BROUGHT HUMMING BIRDS

Why A Correspondent's Grandmother Planted Scarlet Beans Near House

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

The poem "Bees In the Garden" by Blanche A. Sawyer of New York which appeared in a recent issue of The Courier-Gazette, reminded me of my grandmother's garden. I can well remember the fragrance of the old-fashioned flowers and herbs—southern—wood, sage, catnip, hollyhocks, marigolds, mums, the mints and many others.

But what was a source of wonderment was why she always had several poles of the scarlet beans close to the house, the green leaves and bright blossoms of which added a bit of color to the old gray house; also, why she raised beans in her flower garden. But she told me it was because she loved to see the humming-birds and bees, flitting about among the vines and blossoms. She was especially fond of watching the humming-birds and as the vegetable garden was too far off, to watch them, she had planted the beans where she could see them from the window as she sat at her loom weaving, or when standing, plying the old spinning wheel.

I never see the beans with the scarlet blossoms, (and there are many about the city, today) without thinking of grandmother's scarlet beans. A Bird Lover.

CRESCENT BEACH CHAT

The final bridge party of the season for the benefit of the Crescent Beach Improvement Association will be held at the Pavilion Wednesday afternoon Aug. 29, at 2.30. The ladies in charge are Mrs. J. Z. Lull, Mrs. Helen Fales, Mrs. A. C. Jones, Mrs. E. J. Hellier, Miss Kate Wendall and Mrs. E. M. O'Neill.

Plans are being made for the far-well banquet of the Association to be held at the Inn Thursday Aug. 30. "The Kiddy Players" presented the play "The House in the Woods" on the Hix lawn one afternoon recently. A tidy sum was realized and was donated to the Pier fund of the Association. This feature has become an annual affair of the Beach season and is looked forward to by the beachites. The young ladies deserve much credit for their clever acting and the able manner in which the affair was managed. The participants were Catherine and Elizabeth Fischer, Nathalie Jones, Dorothy Stewart and Ruth Perry with Mrs. Emily Hix Faber acting as coach. Mr. and Mrs. J. Z. Lull are visitors in Bangor for a few days.

The annual meeting of the Beach Association will be held at the Pavilion Friday evening Aug. 31 at 7.30 when the election of officers will take place. Mrs. Helen Fales entertained at luncheon and bridge at her cottage Tuesday afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. A. Burpee, Mrs. J. Z. Lull, Mrs. H. B. Fales, Mrs. J. O. Stevens and Mrs. Cleveland Sleeper. Mrs. Florence Lockwood and daughter of Riverside, Conn., are guests of Mrs. Lockwood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearsons.

The Beach Colony was greatly saddened by the death of Capt. Hiram Small. Much sympathy is extended to the two surviving daughters who were with him during his last illness. It is understood that plans are being made for the erection of two new cottages the coming season. With the building of the new Pier it looks like prosperous times ahead for the Beach.

A 5-ton travelling crane destined for use by a Bangor granite manufacturer was hauled through Main street yesterday enroute from the plant of the Livingston Mfg. Co., where it was built. It was one of the biggest individual pieces ever undertaken at the local plant and Supt. Brubaker is proud of the job his boys produced.

FOURTEEN WAYS

To Promote Good Government, Says Curtis In Acceptance Speech.

Appointment of a joint Congressional committee to work out a solution of the controversial agricultural problem on a "non-partisan" basis was proposed by Senator Curtis, of Kansas, in his address accepting the Republican Vice Presidential nomination.

Senator Curtis, who long has been identified with the legislative battles of agriculture, spoke at length on the farm relief problem. As he offered his suggestion for a cure he called for a "united impetuous front" of Republicans and lauded Herbert Hoover as "well worthy of the party's choice; a credit to it and to the nation, both in the eyes of our people and of the world."

"The question of the proper relief for agriculture is a trying and perplexing one," he declared. "The problem is of deep-seated economic importance to every citizen without regard to his occupation or his political party. Properly its solution is and always should be non-partisan."

"I am convinced that if a small joint committee of the House and Senate were appointed to study the problem and to find its proper solution, the necessary relief quickly could and would be afforded. The committee could be assisted in its task by the advice and experience of the most capable experts on the subject whose services can be obtained."

Senator Curtis supported the McNary-Haugen farm bill last session after pressing two of his own which were sponsored in the House by Democrats but he voted to uphold the veto of President Coolidge of the McNary-Haugen measure on the basis of his responsibility to the administration as its leader in the Senate.

He also proposed tariff revision by the next Congress to obtain higher duties on some agricultural commodities and to have the tariff board great hope in the extension and improvements of inland waterways. The Senator believed the Republican party has done much for the farmers already and declared that without that help, the agricultural situation "would be infinitely worse than it is."

Government finances, labor, law enforcement and the "encouragement of women in government" were other subjects emphasized in the brief address delivered from the state house steps in Topeka the birthplace and home of the Kansas Senator.

Declaring "I am opposed to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or of the Volstead Act," Curtis reminded his Kansas friends of his record as prosecuting attorney of Shawnee county to show that "I believe in and practice enforcement of the law." It is one of his proud boasts that he "dried up," Shawnee County.

The Republican Vice Presidential nominee struck out at the party who have suggested state control of alcoholic beverages. He related that all but two of the states ratified the Eighteenth Amendment and by "this voluntary action which binds all, the states delegated to the Federal government their full original power and responsibility on the liquor prohibition question."

"For the Federal government now, to adopt, or even to propose or to favor, a policy which will result in allowing each state to determine for itself the alcoholic content of beverages to be manufactured, sold and transported throughout the country, would be a direct and indefensible attempt on its part to evade or to repudiate the responsibility so delegated and assumed, and an endeavor to redelegate that responsibility to the several states from whence it came, without any justification."

"I believe in meeting an issue squarely, therefore I state that not only am I heartily in favor of faithfully enforcing all our laws, but, further, I am opposed to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or of the Volstead Act."

Fourteen means of promoting good government and "maintaining the era of national prosperity now before caused by any nation on the face of the globe" were outlined by the Senator as follows:

"To protect Agriculture effectively and to encourage it in every proper manner."
"To protect American Labor by enacting all needed legislation, and by encouraging closer relations between Labor and Capital."
"To enforce the laws without fear or favor."
"To encourage active participation by women in the conduct of the government."
"To reduce the public debt, public expenses, and taxes."
"To maintain peace, engage in commerce with all nations, and to enter entangling alliances with none."
"To encourage all industry and to maintain a protective tariff with duties high enough fully to protect American producers, American products, and American labor against foreign competition."
"To develop, aid, and encourage means of transportation and communication, national and international, by land and water, and in the air, through the consolidation of railroads; the establishment of a complete system of inland waterways; the re-establishment of a strong Merchant Marine; a strong postal and commercial aircraft service, and a wider and more efficient use of the ever-increasing possibilities of the radio."
"To give equal and exact justice to all men of whatever race or persuasion."
"To support the State government in all their rights."
"To preserve the Federal government in its whole constitutional vigor, and to maintain and expand the existing high state of national consciousness."
"To preserve the liberty of press;

IN MALE GARB

Rockport Girl Excites Lewiston Cop's Suspicion—Story of Three Runaways.

