OBITUARY.

MRS. COLIN MCKENZIE.

Elizabeth, wife of Colin McKenzie, died Sunday at her home on Union street. She had been in poor health several years.

Mrs. McKenzie was born at St. John, N. B., in December, 1848. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Corbett. She was married to Colin McKenzie at Cape Breton in Sept., 1879. Soon after their marriage they came to Ellsworth, and this city has since been their home. Seven children were born to them, of whom six are living—Daniel McKenzie, of Salisbury, N. H.; Miss Jessie M. McKenzie, of Boston; Colin C., Maude E. and Miss E. McKenzie, of Ellsworth. Their eldest daughter, Annie, died seven years ago.

Mrs. McKenzie was a most estimable woman, of lovable disposition and high principles. She was devoted to her family, and her home life was especially pleasant. Funeral services were held at the home yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. P. A. Killam, of the Baptist church officiating. The pall-bearers were Jeremiah Hurley, ex-Mayor A. W. Greeley, William H. Dresser and Edward E. Doyle. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

All the children were present at the funeral. Dr. McKenzie was accompanied by his wife and little daughter. Others present from out of town were Leod, John and Peter McLeod, Nicholas Y. Bradford and daughter, John McLean and Howard A. Smith, of Boston; William H. Bradford and son, of Machias; Mrs. Harry Johnson, of New London, Conn., and Thomas Larkin of Bangor.

CHARLES H. PIERCE.

Charles H., son of Charles W. Pierce, of this city, died at the East Maine general hospital in Bangor Saturday. Mr. Pierce was taken to the hospital just two weeks before his death, for an operation for appendicitis. The physicians gave small hope of his recovery at first, but he rallied so strongly after the operation that it was believed he would be able to pull through. The disease had reached too advanced a stage, however.

Mr. Pierce was forty-six years of age. He had lived with his father in Ellsworth for several years. The father, now left alone, has the sincerest sympathy of all.

The body was brought to Ellsworth, where services were conducted at the home by Rev. R. B. Mathews. The body was then taken to Portland for interment beside the mother who died many years ago.

NORMAN B. TINKER.

Norman B., son of Josiah Tinker and wife, died at the home of his parents on Tinker's hill Sunday, after a long illness of consumption. Mr. Tinker was in the forty-second year of his age. He made his home for several years in Boston, but over a year ago, owing to failing health, he returned to Ellsworth and made his home with his parents. He leaves a widow and a little daughter.

Funeral services were held at the home yesterday forenoon, Rev. R. B. Mathews, of the Congregational church, officiating.

Nahum Flood, Mrs. D. N. Moore and Asa C. Flood and wife went to Waterville Thursday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Eliza Frost.

The death of Mrs. Eliza Frost, at Waterville on Wednesday, was learned with regret by her many relatives and friends here. Mrs. Frost retired in her usual health Tuesday night, and when her daughter, Mrs. A. Thompson, with whom she lived, went to call her in the morning, she had passed away. Mrs. Frost lived here up to a few years ago, and was a woman of beautiful character and lovable disposition. Her age was eighty-one years. She leaves besides her daughter three sisters—Mrs. D. N. Moore, Mrs. Sarah F. Jones, Mrs. C. B. Lord and three brothers—Nahum, Augustus and Lewis Flood. Funeral services was held Friday afternoon. Interment at Waterville.

Mrs. Kate Alcock, of Cambridge, Mass., and Miss Margaret Byrn, of Brockton, Mass., are visiting their aunt, Mrs. Mary Maddocks.

The Farmers' club is making extensive repairs on the race track at the fair grounds. A telephone has been installed at the hall, and everything possible will be done for the convenience and comfort of those who attend.

Owing to the storm, the lawn party to be given by the ladies' church aid society last Saturday evening was postponed to Friday of this week at the schoolhouse in district number 8. If stormy, the first fair evening.

Miss Marion McGown gave an interesting talk at the chapel last Sunday evening to a large and appreciative audience, on mission work in China. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 30, 1908.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE. Topic—Foreign missions. Cyrus Hamlin and missions in Turkey.—I Cor. ix. 13-25.

Turkey, or the Ottoman empire, is an extensive kingdom, consisting of territories of large dimensions in Asia, Europe and Africa.

The territory of Turkey is well covered by missionary societies. The empire is divided among a goodly number of the great Protestant denominations, and thus there is no interference or overlapping, and the work is more successfully done.

