Kidneys Need Care

The kidneys should receive careful and constant attention. They are working constantly and demand it. Night and day they are filtering the blood, preventing an accumulation of poisonous waste matter. Assist the kidneys in their work, strengthen them and enable them to perform their duty without weakening. Failure to do this will result in deposits of poisonous waste material, the circulation becomes clogged and the system is slowly poisoned.

Nyal's

strengthens the kidneys, cleanses the blood of all impurities, opens up the circulation and prevents the disease from becoming chronic.

We personally recommend this preparation. Fifty cents and one dollar the bottle. Whatever a good drug store ought to have—and many things that other drug stores don't keep—you'll find here. Come to us first and you'll get what you want.

Mrs. Mary Emery, of Salisbury Cove, has arrived to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Leland.

The ladies' social circle of the Baptist church will have a supper and apron sale at the vestry next Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Zelma M. Wilson and Mrs. Alice J. Murch, who are employed in Bar Harbor, spent Sunday and Monday in Ellsworth.

Rev. R. B. Mathews left to-day for Lewiston, where he will deliver an address this evening at the Y. M. C. A. of that city.

Henry B. Stockbridge, who has spent the summer here with his parents, S. P. Stockbridge and wife, left to-day for his home in Glendale, Cal.

James L. Cook and wife have left to spend the winter in Brunswick and Norway. Mr. Cook will visit Boston and vicinity during the winter.

D. D. G. M. Mrs. Elizabeth F. Libby, of Bangor, will inspect Irene chapter, O. E. S. at the regular meeting Friday evening. A full attendance is desired. Supper will be served at 6:30.

L. E. Treadwell left last Friday for a few days' hunting in the White mountains. He will visit in Boston before his return. He expects to be away from ten days to two weeks.

Dr. C. H. Gibbs, of Livermore Falls, has sold his business there, and has moved to Ellsworth, and will practice here. His office is over Moore's drug-store; residence 10 Central street.

W. T. Thomas and wife, of Portland, were guests of Clifton Woodward at Camp Porcupine, Green lake, a few days last week. Mr. Thomas did not have his usual success duck hunting.

Schooner Melissa Trask cleared Monday for Newark, N. J., with staves for C. J. Trewordy. Mr. Trewordy has also loaded the schooner Kate L. Pray at Steuben. She sailed Tuesday for Portland.

The November committee of the Congregational church, of which Mrs. George A. Parcher is chairman, will hold a cooked food and candy sale in the Dorr building on Main street next Saturday afternoon.

One of the pair of team horses owned by the Standard Oil Co., and driven by Clifton Woodward, its agent here, died Friday night in its stall. Mr. Woodward had driven the horse on the oil wagon twelve years. The company has shipped another pair for use here.

The young men's committee of the Congregational church is arranging for an entertainment at Hancock hall Tuesday evening, Dec. 3. The program will include readings by Miss Agnes O. Hersey, a graduate of the Emerson school of oratory, and singing by Miss Bertha Giles.

Mrs. John Hardwick (born Georgia Foster), of Montreal, was operated upon yesterday for appendicitis. Her many friends here will be pleased to learn that the operation was successful, and that the patient is comfortable. Mr. and Mrs. Hardwick were married about two months ago.

George Gaul, jr., of Lamoine, appeared before the Ellsworth municipal court last Friday to answer to the charge of drunk and disorderly, on the case continued from Oct. 22. He retracted his previous plea of not guilty, and pleaded guilty. A fine of $10 and costs was imposed, but execution of sentence was suspended.

The first meeting of the literature club was held Monday evening with Mrs. F. W. Rollins. Miss Annie Stockbridge read an interesting and instructive paper on California, where she recently spent nearly a year the guest of her brother, Henry B., returning about a year ago. The next meeting will be on Nov. 25 with Miss Carrie Harrington.

O. W. Tapley has moved from the First national bank building to his new offices over H. P. Wescott's store, in the building recently purchased by him from the Union Trust Co. A new front has been put in the second floor, occupied by Mr. Tapley, and other improvements made, giving him a light and convenient set of offices. A new heating system has been installed in the building.

Frances L., widow of Henry A. Jordan, formerly of Ellsworth, died Thursday at her home in Bangor, aged sixty-one years. She survived her husband only four weeks. She leaves two daughters—Mrs. James S. Cooper and Miss Bernice Jordan and one sister—Mrs. W. Fred Emerson, all of Bangor. The funeral was held at the home in Bangor Saturday. The remains were brought to Ellsworth for interment.

Friends and relatives in Ellsworth were grieved to hear of the death of Mrs. Michael Gaynor at her home in Attleboro, Mass., on Monday. Mrs. Gaynor, who was formerly of Bangor, lived in Ellsworth for a few years after her marriage. She leaves, besides her husband, four children—Sylvia, Alice, Margaret and Edward, of Attleboro; also her mother, Mrs. Bridget McCarthy, and three sisters—Mrs. Fred G. Moon, Mrs. N. E. Finnegan and Mrs. Rose Patterson, all of Bangor.

An improvement just made at the city clerk's office in Hancock hall is the enlargement of the vault by cutting through into the vault in the municipal court-room, which has long been unused. This almost doubles the capacity of the vault for the safe-keeping of valuable city records. It is now suggested further to safeguard the papers in the steel filing cabinet in the clerk's office by moving the cabinet into the vault, if it can be done. The wooden shelving in the vault should be replaced by steel shelving.

The democrats of Ellsworth will celebrate the election of Wilson and Marshall next Monday evening. There will be a street celebration, to include bonfires, fireworks and music by the band. The illumination of dwellings will be left to individual action, but many loyal democrats plan to illuminate. After the street celebration, there will be speaking at Hancock hall. Hon. Michael T. O'Brien, of Portland, will be the speaker. A free dance will follow.

Two new cases of scarlet fever were reported to the board of health yesterday, the first in over two weeks. One is in the home of Carl Richmond, already under quarantine for another case, and the other in the family of Michael Shea. Health-Officer Woodruff believes the latter case is traceable to Bangor. The stringent measures taken by the health board have been effective. All the schools, with the exception of the State street school, are now open. The Shea boy who is ill has not been attending school since it was closed over three weeks ago.

Daniel T. Card died last Wednesday afternoon at his home on Washington street, after an illness of several months. Mr. Card was a native of Ellsworth, and was in the fifty-eighth year of his age. He was a house-painter and paper-hanger by trade, and had worked at it principally in Ellsworth for nearly forty years. He leaves a widow and three children—Charles E., Robert and Harry. Of his own family, one brother and three sisters survive—Edward R. Card and Mrs. Abbie Cushman, of Ellsworth; Mrs. Ella Pomeroy and Miss Celia Card, of Gardiner. The funeral was held at the home Friday afternoon, Rev. P. A. A. Killam officiating. Interment was at Woodbine cemetery.

