A petition has been sent to the State commissioners of inland fisheries and game, signed by Dr. George A. Phillips and twenty-five others, residents of Bar Harbor, Ellsworth and vicinity, asking that a close time of two years be placed upon fishing in Branch Pond stream.

Mrs. Elmer E. Rowe was called to Boston Friday by the serious illness of her brother, Fred L. Davis, who on Thursday underwent a critical operation for ap-pendicitis. The many Ellsworth friends of Mr. Davis are pleased to know that late reports as to his condition are favorable. Robert S. Leighton, wife and son John,

The Thursday club of the Congregational church and the parish are to give a series of three cooked food sales during August. The first will be next Friday afternoon at the Dorr store on Main street. In connection with the repairs which are going on at the Congregational church, the old-and for many years useless-clock on the front of the gallery is to come in for attention. This clock was a gift to the church of the father of Zachariah Jellison, whose regard for his native town has been shown in a substantial manner. The clock must be not far from seventy-five years old, and is said to have cost about $100. It is to be thoroughly overhauled, repaired and regilded, and on the contennial anniversary on Sept. 12, will doubtless appear resplendent and "on time".

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 11, 1912.

Topic .-- God's beautiful outdoors; what it teaches me.-Ps. lxv, 1-12. (An outdoor meeting if convenient.) Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

It is most profitable to study nature and to think of God. Unless one be an absolute materialist he must go "through nature to God." for everything that God has made speaks of Him and in speaking of Him is instructive to us. It is well to remember that it is God's outdoors. "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." Moreover, all the material creation is in absolute harmony with the will of the Creator. The sun, the moon, the stars, the waves of the sea, obey his will. It is a sad fact that in all creation the only thing out of harmony with God is the being whom He created in His own image, and as we consider this fact we should strive more and more by His grace to become reconciled to Him in all things through Jesus Christ, the one media tor between God and man.

The mountains teach a lesson on the power of God. "By His strength (He) setteth fast the mountains, being girded with power." Nothing in all the universe seems so durable and so changeable as the mountains. The passing of the centuries sees little change in them. God has indeed set them fast and girded them by His power, and surely He who established the mountains and keeps them immovable can sustain His children even amid the trials and temptations of a wicked and sinful world. We are not able to keep ourselves, but He is able and also willing, and we should be willing to trust Him to do so.

The sea teaches a lesson on the power of God to quiet and still the human heart. God is He "who stilleth the noise of the sea, the noise of the waves." "The winds and the waves obey His will," and when He says to them "Peace, be still," quiet reigns upon the deep. Like the sea, the human heart is restless. It is tossed about and worried by the many cares and perplexities of life. But He who speaks peace to the sea can also speak peace to the human heart. The legacy of Christ to His disciples was peace. Peace I leave with you; My peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled." The world says "peace," but cannot give it. Christ gives peace There can be no peace outside of God in Jesus Christ. Augustine has well said of God. "Thou hast made us for Thyself, and the heart is restless till it rests in Thee."

The earth teaches a lesson on the goodness of God. He "visiteth the earth and watereth it • • • and preparest them corn." The fruitfulness of the earth for the welfare of man and beast is one of nature's surest proofs of the goodness of God to all created beings. Ample provision has been made for all mankind and for all God's creatures. If, as is too often the case, all are not provided for the fault lies with man and not with God. The goodness of God in providing for man's temporal wants suggests His goodness in making ample provision for man's spiritual needs. In Jesus Christ our God is able to supply all our spiritual needs.

Ample provision has been made for all of us, and if we lack in spiritual life and in spiritual graces the fault is ever ours and not God's. Nor is the goodness of God incompatible with His justice. "There's a wideness in God's mercy like the wideness of the sea," but if we sin against His mercy only justice remains for us, and no re can be attached to God for the Mutual Benetit Coinmn EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE".

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK. A weaver sat one day at his loom. Among the colors bright. With the pattern for his copying Hung fair and plain in sight: But the weaver's thoughts were wandering Away on a distant track: As he threw the shuttle in his hand.

Wearily forward and back. And then the weaver looked and saw

His work must be undone; For the threads were wrong, and the colors dimmed Where the bitter tears had run. Ahl sad it was for the weaver. And sad for his luckless wife; And sad will it be for us, if we say, At the end of our task in life: We wove a web of doubt and fear, Not faith and hope and love. Secause we looked at our work, and not At our pattern up above." -Selected.

