MAY BE THE LAST

Grand Army Encampment
In Denver May End Such Proceedings.

The steady measured tread of 1861 which resounded throughout the nation at President Lincoln's call to arms, will be brought to mind by the encamped shuffling of the Grand Army of the Republic as they meet in Denver for perhaps their last encampment as a national organization, Sept. 16 to 23.

The annual parade, to be led by the commander-in-chief, Elbridge L. Hawk of Sacramento, Calif., Tuesday, Sept. 18 is expected to be the smallest in the history of the organization. All survivors of the army now are past the allotted "three score and ten," and death is exacting a heavy toll from the ranks. As a result the attendance at the annual encampment, this year is not expected to exceed 1,500.

Late statistics are not available as to the number of surviving members of the national organization, but an example of the rapid depletion of the ranks is seen in the Farragut Post in Denver. Five years ago this post boasted a membership of 255. In January, 1928, this number had been reduced to 11. Since then three of these members have "gone west," and now five of the remaining eight are confined to hospitals and will be unable to participate in the reunion.

Maine's delegation which will include Fernando S. Philbrick of Edwin Libby Post, will carry an invitation to the G.A.R. to hold its 1929 encampment (if there is one) in this State.

Tarnish Plant Bugs

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—What is the best insecticide for Tarnish Plant Bugs for use on dahlias? Will some of the readers please write of their experience in controlling this pest?
Interested Reader.

Quite A Few Queries

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—I want to know why clerks in stores, who tie up bundles tie a double bow knot that might be easily untied, and then the another knot over that, making a knot the devil could not untie. I know it for I have tried often and failed. That kind of knot originated in stores where you bought a good article, and they tied up an inferior article in that way, so you could not undo the package before you left their store. Why not tie an honest knot?

Also, why is unreadable type used (mostly in Sunday papers) to explain funny pictures (so called)? You try to read it straight—"nothing doing"—then sideways, then crosswise, upside down, then left-handed, then right-handed, but can make no sense of it. Why is it used at all? It is trying to the eyes and temper. Even good respectable papers like The Courier-Gazette, offend at times. Witness "Mickey" for example, why not use good readable type, or else print the whole paper that way. "Puck" says "what fools we mortals be." Abraham Lincoln said: "You can fool some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time but you can't fool all the people all the time."

And again, why do some singers wiggle their voices while singing, spoiling what music there might be in the song they are trying to sing? They call it warbling, but they don't spell it right. It should be spelled wobbling. A few birds do warble, but they were made that way. It comes natural to them, and sounds right. The only birds that such singers come near imitating, is the turkey gobbler and the loon. The turkey gobbles; he can't help doing so. The loon makes a noise very similar to the human singer who wiggles her voice, but he is called the "crazy bird," hence, the term "looney" very appropriate if applied to such singers. Our grandmothers were sweet singers, but they neither warbled nor wobbled when singing. I never read that Jenny Lind, the "Nightingale" ever sang that way. Is this kind of singing really musical? We think not, decidedly.

And why do some really fine penmen distort their writing until they can't read their own writing. Is it to prevent forgery in his case. It's no protection; the worse the writing the easier imitated or abused. Witness the great railroad magnate who could not read his own writing. He had an Irish lad in his employ, got mad with him and discharged him and forbade him to trespass on his premises ever. And to make it more emphatic wrote him a letter to that effect and signed his name to it. Pat got a job up the line in a distant city and used the letter as a free pass on the railroad a long time, going and coming to his work. Every railroad official recognized the signature, but could not read the writing, so could not dispute Pat's claim as a free pass. Uncle Fernando.

Republicans Swamp the State With 80,000 Majority, Electing Everybody In Sight—Knox County
Makes New High Record

THE WINNING TICKET

SENATOR—ZELMA M. DWINAL, Camden
JUDGE OF PROBATE—M. T. CRAWFORD, Camden
CLERK OF COURTS—M. M. GRIFFIN, Rockland
SHERIFF—FRANK F. HARDING, Rockland
COUNTY TREASURER—EAL E. DOW, Rockport
COUNTY ATTORNEY—L. R. CAMPBELL, Rockland
COUNTY COMMISSIONER—MARY P. RICH, Rockport

A Republican majority that may reach, or even exceed 80,000 was rolled up in yesterday's election, and from thousands of house-tops is shouted the word that the good old Pine Tree State stands solidly in the ranks of Republicanism for another Presidential year. The victory is the greatest ever achieved by the party in this State and is all the more remarkable by reason of the fact that the total vote was not so large. The election of Wm. Tudor Gardner as governor was discounted so long ago that many voters outside of the Second District did not consider it worth while going to the polls.

Senator Hale and all four of the Republican Congressional candidates were elected by large majorities. Rockland went Republican by 782 majority, while Knox county writes a new chapter for its political history. Knox County, which had been persistently placed in the doubtful or Democratic column by a Portland newspaper, repudiated the propaganda which appeared steadily in its columns, by giving the largest Republican majority in its history. Every Republican candidate for county office was elected by large majorities, and it only needs the normal Matineus majority to settle the near tie in the one representative contest which was close.

The bitter attacks launched upon the Knox County administration served as a boomerang, and the voters chose to believe instead, the straight-forward accounting which the Republicans had given of their stewardship. The first town to be heard from was Warren, and when ex-Senator George W. Walker phoned the results there the rapidly gathering crowd in The Courier-Gazette office sensed that it was the forerunner of the glorious outcome. As the Rockland wards began to straggle in it was easy to see that this city was occupying its rightful place in the line of march but everybody found it almost difficult of belief that candidate Moran's own ward had given a 2 to 1 verdict for Col. Gardner. This ward, as subsequent developments showed was merely running true to the form that the whole city was showing. Those who had made the whirlwind tour of the county and had also attended last Friday night's rally awaited with much interest the result in Appleton, which two by 10, while the Democratic vote dropped off 76. Perhaps that pie did it.

Splendid work was done by the Camden Republican leaders, who increased their vote from 558 to 865. The Democratic increase was only 27, and the town's Republican majority was 458. Congressman White was high line there, while County Treasurer Dow had the distinction of leading the county ticket.

Cushing was close as usual, Senator Hale who had the largest vote there, carried the town by 12 votes. Harry French, Democratic candidate for county commissioner, ran 11 ahead of his ticket. Messrs Vose and Orne, the two home candidates for representative fought a drawn battle. The Republicans gained 7 votes in Friendship and the Democrats lost 39, the once Democratic stronghold showing a Republican majority of 21. Hale and White shared the honors here, while Senator Dwinal headed the Republican county ticket, with County Attorney Campbell a close second.

Hope Republicans cast exactly the same vote for governor that they did two years ago, but the Democratic vote shrank 41. The role of star in this town was played by M. T. Crawford, the Republican nominee for judge of probate, who led the entire ticket. The returns from North Haven were late in arriving but they furnished joyous news for the Republicans, for the party had carried that town by 120. Congressman White was high line, and Senator Dwinal led the county ticket.

Owl's Head did a fine chore for the Republican party, giving a majority of 41, as against a Democratic majority of one, two years ago. Clerk of Courts Griffin was high man, running six ahead of his ticket, and 59 ahead of his opponent.

As might be expected a big fight was waged in candidate Moran's home city of Rockland. In spite of the fact that many Republicans voted for him out of local pride and personal friendship, the Democrats failed to carry a single ward and the Republican majority was 711 as against 442 two years ago. Senator Hale was high on the ticket while Senator Dwinal led the county ticket. The feature of the local contest was the fine vote given to French, who ran 181 ahead of his ticket. The three-cornered contest for representative which had given the Republicans, some concern, proved no contest at all, Representative St. Clair having a clean majority of 707. The vote was St. Clair 1823; Mrs. Lena K. Sargent, Democrat, 997; and R. L. Thompson, Independent, 59.

Rockport Republicans were out in force, increasing their vote 60 over two years ago, while the Democratic vote fell off 41. Senator Dwinal was also high gun here, with Mel Crawford giving him a close run.

South Thomaston remained in the Democratic column, although Senator Hale came within one vote of tying his opponent. Dow led the county ticket.

The saddest dent in the Democratic aspirations was made in St. George, where their vote fell from 282 two years ago, to 133 this year, while the Republicans were gaining 19. Granville N. Bachelder, candidate for representative, led the ticket, and needed every vote to help offset Boman's big majority in Vinalhaven. Sheriff Harding led the county ticket. Vose received a nice vote here.

The most remarkable Republican gain was made in Union, where the party increased its vote from 192 to 305, while the Democrats declined from 166 to 114. The honors went to Fred E. Burkett, candidate for Representative, who polled 322 votes against his opponent's 94. Dow led the county ticket. Vinalhaven was the last town to report. The Democrats made a last ditch fight there, and Gardner carried the town by only five votes. Loyalty to favorite sons is the watchword there as shown by the fact that Chris Roberts candidate for county attorney ran 145 ahead of his ticket and Charles Boman candidate for representative ran 292 ahead of his opponent. Griffin was high on the county ticket; Thurston, Democratic candidate for sheriff made a fine run here.

Both parties fell below their vote of two years ago in Warren, but the Republicans made a slight net gain. Harding had the largest vote, closely pressed by Congressman White. Two years ago the Democrats carried Washington by two votes yesterday they lost it by 45. Fred Burkett made a splendid run in this town, having a lead of 60 over his opponent.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

HEAVEN OVERARCHES EARTH AND SEA
Heaven overarches earth and sea,
Earth—sadness and sea—bitterness.
Heaven overarches you and me:
A little while and we shall be—
Please God—where there is no more sea
Nor barren wilderness.

Heaven overarches you and me,
And all earth's gardens and her graves.
Look up with me, until we see
The day break and the shadows flee.
What though tonight wrecks you and me,
If so tomorrow saves?

SOME ELECTION!

By the largest Republican majority in the State's history the people of Maine announce to the world their repudiation of the assaults launched by the opposing political party against the principle of National Prohibition, against the return of the saloon under some form of disguise, and by the same token register their endorsement of Herbert Hoover as the standard bearer of the party which stands for a prosperity-producing protective tariff and a policy of farm relief that shall be adequate for the prosperous development of this chief National industry.

This is not to say that the election has failed to endorse the party's candidates for governor, for senator and for congressmen, no less than the candidates for county office, particularly in our own county of Knox. Certainly the sweeping majorities on every hand overwhelmingly establish this fact. But the national managers of the opposition party, in sending here their party speakers, workers and money, realized the potency of the old slogan that as Maine goes so goes the country. Well, Maine has spoken. She has pointed the way to a National landslide for Hoover and Curtis in November.

Let us all have a hand in the hospital campaign, even if our contribution is a small one. Let us show our summer colonists how deeply we appreciate their royal help.

