Has seen the beginning of many a fortune. Saving money and putting it in the bank is just as reasonable as it is for the farmer to harvest and store his crops. Money is the stored fruit of your labor; the more you have of it, the less hard work you will have to do. There are few people so poor that they can't save something, if they have a mind to think so. ## MAYO'S ACCIDENT

Cement Worker Suffers a Broken Elbow and Severed Artery.

Harry Mayo of 15 Columbia avenue, a native of Nova Scotia, was the victim of an extremely painful accident at the cement plant Tuesday afternoon, as the result of which two bones were broken in his left arm at the elbow, and an artery was severed in the upper arm. He was taken to Dr. Hodgkins' Hospital in Thomaston, where he will probably be confined a matter of 10 weeks.

Mr. Mayo was working temporarily with the distributing conveyor on the raw storage wall. The distributor travels the length of the wall on rails, with a block set at each end of the travel limit. The men had been instructed that when the conveyor over-traveled the hand lever was to be thrown, and under no circumstances was it to be stopped otherwise.

Mr. Mayo in this instance picked up a bar and jammed it on the rail, instead of the reverse lever. The result was that the conveyor continued in motion and the bar he was holding pressed his arm against the rail. Suffering great agony he was taken to the first aid room, being the first accident victim to benefit from its privileges. The department proved its emergency value in this instance for Mr. Mayo was bleeding profusely from the severed artery.

According to Safety Engineer O. E. Wiseman the cement industry is no more hazardous than any other occupation if the men will simply understand that the machinery is of a different type from that to which they have been accustomed, and will carefully follow the instructions issued to them by the safety department.

It is believed that when the safety campaign starts June 1st the element of danger will have been very largely eliminated.

APPEALS TO HALE

Gov. Brewster Asks His Aid in Hiring Maine Men On Maine Roads.

In an effort to overcome an apparent obstacle in Gov. Brewster's recently announced plan to use Maine labor only in highway construction work, the Governor has appealed to Senator Hale for aid.

It has been discovered that Federal regulations apparently do not permit preferential employment on Federal aid projects and the Governor has enlisted Senator Hale's services to try to obtain an exception in Maine's case. He sent the following program to Senator Hale today:

"The State is giving preference to Maine citizens on all highway work. Federal regulations apparently do not permit preference to Maine citizens on Federal aid projects, even though State pays three-fourths of costs. Please advise whether it is possible to secure any waiver that will permit Maine money to go to Maine citizens. We are observing provisions as to preference to veterans of the World War in road construction."

"WM. BOOTH" SUNK

Capt. Anderson's Craft Nearly Cut In Two By Five Master.

The schooner William Booth, which recently underwent extensive repairs at the South Railway, was rammed by a five-master off Chatham, Mass., Thursday and sunk.

The vessel was at anchor when the schooner Helen Barnett Gring of Boston struck her aft of the mizzen mast and almost cut her in two.

The weather was clear and almost calm at the time of the crash. The bows of the Gring plowed through the hull of the Booth, cutting off her whole after part, boats and all. The crew of the Booth clambered on board the other vessel as it tore its way through their own craft. The Booth, heavily loaded with building stone, sank almost immediately.

The Gring, bound from Norfolk for Calais, with 3000 tons of coal, asked for aid and reported that she was leaking badly. A Coast Guard patrol boat went to her assistance and towed her to Boston. The Booth was owned by Carlos Berry of New London, Conn., and was of 1226 tons gross.

The Gring is owned by Crowell and Thurlow of Boston.

Captain A. Anderson of Rockland, skipper of the Booth, remained at Chatham to superintend possible salvage operations.

Paul Sidlau, Edward T. Winslow and Alvin M. Winslow local members of the William Booth's crew came home from Boston by rail yesterday. The Winslows referred to are sons of Charles W. Winslow of Limerock street. It was Alvin's maiden voyage and he is not likely to forget it very soon.

The schooner Helen Barnett Gring was towed into Boston harbor yesterday. Her bowsprit was broken off and her head gear had been carried away to the knighthoods. The vessel was also leaking slightly.

Captain Mohr, skipper of the Gring said he had not seen the riding lights of the Booth, which was anchored in the fairway, until it was too late to avert a crash. The Gring cut through the hull of the other vessel and the Booth, which was loaded with stone, sank immediately. The five members of the Booth's crew were saved.

"THE STUDENT PRINCE"
Screen's Greatest Romance
At Strand Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

The opening scenes are laid in Karlsruhe. The populace is abroad in honor of the arrival of little Karl Heinrich, the heir apparent, a boy of eight. He is met and taken in charge by the reigning King Karl VII, who is stern and unsympathetic with the boy. Other boys and girls look up at the lot of the heir apparent with envy, while he, in turn looks down upon their carefree lives with eager longing. So he grows to manhood without sympathy or understanding, except from old Dr. Juttner, his tutor.

Then comes the great change in his life, when he is sent, with Dr. Juttner, to the university of Heidelberg for a year of study. Here lives Kathie, niece of the inn-keeper, an exquisite elfin girl, with whom Karl Heinrich falls desperately in love. Dr. Juttner, unable to deny his beloved charge some of the joy of youth, allows the heir apparent's life to run its natural course without interference.

NOTED ENGLISHMAN SPOKE

Captain Creed Tells Local Service Clubs About "All New England Under One Roof."

Plans to visualize, dramatize and advertise the "far-stretched greatness of New England" in the largest building of its kind in the world were outlined last night at a get together dinner of the Forty, Rotary and City Clubs of Rockland by Capt. Percy Redfern Creed, at the invitation of Mayor J. P. Carver. Captain Creed, a personal representative of W. J. McDonald, president of the New England Building, Inc., Boston, explained the plans of the "Tour Through New England" which will occupy the entire sixth floor of the New England Building, Inc., to be erected in the Park Square District of Boston.

Rockland with more than 250 other cities and towns of New England is considering ways and means of participating in this unique presentation—visualizing the scenic, historical, civic, recreational, financial and industrial advantages of the six New England States.

Captain Creed detailed some very interesting facts regarding the first five floors of the proposed New England Building. The building will be 360 feet high and will have 28 stories. The floor area will be 1,600,000 square feet, making it larger than other famous structures as the Graybar and Equitable Buildings in New York and the General Motors Building, Detroit. Although half as high—it will be twice as large as the famous Woolworth Building in New York.