Dear M. B. Friends:

I have "aired" so many of my ideas in the column, that this week I will give you a vacation from them-this being vacation time with so many-but you will find some timely recipes in the following letter which many will like to try this season: Dear M. B.'s:

Although I have not written, I have enjoyed the letters just the same. I hope the relation will be the best ever held, and wish I could be with you. When I read the letters I have uch a desire to know you all personally.

As it is berry time, I will tell you some thing that my mother-Ego-always told me: When baking berry pies, always have a ho oven so the pastry will bake quickly, and bake till the juice just starts in the pie, then the berries taste more fresh. Here is recipe for BLACKBERERY PUDDING - Stew one quart of berries with one scant cup sugar. Cut one small loaf of bread in dice pieces about one inch square, put in a pudding dish or mould, pour the jaice of the herries over the bread, press into the mould closely, let it set three or four hours or more where it is cold, or on ice. Turn it out on a piate and serve with fresh berries all around it. Eat with cream.

Here is an inexpensive pudding:

TAFICCA CARAMEL PUDDING-Four heaping tablespoons pearl tapicca soaked over night, one quart cold water, one cup brown sugar, little salt, vanilla; bake in slow oven three hours: serve with cream.

For shortcake, instead of one large one, roll the dough thin, cut with biscult-cutter, put two together with a lot of butter between, so when cooked they separate easily, and serve as individual shortcakes with whatever berries you choose

When you have tried these I hope you will like them.

To keep baby from chafing, use cocoa butter. It is the best thing I ever used. NAILLIL.

Thanks to you, Naillil, for your letters to the column and to myself, and I greatly appreciate the effort you made to write us all. The baby's picture will attend the reunion, and you will know that day that we are thinking of you and Ego. I always think of her when baking berry pies, and do as she did, for I knew it was her rule to have a quick fire.

The dear old friends of the column who have passed on have some way still retained their places in the circle; perhaps more easily and readily remembered that way, because our M. B. friendships were not the growth of face-to-face comrade ship. I am indebted to B. E. S. for the poem of this week; also for this clipping, which will interest the" school ma'ams" who read our department. I doubt not, many of them could add similar interesting stories.

SUSAN'S TRIP. Dear Aunt Madge: 21 am going to leave Smith's cove to-day, and

I suppose that you and the sisters think I have been here as long as necessary. No doubt you are tired of hearing about this dent spot is thoroughly to my liking. I am in no haste to leave it, but feel that I must move or way along the road to Annapolis; but soon after leaving Bridgetown, which is at the head of navigable Annapolis basin, I believe, where I saw two good-sized schooners lying at piers, there was a sudden change in the scenery; and I could not see anything particularly interesting to me. This is a lumber region, but I saw no forest in the immediate vicinity, for it seems to have been cut off, leaving mills and such business as one generally finds in a lumbering country. This is new ground. Farms are being made. Orchards in many places have been set out. I saw many strips of plowed land that showed that the furrow had been turned for the first time-new land. But I also saw older orchards and evidences of older tillageforms of many years; but in the main the country has a primitive appearance. But I feel sure that it will not long remain in this state; for the whole peninsula of Nova Scotia is on the move in the right direction. Progress is written on its face; and now that tourists have found out what a healthful and charming spot it is, its progress, from now on, is going to be rapid. I believe. Forest fires have been raging here, doing much damage, even burning houses, four or five in a row in one place along the railroad track. I saw fires burning, but I preame that the rain which came soon extinguished SUSAN. them.

My Symphony-To live content with small neans; to seek elegance rather than luxury, and refinement rather than fashion, to be worthy, not respectable and wealthy, not rich: to study hard, think quietly, talk gently, act frankly; to listen to stars and birds, to babes and sages, with open heart: to bear all cheerfully, do all bravely, await occasions, hurry never; in a word, to let the spiritual, unbidden and unconscious, grow up through the common-this is to be my sym--William Henry Channing. phony

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

A farewell reception was given Rev. Samuel H. Jobe and Miss Jobe at the rectory last Tuesday afternoon and even ing, by the ladies of the parish. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers sent by the summer visitors. Dainty refreshments were served, with Mrs. Herbert Parsons and Mrs. Dave Hennen Mcrris, assisted by Mrs. S. B. Dean and Mrs. Wurts, pouring tea. A large number of Mr. Jobe's friends came from Bar Harbor both afternoon and evening.

An undercurrent of sadness was felt during the entire occasion at the thought of losing Mr. Jobe, who has won the love and respect of all his parishioners since being among us.