The fire department was called out early last Thursday evening for a slight fire in the small building on Water street occupied by Peter Starkey as a harness shop. The fire started in an old mattress in the attic. There was considerably more smoke than flame, and the principal damage was from water. The loss is covered by insurance. While the fire itself was small, it came near having serious consequences. Chief-Engineer Goodwin was trying for the first time a patent smoke protector. He entered the suffocating smoke with a fire extinguisher. Because of difficulty in getting the extinguisher working, he remained longer than was safe. When he did not appear, the firemen who had accompanied him to the head of the stairway became alarmed. Fireman Hollis E. Davis, without any smoke protector, went into the rooms in search of the chief, and found him unconscious on the floor. Mr. Davis started toward the stairway with him, but found himself going from suffocation. He had strength enough left to call for help, and three or four more firemen rushed in and dragged them both out. Chief Goodwin was unconscious, but soon revived.

"Mrs. Briggs of the Poultry Yard." Following is the cast of characters in the play to be given next Friday evening at Hancock hall by the seniors of the Ellsworth high school:
Mrs. Briggs, a woman of business, Florence Estey
Ralph, her family... Edmund Brady
Jimmy, her family... Edmund Chapman
Alvin, her family... Estelle Finn
Melissa, her family... Alice Clough
Silas Green, a near relation... Wesley Moore
Mr. Lee, a wealthy neighbor... Eben Whitcomb
Virginia Lee, his daughter... Winifred Doyle
Daisy Thornton, her friend... Marcia Bellamy
Mrs. O'Connor, with no liking for goats, Annie Trewordy
Mandy Bates, whose tongue will stumble, Geneva Stinson

Dr. C. H. Gibbs announces that he is prepared to practice medicine in Ellsworth and vicinity. Office over Moore's drug store; residence, 10 Central street.—Advt.

Absolute security, absolute permanency, conservative management and painstaking service—these four form the foundation upon which this bank has been erected. These four we guarantee to you in connection with any and all business which you may place in our hands.

Your account is respectfully solicited. We are empowered by law to act as trustees of the estates of persons deceased. The reasons why its services are more desirable than those of individuals are many. Our experience is more extended, and our investment opportunities are better. Our relations with clients are confidential always. Trust funds and securities in its charge are kept absolutely apart from its commercial banking assets. An additional guarantee of perfect security lies in the fact that the transactions of this bank are under the constant supervision of the State banking department.

Your business will be welcomed whether it be small, or large and every possible accommodation will be accorded to you that is consistent with sound banking.

Suicide in Ellsworth.

Edwin Ashworth committed suicide last evening at his home in the Hoyt Stevens house on High street. Mr. Ashworth had been despondent for some time, and a few weeks ago made an unsuccessful attempt on his life.

Early last evening, in the absence of the other members of the family, he placed a gun loaded with bird shot against his breast and pressed the trigger. Death must have been instantaneous.

One of the boys, returning home shortly after 8 o'clock, could not gain admission to the house, and at once suspected the cause. Night Officer Mitchell was summoned, and upon entering the house found the body lying on the floor in the front room. Coroner L. W. Jordan, who was summoned, deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Deceased was forty-four years of age, a native of Lancashire, Eng., and with several brothers came to this country when a young man. For a few years he was engaged with his brothers in the paving-cutting business in Bluehill. He was an expert quarryman, and well known in the quarry towns of Hancock county. He had recently been working in the Sullivan quarries.

He had made his home in Ellsworth for about two years, though he spent but little of his time here. He leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter.

Special Music at Cong'l Church.

The music committee of the Congregational church of this city has been fortunate enough to be able to make arrangements which will give lovers of church music an unusual opportunity.

Albert E. Hopkins, who played the organ so acceptably for some weeks, after its installation in September, has again been engaged to play, beginning next Sunday. The regular service will be preceded by an organ recital of from fifteen to twenty minutes' duration, beginning at 10:30. Arrangements have also been made whereby the work of the regular choir—Mr. Tapley, tenor, Miss Hopkins, soprano, Mrs. Cunningham, alto, and Mr. Cunningham, bass—will be supplemented by a soprano solo each Sunday by Miss Bertha Giles, to be sung, probably, during the offertory.

The musical portion of the service will thus, it is hoped, prove unusually interesting, and taken together with the sermons of the pastor, Rev. R. B. Mathews, which are always short, sharp and sane, the Sunday morning service at this church ought to be especially attractive as well as spiritually uplifting.

Castine Schooner in Collision.

The schooner Mary Augusta, built at Ellsworth in 1867, now hailing from Castine, was in collision with the steamer Boston, of the Eastern Steamship Co., in Long Island sound, near Huntington, last Sunday night.

The schooner's head-gear was carried away, and the Boston sustained damage to her starboard side.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 17, 1912.

Topic.—Mistakes often made.—Prov. xiv, 1-24. (An honorary members' meeting.) Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D. No man has ever lived who has not made mistakes.

It is a serious mistake to make light of sin. "Fools," says the wise man, "make a mock at sin." No matter how learned we may be or how wise in many things, we are but fools if we make light of sin and mock at its character and its consequences.

Procrastination is a serious mistake. To put off anything of importance is an error. We should never "put off until tomorrow what can be done today." This is especially true when it comes to the salvation of the human soul.

It is a mistake to think that we can sow wild oats and reap good grain. We see the failures in other men's lives. We see that they do wrong and suffer the consequences. We see that they reap just what they sow.

BIBLE READINGS.

Prov. 1, 10-19; III, 1-5; iv, 20-27; xii, 15; Isa. III, 4-6; Eccl. xii, 1; Dan. I, 8-15; Matt. vi, 24; xii, 35-37; I Tim. vi, 17-19; Heb. II, 1-3.

The Pastor's Responsibility.

It is a marvel how some societies exist at all, when year after year they are seldom visited by their pastor, when no word of encouragement is spoken, and when a liberal amount of scolding is expected for every dereliction and failure to live up to the highest ideals of Christian Endeavor.

Nuggets.

Christian Endeavor is another spelling for evangelism.—India Christian Endeavor.

You can't get church endeavor apart from individual endeavor. Church loyalty is an individual term.—John R. Clements.

Bringing Out the Best.

"I wish it could be impressed upon the young people that it is worth while for them to link themselves up with something big enough to bring out of them the best that is in them."—Rev. Cleland B. McAfee, D. D.

Mutual Benefit Column

EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE"

Its Motto: "Helpful and Hopeful"

The purposes of this column are succinctly stated in the title and motto. It is for the mutual benefit, and also to be helpful and hopeful.

LETTERS.

There is so little that one can do: But add your little to mine—that's twofold! And when another adds his to ours, Slowly increaseth the combined powers.

Dear M. E. Friends:

Some way, the poem makes me think of the one "by the side of the road", that I am sure at least a few of you will recollect.

Dear Aunt Madge and Sisters of M. E.: I think all housekeepers are deeply concerned over the high cost of living, or, as Beth most properly puts it, the cost of high living.

As I recall the menu of fifty years ago (I don't mind your guessing my age) there were many things that the younger generation of to-day demand on the bill of fare that were never missed by the children of long ago.

When one has plenty of home-grown vegetables, a large part of the high-cost market foods can be dispensed with, making occasionally a four-pound roast or some many meals as Beth so cleverly contrived.