Charles Evans Hughes who failed of the Presidency himself, by an unfortunate factional fight in California, has proffered his services to the Republican National Committee, cabling from Europe an offer to take the stump for Hoover and Curtis. In public life today no man is held in higher respect than Mr. Hughes, and no man could have greater weight on the platform as a political speaker. Widespread radio hookups will make it possible for practically the whole nation to hear what this distinguished New Yorker has to say.

The Hoover trend is well demonstrated in Wisconsin where Walter J. Kohler, the conservative Republican candidate, and one of the original Hoover men in that State, has just won the gubernatorial nomination after an extraordinary run. The New York Herald Tribune well says that "had there been a widespread antagonism to the Hoover enforcement policy it would surely have been reflected in his vote," for Wisconsin is perhaps the strongest anti-Volstead State in the Union.

That gallant old sport, Sir Thomas Lipton, has announced his intention of trying for the America's cup in 1929, and explains that the only reason he didn't make the attempt this year was because one of his yacht designers fell ill and it was impossible to build a challenger in season. Persistence and pluck are the alliterative adjectives which certainly apply to Sir Thomas.

Baseball is over for the season but the responsibility of the 25 backers is not, for the reason that the maintenance of the sport has left a deficit of $1,000. It is hoped to wipe out the debt without waiting until spring, and upon the public's response rests the fate of baseball another season. The directors will welcome suggestions.

Talk with many New Yorkers and you will find Al Smith enthusiasts. But you will also encounter many men of apparently good understanding who scout the idea that he will carry the State in November. "We were with him for governor," they say, "but as for electing him President, that's another story."

John Coolidge, son of the President, has obtained a position in the Hartford (Conn.) electrical works owned by Gov. Trumbull, and is on the job. Now that he has gone to work perhaps the many thousands who have been exhibiting so much interest in his future will do the same.

BARGAINS IN DAYS

(For The Courier-Gazette)

Just a few left that are sunny and golden! Summer came bringing a narrow store of bright days and dreamy days, made for pleasure.

These are the last. There are really no more. Will you have one of the few still remaining? Just for the taking! The small price one pays.

Never is missed. These are wonderful values. Remnants of summer! Bargains in days!

Look you will find them surprisingly lovely! Those that were dusty are freshened by showers.

Each one designed by an artist in color. Some are embroidered with exquisite flowers. Will you have this one of golden pattern? All wrapped about with a soft purple haze? This is the last clearance sale of the season. Remnants of summer! Bargains in days.

—B. Y. Williams.

It is quite likely that Knox County has chosen a solid Republican delegation to the Maine Legislature. Complete returns show the election of George L. St. Clair, Edwin S. Vose, Fred E. Burkett and George E. Allen, but the result in the Vinalhaven, North Haven, St. George, Isle au Haut and Matinicus will not be known until the mails bring the vote from Isle au Haut and Matinicus. Charles L. Boman leads by one vote on the face of the returns. Isle au Haut is usually very close but slightly Democratic, while Matinicus is usually top-heavy Republican, although the vote would probably not exceed a score. Here are the representative tabulations.

MANY DIVORCE MATTERS

Will Feature the Term of Supreme Court Which Began Today—Judge Spear Presiding.

The September term of Knox County Supreme Court convened this morning with Retired Justice A. M. Spear presiding. The grand jurors entered at once upon their duties, but the traverse jurors are not to report until Thursday morning.

It is not easy to get a line on the amount of business to be transacted, or length of the term, but certain it is that there will be no lack of divorce matters. The following cases are due to be up for hearing:

Antilla Cassens from Fred W. Cassens of Camden, married at Camden December, 1909; cause, desertion and non-support. Dwinal for libellant.

Gussie M. Gregory from W. Fred Gregory, of Camden, married at Camden Oct. 1, 1916; cause, non-support and cruel and abusive treatment. Libellant asks for custody of minor children, Clara May, William Edwin and Harold Stewart. Dwinal for libellant.

Eunice M. Witham from Clayton L. Witham of Rockland, married at Rockland March 29, 1924; cause, cruel and abusive treatment, non-support and adultery. Libellant asks for custody of minor child, Clayton L. Witham, Jr. Miller for libellant.

Fred M. Johnson from Bertha J. Johnson of Rockland, married at Rockland April 29, 1920; cause, adultery. Libellant asks for custody of minor children, June, Helen, Pearl, and James. Miller for libellant.

Margaret B. Day from Herbert R. Day, both of Rockland, married at Rockland, Jan. 21, 1923; cause, cruel and abusive treatment. Miller for libellant.

Edward C. Moran, Jr., the defeated candidate for Governor, this morning made this statement: "I have sent a wire to Mr. Gardner reading as follows: 'Both as your personal friend and political opponent I congratulate you on your victory. Best wishes for a pleasant and successful administration. If I can assist do not hesitate to call upon me.'"

"I take this opportunity to thank all who supported me. I look back over the campaign with the feeling that I did my best, under all the conditions, in return for the confidence placed in me by my party."

LORINDA B. KENNEDY

Mrs. Mary E. Messer received word Monday of the death, in University of California Hospital, San Francisco of the late Herbert D. Kennedy, widow of the late Herbert D. Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy had been in the hospital since early in May. She underwent two surgical operations, which in her weakened condition, she was unable to withstand. Friends here have anxiously awaited news, hoping for her recovery, and the outcome was sadly received.

Mrs. Kennedy was born in this city, Nov. 12, 1871, daughter of the late Robert W. and Mrs. Laura (Bird) Messer. She attended schools here and was married in 1896 to Herbert D. Kennedy of this city and Boston. They lived in Boston for a time, but Mrs. Kennedy's health failing they went to Colorado, from there they moved to Glendale, Calif. After the death of Mr. Kennedy she disposed of her real estate and moved to Palo Alto, Calif., where she had since resided. Mrs. Kennedy was possessed of many fine qualities, which endeared her to many life long friends and she will be greatly missed by them. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Mildred Kennedy of Palo Alto, and one nephew, Robert W. Messer of Los Angeles, who has been unremitting in his care for her. The burial will be in Glendale.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the home, Rev. Jesse Kenderline of the Methodist Church officiating. Beautiful flowers surrounded the casket. The burial was in the family lot in Rockville, the bearers being the two sons, Walter and Eugene, and E. Mont Perry and Earle Ludwig.

was raging here. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Adelaide Mahoney of Lincolnville Center, and Mrs. Sarah Fay of Somerville, Mass. Mrs. Frost was devoted to her home and family and was always found ready at the call of duty, whether it was pleasant or otherwise. Her home showed much of her handiwork, as well as her inventiveness, and her good taste in all things. She will be greatly missed by her family and the community in which she lived. She attended church when health permitted and believed in its teachings.

Weather This Week

Weather outlook for week in North Atlantic States: Mostly fair except showers about Wednesday or Thursday; temperature near normal in the North Atlantic States first half of the week. Cooler about Thursday with temperature below normal thereafter.

Edw. Sansom of the Postoffice staff is having a week's vacation.

Peter Pellicane left Saturday for Boston, where he will enter North-eastern University.

Nature has not yet begun to show her fall goods. The only leaves which have turned are those which have blighted.

W. Oliver Rollins severed his connection with the Portland Cement Co. Saturday and returns to Boston today to enter his second year in Bentley School of Accounting and Finance.

Ralph A. Smith, store manager for the Central Maine Power Co., having a fortnight's vacation, in the course of which he expects to visit in Massachusetts.

William E. Shaugnessy of Bath, who is well known to the local veteran firemen and polo fans, sails next week for Panama Canal where he will be employed on one of the three locks.

Edward K. Chapman who died in Portland Sunday at the age of 87, was known as the King of Christmas Tree Dealers and one of the State's checker champions. He had many acquaintances in Knox County.

Opportunity Class resumed its regular meetings Thursday evening, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Collins being hostesses at Mrs. Young's home, Ingraham Hill. Mrs. Clara Emery, Mrs. Nellie Maguire and Mrs. William Grant were named to submit a list of new officers at the next regular meeting.

Lieut. Cushman and State Patrolman Pray added another feather to their caps Sunday when they recovered a valuable motor car which had been stolen in New Brunswick. The machine was located in Camden after a bit of careful investigating, but the two men who took it there could not be found.

Beach Farm Inn in Jefferson has lately been reorganized under the name of Beach Farm, Inc., with the former owner, George W. Kennedy as president, and Raymond D. Kennedy as treasurer and general manager. Mrs. Kennedy, who has made Beach Farm Inn famous for its cuisine, will still "carry on" and other activities will be in evidence under the reorganization.

Miss Charlotte Oakes fell from one of the Northend wharves Sunday forenoon and had a narrow escape from drowning. Her outcries were heard by Herman Holbrook who brought her safely ashore. She was taken to Knox Hospital, where Dr. North found that she was suffering no ill effects. She returned home yesterday. Miss Oakes is a grand-daughter of Charles R. Staples of Hill street.

A mislaid letter, written by L. E. Wade, came to the editor's attention yesterday and was found to contain numerous Florida newspaper clippings relating to the political situation in that State. The substance of the editorial references and the communications which appeared in the newspapers left no doubt that there will be a very pronounced defection of votes from the Democratic ticket on account of Al Smith's nomination. Mr. Wade is a former Rockland city treasurer, now located in Sarasota, Fla.

Monroe Fair is in session this week. For the harness racing $4500 has been hung up in purses for the bear-cats to scrap for all the way from a 2.30 Grangers race to a free-for-all, three classes each day. An airplane will be there to take up passengers and there will be a parachute drop from the plane each day. The famous Waldoboro Hand will be there, with its nine-year-old boy competitor, there will be a big Midway with all kinds of amusements and a baby show at 11 a. m. Wednesday. Of course there will be all kinds of exhibits, a regular old-fashioned fair.

Rev. Henry Umer, missionary of the American Sunday Union, occupied the pulpit of the Littlefield Memorial Church Sunday, giving what he called object talks both morning and evening. They were very interesting. The evening service was conducted by the young people who go away this fall to different schools for Bible study. Those in charge were: Music, Miss Ruth Conant; Scripture, Miss Arlene Chaples; prayer, Miss Olive Bragg; notices, Edward Jameson. These four young people were presented with cash by Mrs. George Grover in behalf of the church, with a few well chosen words bidding them Godspeed.

Rockland horses have been covering themselves with glory in the Maine race in Skowhegan. There is M. George W. Bachelier's Dagastan, which has won every race entered, and which did the mile in 2:10 1/2 at Lewiston, and his Worthy Silk, a 3-year-old which won a Lewiston race in 2:12 1/2. There is The Sheik, owned by Dr. Ellingwood which won a big race in Skowhegan. There is M. Frank Donohue's Braden D, which was a winner at Windsor in 2:15. There is Fred M. Blackington's Tramp Jolla, also a winner at Windsor, and there is Frank Butler's Alice Bruff, which made a good showing at Lewiston. Most of these horses are performing at Monroe Fair this week.