"Clothes Didn't Make Man of Rockport Girl," is the caption of an article in Tuesday's Lewiston Journal, which reads thus:

"Leola Andrews Landry, 21, of Rockport declares that she can travel faster and more comfortably togged out in men's clothing. She was taken into custody Thursday, along with Robert Kearley, 19, of East Union and Ernest Davis, 17, of Rockport."

"Patrolman Marty Joyce arrested the three as suspicious characters; that is, Miss Landry despite her long trousers, sunburned face, and close cropped hair, looked suspiciously like a young woman to the officer. At headquarters the trio admitted that they had 'run away' from their respective homes and that Miss Landry and Kearley were lovers. They were held at headquarters until Saturday, no charges being preferred against them for apparently there were none to bring. The police were plainly puzzled as to what to do, whether to keep them in Lewiston or send them back to Rockland and apparently they had committed some slight misdemeanor according to the local police."

"But Saturday afternoon Kearley's father came along and solved the problem by taking the trio off to the hands of the police, agreeing to see to it that they did not wander off again."

IN NEAR TRAGEDY

One of Five Chinese Boys Has Serious Injuries—In Belfast Hospital.

A Belfast correspondent has the following additional information concerning the Chinese boys who figured in Sunday's accident at Glen Cove while returning to that city. "The five young Chinese boys who run the Belfast Laundry had a narrow escape from death Sunday when returning from a trip to Rockland and one of them is in the Waldo County Hospital with what may be serious injuries to his chest. He was sitting beside the driver who had been teaching him to drive, but he was not driving at the time. When coming along the highway at a speed of 35 miles an hour, according to the driver, something happened to the steering gear and the truck which they use for delivering washings, turned over three or four times, finally landing right side up but headed the opposite direction from which they were driving. The boys are all named Gee, and the young man hurt most severely was a cousin who had been in this country only a few weeks, and was to be broken in as the truck driver. He is called Tong."

"The other four while badly shaken up and cut, are on the job at the laundry, although unable to do any work. They can reach them carry on until help can reach them from Boston. The boys are fine young men, have all learned to speak good English since coming to Belfast, attend church and have made fine citizens. Their patrons are doing all possible to help them until they can get underway at the laundry again and the boys themselves are looking at their smashed truck and with their Chinese smile say, 'we are lucky not to have been killed.'"

MAY LOCATE IN ROCKLAND

Montgomery, Ward & Co. Send a Representative Here and Proposition Is Made To Land Owner.

A visit to Rockland, which may or may not have an important influence on local business affairs, was made this week by A. M. Derwart, representative of Montgomery, Ward & Co. of Chicago.

The concern is said to be desirous of establishing a distributing center in this part of the State and the purpose of Mr. Derwart's visit was to inspect several locations which have been picked out by Freeman S. Young, a local real estate broker, with whom the big chain store corporation has been in correspondence for several months.

Mr. Derwart is said to have been well impressed with Rockland, and it is understood that he offered a high rental if a building conforming to the corporation's wishes should be erected on the Farnsworth property between Elm and Spring streets. Specifications are to be submitted to the owner.

FELL SIXTY-FIVE FEET

Accident At Cement Plant (First Since May 28) Is Nearly Fatal To Two Rockland Men.

Albert Guptill of 194 North Main street and Clifford H. Smith of 6 Donohue lane were victims of a terrible fall at the Lawrence cement plant Tuesday afternoon, and at either is still living passes human understanding.

The men were on the roof of the kiln building, 65 feet above the ground, hoisting a motor housing equipment. The jack line was fastened near the railroad track and at a distance which had made it safe from contact with any car that had ever passed it.

On this occasion the locomotive was moving what the employees know as a "battleship," or cool car. Its dimensions are evidently wider than those of the other cars, and when the engineer saw the line sagging he applied the brakes. This act came a second too late, however for the car had caused the hoist to collapse, and down with it crashed the two workmen.

They were taken immediately to

Dr. Hodgekins' hospital in Thomaston, where Mr. Smith was found to be suffering from internal injuries. Yesterday he was resting quite comfortably except for soreness in the chest and pain in the right groin.

Mr. Guptill was obliged to undergo the amputation of one of his feet, eight inches below the knee. He has a simple fracture of the left ankle and a simple fracture of the right knee.

This is the first lost time accident at the cement plant since May 28, and the first time that the no-accident flag has been lowered since it was raised the first of June.

Safety Engineer O. E. Wishman feels that this is a very good record considering that it is a new plant and most of the employees are new to the vocation. In fact the plant has been warmly commended by the Portland Cement Association, which is conducting the safety contest.

Another safety campaign will be augmented the first of September.

MANY PUBLIC BEQUESTS

Will of the Late Ada Tremaine Remembers Several County Institutions—Was a Resident of Rockport.

Noteworthy public bequests are contained in the will of the late Ada Byron Bampton Tremaine of Rockport, as filed in the Knox Registry of Probate.

Chief among these is a bequest of $16,000 to the Rhode Island Hospital of Providence, a clause of the will indicating that $6,000 of this amount has already been paid to the institution.

To the town of Rockport is given $5,000 to be used toward the construction of a public library building, and Camden is remembered with $5,000 for the same purpose. Other public bequests are $1,000 each to the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in New York and in Camden, and to the Home for Aged Women in Camden. To each person who shall have been continuously in the employ of the deceased for four years a bequest of $1,000 was made. All jewelry, except watches is given to Mrs. I. C. Cottrell of Pawtucket, R. I., and all tableware (silver and linen) is given to Louise Cottrell of Pawtucket.

All the real estate of which the deceased was possessed in Lincolnville was bequeathed to S. G. Ritterbush of Camden in acknowledgment of his kindness to Dr. Tremaine during his last illness.

The sum of $10,000 is to be invested, the income of which shall go to Grace Rockwell of Cambridge, Mass. The sum of $20,000 is set aside for the care of the Tremaine residence, Alderbrook Farm, with special provision that when the time arrives the animals there shall be destroyed humanely by an agent of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Mrs. Charles H. Field of Hartford and Grace Rockwell of Cambridge, are to have the privilege of staying at Alderbrook, and after the death of both the property is to revert to the Knox County General Hospital. The remainder of the estate is bequeathed to the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company. After the fulfillment of the trust, the trust estate is to go to Columbia college as an endowment of not exceeding 20 lectures.

The Rhode Island Trust Company is named as executor. The will was drawn Jan. 26, 1916, and was witnessed by Reuel Robinson, George E. Allen and Walter P. Conley.

At The Samoset

Miss Judith Dohme of New York is visiting her aunt, Mrs. George R. Westerfield at the Samoset. Mrs. Westerfield entertained 40 guests at bridge in her honor.