My little chat hasn't contributed much to the subject under discussion, but I don't want to be left out in the cold when the circle airs its views. Yours for economy, JANET.

Your memories of the olden ways of cookery are mine, and those of most of the older readers of the column.

Dear Aunt Madge:

We have had so many fine letters since the reunion that I hardly dare write for fear I shall break the spell. Will follow Beth's train of thought and perhaps can keep the endless chain in motion.

The housemother bought a marrow bone with meat on it, and costing forty cents. The butcher said, "you will get a good dinner out of that." And this was what she got for a family of five. Though none are out-door workers:

Part of the meat was removed from the bone and chopped for hamburger. And right here let me say that the meat goes farther, tastes better and fries better, if bread crumbs soaked in a beaten egg are added.

The bone, still retaining considerable meat, was first cooked for soup stock, and the next day vegetable soup was prepared, enough for two dinners served with the meat.

Two of the meat balls were left. These were broken up and warmed up with some of the soup stock and placed between two layers of well-seasoned mashed potato, in a pudding dish, and baked half an hour or more.

Yes, Beth, there was fat from the soup stock to be clarified and used in shortening. And Aunt Madge, the cat had something beside the bones. Considerable is said about using cheap cuts, but who can do better than that?

None of said family are large meat-eaters, as you may guess, but all have good appetites and could enjoy the foregoing dishes. Am so glad our family is not too dainty to eat leftovers. I, for one, think they are often the best dishes.

Sick Women

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured many cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are five letters from southern women which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LETTER FROM VIRGINIA.

Elliston, Va.—"I feel it my duty to express my thanks to you and your great medicine. I was a sufferer from female troubles and had been confined in bed over one third of my time for ten months."

LETTER FROM LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, La.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was troubled with hot flashes, weak and dizzy feelings, backache and irregularities."

LETTER FROM FLORIDA.

Wauchula, Fla.—"Some time ago I wrote to you giving you my symptoms, headache, backache, bearing-down, and discomfort in walking, caused by female troubles. I got two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of Sanative Wash and that was all I used to make me a well woman."

LETTER FROM WEST VIRGINIA.

Martinsburg, W. Va.—"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for my mother, daughter and myself."

ANOTHER LETTER FROM VIRGINIA.

Newport News, Va.—"About five years ago I was troubled with such pains and bloating every month that I would have to go to bed. A friend told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I soon found relief. The medicine strengthened me in every way and my doctor approved of my taking it."

Why don't you try this reliable remedy?

any with lemon. did not know the difference. That is like a woman I once knew who said she was sorry she learned to like cheese, for she could not have all she wanted.

P. S.—Can any of our readers tell me if grapes can be successfully raised in our coast town? I know they grow nicely in the central part of Maine. If they can be grown, what kind are best and what treatment for young vines?

The response of these two nieces to the practical cost of living is encouraging, and their letters are most welcome. Mol has mentioned something we have wanted to know about, that is Crisco. Let us have the opinion on that, from those who use it.

RECIPES.

Mol furnishes the recipes below for salmon loaf and creamed clams. The directions for making clam pie were given one of our M. E.'s by a native of Cape Cod—a sweet-faced lady whom I once had the pleasure of meeting, though I do not know as she was ever in Maine.

CLAM PIE—Prepare clams for a chowder and chop fine. Line a deep dish with pastry, then put in a layer of clams, a thin layer of cracker crumbs, a little pepper, and clam water (three-quarters of a cup if clams were steamed, or, if opened raw, one-half cup). Continue layers until dish is filled. The top layer should be pastry instead of cracker crumbs. Dot the top with butter before putting on crust.

SALMON LOAF—Remove skin and bones from a can of salmon and flake fish finely. Add one cup fine bread crumbs, two beaten eggs, one cup milk, one tablespoonful melted butter, juice of half a lemon, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly, turn into buttered pan and bake forty-five minutes. Turn out on hot platter and serve with white sauce with or without hard-boiled eggs.

CREAMED CLAMS—Clean and chop the clams and cook a few minutes in just a little water. Add them to a cream as prepared for cream toast and serve on toasted crackers. Whole oysters are used the same way. In fact, most anything is good creamed on crackers.

BAR HARBOR.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Blanche Deasy, eldest daughter of Hon. L. B. Deasy and wife and Asa Hodgkins, son of Hoyt C. Hodgkins. Both are among the most prominent young people in town, and the news of the engagement was received with much interest.

George Lambert, of Bar Harbor, a laborer, has been bound over under $1,000 bail for the April grand jury, charged with arson in connection with a recent fire at C. A. Weaver's blacksmith shop. The fire bore the marks of an incendiary, and after investigation suspicion pointed to Lambert. There appeared to be two distinct fires in the blacksmith shop, and shavings saturated with kerosene oil were found on the floor in both places where the fire caught. The fire department extinguished the flames before much damage was done. Soon after being questioned by the police, Lambert left for Bangor, where he was arrested Thursday.

Among the Grangers.

This column is devoted to the Grange, especially to the granges of Hancock county. The column is open to all grangers for the discussion of topics of general interest, and for reports of grange meetings. Make letters short and concise. All communications must be signed, but names will not be printed except by permission of the writer.

DATES.

Saturday, Nov. 16—Meeting of Hancock Pomona with Harborside grange, South Brooksville.

Saturday, Nov. 23—Meeting of Green Mountain Pomona with Mariaville grange.

RAINBOW, 203, NORTH BROOKSVILLE. Rainbow grange met Thursday evening. Not fearing the rain, forty members gathered at the hall. Degree work was performed on one candidate, and a fine program was enjoyed.

HANCOCK POMONA, 13.

Following is the program for the meeting of Hancock Pomona with Harborside grange, South Brooksville, Nov. 16:

Opening exercises. Address of welcome.....Madeline Harvey Response.....Angie Cousins Business. Report of granges. Topic: How may the feeding value of worn-out pastures be restored? J B Wilson, M O Leach. Recess. Call to order; music. Quotations. Topic: What are the mistakes of farmers and the causes of their failures and losses?.....Everett Hale Program of host grange. Closing.

BROOKLIN, 251.

Brooklin grange met November 5; twenty-two members and one visitor present. It was voted that all members in arrears more than two years in their dues, be suspended. Clifton Stanley favored the grange with music. A committee was appointed to adopt resolutions on the death of Sister Fannie Pease.

SEAGIRT, 471, SOUTH DEER ISLE.

Seagirt grange held a pleasant meeting Nov. 2, with twenty-five present. Two candidates were instructed in the third and fourth degrees. A delicious clam stew was served at recess. The master reported the sad death of Brother Ralph Davis, who was instantly killed on Nov. 1. The literary program was omitted. The question: "Should women have a right to vote?" was discussed and decided in the affirmative.

MARIAVILLE, 441.

Mariaville grange met Nov. 9 with a goodly number present. One candidate was instructed in the first and second degrees, and one application was filed. All arrangements were made for Pomona meeting here Nov. 23. Tuesday, Nov. 19, all the ladies are requested to meet at the hall for the purpose of cleaning it. The men will also assist. Each will bring a basket lunch.

