QUARTER OF A BILLION

Nearly That Number of Motor Cars Registered in U. S. Last Year

The number of motor vehicles registered in the United States rose to 24,493,124 last year, the Bureau of Public Roads announced, placing the increase over 1927 at 1,359,883 or 5.9 per cent. The figure, based on State registration reports, covered automobiles, taxis, busses, motor trucks, road tractors but did not include 148,169 trailers and 117,946 motorcycles.

The owners paid the States and the District of Columbia an aggregate of $222,639,925 in license and registration fees, permit charges, fines and taxes and penalties, an increase of $21,568,893 or 7 per cent for the year. State highway funds profited by $208,880,272, local road funds by $60,399,109, and State and county bond funds by $31,825,911.

Leads To Some Interesting Reminiscences Concerning the Northend—Many Familiar Names

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Browsing around in search of the unusual I ran across a chart, which showed a plan of "Land situated in Rockland, belonging to the heirs of Knott Crockett." The plan was made by Davis Tillson, surveyor, October, 1868, with a scale of 60 feet to an inch. It shows that part of Rockland, which forms an uneven triangle, extending along Main street from Warren, to Cedar, western side of the road to Camden, around the square, on up the road to the corner, now known as Maverick Square and Maverick street, beyond Birch, across to North Main, down to Warren, taking in all of the eastern side of that street to Main.

Streets are laid out as we now know them from Warren to Cedar, also from Cedar to Maverick, although some of them are not named. Many names of holders of the property appear on the plan, some of which are familiar to the present generation, the largest shareholders being Mrs. Elionia Lindsey, Sophia Crockett, Healey, Perry's, Wooster and others.

What was then vacant land was largely used as pasture for the neighbors' cows. Individuals had bought land of Mr. Crockett, previous to the making of the chart, and had built dwelling-houses on the sites.

In corner of Warren and Brewster streets stood a building known as Carl block, which was used as a boarding house. It burned and after the Smiths bought that parcel of land, extending from Warren to Cedar streets, on Brewster, they built a stable there, which has recently been converted into a garage by the present owner Michael Armata. On the opposite corner the house now occupied by F. A. Maxcy was the property of Mrs. Maxcy's grandfather, W. Henry Rhodes, who kept a grocery store at the foot of James street.

Following up the street I found the names of Knowles, Kenniston, Hewett, Hopkins, Whitney. The Messer estate was then owned by P. N. Brown. On North Main, the names of Hopkins, Sleeper and others appear. Down Cedar I found Haver, Rankin, Pendletons, W. O. Hewett (a well known dry goods merchant), Farnham, Cox, Thomas, Vinal. Dr. Prescott's house which stood on the corner of Cedar and Brewster streets, was moved back several years ago, remodeled, and is now owned by the K.K.K.

Turning the Cedar street corner to the road to Camden were Holbrooks, Manning, Jameson, Thomas, Hatch and Allen. Rounding this corner, and along the road, were found Perry, Philbrick and Crockett. Between Warren and Camden is the old Furber house, still in a good state of repair.

Many of the above were names to conjure with in the making of Rockland's history.

The old Pine Grove school house on Bunker street is shown where even young men and women of our time, went to school, but which has been converted into a dwelling house.

Here Alden Tyler taught the grammar school in the upper room and Miss Mary Tyler the primary below, teachers whom everybody loved and

One of the big moments in Mr. Anderson's life was when he had charge of the first regular train to cross the new Carlton bridge from Bath to Woolwich. After many years of maneuvering trains across the Kennebec ferry enroute from Lewiston to Rockland and back it is no wonder that this moment loomed in Mr. Anderson's railroad experiences. His good nature, courteous manners, and meticulousness have earned him many friends.

FARMS AND THE TARIFF

Chief Matters To Be Considered By the Session of Congress Which Convened Today

The special session of Congress called by President Hoover to carry out the national party's pledges to aid the Nation's rural population through general farm relief legislation and upward revision of agricultural tariffs began yesterday.

Farm measures, incorporating in general the principles outlined by the President in his inaugural address and during the campaign, are ready for presentation to both houses early in the week. Present plans call for their disposition before any other proposed legislation is taken up.

While the tariff bill still is in the making it is expected to be completed by the latter part of the week and laid before the House either next Saturday or early the following week. As the House wrestles with the tariff, the Senate probably will consider measures to reappoint the membership of the House and fix a date for starting the 16th decennial census.