In 1838 as a missionary he sailed for Turkey, and from that year until 1873 he labored in Constantinople, the Turkish capital. In 1854 an English clergyman traveling in the east was deeply interested in Hamlin's educational work.

Under Dr. Clark's Umbrella. Dr. Clark, the founder of Christian Endeavor, during his life at college gave a good deal of time and energy to a mission Sunday school.

Good Work in South Africa. Rev. J. Toolefree Parr in a speech delivered some time ago in England said: "I found Christian Endeavor rendering the very highest service to the churches of South Africa."

Sail and Rudder. The Christian Endeavor society is the sail of a small church and the rudder of a large one.—Rev. Russell H. Conwell, D. D.

Mutual Benefit Column.

EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE". Its Motto: "Helpful and Helpful."

The purposes of this column are succinctly stated in the title and motto—it is for the mutual benefit, and also to be helpful and helpful.

This university-in-a-room Has freshmen students with childhood bloom.

They toddle down, with worry and fret, The cellar stairs of the alphabet; Their travel is trapped by many cares; Full oft they stick on the aged stairs.

And "We go up", and, "In we go." And "He is out", and "It is so."

Then older reading classes must find And tell short stories of how mankind Deserved alternately praise and scorn.

Dear Mutuals: Although we failed to have that "little reunion" at the Bluehill mineral spring August 19, by not all being together at one time.

Our ride home after taking a short run to Hyannis was very pleasant, in spite of the fact that it rained. The cars were very comfortable, and our friend, Overy Brown, met us with a close carriage at the North Eastham station.

Oh, but I shall never say there are no flowers on the Cape; but one has to look around to find things, you know. The ponds are full of lilies too numerous and beautiful for description.

Miss Myrtle Scammon visited friends in Northeast Harbor a few days last week. Mrs. Jellison, who has been quite ill with heart trouble, is better.

Mrs. A. Jellison recently entertained her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jellison, and Mrs. John Sullivan, of Steuben.

Harry Wentworth and wife, who have been with Mrs. Wentworth's parents, J. C. Springer and wife, since the death of their little girl, have moved home.

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N. C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

Taylor was the particular worker. He is, without exception, the best speaker I ever heard. Young, strong, magnetic, with a powerful but pleasing voice, he sang and spoke so that every word could be understood and appreciated.

ASK FOR WASHBURN-CROSBY'S GOLD MEDAL FLOUR THE VERY HIGHEST QUALITY

This will certainly be good news to Ellsworth's "top notch" cooks: Already nearly all of them are thoroughly familiar with the excellence of Paul Jones flour; they know that it is THE flour they can always depend on for best results. And its quality never varies; is always the same; there's no such thing as "striking" a poor barrel of Paul Jones Flour.

Paul Jones is not a one-sided flour; it ideally meets every demand of the cook room. It's the best all 'round flour that has ever been milled. Made of carefully selected winter wheat, and scientifically milled in one of the cleanest and most sanitary milling plants in the country, it comes direct from the mill to your pantry rich in nutriment and health-giving qualities as well as unexcelled from a cooking standpoint.

Just Come

The Mill

Not only does Paul Jones invariably make delicious bread, rolls, cake, pastry, etc., but it takes nowhere near as much of this splendid flour to make these good things as you'd have to use of other flours—and even then have to content yourself with ordinary results. You'll find a scoopful of Paul Jones goes a great deal further than any other flour you ever used. Another point in its favor—Economy.

The flour market is "looking up"; prices are bound to advance, and mighty soon, too. I bought this flour by the carload direct from the mill, and got the very lowest price cash can procure. Thus I am able to make my "cash down" price to you a most attractive one; all I am going to charge you for this best of all 'round flours is $5.50 per barrel. You know how quickly I disposed of that last carload of "Paul Jones"; better tell me TODAY you want a barrel of this new lot delivered to your house.

HOME WEEK CARNIVAL. BIG CROWD OF WELL-PLEASSED GRANGERS HERE.

THURSDAY INTERESTING CEREMONIES
AT HANCOCK HALL—LAKEVIEW

The home-week carnival in Ellsworth closed Thursday with grangers' day. There was a big crowd of grangers in town, over 500 participating in the parade. There were many others not in line.

Features of firemen's day, Wednesday, too late to be reported in THE AMERICAN last week, were the races and hand-engine contest.

