Thay must have tion, which is open to all citizens of the United States who are in good physical condition. Applications which may be filed which do not show that the applicant has had actual experience as stationary fireman will be cancelled. For application and examination blank form 1800 and information, address Leon R. Moor at the customhouse, Ellsworth, or Edward E. Stebbins, district secretary, 141 Postoffice building, Boston. Applications must be filed with the district secretary at Boston on or before March 5.

Eight-Hour Law at Postoffice. On March 4 the law recently passed by Congress providing that clerks in postoffices shall be employed eight hours, and that the eight hours of service shall not extend over ten hours in any one day, goes into effect. By the terms of this law clerk who reports for duty at 6.30 a. m. must have his hours of service so arranged that he will be through work on that day at 4.30 p. m. In other words, he works eight hours between 6.30 a. m. and 4. 30 p. m.

In order to comply with the provisions of this law it has been necessary to ar-range an entirely new schedule for clerks in the Ellsworth postoffice. For the purpose of securing the most satisfactory ar-rangement of the hours of duty of clerkswith a view of affording the patrons of the office the best possible service, a new schedule will be put in operation on March 4. Under the new schedule the money order division will open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. The stamp and registry windows will open at 7 a. m.; the stamp window will close at 8 p. m.; the registry window at 6 p. m.

For the present no change will be made in the hours at the general delivery.

The clerk who ties out the 9 p. m. mail will go on duty at 11 a. m.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 23, 1913.

Topic.—Mission work at home and broad.—II. Medical missions.—Matt. x. ii. Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, Both by example and precept Christ Indorsed medical missions. He Himself healed men. He proved His deity by His miraculous works, and His miracles of healing far surpass in number any other manifestations of His supernatural power. Moreover, in His commission to His apostles when He sent them upon their first missionary journey He commanded them to heal the sick and gave them the power to do so. In this commission two things were up permost-first, they were to preach and, second, to heal. "As ye go preach, saying the kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, cast out devils." The days of miraculous healing may be over so far as the disciples of Christ having the pow er to heal directly, and yet there still rests upon the church the duty of praying for the sick and of using all the powers of advanced medical science to aid and to cure those who are ill.

The superiority of Christianity to other religions is seen in the fact that it pays proper attention to the entire man. It not only emphasizes the value of the soul and the necessity of its salvation, but also the importance of the mind and of the body; hence we should not only be interested in evangelical missionary work, but also in educational missions and in medical missions. This has always been the attitude of the Christian church. It took the Christian church four centuries to build its first hospital, but it has continued its work ever since and has especially been faithful and successful in using medical missions in foreign missionary endeavors. At home it has erected hospitals and dispensaries and cared for the ill and unfortunate who cannot afford to care for themselves. But the supreme glory of medical missions is its work abroad in connection with the more modern movement to evangelize the world

Medical missions in heathen lands are a necessity. Christianity found medical science very little advanced in the lands to which it carried the gospel. Perhaps there is nothing cruder in heathen life than the methods of healing. Medical science was practically unknown in heathendom when Christian missionaries began their work. The methods used usually injured the patients treated more than benefited them.

This condition made it absolutely necessary for Christian missionaries to pay attention to medical science. Even before distinctive medical missionaries went to foreign fields those engaged in evangelical missionary efforts did what they could to "heal the sick." This necessity still exists, as is evidenced by the thousands of cases treated by Christian physicians and in missionary hospitals

Medical missions provide a great opportunity for advancing evangelical Souls are saved through atmissions. tention given to the bodies of men. It is thus possible to gain admission to many places and to many people who would otherwise be unapproachable. The women of oriental countries can be reached through missionary women who are physicians as in no other way. Their life ordinarily is most seclusive, and they were for a great part inaccessible until medical missions began to play such an important part in foreign missionary work.

Medical missions make it possible to gain the confidence of foreign peoples. They are naturally suspicious and prejudiced, but when they see the beneficent results of physical healing suspicion and prejudice largely pass away. They readily realize that the medical work is beneficial and therefore the more easily persuaded that the truths of the gospel are also Through medical work the hearts of people are reached, their confidence is won, and it becomes an easy matter to present Christ as a

My mind readily went back to an old meeting-house on a hill, and I saw in mind groups with the girls; fathers in another with the boys. None out of those families have ever been criminals, but I fear they have not all followed the example of their sainted parents.

Well. Dell, when I'm left to my "lonesome" Lam sure you will come with a 'heartsome" letter of help and cheer. You struck some truths in your letter above when you touched on church-going. I can remember when from miles around nearly every family was represented at the church services of Sunday-all-day services at that, beginning at 10.30, closing about 12; Sunday school at noon; five minutes for refreshments, which usually consisted of a few cookies surrpticiously conveyed presumably for the children,

MOVING PICTURES TALK.

Thomas A. Edison sat back in his chair and chuckled one afternoon recently as there passed upon a screen in the theatre of his laboratory at West Orange, N. J., a procession of human beings and animals that sang and talked and shouted and played upon musical instruments and barked and made various other noises that moving pictures never before have furnished. It was a moment of triumph—the result of four years of effort to give to the world what probably was the only development possible in the "movies", to reproduce sound synchronously with action. "That's a little raw yet," laughed Mr. Edison, "but you just give us a chance and we'll show you. We're green at working these things yet." There may have been something "raw" to the trained eyes of Thomas A. Edison, but to other spectators it seemed that success bad been achieved. When the time for the show to start came there was a short delay. The man", as everybody in the big factory calls Mr. Edison, couldn't be found. Finally he was found, and his right-hand man and chief-engineer, M. R., Hutchinson, gave the word to start. For the first few seconds it looked just like regular "movies". A large man in evening dress strode down a flight of stairs and to the front of a lavishly - furnished setting.

First the big man thrust out one arm in customary attitude and then-and even the spectators who had known what was to come were surprised-he began to talk. "Ladies and gentlemen," he began,

When he reached the front of the "stage'

and there followed an introduction to the first exhibition of talking moving pictures -real talking "movies" -that has ever been seen. The speech was delivered in carefully modulated tones, with articulation of the clearest, each action coinciding exactly with each expression. It was so lifelike and natural that gasps of surprise and wonderment could be heard from different parts of the darkened

In the course of his talk the speaking picture took up a plate and dashed it to the floor. It flew into pieces with a crash, and each fragment made its individual noise in bouncing up and back. After that the picture blew a horn and a whistle. and then a man came on and played the piano. A girl appeared and played "Way Down Upon the Swanne River" on the violin, and another girl sang some of the old songs, while the pianist and the violinist accompanied her.