LAMOINE, 264.

Lamoine grange met Tuesday night with a good attendance. Practice of degree work was continued with marked improvement. "New methods I shall try in farming next year" was discussed by the brothers. Sister Alma Coggins read a paper on: "How shall we spend our evenings?"

A gratifying feature of this meeting was the prompt opening which gave ample time to take up work and program.

PENOBSCOT, 240.

Penobscot grange met Nov. 8; thirty-five present. It was voted to accept the invitation to meet with Castine grange Nov. 23, for an all-day and evening session. The third and fourth degrees were conferred upon four candidates.

NARRAMISSIC, 234, ORLAND.

Narramissic grange had the pleasure of entertaining Hancock Pomona last Saturday. There were more than 100 guests at dinner, and all seemed to enjoy the noon recess, as well as the morning and afternoon sessions. The repairs on the dining-room are nearly completed. Electric lights will be installed very soon in hall and dining-room.

SEBDOWICK, 244.

Twenty-eight members and visitors from Rainbow and East Bluehill granges were present at a regular meeting of Sedgewick grange Nov. 8. First and second degrees were worked on two candidates. It was voted not to entertain the Pomona grange in 1913. Owing to the lateness of the hour, no program was presented. Third and fourth degrees will be worked next Friday evening. Cake and coffee will be served.

JOHN DORITY, 351, SULLIVAN.

At the regular meeting of John Dority grange Nov. 8, a vote was passed to change the night of meeting to Saturday. Hereafter the regular meetings will be held on Saturday evenings, beginning with Nov. 16.

NEW CENTURY, 356, DEDHAM.

One candidate took initiatory degrees in New Century grange Nov. 9. Readings were given by Maurice Miller, Gerald Thompson, Laura Cook and Mary Burrill; a story by G. A. Gray; report of the meeting of Hancock Pomona with Narramissic grange by G. A. Gray; music, Ethel Fogz.

Health Talks.

By Dr. True

We must trace sickness back to its source. We must ask the question, "Whence comes my sickness?" My practice as a physician showed that nine-tenths of human sickness, from infancy to old age, comes from stomach or bowels being out of order.

Headaches, tired feeling, nervous depression, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness and many other signs of sickness stop if you treat the stomach and bowels right and get them into working order.

Look first to the stomach and bowels. Get them working right and health will be yours.

My prescription, known as Dr. True's Elixir, has done wonders for sick people, because it is the one remedy that you can rely on to set things right in the stomach and bowels.

Costs 35c, 50c and $1.00 and is sold by all druggists, big or little, everywhere. Druggists, as a rule, are very honest. They do not try to substitute something else for Dr. True's Elixir, because they know its value. Many druggists use it for their own families, for children or grown people.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1912.

The Noon Hour at School.

In a letter addressed to the press and school superintendents of Maine, State Superintendent of Schools Payson Smith calls attention to resolutions recently passed by the teachers of Washington county, for the better protection of the moral and physical well-being of pupils of rural schools during the noon hour.

The Washington county resolutions read in part:

Whereas, The noon hour in our rural schools has been, and is, a moral menace to such schools, be it

Resolved, That superintendents be urged to request or require, in engaging teachers, that such teachers are to remain at the building during the noon hour, and that remuneration be given for this extra work.

In giving wide publicity to this action of the Washington county teachers, State Superintendent Smith voices his approval of the movement. "Many hundreds of children of Maine," he says, "are accustomed to eat their noon-day meal at school. Teachers and the public both recognize that the period of the noon intermission constitutes a possible source of physical or moral injury to the pupils. The proper regulation of pupils during the noon hour is a serious problem of school administration."

That this is no fancied, but a real danger, parents and school officials have long recognized. The evil recognized, it is the duty of municipal and school officials to apply the remedy, and the duty of parents to see that they do.

A Great Pension Scheme.

A scheme of unusual interest and of far-reaching importance is to be put into effect on Jan. 1, 1913, by the Bell telephone system and its associated interests; it is the setting aside of a fund of $10,000,000 for pensions, sick and accident benefits and life insurance for the 175,000 employees of the system.

This enormous fund will be made good from year to year by annual appropriations. This is probably the largest appropriation for such a purpose ever made by a public service corporation, and sets for others an example which is likely to be followed, and so far as it is, it will work untold benefits to great armies of workmen.

Elsewhere in this issue is printed a summary of the plan, from which may be learned somewhat of its scope and usefulness; it is well worth reading.

Action of this sort, if generally adopted by great corporations, will go far towards readjusting the relations of capital and labor; certainly go far towards allaying the prevalent feeling of hostility which labor holds towards capital. Interests which are essentially mutual will cease to be regarded as antagonistic; the tendency to resort to lockouts and strikes, often for fancied rather than real grievances, will be reduced to a minimum, and a better feeling throughout the industrial world will be likely to result.

The persistent demand of the women for the ballot is accomplishing its object. In the recent election, the cause of woman suffrage made a big jump ahead, four states being added to the six which had already granted full suffrage to women. The ten states which have so far placed the ballot in the hands of the women are Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Michigan, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

COUNTY GOSSIP.

The gathering of eggs for the fish hatchery at East Orland has been completed for this season, with a total of about four million Penobscot river salmon eggs and one hundred and fifty thousand trout of various kinds.

Flowers still bloom at Atlantic. Mrs. Addie Staples, of that place, has in her garden a rose-bush with three full-blown roses and a number of buds upon it. She also has stocks, petunias, coxcomb mignonette and other flowers in full bloom.

Mrs. William Bryant, of South Deer Isle, is Hancock county's "smartest" old lady. Though in her ninety-ninth year, she retains her faculties to a remarkable degree, is active about the house, and will cook a dinner as well and as quickly as most younger women.

A West Sullivan man, who started for Bangor one day last week, got so interested in conversation with "the millionaire tramp" at Waukeag station, that his train drew in and out again, and he did not hear it. He went back across the ferry, declaring that the Maine Central is now running rubber-tired trains.

The embargo on Maine Christmas trees announced by the department of agriculture will seriously affect a business which has grown to large proportions in this county. The embargo upon interstate shipment of Christmas trees includes those from Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, because of gypsy and brown-tail moths. The quarantine becomes effective Nov. 25, and also affects the shipment of decorative plants such as holly and laurel, known as "Christmas greens or greenery". Only in cases where the plants and plant products have been inspected and pronounced to be free from these two insects by department of agriculture inspectors, will they be permitted to enter interstate commerce.