There were eight starters in the 100-yard dash for professionals—Albee, of Machias; Tarbox, of Calais; Driscoll, of Winslow; Maddox, of Ellsworth; Sappier, of Pleasant Point Indian; Thomas Cushing, William Curran and John Ferguson, of Bangor. The race was won by William Curran, with the Indian second and Albee third. Time, 10 1/2 seconds.

There were three teams in the hose race. The first two teams to run—Independence, of Winslow, and Eagles, of Bangor—blew off their pipes and no time was given them. Calais, with the race already won, was a careful race. The time, sixty-one seconds, was slow. The Independence and Eagles ran off for second money, the latter winning.

The hand-tub contest was won by Torment engine company, of Lubec, with a throw of 197 feet, 2 inches. Excelsior, of Old Town, a Hunneman tub, won second money. Dirigo engine, of Ellsworth, with Frank E. Smith, of Gardiner, and Michael A. Shea, of Bar Harbor, won third money. Familiar places on deck, gave an exhibition squirt. The engine has not been overhauled for several years, and is not in condition for a contest.

Old Hunneman, of Ellsworth, with E. H. Greely and M. J. Drummond, also gave an exhibition. The Hunneman tub looked fine in her brilliant coat of red paint, but she has not for years been tuned up for a squirt. She did well, considering. The sight of E. H. Greely on the deck of Old Hunneman set some of the old-timers thinking. They recalled the fact that of the original company which brought Old Hunneman to Ellsworth fifty-two years ago, only three remain—E. H. Greely, Calvin P. Joy and James H. Hopkins. She was brought here with a view of cleaning out everything in Maine in the then frequent contests, and she did the trick. Her proud day was something over 220 feet. Her proudest day was when she twisted the tail of the old Tiger No. 6, of Bangor, which had a long string of victories to her credit.

A ball game Wednesday afternoon between Eastport and Ellsworth was won by the former. Score, 7-4.

The ill-fated contest in the evening brought out several pretty floats. Among the most attractive were those of the "Jolly Thirteen" and the O. K. C. club. There were about a dozen teams in line.

Thursday, grange day, was a good one. There was a big, orderly and happy crowd in the city. The exercises at Hancock hall forenoon and afternoon were interesting, and the hall was well filled at both.

The forenoon exercises were opened by Milton Beckwith, of the grange committee. Rev. P. A. A. Killam offered prayer. The address of welcome was given by Charles L. Morang, president of the grange committee, and the response by Dr. J. H. Patten, of Anberst, who spoke eloquently. He said:

Mr. Chairman and Mr. President, sisters, brothers and citizens:
I have been asked in behalf of the granges of Hancock county to respond to the cordial words of welcome that have been extended to us by the city of Ellsworth through the chairman of this meeting and the president of the carnival committee. I make this response with pleasure, and my pleasure would be greatly enhanced, had I command of the English language sufficient to express to you my thoughts and feelings to-day.

We have been told that this is the first occurrence in Maine of this kind. To say that this is a red-letter day in our order is to fall far short of the facts; to say that this is the day of days is to express the simple, naked truth. You remember, Mr. Chairman, the story of the old lady trying to put two quarts into a quart jug. Similar conditions are existing here to-day. If the grangers continue to arrive, either your city will be overflowed or some of us will get squeezed before night.

We are here from all over Hancock county; we are here from the north, clear to the edge of the forest where the habitations of man cease and the kindred of the wild hold sway; we are here from the south clear to the water's edge, where old ocean beats herself to spray twenty-four hours, in her ceaseless warfare against mother earth; we are here from the east clear to the placid waters of old Tunk, clear to the shadows of the lordly Schoodic. To-night when the sun shall have finished its daily journey and buried its blushing, burning face in Penobscot bay, turning the ocean's blue to gold, its last rays will light some weary, contented patron to his western home.

Mr. President, on behalf of these mothers—God bless them—whose motherhood and morality have done so much to elevate our standard the grange, on behalf of these daughters—the grange girls, Hancock's fairest product—girls with dimples, girls with smiles and girls with eyes that twinkle as the stars on a summer night, eyes into whose mysterious depth no man under seventy-five years can gaze and ever be himself again; on behalf of these fathers whose backs are bent and whose brows are wrinkled with life's eternal struggle, but whose judgment, courage and will have made the grange what it is to-day; on behalf of these boys—Hancock's stalwart sons, youth such as the ancient philosopher was thinking of when he wrote: "Old men for counsel; young men for war; boys upon whose shoulders daily is resting heavier and heavier the burden of life, and who must soon sustain unaided the home, the grange and the county; on behalf of all these, Mr. President, I accept the welcome so cordially given by you.