In the evening Samuel B. Dean made a few remarks. He spoke of the privilege of spending even a part of the year in the beautiful village of Hull's Cove, which was truly a garden of Eden, and among the many blessings enjoyed there by all should be mentioned the little church and its work, which for the past three years had been in charge of a clergyman whose untiring zeal had made itself felt, not only in the village but in the country abouta man unswerving in teaching the truth and who always exercised the patience of

Job. Mr. Dean said that Mr. Jobe had need of no stronger proof of the loyalty of his parishioners than he had found in their co-operation, manifest at all times, and that on the eve of his departure for his native land, all wished him bon royage and a Godspeed when he returned to America to take up his work in a new field, and at all times he was to remember that the latch-string of this garden of Eden was always out. Mr. Dean then said that as a member of the old committee of the Church-of-Our-

Father, he had been requested to present to Mr. Jobe, on behalf of his Hull's Cove parishioners, a purse of gold. Miss Jobe was also thanked for the

The contemplation of God in the outdoor world led the psalmist to praise It should have the same effect upon us. As we behold the beauties of the heavens which He has made and rejoice in the glories of the world about us we should ascribe glory and honor to Him as the Creator and praise for His goodness manifested Him upon every hand about us. To enjoy God's creation and not to praise Him, the Creator, is base ingratitude. Every beauty of outdoor life should fill out hearts with gratitude to Him who has made all things and caused so much that He has made to minister to our welfare and comfort.

Progressives to Support State Ticket. Another disappointment for Maine democrats; they hoped and prayed that the progressives at their convention in Portland last week would nominate a State ticket; they not only did not do so, but they emphatically endorsed the republican ticket, and will support it, thus recognizing that whatever differences among republicans may exist as to the national ticket, a united effort should be made in September to remove from the State the burden of Plaistedism with its broken promises and pseudoeconomy.

Several weeks ago a town in Knox county pointed with just pride to the fact that one of its esteemed citizens had served on the board of selectmen for seventeen consecutive years. Hancock county can outdistance that. Horace Watts has served on the board of selectmen for the town of Amherst thirty-one years in all, and consecutively for the last twenty-four years as chairman.

Here comes a bona fide sea-serpent story. Our Mouth of the River correspondent writes: "Capt. H. C. Ray, of the sloop Seabright, witnessed a peculiar sight while on his last fishing trip. About five miles south of Outer Long island, a sea serpent came about one hundred yards from the boat. Capt. Ray estimated its length at fifty to seventy-five feet. Its head resembled a horse's head, only thinner. It resembled one seen in Boston bay some time ago. It was headed due north.'

INJURY TO THE SPRUCE.

Outbreak of Spruce Bud-Worm This State Causing Alarm.

An outbreak of the spruce bud-worm in Canada, New Brunswick and Maine is causing widespread attention.

By direction of Secretary Wilson, the government department of agriculture, through the branch of forest insects of the bureau of entomology, is giving the matter special attention. The data already at hand show that about thirty years ago there was a similar outbreak of this insect which continued its depredations for three or four years and then almost completely disappeared. It was not until the spring of 1909 that it again began to attract attention, first in Pennsylvania and later election in September, and declared its in Canada. In 1910 it was much worse in the centres of the infestation, and in 1911 it had spread to the coast of Maine, where its work is now attracting general attenonvention, and on the committees and tion.

the list of delegates and alternates chosen. The insect passes the winter on the trees In the organization of the convention, as very small caterpillars which, as soon Frank C. Tibbetts, of Stonington, was one as new growth starts in the spring, begin of the vice-presidents; Phillips Eaton, of to feed on the leaves of the terminal twigs, Sullivan, a member of the committee on thus causing the brown appearance of the credentials, and Charles L. Morang, of trees. The insect stops feeding by the middle of June and transforms to the chrysalis stage in thin webs among the dead and living needles.

By the first of July the adults begin to come out from the chrysalis stage and appear on the wing as small grayish moths as "millers", often appearing in vast numbers on the trees and flying to light. They continue to fly and to deposit their eggs in small greenish masses on the needles until about the middle of July, when the moths die and disappear. The eggs soon hatch and the young caterpillars remain on the trees until the next spring, when the life process is repeated. The information acquired regarding the easonal history and habits of this insect indicates that there is no occasion for alarm as to its continued presence, or any extensive loss of the spruce and fir as the result of its work. The insect has many natural enemies which multiply and in a few years reduce its numbers to a point where the limited amount of damage attracts no attention.