"It constitutes a challenge to the world that New England is not only alive but awake," said Captain Creed. "We are out to do the biggest thing for New England that has ever been done and do it in such a way as to drive home to the rest of the United States and to the world the progressive spirit of New England."

"The 'Tour Through New England' exhibition will be laid out on the great floor area of more than two acres to conform with the general geography of the New England States.

All the cities and towns together with the principal mountains, lakes, rivers and shore lines, will be shown in an artistic and novel manner in their correct locations, while beautiful mural paintings covering the entire wall space will depict typical landscapes. The miniature communities will be linked together by a network of little tree-bordered highways.

"The plan outlined will present the largest display of mural art ever assembled anywhere in the world. More than 600 yards of wall space would be devoted to murals by noted artists depicting scenes characteristic of various sections of New England.

"The whole spirit of this exhibition will be artistic and educational. In each State there will be an information bureau giving the records, historical, municipal and civic of its cities and towns, together with complete information about its industrial and business activities and attractions.

"The basic floor plan for the creation of this 'Tour Through New England' exhibit has been prepared by Wm. Roger Greeley, President of the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards.

"The fame of this great regional exhibition and its attractive interest from an artistic and scenic point of view should extend far beyond the visitors who come here from other countries for reasons of business or pleasure. It should give not only our fellow Americans but our fellow New Englanders a better idea of what New England offers to the world and thus serve to promote a greater spirit of co-operation and good-will among all the New England States.

"To adapt a phrase of Sir Walter Raleigh's, here on this one floor of the world's largest building will be 'drawn together all the farre stretched greatness' of the New England.

"What has the Woolworth Building been worth to New York City, not only in sentiment and pride, but in cold hard cash? Great cities in every country have always been associated with some outstanding building which has represented the genius of the race. Is it not time that New England have a building to embody and house the genius of her people?

We believe that such a symbol of the thrilling life of New England is long overdue and it is this deep conviction that has inspired us to invite you here today to co-operate with us in carrying our ideal to realization.

"Sound ideals and sound business are inseparable companions and we claim, without fear of contradiction, that the 'Tour Through New England' will bring rich rewards to all those who have done their bit to make it an overwhelming success.

"American exhibitors are spending $2,000,000 on displaying their manufactures at the Leipzig Fair and that shows an enterprising spirit, but there is plenty of scope for this spirit nearer home. We believe that the New England Building will attract not only for a limited time, as in the case of the Leipzig Fair, but day in, day out, year in, year out, a constant stream of prospective purchasers from abroad, as well as from all parts of the United States.

"We are determined to spare neither pains nor expense to the end that the visitor to our exhibition will go away with a vivid impression of the scenic, geographical and historical features of New England, reinforced by a fund of available information about the municipal, social and industrial activities of the towns he has visited on his tour of our mammoth sixth floor.

"We believe that, at a modest estimate, 3,000 visitors will daily see this exhibition, or in round figures, say 1,000,000 visitors per annum. In what way, through what other medium, and at what advertising cost could you secure such direct personal attention of 1,000,000 people in one year for the attractions and opportunities of your town?"

"The New England Building and the 'Tour Through New England'—it was explained—is sponsored by a most representative group of New England business and industrial leaders, including such men as—Wm. L. Barrell, president of the Wm. L. Barrell Co., Boston; J. Sumner Draper, real estate, Boston; Charles L. Edgar, president of the Edison Electric Illuminating Co., Boston; Frederick R. Edington, president of the Edington Co., Inc., Boston; Howard W. Fitz, vice president of the Industrial Trust Co., Providence; Henry L. Harriman, chairman of the board of directors, New England Power Association, Boston; Alden H. Kenyon, president of the Kenyon Co., Boston; Fred T. Ley, president of the Fred T. Ley Co., Springfield; Joseph E. O'Connell, assistant vice president of the National Shawmut Bank, Boston; W. S. Quincy, president of the W. S. Quincy Co., Boston; Arthur P. Russell, vice president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R.; Wm. L. Shearer Jr., vice president of the Paine Furniture Co., Boston; Hon. John H. Trumbull, Governor of Connecticut; Y. C. Bruce Wetmore, president and treasurer of the Wetmore Savage Co.; Percy E. Woodward, president of the Waldorf System, Inc.; Walter S. Wyman, president Central Maine Power Co.

Last night's banquet was so fortunate to have as the toastmaster Col. Walter H. Butler, to whom the art of story telling comes second nature. He was particularly happy in the performance of his duties last night.

When proper respect had been paid to the nice chicken supper the members of the Forty Club, led by E. R. Vezzie, sang their club song, and the echoes had not died away before Rotarians came back strong, with Lou B. Cook leading in their club song.

Col. Butler expressed the gratification and honor he felt in being asked to preside over the second joint meeting of the city's service clubs.

President Raphael S. Sherman of the Rotary Club expressed his satisfaction at seeing 46 of the 49 members of that organization present and emphasized the fourth object of Rotary which is the development of acquaintance.

Dr. Neil A. Fogg, president of the Forty Club, said that the main purpose of that organization was service—not international, to be sure, but service to the city. Stop planning and emphasize on some definite action, was his advice. The city needs service.

Mayor James F. Carver thanked those who had called this meeting at his request and spoke gratefully of the assistance he had always received from the local service organizations. "I have never yet failed to get the help I asked for," said he.

In introducing Capt. Creed as an English soldier, sportsman, author and lecturer Col. Butler drew hearty applause when he declared that the guest of honor had taken out his first papers with a view to becoming an American citizen.

Captain Creed's droll anecdotes and flashing wit made doubly interesting his story of the New England building.

GARAGE SEIZED

Latest Move At Thomaston In the George W. Starrett Case.

The property known as the Thomaston Garage Company, owned by Richard Dunn and Miles Weston, has been taken on an execution to satisfy the judgment, with interests and costs, awarded to George W. Starrett for damages sustained by his property at The Creek when the highway grade was raised in front of his store.

The history of this unfortunate legal squabble is already too well known to Courier-Gazette readers to call for extended repetition.