Mrs. H. J. Litcher Stark gave an afternoon tea for a large number of Samoset guests at Pemaquid Cottage. Mrs. W. H. Walker, Mrs. O. N. Stark and Mr. and Mrs. Dennison Dana have arranged for Englewood, N. J., for an extended stay.

Thomas A. Buckner of New York, president of the Samoset Golf Club, gave an invitation two-ball foursome golf tournament with 13 foursomes entered. Awards were won by Mrs. H. J. L. Stark and Franklin R. Pierce.

Late arrivals are: Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Frechette of New York, and also Miss Mary Brady and Miss Kathryn Brady of Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell, formerly Gladys Belmont of Haverford, Pa., are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Belmont, here. Miss Betty Potts gave a motion picture party at Rockwood, her guests including Miss Margaret Wilbur, Miss Lucy B. Tull, Mrs. Sheridan W. Scott, Stanley Benckstein, Jack Nelson and F. B. Delehanty, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dana and daughter, Miss Olga M. Dana, of East Orange, are here for the remainder of the season.

Miss Frances Goodwin, daughter of Countess Palen-Klar, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Thorley, who makes the Samoset her summer home.

The weekly obstacle putting tournament was won by Mrs. H. J. L. Stark, Miss Marjorie Lawbaugh and Miss Mary Williams of New York in the women's division. Messrs. H. O. Kuhn, Judge P. B. Delehanty and R. A. Stackpole being the victors among the men.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Carmack arrived by motor from New York to remain over Labor Day.

New Yorkers at the Samoset include Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Greene,

Mrs. Samuel D. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bryant, Wainwright Parish, Mr. and Mrs. L. Barrows, Mrs. Sarah P. Barrows, Mr. and Mrs. William V. Laurina.

From Yonkers are Edward Gray, Jr., Miss Virginia W. Gray and Miss Elizabeth Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kilcourse of Brooklyn are here until the end of the season.

Edward A. McCabe of Philadelphia is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McCabe.

The thought came to a member of The Courier-Gazette staff at Oakland last night that attention should be called to the remarkably beautiful decorations of the dance pavilion before its closing on Labor Day. The charming sight added to the pleasure of listening to the famous Doucette Orchestra and watching the antics of its rollicking comedian is amply worth a trip to the resort even though the viewer fails to enter the joy of the dance.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Poetry is the greatest literature, and pleasure in poetry is the greatest of literary pleasures.—Vivian Grey of Faldoun.

THE LOST SHEEP

"The Ninety and Nine"
There were ninety and nine that safely lay
In the shelter of the fold, but one was away
But one was out on the hills away,
Far off from the gates of gold—
Away on the mountains wild and bare,
Away from the tender Shepherd's care.

"Lord, thou hast her thy ninety and nine:
Are they not enough for thee?"
But the Shepherd made answer: "'Tis of mine
Has wandered away from me and mine
And though the road be rough and steep
I go to the desert to find my sheep."

But none of the ransomed ever knew
How deep were the waters crossed,
Nor how dark was the night that the Lord
Slept through the hours.

He found his sheep that was lost,

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
 Rockland, Me., Aug. 23, 1928.
 Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who on oath declares that he is President in the office of The Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of Aug. 21, 1928, there was printed a total of 6,240 copies.
 Before me, FRANK B. MILLER,
 Notary Public.

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding.—Proverbs 3:5.

The Democratic boast that the party has plenty of money this year, and that they are going to swamp the Second District with it is familiar to many voters in Knox County. The Lewiston Sun a few days ago printed a New York despatch to the effect that a member of the Democratic National Committee was quoted as saying that "it would be worth a million dollars to the Democratic campaign in the Nation to defeat White in the Second District this year." The genial Lewiston Representative seldom allows anything to disturb his good natured poise, but this remark has caused him to hit back, and straight from the shoulder. In his speech at Canton Thursday, he said:

They are using good judgment in not spending the million. They couldn't do it for the price. I'm going to lick Albert Beliveau in this district. I'm going to lick him good. I have been all over the district before this whirlwind tour started and I know the situation. It is no use to predict the figures by which I will win, but I'm going to have a majority this year that will compare with the tremendous margin by which Gardner and Hale will be elected. The Second District is going to be Republican. I never felt more sure of that than I do this morning. That doesn't mean that I'm going to lay back on the oars. I am not. The fight in the Second District and Maine has just started. We are going to hit right and left and win a smashing victory two weeks from next Monday.

Of course everybody knew the Carlton Bridge would be a popular institution. We who have hurried to catch the ferryboat and missed it, or have caught it and couldn't get aboard know that a return to that obsolete system would be unthinkable. The most convincing proof of popularity, however, is shown by the Sunday receipts which continue each week to mount into new and more impressive figures. The total receipts for the last seven Sundays have been $10,375, and while there will have to be many Sundays before the tolls are removed it should also be remembered the weekdays are adding generously to the fund. Not to have crossed the Carlton Bridge by auto is to have missed one of the greatest attractions that Maine has to offer.

An Associated Press despatch from Paris conveys the interesting, not to say important news, that a fireproof fuel for air-planes and motor cars has been successfully demonstrated by a Russian inventor. Newspaper comment says that this fireproof fuel was long ago approved by government experts but that politics has stood in the way of its development. The all powerful press has now taken up the fight, and the public is asking to be shown. If there is such a commodity in existence and human lives are dependent upon it, the time has arrived for the public to be aroused.

Senator Curtis, the Republican candidate for Vice President, is coming into the Maine campaign, and will speak in Bangor Sept. 7 and Portland Sept. 8. In the olden days this would have meant that comparatively few voters would hear him, but the automobile has annihilated space, and the Curtis meetings in the two cities above mentioned will draw great crowds from a wide radius.

Significant of the sentiment in the Nutmeg State is the action of the New Haven Journal-Courier in asking the voters to support the Republican congressmen from the Third and Fourth districts, one of whom is Representative Tillson, Republican floor leader in the National House. The editor of the Journal-Courier is Col. Thorndike G. Osborne, a lifelong Democrat.

President Coolidge has finally accepted Herbert Hoover's resignation as Secretary of Commerce, with best wishes for him in the broader field to which he has been called. Incidentally the President turns to New England for a successor, naming William F. Whiting of Holyoke, Mass., as the new head of the commerce department.

Maine's potato crop this year is placed at 35,700,000 bushels, which is 3.8 percent greater than last year, and 4.6 percent above the five-year average. "Spud State" doesn't sound quite so romantic as "Pine Tree State" but that's almost what it's coming to.

Tuesday's unfortunate accident at the Lawrence Cement Plant means the temporary surrender of the "No Accident" flag, but it also directs attention to the fine record which has been made by a new plant, employing many green men, since it was first hoisted.

PIN MONEY FOR HOOVER FUND

Mrs. Grace Sample Burlingham, Missouri National Committee-woman, gives a check to John W. O'Leary, vice-treasurer of the G.O.P., covering contributions without personal solicitation, of one dollar each from 1231 Missouri housewives. Mr. O'Leary is in charge of the "nickels and dimes" campaign, by which he hopes to obtain at least 600,000 subscribers to the Hoover fund.