Many other subjects are being pressed for attention, but leaders are hopeful of holding the special session within reasonable bounds and adjourning before the weather becomes too hot.

Before getting down to work on the farm bills, both houses will have to go through the preliminaries of organizing. President Hoover's message will be read this noon and actual work on farm measures began on Wednesday, at least in the House. The entire House membership, including 68 new members—three of them women and one negro—must be sworn in. Except for Senator Cutting, Republican, New Mexico, all new senators have taken the oath.

All Senate seats are filled but one, that of William S. Vare, Republican, Pennsylvania, which is being contested. There will be five vacancies in the House due to a resignation and deaths.

The new House farm bill would set up a federal board with a $500,000,000 revolving fund to promote the effective marketing of agricultural products. The measure, described by members of the committee as being in accord with the views of President Hoover, was changed only in minor aspects from the form in which the sub-committee drew the original draft.

Approval of the measure was given by the committee after more than three hours deliberation in a Sunday session. The committee cleared the way for this action late Saturday by rejecting both the export debenture plan and the equalization fee.

The farm board was described by members of the committee as "the most powerful marketing board ever set up in the history of the world." It would have five members with a chairman and the Secretary of Agriculture as a member ex-officio, and they would be chosen by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. Except for the chairman, whose salary would be fixed by the Chief Executive, the members would receive $12,000 yearly. Two of the members would serve two years; two, four years, and the fifth for six years. Their successors would be chosen for six years.

The board after classifying the various commodities, would invite the cooperative associations to establish an advisory commodity committee of seven members, of whom at least two would be experienced handlers or processors of the commodity. The members of this committee, which would represent the commodity before the board in matters pertaining to it, would be chosen by the cooperative associations.

Among the various other functions of the farm board would be to promote education in cooperative marketing; to keep advised on crop prices, experiences, prospects, supply and demand; investigate over production and reclamation, the methods of expanding markets, developing by-products, and the effect of transportation upon marketing.

All loans made from the revolving fund would be interest at rates fixed by the board. They could be made to cooperative associations to aid in marketing, for the purchase of marketing facilities, to form clearing house associations and to carry on educational campaigns to extend their membership.

In addition, the board would be authorized to insure cooperative associations against loss through price declines on commodities regularly traded in upon an exchange which would supply accurate price records upon which to calculate the risk and fix the premiums.

The board would be prohibited from making loans which it might judge were likely to increase the production of any commodity in which a surplus usually was produced.

Upon application of an advisory committee, the board could recognize a stabilization corporation if it found the marketing situation demanded its formation. Under the regulations, the voting stock and membership interests would have to be owned by cooperative associations.

The corporation, operating with necessary advances from the board, might act as a marketing agency for its stockholders. It could buy, store, merchandise, "or otherwise dispose" of the commodity, and would "exert every reasonable effort to avoid losses and to secure profits," but would not be permitted unduly to enhance prices. Losses would be paid out of profits earned by the corporation, and would not be assessed against the stockholders.

All of the facilities of the government would be available to the board to obtain such information as it needed pertaining to its functions, and $1,500,000 would be authorized to pay the expenses and salaries of the board and its employees, and a penalty would be attached to the misuse of information by any person connected with it or any of the various commodity groups or associations, with which it dealt.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Kenneth Dever has moved from Camden and is occupying one of the E. N. Sylvester apartments, Cedar street.

Advices from the Chamber of Commerce indicate that most places of business will be closed Friday, Patriot's Day.

Albina Perry of The Highlands while cleaning the snow off the roof of his house Sunday fell, dislocating one of his shoulders.

Dr. H. L. Richards is in Portland, attending a class in dental economics and with his assistant Frederick Seavey, will take an intensive course in denture construction.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Scarrott have moved into the apartment at 37 Limerock street, vacated by Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Bird, who are at the Thorndike Hotel for the present.

The glass door which serves as the entrance to the southern Bicknell block blew to unexpectedly in Friday night's storm and Edward Prescott's right leg was cut by the broken glass.

Edwin Libby Relief Corps meets for work on quilts Thursday afternoon at Grand Army hall, with supper at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Nellie Higgins, chairman and the usual evening meeting, which, however, will begin at 7 o'clock.