The commissioners appointed by the court awarded judgment for Mr. Starrett and when this was taken to Law Court the finding was sustained. Then ten taxpayers sought an injunction, which was denied by the Law Court.

The property of Charles A. Creighton was then seized; petition for temporary injunction was granted, and pending these proceedings the attachment expired. An adjustment of the matter was discussed, and pending these negotiations both sides marked time.

The seizure of the garage property by Deputy Sheriff J. E. Roberts, yesterday, was the latest move. What the last move will be no mortal can guess.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

PRAYER
God, though this life is but a wraith,
Although we know not what we use,
Although we grope with little faith,
Give me the heart to fight and lose.
Ever insistent let me be,
Make me more daring than devout;
From sleek contentment keep me free,
And fill me with a buoyant doubt.
Open my eyes to visions great,
With heart and with wonder lit—
But let me always see the dirt,
And all that spawn and die in it.
Open my ears to music; let Me thrill with Spring's first flutes and
The bitter ballads of the slums.
From compromise and things half-done,
Keep me, with stern and stubborn pride;
And when, at last the light is won,
God, keep me still unsatisfied.

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
 Rockland, Me., April 28, 1928.
 Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell who on oath declares that he is President in the office of The Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of April 26, 1928, there was printed a total of 6,370 copies.
 Before me, FRANK B. MILLER,
 Notary Public.

If I have withheld the poor from their desire, or have caused the eyes of the widow to fail; or have eaten my morsel myself alone and the fatherless hath not eaten thereof; if I have seen any perish for want of clothing, or any poor without covering; then let mine arm fall from my shoulder blade, and mine arm be broken from the bone.—Job 31:16, 17, 18, 21.

With so large a proportion of the city's streets in a state of surface upheaval, the problem of permanent surfacing again comes under consideration. It is a costly business and in the nature of things can be carried forward only by piece-meal, but it is a truism to say that the earlier the task approximates completion, the greater will be the saving to taxpayers. Many can recall the former condition of the short streets connecting Main street with Union which for long periods in spring and autumn and at every copious fall of rain in summer, became veritable sloughs. In the face of the usual opposition, successive city governments surfaced four of these streets with asphalt—School, Spring, Elm and Oak streets. That was twenty to thirty years ago—we haven't the dates—and the streets continue to present a fair appearance. For the period of time in which they have experienced an exacting service their cost of upkeep has been relatively negligible. There is a companion group of these short streets also calling for treatment. The city government in the past two years has achieved some notable successes in the line of permanent street construction and its further efforts in this important field of municipal improvement we are confident will be warmly supported by the tax payers generally.

We admire the spirit of Bangor people who would not allow the passing of the Maine Music Festival to put their city off the map. After supporting for thirty years with sustained loyalty the herculean labors of Dr. Chapman, the progressive city refused to suffer his enforced laying down of the baton to furnish any excuse for quitting. Hence the creation of the Eastern Maine Musical Association, which on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week is to make the thirty-second annual Maine Music Festival one of the most conspicuous in the long series of successes. The programs of the two days present noted artists and the famous Cleveland Orchestra. To the details of these performances which have appeared in preceding issues of this paper we want to add a closing word of admiration of our up-river musical friends and to express the opinion that this year's festival is to add to the splendid reputation which they have steadily maintained as the patrons and supporters of what is best in the realm of music.

Tonight the people of four Maine cities set ahead their clocks an hour and give themselves the pleasure of lengthened summer days. We are glad for them that they can do so. We wish Rockland might find itself joined with them and with those other progressive sections of New England which enter into that slight readjustment of the clock hands which serves to increase the hours of the pleasant vacation season. It is true that any individual is privileged under the Constitution to set his watch ahead and observe in his individual capacity daylight time. But there is small recompense in that. Unless the entire community participates the satisfaction of an adjusted summer time is not attainable.

We of the states incline to under-rate the people of the continent that joins ours on the south, but occasionally there is a flash that tends measurably to exalt our opinion of them. This ruling by the supreme court of Brazil, forbidding children under sixteen attending motion pictures or any theatre unless accompanied by parents, presents a sharp contrast to the laxity of parental supervision in this country, where no age limit in these connections is imposed, and children in arms and upwards constitute a large proportion of every amusement audience.

The killing of another driver on the racing sands of Daytona Beach raises anew the question as to the good of it all. Lockhart had attained a speed of over two hundred miles an hour at the moment his automobile crashed. Soon he would have reached far greater speed, for his aim was to exceed the world record, lately set at 207 miles. But suppose he had done so? What then? As one of the Two Black Crows remarks of the early bird, "What of it?"

The overwhelming character of the Hoover victory in this week's primaries is viewed generally as setting him a long way ahead in the contest for the Kansas City nomination. Well, that suits Maine.

FROM WASHINGTON

(Special to The Courier-Gazette)

Washington, D. C.—Ten of the leading newspapers of Maine have gone on record as expressing the belief that the sentiment of their various communities favors the selection of Hoover as Republican presidential candidate, while only one paper of the State contends that local sentiment supports Calvin Coolidge for renomination. It is stated at the headquarters of the National Republic has conducted a poll of the various papers of the country and the results of the poll are announced in detail in the National Republic.

Of all the New England papers answering the poll, 114 stated that local sentiment favored Hoover for the Republican candidacy, while 32 expressed the belief that local sentiment endorsed Coolidge for renomination. In responding to the National Republic poll, considering local sentiment as a basis upon which to base their conclusions, the newspapers of the New England States lined up in the following manner:

Massachusetts: 37 for Hoover and 16 for Coolidge; New Hampshire: 22 for Hoover and one for Coolidge; Maine: ten for Hoover, one for Coolidge, one for Davies and one for Coolidge; Vermont: 19 for Hoover and six for Coolidge; Connecticut: nine for Hoover and seven for Coolidge; and in Rhode Island, seven for Hoover and one for Coolidge.

Representative Nelson has been appointed to the sub-committee of the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce which will draw up the committee report on the bill to regulate interstate motor buses. Hearings on this bill have been held for the last several weeks.