THE HOSPITAL'S OWN STORY

Local Institution Has Completed Splendid Service and Is Prepared For Still Greater Work.

It has been found that approximately 2,000,000 persons in the United States are ill each day in the year. The average worker taking the country over, loses eight days a year through illness and one in four families is ill once a year. All this applies to the community in which we live and lays special emphasis on our means of combating disease and accident, once beyond the incipient stage. These facts too emphasize the importance in this community of the Knox County General Hospital, our first line of defense in case of physical ill.

The hospital with its enlarged and completed plant has a capacity of 77 persons and in times of emergency that number could be raised to over 100. The whole structure is fireproof, thoroughly modern brick and concrete construction expressly designed as an up-to-the-minute hospital plant. Its equipment is complete and it is in a position to render effective and intelligent service.

Through improved hospital methods statistics show that patients are now discharged four days earlier than they were in 1913 as a rule. This is a great economic saving and is ample justification for the money that has been put into hospitals, plant and equipment. The staff of Knox Hospital is composed of recognized and skillful physicians and surgeons and their efficiency has been increased many fold by the complete plant which enables them to do their best work under favorable conditions.

The institution is admirably located at the junction of Maple, White and Limerock streets and visitors are welcome to look over its appointments. The plant is the completed ideal of its founders, a beautiful, efficient, well equipped hospital home for our greater community. There now remains only the task of clearing the fine plant of its debt—millstone that it may operate on practically a self supporting basis.

The time has come to face squarely the necessity of paying off the indebtedness of the institution that it may function unhampered and to that end a drive will be held in the near future. Cyrus H. K. Curtis of Rockport and Philadelphia is honorary chairman of the campaign; W. O. Fuller is general chairman and Homer E. Robinson is treasurer. The committee includes:

Last Night's Victory Was Third In Row—Will Keep the Other Teams Guessing.

Coming Games

Today—Belfast at Camden.
 Friday—Camden at Rockland.
 Saturday—Camden at Belfast (two games).

Belfast and Camden retain the same relative positions as in Tuesday's issue, but Rockland as the result of three straight wins is beginning to show a satisfactory percentage. A victory over Camden tomorrow and we will begin a drive for second place. The standing:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Belfast	29	11	.645
Camden	16	15	.517
Rockland	11	21	.344

Rockland 6, Camden 4

The Rockland players launched a savage attack on their old team-mate Fred Loftus, at Camden, Tuesday night, and wound up with one that was equally aggressive, the net result being a 6 to 4 victory. The game was full of thrills and comedy, and when the climax was enacted it was so dark that the figures on the score book could scarcely be distinguished. This means that there will be no further games beginning as late as 5 o'clock. The days have shortened so far as to make that impracticable.

"Husky" Aube pitched his best game of the season holding Camden to two hits up to the seventh inning, and would have held Camden to two scores but for some wild throwing by his backstop. Long hits were the undoing of Loftus, two triples being made by Bachand and one each by Monroe and Turner. Turner's hit was the longest of the game, but when he reached third that was the end of his pilgrimage, for the next two batters were easy outs.

Bachand's triple and French's single were productive of two scores for Rockland in the first inning. Camden had two men on in her half of the first but there were two out, and McGouldrick fanned.

Camden scored one run in the third when Cole walked, Nanigan doubled and Wilson singled. This ended the scoring until the seventh, when with two down Loftus passed Walsh and Monroe, both of whom scored on Bachand's second triple. In the last half of this inning Cole tripled, and a wild pitch gave him an easy tally.

The score stood 4 to 2 in favor of Rockland when the eighth inning opened. Rockland was retired with comparative ease in that inning, but Camden's flagging spirits were revived when Wilson led off with a double. Masterman was out, Curran to Wotton, but a wild heave by Curran put Wilson on third, and he scored on Small's single. Another wild heave placed Small on third, and he scored the tying run when Curran threw the ball about ten feet over Wotton's head.

Camden's joy was of brief duration, however. In the first half of the ninth Turner fanned, Walsh singled and Monroe's lusty triple drove Walsh home. Bachand, in an attempted bid, flied to Wilson, but Rockland's fun was not over. French singled and Rockland's two-run lead was re-established.

The dusk was quite pronounced when Rockland went afieid and it was evident that if Camden hit the ball very hard the pale moon would be looking down on something like slaughter. But Camden went out in order—McGouldrick flying to Curran, Cole grounding to ditto, and Ogier tying to Bachand.

Rockland 5, Belfast 4

Yesterday was Christmas Day in the calendar of Mr. Hale, the Belfast pitcher, and he celebrated it by presenting Rockland with three bases on balls in the fifth inning at Community Park and throwing in a wild pitch for good measure. Not unappreciative of his generosity the French-men contributed two singles and doubles to the festivities, so that when the inning closed the home team had accumulated five tallies, and this proved sufficient for a fore-closure on the game.

Belfast was not disposed to part with the contest so cheaply, however, and the next two innings saw lively doing. In Belfast's half of the sixth Murphy walked, and was advanced on a single by Kunitz. A wild pitch set both men forward, and they scored on Thurston's single.

In the seventh Turner issued a pass to McMahon who scored on singles by Hale and Cogan. Murphy tied to Aube whose fine catch earned him a deservedly big hand from the crowd, even while it served to send Hale home with the run which left the visitors only one score behind. Monroe took care of the next two flies so handsomely that he was obliged to doff his cap in response to the bleachers' applause as he came in from the field. If an all-League team is selected this year, this map Monroe will have to be figured in the reckoning.

Belfast played her half of the eighth without scoring, and as dusk was rapidly gathering the game was called. The score:

Harold Look stepped on a loose plank at his place of business on Snow's wharf the other day and the result was a high dive which would make the Sandy Beach folks look like puddle jumpers. Swimming in street and swimming in bathing gear are two different things, but Harold eventually made his way back to the wharf without calling out the Chemical or the Rockland Yacht Club.

A Waterville despatch says: "The Colby College campus presented a lively scene at the close of last week when the boys from 'Hatchet Mountain Camp' located near Camden, with their counselors, cooks and nurse, bivouacked there for part of a day and night. It is the custom of this Maine camp to take at least one trip 'across country,' and this year the itinerary included Augusta, Waterville, Bangor and Belfast. They left early Saturday for Bangor where they will remain until Tuesday when the special guests of Charles Murray, member of the State Highway Commission, whose son-in-law, Philip Jones, is owner and manager of the Camp.

