in urgent need of a strong sedative. William Lawrence perhaps has struck out, but his batting average is high enough to survive several strike-outs.

The trouble with the judicial system of Massachusetts is that the Supreme Court is too much controlled by precedent. It does too much to follow the lead of the past. It is not only blind but too much deaf and also dumb. The rights of the defendant are too much remembered and of the government too much forgotten. Why should the defendant have the right of appeal? One slip and the State is in a predicament may correct any number of slanders. Interminable delay works to the advantage of the defense. The Sacco crime was committed by some seven years ago. Its victims are forgotten, their wives and children. A woman, who may be happy to divorce her husband, sits close to the jury, bewitched in weeds, sniffing salt. A well-equipped law office should include in its suite a modiste in weeds. In the trial of a capital

"the Most Beautiful car in America" and the Finest Performing is the new "8" PAIGE 8 with Two High Speeds

Until you have driven the new Paige "8", with Two High Speeds, you cannot even imagine the wholly new thrill of its brilliant and unparalleled performance.

Because of an entirely new Warner Hi-Flex transmission, with 4 forward speeds, the engine in the great Paige "8" actually turns over no faster at 70 miles per hour than do the engines in other cars going 50.

The result is almost unbelievable quiet and luxury. Turning over less, your engine lasts longer and requires less attention.

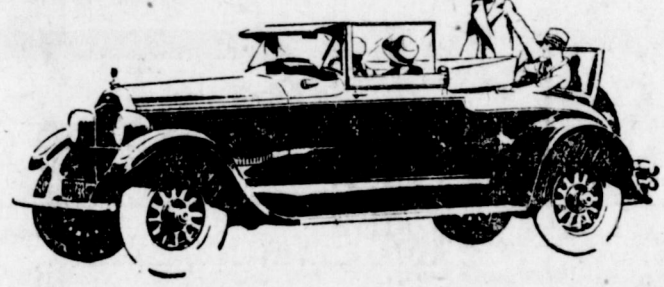

Third speed gives you the most remarkable acceleration ever built into an automobile—and a burst of power that carries you over steep-est hills with amazing ease and quickness.

Here quiet power and silent speed is combined with appealing beauty to provide the ultimate in motoring luxury. It's a big—not a little "8" yet it sells at the price of ordinary "Eights". Once you experience the thrill of this "8", you'll want it. When will you go?

The 20 charming "Eights" and "Sixes" in the new Paige line, on 4 chassis, retail from $1095 to $2795, f. o. b. Detroit

No other car can do all these things:

5 to 25 miles per hour in only 5.6 seconds—and on up to 40 miles per hour in 5 seconds more! Similar sensational performance on the longest, steepest hill. 70 honest miles per hour and more—as easily and quietly as you now do 50. An approximate saving of 30% in gasoline consumption in fourth speed over ordinary high. Mile-a-minute speed—all day long if you want—with the smoothest, quiet and economy of an ordinary car at 35 miles.

In Two Years Plants Will Laugh At Present Depressions Says Trade Editor.

Fred Babcock, editor of Fibre and Fabric, in an address to the Androscoggin Valley Mill Men's Association, in Lewiston, Wednesday night, predicted the development of labor troubles in Southern textile section within the next three years and the consequent return to New England of textile equipment sent there in recent years. Tax reduction will be helpful to the textile situation but there is small possibility of more New England mills moving to the South, said Mr. Babcock. His statement followed one by Mayor Robert J. Wiseman in which he pledged his administration to reduce taxes to prevent the removal of textile plants from Lewiston.

Mr. Babcock said that Southern textile men do not want New England industries to move to the South but that other promoters are responsible for the offering of inducements to effect such move. He further pointed out that a rising generation in the South was voicing discontent with "labor conditions there and predicted that trouble of some sort would develop within three years.

The result of this would be that these New England plants who had moved to the South would, within a few years, bring back their equipment or junk it where it is. He said that, within two years, he expected New England textile plants would be laughing at the present business depression and added, after the meeting, that he looked for market change favoring the New England cotton textile situation within the next six months.

A VALID EXCUSE

The baseball instinct is strong in the family of Harry D. Lord of South Portland, one time major league player. Mrs. Lord, wife of the former big leaguer, asked to be excused from jury duty in the Superior Court, in order to watch her son, Don Lord, pitch for South Portland High School. Justice Arthur Chapman, once a star twirler for Bowdoin College and now the father of a son of college age, quickly appreciated the pride of Mrs. Lord in her son and granted her request for execution.