They went away - you could hear their footsteps as they walked up the stairs and another man appeared with two collies dogs, whose loud barks were as natural as life. It was hard to realize that these were not living beings in flesh and blood until the lights came on and broke the illusion.

That was one complete reel, and it had taken just six minutes to show - two minutes longer than the ordinarpy honograph disk revolves. Four additional "sketches" were exhibited, and in each the illusion was maintained. Two of these Mr. Edison hadn't seen himself before, and he rm last year." There were readings and laughed heartly as an Irish politician in plaint." one of them delivered an impassioned political oration which his daughter, standing behind, read to him out of a newspaper. The most startling manifestation of the synchrony of sound and action came when a brick was sent crash ing through a window above the speaker's nead. You could plainly hear the tinkle of each piece of glass as it fell. Men have been working upon the proposition of moving pictures that would talk for a long, long time. Mr.

nembers were present and two visitors Edison has been at it for four years. He has literally "slept on the job", as his employees describe his absorption in work, and when he "sleeps on the job" he has the reputation of making things go. The moving talking idea is based two comparatively old propositions.

The talking machine is old and the motion picture machine is old. But they have never been harnessed up together before successfully. Other inventors have had actors talk into records and then go and act the piece separatively, but the illusion wasn't there, except in spots.

Mr. Edison's way is to have the talking moving-picture machines getting and their impressions at the same time. They are set up side by side, at any distance up to forty feet away from the actors, and as the character's gesture is taken by the "movie", his words are taken by the When all that is done, the "talker". "movie" is placed in its usual place with its rays illuminating the screen back of which is the "talker". How to get these two machines to work together is the problem on which Mr. Edison has worked

Toe "timer" is some sort of contrivance that is coupled up between the two machines. The talking machine can run at only a certain speed - the speed with which the sound is made-and Mr. Edison has invented a mechanism which prevents the moving machine from going any faster.

The "kinetophone", as the inventor has named his latest child, can be used in a room of almost any size. The one it was shown in was too small, Mr. Hutchison said, to get the best effect. In a big theatre seating 2,000 to 3,000 persons the best results can be obtained. The invention has been tried privately in one of these, and every sound could be plainly heard at the very top of the gallery.

Don't be discouraged - even a carpettack is of no use without a knock on the head now and then.

Doan's Kidney Pills are on trial - are being tried every day for weak, kidneys for exhausting kidney backaches. What is the verdict? Read Ellsworth testimony -personal experiences of Ellsworth witnesses. There can be only one verdict a chorus of approval.

A. M. Franks, carpenter, High St., Ellsorth, Me., says: "About two years ago I noticed my back growing lame. As time passed, the trouble became constant. Finally my condition was so bad that I had to lay off from work for several days. When suffering in that way, I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Moore's drug-store, and the first few doses helped me. After I had used two boxes of this remedy, I was entirely cured. Last fall I caught cold and it settled on my kidneys, causing another attack. I had not forgotten what Doan's Kidney Pills had previously done for me, and I began using the remedy. I was quickly cured." (Statement given February 7, 1906.)

Two Brothers

A Story of the Western Plains of Former Times

By TIMOTHY WENTWORTH

"This yere country," said the old plainsman, "is bein' civilized so fast that every time I come back to it I scarcely know it. Where there was a trail there's now a macadamized road. Where there was a few log houses there's a tewn lighted by electricity and runnin' trolleys. Where there was jewsharps or perhaps a fiddle there are now planos. Where there was three card monte sharks, now there's the gentlemanly swindler. And the punishments is all changed too. If a an shot another in them days no body took much notice of the fact, but they hung a hoss thief. Now, if a man shoots another, there's a murder case draggin' through the courts for years, and if a thief gets away with a team like enough the police is in cahoots with him, and the owner is glad enough to pay for gittin' the hoss back and no questions asked.'

"Singular," I remarked to the old quire different treatment."

"So they do," he rambled on. "The nearer you git down to nature the simpler the forms of law. But it isn't always so cold blooded down near the bottom as you'd suppose. I've known the most hardened villain to give his life for a woman or a child. There was lots o' misery in them days, just as there is now. Families would come out yere from the east, not knowin' what they was comin' to, git stranded and if it hadn't been for the help of some gambler or road agent would starve to death."

"Did you ever have any such experlences?" I asked.

"Waal, yes; so I did. I had one that turned out mighty important to me. Fact is, I hain't got over the effects of it yit. When these yere plains was ered with herds o' wild buffalo me and Jack Cundiff followed the business, huntin' 'em for their skins. In them days buffalo robes was used instead of the finer furs they use now and was a staple article in the market. That's what killed 'em off so fast. We that was huntin' 'em used to jist slaughter 'em for the money there was in 'em.

"What I was goin' to tell you about happened near the foothills of the Rockwest o' where Cheyenne now stands. It stood there then, but it was the terminus of the Union Pacific rail-road, and a tough place it was, too. with its gamblin' and dance houses and other sich shebangs. Jack and I was in camp one day, as I was tellin' you, near the base of the mountains. Buffaloes were getting scarce, and we allowed we'd turn to prospectin' for gold. We didn't have anything with us that was wo'th anything except our hosses, so when we went to sleep nights we jist turned in without worryin' onless at the loss of the animals. Since a man couldn't git over the ground without one of 'em they was mighty valuable. Fact is, they was the most valuable thing to be had. And that's why we strung up the hoss thieves and didn't string up the men shooters. There was plenty of men, but only so many hosses, and each hoss would bring a good price at any time or anywhere. 'Jack Cundiff and I was smokin' our pipes after our noon meal of hog fat and crackers, talkin' over whether we'd better give up the buffalo skin business and try our luck at prospectin', when along comes two young fellers on foot and, seein' our camp, stopped and looks ed at us. They said somep'n to each other, then was goin' on, when I hailed 'em and asked if they didn't want any thing. They came to where we was an' we had a powwow.

"They said they was brothers. The older one was middle height, but the younger was small. They was both so young that their beards hadn't sprouted yit, and they looked hungry. I asked 'em what they was doin' without hosses, and they said they didn't own any hosses. We questioned 'em where they'd come from and where they was goin', but they didn't seem to have a home, and I couldn't learn from 'em that they was goin' anywhere. Fact is, they was down on their luck.