In connection with the Knox Hospital campaign now in progress, it is interesting to note the report the Itoevich Club has submitted of the sewing its members have done during a year's time for the hospital, also furnishing the material for same with the exception of the first two items which were made from hospital materials: 1 1/2 dozen sheets, 3 dozen pads, 3 1-12 dozen ether stockings, 4 11-12 dozen ward dressing towels, 1 1/2 dozen breast protectors, 1-3 dozen finished strips, 3 1-3 dozen baby pads, 1 1/2 dozen baby nightgowns, 2 1/2 dozen ice cap covers, 7-12 dozen ice collars, 1/2 dozen hot water bag covers, 7-12 dozen rubber glove cases, 1 1-12 dozen T binders, 14 1-6 dozen hand towels. This accomplishment is worthy of mention, as the club has a small membership with limited ways of earning money for materials other than the small yearly dues and an occasional card party.

With the latest repainting Mr. Lawrence has added the campaign banner. It made a striking picture as viewed this morning by The Courier-Gazette reporter.

STRAND THEATRE

If you are a baseball fan, don't miss Richard Dix in "Warming Up," which will be shown the last time today. If you like your entertainment in the form of romance, the same tip holds good. The story concerns a young rascal whose troubles are not confined to the diamond and particularly to a fix which seems to have settled on his trail for good. There is also a charming little love theme which runs through the production.

The sparkling golf comedy which comes to the Strand for Friday and Saturday, "Green Grass Widows," is from an original story by Wellyn Totman, one of the youngest screen writers, who has constructed a smooth yarn about a golf champion who goes broke on Wall street and hies himself off to a prize tournament to recoup his fortunes. The champion's entrance apparently blasts the hopes of the local champion, who is desperately in need of the $5,000 prize in order to finish his college course and win the girl of his dreams. The surprise finish is said to lift "Green Grass Widows" far above the usual comedy type, and furnish some real thrills even to those who haven't fallen victim to the insidious little golf bug.

PARK THEATRE

The feature for today is Bessie Love in "Sally of the Scandals." There is also a two reel comedy and Paramount News.

Tim McCoy, dashing adventurer of the screen, has a new setting and a new brand of adventures for his newest role in "The Adventure" which will be shown at the Park Theatre Friday and Saturday. It is a romance of the tropics, with McCoy playing an American mining engineer thrust, through a strange trick of fate, into the midst of a Latin-American Revolution—and, through a series of strenuous adventures, into the position of arbiter of the fates of the little country in which the strange adventure took place.

Gearing into the roaring road of laughter, Harry Langdon's latest comedy "The Chase" is on the same program, and if advances from the First National Studios may be taken as a criterion it is one of the most amusing stories ever "published" in celluloid.—adv.

OBSERVATION
 [For The Courier-Gazette]
 It takes all sorts of people
 To make a world, they say.
 It's amusing quite to watch them,
 As journey life's highway.
 Some have a smile of greeting
 As they pass and onward go,
 That leaves a pleasant memory
 Behind, to show
 That life is worth the living.
 There is mirth as well as woe.
 Some look so welcoming
 You wonder if they see
 The beauty for the living things
 God gave them eyes to see.
 Or if they thro' a dark glass
 See life a monotony.

Some gossip as they travel,
 Eyes turned to left and right,
 They only see another's faults,
 To good eyes close up tight.
 Some weeks ago, since which time
 They may well proffer a car.
 Not try to set it right.
 Others never see the failures,
 Never wear a frown.
 Steady, true, always looking
 Where the other fellow's down,
 Ever ready to be helpful,
 Help him up and start him on.

It takes all sorts of people
 Just to make the world today.
 All the folks who pass by me,
 Each a piece of human nature,
 So I watch them all, and ponder
 O'er each individual.
 Washington, Mo. Clara Overlook.

MET STEAM ROLLER

Candidate Moran Says Down East Incident Had No Political Significance.

Edward C. Moran, Jr., Democratic candidate for governor, acquired some knowledge of the working of a steam roller Tuesday morning, although he stoutly denied that there was any political significance in the event. The steam roller in question got between him and the place he wanted to go, and the steam roller won. This little episode took place on the road between Calais and Eastport, as Mr. Moran and his campaign party were hastening toward Eastport to address a noonday meeting. As they rounded a bend in the road, the forbidding steam roller loomed up ahead of them. It was coming straight at them, and there was nothing open to them but to stop, which they did. After a time the steam roller finished its run and turned aside, and the impatient campaigners proceeded on their way.

Arriving at Eastport, Mr. Moran apparently still had the steam roller in mind, for he launched into a speech on good roads.

"If the Republican party," he declared, as he told the story of his experience, "would spend more time and attention on that kind of steam roller, instead of giving its chief thought to political steam rollers, you people would have less reason to vote for me on Sept. 10."

A THOROUGHbred GUERNSEY

Bull of High Pedigree is Now Owned in Owl's Head

Cattle raisers large and small who believe in pure bred stock, will be interested to know that there has recently been brought to Knox county a bull with a pedigree, that with only three or four generations back, has blood of the two best sires ever brought from the Isles of Guernsey.

This is Imported May Rose King 5236 A. R., of whom it is said, "He was the greatest sire of the breed ever brought to America." He was the grandfather of the sire Albion Sovereign 5985 A. R. of the bull now owned by R. L. Emery, the proprietor of Rose Hill Farm at Owl's Head, Albion, N. H. Lodon's mother, is out of Virginia of Belva Vista Hill Farm 112751, with a record of 16,545 lbs. milk, class A; while Albion Iris' sire, Grassland Short Sequel 68435 A. R. has three A. R. daughters to his credit.

No doubt there are many well-bred Guernsey bulls and cows in this section of Maine, but one sees and hears little of them. Interest in breeding pure bred stock is being aroused. The Livestock and Farm Development train which stopped in Rockland recently should be a great incentive to the people for better efforts along this line. If one is going to own cows, why not have the best?

WARREN DEDICATES LIBRARY

Matthews Memorial Building Causes Rejoicing In Whole Town—A Bit of History.

Citizens of Warren and summer residents passed, memorable hours Friday when a representative gathering of 200 attended the opening of the M. R. Matthews Memorial Library building which had been awaited for nearly a year.

In 1927 through a bequest of the late Miss Eva Frances Matthews $20,000 for the erection of a library building in honor of her father, Hon. M. R. Matthews and $10,000 for his maintenance was received and on Nov. 1 of that year the corner stone was laid with simple but impressive ceremonies including remarks by Hon. George W. Walker of the Library Association, prayer by Rev. H. M. Purinton, followed by a brief address

English flag flew, was unusual in its love and willingness to sacrifice for education. The Warren Academy incorporated in 1838 was supported partially by funds subscribed by individuals at much sacrifice. This academy for many years had a wide reputation as a fitting school for college and numbered among its teachers many men who became widely known.

Eaton states that the first public library in town was established in 1837 and was supported by the subscriptions of individuals who gave generously. This library under various changes was in existence 78 years. Another under the name of the Ladies' Social Library was organized in 1855 and existed until about the time the present association was formed.