Bar Harbor democrats are already scrambling for the prospective postoffice plum, though Postmaster Joy's term will not expire for more than a year. A list of the candidates reads like a roster the democratic party. The Bar Harbor correspondent of the Bangor News says:

With democratic victory safely assured, the matter of one of the most important offices, the Bar Harbor post office, which pays something like $2,000 a year, is one whose disposition will be watched with interest. The term of Postmaster Joy has a little more than a year to run, and after that time, of course, some good democrat will receive the appointment. A number of the leading democrats have already begun work in a quiet way towards securing support, and although it will be a long time before the appointment is made, democrats in town will early make efforts to land this desirable federal plum. Among those prominently mentioned who are beginning to secure support are George F. Berry, recorder of the Bar Harbor municipal court, Clerk-of-Courts John E. Bunker, Fred Jellison, a former member of the democratic State committee, Judge E. N. Benson, of the Bar Harbor municipal court, and Deputy-Sheriff Bion E. Whitney. Not all of these are avowed candidates at present, but each one is beginning to develop a good-sized boom. There is a possibility of County-Commissioner W. H. Sherman or Herbert L. Graham, who is chairman of the democratic town committee, entering the field, and either would have a strong backing. At any rate, it seems that there will be no lack of candidates for this desirable position, with a fine new government building.

Bird Slaughter by Japanese. That thousands of albatrosses have been imprisoned to die of starvation by Japanese feather poachers in the Hawaiian islands, was told by Dr. Homer R. Dill, of the University of Iowa, in an address before the annual meeting of the National Association of Audubon Societies. He has recently returned from the Pacific, and states that these birds each year collect in countless numbers to rear their young on Laysan island, which is now a United States bird reservation. They grow fat from inaction and much eating and are easily captured. By placing them in dry cisterns, where no food is available, the fat becomes absorbed by the time the birds die. This makes the skinning easy and the feathers are rendered more saleable.

Twenty-three of the agents of the feather trade were captured some time ago and taken to Honolulu for trial. The Audubon society is planning to protect these birds in future by means of agents, who will be placed on the island during the breeding season of the birds. "The past year we employed about fifty wardens to guard great nesting colonies of water birds throughout North America, and at least 2,000,000 birds thus dwell in safety from the millinery hunters," says T. Gilbert Pearson, national Audubon secretary. "There seems to be no limit to which the feather manufacturers will not go in their desire to get bird feathers with which to trim women's hats," he declared.

CORRECTED RETURNS.

Vote of Hancock County in Detail at Recent Election.

Detailed returns of the vote of Hancock county in the presidential election last week are printed below. These figures are from mail returns by town clerks to THE AMERICAN.

The only town missing is Otis, from which no returns have been received. A telegram to the secretary of state brought the information that while official sealed returns from Otis had been received at that office, no clerk's return to the secretary of state had been received, and the sealed returns were not yet available.

Wilson's plurality over Roosevelt in Hancock county, with Otis missing, is 718, while Roosevelt ran 536 ahead of Taft in this county. The total vote of the county is 6,125, as against a total vote of only 5,152 in the presidential election of 1908, when Taft received 3,169 and Bryan 1,846. The socialist vote is almost double that of 1908, when seventy-six socialist votes were cast, while the prohibition vote has fallen from thirty-six in 1908 to nineteen this year.

Practically complete returns from the State give Wilson a plurality of 2,528 over Roosevelt, with Roosevelt 21,921 ahead of Taft. The total figures are: Wilson, 50,987; Roosevelt, 48,459; Taft, 26,538.

KEEP CUTS CLEAN.

Then There isn't Anything For Them to Do but Heal. The cut made by the surgeon should always be kept absolutely free from germs. If infection occurs we know that some one has blundered. Accidental cuts, on the other hand, are almost invariably infected.

The germs of disease are everywhere. No matter how small the cut may be or how brief its exposure to the air, germs are almost certain to enter. If an accidental cut is to heal quickly and well all germs must be carefully removed at the first dressing.

When we consider how many are the ways in which a cut may become infected we can understand why such precautions are necessary. Infection is often introduced by the very implement that makes the wound. Only surgeons use sterilized instruments. A knife or a pair of scissors or a piece of glass or crockery is almost certain to plant germs in the furrow it plows. Germs may also enter from the clothing, from the hands of whoever rushes to help, from the first piece of cloth or handkerchief used to stanch the flow of blood or from the water used for the first washing.

Since the avenues of danger are so numerous, it is safest to assume that infection has occurred. It follows that every family should understand some of the simplest methods of sterilization. Heat is the simplest of all. The mother of a family should keep a supply of soft linen rags that have been thoroughly boiled. She should keep them not on an open shelf with towels or other cloths, but done up in a carefully closed oil paper bag or protected from the air in some other equally effective way. For washing the wound she should use only water that has been boiled. When the doctor comes he will add some kind of chemical antiseptics, and it will be proved once more that a clean cut can do nothing but heal.—Youth's Companion.

MAINE'S HIGHWAYS.

Government Official is Making Inspection in Maine.

"Maine roads are better than I expected to find them," says E. W. James, of Washington, D. C. Mr. James is chief inspector in the office of public roads which is under the department of agriculture, and he is now making a study of the Maine highways.

"I have found the worst roads in the State located in Aroostook county, but speaking generally of all sections of the State, there is plenty of good material for building roads, and the chief requirement in Maine is the intelligent handling of the materials."

Mr. James is in the State making an inspection tour, with the approval of Gov. Plaisted and Parker L. Hardison, the State highway commissioner, at the request of the good roads committee of the State board of trade.

He is to go over the roads of Maine with the view of suggesting a system of uniform improvement. This work is being done in anticipation of possible legislation by the coming session of the Maine legislature on account of the constitutional amendment voted for by the people of Maine at the last election, which provides for the bond issue for the benefit of the State's roads. The idea is to have something definite in the shape of a plan for the improvement of the roads to place before the legislature which will assist that body in making arrangements for the expenditure of the money raised by the bond issue.

Mr. James is to make Bangor his headquarters during the rest of the week, and will go over most of the roads in the western part of the State, and has traveled extensively in the vicinity of Camden and Rockland and along the coast. He spent considerable time in Aroostook county, where he found roads that were the worst in Maine.

He will probably complete his work in this vicinity this week, and then he will have finished the inspection in the State. After a conference with the good roads committee of the State board of trade in Portland and the committee from the Maine automobile association, which has joined with the State board in the work of bringing about better roads for Maine, he will return to Washington to prepare his report, which will be a most comprehensive article, and one of great value.

COW MOOSE CASES.

Two Cases Grow out of Killing of One Cow Moose.

Two cases were tried before Judge Hall in the Ellsworth municipal court yesterday afternoon, both growing out of the killing of a cow moose near Washington Junction on Oct. 30.

The first case tried was that of the State vs. George Lovell, the fourteen-year-old son of David Lovell, of Washington Junction. L. F. Giles appeared for the State and D. E. Hurley for the respondent.

Game Warden Shea and Dyer described the killing of the moose as described to them by the boy, and the location of the killing, while Thomas A. James, of Winthrop, taxidermist for the State fish and game department and the receiver of game shipped to the commissioners, described the location of the bullet wounds in the carcass, which he has prepared for mounting whole.

Respondent admitted the killing of the cow moose, but said he thought he was shooting at a deer.