Irving ("Huffy") Elwell is comfortably established in his new quarters over the New York Bakery. Of the 15 patrons who volunteered to assist in transferring the paraphernalia to the other side of the street all were present except 14.

Despite the severe storm Friday evening there was a fine turnout at the meeting of Golden Rod Chapter, for both supper and the business session. Four candidates were taken into membership—Miss Sally Dyer, Mrs. Leon White, Miss Vivian Ludwig and Mrs. Evelyn Ludwig.

Rev. Grube Cornish, head of the State welfare department, of Augusta, filled the pulpit at the Universalist church Sunday in the absence of Rev. C. A. Knelekocher. Mr. Cornish's address along the lines of his work was given in a most interesting manner, making a profound impression upon his hearers.

The floor timbers for the northern section of the new Glover block were put in place yesterday and excited much attention because of their sturdiness—the Glover method, by the way. The brook which flows under the proposed structure has been enclosed by a cement culvert, and the basement walls are of cement.

Library books turn up in curious places. One borrower returned a long lost book, found between the mattress and spring of a bed. Attics, store-rooms, and cupboards are favorite hiding places for so-called lost books. Absentminded borrowers leave their books in stores, offices, cars, and at the homes of friends. Even the movies come in for a share of library books. Now your library, next to having new clean books for you to read, delights in the return of lost books, even those that strayed from the shelves long years ago. When you find library books at home or down town, why not return them to the library? If you are unable to take them yourself, call the Public Library 564-W any day from 9 in the morning until 8.30 at night and they will be called for gladly.

Rev. Ernest W. Riggs of Boston fascinated his audience Sunday morning at the Congregational Church with a remarkable address on conditions in the Near East since the World War. In the past ten years Turkey has risen from a condition of abject impotence to political independence and has changed her point of view from the East to the West. Mr. Riggs said that the new Turkey has passed through five revolutions, political, religious, social, economic, and educational. It is the story of a nation having aside overnight her age old traditions and prejudices, and venturing out into new paths. It is the spectacle of a nation being reborn. In common with the nation of the Near East and Far East Turkey is determined to put herself in a position where she can meet force with force. What the outcome will be no one can predict.

SENIOR CONDUCTOR

Our Old Friend "SI" Anderson of Lewiston Now Has That Distinction

Silas H. Anderson of Lewiston, has been appointed senior conductor of the entire Maine Central railroad system by reason of the retirement of John A. Mace from the service after 59 years. Mr. Anderson who has been passing through Bath on the Lewiston-Rockland run for many years and is now making three round trips daily between Lewiston and Brunswick, has 54 years to his credit.

Mr. Anderson, familiarly known as "SI" was born in Bath Aug. 2, 1860. His father, Joseph E. Anderson, was active in railroad life for over 40 years, being an engineer and station agent.

"SI" was employed at this work until 1881 when he was made an assistant conductor because of the heavy traffic. His first regular run as conductor came in 1890 on a passenger running between Lewiston and Farmington. For 39 years he has had charge of a train. The Anderson family has been playing the railroad game since 1861 and "SI" is an encyclopedia of information about old times.

One of the big moments in Mr. Anderson's life was when he had charge of the first regular train to cross the new Carlton bridge from Bath to Woolwich. SCALLOP SEASON CLOSES

Fishermen Have Had Fair Catch and Good Prices—Rodney Feyler Develops Western Market

The 35 smacks which have been dredging the Maine coast scallop beds the past winter, came back to anchorage yesterday, the beds having been automatically closed by the statutes.

The fishermen checked up on a fair season despite the fact that many of the beds have been practically ruined, and found quite a crumb of comfort in the fact that the top price of $3.50 a gallon was $1 better, than last season's remuneration. The lowest price went was $2.25 and that for one day only.

The principal fishing grounds were from Rockland to Gouldsboro, in Eastern Penobscot Bay and in Blue and Frenchman's bays, the last named locality furnishing the largest yield.

Arthur Bain and S. P. Whitney divided honors on the biggest day's catch by a single boat, each bringing to port about 70 gallons. And this, incidentally, was the largest catch in ten years so far as has come to the knowledge of Rodney E. Feyler, who has been acting as a wholesale dealer during that period.