Rhode Island will cast its 10 votes in the Democratic National Convention for Smith so long as his name remains before the convention. The Democratic State Convention Monday elected 20 delegates, each one with half a vote, instructed the delegation to vote as a unit on all matters as a majority of the delegates might determine, and to vote for the nomination of Smith.

Authorization of an expenditure of not more than $35,000 for a Maine fish-culture substation and $25,000 for one in the White Mountain Forest of New Hampshire is provided in a bill introduced in the House by Representative Wallace White of Maine. The bill has been referred to the committee of merchant marine and fisheries, of which Congressman White is chairman, for consideration. In order to provide for a five-year construction and maintenance program for the United States bureau of fisheries authorization is made in the bill for appropriations to provide also for the proper husbandry of American fisheries, improvements in the method of capture, merchandising, and distribution of our fishery harvest, including saving and utilization of waste products.

NEW PASTOR COMING

Rev. Mr. Kenderdine To Be Here May 10—"First Class Man" Says Bishop.

A telegram from Rev. Jesse Kenderdine, newly appointed pastor of Pratt Memorial M. E. Church, states that he completes his pastorate in Winnebago, Minn., next Monday and will motor to Maine, arriving here about May 10.

Bishop William F. Anderson who presided over the Maine Conference wrote thus to Leroy Chitto of the local church:

"I am very happy to write you that I have succeeded in finding a strictly first class man for the pastorate at Rockland. I refer to Rev. Jesse Kenderdine from Winnebago, Minn. He is a college and seminary trained man, has a pleasing personality, with a splendid family, and I am sure he will be just such a man as Rockland needs."

Upon receipt of the notice that he had been transferred to Rockland, Rev. Mr. Kenderdine wrote to Bishop Anderson:

"Your telegram came this morning announcing my appointment to Rockland, Maine. First, let me thank you for the very kind interest you have taken in us and the pains you have taken to satisfy our desire to move East. We both appreciate it very deeply and pray that you will best effort to make good at Rockland."

Rockland will bring Mr. Kenderdine within a day's journey of their home, which will mean a great deal to her during the years of her parents' old age, especially as her sister, is herself having very precarious health."

Reference is made to relatives residing in New Jersey.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

Largest Meeting In Rockland District Proved a Pleasing Affair.

The public relations meeting held at Temple hall Wednesday night under the auspices of the Central Maine Power Company, was the largest in the series thus far, and certainly one of the best.

The local branch was represented by Alfred Stevens and E. H. Marston, the former's topic being "Your Company and Yourself," and the latter's "Job Analysis." Other speakers and topics were "Public Utility Economics," W. A. Cobb, "Messages from Management," F. W. Eaton, L. A. Walker gave a very interesting talk, and a skit entitled "The Black Ravens" was pleasingly done. The musical specialty by Vinal and Adams, the former with banjo and musical saw, and the latter as pianist, brought the roof right down to the floor. Everybody sang when it came to "My Wild Irish Rose," "Sweet Adeline," and "Tuck Me To Sleep In My Old Tucky Home." Music by Our Own Orchestra and a motion picture completed the program, after which there was a social hour, with dancing and refreshments.

L. E. Jones was chairman of the meeting assisted by Murray Whalen, Doris Sylvester and Leola Robinson. Employees, families and friends held share in the enjoyment of the occasion.

Among the special guests was Mayor James F. Carver who spoke briefly.

New York. The bill has been referred to the committee on ways and means for consideration. The resolution authorizes the commission to conduct the investigations of the white potato and directs it to report to the President as soon as practicable its findings.

Democratic leaders in Pennsylvania conceded Smith would have 66 of the State's 76 Democratic delegates to the national convention after the preferential primaries yesterday. The Republican delegation will be divided although Secretary Hoover's name was written on the ballots to a much greater extent than any other candidate.

The Ohio primaries resulted in Secretary of Commerce Hoover winning 31 of the 51 delegates to the Republican National Convention. Governor Alfred E. Smith won the Democratic endorsement by about 5 to 1 over former Senator Atlee Pomeroy and Governor Vic Donahey.

With the BOWLERS

Last night's hard fought battles at the Recreation Bowling Alleys brought championship laurels to the head battling Wholesalers through their 3-1 defeat of the C. M. P. No. 1, the C-G's unexpected 3-1 victory over C. M. P. No. 2 serving to break up the possibility of a tie and thus finally upset the apple cart. High string honors for the league went to Chauncey D. Keene with 140 and high average to Wallace Hinds. Cups will be awarded these men and to the victorious Wholesalers at Monday night's banquet, together with the Cosmopolitan League cups.

Now, about this roster. It has nothing to do with the Wholesalers but crows its lusty best over the garrison finish of Capt. Charles's Lawry's.

Courier-Gazette outfit which came into its own by defeating the mighty erstwhile champs. It was the second victory of the C-G's in a weary grind of 24 weeks in which they broke every known record for bad breaks. Lawry was in fine form and led the field with 314. The summary:

Courier-Gazette—(3 pts.)—Stewart 281; Cole, 250; Sylvester, 256; Richardson, 271; Lawry, 314; total, 1372.
 Central Maine No. 2 (1 point)—Fogarty, 280; Ripley, 230; A. Rogers, 255; Jamison, 243; S. Rogers, 305; total, 1317.

It was not much of a Central Maine night, as the No. 1 team lost three points out of the four to the Wholesalers. Brown was drum major of the procession, with an even 300. The summary:

Wholesalers—(3 points)—Jordan, 262; Brown, 300; McLoon, 257; LeGage, 290; Keene, 281, total 1400.
 Central Maine No. 1—(1 point)—Munn, 259; Leach, 258; Merrill, 283; E. Benner, 271; Hinds, 298; total, 1369.

The Merchants won a double header at the Recreation Alleys Wednesday night, defeating the C. M. P. No. 1 and No. 2.

A NOTABLE CONCERT

Many Music Lovers Miss Opportunity To Hear Two Fine Artists.

"One of the finest concerts Rockland has had for many a day" was the unanimous expression following the annual concert of the Harmony Club, Thursday evening in the Congregational auditorium. Featuring Miss Olga Mikkonen, pianist, and Miss Sylvia Mikkonen, violinist, in a program of outstanding excellence. The sisters made very attractive appearances, with their blond fairness and soft coloring. Miss Olga in white and Miss Sylvia in rose-pink.