"We offered 'em somep'n to eat, and they chawed it up mighty fast. Then I poured out a cupful of whisky and handed it to the oldest one of the two. He tried to drink it, but I could see plain enough it was burnin' out his throat. There wasn't any use givin' it to his brother. If the oldest couldn't drink the stuff the other shore couldn't. I thort the biggest one looked big enough to drink whisky, but I was not surprised at the little feller not

"They looked so tired that Jack and I asked 'em if they didn't want to stay with us awhile and rest. They said they'd like to git some sleep, so we laid out a buffalo skin for 'em, and they lay down beside each other, and fust thing we knowed they was fast asleep, the younger boy's arm throwed around the older one's neck. Jack and I looked down at 'em, and we felt so sorry for 'em that we allowed we'd do somep'n for 'em. So while they was a sleepin' we stuffs some gold into their pockets. They must 'a' been mighty sleepy, for they didn't wake up while we was

"About supper time we woke 'em and when they see we was goin' to make coffee and fry bacon the oldest feller said he'd like to pay his way by doin' the cookin' and seemed so anxious about it that we let him do it. Lord, how handy he was, handlin' the skillet just like a woman! He got into our supplies and found some cornmeal and made a mess of cora pone that beat anything of the kind I ever eat. I told him he must 'a' done cookin' for his

"When we'd had our meal he and his brother washed the dishes and wiped 'em jist as if we was all in a house. Jack and I had been used if we was near a creek to puttin' 'em in it and lettin' the water run over 'em, but we never thort o' wipin' 'em. It seemed too much trouble. When the boys got through we found they hadn't anything to smoke, and we offered 'em pipes. They both took 'em and puffed as if they'd never smoked before in their lives, but the fust thing I knowed the littler one turned white and went off behind a bush to get rid of his supper. The big one smoked only a few minutes when he laid his pipe down.

"'How old are you fellers anyway? I asked. 'You act like a couple o' kids.' "'I'm twenty,' said the big one, 'and my brother is seventeen.'

"Twenty years old and can't drink or smoke? I hollered. 'Where was you brought up?

"He said they came from the east, but that was no news, for they both looked like tenderfoots that had been long enough in the country to git run

"So far neither of 'em had put his hands in his pocket, but the youngster when he come back from the bush lay down on the ground, and after rollin' over two or three times he caught sight of somepin' shinin' on the ground, picked it up and found it was a five dollar gold piece. You'd ought to seen the look on his face. Then he put his hand in his pocket and pulled out another one.

'How did that come there?' he

"'Haven't you got any of 'em?' I asked his brother.
"The feller put his hand in his pocket and pulled out some gold too.

"'See here,' he said; 'you men have been puttin' that gold in our pockets. 'Well, s'posin' we have,' I remarked "The brothers looked at each other

" "This is too much,' said the big one 'If you knowed all about us you wouldn't 'a' done it.'

"He looked as if he was agoin' to.cry. "'Who are you?' I asked.

"'I think,' he said, lookin' at the other one, 'we'd better tell 'em the whole thing.

"'Reckon we had.' "That oldest one he began to tell us a story, and before he'd half finished he got to cryin'. That set his brother to doin' the same. I hate to see a man cry, and I told 'em to stop their blubberin'.

"'I can't,' said the one that was talkin'. 'I ain't a man; neither is he. We're We're out to run off stock. Our folks is over there beyond the hills, starvin', and my sister and I allowed we'd got to go and git somepin' to sell for money to buy victuals with. Hosses is all that's worth anything, and we was goin' to light out tonight with two of yours. But your kindness has broken us all up. We can't do it.'

"Jack saw me feelin' for more gold, and his hand went to his own pocket. We handed out a couple o' more pieces and that opened the dam o' tears still wider. We told 'em it would be all right in the mornin'. We'd go over to where they lived and see what we could do for 'em. Then we spread all the buffalo skins we had, one over the other, to make a bed for 'em and put on a couple o' blankets for cover, and they turned in.

"I reckon that was the fust night's sleep they'd had in a long while with out feelin' that the bottom o' the world was a-droppin' out under 'em. Jack and I didn't do nothin' till they got to sleep. We hadn't left ourselves any thing to sleep on or under except our overcoats, and we allowed we'd keep up the fire all night, and we spread our coats over the girls, 'cause it's cold in that region when the sun's gone

"Next mornin' the girls got breakfast and now I knew they was girls I wasn't so struck with the handy way they had and what good things they could make out o' our small stock o provisions. After breakfast we all went over the hills to their home. We found a log hut and a family. The father was sick, the mother frightfully run down and the children the most miserable sight I ever saw. They'd come out to the west not knowin' what they was goin' to find, and they hadn't found nothin.'

"First thing Jack and I done was to go out and shoot a couple o' antelopes. There was a lake not far away with some good fish in it, and we pulled out some of 'em. We stayed with the family till we got 'em in pretty good condition so far as grub goes; then we went down to Denver and come back with a lot o' clothes. But they didn't stay where they was very long. The man got well and took 'em all to Denver, where he got a position with a firm that did a business he knowed all about, and pretty soon he was gittin' a good salary.

"Jack and I stayed in Denver, too, for we'd got tired prospectin', not havin the luck to strike any big thing. We had a little money between us, and we went into buyin' minin' stock, first off odd lots, and, makin' suthin, we went on till we sized up a purty good pile. We found it easier to make money that way than prospectin'."

"What became of the two girls," I asked, "who were intending to run off your stock?" "Oh, the girls? Why, I married the oldest one, and Jack Cundiff married the other."

He Handled 'Em.

Did you ever hear the story about the Irishman, Pat, by name, who applied at the wharf for work as stevedore? Well, if you have you won't need to read this one. He was, I should say, only four and a half feet in height, and when he applied Pa. for a job the boss was dubious.

"We're loading 3,000-pound anvils into that steamer," said he, "and a little runt like yourself couldn't handle 'em."

"Try me," said Pat. And the boss put him to work.

Pat hustled the anvils aboard all right The cargo was nearly all stowed in the hold, when the boss heard a splash. He ran to the rail and, looking over, saw Pat ran to the rail and, looking over, saw Pat struggling in the water.

"Throw me a rope!" he yelled, as he went under. He came up, called for a rope, and went under again. Again he rose to the surface.

"If you don't throw me a rope," he sputtered, angrily, "I'm going to drop this anvil!"

KITTERY TO CARIBOU.

The Central garage at Lewiston was burned Sunday, with a score of Eutomobiles. Loss, $54,000. Fred W. Kelley, aged twenty-eight years, an employee of the Central Maine Power Co., was instantly killed at Winslow last Wednesday, by coming in contact with a live wire.

The body of Fred E. Williams, of Winthrop, missing for two weeks, was found Saturday in a shed at East Winthrop. It is supposed Williams went in the shed to sleep, and was frozen to death.