EDWARD BOK'S PRINCELY GIFT

Distinguished Summer Resident Donates Nurses' Home To Knox County General Hospital.

Announcement at the public meeting last evening that Edward W. Bok purposed building for the Knox County General Hospital a home for nurses was greeted by a storm of applause from the friends of that institution, who saw in the generous proposal the immediate realization of a dream which was generally felt could not be brought to pass for many years to come. Mr. Bok's announcement was contained in a personal letter to the general chairman of the present hospital campaign, and was read to the meeting:

"Dear Mr. Fuller:—Last week I lost a brother, and I thereby lost a wonderful love and devotion. I think this is the time for me to take advantage of your remark, and I hereby take pleasure in notifying you that a check for fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) awaits your call at any time that you want it for the erection of what I would like to have called 'The William Bok Home For Nurses,' if the Board of Trustees is inclined to accept this offer."

Mr. Bok's splendid gift comes at a most timely moment, removing as it does with a stroke of the pen any necessity for a future campaign to cover this hospital need, completing as it will do the institution's plant and still further adding to the efficiency and economical management of the Knox County General Hospital.

$75,000 IN HAND

Hospital Campaign Opens Today To a Splendid Flying Start.

The workers and officials of the Knox County General Hospital campaign gathered at Temple hall last night in the opening meeting of the drive with excellent attendance. The Rockland City Band played several fine selections, proving its public spirit by donating its very important services. Election returns were relayed from the office of The Courier-Gazette.

Rev. J. Charles MacDonald of the First Baptist Church spoke the invocation and the general chairman of the drive, W. O. Fuller, who presided over the meeting briefly told the story of the hospital. H. W. Field, Jr., organizer and chairman outlined the machine of the county and E. R. Veazie, city chairman, named his assistants. Hugh Spaulding of New York, campaign director, presented the plan of campaign and gave out instructions. Luncheon will be held at noon daily beginning today and possibly including Friday if the $100,000 goal is not attained Thursday. The executive committee made the pleasing report of $75,000 already in hand.

Two special features distinguished this meeting: the first one being the Ralph Fowler, Henry Marsh and Jerome Frye have entered Higgins Classical Institute.

The regular meeting of Edwin Laby Relief Corps will be held Thursday evening at G. A. R. hall.

Wendell Thornton went yesterday to Waterville where he is to act as assistant at the Colby College library the coming year.

The Auxiliary of Sons of Union Veterans is to resume its series of auction parties, the first one taking place this evening at Grand Army hall, with Mrs. Mary Reed as hostess.

The regular meetings of Golden Rod Chapter, O. E. S., will be resumed Friday evening, with supper at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Mattie Spaulding chairman. Those not solicited are requested to take seats.

George Adams left Sunday for Dexter where he will teach in the Modern language department of an exclusive private school for boys which has recently been established there.

Masonic School of Instruction at the Temple Wednesday at 1 o'clock. The Eastern Star will furnish supper at 6 o'clock to those in attendance at the afternoon session at 50 cents a plate. There will also be an evening session.

E. C. Moran, Jr., in the closing hours of his campaign for the governorship addressed a Maine audience from the Congress Square radio station in Portland. There were many local listeners, and while they did not all agree with the political angle of his speech they enjoyed the radio feature and were duly proud that a Rockland son could do such a good stunt.

The State of Maine Publicity Bureau closed its branch office in Kittery the first of the month. Marguerite Stevens, the energetic young woman who has been in charge writes thus to The Courier-Gazette: "If you wish to tell the world that we had a big season at this branch office, we won't mind in the least. We found our number of tourists more than doubled since we put up a large overhead canvas banner saying that official Maine information was procurable 500 feet ahead. We hope that the Bath bridge justified Rockland's optimism—that is, that more 'and better' traffic would be diverted to No. 1."

Motorists on the Belfast road Sunday Chandler car had tried to climb a tree on the outskirts of Lincolnville. It developed that the machine was the property of a Mr. Edminster of Bangor and had left the highway when the driver lost control of it on a curve. The driver was the only one of the five occupants injured, and his injuries were not of a serious nature. The accident happened between 1 and 2 p. m. and it was five hours later when a Courier-Gazette reporter saw the car being pulled back to terra firma. Lieut. Cushman and Patrolman Pray looked after the traffic congestion.

Gonia's Wall Paper Sale lasts until Saturday, Sept. 15. 108-110 presence of the honorary chairman of the campaign, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, who drove down from his summer home for the purpose of lending his endorsement to the meeting. When the presiding officer emphasized the fact of Mr. Curtis's friendship for the hospital, stating that it was his initial gift of $50,000 which had insured in advance the success of the present campaign, the audience arose to its feet and gave to Mr. Curtis an ovation the warmth of which our city never has seen surpassed. Mr. Curtis, briefly and wittily responding, expressed his appreciation of the greeting and his approval of and friendship for the Knox County General Hospital, and predicted a full measure of success for the present campaign.

The other striking feature of the meeting appeared in the announcement of Mr. Bok's gift of a home for nurses, details of which are noted elsewhere in this issue.

The object of this week's campaign is to remove the burden of indebtedness, $80,000 in all, now hanging over the hospital. The plan is complete, modern, fire proof, well equipped and staffed by excellent surgeons and physicians and, relieved of the heavy interest charges, the budget will nearly balance which is all that is possible in a public service institution of this sort. The debt itself has been accumulated through a quarter century of service and in completing the equipment of the new sections.

All eyes are on the new Buick sedan which is being driven by Supt. H. P. Blodgett, and of course the license number is 110.

Alfred L. Sullivan died very suddenly in Ely, Nevada Sept. 8. The remains are being sent to this city for burial. The deceased was formerly a resident of Gloucester.

M. E. Wotton, proprietor of the Simonton dry goods store, is having his annual vacation which was so timed as to permit him to attend the Rotarian convention in St. Stephen, N. B.

The annual State Convention of the Universalist denomination, which this year is the Centennial Convention, will hold its meetings in Auburn and Lewiston Sept. 23-28. This promises to be one of the most notable conventions of the denomination, and a large number from the Rockland church are planning to attend. Details may be secured by communicating with Rev. C. A. Knickerbocker.

The Courier-Gazette was able to furnish the Knox County election returns complete (except the remote island towns of Matineus and Isle au Haut) at 9:30 last night, thanks to the promptness of its correspondents and the splendid working force which assisted in the office. The Courier-Gazette is greatly indebted to the Rockland Radio Company, which installed an 8-tube Atwater Kent radio set purposely to assist in getting the State returns. In spite of the static is proved very useful.

Recently John Thompson, chairman of the life saving committee of the Rockland Red Cross, has been giving instructions in swimming to Thomaston and Rockland Girl Scouts. Cynthia Wasagat, Carol Flanagan and Mildred Thomas have successfully passed the tests and are entitled to Girl Scout merit badges. More than a dozen young Scouts have been taking daily swimming lessons and will probably qualify for merit badges next summer. One day recently Supt. E. L. Toner, Mrs. Arthur S. Littlefield and E. S. Levensaler furnished autos to transport the Girl Scouts to the Creighton Farm at Thomaston where they, in conjunction with the Scouts under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Elliot received swimming instructions.

Following the recent resignation of Miss Richardson from the position of superintendent of the Knox County General Hospital, the directors appointed H. P. Blodgett George B. Wood and Dr. W. F. Hart a committee to find a successor to fill the vacancy. After careful consideration of a number of applications for the position, they have given their appointment to Miss Josephine Pardee, who formerly was associated with the hospital as instructor of nurses, but for the past four years has filled a supervisor's position in the Boston City Hospital. She will bring to the local hospital high abilities for management and the directors regard her appointment as a most admirable one. Miss Pardee will take on her new duties here the first week in October.

FLORIDA IN ARMS

A Correspondent Expects To See State Roll Up Big Hoover Vote.

St. Augustine, Fla., Sept. 7. Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Your paper comes to our house, as we were formerly from Maine, and I like very much the straightforward way in which you set forth the political, personal, and business issues of the campaign.

The "Solid Democratic South" is, as far as I can find out, based on tradition, and kept alive on the color question.

I believe the "State's Rights" can take care of its color question the same as California took care of the Japanese question.

It appears that a lot of the natives here are waking up to that or some other expedient.

We know that the Coolidge administration, has been fair, conservative, and that the country has enjoyed unsurpassed prosperity.

We don't like Al Smith personally, we don't like his associates, we don't like his record as a politician. He seems to be the choice of a group, rather than a Democratic majority.

You possibly noticed that Florida's delegates to the Houston convention were bone dry and anti-Smith to a man.

Our St. Augustine Record of which I am sending you a copy felt the disgrace keenly. The St. Augustine Tribune, a small independent sheet, is willing to concede that Hoover will give us continued prosperity and further that prohibition, bad as it is, is better than free rum of high license.

Despite all the Democratic propaganda of what may happen to a man or woman in the South who votes for Hoover, I will be very much disappointed if Florida does not roll up a very substantial vote for the Republican candidate.

C. U. Jeilison.

ROBINSON THE WINNER

Beats Levensaler 1 Up In Annual Cup Contest

The name of Homer E. Robinson is large year to be engraved upon the silver cup known as the Cole trophy, which is the reward to the winner of the annual golf tournament at the Rockland Country Club. The finals of the contest saw Mr. Robinson and E. S. Levensaler so evenly matched that in the first 18 holes played Friday each alternated in leading, the former finishing two strokes ahead. In the final 18 played Saturday Levensaler reversed those figures and for some time held the lead, 3 up, until at the close Robinson in a great spurt came from behind, 84-80 in all, now hanging over the hospital. The plan is complete, modern, fire proof, well equipped and staffed by excellent surgeons and physicians and, relieved of the heavy interest charges, the budget will nearly balance which is all that is possible in a public service institution of this sort. The debt itself has been accumulated through a quarter century of service and in completing the equipment of the new sections.

Elmer W. ("Decker") Larrabee has bought the Fred Haskell fish market at 582 Main street, and plans to conduct it in the most approved style. Mr. Larrabee is an ardent angler himself, and is very familiar with fresh water and salt water fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer E. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Wotton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Duff and Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Foss are attending the Rotary district convention which is being held this week at St. Andrews, N. B.

Eighty Odd Fellows motored to Spruce Head Sunday and enjoyed a picnic on the premises of Freeman Elwell, a brother member. A ball game, barnyard golf, and other sports made the occasion a pleasant one. So also did the lobsters and steamed clams.

Mrs. Mary Harris Amour, America's foremost woman orator and sometimes called the Georgia cyclone, will be in Rockland Sept. 28 and will speak in the First Baptist Church. She comes here directly from the State W.C.T.U. convention. The public is asked to keep the date in mind and everyone is cordially invited to hear her.