With only the advantage of local training in West Paris and less than a year with Felix Winteritz in Boston, Miss Sylvia has already advanced to a point usually attained by students under skilled teachers for some period. She has clean bowing, beautiful tone, and a deep sense of color. The Vivaldi Concerto in A minor which opened the program was splendidly done, the Allegro movement being particularly lovely. Among her other outstanding numbers were the "Humoresque" by Tschalkovsky, "Dancing Doll" by Poldini, "Oriental" by Cesar Cui and "Hungarian Dance No. 5" by Brahms, the last two together with the encore "Valse Triste" by Schubert perhaps being the high lights. The Sibelius number, hauntingly lovely, was played most artistically.

Few pianists of Miss Olga's caliber have been heard in Rockland. A student for seven years in West Paris followed by four years' training at the Faelten Piano School of Music in Boston, she is wonderfully equipped for a pianist of her years. She has marvelous technique, a tone which she uses from ringing brilliance to the most exquisite pianissimo, and a wonderful sense of interpretation coming from a nature brimming with temperament. It is difficult to choose the high lights of her selections, each one was so splendidly done. Possibly the Twelfth Rhapsody of Liszt made the deepest impression as that embodied all her capabilities and was an amazing demonstration of her technique. Two other numbers which made a popular appeal were "Maynight" by Brahms and "Caprice" by Sibelius in which there was lovely staccato work.

The numbers of Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, "Morning Glories" and "From Blackbird Hills" were very unusual and modern in their trend, the latter being a picture of dancing Indians who are momentarily subdued by the ghosts of their forefathers appearing, the mad dance being resumed when the ghosts fade again. (Miss Mikkonen appeared in recital of Mrs.

Beach's compositions at the Faelten School with Mrs. Beach present.) Of the encores presented possibly the "Butterfly" by Grieg was the happiest. Miss Mikkonen in addition to her own difficult program acted as accompanist for her sister, an arduous task on the whole but from which she came forth looking fresh and attractive.

There was a small audience due possibly to other local activities. It was an opportunity rarely given for both student and music lover, but of which few took advantage. The number of 100, included many of representative musicians and made an audience warmly appreciative.

The girls were rehearsing this morning for the Penobscot Bay Music Festival.

"Sure we all want baseball and we all want to help," was his genial comment. The dance is at Temple hall next Wednesday night with Kirk's Full Orchestra, refreshments, "everything."

The announcement comes today from Adelbert Sorague, in charge of the Bangor Music Festival for May 1 and 2, that Mary Lewis, Metropolitan soprano, will not be able to fill her engagement as prima donna. And in her place Florence Austral, soprano, has been secured. The change is a happy one as Miss Austral is a superior artist to Miss Lewis. Native of Australia, she came to this country only a few years ago when she created a veritable sensation by her glorious voice when singing in the Middle West. She has been heard since in the large eastern cities where she repeated her successes. Her voice is one of great beauty, of astonishing range and power, and used with consummate artistry.

Salary increases were voted for County Agent R. C. Wentworth and Miss Nettie Simmons, home demonstration agent, who have labored so hard and efficiently for the welfare of the organization. A farewell reception for Rev. and Mrs. John Dunstan was held at the Methodist Church Wednesday evening, and many evidences of regret over his departure were shown. The parishioners, with Ralph U. Clark as spokesman, presented Mr. Dunstan with a substantial purse of gold and the Boy Scouts presented him a bill-fold, the speech being made by Robert Gregory, senior patrol leader. Feeling responses were made by the retiring pastor. Music was furnished by Mrs. Emma Harvey's "Juvenile Smilers," other features of the entertainment program being a reading by Miss Louise Doliver and whistling solos by Miss Ruth Richards. Refreshments of cake and hot chocolate were served by the girls and Boy Scouts. The committee in charge of the reception comprised Mrs. Sidney Brown, president of the Ladies Aid, assisted by Mrs. Ida Simmons and Mrs. Lena Stevens. Rev. and Mrs. Dunstan went to their new pastorate in Fort Fairfield Thursday.

The new sardine snack Medric, built for the Lawrence Packing Company, received her papers at the Custom House yesterday.

Delegates to the Democratic territorial convention Thursday instructed their six representatives to the national convention at Houston, Texas, to support Smith. The decision came after a two-hour argument over the exact terms of the instructions.

CHURCHES

SERMONETTE

Missed Opportunities

Luke in his record of the Savior's birth gives many little details. Caesar Augustus had ordered a census. Every man went to his own city. The highways were congested. When Caesar spoke all went rich and poor. Joseph, with his wife Mary about to give birth, found his own city crowded, and Luke adds, "There was no room for them in the inn."

No Christ the King of Kings was born in a stable.

No affront was offered Joseph, but someone missed that night an opportunity for immortal fame.

Just suppose the innkeeper had given up his room for this guest of guests or that the record had said that Levi and Rachel of Capernaum, learning of their plight, had given up their room for Mary's comfort. They would have taken places in the history of all time with the Wise Men; with her who poured the precious ointment of spikenard upon his head; with Simon the Cyrenian who helped him bear his cross to Calvary; or with Joseph of Arimathea who craved the body and laid it in his tomb.

No—preoccupied and selfish, the golden opportunity for service passed, as it does so often with all of us. W. A. H.

Miss Kitty McLaughlin, whose broadcast over WOR was listened to with so much pleasure by friends here in her home town, sings at the Brooklyn Mark Strand Theatre next week, and a tour of five weeks follows, in the course of which she visits Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Writing to a Rockland friend concerning the WOR broadcast Miss McLaughlin says: "So sorry about the breakdown of machinery in Newark during my first number, but we were not aware of it in the studio at all. I was broadcasting from the 25th floor of a building on Broadway, New York and the power went off in Newark at the relay station. However, I repeated the aria and hope you got it."

"Two Steps In" will be reopened this summer and for the purpose of accommodating the expected increase in patronage is now being enlarged.

THOMASTON

There will be no service at the Congregational Church Sunday. Arthur J. Elliot is making a tenement of the annex to his house. It is well adapted to that purpose. New water pipes are being put into the Tremblay house, corner of Knox and Elliot streets.