The seventh annual farmers' week at Orono will be held March 3 to 8, inclusive. Reduced rates have been secured over all railroads, and every effort is being made to make this course the most successful and valuable of any previously offered. The program is full of special features.

William P. Hubbard, of Bangor, died Feb. 12, aged eighty-one years. He had been chairman of the board of assessors for nearly a quarter of a century; also president of the All Souls church corpora-tion, treasurer of the Maine Charitable association, and up to two years ago treas-urer of the Maine missionary society.

Because he lost ten cents which his mother had given him to make a purchase at a nearby grocery store and was afraid at a hearry grovery store and was arraid to return home and confess what he had done, Clarence, the twelve-year old son of George P. Cady, of Portland, cut a rope from his sled and hung himself from the piazza of his home. Twice within a few days the boy had lost small sums of money which his mother had given him, and she reprimanded him severely for it.

Rexall Grderlies

Our experience with them and the many reports we have received from those who have used them prove that they are really the most pleasing and satisfactory bowel remedy we know of.

Rexall Orderlies taste like candy. They are soothing and easy in action.
They don't cause griping, nauses, purging or excessive looseness, as do the usual physic or laxative. Rexall Orderlies seem to act as a tonic-strengthener upon the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They promptly relieve constipation. They act to overcome the cause of constipation. They tend to eliminate the cause of sick headache, biliousness, bad breath, nervousness and other ills attendant upon inactive bowels.

Make Us Prove This

We want you to come to our store and get a package of Rezall Order-lies. Use a few or use up the entire box. Then, if you are not entirely satisfied, come back and tell us and we will promptly return the money you paid us for them.

Expressions of grief and sympathy were universal Monday morning on reading that ex - Senator Hale was seriously ill at his Washington home. The latest report from a member of the family is to the effect that the ill turn was not so serious as reported; that there was no paralysis, and that the senator is recovering. Words of sympathy are expressed by the press throughout the county; the Boston Globe voices the sentiment that all hope he may yet have years of strength and happiness in his retirement from public life, where he was so long a commanding figure.

To Daniel Conary, of Deer Isle, who was one of a fishing party from Castine who enjoyed last week at Alamoosook lake, belongs the distinction of having landed the largest steel-head trout ever caught in the lake, it being thirty-three inches in length and nine and three - quarters pounds in weight.

Our Manset correspondent writes: "The Gloucester fishing schooner Jubilee, Capt. McNeil, arrived here Feb. 15 with decks swept, and five men disabled. While bound to port from Brown's fishing bank, she was struck by a heavy sea and every man was knocked down by its terrific force. The deck was swept clean of everything movable. After the water had run from the deck, the men were surprised to find a large mackerel flopping around, which they quickly captured, and the stew ard cooked it for their dinner. The injured men were looked after by the physician. The vessel will sail for her home port after landing her cargo of fish. The captain reports the worst month on the fishing ground that he has known in thirty vears' experience."

Legislative News of Interest to Hancock County Readers.

A remonstrance against a close time on deer in Isle au Haut, signed by John D. Davis and thirty others, was presented by Senator Patten Wednesday.

The bill to divorce the offices of recorder of the Ellsworth municial court and clerk of courts of Hancock county, came from the committee with a divided report-six in favor and one against. The majority report was accepted.

Rep. Sherman, of Bar Harbor, on Wed nesday presented petition of the town of Eden for total repeal of the automobile exclusion laws, with a bunch of petitions from individuals for same.

Rep. Harmon, of Stonington, on Thursday presented several remonstrances from citizens of Deer Isle and Stonington against the separation of these towns from the county of Hancock or the jurisdiction of its courts.

Bunches of remonstrances against any change in the lobster laws are being presented from the coast towns.

A resolve in favor of the town of Castine has been reported favorably by committee A remonstrance against changing the name of Eden to Bar Harbor was presented The bill to extend charter of the Eastern Maine railroad has been reported favorably. The resolve in favor of Gerry M. Garland, of Ellsworth, has been reported favorably by committee on pensions.

The committee on judiciary Monday re ported bill to amend city charter of Elisworth, in new draft, and that it ought to pass. The amended bill cuts out the provision for the election of two aldermen-at-large. The committee on sea and shore fishries Monday reported "ought to pass" or bill for protection of alewives in Patten's bay, Surry, and "ought not to pass" on bill to prevent destruction of smelts in Union river and Morgan's bay.

The bill to divorce Isle au Haut from Hancock county and annex it to Knox was reported favorably Monday.

The Ellsworth municipal court bill was taken from the table in the Senate yesterday, and recommended to the committee on bills in the second reading.

The committee on counties Thursday voted to report "ought to pass" on bill to separate the town of Isle au Haut from Hancock county and annex it to the county of Knox. The measure has been before previous legislatures, and two years ago was turned down, together with a proposition to take the same action regarding Stonington. Representative Ricker, of Castine, served notice on other Hancock county towns not to attempt to leave the county, even if Isle au Haut was successful.

Speaker John A. Peters, of Ellsworth Dr. C. C. Morrison, of Bar Harbor, and ex-Forest Commissioner Frank E. Mace, of Great Pond, before the committee on ways and bridges last Thursday, spoke in favor of an appropriation of $1,500 for the rebuilding of the bridge in the town of Mariaville.

MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

A bill to regulate the length of hat-pins vas introduced Wednesday.

A bill to compel railroads to sell 250, 500 and 1,000-mile mileage books at two cents mile has been introduced. A bill to require vehicles to carry lights at night has been presented. The bill provides that every vehicle on wheels, on my public highway or bridge, shall have light or lights so displayed as to be visible from the front and the rear, from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise.

For the first time in the history of Maine legislatures, the judiciary committee has returned a unanimous report in favor of woman's suffrage. There is a strong prob ability that the measure providing that the question of giving women the ballot be submitted to a vote of the people, will pass both Senate and House during the present session.

A bill to authorize the employment of county prisoners on the highways has been favorably reported by committee on ways and bridges.

It was apparent that he needed the kind of warmth that stays, the warmth that reaches from head to foot, all over the body We could have told him from personal knowledge that Hood's Sarsaparilla gives perma nent warmth, it invigorates the blood and speeds it along through artery and vein, and really fits men and women, boys and girls to enjoy cold weather and resist the attacks of disease. It gives the right kind of warmth, stimulates and strengthens at the same time, and all its benefits are lasting. There may be a suggestion in this for you.—Advt.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE GOULD.

George Gould, one of Ellsworth's oldest and best-known citizens, died Monday afternoon at his home at the Hancock house, after an illness of a few weeks of eart trouble.