A NURSE IN TRAINING

The world grows better, year by year. Because some nurse in her little sphere lifts on her apron and grins and sings. And keeps on doing the same old things.

Taking temperatures, giving pills. To remedy mankind's numberless ills. Feeding the baby, answering bells. Being polite with a heart that rebels.

Longing for home and all the while. Wearing the same old professional smile. Blessing the newborn babe's first breath. Closing the eyes that are closed in death.

Smiling when spirit and heart nearly breaks. "O dear," what a lot of patience it takes. Making out duty at 7 o'clock. Tired, discouraged and ready to drop.

But called back to Special at 7.15. With woe in her heart, but it must not be seen. Morning and evening, noon and night. Doing it over and hoping it's right.

When we lay down our caps and cross the bar. O God will you give us just one little star. To wear in our crowns, with our uniforms new. In that city above, where the head nurse is. You?

MRS. CYRUS PINKHAM

Josephine (Carlisle) wife of Cyrus S. Pinkham, died suddenly at her home, corner of Limerock and Claremont streets, early Tuesday morning. The deceased was born in Boothbay Harbor 49 years ago, daughter of Herman and Addie Carlisle. She attended the public schools of Boothbay Harbor, graduating from the High School when she was very young. She was married Dec. 29, 1900, to Mr. Pinkham, who was then a resident of Boothbay.

They moved to Rockland 19 years ago, and Mrs. Pinkham became endeared to a large circle of friends, few of whom knew the dread shadow that was hanging over her. Mrs. Pinkham was quiet and retiring, and intensely devoted to her family. She is survived by her husband, who is a chief engineer in the merchant marine service; a son, Cyrus, a daughter, Margaret; her mother, Mrs. Addie Carlisle of Boothbay; and three brothers, Fred Carlisle of Springfield, W. H., of Amsterdam, N. Y., and Lewis of Boothbay Harbor. Funeral services at the residence at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Interment at Boothbay Harbor.

Bath Times: Quick action by the driver of an automobile from Rockland at Thompson's corner Thursday morning prevented a serious accident when little Joseph Finklestein, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Finklestein of Elm street, was hit and badly shaken up. The driver noticed the youngster as he ducked into the street and, swerved sharply, one wheel inflicting a slight bruise on the boy's leg. Patrolman George McElman was on the scene and the driver was not detained.

Are you one of the great majority who won't buy the same kind of car again

FAR above fifty per cent of car owners, when asked in a recent investigation if they intended to buy another car of the same make as their present one, said "NO".

They are the dissatisfied. They know that they are not getting all the motoring pleasure that they might have and so they will turn to something different from what they are now driving.

If you are one of these dissatisfied ones, don't buy a new car until you have tried out a 1929 Reo Flying Cloud, the car that does all things well.

ROUND POND

Mrs. Charles Ethridge and daughter Shirley are in Portland for the winter.

Mrs. Florence Calhoun who has been spending August with her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Prentice has returned to Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith and two children have been visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. Fred Thomas of Waterville who has been visiting her stepdaughter Mr. Andrew Lawler, has returned home.

The health conference held Aug. 8 at the Methodist Church under direction of the State nurse Miss Lauchlin McInnes, was attended by more than 60 persons. Sixteen robust children were presented for measurement and weight. Another conference is planned to be held here soon. Surely our village ought to derive much benefit from this good work.

The members of the M. E. Church feel very grateful to Mrs. Lee Badger of Springfield, Mass. for her generous gift to the church of a new set of hymnals. Mrs. Badger was formerly Miss Lena Frank of this place.

Mrs. Mary Munroe was called to North Jay recently to see her son George who has entered the sanatorium at Fairfield for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mears and son of Massachusetts are guests of his mother Mrs. Flora Mears.

Augustus Sprout and friend of Massachusetts have been recent guests of his mother Mrs. Mary Sprout.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Elliott and son of Massachusetts were weekend guests of Mrs. Marion Simmons.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Laughlin and Mr. and Mrs. George Laughlin of New York were in town Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Cox and family have closed their summer home Foxholm, and returned to Salem, Mass.

Regrettably omitted in the report last week of the Rock Schoolhouse entertainment, was a vocal solo by Harvey Brown of Massachusetts and vocal duets by Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain and Mrs. Ethridge. The numbers with guitar accompaniment were greatly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. James Munroe of North Jay were weekend guests of Mrs. Beulah Lorenz.

Major and Mrs. Charles Bundy and family took their departure Sunday.

SOUTH WARREN

Irving Bucklin of North Waldoboro was at L. R. Bucklin's Wednesday.

Maurice Hatch of Arlington, Mass., was a weekend guest of Mrs. Alice Spear. His family accompanied him home Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Bradford and sister Mrs. Clara Linekin have returned to Thomaston after spending the past two months at the former's home here.

O. A. Copeland attended Pomona Grange at Vinalhaven Saturday.

Miss Hattie Fletcher of Somerville, Mass., has been a recent guest of Mrs. C. H. Woodcock.

Miss Zetta Jordan has returned to Brunswick after spending the vacation at her home here.

Mrs. Fred Bucklin and children who have been visiting here and in Thomaston have left for Charleston, S. C. where they will join Mr. Bucklin and return to their home in Port Arthur, Texas.

Mrs. O. A. Copeland returned from Bangor Tuesday accompanied by her daughter Mrs. L. B. Wood, who returned to her home Sunday much improved in health.

All those interested in the cemetery here are asked to meet at the Grange hall next Saturday evening and make arrangements for grading the road.

The members of Good Will Grange will have a baked bean supper at their meeting Thursday evening.

The decision of the National Grange to hold its annual session in November 1929 at Washington, D. C. means a great exodus of Patrons from all parts of the country towards the national capital. Various excursion parties to Washington will be run in connection with the Grange occasion and the latter will be one of the big conventions in the history of this farm fraternity.

WEST ROCKPORT

Miss Bernice Parker spent the weekend and holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Parker, returning to Augusta last Tuesday morning in company with her sister Miss Hazel Parker and Miss Roberta Nunn. Hazel and Roberta returned the same day.

The Mission Circle held a picnic with Mrs. C. E. Rhodes Jr., in Rockport Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heald and family attended the Youngsters reunion at the home of the Young sisters in Pleasantville, Warren, Thursday.

Several from this place attended Simonton Community fair last week.

Raymond Fogler of New York who has been visiting his mother returned home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley Merrifield in company with friends from Rockland motored to Houston recently.

U. E. Leach has been absent from his duties at the postoffice for several days due to illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lamson have returned from a trip to Massachusetts whence they carried their grandson Paul Lamson who has been spending the summer with them.

It is a well known fact that all hens do not lay the same number of eggs. It is equally well known that the ability of a hen as a layer can be more accurately determined after she has passed through a laying year than at the beginning of it. During the summer as the flock is culled the best individuals are retained until late summer or fall. It is from these high producing individuals that a pen of breeders ought to be reserved. Those saved should be vigorous, high layers, good size, representatives of their breed and variety. It is only by using the superior individuals that the egg production of the daughters can be increased.

No breeding programs can yield magic returns in one year, but the whole program is a process of stepping up and if the practice is followed year after year the results will show as it has in many cases a gradual increase in the average egg production of the flock.

There is no better way to produce breeding cockerels than to mate a pen of the best individuals in the flock with pedigreed males. Since the male represents at least 50 per cent of the breeding value of the flock it is especially important that particular attention be given to the laying ability of the parent from which he comes. Select the old hens for breeders during September. Those which are not to be used for breeding purposes should be disposed of as soon as they are through laying.

SOUTH CHINA

Clarence Esancy, Samuel Grindell and daughter Alice were in Waterville last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Hussey and children motored to New Brunswick Thursday where Mrs. Hussey will make a month's visit with relatives.

Mr. Hussey returned here for a few days' stay before leaving for his school in Newton, Mass.

Miss Celia Buzzell has gone to Augusta where she has employment.

The pupils who attend school at the Village were glad to see Howard Simpson back on the job of conveying them. Evelyn Esancy and Patricia Simpson are additions to the number and Miss Alice Grindell is entering Erskine this fall.

Miss Fannie Candage and friend Georgia Blaisdell of New York have been guests of her brother Samuel Grindell.

Charles Grindell who passed the summer with his brother Samuel has returned to Rockland.

Miss Hortense Starkey is at home from Squirrel Island where she has been employed.

Herbert Esancy and family and Hubert Hall and daughters Fern, Gladys and Glennis enjoyed a trip through Albion, Unity, Thorndike and Freedom recently.

Fred Plaisted's family recently visited with relatives at Week's Mills.

John Wood of Unity has installed a Burke super turbine (electric) water system for Herbert Esancy.

Recent visitors at Esancy's include Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Morton, Mr. and Mrs. William Esancy and Mrs. Millie Jones of East Union, Emery Haskell of South China, William Cole and Miss Marion Mitchell of Washington.

The bathing party at Clear View Farm took somewhat the nature of a surprise when Gertrude appeared with fudge and a birthday cake for Hazel to cut. Those present were Misses Leota and Eveleen Denico, Fern, Gladys and Glennis Hall, Freda Berry, Florence Plaisted and Alice Grindell.

Everyone here is glad to learn that Frederick Hussey, who recently bought the Mrs. Everett Hall place on the Pond Road nearly opposite the Friend's Chapel, is going to open a boy's summer camp next season, offering all kinds of athletics, boating and water sports, horseback riding and camping trips. Mr. Hussey is a native of Albion, a graduate of Colby College and received his master's degree from Harvard specializing in education and boy's camp work; has been a director for two years at Camp Wickabago, West Brookfield, Mass., and has been mathematics teacher at Newton High School for nine years. He also had two years of overseas service. He will be assisted in his work by Mrs. Hussey as camp mother, as well as other counselors. While here on his vacation he has added a fireplace to his living-room, made one of his tennis courts and bought two boats, one a large motor boat, besides making many other improvements.

HOLIDAY BEACH

John Carver called on Granville Poole of Camden recently.

Miss Frieda Herrick entertained friends at her home last week, celebrating her eighteenth birthday. Grange hall from 2 to 4 p. m. A State nurse and doctor will be here to give free examination of children. All mothers are cordially invited to bring their children.

Jimmie Coverlock of South Liberty has been working for Minnie Light.

Last Tuesday 21 ladies met at the Grange hall for their September Farm Bureau with Mrs. Charles Miller hostess. Ten sewing screens were made with more to be completed. Five visitors were present and two joined. Oct. 18 the Farm Bureau will meet with Mrs. Veda Johnson, subject, "Preparation of Vegetables."

SAVE FOR BREEDING

Poultry Specialist Offers Advice That Is Well Worth Heeding.

Save the old hens that are still laying or that have just stopped and use the best of them for breeding purposes next winter, says the extension poultry specialist of the College of Agriculture. It is those good layers that return the largest labor income and which will help increase the average production of the flock.