The Ladies Circle of the Baptist Church will meet next Wednesday afternoon. Supper at 6 o'clock. Henry B. Shaw is at Glenmere painting a house belonging to his son Harris S. Shaw.

Miss Evelyn Mossman is expected Saturday to spend the weekend at home. She teaches school in North Jefferson.

Miss Rose Merrifield who has been at home a short time is returning to Newham, Mass., today.

At the annual business meeting of the Garden Club the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Lavinia Elliot; vice president, Mrs. Elsie Seavey; treasurer, Mrs. Caroline Foley; secretary, Miss Horne Wilson. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Maria Copeland, May 10.

The Girl Scouts will hold a meeting next Sunday at 2:30 in the Congregational vestry.

Services at the Baptist church Sunday will be: Sunday school, 9:45 a. m., preaching, at 11 o'clock, "Fatal Neglect," and at 7 o'clock an illustrated address, when 58 colored pictures will be shown.

The co-operative sale at the vestry of the Congregational church Wednesday did not meet the expectation of the promoters. The several fairs and sales held during the winter and spring had given the public an opportunity to supply themselves with articles needed. The co-operative idea is a good one as another trial might demonstrate. The sale, Troop 10, Boy Scouts, held their meeting Thursday evening. A new patrol was formed with Warren Peterson as patrol leader and Charles Stockpole as assistant patrol leader. The name Fox was chosen for the patrol.

The tonic for the Christian Endeavor Monday evening is "The Religion of Others," leader, Ruth McFarland.

Mrs. E. P. Ahern arrived home from New York Friday having greatly enjoyed her visit with her mother and brother. Dr. Brock of Portland was in town Friday and performed an operation upon Mrs. Maynard Cramer of Warren at Dr. Hodgkins' hospital.

Weather permitting Thomaston and Lincoln Academy will play ball on the home grounds this afternoon. The Thomaston Academy Co. will open their new oil station on Main street Monday morning. It is an up-to-date one, with a nice building equipped with toilet conveniences, the building and grounds lighted by electricity. Three pumps from which to supply the needs of patrons. Conveniently located and easily accessible the new station will doubtless have a large patronage. Loring Orr will be in charge.

Wesley Comstock has set up housekeeping in the Benj. Dunbar house, Green street. The house has been arranged for the purpose. Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Peyster and Stanley R. Cushing motored to Boston Friday.

Miss Harriet Burgess was the guest of Miss Elizabeth Washburn Thursday. The large fishing boat being built by Robert McLain & Son is nearly planned.

At the new factory of the Black & Gay Co., Inc., the boiler is being bricked up and a cement floor is being laid in the canning room. Mr. Haapanen states that the Courier-Gazette to state that he does not go in person to Madison, Wisconsin, in connection with the exhibition of his paintings there, as the wording of an item in this paper suggested he had done. Mr. Haapanen sent for the exhibition a group of his Maine landscape at the invitation of the Madison Art Association, under whose auspices they are shown.

Mr. Loeb of the Le-Vine Dress Company will be at Fuller-Cobb-Davis' store Tuesday, May 1 with a line of sport and street dresses. Orders will be taken and many of the dresses can be delivered. Each dress is a copy of a French import. See window display.—adv.

STRAND THEATRE

Reno—America's famous divorce dispensary—provides the setting for Marie Prevost's late starring vehicle, "On the Reno," now showing at the Strand Theatre. This comedy of marriage is said to be one of the funniest comedies in which Miss Prevost ever has been seen. Cullen Land plays opposite Marie Prevost. The added feature is Buzz Barton in "The Little Backroom."

Men of Rockland had better keep their hands on their pocketbooks next week. Lorelei, champion gold-digger of the ages, is coming to town. Lorelei is the wide-eyed, fluffy little flapper whose inhibitory diary was opened for all to read when Anita Loos wrote her now-famous satire, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

And now Paramount has made it into a motion picture comedy, which will be the feature attraction Wednesday-Thursday at the Strand Theatre. In the picture, as in the book and play, the career of the dumb-looking (but not so dumb) gold-digger provides one of the funniest plots ever unwound in movie celluloid. Lorelei is played by Ruth Taylor, former Mack Sennett comedienne. The picture traces Lorelei's career from her early days in Arkansas through Little Rock, Hollywood and New York, to Paris, where she finally captures America's richest bachelor, and brings him back to the marriage altar in New York. One of the high spots of laughter is the sequence in which Lorelei gets from a light-hearted old Englishman the money with which to buy a diamond tiara from his own wife.—adv.

"ON MY SET"

I did not find last night's radio entitled to much rah-rah stuff. The volume was not strong and there was an uncommon amount of fading. CKWG was one of the four stations that was "in high," and I had that only a short time.

The most interesting thing last night was the report of the arrival of the Bremen flyers at Union Station, Washington. The attempt to obtain a broadcast from them proved futile, but there was quite a thrill when the announcer described the scene in the railroad station.

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

Before me is a program of the concert given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra on March 23 and 24. Among the numbers appears "Symphonic Piece" by Walter Piston, a nephew of Mrs. R. D. Saville of this city and a pianoforte pupil of Harris Shaw. Mr. Piston's composition was shortened in the summer of 1927 and he gives the following notes:

"In the first and quiet section the theme is announced by the English horn. The development of the accompanying figure and of the theme leads to an Allegro vigorously rhythmic, a three-part form in which the middle theme is another aspect of the main theme of the Allegro. There is a return to the quiet section, which is based on the first theme of the Allegro. The score calls for three flutes (one interchangeable with piccolo), two oboes, English horn, three clarinets, bass clarinet, two bassoons, doublebassoon, four horns, three trumpets, three trombones, tuba, a set of three kettle-drums, bass drum, snare drum, tambour, timbale, triangle, celesta, harp, piano, and the usual strings."

Mr. Piston studied the violin with Messrs. Fiumara, Theodorowicz, and Winternitz in theory and harmony chiefly at Harvard University; also with Nadia Boulanger in Paris. At Harvard he was the conductor of the Pierian Sodality for several seasons.