Mr. Gould was born at Amherst, N. S. Sept. 7, 1830. He came to Maine when a boy of sixteen years, making his home in Hancock, where he was engaged for several years in farming and lumbering.

In 1872 he came to Ellsworth, purchasing the building at the corner of Grant and Main streets, then occupied as a small inn by Patrick Sullivan. Mr. Gould enlarged the building, and conducted a boarding house and hotel business under the name of the Hancock house, thus establishing what has since become one of the best-known hotels in the State In 1890 his son, Frank H., took over the business, and under his management the hotel has been brought to its present high standing. Mr. Gould, senior, retained his home at the hotel with his son, and enjoyed a wide acquaintance and popularity with the travelling public. Every trav elling man in Maine who has visited Ellsworth in the past score of years, knew George Gould, and all have pleasant recollections of him.

Mr. Gould was a man of fine physique. and in his prime, powerful and tireless was often called by woodsmen and hunters the "ablest" man in Ellsworth.

Mr. Gould married, on Sept. 5, 1855, Miss Eunice Y. Martin, of Lamoine, who survives him, with four sons - Frank Hand George H., of Ellsworth; Roscoe E. of Bangor, and Dr. Arthur L., of Freeport. Mr. Gould's death is the first break in the family.

The funeral was held at the home this forenoon, Rev. R. B. Mathews officiating.

STEPHEN GROSS. Stephen Gross, a resident of Ellsworth for the greater part of his life, died this morning at his home on Liberty street. He had been in failing health for som

Mr. Gross was born in Ellsworth Feb. 2 1838, but the greater part of his early life was spent in Orland and Bucksport. For ome years he followed the sea. He enlisted as a private in Co. A, 14th Maine infantry, on Dec. 9, 1861, and was disfrom service May 19, 1862, at Augusta.

Since then he had lived most of the time in Ellsworth, being employed as a millwright, and later engaging in the bakery business.

He leaves a widow and one son - Elmer Gross, of Middleboro, Mass., who, with his daughter Bessie, was summoned here last week by his father's illness. Of his own family, one brother and a sister survive - Reuben Gross, of Winterport, and Mrs. Frances Heath, of Verona.

The funeral will be held at the hom Friday forenoon at 10 o'clock.

MRS. MARY E. HOPKINS.

Mary Elizabeth, widow of James H. Hopkins, died last night at her home on State street, after a week's illness.

Mrs. Hopkins was born in Ellsworth March 21, 1832, the daughter of John H. and Mary Jones Langdon. Ever since her marriage she had lived at the State street home, built for his bride by Mr. Hopkins. Mr. Hopkins died March 24, 1911. They had one child-Helen, wife of Arthur Shute, who died Nov. 11, 1909.

The funeral will be held at the hom

A CHANCERY ROMANCE.

Helping a Friend, He Unearthed a Fortune For Himself.

Perhaps there is no more curious chapter in the history of the chancery courts than that of two Pittsburgh men. The first had a claim to a small estate abroad, but he did not have the money to pay the claim agency to a search, so he got a friend to back him.

This friend's name was Peterman and the money he advanced was like a grub stake-he was gambling on his friend's claim proving up.

One day when Peterman was at the claim agency office he came upon this advertisement in the agency files: "Peterman (Albertus), musician, born in Amsterdam in 1829, son of Charles Frederick and Henrietta Suzanna Gasman. Left for Liverpool in 1856. He is sought for inheritance by M. Contot avocat, 21 Boulevard St. Germain,

That was the inception of the famous "Kinsey docks" case, the name coming from the fact that the original Peterman was last seen at Kinsey docks, in Liverpool. The claim agency took the matter in hand, traced Peterman's lineage back and enabled him to establish a good claim to an inheritance of $200,000.

That was a case of fortune being thrust upon a man. — Lewis Edwin Theiss in Harper's Weekly.

JOBS FOR THE INDIGENT.

Swiss Method of Solving the Problem of the Unemployed.

In Switzerland the people act upon the theory that a man who is unemployed is, if left to himself, liable to become a waste by being a subject of charity and a tax upon the community. Therefore the problem is considered as an economic question.

The purpose is to assist the unfortunate unemployed to secure work, not only for the sake of his family, but in the interests of the state. There is no toleration for the loafer. Begging is prohibited by the law, and vagrancy is classified as a crime.

If an unemployed person does not make a serious effort to find work the authorities will find it for him, and he is compelled to perform it. If he refuses he is placed in the workhouse, where strict discipline is maintained and every inmate is required to work to his full capacity, receiving therefor his board and lodging and from 5 to 10 cents a day in wages

There are also institutions where temporary employment is furnished to ons out of work, through no fault of their own, and comfortable accommodations and some money compensa tion given until they can find more remunerative wages .- Chicago Tribune.

"What's the matter now, mother?" "You scarcely spoke a word to that young man you were introduced to last evening."

"I didn't like his way, mother."

"Did you know him?" "No; I'd never met him before." "Do you know anything about him?" "Nothing, except that he seemed to me to be very impertinent."

"Still, you shouldn't have snubbed him, at least until you had learned more about him. Once I snubbed a young man that way without knowing who he was, and I regretted it ever after, because I found out later that he was very rich. I might have mar ried him if I had been more careful." -Detroit Free Press.

Why Bruises Become Black and Blue. The color of blood is due chiefly to on in the little blood cells. W the iron is kept in these little blood cells, which are living and traveling around in the blood vessels, the color is red. Hit the skin hard enough to break some of the little blood vessels beneath the surface and the little red cells escape from the injured blood vessels, wander about for awhile in the tissues and die. When they die the iron that made them red before then changes to black and blue coloring. After awhile this iron is taken up by the glands called the lymphatics and made over again into nice red cells. The iron is taken up very much more quickly by the lymphatics if the black and blue spot is rubbed and massaged.

His Painful Debut,

"I shall not easily forget my debut," Sir Charles Wyndham said on one oc-casion. "We opened at Washington, and I appeared as a character who had to declare, 'I am drunk with love and enthusiasm.' Haying uttered the first three words, I was selzed with stage fright and said no more. This is what I read in a New York paper the next morning: 'A Mr. Wyndham represented a young man from South America. He had better go there him-self."

Riches and Contentment. "Contentment is better than riches," said the ready made philosopher. "True," replied Mr. Dustin Stax, "but my observation is that a man who is rich has a better chance of becoming content than a man who is contented has of becoming rich."-Washington

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

SPEAKING CONTEST.