Mr. Feyler bought from the fishermen about 90 per cent of this season's catch, and estimates his purchases roughly as 7000 gallons in November, 5000 in December, 2000 in January, 4000 in February, 5000 in March, and 2000 thus far in April. The majority of the scallops were shipped to this port by the steamships of the Eastern line and the Vinalhaven boats. The fishermen received from Mr. Feyler approximately $70,000 for their season's work.

To provide a market for so many scallops Mr. Feyler has been gradually building up a market in the Western States. The scallop meat is shipped in cans and lead sugar barrels, some of it going as far as the Pacific Coast. The large increase in these shipments, year by year, is proof that scallops have the same appeal for the Western taste that they do here in the East where they are considered a great delicacy.

Mr. Feyler goes tomorrow to New Bedford where he expects to buy from 2000 to 4000 gallons of scallops a day during the summer season. Last year he bought 120,000 gallons of scallops which were caught in Massachusetts waters. He is looking forward to a good season, as a new bed has been discovered on the Georges Banks.

Closed time on the Maine beds lasts until Nov. 1st.

TO ISSUE MORE STOCK

Central Maine Given Permission To Put Out 6,000 Shares of Preferred

A decision has been rendered by the Public Utilities Commission authorizing the Central Maine Power Company to issue at not less than 97 percent of par value any accrued dividends, 6,000 shares of its preferred stock, $8 dividend series, of the par value of $100 each aggregating $600,000 for future construction, extensions and improvements and for the reimbursement of its treasury.

"Considering the extent of the plans for future construction, as evidenced by work orders, with a description, presented in estimates of cost to complete construction for which authorization has been made, including the Bingham Dam Development, the sum asked for would not seem an unreasonable amount to allow for immediate needs in carrying forward the program of the company," says the decision of the Public Utilities Commission.

"WAS ALWAYS BOOSTING"

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 9

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

The Knox County boys here, were shocked today to learn of the death of our good friend and companion, John L. Donohue. We cannot realize that he has gone. In his passing Rockland, Knox County and St. Petersburg, lose a valuable asset, for he was always vitally interested in their welfare. He was always boosting the community in which he lived, and the many pleasant hours we spent together here, will always be remembered by me. His first and fast thoughts were always of his home city and its welfare. I share with his family and the city he loved in the great loss they have sustained by his sudden death.

Orlando H. Lane, a Lewiston attorney, who once practiced in this section of the State and started to take an active part in politics, was arraigned before Judge John A. Peters in the United States district court in Portland Friday on an indictment charging forgery of a World War veteran's compensation checks, was ordered to furnish $5000 bonds and when unable to do so was committed to jail. He pleaded not guilty to the charge.

And I'll go hand the plow.

First ye man dress yer children fair,

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, Me., April 16, 1929.
 Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who on oath declared that he is President of the office of The Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of April 15, 1929, there was printed a total of 6420 copies.
 Before me, FRANK B. MILLER, Notary Public.

And will be a father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.—II Corinthians 6:18.

The State of Maine Publicity Bureau will operate this year with a budget of $27,000, and will doubtless give even more valuable service than it has in the past. Most of us know in a general way what the Bureau is doing, and all of us agree that it is work which should be done, but how many have a full conception of the work. Here are a few of the major accomplishments: Last year the Bureau answered 23,976 letters received from $26,000 spent for State of Maine advertising. Inquiries regarding industry and agriculture were referred to the State Chamber of Commerce, the Associated Industries, the Department of Agriculture, the Industrial Department of the railroads, local Chambers of Commerce and similar organizations. From June 18 to Sept. 4, 28,306 parties numbering one to five persons were handled at the office. The largest single day was Aug. 20 with 732 visitors registered; 4,548 parties registered at the Kittery branch, and corresponding numbers at the branch offices in Bangor, Houlton and Calais; 43,470 automobiles were registered at the main office, Portland, July 1 to Sept. 4 from every State in the Union and 17 foreign provinces or countries. Records show that less than 2% were so-called "tin-can tourists." There were distributed 139,995 pieces of literature. The Bureau has a year-round office personnel of five including manager. This is increased during the rush season to 12 or 13—extra stenographers and mailing clerks during the spring advertising campaign, and extra clerks in the Information Bureau during the summer months. This does not include the personnel of Branch Bureaus, which number five, making a total of 17 to 20 in the various offices.