Counsel for respondent asked that the complaint be dismissed on the ground that the boy was under fourteen years of age (the boy's mother testified that he would be fourteen on Dec. 23 next) and that there was a presumption of law that a boy under fourteen was not responsible for his criminal acts.

Judge Hall said the Court was satisfied that the boy killed the cow moose, and that he probably knew what he was doing, but that he clearly was not the kind of law-breaker that the laws of the State aimed to punish. He therefore discharged the respondent.

The second case tried was that of the State vs. E. W. Wooster, of Washington Junction. L. F. Giles appeared for the State, while Mr. Wooster conducted his own case.

It appears that the same moose shot a few minutes later by the Lovell boy, had first been seen in Mr. Wooster's turnip patch. Mr. Wooster, under the impression, he says, that it was a bull moose from what others told him, went into the house for his shotgun. When he finally came upon the moose or the moose came upon him, he had his doubts whether it was a cow or bull, but took a snap shot in the general direction of the moose, but four or five feet above it, he thought. He did not hunt the moose further, believing it to be a cow.

This is the story in substance as told by Mr. Wooster upon the stand. State Taxidermist James told of finding a charge of bird shot in the side of the moose. The gun with which Mr. Wooster did the shooting was exhibited, and was perhaps his best witness in proving that he was not a hunter. It was a cheap single-barrel shotgun, with the forearm gone, so that it had to be held together when being fired by the man firing it, or by a rubber band wound around the breech and looped back behind the trigger-guard.

Mr. Wooster admitted that he cut the shell to make the charge more effective, and Game Warden Shea described the action of cut shells. He had seen a charge or shot in a cut shell go through a two-inch plank at forty yards, but in other cases the shot scattered at a shorter distance. It depended, he thought, on just where the shell was cut.

Judge Hall, before rendering his decision in the case, complimented the warden and attorney for the State upon the admirable way they had conducted the case, and their evident desire to look after the interests of the State and the game.

He said the Court was peculiarly fortunate in this case in having the whole story of this moose before it. It was clear to the Court that this cow moose was killed by the Lovell boy, which reduces the charge against Mr. Wooster to hunting. It was also clear to the Court that Mr. Wooster went out to hunt what proved to be a cow moose, and was therefore technically guilty.

The Court therefore imposed a nominal fine of $1 and costs, and suspended execution of both.

Birthday Party.

[Contributed.]

A pleasant affair was the birthday party at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Wellington Bellamy on Laurel street last Saturday evening. Their youngest daughter, Evelyn F., was fifteen years old on Sunday, and the anniversary was celebrated the evening before. Miss Evelyn was in Bangor during the day with her father, and when she arrived home she was somewhat surprised to find a houseful of guests who brought their greetings to her.

Those invited were the class of girls, of which she is one, in the Baptist Sunday school, and their teacher, Mrs. Nellie Curtis, the F. L. C. class of boys and their teacher, Mrs. Harriet Curtis, the pastor and his wife.

The company sat down to a delicious supper, which was finely served by Miss Helene Bellamy, assisted by Marcia Bellamy, both sisters of Evelyn, and Miss Hazel Brown. The crowning feature of the feast was a birthday cake in whose capacious interior were concealed articles of certain significance to the ones who got the pieces of cake containing them. Keith Killam got the piece of money, Miss Brown drew the ring, Fern Webster found a tumbler, while the hostess, Mrs. Bellamy, anticipating the surprise of the one who would bite the button, was the victim herself, and joined in the laugh that followed.

Games were played, the social side of the occasion being skillfully engineered by Miss Marcia and Miss Brown. In the clothespin contest, Kenneth Jordan and his partner, Hazel Nevelis, were the prize-winners. The party broke up at a reasonable hour and left with many words of appreciation for the good time which had proved so enjoyable.

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

John Crowell Pleads Not Guilty to Murder Charge.

John Crowell, the Manset fisherman, who on Sunday, Nov. 3, shot and killed Joseph West in a drunken carousal at Crowell's home in Manset, is held for the April grand jury on the charge of manslaughter. Bail was fixed at $2,500, and Crowell was committed to the county jail in default.

Crowell was arraigned before Judge Henry M. Hall in the Ellsworth municipal court Monday afternoon. Through his counsel, George B. Stewart, he pleaded not guilty to the murder charge in the warrant. County Attorney Herbert L. Graham appeared for the State.

Only sufficient evidence was introduced to warrant holding the respondent for the grand jury. Respondent put in no evidence, but questions asked by his counsel in cross-examination of the State's witnesses indicate that self-defense will be the case set up.

Dr. J. D. Phillips, of South-west Harbor, the physician first called to the Crowell house, described the body of West as he found it on the floor, and testified that Crowell said he did it, and that he "shot to kill".

Deputy-Sheriff Bion E. Whitney, of Bar Harbor, who had drawn a plan of the Crowell house, described in detail the house and furnishings, the blood marks on front of sink, closet and floor, none being more than two feet and nine inches from the floor, and also the shot holes through the front door of the house, another through the sidewalk of the house and a third through the floor of the pantry.

William Ward testified as to Crowell's coming to his store and asking him to telephone for a physician and officer, saying he had shot a man.

Deputy-Sheriff James S. Fernald, of South-west Harbor, described conditions at the Crowell house as he found them. He said Crowell gave himself up, saying: "Here I am; I shot him, and shot to kill."

George Hamilton, the first to arrive at the house after the shooting, going from the store while Mr. Ward was telephoning for a doctor, testified that West was still breathing when he reached the house.

W. R. Keene and Coroner S. S. King described the position of the body. Frank Perry, who had been shipmate with West and had boarded with him, testified that West was right-handed. This may have an important bearing in the case, if self-defense is set up, as clasped in West's right hand when the body was found was a fifty-cent piece.

Medical Examiner E. J. Morrison testified as to the position of the body and the result of the autopsy. He said that in his opinion the man was lying on the floor when shot, almost in the position in which the body was found.

This closed the testimony, and Judge Hall rendered his judgment, finding probable cause to hold for manslaughter. This judgment of the lower court does not prevent the grand jury from indicting for murder if the evidence introduced before it is sufficient to warrant it.

MAY CELEBRATE

One Hundred Fiftieth Anniversary of Founding of Ellsworth.

In response to a call for a meeting of citizens to consider the matter of observing next summer the one hundred fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of Ellsworth, about forty met at the board of trade rooms last Monday evening, when the matter was talked over.

Ex-Mayor Leland was made chairman of the meeting, and Edward F. Small secretary. The chair called upon nearly everyone present for an expression of opinion, and everyone called upon gave his opinion.

The feeling was general that a celebration of some sort during the summer of 1913 would be desirable, and that this anniversary date was as good a time as any to have it.

The only differences of opinion expressed were on the character of the event and its length. Mr. Haines quoted from a letter received from Judge Emery, in which the judge heartily favored the setting apart of one day, and that given over to a dignified literary program, unaccompanied by celebration or carnival features.

From this extreme Mr. Haines expressed himself as in favor of a full week of festivity, ushered in by religious services on Sunday, and followed by feature days, such as merchants' day, firemen's day, a historical pageant, a flower day, an observance-of-the-event day, and so on, with a liberal sprinkling of concerts, music, sports, old-home week features, etc.