School Give Exhibition.

The first of the series of speaking contests by pupils of the Ellsworth high school took place last Wednesday evening at Hancock hall, when thirteen members of the sophomore class spoke.

The exhibition was a creditable one throughout, and the judges had a hard task to name the winners of the three tipesses as to where the prizes would land occupied the attention of the audience after the judges had retired, and the variation of these guesses indicated the general excellence of all the speakers. The judges-Rev. R. B. Mathews, Judge Henry M. Hall and Miss Mary A. Greelyawarded first prize to Christina K. Doyle, second divided between Myrtle L. Camber and Ruth Bridges, and third to George H. The full program of the evening follows:

"Too Late for the Train,"

"Farragut at Mobile," Robert Hammond Haynes "The Battle of Life"..... Mary A Livermore

Gladys Louise Jordan "Aunt Polly Green".......George M Vickers Julia Morrison Estev

"Thanatopsis".......William Cullen Bryant Winnie Frances Falls

"Deepwater Politics"......May McHenry Sylvia Margaret Marshali "The Black Horse and His Rider," George Henry Gould

"Making a Man of the Boy," Eleanor Hale Higgins "Spartacus to the Roman Envoys at Etruria," Charles Albert Haynes "The Supremacy of the Art of Poetry,"

Myrtle Louise Camber "The Indian Warrior's Defense," Stephen Lee Joy "Lily Servosse's Ride,"......Albion Tourge Christina Kenney Doyle

AN APPRECIATION. [By one of the audience.]

A celebrated teacher of expression once said: "There comes a time in the life of almost every man when he is obliged to speak before an audience, and to do so creditably and with ease is an accomplish-

Listening to thirteen boys and girls from the sophomore class of the high school, speaking to an audience in Hancock hall last Wednesday evening, "creditably and with ease," the writer wondered how many of our citizens realize that the students are having an opportunity to acquire that "accomplishment' in the series of speaking contests held last year and this through the voluntary efforts of the teachers.

Not alone "to the victors belong the spoils", for the prizes that are so generously offered are but an incident-an inducement to the contestants and an interesting feature to the audience. The excellent work of those who win is separated from that of their less fortunate mates by only a hair's breadth; all have had alike the incentive to search for the best in literature, the same careful preparation for their work, and each student who acquits himself so creditably has taken a long and a never-to-be-forgotten step toward easy and graceful public speaking.

If the public would realize in how large measure these contests eliminate the need of such a course in expression as is offered in the schools of large cities, and would give the support of their patronage at the exhibitions, the contests might be made a feature of every school year, assuring the students at least one evening of practical application of the laws of oratory, and the audience an evening of literary entertainment at a nominal price.

"EVANGELINE."

Cast of Characters for Production To-morrow Evening. The cast of principal characters in the production of "Evangeline" to-morrow evening at Hancock hall, is as follows: Evangeline......Mrs Harry L Crabtree Benedict Bellefontaine...... W A Alexander Basil LeJeunesse.....John Blood, jr Father Felician Fred G Smith Rene Le Blane Ralph Royal Indian Woman Mrs Harry E Rowe Indians, peasants, soldiers, etc.

This entertainment is given in thirteen enes, and is acted in pantomime, while Mrs. Rodenbaugh recites the story. The solos are a feature. Mrs. Crabtree will sing "Protestations" and "It Was Not so to Be". Mrs. Rowe, as the Indian woman, will render "The Garden of Sleep". Mr. Blood, in the chapel scene, has an effective "Ave Maria" and Ralph Royal, as the jolly old notary, sings a "stein song" assisted by a large chorus.

The dances which enliven the production are effective. The Acadian gavotte, by eight young ladies, is stately; the Haymakers' Dance", by eight couples, a lively frolic, while the Acadian reel, by six couples will set every foot to tapping, and Michael, the fiddler, is sure to make a big hit.

The acting in some of the heavy scenes is wonderfully good, and some new talent is being brought forth which will be a surprise to the public. Mrs. Rodenbaugh is specially pleased with the cast, and compares it most favorably with that secured in many larger places. The children are wonderfully good. Rachel Haines and Ella May Johnston are the small soloists. Their rendering of the "Voodoo Man", assisted by chorus will be one of the hits.

This entertainment is not an amateur affair in the true sense of the word. It is given under the auspices of the Ellsworth Merchants' association, and under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Rodenbaugh. A dance will follow the entertainment. Music by Campbell's orchestra.

East Maine Conference. The East Maine Methodist conference, with Bishop Henderson presiding, will be sheld at Bucksport the week of April 21.

THE CHAPMAN CONCERT.

Sophomore Class of Ellsworth High Famous Tenor Giordano and Three

Other Great Artists. Not since the great Maconda concert given in Ellsworth a dozen or so years ago, when Hancock hall was packed to the doors, has there been here such a musical event as is booked for Ellsworth on the evening of Saturday, March 15, at Hancock hall.

Everyone knows that famous musicians are expensive; that they can, as a rule, only be heard in the great cities; seldom in smaller places, and, only then by some streak of good fortune; it is only by this, and Mr. Chapman's regard for Ellsworth and its festival chorus that this oncert can be given here.

Everyone who attended the last Maine music festival knows that Mr. Giordano was the sensation and the surprise. Notwithstanding all the splendid artists, among them Mme. Nordica and Mme. Rappold, this man captivated everybody with his wonderful singing and per-sonality, and, as just stated, it is by a streak of great fortune that Ellsworth is given an opportunity to hear him-an opportunity not likely to be ours again n, if ever.

Giordano is the greatest artist who has ever visited us, and this concert will go down into history, for if this wonderful young men has his health and strength it is only a question of a few years when he will be commanding $2,000 a night. Mr-Giordano will sing some songs in English as well as in his native tongue.

Mrs. Florence Anderson Otis, soprano who shared honors with Mme. Schumann-Heink and Mme. Nordica at the Ocean Grove festival last season, is an artist of great promise, and will add immensely to the programme with her solos, and in the great duets which she sings with Mr. Giordano.

Miss Sue Winchell needs no introduction to the larger cities of Maine, for she is an immense favorite. She is by far the finest lady 'cellist Maine has produced.

Mr. Chapman's artistic work needs no omment, as he has long been called a wizard of the baton, as well as of the Prof. Chapman writes THE AMERICAN that he has made a program which will appeal to all classes, which is especially operatic and popular.

All are advised to secure seats early, in order that they may not be disappointed; hundreds were turned away in December, when this wonderful artist appeared in many of the larger cities, and this second tour has been made possible only by the fact that so many places where he was wanted were disappointed last December, owing to the fact that Mr. Chapman and Mr. Giordano were unable to be away from New York more than two weeks at that time.