Inspired by the wet success in Wisconsin, two other States, Illinois and Missouri, have set about for less strenuous liquor laws. The Wisconsin result was discounted far in advance, and it seems only fair to state that in Illinois and Missouri the "Wets" have two decidedly good prospects. There are, no doubt, thousands of good citizens in those States—just as good as the "Drys" for that matter—who believe honestly that prohibition as practiced in this country is not the proper method of handling the rum question. They may be correct in their premise, but if the "Wets" win will it be that class of citizens which has brought about their victory, or will it be the crooks, gunmen and thugs who brought such cities as Chicago into disrepute the world over?

Usually when Calvin Coolidge talks he employs the English language with so much success that everybody comprehends his meaning. But according to David Lawrence his recent article in Cosmopolitan hasn't evaporated the political mystery as to why he did not choose to run. It was not the third term bogey, because he does not think that vice presidential succession to the Presidency should be counted as a term in the sense of making impossible three periods of service. Mr. Coolidge said that he did not want the job, and discouraged those who would have forced it upon him, but the unexplained mystery is the action that he would have taken had he been drafted.

When Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank opened his mail Saturday out dropped a bill in which all of the major nations of the world have an interest. It was made out by the Allies, and is said to have called for reparations settlements to the amount of ten to twelve billions of dollars. It is a serious echo of the world's greatest war, but how quickly we would all vote to cancel it if it would be the means of bringing back the precious lives which were sacrificed.

Now they are talking of a gold rush to Quebec where copper-gold ore from the Chibougamau district brings $19.50 to the ton. But most of the gold now found on the Canadian side of the border comes from America, already mined.

Enforcement of the prohibitory law may be a joke in Aroostook County, as some persons loosely intimate, but it is no joke to George H. Knox who resigned from the sheriff's berth after he had been interviewed by the governor.

Now that the Maine Legislature has solemnly declared the mosquito to be a nuisance, and the scientists say that the mosquito is the wildest thing in Africa all that we have to do is enforce the law against them.

The recent frost caused crop damages to the amount of $55,000,000 in California, but of course this fact is being carefully suppressed by the Florida newspapers.

THE LAST OF LEGISLATURE

A Review of Some of the Important Measures Which Were Passed At the Biennial Session

The 84th Maine Legislature, which adjourned at 3:10 Sunday morning, sine die made a number of notable statutory changes.

There was passed, as one of the last acts of the Legislature, the Gillespie Highway Commission bill. An emergency clause was attached, and a two-thirds vote was secured in both branches, 22 to 5 in the Senate and 110 to 25 in the House. This bill automatically removes the present Highway Commission, and ends the tangle which has bedeviled the entire roads program since the United States Department of Agriculture withheld further Federal highway aid until the completion of the commission was changed. Two members resigned—after exonerated by a State investigating body—and a third refused to quit office.

The Legislature also passed Sunday over the veto of Gov. Gardner, a bill creating a board to administer aid to dependents of veterans of the World War, regardless of whether or not the veterans were disabled in the war. The act provides $50,000 a year for needy dependents of disabled veterans.

One of the most bitterly fought measures to be passed at this session was the Carlton power bill, which would permit export of surplus power. If accepted by the voters, it will constitute a distinct change in the water power policy of the State. It would provide for the organization of transmission companies which are to purchase surplus power of generating companies. The bill contains an excise tax provision.

The Legislature passed a bill giving to electrical companies doing a public utility business the right of eminent domain. This bill is considered a companion bill to the Carlton bill, as it would do away with many difficulties which might attend the building of transmission lines.

Radical changes in the court system of the State and in the method of providing for the appropriation of the University of Maine have been made. The new court bill would diminish the number of justices in the present Supreme Judicial Court and make of it a law and appellate court, while the present Superior Court system would be enlarged and the justices of that court would handle the trial work now carried on by the Supreme Court.

The act creating a mill tax for the University of Maine provides a fixed appropriation for that institution and will enable the trustees to plan a continuing policy instead of being dependent upon the varying sums granted by the Legislature at each session.

A big power development in Northern Aroostook is provided for by the chartering of the Fish Pier Power and Storage Company by the Legislature. This bill would permit the International Paper Company interests to create a huge storage basin in the Fish River region, to build a generating plant at Fort Kent and a $3,000,000 paper mill at Van Buren. Interchange of power between Maine and New Brunswick is provided for under the bill.