Records show that the number of eggs laid per hen is the most important factor in determining the amount of labor return. Egg production depends upon two factors: First, the quality of the parent stock, and second, the environment and conditions under which the birds are kept. Before the environmental conditions can yield the greatest returns the pullets must have the inherited ability to lay a large number of eggs.

Under our present system of poultry management pullets have come to be used very largely in the replacement of the flocks, the hens after having passed through one laying year being entirely discarded.

It is a well known fact that all hens do not lay the same number of eggs. It is equally well known that the ability of a hen as a layer can be more accurately determined after she has passed through a laying year than at the beginning of it. During the summer as the flock is culled the best individuals are retained until late summer or fall. It is from these high producing individuals that a pen of breeders ought to be reserved. Those saved should be vigorous, high layers, good size, representatives of their breed and variety. It is only by using the superior individuals that the egg production of the daughters can be increased.

No breeding programs can yield magic returns in one year, but the whole program is a process of stepping up and if the practice is followed year after year the results will show as it has in many cases a gradual increase in the average egg production of the flock.

There is no better way to produce breeding cockerels than to mate a pen of the best individuals in the flock with pedigreed males. Since the male represents at least 50 per cent of the breeding value of the flock it is especially important that particular attention be given to the laying ability of the parent from which he comes. P. Smith.

Recent arrivals at Bridgeville include Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis of Utica, N. Y., Mrs. Ethel Dawson and Walker C. Pennock of Philadelphia. Departures were Miss Kathryn Jackson, Miss Corn Duffey, Miss Agnes Arnold, Mrs. Reba Graham of Philadelphia, Mrs. George W. Smith, Miss Lillian Smith, Miss Marjorie Smith, Wakefield, Mass., and Blanch E. Farrand of Haddam, N. J.

Mrs. M. H. Knerr and Mrs. Rudy leave today for Philadelphia, having been guests at Bridgeville the entire season.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leach who have been at the Sholes camp, have returned to Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Carver and daughter Miss Celeste Carver were guests Friday of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Lane at Camp Alyseca, Shore Acres.

Neil Calderwood who went as substitute pianist with the Christine Bingham Company of the Swarthmore Chautauqua the past week, made a successful week and enjoyed the several visits in Maine as far north as Port Kent. The one disappointment proved to be that he found it impossible to reach home before leaving this week to enter University of Maine.

Miss Nina Ames has entered Rockland Commercial College.

Cap. Edward Greenleaf and family are at Boothbay.

Mrs. M. N. Chilles and Mrs. Agnes Grant were in Rockland Monday.

BURKETTVILLE

Next Thursday another Child Health Conference will be held at Grange hall from 2 to 4 p. m. A State nurse and doctor will be here to give free examination of children. All mothers are cordially invited to bring their children.

Charles Grinnell and Robert Esancy were in Bangor Friday.

Jimmie Coverlock of South Liberty has been working for Minnie Light.

HUSBAND DISTRIBUTES BOOKLETS

Wife Tries Compound

Every year the Pinkham Medicine Company distributes about 30,000,000 booklets from house to house.

Mr. Ted Hinzman does this work in Los Angeles, California. His wife writes: "It was in these little booklets that I read about so many women being helped by the medicine."

"I thought I would give it a trial and I can truly say that it has done me good. My neighbors and friends ask me what I am doing to make me look so much better. I tell them that I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

NOW

A LARGER AND FINER

NEW SENIOR

The New Senior Six is a brilliant and impressive example of Dodge Brothers craftsmanship at its finest.

In action as well as in looks it can honestly and conservatively be called Dodge Brothers masterpiece.

The lines, colors, interiors and appointments strike a note that is refreshingly new and original.

Its exceptional power, pick-up and flexibility reveal the splendid resources of the New Senior engine.

Moreover, the car is longer, faster and finer in every respect, with deep, wide luxurious seats, rich interior appointments and complete fine car equipment.

In fact, every visible and invisible detail of New Senior design reflects unstinted credit on the high and progressive standards of Dodge Brothers.

See it—and you will understand why Dodge Brothers regard it as a value without precedent in their history.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

The rooms were prettily decorated with colored streamers, and many flowers. The visiting guests then repaired to the Bossa hall where the evening was spent in dancing. Kirkpatrick's five-piece orchestra furnished the music. About 200 were present.

THE BUSY GRANGERS

Reviewing Some of Their Activities Throughout the Country.

For the second quarter of the year a total of 68 new Granges were organized in the United States, a higher level than for any quarter in several previous years. Thirty-one of these new Granges were in the states of Ohio, Nebraska and Washington, ranging 12, 10 and 9 respectively; while during the same quarter 25 new Juvenile Granges were organized, covering several different states.

****

The Automobile Liability Insurance Company connected with the Grange organization of the country is now licensed to do business in the states of New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine, Delaware, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, with applications for admission to several other states definitely pending. The last year's business of this company exceeded that of the previous 12 months by more than 40 per cent.

****

Erieville Grange at Cazenovia, New York, is the winner of the American flag offered by the New York State Grange to that subordinate unit which should make the largest increase in membership during the past 12 months. Under National Grange law no legal meeting of the organization can ever be held unless the national colors are on display, while one of the features of the opening ceremony of every Grange is a formal salute to the flag.

****

A Grange in Bradford County, Pennsylvania, advertised a flower show recently, with the announcement that the price of admission would be a bouquet of flowers, or a collection of outdoor blooms, either cultivated or wild. A great variety of "admissions" was brought, which skillful hands quickly arranged, and the result was one of the most attractive flower exhibits ever made in that county.

****

The Granges of the United States are to join almost universally in the observance, Dec. 2, of International Golden Rule Sunday, and many of the Granges on their regular meeting nearest to this date will conduct programs of special interest dealing with Near East affairs and needs.

****

A subordinate Grange in Clinton County, New York, has just initiated a class of 85 candidates, one of the largest on record for the current year. It is estimated that 80 per cent of all the 8,000 Granges in the United States have initiated a class of new members during the past 12 months.

****

In Lebanon County, Pennsylvania, the Granges are sponsoring a diphteria prevention campaign and are doing their utmost to educate rural communities on the value of prevention work, co-operating heartily with local physicians and health authorities, and encouraging the assistance of parents and teachers.

****

In Oregon an effort to secure the laying out of a rural mail delivery route through one of the farm districts was balked by the fact that the roads were so poor it seemed inadvisable to attempt the daily delivery of mail. Immediately the live Grange of the community began to function, started a movement for the improvement of the roads, and awakened so much interest that it was speedily brought about to such a point that the postal authorities decided they could safely establish the mail route. Consequently it is a bunch of happy folks in that locality today—for a double reason—and the Grange given the credit for the improvement.

****

Another one of the original pioneers in the Grange movement has been called from earthly activities in the death of Matthew Trimble at Washington, D. C. Mr. Trimble was associated with the early Founders of the Grange, had always retained his interest in this farm organization and at the time of his death was an active member of Potomac Grange No. 1, at Washington, D. C.

****

During the past 30 days in Pennsylvania four new Grange halls have been dedicated, nearly all of them expensive properties, well located, and constituting genuine community centers for rural advancement.

****

The recent series of regional Grange meetings held in the state of Vermont brought together a total audience of nearly 3,000 people, made up largely of local leaders and enthusiastic workers, and the result is a decided impetus to Vermont Grange work.

A DAY WITH MELLIE

Thomaston Musicians Make a Pleasant Call Upon Famous Fiddler.

It was with the greatest of pleasure that a party of motorists started from Thomaston for the pretty town of Norway, one sunny day not long ago, to meet by appointment the genial persons, Mellie Dunham and "Gram."

We all know Mellie's wonderful career; but reading the newspapers and hearing Mellie tell his experiences—well, there is no comparison and we all felt a new joy course through our veins, as he told it to us, with no doubt the same interest he had told it to countless others.

He greeted us all with a cordial handshake and casting all formality aside, invited us into the house, after introductions were made. We could not help noticing the large "fiddle" over the front door, as we entered and, after finding out that "Gram" had gone out with a party of young folks, we invited Mellie to play for us.

Mellie stood up all the time we were there, talking a steady stream while not playing the old hornpipes on his "fiddle" and keeping time by a springing upward and downward motion of his body.

He was interested in nearly everything and nothing pleased him more than to tell of his boxing with the boys in his younger days and hitting them with his right hand and following it up quickly with a blow from that same right hand. He seldom failed to land that second blow.

"Perhaps it would not be a bad idea to say that there were two other musicians in the gathering, Luther A. Clark, composer of music, and dance musician; and his son, Aaron A. Clark. Having their instruments with them, Mellie was pleased to have them play a few of his tunes with him and he and the two young Clark boys seemed to enjoy equal pleasure in the playing of Mellie's own composition, "Rippling Waves Waltz," one of the tunes that helped make Mellie famous, and which the Clark boys had played many times for dances in the last three years, never failing to receive encores, for the crowd knew it was Mellie's waltz.

Then Mr. Dunham allowed Luther A. Clark to copy one of his old waltz compositions, "Happy Hours," as he played it. Mr. Dunham would play a few measures and Mr. Clark would quickly copy it. In this way, it took but a short time to complete the waltz. Then Mr. Clark played it upon the violin and Mr. Dunham said that he couldn't see any difference. So it was pronounced correct.

Though Mr. Dunham does not read music, he thought that this simple matter was wonderful, that any one could write his music as he played it. Mr. Clark does not require the aid of an instrument in writing music for any of the various band or orchestra instruments.

Mellie told us that we could have the right to play his waltz at our dances and, as it was not published or copyrighted, we would be the only orchestra in the United States or the whole world to play it. He also told us that he would be pleased to have it announced at the dances that he was the composer of the said "Happy Hours Waltz." Personally, we like this waltz better than his "Rippling Waves Waltz."

Mellie seemed to like publicity and likened himself to P. T. Barnum, in this respect, giving stories of the great showman to illustrate his position. His great personality had won the hearts of the American people. One could not help noticing his appreciation of his welcome from the popularity in Boston and New York and his tour of the country had made a great impression upon him. Now he is just as pleased to welcome any stranger, making you feel at home at once. He said he would be very ungrateful if it were otherwise.

Mellie showed us his old relics—fossil of an old tooth in excellent condition, picked up by a geologist friend in Alaska—countless eggs, collected in his locality—old skull of a buffalo, picked up on the Western prairies and many other curios.

He pointed to his old violin that had guided him through the shining path of glory and fortune, but had a later violin that was much easier to play upon. His old violin had much the better tone and Mr. Clark senior told it, though only for the honor of playing it, being himself no player.

Mellie told us how he was recognized in the Stock Exchange, holding the world's business for one minute and one half; how he had the right of way in the big cities; even the electric cars stopping to let him pass. Nothing but the first trucks had the right of way before him. Ford had given him the free use of a Ford or Lincoln car in any city or town in the United States.