Remember that this concert is given under the auspices of the festival chorus, which receives a percentage of the receipts. which goes to the help local expenses. Don't forget the date -Saturday, March15. Tickets will go on sale at Moore's drugstore one week before the concert. Secure seats early. Mr. Giordano will sing no less then ten times.

WIRELESS PHONE A SUCCESS.

Harvard Professor Sends Sound of Voice Thirty-five Miles.

Assistant Professor G. W. Pierce of the department of physics at Harvard has devised a new wireless telephone instrument which may eventually revolutionize the methods of long distance communication. The new instrument has already received the hearty indorsement of John Hays Hammond, Jr.

Professor Pierce was the guest of Mr. Hammond at his Gloucester laboratory at Fresh Water Cove recently, where a series of experiments was conducted with the new apparatus.

The wireless power was concentrated about fifty feet above sea level. By means of the new instrument Professor Pierce got into communication with the Harvard Wireless club, thirty-five away, and talked with the club members for a space covering fifteen minutes.

With respect to ordinary grain alcohol, the component of our alcoholic beverages the facts are better understood. Ordinary alcohol is, when taken in moderate quantities, rapidly burned up in the body This fact has been demonstrated by numerous experiments. With wood alcohol, however, the case seems to be different, according to the recent investigations in the Institute for the Fermentation Industries at Berlin.

It has been shown that when wood alcohol is administered to animals it may not be eliminated completely even at the end of two days. The repeated ingestion of considerable doses of wood alcohol may lead to a dangerous accumulation thereof in the body. This factor has heretofore not been duly appreciated.

use of wood alcohol deserve widespread notice because of the increasing danger its unsuspected entrance as an adulterant of the cheaper grades of distilled liquors and certain medicinal products. The incertain of the degraded classes, says the Journal of the American Medical the admixture of the inexpensive wood a menace to the health of certain classes. However objectionable adulteration may be on general principles, it becomes far worse when some subtle danger is harbored therein.

Medicine at Half-Price and rather than await the ordinary methods of introduction, urged the Dr. Howard Co. to secure a quick sale for their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by offering the regular 50c bottle at half price.

Howard's specific for 25c, Mr. Parcher has so much faith in the Remedy that he will refund the money to anyone whom it does not cure.

When your head aches your stomach does not digest food easily and naturally when there is constipation, specks before the eves, tired feeling, giddiness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, heart burn, sour stomach, roaring or ringing in the ears, melancholy and liver troubles, Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not, it will not cost you a cent.

This latest achievement of science is of great value in curing sick headache. Thousands of women are to-day free from that painful disease solely through the use of this specific.

The wide-spread discussion which followed the series of deaths in Berlin as a consequence of the drinking of liquors contaminated with wood alcohol has again attracted attention to its poisonous character. There has been considerable difference of opinion as to whether the poisonous effect of this substance is actually due to the alcohol itself or to ome impurities, which are almost invariably present in all except the most refined products. There is a scarcity of facts regarding the actual behavior of wood alcohol in the animal body, so that the underlying causes of its extremely poisonous character are by no means

MAINE CENTRAL.

How Public Gets Benefits of Capital Investments.

(Raston News Bureau.) The situation with the Maine Central railroad, the most northerly of the New England lines, during its current fiscal year, has contrasted strikingly with that of the New Haven and Boston & Maine. While the latter two roads, as 'regards their record for efficiency and earnings, have been very seriously interfered with through a campaign of denunciation, both service and income of Maine Central have afforded notable illustrations of benefits from the New Haven's control where its exercise is encouraged by the public.

There is possibly an explanation in this of why the governor of Maine has very little interest in the call of the governor of Massachusetts to join in railroad regulation.

While the expense account of the more southern New England lines has been forced wide open, Maine Central's statement for six mounths to Dec. 31 tells a far different story. Its labor is appreciative of the treatment accorded it, and while some wage increases in the not distant future will doubtless be sought, these bid fair to be offset by increased freight and passenger receipts.

The pending 100,000-share stock issue by Maine Central will clean up a series of bond and note maturities the permanent financing of which has previously been postponed. Instead of $480,000 a year in interest, a disbursement of 6 per cent. in dividends on the new stock will amount to $600,000, or $120,000 a year above the company's present payments on account of $12,000,000 notes which will be retired March 15.

retired March 10.

If the obligations, which will be paid by the new financing, had not been outstanding during the first half of its current year and, instead, the road's stock had stood at the proposed $25,000,000, side issue. per annum would have been shown thereon after the above-tabulated improvements to its leased roads. Although the present traffic outlook is exceptionally good, it is to be borne in mind that Maine Central earnings in the first half of its fiscal year have usually run somewhat ahead of those in the last half.

When the new shares are issued, there will be outstanding against this 1,200-mile system capital stock averaging only $21,-000 per mile and combined funded and share capitalization (including all leased lines) of but $41,190. Aside from $2,000,-000 notes which will become payable in the spring of 1914, and for the meeting of which funds are now in hand, Maine Central has less than $3,000,000 of funded debt maturing during the first quarter of this century.

Through three successive "subscription rights" to its snareholders within as many years, in the form of aggregate offerings at par of $20,000,000 new_stock, the road his illustred all early requirements for new money and resolved a large amount of its fixed charges to a dividend basis.

Under its present management Maine Central has been rounding out and enterment which augurs well for a continuanc of the prosperity which now characterizes its terratory. Liberal outlays of the kind r we traffic and meet needs of its rs a e ann made in recent years, $7, 80, 00 having been spent or planned under President Mellen in the three years to June 30 last, as compared with $6,299,000 in the preceding seven years.

I service as testided to in the reccent interstate commerce commission investigation comprises a bright operating record that has satisfied customers, and he itself is flecte time results of adequate organization of the road's working forces and of provision of new equipment, yard and terminal modernization and other comprehensive bett aments.

The road has custivated in a broad way not only the passenger, tourist and summer notel fleirs, but has recently done s great deal toward · augmenting the output of Maine's soil. Potato shipments alone over Maine Central have been increased from 479,869 tons in 1909 to 565,156 tons last year, or 18 per cent. Industries have been generally encouraged by good service and the offering of advantageous side-track privileges.

All these things have not only made the Mellen management very popular in Maine, but are now bearing fruit in the form of a most decided traffic expansion accompanying the manufacturing and agricultural impetus in the road's ter-

WOMEN IN PORTUGAL

They Do All the Hard Work While Lazy Men Loll and Smoke.