For a few brief hours we will cultivate the pleasing delusion of owning this fair city, this beautiful capital of a grand old county. We will go up your streets and down your sidewalks, admiring your beautiful decorations and your splendid display, and in our hearts we will say: "It is mine!"

Later, when we again return the city to your keeping we trust and believe that our conduct will have been such that your citizens will hold us and the grand order we represent in higher regard than ever before.

Patrons, may the day before you be one of pleasure and profit; may you be able to say to-night that the great order of Patrons of Husbandry has made advancement to-day—an order whose past has been of such incalculable benefit to humanity, whose present is engaged shedding bright rays of sunshine through the world, and whose future is so bright with hope, so brilliant with promise that none, however gifted, can depict it.

Mr. President, allow me again, and for the last time, to thank you.

There was a selection by the band, followed by programs, the different granges competing for the silver cup. The competing teams were Lakewick, Lakeview, Hancock, Bay-side, Mariaville and La-Moine. The prize went to Hancock, with favorable mention to Mariaville. The Hancock program included a reading by Miss Edith Foss, of Hancock, and a Mother Hu bard drill.

After dinner the grange parade was formed. There were about 500 grangers in line. Hancock grange had the largest number in line, over 100, but the prize banner for largest representation according to membership went to Lakewick grange, of Happtown.

The uniform rank of Donauqua lodge, K. of P., gave an exhibition drill in postoffice square.

The afternoon exercises were opened by Milton Beckwith, with a brief history of the Patrons of Husbandry. Judge John B. Redman was then introduced, and spoke interestingly. Luther C. Bateman, of Lewiston, was the principal speaker of the afternoon.

The prize banner was then presented to Lakewick grange, George B. Stuart making the presentation speech. Frank Herick, master of Lakewick grange, made appropriate remarks in accepting the banner.

A ball game in the afternoon between Lakewood and Bluehill, was won by the former.

The carnival closed with a band concert and ball in the evening.

The annual recurrence of this gathering brings to our minds as nothing else can the great loss we have recently sustained, and it is with profound sorrow that this association records the death of three of its valued members.

First Sarah Allen Cole, whose death on Dec. 7, 1907, left a vacancy which will ever be felt. Living into a beautiful and benignant age, she leaves behind her fragrant memories of a serene presence, one who endeared herself to all by her kindly greetings, her ever-ready helping hand and unselfish life.

God's ways are not our ways, and we bow humbly to His will. Although called upon to mourn the loss of another member on March 26, 1908, in the death of Clara Cole Morse, the secretary and treasurer of this organization whose untiring devotion to its interest, even though suffering ill health, now that her voice is stilled and her hand lifeless, remains with us a sacred and secure possession.

Resolved, That in the death of these members our family circle has met with an irreparable loss, which we feel deeply. Resolved, That in sympathy with the sorrowing relatives, we extend our sympathy and cause these resolutions to be inscribed on our records.

First came two little flower girls, Miss Katherine Jackson and Miss Flora Ricker, who wore white dresses with pink sashes and carried baskets of sweet peas.

Following them were two young lady attendants, Miss Elizabeth Carpenter and Miss Harriet Hatch, gowned in white with wreaths of pink and white sweet peas on their heads.

A FISHING TRIP.
A party of summer visitors had a successful fishing trip to the Swan's Island fishing grounds last Friday. Starting from Center Harbor about 10 o'clock in the morning in the yacht "Edna May", they reached the fishing grounds about 12 o'clock, and without anchoring, they fished one hour, catching fifty-four fine cod and haddock.
Mrs. Tibbets, wife of N. V. Tibbets, proprietor of Castle View cottages at Haven, caught a twelve-pound cod, six large haddock, one skate, one monk fish, four dog-fish and a sea cucumber. Much of the sport and excitement of deep sea fishing on the coast is the uncertainty of what one is going to haul up from the grab bag at the bottom of the ocean. It may be a lobster trap full of rocks if the line is strong enough, a fine cod fish, a devil fish, lamp-reel or a skate. The ladies handle a cod fish nearly as well as the men, but when they land one of those horrible nightmares of the deep, they run for the cabin until it is set adrift.
The trip was the quickest on record for this season; leaving the fishing grounds at just 2 o'clock, after lunch on the sailing yacht, they sailed the nine miles back to Haven in just one hour, under full sail, before a strong southwest breeze.