On July 23, 1900, the Warren Free Public Library Association was formed. In 1903, M. R. Matthews, who was as interested as his daughter that Warren should have a library, gave the sum of $1500 for a library fund. The following year the library was opened, a room being rented in the Knights of Pythias block. On June 2, 1917, it was incorporated. The present trustees are: George W. Walker, president; Robert Walker, vice president; N. B. Eastman, treasurer; G. D. Gould, R. J. Andrews, Miss Frances Starrett and F. E. Matthews. The librarian and secretary to the trustees is Mrs. Julia R. Watts and the association librarian Miss Edna F. Boggs.

The citizens of the town feel that they owe a debt of gratitude to the building committee who spent a great deal of time and thought in making plans for the structure. The committee consisted of R. J. Andrews, Robert Walker and F. E. Matthews. Their choice of Charles B. Loring of Boston as the architect and William E. Hatch of Camden as contractor and builder was a happy one. An expression of thanks is due Mrs. Inez Matthews for her voluntary assistance in helping the librarian in her hard task of moving the books properly from one building to another.

The hearts of the townspeople are so filled with gratitude and pleasure for this new building that it is hard to fully express their appreciation. No more fitting way can be found than to increase the circulation of the books each week, to cause the reading tables to be surrounded with absorbed readers, to bring friends to enjoy the home, beautiful room with its store of good things for the mind and soul and to have as much pride in keeping the rooms beautiful as one would in his own home. ## HUDSON Patents F-Head Motor

The U.S. Patent Office has granted patents to the Hudson Motor Car Company on the "F-Head" high-compression motor. The patent—No. 1,656,051, relating to internal combustion engines—covers the entire arrangement of valves, spark plugs and combustion chamber.

With the new patented design Hudson motors now are built with a compression ratio of nearly 6 to 1—or 20 per cent above the average—with correspondingly high standards of acceleration, fuel economy and power. It is practically impossible to make the motor knock under even the most adverse operating conditions. The motor is the liveliest, most powerful and economical Hudson has ever built.

FISCHER-BLACKINGTON

One of the prettiest of mid-summer weddings was solemnized Monday evening at the home of Fred A. Blackington, West Meadow road, when Maxine Blackington, a granddaughter of Mr. Blackington, became the bride of Rene A. Fischer of Pelham, N. Y. The single ring service was used and Rev. E. P. Browne, a former Rockland pastor officiated.

Under the direction of Miss Blackington's grandmother, assisted by Mrs. Cora Ulmer and Mrs. Alice Wyllie, the home was tastefully decorated, the color scheme of green, yellow and white being carried out. Across one corner of the living room was the wedding arch, made of evergreen and golden red.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Evelyn (Jacobs) Hart, sang "At Dawn" and "Together." As the Lohengrin bridal march was being played by Miss Dorothy Ulmer, the bride with her bridesmaid, Miss Beulah Richards, and led by little Caroline Blackington, as ring bearer, descended the stairway, which was banked with green and white. They were met at the arch by the groom, his attendant, Henry Allen and Mr. Browne.

The bride was very sweet, gowned in blue georgette over pink silk and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Richards wore green georgette over pink satin, and pink sweet peas.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony, and a wedding luncheon was served by Mrs. Ethel Connon, assisted by Mrs. Alice Wyllie, Mrs. Marie Bisbee, Miss Ella Kaler, Miss Helen Collart, Miss Margaret Murphy and Miss Marion Blackington. The guests receiving favors of the wedding cake were Douglas Rice, the ring, G. W. Gay the wish bone, Mrs. Alice Wyllie, the heart, Miss Dorothy Blackington the button and Ralph Blackington the money.

Mrs. Fischer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Blackington of The Highlands, and a graduate of Rockland High School, class of 1921 and has since been employed by F. W. Woolworth Co. as assistant cashier. Mr. Fischer has made many friends since coming to Rockland and was employed in the shipping department of John Bird Co. The young people were the recipients of many lovely and useful gifts among them, substantial checks from their respective employers. After much merry making Mr. and Mrs. Fischer succeeded in eluding their guests and started on a motor trip through New England, not however, until they were escorted well over the Thomaston line by kind and attentive friends.

The out of town guests were Mrs. Cora Ulmer and children Dorothy and Robert of Everett, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bisbee of Rockport, and Douglas Rice of Pelham, N. Y.

The trouble with the sun these days is that it is entirely too prodigal.—New York Evening Post.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

RAMBLES AFIELD

Here, There and Yonder,
Touching the Alluring
Things of Nature.

(Fourteenth Ramble)

In looking over my books on Natural History in a search for verification of an impression concerning moths, I chanced upon a picture of the praying mantis, and I feel almost certain that the long, narrow insect with long jaws, brought to me for identification, and described in a former article, is a mantis. I have saved the creature carefully and intend to present him to Norman W. Leonard at the first opportunity and learn if I am right in my supposition. They cannot be very common, for I have never before seen one, neither can I find any one in this vicinity who can tell me what it is.

A short time ago I read an account of a turkey buzzard which was found much farther north than they have ever been known to go. I have forgotten the exact spot, but it was not as far north as this place, so I think it may interest some to learn that one was killed within a few years at the West Meadows and brought to Grange for examination. None present had ever seen a turkey buzzard, but the few who had heard and read descriptions of them said there could be no doubt of its identity. Those who saw it alive said it acted stupid and as if it were sick. It seems strange to me that any one could find pleasure in shooting a sick bird, and more especially one so entirely a stranger in a strange land. It would have been much more interesting had it been captured alive. I have always regretted its untimely death, and I have also regretted that I was not able to find the chief delight in going out and killing something.

A pair of barn owls will destroy every rat and mouse on the place in a short time, and yet the man with the gun is their worst enemy they are likely to encounter. Several years ago we had a little barn owl as a pet, and treated him as one of the family. One night when we turned him on his back in our arms as we would a pet kitten, he gave one flutter, one gasp, and was dead in an instant. I have often wondered if all owls are so constituted, and they must die when turned on the back, or did this one have heart disease, or had his time come and he simply heard the call and went.

Some unknown friend who is interested in plants suggested through the columns of The Courier-Gazette that my new weed with the blue blossoms may be Veronica Serpyllifolia. On examining it closely and comparing it with descriptions in the Botany, I feel quite sure it is Veronica but not the variety above, for those blossoms are described as in racemes, while the blossoms of my plant are solitary and axillary. Looking at it under a reading glass I find the upper petals largest of all and blue; the two side petals a bit smaller with bars of blue on a white ground, and the lower and smallest petal is white. The description of Veronica Buxbaumii seems to fit my little plant almost exactly. I am always very glad of assistance in my researches and have received many letters which answered some of my questions and solved some of my problems, helping me very much.

And now I wonder if any one can tell me why hop leaves are always unweaved full of holes, and what does it. I have examined my hop vines repeatedly at different ranges, but have never been able to find an insect of any kind upon it, and yet the leaves are riddled with holes almost as soon as they appear.