There are no practical methods of protecting forest trees, but in the case of limited number of small trees around a residence or in parks, the foliage could be protected by spraying with some point ous insecticide, such as one of the arsenicals, about the time of the opening of the buds and the appearance of new growth in the spring.

The principal development of this mass neeting or convention was, continues the Press, the loyalty evinced toward the republican party. The convention warmly and enthusiastically endorsed the State republican ticket. It voted down all efforts to bring dissension over national ssues into the September campaign. In so doing it tremendously strengthens the position of republicans in September in their effort to overthrow the pernicious administration of State affairs. It demonstrated that the progressive republicans were seeking simply to secure what they believe to be their just and righteous principles in national life, without confusion of the same with other is

The analysis does not show the water in a good condition as usual, owing to the entrance of a considerable amount of surface wash at this time. This has given the water a higher vegetable content than is usual at this season, and has also made it a little turbid. This latter condition is due to a little suspended clay. There is no evidence of the entrance of any sewage wastes into the water, and so it is an entirely safe one to use for drinking. It is probable that by the present time the condition, due to the en-trance of surface wash, has vanished. In its present condition the water is an entirely safe one to use for all domestic purposes. 5 40 20 00 1 25 In explanation of the turbidity noted by Dr. Evans, it should be stated that the water was taken immediately following a $1,928 84 heavy rain.

"Pop" Concert at Bluehill.

A concert which ought to attract more than merely local interest is scheduled to 940 59 come off at the town hall in Bluehill tomorrow evening. $7 50

It is called a "pop concert", and will un questionably prove popular, as a program of unusual merit will be offered.

Everyone who has heard the young artists who are to appear will want to hear them again, and as for Parker Point specialties, it is safe to say there's nothing like them on-or off-the stage.

Mrs. Mayo has appeared in so many roles, and in all of them so well, that nobody is surprised when she shows up in a new one. Her "waxworks" will surely be a feature; and she and Postmaster Hinckley as "Buttons" will make a team which will "go some".

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES. City Clerk Hale submitted to the board a writ served upon the city in an action brought by Mrs. Ida L. Moore, of Ells-worth, for injuries received by a fall on an loy sidewalk at Water and Maple streets on Feb. 17 last. Mrs. Moore's collar-bone was broken, and she received other in-juries. She asks for $2,000 damages. Notice for trial at the October term accom-panied the writ panied the writ. Ice on the sidewalk caused by neglect of the city to keep the ditches clear for the run of water, is the defect alleged in the writ

The mayor was instructed by a vote of the board to employ John A. Peters as counsel for the city. FAVOR OPENING SCHOOL NO. 7.

A petition from residents of ward 4 ask-ing that school No. 7, closed last year by operation of the State law, the attend-ance having fallen below eight, was pre-sented. Also a counter protest from H. F. Maddocks, alleging that not more than three pupils would attend the school if opened.

three pupils would attend the school if opened. The school was closed last year, and the pupils were transported to No. 8, Mr. Maddocks having the contract at $7 a week. The petilioners for opening the school claim that the expense of running the school would be but slightly in excess of the cost of transporting pupils; also that the transportation of pupils in cold or muddy weather was a hardship the children should not be obliged to suffer. It is necessary, before the school can be reopened by vote of the aldermen, to have the written recommendation of the school board to that effect. The aldermen, how-ver, as an expression of opinion of the board, voted to recommend to the school board that schol No. 7 be reopened.

Flying Men Fall victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles just like other people, with like results in loss of appetite, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feel-ing. But there's no need to feel like that as T. D. Peebles, Henry, Tenn., proved. "Six bottles of Electric Bitters," he writes, "did more to give me new strength and good appetite than all other stomach remedies I used." So they help everybody. There are now but a few more days in | will positively be the last bonus offers, which the candidates engaged in THE and they will hold good until the close of AMERICAN'S popular voting contest have to work for the several prizes offered. The voting comes to an end on Monday, Aug. 19, at 3 o'clock, and immediately thereafter the counting will be commenced to see who shall be declared the winner of the splendid Obermeyer piano and the other beautiful and useful articles offered to those who are making an endeavor to land the premiums. It is not believed by those who have given the matter careful thought that any particular person has the grand prize cinched at the present time, but anyone in the race has a good chance to land it if only she will hustle. If you have not yet seen the fine piano offered in this contest, go to Smith & Hagerthy's display window and take a look; take a pianist with you, and try it. Many have examined the instrument as to its quality and appearance, and there is yet the first one to say that it is not a fine one. It is of a plain, rich manogany, and a prettier piano was never unloaded at Ellsworth. Musicians of this vicinity have tested it as to its quality of tone and volume, and every one of them says it is finer than silk.