This extended program seemed to meet with more general favor; some thought it would be all right if sufficient funds could be raised to carry out so pretentious a program; others that the time devoted should be gauged by the funds available.

But whatever the number of days devoted to it, the feeling expressed was general that a celebration of some sort next summer was desirable.

Rev. Mr. Mathews called attention to the fact that those present were a very small percentage of the entire population of Ellsworth; that the voters present were a very small percentage of the total registered voters; he regretted the absence of a number of representative citizens, some of whom favored and some of whom were opposed to the project. He questioned the propriety of so small a number committing the whole town to an undertaking involving large expenditures and hard work.

After it was voted that it was the sense of the meeting that a celebration be held, Rev. Mr. Kizer moved that a committee be appointed by the chair to draw up tentative programs, and submit them to a meeting to be called later. The committee was appointed as follows: Roy C. Haines, Rev. R. B. Mathews, Charles W. Joy, Hollis B. Estey, J. H. Bresnahan. The meeting then adjourned.

Miss Audrey Hunt, pastor of the Methodist church, has taken up her residence here for the winter, with Henry Hamilton and wife. Schoodic lodge, K. of P., worked the second degree on a candidate at its meeting Saturday night. The Pythian sisters furnished supper. Nineteen Pythian sisters from Halloway temple attended district convention in Milbridge recently, and enjoyed a most hospitable and pleasant reunion. The McKinley school league had a meeting Friday and enjoyed a program of music and readings by the teacher and pupils, and an old-time spelling-match by the school. James Gillanders, of the E. T. Russell Co., has closed the business here for the winter and returned to Boston. Mr. Gillanders has made many friends in town since he became manager, and received many attentions in a social way before leaving town. Nov. 11. C. WINTER HARBOR. A son was born to Woodbury Gerrish and wife Thursday morning. Arthur Rand left last week for Bangor, where he expects to spend the winter. Fred Moffatt left last Thursday for Melrose, Mass., where he has employment. Freeman Bunker, of Boston, is a guest of his sister, Mrs. Cora Guptill, and other relatives here. Mrs. Adelaide Gerrish and daughter Bessie and Miss Ardelle Parker left Wednesday for Lincoln, to visit friends. The pupils of the grammar grades gave an entertainment at the town hall Friday evening, following which candy and apples were on sale. Capt. Charles Hamilton has rented his house to James Webber for the winter. Capt. Hamilton and wife plan to spend the winter at Calais. A special town meeting was held Saturday evening, at which it was voted to construct a sewer from the old schoolhouse to the Main street sewer. An automobile party from Milbridge, which included Guy Roberts, Russell Turner, Miss Chipman and Miss Mitchell, were in town Saturday calling on friends. D. W. Joy and A. L. Strout left Saturday morning for Camp Comfort, Jones' pond, where they will spend the week-end in quest of big game. At Prospect Harbor they were joined by A. R. Joy. The hallow'en party, which was to have been given at the town hall Friday evening by the students of the high school, was given up owing to the severe storm. The food and candy were disposed of at a sale Saturday afternoon at Allen's store. Several enthusiastic democrats illuminated their houses Thursday evening, celebrating the Wilson victory. One of the most brilliantly lighted and effective was the home of Andrew Pendleton. Bonfires were lighted and salutes fired in various parts of the town. Nov. 9. S. SOUTHWEST HARBOR. All the democratic houses in town were brilliantly illuminated Saturday night. Rufus Trundy, who works on the Thorpe estate on Greening's island, has recently purchased a horse. Mrs. Julia Marson, of Boothbay Harbor, is spending a few days at Southwest Harbor. She went to Trenton Sunday to visit her mother, Mrs. Caroline Moore. Mrs. Frank Moore, of North Ellsworth, came to her old home place recently on a business as well as friendly trip. She has sold the Charles Rea cottage to Arthur Robinson, who has taken possession. Mr. Rea is in Honolulu doing well in his profession as surveyor. Mr. Roberts, who has had charge of Hotel Holmes for the past six months, has given up his lease and left town with his family. A. I. Holmes will keep the house open this winter, or until another landlord is secured. Still the wedding bells are ringing at Southwest Harbor. Tuesday evening, Nov. 5, a pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ralph, when their eldest daughter, Carrie Phillips, was married to Andrew W. Bennet, of Manset, Rev. George O. Richardson performing the ceremony with the single ring service. The bride was prettily dressed in white and carried white carnations. Only the immediate relatives and a few girl friends were the favored guests. Many beautiful gifts were in evidence. Mrs. Bennet has been in the Northeast Harbor telephone office for some time, and is a general favorite with all who know her. Mr. Bennet has a good position with the Parker Co. The young couple, after a brief wedding trip, will make their home in the William Stanley house at Manset. Nov. 11. SPRAY. WEST TREMONT. The correspondent corrects the report that Capt. C. P. Lunt's boat, which he bought, was a complete wreck. All she needed was to be remailed and a little caiking, and he is ready for scalloping the first good day. Ethel Rich, who has been in the Bar Harbor hospital, is home and doing well. Mrs. Annie Ober and daughter May spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Edwin Lopas. Capt. Eugene Tinker, of the schooner Robert Snyder, came in Sunday on his way to Sullivan, where he will land. Rev. Mr. Corson and wife arrived Saturday. Mr. Corson preached at the Methodist church Sunday to a large congregation. The people from the Center gave two short dramas: "Mrs. Carter's Fancy Ball" and "An Old-Fashioned Courtship and Marriage". After the plays, Mrs. Katie Reed served cake, pies and coffee contributed by the people of the place. Proceeds, about $7, for the pastor. A quiet wedding took place at the home of Dennis Norwood in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives on Wednesday evening, Nov. 6, when his daughter, Julia Aljawa, was married to James Everett Parker, of Manset. Rev. George Richardson, of Southwest Harbor, performed the ceremony. Miss Zulma, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Peter Benson, of Manset, was best man. The bride wore a becoming dress of white voile and carried a white aster. Hope Norwood and Lillian Webster served refreshments. The happy young couple left Thursday for Manset, where they will live. Nov. 11. THELMA. SULLIVAN HARBOR. Miss Whitaker is visiting her brother in Orrington. Mrs. Charles Simpson has returned from New York. Elsie Simpson is the guest of Miss Rowe in Bangor. Mrs. Warren Urann entertained the boys' Sunday school class at her home Monday evening. School closes this week for two weeks' vacation. It is regretted that Miss Copeland does not return for the remainder of the year. The community was shocked by the sudden death of Mrs. Jessie Lawrence Thursday morning. Mrs. Lawrence had been ill several weeks, but was improving and able to be about some. Services were held at the home Saturday afternoon, Rev. E. F. Wood officiating. The church quartet sang two selections. The floral tributes were beautiful. Sympathy is expressed for the bereaved relatives, and especially the daughter. Nov. 11. H. ISLESFORD. Mrs. Tingley, the pastor's mother, has returned to her home in Massachusetts. Schools at Islesford and Baker's island closed Friday. Miss Bodge is expected to return here for the winter term. Mrs. Walter Stanley and son (Norman) have returned from a month's visit in Waltham, Mass. They were joined at Ellsworth by Mrs. Stanley's mother, arriving here Saturday noon. The Thimble club met at the parsonage Wednesday to begin on their work of useful and fancy articles for next summer's sale, proceeds of which are to go towards the fund to complete the Neighborhood house. Pastor Tingley preached the first of a series of four sermons Sunday on some of the benefits to be derived from accepting the Lord's invitation: "Come unto me all ye who are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Nov. 11. S. MT. DESERT FERRY. Miss Beniah True has gone to Vermont. Harvard Carter closed his school at Hancock Friday. Harvey E. Colby, wife and son Lester spent Tuesday with his parents, A. L. An English Author Wrote: "No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh, and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely-published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.—Advt.