This summer several persons have come to me complaining that they are constantly finding large black beetles—they call them "bugs"—in the house, and especially in cupboards and pantries. The complaints seem to expect me to not only name the creature, but also to suggest a remedy for it. I can do neither of these things, but perhaps someone else can if I describe the "bug." Those which I have seen are about three fifths of an inch in length, black, or nearly so in color, and somewhat resembling the ordinary snap bug which when turned on its back will throw back its head and snap itself into the air suddenly.

It is somewhat wider and thicker than the snap bug however, and by no means as graceful, also the separation between head and thorax is not so decided as in the snap bug, neither does he curl up his legs and apparently resign himself to his fate like the other, but kicks and struggles wildly, until released. I have not yet heard any complaint of food being molested by them, they seem to like to stay in its vicinity, and they are sometimes found in little groups, half a dozen or more snuggled up together.

When my people moved on to this place they naturally desired trees, and especially fruit trees, so at the back of the house they set out choke-cherry bushes—three of them, which grew and grew and grew, until they became trees—small ones, and the winds blew and the rain fell and beat off the fruit, and birds also came and scattered it in all directions until when the place fell to me, a wilderness of choke-cherry bushes became my legacy, alone and though I had the old trees cut down, thousands of young ones took their place until I could neither see up the street nor could my neighbors see my windows. While I had the use of my two feet I fought them with knife, saw, hatchet and sickle, but now they are stronger than I and still growing until I despair of ever getting them under control. Is there any way to kill them and if so, what time in the year could this best be done? Adella F. Veazie Rankin street, Rockland.

And if the Frenchman who said he didn't see anything in America, except hotels had lowered his eyes a bit he might have noticed a filling station brightening a corner here and there, Macon Telegraph.

"THE UNDERSTANDING OF LOVE"

Christian Science Lecture By John Randall Dunn of Boston
At Local Church Monday Night.

The First Church of Christ Scientist was filled with an interested audience last night on the occasion of a lecture by John Randall Dunn, C. S. B., of Boston, whose subject was "Christian Science, the Understanding of Love."

The speaker was introduced by Frank A. Richardson, who said: "On behalf of the First Church of Christ Scientist, Rockland, Me., I cordially welcome you here this evening. Since the beginning of history, mankind has been confronted with the problem of working out their salvation. Over 1900 years ago St. Paul in his epistle to the Philippians admonished them in these words: 'Work out your own salvation,' assuring them that God's help was ever available to accomplish that end."

"The purpose of a Christian Science lecture is to present the teachings of its discoverer and founder, Mary Baker Eddy, in a clear and simple manner that the intelligent thought may receive the blessing it imparts. Thousands of people are convinced that the Christian Science text-book, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, contains a positive rule that enables them to solve all their problems; because it teaches them the truth about God and man."

"We have with us tonight one who can speak intelligently on the subject and it gives me great pleasure to introduce to you John Randall Dunn, C. S. B. of Boston, a member of the board of lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, Boston."

Following is an abstract of Mr. Dunn's address:

I wish that all who have felt disturbed over the Christian Scientist's concept of the words and works of the Saviour might read that wonderful chapter in the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," entitled, "Atonement and Eucharist." These pages breathe a spirit of the most tender and reverent love for and appreciation of Christ Jesus, and show that Christian Science, in teaching the divinity of the Christ, teaches also the divinity of spiritual man. I can think of no writings aside from the Scripture which set forth higher ideals and incite to holier Christian living than this remarkable chapter.

Dealing With Objections

The difficulty, of course, in dealing with most objections to Christian Science is that the objectors have seldom if ever read the text-book, Science and Health, or other authorized literature. Consequently their fund of information upon the actual teachings of this system is as doubtful as was the man's who said he knew that the story of Robinson Crusoe was in the Bible, but was not sure whether it was in the Old or New Testament. Others read Christian Science literature determined to find therein unchristian and unorthodox sentiments, and emerge from their unhappy tasks with a few statements carefully detached from the contexts which prove to their complete satisfaction that Christian Science is the work of Satan.

Our critics then turn their attention to the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. If indeed they have not begun their criticism with objection to her. Are not the calumnies, the abuse, and criticisms that are hurled at this Christian gentleman surprising? Gentlemen, she was a Christian gentleman who remained during all the splendid ninety years of her loving, forgiving, helping pilgrimage. Christian woman must have been to turn, through her writings, an army of men and women and children, to the earnest study of the Bible to find there the panacea for all the ills of earth. One cannot help wondering at the world's slow reception of her message, at the world's reluctance to ascribe honor to the woman who found the way of Life.

To illustrate: Suppose that an emigrant party on the hot plains has exhausted its supply of water, and weakened, sick, and disheartened, feels that further journeying is futile. Suppose that one of its number, a woman, disappears from the party and is not seen for many days. Some time afterwards she returns with strong step and clear eye and says joyfully, "I've found water!" Up in those hills is a stream clear as crystal, and flowing abundantly. Come, all of you, come and see! Can you imagine one of that parched, thirsty number saying, "Well, I'd be more inclined to believe it if a man, instead of a woman, had found it!" or, "How do we know that you have found water? You just imagine you have seen it," or again, "If you did find water, certainly some one else told you where it was!" No, we could not imagine such a reception of the message that the woman delivered. What can be easily pictured is that enfeebled company eagerly, trustfully, and gratefully following that woman to the newly found waters. Yet when Mary Baker Eddy, after years of retirement, searching for the Scriptures, and submitting her discovery to the most practical tests, sent forth to the hungry and thirsting sons of men her work, Science and Health, containing the joyous message that earth's sufferers need only ascend the mountain of spiritual understanding to find the waters of Truth which heal sickness and sin and sorrow; behold the unreasonable, the senseless opposition of many who possibly are sadly in need of healing themselves, and who allow such opposition to cheat them out of the blessings which would surely be theirs, if they would only climb the hill and drink.

Is There a Way Out?
And how sorely does earth need today the message of Christian Science! As a French writer has clearly put it, "The ceaseless unrest of this weary world is the unvoiced cry for God." "Is there no balm in Gilead," asks the Jeremiahs of today; "is there no physician there?" There is no better way of healing the sick than the constantly changing, experimenting, now succeeding, now failing methods of material medicine! Is there no hope for the wounded soldiers whose injuries are pronounced by the medical profession incurable? Is there nothing to comfort the sorrowing hearts of those whose dear ones have gone from their sight? Is there no solution for the great economic problems of the world, of capital and labor, of the relations of men and nations? Yes, Christian Science says to the afflicted, perplexed, and storm-tossed children of earth, there is balm in Gilead; there is a way out of mortal discords. That way is the way of spiritual understanding taught and demonstrated by Christ Jesus.

Has Christianity Failed?

"But," says some one, "have we not had nearly nineteen hundred years of Christianity, and are not the great problems of being still far from a solution?" The only answer to such a query is a definite, No! We have not had nineteen centuries of Jesus' Christianity. Far from it! It is a far cry indeed from the practical, regenerating healing work of Jesus to the inert, unfruitful concept of Christianity that most of us have had. Think you that this world would have been rocked by the convulsions of a great war, swept by the terrors of an epidemic, or held in the clutches of a great unrest, had Christians all these years healed the sick, preached heaven at hand, loved as Jesus loved, and cast out demons as he commanded? We suffer today, not because of an inadequate Christianity, but from sheer lack of Christianity.