A very interesting section of McCall's Magazine is that called "What's Going On In The World," wherein are reviewed briefly the musical event of the month, the play, the book, the film, the sermon, etc. In the March issue "The Student Prince" is named as the film of the month, which attracts us particularly at this time, as this film is to be shown at the Strand Theatre Monday and Tuesday. Quoting from the article by Robert E. Sherwood: Ernst Lubitsch (who directed the film) first became famous in America as director of those great German historical spectacles, "Passion," "Deception," "The Loves of Pharaoh," etc., in which mass effect was predominant. Then Lubitsch was brought across the ocean to direct "Mary Pickford in 'Roxie,'" after which he went over to the Warner Brothers' Studio and started on a series of light comedies that represented an entirely new departure for him and the movies themselves. "The Marriage Circle," "Forbidden Paradise," "Lady Windemere's Fan" and others proved that subtly in humor was possible on the screen—a fact that had been unknown before. Those who see "The Student Prince" at the Strand will have a treat for eyes and ears, as Mr. O'Hara at the organ will use the tuneful score of the operetta conjunction with the film. One of the gems is "Deep in My Heart."

The film for the month named in the May issue of McCall's was "The Last Command," shown at the Park a short while ago and which will unquestionably remain in the memory of those who saw it, for many a day. The lead was done by Emil Jannings who has been treated well in Hollywood and has been accorded the appreciation, respect and consideration he deserves. To the heroic role Jannings gave all the mastery of his great art; it was another stunner achievement for the screen's first dramatic actor.

A recital given at the Episcopal parish house April 11, featuring Miss Florence Leach, violinist, and Miss Sylvia Langman, pianist, was a most enjoyable musical event. These young artists are seniors at the New England Conservatory of Music, and each has promise of a brilliant future in the musical field. Their selections were very difficult, but were handled in a masterly manner by Miss Leach and Miss Langman, who gave many encores to a delighted and appreciative audience.

If the travelling gets fairly adjusted there will undoubtedly be many attendees from Rockland on the Bangor Music Festival May 1-2. While Florence Austral of Australia and Allen McQuhae, one of the foremost tenors of our time are to be soloists, there certainly could be no bigger drawing card than the orchestra which will appear both days, the Cleveland Symphony, one of the four greatest symphony orchestras in the United States. It is composed of 75 artists who have been working together as a unit constantly for many years. It is double the size of any former orchestra that has played at the Festival. It is the first time that a major symphony orchestra has been heard in Eastern Maine. Nikolai Sokoloff, conductor, is a musician of international note. Rudolph Ringwall, assistant conductor, is a native of Bangor.

Throughout the generous offer of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Clark of Bangor, the Columbia Street Baptist church of that city is to have a new organ. They have offered to provide funds for a very modern instrument recently by the church committee and the offer has been accepted. Mr. Clark is a member of the Danforth Bible Class and Mrs. Clark is leader of the Cook Class, having taken up that work upon the death of her sister, Mrs. Albert Cook, many years its teacher and for whom it was named.

Comes from Manuel Bernard the program of one of his recitals at the Curtis Lyceum, Staten Island Academy, an outstanding one for its excellence. Mr. Bernard gave two groups:

Prelude ..... Brahms
Rhapsody, B minor ..... Brahms
Intermezzo, (from Fingerring) ..... Schumann
Romance, F sharp ..... Schumann
Aufschwung (Swing) ..... Schumann
The Little White Duck ..... Debussy
A Giddy Girl ..... Bert
Ballet, G minor ..... Chopin
With Miss Bertha Gluck at the second piano was given Gerswin's "Rhapsody in Blue" which we hear so many times over the radio. Mr. Bernard has had a long winter, teaching, studying, coaching, preparing recital programs, broadcasting, amateur theatricals, composition, etc.

I hope it will be possible to hear Mr. Bernard in recital in Rockland during the coming summer. It could

FOR RHEUMATISM TAKE BUXTON'S RHEUMATIC SPECIFIC

Dear Mr. Buxton: I was suffering from a severe case of rheumatism, having tried medicines without relief, when a friend gave me half a bottle of your Specific to try. I sent for six bottles, and after taking three, it put me on my feet. Now I am free from rheumatism and will gladly recommend the Specific, for I know what it has done for me. If I had known of the Specific a few years ago it would have saved me much suffering.

Yours truly, be arranged if some club or organization would sponsor the undertaking, and a suitable piano and hall could be secured. We realize more and more the crying need of Rockland for a community building recently an honest to goodness first-class piano. Mr. Bernard has accomplished very fine work during his ten years in New York, and it is fitting that his native city should offer tribute to his talent which has been developed and honed by hard work and determination.

THE WHITE BILL

Maine Man's Merchant Marine Bill Being Well Endorsed.

New England is rallying to the support of the bill to prevent discriminations against American ships and ports of call, introduced recently by Representative White and which now is before the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. White has received a letter from the Maritime Conference of the Boston Chamber of Commerce expressing its approval of the bill and informing Mr. White that the conference has written letters to every New England Senator and member of Congress asking them to support the White Bill.

Mr. White is much gratified with this promise of support as he regards the bill of particular importance to the North Atlantic ports and feels that if the New England Congressional delegation present a united front favorable action on his bill is a foregone conclusion. He does not expect action at this session because the program of Congressional leaders does not include any tariff legislation. He does feel, however, that work done for the White bill now will bear early and vigorous fruit at the next session.

"At the present time," Mr. White told a reporter, "goods shipped into Canada through a sea river port of that country enjoy a preferential tariff over similar goods arriving at a North Atlantic or Pacific Coast port of the United States and moving thence into Canada."

"Such shipments into Canada, by way of the United States are subjected to a tax 10 per cent higher than if the goods moved directly through a Canadian port. This practice is studied attempt by means of a tariff preference to divert traffic from American ports into Canadian ports."

"In the first section, the bill introduced by me seeks to overcome this preference by adding a 10 percent duty to goods coming into the United States by way of a Canadian waterport. The application of this additional duty is suspended whenever the discrimination against American ports or shipping ceases."