He said that he had sent him immediately when Mr. Ford received a telegram that Mellie was sick.

No king or queen ever was used better or honored more and we all must have felt the spell of the climate, as Mellie, Aaron and Luther lined up to have their pictures taken. Think of it—three generations of musicians!

Mellie lacking two weeks of being 75 years of age, having accomplished his fame and $11,000, in cash to cheer his old age—even though he is a young boy in spirits and it seems that he will live to be over 100. How old we felt beside him—the elder Mr. Clark being not 50 and the younger Clark in the early twenties. And just think, Mellie accomplished all this after having passed the three score and ten years.

It was a dull, cloudy day and the rain came on as we left him, he happy as a kid, smiling and waving as he bade us good-bye. We can not forget the quaint humor of Mellie and the happy hours spent within the spell of his personality.

One of the Visitors.

A THOMASTON RECITAL

A piano recital given by Miss Elizabeth Creighton at the home of Mrs. Donald George, Thomaston, Saturday afternoon, was a musical treat keenly enjoyed by the appreciative audience who warmly applauded the young pianist after each number.

Miss Creighton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Creighton, is a pupil of Mrs. George, who was for many years a successful teacher at Miss Porter's school, Farmington, Conn.

The living room of Mrs. George's charming home was decorated with a profusion of beautiful flowers, and made an ideal setting for the affair.

The program which was planned to tax the versatility of the performer, but appeared to be quite within her capabilities, was played without notes; the singing tone, crisp phrasing and excellent scale work which characterized her work giving evidence of a combination of talent and hard work which should result in long without words.

The new Buick is the New Style

Gracelut contours instead of straight lines...the gleam and sparkle of brilliant colors and chrome plating instead of drab effects...the most beautiful bodies ever built... Buick's masterpiece bodies by Fisher

At a time when motor car beauty was practically standardized—when imitation was the vogue—when there was a glaring lack of originality in body design—Buick has swept far beyond the commonplace and achieved a style which the entire country is acclaiming as the most distinctive and beautiful ever shown!

Fisher, the world's foremost builder of automobile bodies, has cooperated with Buick, the world's foremost builder of fine cars, to create a new mode—a new fashion—and so luminous is the result and so eagerly is the public welcoming it that Buick's great factories have reached new production levels in an effort to keep pace with an ever increasing demand!

Inside and out, the new Buick bodies by Fisher are the most beautiful ever built. Together with the wonderful new standards of performance introduced by the Silver Anniversary Buick, they are winning the greatest demand and the greatest preference ever enjoyed by any fine car!

The new Buick is the new style! And by that is meant, not merely a new type of beauty—not merely a thrilling turning point in body design—but a great countrywide vogue!

Mrs. Gertrude Havener left Monday for Boston, accompanied by her granddaughters Misses Gertrude and Mary Ethel Havener who have been spending the summer with her.

John Leach who has been clerking in the Brookside store during the summer is now the popular manager which position he is well qualified to fill.

The Tryon Club enjoyed a picnic supper at Small's Beach Monday evening with Miss Helen Small as hostess.

PARK THEATRE

If you want to see a good picture see Richard Barthelmess in "Out of the Ruins." There is also Billy Dooley in "Sea Food," a Paramount Comedy.

Sliding decks—the heaving motion of gigantic waves—a blood-mad skipper and a fear-crazed crew—a battle to the death in a swaying treacherous ladder a hundred feet above the deck... All this—and much more—in that thrilling sea-drama, on view Wednesday. It was said that the time "Sea Food" was released, that Noah Beery would never surpass the genius of his performance in that production—but there will be little disagreement among fans as to his much greater performance when "Hellship Bronson" is seen—adv.

Barbara, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Murray celebrated her sixth birthday Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 at her home on Camden street entertaining 20 of her young friends. The weather being ideal games were enjoyed on the lawn where the group was also photographed, before marching into the dining room where refreshments were served. The table was very attractive, the color scheme being yellow and white. The centerpiece was in the form of a large tulip in which were concealed favors drawn by the children, tops for the boys and Kewpie dolls for the girls. Included in the refreshments was a handsome birthday cake bearing the appropriate number of lighted candles which were extinguished by the young hostess. The places at table were designated by tiny baskets containing candles and the name of each child and ice cream and fancy cookies were served. Miss Barbara also entertained her guests with musical selections on the piano and proved a charming little hostess. She was the recipient of many nice gifts.

SIX HUNDRED ENJOY FIELD DAY

Central Maine Power Co. Divisions Unite In Sports, Clam Bake and Ball—Interesting Talk By W. S. Wyman.

About 600 employees and their families of the Central Maine Power Company, held a joint field day and clam bake at Oakland Park Saturday. Employees from the Eastern, Southern and Central divisions, general office and the New England public service company were present. A feature of the day's frolic was a talk by President Wyman at a short group meeting in the evening.

Citing the rapid growth of the electrical industry in the past 30 years and calling attention to the fact that the industry was practically reared by men now living, he said that still greater opportunities were in store for the younger employees in the business today. President Wyman also touched upon the proposed big development at Bangor, showing what it would mean to Maine and calling upon employees and those interested in Maine to work together to bring industries to Maine to use power made available. Following this development Mr. Wyman saw visions of a still greater development if Maine would continue to grow, and he said he had every reason to believe it would.

Mr. Wyman's talk was part of a short program preceding the dance in the evening when musical numbers and novelties were carried out.

Day's Fun Starts With Ball Game

One of the main features of the sports program was a ball game between the Eastern and Southern divisions arrayed against the general office and Central division. After five innings of as tight ball as is generally seen in the Eastern and Southern divisions finally won out 3-0.

The entire list of events and their winners were as follows: pop bottle drinking contest won by Duncan Bragg, flashlight; balloon blowing contest won by Alden Post, box of chocolates; ball throwing contest for women won by Barbara Elliot, writing case; 2d, Mildred Reddon, box of chocolates; 60 yard dash won by Spofford Giddings, cigarette lighter; 2d, Norman Hayden, pocket book; 25 yard dash for girls won by Barbara Elliot, bobble set; broad jump won by Spofford Giddings, pen knife; 2d, K. A. Hardy, Eversharp pencil; pole setting contest won by Pelkey's crew, silver cup; fat men's race, Fred Munroe, toaster; potato race, Leola Robinson, mesh bag; 2d, Reta Richards, curling iron; women's hen fruit relay won by Eastern Division office girls, Adelle Young, Leola Robinson, Mabel Richards and Lucy Stevenson, compacts to each girl; tug of war, General Office and Central Division, box of cigars; shot put, Harding, pen knife; 2d, Delmont Cooper, cuff links; slipper kicking contest, Mabel Reddon, box of chocolates; three-legged race won by Fogg and Armstrong; flashlight; 2d, Giddings and Morrison, cuff links; canoe tilting won by Hayden and Hutchinson, $5 gold piece; program committee's special, tub race won by Col. Farnum, vacuum jug; 2d race won by Al Smith, cigarette lighter.

"Throwing the Rolling Pin"

Many of the fatter sex tried their skill at throwing a rolling pin at a dummy rigged up to represent one of the holder sex. A box of chocolates was given to every woman who could tip off the derby while a lesser prize went to those who were successful in giving "hubby" a jolt.

60 Yard Dash and Broad Jump

Spofford Giddings showed that he had lost but little of his training in track events when attending the U. of M. for he easily won in the 60-yard dash and broad jump.

Pole Setting Contest

Probably there was no contest among the men which showed the skill and training used in their daily work as did that of the pole setting contest. In this event, safety was of paramount importance and rated high in the decision of the judges. Each division was represented by its own crew and the transmission department by "Bugs" Pelkey's crew. After a careful and extensive consideration of all points involved, the prize of a silver cup was awarded to Pelkey's crew.

Tug of War

Considerable enthusiasm and friendly rivalry was expressed in the tug of war contest when the brawn and muscle of the Southern and Eastern divisions was matched against that of the General Office and Central division team. The first and second pulls resulted in a tie each team winning a pull. Interest became keener than ever as the two teams settled down into the third and deciding pull, with the crowd in an uproar shouting and cheering for their favorites. Scarcely did the handkerchief of the rope move one way or the other so closely was the strength of the two teams matched. However, at the closing, almost imperceptibly, it began to move in the direction of the General Office and Central Division team and when "time's up" was shouted out by the officials, Captain Selger's team was declared the winners by a scant margin of six inches.

Canoe Tilting Contest

Something new in the line of entertainment was provided for in the canoe tilting contest. Like gladiators of old these modern warriors dressed in scanty attire, bathing suits, assembled in pairs in each canoe, one member paddling, the canoe and the other using the lance in the most effective manner on his opponent.

The first contest was between the teams of Fairbanks and Rogers against Burleigh and Janicheen. The apparent "uneasiness" of Burleigh in standing up in the canoe gave the impression that here was an easy victim but at the critical moment when Fairbanks lunged at him, Burleigh let go with a terrible thrust and the unfortunate pair in the other canoe took the dreaded "tip."

The next contest was between Hayden and Hutchinson against Davis and Kaler with the former team being victorious. The deciding contest was then run off between the winning teams in the previous contests and the winners in the final contest declared to be the "aces" of the canoe tilting were Hayden and Hutchinson, winning the prize of $5 in gold.

Clam Bake

The long-looked-forward-to-clam-bake was the next thing on the program and was "announced" by the bugler promptly at 6 o'clock. This was an event which none of the hungry employees were bashful about entering into. With huge bonfires crackling merrily, completely lighting up the whole shore the happy crowd filed past the tables loaded with clams, eggs, doughnuts, crackers, ice cream and fruits and made way with them in record time.

Employs Meeting Grand Finale

The grand finale to a day perfect in every respect was the employe meeting held at the Oakland Park dancing pavilion. The outstanding number of the evening's program was a talk by W. S. Wyman, president of the Central Maine Power Company. After a short program interspersed with musical selections of exceptional merit, the balance of the evening was spent in dancing, the crowd departing at a late hour for their distant homes loud in their praises of the hospitality of the Rockland employes and taking with them pleasant memories of a day not to be forgotten.

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

The viola d'amore which was featured by Mme. Alix Young Marchessault at one of the Camden concerts is an obsolete instrument, a long neglected cousin, it might be said, of the viola and possessing more than an archaeological interest. The timbre is unlike that of any member of the violin family in use today, and therefore difficult to describe. This quality is due to the strange construction of the instrument which, in addition to seven strings manipulated by fingers and bow, boasts as many sympathetic strings inclosed within its body. The 14 pegs required to tune all these lengths of catgut and wire, and the antiquated contour of the viola itself, with its swelling curves and deeply indented sides, lends it a picturesque quality comparable to the viols held in the slender fingers of angels in early Renaissance paintings. The silvery tones seem more related to those of its modern relatives than do harpsichord or piano effects.