The lot of women in Portugal is not in enviable one, according to Mr. Aubrey F. C. Bell, who in his book, "In Portugal," thus describes the labor that falls to their share:

"Portuguese men are so notoriously indolent that it is no exaggeration to say that two-thirds of the work of Portugal is done by women. To them the Portuguese word mourejar is really applicable, since, in fact, they work like Moors or slaves. They work in the fields and appear to bear the brunt of

"In one field the woman in the heat of the day draws up bucket after buck-et of water while the man sits perched in a shady olive tree. In the neighboring field a man watches six women at work among the maize. In a third a group of women stand working in the summer sun while a group of men sit at the same work under a vine treb with huge loads of immense weight, while the men accompany them empty handed. The man lies in his ox cart and must have a cigarro and a cope of wine or brandy after his hard day's work, or he sits at his counter and bids his wife go out into the cruel sunshine to fetch a heavy bilten of water or other provisions. Women work in the quarries. Women row heavy barges. Wherever there is hard work women are to be found."

Parents, Read this Letter!

Parents, Read this Letter!

I have a letter from a prominent Maine clergyman in regard to a sickness of one of his children from which I quote as follows:
"Our two-year-old baby was very sick at two different times and we came near losing her. We had the best doctors, but they did not know what the trouble was. In the first sickness she had high fever for several days, and the doctor said it acted like scarlet fever, but as there were no other cases he did not think it could be. Afterwards he broke out in a rash all over her body. The last sickness was similar and the doctor was puzzled. She was very nervous and we feared we would lose her. Your Dr. True's Elixir was recommended, and after two days' use she passed several worms from two to three inches in length, and is now well and strong and sleeps at nights without fretting, tossing and starting in a fright as she did formerly."

I will be glad to furnish this clergyman's name and address to anyone who cares to write to me.

N.B.-True's Elixir is the best known remedy for all stomach and bowel troubles.
Purely vegetable, pleasant to take and entirely harmless. Expels stomach worms and pin worms. All dealers, 35c; 50c; $1.00.
Yours for better health,

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powdercream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:

681/4 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67% Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from

Alcohol In Pe-ru-na-An Unjust Criticism

Having a little business in one of the federal offices of the city, after it was finished I fell in conversation with the official in charge concerning Peruna. I mention his business to show that the conversation was conducted with a man of more than ordinary in-telligence, being a employe of the gov-ernment who had passed through several civil service examinations. He said to me, not knowing who I was: "I think a great deal of this patent medicine business ought to be stopped. Especially such remedies as Peruna. Peruna, as you know, is a stimulant and contains eighteen or twenty per cent of alcohol. People take it without knowing what it is, and such remedies ought to be prohibited by law. My wa mother took Peruna once. She had cough, night sweats, was growing emaclated and weak. Several doctors examined her. The opinion was ex-pressed several times that she was her condition was quite serious. She was unable to get any relief from the doc-tors she consulted, although she took their medicines faithfully for nearly a year. Some one told her about Peruna, and against my wish and against the wishes of our family, she began taking At once she improved, and in less six months she apparently was We did all we could to discourage her in taking Peruna, but she per-sisted. It finally came out in the magazines that Peruna contained alcohol. Then we knew at once what it was that benefited my mother, it was simply the alcohol that Peruna contained.

We had the laugh on mother. We have did you?" her being cured with a dilution of alco-hol. She seems to be embarrassed by of a five per cent. solution of alcohol."

"Yes."

"In doing so you were drinking a pint of a five per cent. solution of alcohol."

our teasing her, but is very stubborn. She says that if she were to be sick in the same way again she would certainly get Peruna and take it, alcohol or no alcohol. So you see if people will persist in such foolishness there ought to be a law to prevent them."

I ventured to interpose a question.

"Yes, I suppose so."

"Five per cent would be one-twentieth. As each pint contains sixteen ounces you were then taking a little less than an ounce of alcohol before each meal."

"Yes."

"Well, I would not take Peruna," he persisted. "Now, I was sick, I had a stomach disease. A violent pain, that would come on about an hour or two after each meal. It grew worse and

One time I was having a bad spell on the train. The gentleman who occupied the next seat was a retired physician with whom I had been acquainted. He said to me, 'My friend, if you want to get well I would advise you to take a glass of lager beer before each meal. It think that will cure you.' Having followed the directions of several good physicians without any assistance. I thought I would try the beer. In a green well in the way to green with the containing alcohol. Without stopping to look into the matter at all you have seen the difference is something terribly disreputable about remedies containing alcohol. "That is correct," I replied. "You took a bottle of beer before each meal,

I ventured to interpose a question.
"You say the doctors could not cure her, and yet you say Peruna did cure her. What difference does it make to you whether it was alcohol or some other drug that effected the cure?"

"Well, I don't know that it makes any difference, but it is deceiving the people to give them alcohol even though it does cure them," he said.

I replied. "Why, I cannot exactly understand that. Alcohol is a drug, the same as quinine or morphin. If alcohol cures certain diseases where is the deception? I understand that the Peruna people print on the label of each bottle the per cent. of alcohol contained in Peruna. Each patient may read it, if he pleases. I cannot see where there is pleases. NORTH FRANKLIN.

W. F. Cousins and wife have returned

Mrs. Avis Murch Foss, of Bar Harbor, visited her parents last week. Miss Hazel Murch accompanied her home for a visit. Evidently the man who made the statement that the people of North Franklin and Eastbrook did not need a flag-station Me.

NEWS. at Eastbrook siding, instead of having to go two miles farther to Franklin station, because thay had to carry their butter and eggs to Franklin village to obtain money to purchase a ticket, could not have been conversant with the business methods of these places. We sell our products by telephone, send them to market by parcel post, and have our check come by the R. F. D. carrier, and are therefore ready to travel when the flag-station shall be an established fact. Feb. 17.

WORK WONDERS

For Worms in Children.

The diseases of childhood are often hard to interpret. A nervous condition, restless at night, an abnormally large appetite or sometimes none, may indicate worms. In such cases a teaspoonful of "L. F." Atwood's Medicine at night and a small dose before a light breakfast the following morning is harmless, and will settle all doubt about worms being the cause. Many mothers already know this. One of them writes: "My little boy, aged 6, has never been without 'L. F.' Atwood's Medicine since he was two, and I have found it invaluable for Worms, Constipation, etc."

Mrs. Adelbert E. Jellison,
Franklin, Me.

If you have never used "L. F." Atwood's Medicine, write for a free sample. 35 cents for a large bottle at allistores.