Jesus' Practical Message

Jesus the Christ, walking into the synagogue in Nazareth on that memorable Sabbath day, declared that he had been sent to preach good tidings to the meek, to bind up the broken-hearted, and to proclaim liberty to them that were bound—in other words, to heal the sick, to preach the good news, and to heal the sick. Later he sent forth seventy more students, and it is recorded that even the devils were subject unto them. In the writings of the so-called early Christian fathers, it is made apparent that the healing of the sick and casting out of demons was a common occurrence with students of Christianity for over two hundred years after the advent of Jesus.

The Loss of Christian Healing

Then what happened? A mischievous teaching seemed to gain a foothold, a teaching quite attractive to the human mind, for it was a much simpler matter to consider oneself a Christian under the new regime than the old. This teaching found expression in the clothing of Christianity in the theatrical robes of pomp, ritual, and mysticism, and in the substitution of ceremonial worship of the personality of Jesus for the simple doing of the works that he commanded, and the thinking of the thoughts that he commended.

Of course, the human mind liked this new concept the better, for it was certainly easier to worship Jesus than to attempt to follow him in the doing of his mighty works. So we find that Christianity became very popular. In fact, it was quite the thing to be a Christian—provided, of course, one was the kind of Christian that the majority of believers thought that one should be. But when this material sense, this spiritual deadness, crept in the front door of the Christian Church, the vitalizing healing religion of Jesus seemed to go out the back door. Centuries after came the reformation, the Wesleyans, the Lutherans, the Calvinists, the Wesleyans, all striving for what? To preach something new? No, to bring back the old; to get back to the Principle and to restore the message of Jesus in all its beauty and simplicity.

Primitive Christianity Restored

And now in our time comes another reformer, and this time a woman, who insists that Christianity to be real Christianity must re-establish the healing, redemptive work of Jesus, of his apostles, and of the early Christians. She insists that the sacred designation "Christian" can be claimed only by the disciple who strives to do the works of the great Exemplar. Far too lightly has the holy name been bandied about all these years. Men and even nations have been designated as "Christian" with little thought of the real meaning of the term. You have heard without doubt of the shipwrecked traveler who was under the impression that the island upon which he found himself was inhabited by cannibals. For a long time he ventured from his hiding-place only at night, fearing the savages. But one day, crouching in his retreat, he was terrified to hear the tread of approaching feet and the sound of angry human voices. He imagined such a reception of the message that the woman delivered. What can be easily pictured is that enfeebled company eagerly, trustfully, and gratefully following that woman to the newly found waters. Yet when Mary Baker Eddy, after years of retirement, searching for the Scriptures, and submitting her discovery to the most practical tests, sent forth to the hungry and thirsting sons of men her work, Science and Health, containing the joyous message that earth's sufferers need only ascend the mountain of spiritual understanding to find the waters of Truth which heal sickness and sin and sorrow; behold the unreasonable, the senseless opposition of many who possibly are sadly in need of healing themselves, and who allow such opposition to cheat them out of the blessings which would surely be theirs, if they would only climb the hill and drink.

Jesus' Definition of a Christian

What is the Master's definition of a Christian? Can words be plainer than these: "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples." Then he leaves no doubt as to the nature of the "fruit," when he says (as recorded in the sixteenth chapter of Mark), "And these signs shall follow them that believe: In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover." One of the most pitiable sights these days, when the human heart is crying as never before for relief and healing, is the so-called Christian man or woman trying to explain away such mighty statements as these.

Recently I picked up a paper in which was printed the opinion and the statement of Jesus in Mark relative to "signs following," should not be dwelt upon unduly, as considerable doubt has been expressed by many Bible scholars as to the authenticity of the passage and that it might have been added by a later copyist, and

Shouldn't the Railroads of Maine be permitted to Share in the reduction of Taxes as voted by the last Legislature?

Are You in Favor of a Square Deal?

For many years, the railroad excise tax has been both inequitable and burdensome to the railroads of Maine. In the meantime, passenger traffic has fallen off almost two-thirds on some of our railroads and freight traffic has also diminished. Despite this, the amount of the railroad excise tax has doubled. Further, railroad net earnings and the value of railroad franchises have declined.

As owners of farms, factories, homes and other property know, the reduced State tax upon private property is now in effect. The Legislature approved a similar change in the railroad tax but this has been referred to YOU for final action on September 10th. We believe there is only one way every fair minded citizen can vote.

Maine Railroads will use this space during the next four weeks to present their case to the voters of the State. The railroads desire to inform the public fully as to the nature and effect of the old law, with its inequitable conditions and the provisions and advantages of the new law which the Legislature of 1927 has enacted. When Maine voters clearly understand the facts, we are confident they will register an emphatic YES.

MARY PHILLIPS

A New Lakewood Player

Mary Phillips recently closed a two years' engagement with Lydia Westman in "Two Girls Wanted." She appears next week in "If I Was Rich."

so forth. Granting that this conception is true, what can the critics of Christian Science do with this famous statement from the fourteenth chapter of John's gospel, the genuine-ness of which has never been questioned. "Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father." No, try as we may, explain as we may, still stands the unchanging test of discipleship. It is not, "What is your belief?" but, "What is the fruitage?" What are your works? For once again does the great Teacher leave us with no doubt as to the nature of a Christian. He says, "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another."

WEST IS SOLID

For the Republican Ticket, Says ex-Gov. Baxter, Just Back From There.

Home from Palo Alto, Calif., where he was a member of the committee which notified Herbert Hoover of his nomination, ex-Gov. Baxter says:

"Telegrams of congratulations poured in from every section of the country and those from Maine pleased Mr. Hoover much. The address was a masterpiece. Every word rang true, every sentence expressed conviction."

"Trained political observers consider the West solidly Republican. Certain eastern states, Massachusetts, New York and New Jersey and certain large cities, are to be the political battle ground. Some gains may be expected in the south."

"Farm relief is largely removed from the campaign by Mr. Hoover's address, for the real farmers are content to trust him. It is the same with the liquor question. Both the conscientious wet and dry know that Mr. Hoover approaches the problem honestly with a determination to solve it after investigation of all the facts."

"To me the Tammany issue seems paramount. No man's popularity can obliterate Tammany's record of corruption and fostering of crime for selfish political ends. Thoughtful Democrats understand this as do Republicans, and it will cause a tremendous swing to Hoover."

"Everywhere I was asked how Maine is going in September, and the promise was given of a great majority for Senator Hale, Colonel Gardner, the four Congressmen and all the others. Every Republican vote in Maine in September directly strengthens Hoover and Curtis in the other 47 states that the east is safe for Hoover. Republican Maine today has the opportunity to exert a stronger moral influence on national politics than ever before."