The seven strings are tuned in thirds and fourths making it naturally richer than the viola in double stops and harmonies, as well as affording variety of tone color.

Mme. Marchessault is a Scotch musician, now resident in New York, and is a very serious artist, wholly in love with the two instruments which she plays.

It seems almost like a dream that we have heard Sylvia Lent, and I feel we owe Frank Bibb a big debt for making this possible. Miss Lent, despite her youth is acclaimed as the foremost woman virtuoso of the violin before the public today. Any one who might doubt this statement would be utterly convinced upon hearing her play. She has flawless technique which never glazes in its perfection so surrounded it is with artistry and temperamental coloring. She seems almost detached as she plays, as if she and her violin were one, and apart from everyone else. It reminds one of Fritz Kreisler.

As she came shyly out of the wings she appeared like a young girl of about 14 or 15 years. She plays with remarkable ease, and acknowledges the applause with the cutest little bows and sideways glances. Her manner is utterly natural and unassuming. Through Mr. Bibb I had the good fortune to meet Miss Lent, and "behind the scenes" she is just the same, a sweet and lovely girl whose shyness makes it rather difficult to play tribute to her great art.

Also, through Mr. Bibb, I had the pleasure of chatting with Miss Marjorie Rous in whom I was particularly interested as she was one of the soloists at the State Federation of Music Clubs held in Rockland last May. Miss Rous told me that she greatly enjoyed her Rockland audience at the Federation and regretted that she had to rush away without any personal contact with her hearers whatever. She was much interested to hear how much they liked her and expressed the hope that she would play for us again some time.

Mr. Bibb said that Miss Glanville Cesi who sang the operatic numbers at his second concert is very ill in a New York hospital. She has appendicitis, and at the time of the Camden concert was in no condition to sing, but her sense of fairness made her carry on, while after all served to augment the seriousness of the case. Mr. Bibb while expressing admiration for her courage regretted that she sang that night, realizing that almost no one was cognizant of the conditions, and that many went away severely criticizing the girl. Mr. Bibb says that Miss Cesi has a glorious voice and a fascinating personality, and deeply regrets that the local music lovers could not have heard her at her best.

At the Maine Music Festivals one of the rules enforced was that no one was permitted to enter during number or group. A very wise ruling, too, and one that should be observed very generally at concerts. During Miss Rous' first group at the Camden concert several people entered after her first number while she was explaining, or trying to explain the second number of the group. It was very distracting to both the artist and the audience. This thing has happened at all the Camden concerts and invariably does at all we have locally. No matter how quietly one enters, it creates a disturbance, and breaks the thread. It is unfair to the artist and to the audience.

At the Festivals the ruling was always printed on the programs, and was very strictly observed. Food for thought for our next concert.

Fred W. Wright has sent a folder outlining the Washington Co-operative Artist Concert Course consisting of eight evening concerts, beginning Oct. 25 and ending April 12, to be given in the Washington auditorium, 19th and E streets. The artists are: Josef Hofmann, pianist; John Charles Thompson, baritone; Paul Whitman and his orchestra; Philadelphia Chamber String Symphony, assisted by Weldon Carter, pianist; and Charles Trowbridge, Titman, bass; Marie Jettica, prima donna soprano; Elizabeth Bensch, soprano; Sophie Braslau, contralto; and Eileen Zimbalist, violinist; Richard Crooks, tenor, and Emanuel Zetlin, violinist. The popular prices of $10 and $5 have been made for the entire course. The proceeds are to benefit several organizations.

In reviewing the recent concert by Arthur Hackett, tenor, in Portland, it was incorrectly stated that Mr. Hackett sang in Rockland for the Rubenstein Club several years ago. It was his brother, Charles Hackett, who has become even more famous than Arthur. He sang here just before he sailed for Italy where he won his first honors.

A series of concerts is being given for the benefit of the Nordic Memorial. The first was by Maine artists and sponsored by Mrs. Richard H. Stubbs of Augusta, and given at the Broadway Theatre, Farmington. Mrs. Stubbs is planning six similar concerts to be given in various parts of the State, such as Augusta, Portland, Bar Harbor, etc. The soloists for the first concert were Miss Mildred Litchfield, soprano, and Roger Nye, tenor. A subscription concert was also given at the Poland Spring House with the director of music at the hotel, Carlos Pinfield, of the Boston Orchestral Club, in charge.

Musical America's Guide for 1928 is published, containing a mass of information likely to prove useful to everyone interested in music professionally. Its numerous lists of addresses are said to be correct as of June 1st. There are a number of interesting special articles on musical topics besides encyclopedic information about American musical activities of all kinds. Errors in detail appear to be surprisingly few for a publication of this character.

Alfred Hertz, leader of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, returned lately from a survey of musical conditions in London, Paris, Berlin, Munich and Vienna, and is reported as stating upon landing in New York:

"The world's leading country in music today is the United States. The changed conditions which give the United States the lead over Europe in music and musical affairs are the result of better mediums for bringing music to the people.

"The first important factor was the phonograph record. Now we have the radio. Both means have been so widely used that practically every man, woman and child has heard much music. Photographs and radio have made music so popular in Europe, so despite all tradition the people there actually are not in such close touch with music as the people of this country.

"Nowhere in Europe is the general appreciation of music so great that crowds numbering 10,000 persons could be gathered in a hall as they do in San Francisco night after night throughout the season or pack an auditorium like the Hollywood Bowl, holding 20,000 persons, to hear good music. Figures compiled showing the attendance at performances of first-class operas and concerts in this country would be conclusive proof that Europeans should come here to hear music instead of Americans going to Europe."

Incidentally, statistics are said to show that the city of the Golden Gate spends more money on music and has shown more wide-awake attention to the growing popularity and possibilities in music in this country than any other city in the United States, not excluding New York.

The evening of Aug. 31 was a gala night at the Bristol Studio at Harrison, for that was the occasion of burning the mortgage on the building, erected six years ago, in which Prof. Frederick Bristol, veteran music teacher, has conducted his summer classes. There have been troublesome times for the studio, principally in connection with the lawsuits brought a few years ago by the persons back of the institution have gone right ahead with their plans and have come out on top. The celebration of August 31 was attended by a large number of the summer and year-round residents. Previous to the ceremony of burning the mortgage, a concert was given by Mme. Marie Sundell, soprano, and Charles Harrison, tenor, both noted artists of New York.

CHOSEN FOR MAINE
Marjorie Douglas, Samoset Guest, Is "Physical Culture Venus."

Miss Marjorie Jane Douglas of Boston, daughter of John Douglas, shoe manufacturer, was chosen the "Physical Culture Venus of 1928" last week at the "Physical Culture Beauty Contest" held at the Hotel Nassau in Long Beach, Long Island. There were 23 contestants in the affair sponsored by the McFadden publications.

The winner represented Maine in the contest, as she makes her summer home at the Samoset Hotel. She will be given a trip to Hollywood, an opportunity to play in the moving pictures and a monetary award.

Judges of the contest included Mrs. Bernard McFadden, wife of the publisher; Ruth Eastman and Bradshaw Randall, artists, and J. D. Seymour, casting director of F. B. O. moving picture studios.

THE RETURN OF MacMILLAN

Famous Explorer and His Scientists Tell of Interesting Results Obtained By the Labrador Expedition.

The MacMillan expedition returned to Wiscasset Saturday afternoon and the explorers were given the royal reception that always awaits them there. Rev. Henry W. Webb, formerly of Warren presided over the public meeting on the Common.

MacMillan reported that he had been delayed by head winds all the way from Labrador and by fog and head winds in the Straits of Belle Isle off Newfoundland.

He told of the erection of the Rasmussen-MacMillan-Field Museum experimental stations at Anetlak Bay on the coast of Labrador. He explained that the party had never been far from civilization and that they had kept in touch with the world for the 15 months by radio. All who accompanied him, he said, heard the Tunny-Dempsey and Tunny-Heene flights from Station WBZ on a nine-tube set.

MacMillan charted many miles of the coast of northern Labrador, a region that has never been accurately mapped before.

The explorer declared that it has been an unusual winter and summer in the Arctic. He smiled when he recalled the urgent demand for information concerning the Rockford flyer. He was asked, he said, if they had landed on the ice anywhere in his vicinity. There hasn't been enough ice in the Arctic this year to refrigerate a tumblerful of ginger ale, said MacMillan. The Eskimos had never experienced such a warm winter. There was no seal fishing, as a result, and but for the wreck of the Rux Rupert, which grounded on the rocks with a cargo of flour and food, they might have starved.

MacMillan said he plans to return to the Labrador experimental station under the same auspices next July. His immediate plans include a short vacation in Provincetown. He takes to the museum in that town a number of additional exhibits.

The prize story to come out of Commander MacMillan's expedition is the experience of Dr. Earl K. Langford of Chicago, Ill., who pulled 2000 teeth as his contribution to the civilization of the Eskimo and left a nearly toothless village behind him. There is not a full set of molars left in the little Labrador coast village of Nain.

Civilization according to the doctor, has cost the Eskimo his teeth. He learned to drink the white man's liquor and eat the white man's food and the progress proved costly. The extraction by Dr. Langford is only the first instalment of what the Eskimo must ultimately pay. Labrador is a land of decaying dentine.

Although the Eskimos are a meat-eating race, the doctor declared that in examinations of thousands of Eskimos he did not find a single case of high blood pressure. The Eskimos eat meat three times a day. It's wrong, according to the books, says the doctor, but the Eskimos get away with it.

The doctor had a practice for 10 months that carried him more than 2000 miles by dog sled. One of his operations was for providing skin for an arm which an Eskimo had inadvertently shot away. The doctor stripped enough from the Eskimo's back to cover the arm wound.

Tuberculosis, pneumonia and grippe were the only ailments he found up there. In 2000 square miles of territory he could not find a single healthy man, he said, who could be described as a high-brow type. This is the first time that a physician has surveyed the place and made public his findings.

The Eskimos grow old early, he says. A man 50 years old in the Arctic is about the same physically as a man of 75 in civilized countries. The death rate is low, but life beyond 50 is not common. They all have large families.

Charles Sewall, botanist of the expedition, brought back more than 8000 specimens of plant life, many of them hitherto unknown.

Alfred C. Wood, ichthyologist, brought a great number of specimens of marine life, some of them never before seen, for the Field Museum. He permitted Arthur C. Rueckert, color artist of the expedition, to display some of the samples of his work.

Rueckert, working with crayons, had drawn pictures of fish in their natural colors. He caught the fish in nets and with line and hook, put them in bottles and basins and portrayed them in living color. The ichthyologist said the color of a fish changes when he dies, and in his drawings preserves the colors of fish as they appear in their native waters.