Advertisements. DO YOU ENJOY EATING Or Does Everything You Eat Distress You? Experts declare that the reason stomach disorders are so common in this country is due to hasty and careless habits of eating. Stomach troubles and run-down conditions also usually go together. John Lind, of Oneonta, N. Y., says: "I have been troubled with a bad stomach trouble for fifteen years, and became so weak that I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was very poor, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. Since taking two bottles of Vinol I find that it has already made a remarkable improvement in my health; my digestion is much stronger, and I have gained in weight." Vinol makes weak stomachs strong because it strengthens and tones up the weakened, tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs. Vinol is easily assimilated by the weakest stomachs, and is delicious to the taste. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. P. S. If you have Eczema try our Sazo Salve. We guarantee it. Geo. A. Parcher, Druggist, Ellsworth, Me.

For months American readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. What other remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit? Arthur L. Frazier, Hancock St., Ellsworth, Me., says: "Time has not altered my high regard for Doan's Kidney Pills, and I still consider them the best kidney medicine on the market. The cure they effected in my case has been permanent. I was annoyed by sharp, shooting pains in my back. I paid little attention to the trouble at first, thinking it would go away as mysteriously as it came, but instead of getting better, I grew worse. My back felt at times as if it were broken, and at night, after a hard day's work, I could not sit still. The trouble was at its height when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, which were procured for me at Moore's Drug Store. The first few doses of this remedy made an improvement, and continued use cured me". For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents, Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. THANKSGIVING IN THE WOODS

URBANITES need not think they are the only persons who have a good time on Thanksgiving day, for if they could but peep into the activities of the people on the farms...

Probably the majority of the men folks on the farm turn their thoughts to hunting on Thanksgiving day. The instinct to go out on Thanksgiving morning and shoot a turkey for the holiday feast is still quite strong...

So thoughts turn to the field and forest for a day's hunting. And it seems to be about the only day in the year when nearly every man and boy old enough to handle a gun goes hunting.

NEARLY EVERYONE HUNTS ON THANKSGIVING.

men and boys, for then it is quite an easy matter to track Mr. Bunny to his hiding place and chase him out to become a target for the hunters.

THANKSGIVING DAY. HOW IT WAS OBSERVED IN COLONIAL DAYS.

OLD DISHES AND COOKING UTENSILS—THE PART OF THE OPEN FIREPLACE.

[C. Newhall Fogg in Lewiston Journal.]

Always a cheerful and homelike place the colonial kitchen, with its great open fireplace, glowed afresh Thanksgiving week with all the cheerful bustle of preparation for the coming holiday.

Way back of Longfellow's time, the preparation of the Thanksgiving feast must have sorely beset those Puritan housekeepers whose chimneys were made of logs and clay, the catted chimneys that the first settlers built so hurriedly.

When John Wynter wrote from Maine in 1634 to his English home, he said: "The Chimney is large with an oven at each end of him; he is so large that we can place our Cytill within the Clavell piece.

On Thanksgiving week the great oven had a fire built in it every morning, and every night it was well filled and closed.

At the first Massachusetts Thanksgiving in 1621, the Indians brought in five deer to the colonists for their feast.

waiters from over seas, a nest of tiny dishes, toaster, and the little lustre mug from which the children drank their milk.

In spite of the work and confusion, every family went to church Thanksgiving morning, and in cold weather the foot stove was filled with hot coals and taken along to keep the feet from freezing.

Some Thanksgivings did not lack excitement. A Portland woman tells of a fire that caused serious trouble. "We had a brick oven, and mother had a big baking."

In the Longfellow kitchen one sees the pots and kettles, dearest possessions of the early settlers. The Indians set great store by their brass kettles and had them buried with them.

On those first Thanksgiving days all the vegetables were boiled together in the great pot, and the smell of so many good things cooking made the guests hungry long before dinner time came 'round.

Putting aside Thanksgiving, November was the busiest month in the whole year to the colonists, for was not this the "killing time"?

It was not always easy to get things for Thanksgiving. It depended on the crops to some extent. One famous housekeeper of Newport had to make her Thanksgiving mince meat with a filling of bear's meat and dried pumpkins.

These beautiful birds of "gold and purple bronze" were at first plentiful everywhere and of great weight, far larger than the domestic turkeys of to-day.

Thanksgiving time, when so many things had to be baked at once. For not only the brick oven but also the whole fireplace was often devoted to cooking for the great annual feast.

While the andirons of the Longfellow fireplace are too far back to be seen in the picture, they are there, substantial affairs of iron, vastly different from those of brass in the chambers and living room of the house.

It was a momentous occasion, the cooking of the Thanksgiving turkey. On those first Thanksgiving days wild turkeys were served at the great dinner, and they were roasted by the housewife who suspended them in front of the fire by a strong hempen string tied to a peg in the ceiling.

Another method of roasting was one that, happily, found no favor among the better-mannered New England housewives. Originating in England, the turnspit dog was a "little low, bow legged, patient soul trained to run in a revolving cylinder and keep the roasting joint a-turn before the fire."

Birds and joints and bread were baked in these kitchens, and very good they were as the old Thanksgiving records show. In some of the old farmhouses these ovens are still used, and in the camps they still retain their usefulness.

Besides the Dutch oven the bake kettle was used for baking bread. Strong and sturdy, standing on dumpy legs, one of these kettles will be used Thanksgiving day.

No matter where Thanksgiving day is observed, there is sure to be some member of the family who will look back down the years and recall some dear remembrance of the time when his own Thanksgiving circle gathered round the hearth fire.

The human race owes a great deal to the man who invented hand-shaking. There is no means of communication between man and man which conveys a clearer message than does a handclasp.

Some men are constitutionally afflicted with a flabby handshaker. They pass out a flipper which resembles nothing so much as a glove stuffed with mush or a cold fish. It is a misfortune which should be overcome, or else the habit of shaking hands should be dropped.

One cup butter, one teaspoonful soda dissolved in boiling water, two cups of sugar, one teaspoonful nutmeg, three eggs well beaten, half teaspoonful cloves, flour to make soft dough just stiff enough to roll out. Try two cups to begin with, working it in gradually.