No contestant is sure of becoming the ultimate owner of the first prize. If any one of those who is way down the list should take it into her head that she was going to win the big premium, she could do so. She would have to do some work to make it, but that was what was expected when the contest opened. Several bunches of seven new subscribers or renewals in the groups of seven or five, or even two, would put the lowest candidate in the race up among the leaders, if not at T the head.

For those who wish to vote without any competitor seeing them, THE AMERI-Bangor, Maine. I can desires to state that cash with your subscription, telling where the paper is to be sent and to whom the votes shall be given, can be placed in an envelope and deposited. The judges will open these envelopes as soon as they start to count, and will credit all votes, including bonus votes. In order to secure bonus votes on merchants' coupons they must be counted at THE AMERICAN office before being voted.

Miss Annie E. Gray was in the lead at the last count. Several others are well to the front, and are putting forth every effort on the home stretch to win the coveted prize. Either can land the prize if she will take the time to get out and solicit new subscriptions and renewals. Every Bunch of seven new subscribers

the contest: For every seven new subscribers we will give 8,000 extra votes, making a total of 12,000.

For every seven renewal subscriptions we will give 6,000 extra votes, making a total of 9,500. For every seven back subscriptions we will give 4,000 extra votes, making a total of 6,800.

For every 40 merchant coupons brought to this office and counted by the publisher or his assistants, a bonus of 1,500, making a total of 2,500 in all.

For every three 5-year subscriptions, either new or renewal, a bonus of 25,-000 votes will be given, making a total of 40,000,

For every two 20-year subscriptions, either new or renewal, 75,000 extra votes, making a total of 135,000 votes.

The merchant coupons may be collected from any and all merchants who are giving coupons, and must be brough to THE AMERICAN office in bunches of 40 tickets and counted before the bonus coupon is issued.

Do not forget the prizes the merchants are giving. If not fortunate enough to secure the piano, you may receive one of the merchants' prizes, and they are all well worth working for.

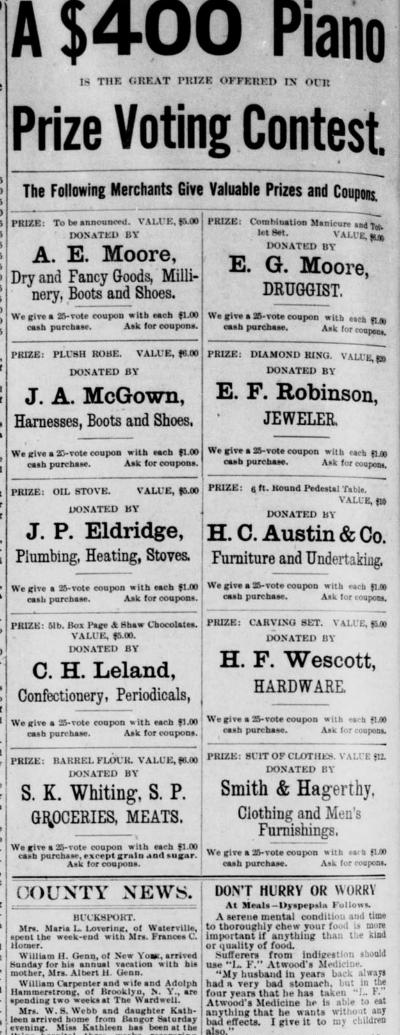

Remember that ten of our leading merchants are interested in this contest, and give twenty-five vote coupons with every dollars's cash purchase.

Remember to have your friends trade with merchants giving coupons. Their advertisements appear in this issue in onnection with our offer.

The names of the merchants who are giving handsome prizes and helping to make this contest a big success are as follows: A E Moore, J A McGown, J P Eldridge, CH Leland, S K Whiting, S P, E G Moore, E F Robinson, H C Austin &

Co, H F Wescott, Smith & Hagerthy. Merchants need not be afraid of buying an over-supply of coupons, as we will redeem at the close of the contest all which are left over, at the price paid for them. On Monday, Aug. 19, the voting will cease and the final count will be made that evening. This is but a short time ahead, and it is worth the while of the candidates to get out among the people and work like Trojans from now until the ballot box is closed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the day mentioned. No ballots will be received after 3 o'clock under any circumstances, no matter who may have means 12,000 votes and seven renewals will them or what excuse is offered for not Bucksport's first automobile accident