Dr. Duncan Strong, anthropologist, brought back a grist of information concerning the primitive Indians of Northern Labrador, which has never been known before.

Shariat K. Roy of India, the geologist and fossil expert of the expedition, brought back a mass of specimens taken from Silliman's fossil mound in Frobisher Bay.

Clifford Hymoe of Los Angeles, radio operator of the Bowdoin reports that the stations he heard most were WGY of Schenectady, WBZ of Springfield and occasionally WMAZ in South Dartmouth. He said he could not pick up the Boston stations. Reception was intermittent.

THE WRECK OF THE OCEAN QUEEN

When at the age of 16 young Amos Groat took a sea voyage with his father, expecting thereby to gain in health and vigor, he had no thought of anything but enjoyment. As events turned out however, he was called upon to take a man's place in the scenes which ensued when a storm drove the steamer on an unknown reef and a mutiny separated crew and passengers into two factions. The lack of food, the treacherous destruction of their water supply, the building of a raft, the sudden explosion of the rebel ammunition and the decisive battle on the little island are all portrayed in a most vivid and realistic manner and the reader involuntarily draws a sigh of relief when at length a ship appears in search of the missing Ocean Queen. ## the CAPITAL

Special to The Courier-Gazette

Augusta, Sept. 5.—Highway bridge building is becoming a more and more important part of the business of the State highway department as Maine road construction progresses. Fifty-eight new bridges were built last year, and this year the number will exceed that.

Of course this does not mean that there were no bridges previously at the points where new construction takes place. There were, but they were mostly wooden or light steel construction and wholly unsuited to the heavy traffic of today. In a sense perhaps, the bridges are more important than the roads themselves, for while a driver can sometimes steer out around bad places in the road, there is no detour over a stream; there must be a bridge. And so it comes about that the State today is building in a year four times as many bridges as it did less than 10 years ago.

Rabies appears to be on the increase in Maine, it is said by Herbert M. Tucker of the State department of agriculture. He states that while no cases had been reported within the State for many years, several have been noted during the past 12 or 14 months.

"This is not to be wondered at, considering the prevalence of the disease in some sections of New England," remarks Mr. Tucker.

The most serious outbreak in this State was in Bangor where one child died and several dogs and cats were found to have the disease.

Mild interest is being shown here in the proposal which is said to have originated in Bath for the re-building of a highway bridge across Merymeeting Bay to replace the ancient structure which went out in a Kennebec river freshet several years ago. Certainly people in this part of the State would appreciate a cut-off of several miles in going to Bath but with the highways that already exist on both sides of the river and with the heavy expense involved in bridge building it seems doubtful if such a project would find favor with the taxpayers.

With the State election impending, interest is reviving in the filling of the four elective State offices which come within the vote of the legislature. These offices are secretary of state, treasurer of state, attorney general and commissioner of agriculture.

It is expected that the attorney general's office will be the only one of the four to be filled by a new man. Choice for the place lies between Clement F. Robinson of Portland and Hugh H. Hastings of Fryeburg, both of whom announced their candidacies two years ago. Mr. Robinson served for a time as deputy attorney general under Attorney General Ramsford Shaw. Mr. Hastings has been county attorney of Oxford County, and both men have been making an active canvass among prospective members of the legislature.

While as yet the members of the legislature have not themselves been chosen, the line-up can be fairly well estimated and Mr. Robinson is generally thought to have the better of the race. An upset may occur however, between now and next January that will change the outlook.

Judge Edgar C. Smith will be a candidate for re-election as secretary of state, having served only one term. State Treasurer William S. Owen of Milo has also had only one term and is expected to ask for a re-election.

Frank P. Washburn, commissioner of agriculture, has already announced his intention to run for re-election, but it is understood that he can have a third term if he desires. An announcement from him may be forthcoming soon after election.

Thirteen of Maine's 16 counties have now been placed in the modified accredited area with regard to freedom from bovine tuberculosis, in accordance with Federal department of agriculture standards. The actual work of testing cattle is done co-operatively by Federal and State departments, and by a campaign of several years' standing, Maine has been brought to a high degree of freedom from the disease, so that it stands alone among the states east of the Mississippi River. The fourteenth county, Cumberland, is expected to qualify when the testing is completed, leaving Aroostook and York still to be tested.

No other New England state can even come close to the county which has been accredited, while the chances are in favor of a clean bill of health for the entire State of Maine, as soon as the State veterinarians can get to the two remaining counties.

One result of Maine's pre-eminence in this respect is the demand for Maine cattle to replace cattle condemned in other states, and this demand is likely to continue for some years in the view of department of agriculture officials.

Maine-made apple pie topped with Maine-made ice cream will be an attractive offering available in the Maine department of agriculture booth at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., Sept. 16-22.

Mrs. Jessie Walker and Mrs. Carroll Clements of Monroe have been enlisted as pie makers for the week. The pies will require about 10 barrels of apples, it is estimated and will be baked and served on the spot. The servings of pie a la mode will be sold at cost and are expected to be in great demand.

Nearly half a million ballots for Monday's election have been shipped from the department of state in anticipation of the polling of a vote which will break all records. Ballots for the single referendum question, "change of the railroad taxation law," have also been shipped to the same amount, 476,000.

The ballots were distributed by counties as follows: Androscoggin, 40,800; Aroostook, 32,750; Cumberland, 67,440; Franklin, 10,320; Hancock, 19,630; Kennebec, 51,000; Knox, 19,560; Lincoln, 16,000; Oxford, 27,600; Penobscot, 53,400; Piscataquis, 15,960; Sagadahoc, 12,240; Somerset, 22,800; Waldo, 15,240; Washington, 26,040; York, 45,600.

RED CROSS NURSES

Public Health Service An Important Feature of Community Life.

The Red Cross public health nursing service is engaged in promoting public health nursing in the country and in small towns; in placing trained public health nurses in these communities, and in supervising their work. This work is carried on by Red Cross Chapters all over the United States in localities where public health nursing is in the early stages of development, and where there is no duplication of existing work. On July 1, 1925, there were 724 public health nursing services wholly or in part supported by Red Cross Chapters.

There is great variety in the character of Red Cross public health nursing services, ranging from the compact highly developed service of New England village to the scattered, extensive, pioneer one in some of the western states. There are town services, country services, services in the mountains, and on the plains, in mining towns, in the lumber country, in the deserts, and on the islands in the sea. There are services in Alaska, the Philippine Islands, the Virgin Islands and the Canal Zone. The nurses are working with all races, in all climates and in localities ranging from the wild and remote to the strictly urban. Some go their rounds on horseback, some on foot. Street cars and railroads, stage coaches, buggies, boats and automobiles, such are the means of transportation which they use, the last named being the most prevalent.

In the New England States and in certain other Eastern states, especially New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania, the service is usually a small town service. Here the nurses can, as a rule, develop a fairly adequate program, including prenatal and infant care, pre-school and school nursing, general visiting nursing and communicable disease control. In the Southern, Middle Western and Western states, the service usually covers an entire county and is necessarily more limited in its program. In the majority of county services, pre-school and school nursing are the chief activities; other branches of public health nursing, though not omitted, are less well developed.

Nowhere is the nurse's work limited to the poor; it is available to all the people of the community. Beside the nurse, the Red Cross public health service stimulates and helps with health educational projects. Lectures in personal and home hygiene and in community sanitation to groups, such as Parent-Teacher Associations and Women's Clubs, are arranged; where authorized classes in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick are taught; exhibits and demonstrations at county fairs, and wherever large groups assemble; health weeks, health surveys, health clubs, clean-up campaigns, parlades, health movies, and the like. 600; Penobscot, 53,400; Piscataquis, 15,960; Sagadahoc, 12,240; Somerset, 22,800; Waldo, 15,240; Washington, 26,040; York, 45,600.

Public health nursing is a highly developed form of health work preparation for which is not included ordinarily in the training school curriculum. It is necessary, therefore, for the nurse who wishes to qualify in this field to take a special course or secure the required preparation through actual experience on a public health nursing staff under the direction of a public health nurse superintendent.

Professional requirements for employment in the Red Cross public health nursing service are eligibility for enrollment in the Red Cross Nursing Service and at least a four months' course in public health nursing or sufficient experience in public health nursing under the daily supervision of a nurse.

A Red Cross public health nurse is appointed by the Chapter under conditions agreed upon by her and the Chapter, though the appointment must have the approval of the National Director of Public Health Nursing or her assistant.

The conditions of employment are matters which are agreed between the Chapters and the nurse. Certain standards representing the general practice throughout the country are recommended to the Chapters by the National Organization.

An eight-hour day with night duty only in emergencies and with Sundays, holidays and one free half-day a week are recommended to the Chapters as standard practice although it is recognized that exceptions may sometimes be necessary.

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of his treatment for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic purges and purges. He did not believe that they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation. It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to the drug store and get one of the generous bottles of Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use for constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath,

FRIEND OF ANIMALS

Herbert Hoover Seen From a New and Interesting Viewpoint.

Herbert Hoover does not have many pets of his own, but he fully understands how much they mean to others. While the Mississippi flood was at its height, and his whole attention was riveted on the task of assisting thousands of refugees a soldier came into his temporary office.

"What are we gonna do with these dogs, Mr. Secretary," he asked.

"What dogs do you mean?" asked Hoover.

"Why, a lot of these refugees have brought dogs with them, and some have cats, too," replied the soldier.

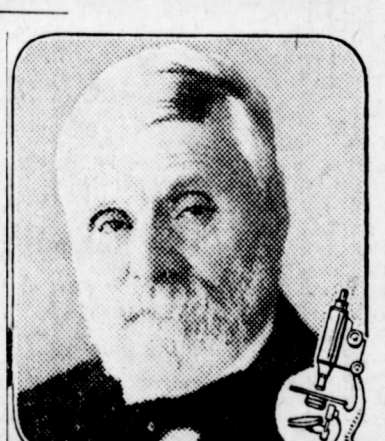

"We'll take care of them, and good care," Hoover announced. "Those people haven't saved much. If any of them have pets—dogs, cats, or elephants—let them keep them and take care of them. Have some of the refugees build corrals with runways for the dogs."

"A few of them have canaries," the soldier began.

"All right," said Uncle Sam's emergency man, and turning to his secretary, "Order some bird seed, and if it is not on the regulation list, charge it to me."

DR. HERMAN'S ASTHMA & HAY FEVER MEDICINE CONQUERS ASTHMA-HAY FEVER

It is (EMPHATICALLY) the medicine that should be in the possession of every person afflicted with Asthma-Hay Fever; it relieves at once, often as if by magic—INSTANTANEOUSLY—the difficulty of breathing and sense of suffocation that constitute the characteristic symptoms of that disease. And by continuing its use daily, between the paroxysms, it removes, by its alternatives influence, that morbid condition upon which the disease depends. All druggists. Full month's treatment $5.00.