"Section 2 deals with a situation somewhat similar to that sought to be cured by section 1. Australia is discriminating against traffic originating at ports of the United States. Under its practice the transportation charges upon goods originating at St. Louis, for instance, and moving by rail to Seattle are added to the cost upon which Australian duties are levied, while the cost of transportation originating in the United States and moving through Canadian territory to a Canadian port is not added in computing the Australian duty upon these goods. This practice gives the Canadian commodity and the British ship a distinct advantage over a like American commodity and the American ship."

NATIONAL EGG WEEK

Seven Days Set Aside To Emphasize Importance of American Hen.

Cackles and cock-a-doodle-does should be more numerous than ever beginning next Tuesday morning, May 1, which is the opening day of National Egg Week. Hens and roosters and even the wee chicken should be at their best during the seven days set aside to celebrate the importance of the American hen. The poultry industry has come to be one of the foremost industries of our farms, there being approximately two million hens in Maine alone.

Nine Maine men and women have been selected to constitute the committee in this State to make plans for observation of egg week. The committee is perhaps one of the most representative ones ever appointed, including as it does the farm, the grange, the press, the State chamber of commerce, State department of agriculture and the University of Maine. Oscar M. Wilbur, extension poultry specialist, has been named chairman of the committee.

In connection with this special week grangers are being urged to give some attention to the subject as a part of their program, egg dealers and merchants are being asked to co-operate by making displays or otherwise featuring eggs while hotels and restaurants are being asked to give egg dishes special place on their menus during the period May 1 to 7.

BUYING THEIR OWN Free Lobster Stew Not Likely To Be On the Legislative Menu the Coming Session.

Bereft momentarily of other material some of the Maine editors are having a fling at Director Crie's proposal that the lobster fishermen chip a quarter apiece for lobster suppers to Legislators. An assessment of 25 cents once in two years would probably create few bankruptcies along the Maine coast, but in some quarters there appears to be a spirit of resentment, something after the style of "taxation without representation," only that it is representation which Director Crie is evidently aiming at.

The Portland Evening Express waxes satirical in the following editorial published in Tuesday's issue: "The director of sea and shore fisheries has invited the lobster men of the State to add an honorarium of 25 cents when they take out their license which contribution shall go into a fund to pay for a lobster supper for the members of the Legislature, the same to be served about the time that lobster legislation begins to shoo a bit."

"But some of the fishermen have stuck out their tongues and declared that they'll pay no quarter for any such purpose and that so far as they are concerned they don't care a hance if no lawmaker ever has a chance to crack a shell or dig out a tender particle from a claw."

"Of course this is unfortunate for it means the passing of an ancient custom and the removal of another bright spot from the legislative winter. If this sort of thing keeps on all there'll be to going to the Legislature will be for the members to pass a few bills and pay for their meals at the Augusta House or at such places as the more thrifty take their sustenance."

"Of course there'll continue to be the meals at the Blaine House where each member expects to be bidden at least once, but even this green spot of the winter desert may be dried up if, as now proposed, a law is put through to lop off a cipher or two from the Governor's unadorned contingent fund."

"It is easy to understand why the lobstermen looked with disfavor on the winter desert when they were innocently enough proposed. To them it had the appearance of a tax, and no man whether his job is pulling lobster pots, or drawing briefs, likes to be taxed."

"It has occurred to us that each fisherman instead of being asked to decorate the directory table with the equivalent of five nickels, be invited to contribute one lobster to this particular lobster pot. If it will be inconvenient to do that in winter, the anteing might very well begin in the summer and one of the tanks in the fish and game department museum be reserved for their reception. The curator, or whatever he is called, of that institution could very well see that the contributed crustaceans were properly fed so that along in February they'd be all ready to be fished up and 'biled'."

"Not being familiar with lobster life, we are not certain whether or not this suggestion of ours is a practical one. But it is to be taken for what it is worth. We'd hate to see a session go by without a lobster feed, although we have an idea that if it should be passed up, legislation would not be greatly affected in consequence."

The Bangor Commercial foresees that the lawmakers will buy their own lobsters at the next session, Editor Hall says:

"Now some more state officials seem to have some explaining to do. According to published reports some of the lobster fishermen of the State are declining to chip in a quarter for the purpose of supplying the members of the next Legislature with a lobster supper. The request for the quarters is alleged to have been made by Director Crie of the Sea and Shore Fisheries Commission but whether or no by consent or knowledge of the members of the commission is not made known."

"Not a very serious matter financially, this request for a quarter per lobster fisherman who would not chip in 25 cents for any proper call, but we fail to see how this proposal, small as it is, constitutes proper demand. We have no objection to the members of the Legislature having a lobster feed, and can imagine that such would afford a very welcome sight."

come diet change, but also we can see no reason why the legislators should not pay their own food bills. If Director Crie desires to feast the solons, or if the Fisheries Commission has a similar desire, it would appear that they might be real sports and meet the expenses.

"To imagine that the action of members of the Legislature regarding lobster legislation could be affected by a dinner certainly is not placing a very high standard for our legislators in fact is rating them below their deserts."

HOPE BELFAST WINS
In Its Race For a New and Much Needed Industry.

The Belfast Armory was packed to its doors Monday night, when a mass meeting, called by Mayor Small was held to discuss the industrial situation in Belfast, critical at this time, owing to the closing of the Hazard shoe factory, which was the chief industry and which throws more than 400 men and women out of employment.

Mayor Small presided and seated on the stage with him were former Mayors John R. Dunton, Clement W. Wescott and Orlando E. Frost, W. A. Cobb, president of the Belfast Rotary, Walter J. Glidden and others. Remarks on the situation were made by Mayor Small, Ex-Mayors Dunton, Wescott and Frost, and by H. C. Buzzell, and it was the mind of the meeting that a committee to solicit new industries be appointed by the Mayor, which included Herbert E. Ellis, chairman, the Mayor a member ex-officio, Maine Hills, Dr. O. S. Vickery, B. L. Tuttle, William M. Randall, Orlando E. Frost and C. W. Wescott. A finance committee appointed includes Bert L. Davis, chairman, Ralph I. Morse, Frederick Obrey, George Black, John R. Dunton, and Capt. E. W. Eaton.

All service clubs and other organizations in Belfast are asked to co-operate in every way with these committees and a fund will be raised to defray the expenses of following up prospective industries. The citizens were urged not to repeat false rumors of the situation which might be detrimental to future business.