STRATTON REUNION.

The eleventh annual reunion of the Stratton family took place Aug. 21, at Harrison's grove, Franklin. The day was perfect. About fifty from Hancock attended the meeting. They made the trip across the upper bay in boats drawn by motor power. Percy Walker and Leroy B. Crabtree in their motor boats piloted the boats across the bay, which was not an easy task as both wind and tide were unfavorable both morning and evening.
Upon arriving at the grove the party was greeted by Mr. Harrison, the owner of the grove, and other members of the association, who extended a hearty welcome. Soon it became evident that the masculine element of the gathering was decreasing, but signs of a good time were nearby field disclosed the whereabouts of the absentees. There merriment reigned supreme, for old and young were found deeply engrossed in a game of baseball. Hands long unacquainted with a bat made record hits, and feet unaccustomed to sprinting made home runs amidst the plaudits of the spectators.
At noon the company sat down to a picnic dinner beneath the trees at the grove. After dinner the business meeting was held. The following officers were elected: President, A. B. Crabtree; vice-president, Henry French; treasurer, J. Nelson Stratton; secretary, Clara E. Johnson; committee of arrangements, Newell Harrison, Henry French, J. Nelson Stratton.
No programme had been provided, but the assembly listened with keen interest to remarks made by Miss May French. The company then sang "God Save the King" and "You'll We Meet Again" after which the meeting adjourned for another year.
Another ball game then took place, while those not interested in baseball played quoits, croquet, swung or renewed acquaintances as each saw fit.
At 5 o'clock the gathering broke up, the family scattering toward all points of the compass and all declaring that the eleventh reunion had been the best of all.

Rev. F. J. Goodwin preached an able sermon at the Congregational church Sunday morning. This was the closing discourse in the series of sermons so generously contributed by visiting ministers. All who had the privilege of listening to these inspiring messages felt deeply grateful to the committee in charge of the summer schedule, and hope that the plan will be repeated another season.

A TRYING EXPERIENCE.

Friday morning, Aug. 21, a merry party of ten young men and four young women started in a naphtha launch from Southwest Harbor to attend a ball game at Sargentville. A pleasant passage up a cordial reception, and a victory in the game at Sargentville, put them in fine spirits. Miss Philbrick, of Pittsfield, joined the party for the return home. They started at 5:30 p. m.
The shades of night fell, with clouds and no moon. Bluehill bay is not a safe place for inexperienced mariners in a dark night. At 9 o'clock they ran on Eagle island ledge, southeast of Pond island, where they passed the night amid great discomfort. The ebb tide soon left the boat high and dry, but they feared that when the tide came in the rock would be covered, and perhaps the boat would leak too much to carry them. They swung a lantern all night to draw attention, but the night was dark and rough, and no boats were out.
The young men did their best to make the situation as endurable as possible for the girls. There were twelve life preservers on board. These were given to those who could not swim, and were twice tied on.
It was a night long to be remembered by those on the rock, and by their parents and friends at home, who watched all night long for their return.
"The night, the long, dark night at last Passed fearfully away."
After daylight, Addison Parker, of Swan's Island, came to the rescue. He helped them to launch their boat, which could float; for the spot where they lay was smooth and covered with rocks, while on either side were sharp rocks. Mr. Parker took them off the rock in his herring boat, and transferred them to their own boat, the ladies not objecting to stepping on the herring as the water was fast covering the ledge, and the last man to leave the rock was up to his waist in the water.
They started again for Bass Harbor, Mr. Parker keeping with them until he saw their boat was all right. When she came in sight at Bass Harbor a dispatch went to Southwest Harbor that the boat was coming in, and joy reigned. Soon teams brought a tired and bedraggled company of young people to Southwest Harbor, where they were warmly welcomed.

"I found that a cold left me with catarrh of the head in a very bad form. My head was stopped up, I had frontal headaches, my eyes bothered me, and there was a nasty dropping in my throat which nauseated me and made it impossible many times for me to eat my breakfast.
"As soon as I began to use Peruna I found it relieved me, my head soon cleared up and in a remarkably short time I was rid of catarrh.