Child marriages will be made more difficult by the passage of an act which forbids the issuance of marriage licenses to those under 16 without written consent of their parents or guardians and without the municipal clerk having notified in writing the judge of probate in the county in which they reside of the filing of such intentions. He may, in the interests of public welfare, forbid the issuance of such certificates.

An unusual measure passed is the act which would create the Maine Foundation. A corporation headed by Gov. Gardner and Chief Justice Scott Wilson, and including presidents of the four Maine colleges and other leading citizens of Maine, is chartered by the State to hold as trustees gifts to be used in the promotion of industrial, literary, scientific, musical, charitable, educational, social, agricultural, moral, religious or benevolent objects.

Change in the printing of the State ballot is required by a law which would require the designation of the ballot to be printed on both sides when folded.

The charter of the Kennebec River Company under which no work has yet been done, has been extended for two more years. This charter authorizes an important storage development in the Dead River region. Osteopaths have been permitted to practice obstetrics and surgery, a privilege for which they have contended for several sessions of the Legislature.

The power of the State Highway Police is made the same as that of deputy sheriffs in connection with the investigation of crime and apprehension of criminals, according to the provisions of an act passed as an emergency measure.

The Legislature has passed the Crockett bill, which would include the hit-and-run driver and drivers who fail to pay court judgments among those who must give proof of financial liability for receiving licenses. This makes the Maine law similar to that of Connecticut. At the same time the Legislature rejected a general compulsory automobile insurance law.

A bill was passed to provide a bounty on bears in sections where they are doing damage to crops or domestic animals.

The names of two towns have been changed by the Legislature—Old Orchard to Old Orchard Beach and East Livermore to Livermore Falls. Several towns have been given opportunity to vote upon town manager charters.

Minus the entire portion pertaining to fishing, the bill to simplify and re-codify the fish and game laws of the State was passed.

Thus the laws and regulations pertaining to fishing will remain as they

CARL BENSON'S ADVENTURE

Manager of Park Theatre Had Nearly Succumbed To the Storm When Rockland Motorist Came Along

Motoring home from Boston in Sunday morning's blizzard Adriel U. Bird passed a pedestrian on the outskirts of Waldoboro. The man was staggering under the force of the gale, and it was manifest even from a quick glance that his strength was nearly spent.

Mr. Bird was unable to stop his car on the side of the long hill, but when he reached the top he got out and shouted to the stranger an offer of assistance.

The stranger proved to be Carl M. Benson, manager of Park Theatre, who had started to seek the nearest shelter after his own car had been ditched at Sawdust Hill. The snow and sleet almost blinded him, but he estimates that he had finally covered about a mile, sometimes crawling through drifts that seemed to be three or four feet in depth. The highway was completely deserted and with no habitation in sight, the utterly exhausted Rockland man was nearly on the point of giving up the struggle when he caught the reflection of a motor car's headlight.

His joy at finding the motorist to be a fellow citizen may well be imagined. The completion of the journey was no easy matter, however, for formidable drifts were piling up all along the highway, and the car was stalled two hours on the outskirts of Warren.

At the Thursday evening meeting of Penobscot View Grange the question, "Resolved, that back seat drivers of automobiles do more good than harm" will be discussed by Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Karl E. Packard, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Clinton, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Brazier and Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Richardson, followed by an open forum of "free for all." Benjamin Franklin's "Poor Richard's Almanac" and other sayings will be quoted and Hattie E. Gregory will give a sketch of Franklin's life. F. S. Philbrick will "fiddle," all will sing some of the old songs and "April Snowstorms of the past" will be a topic for the "old timers" to discuss. The farmers are asked to report what they have planted and Mesdames Marie Gregory and Ruth Humphrey are scheduled for musical numbers.

News was received here this morning of the death of Clarence C. Thomas, formerly of this city, who has been in the employ of Armour Company in Gardiner. Cause of death is reported to have been an asseptic throat.

Yesterday was the 17th anniversary of the sinking of the S.S. Titanic on the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. Of the 2340 persons on the ill fated ship 1635 were lost.

Rockland Lodge, F.A.M., holds a special meeting tonight for work on the Fellowship degree.

W. J. Dorgan has bought the parcel and laundry delivery business which was established by the late Sylvester O. Thorndike, and takes possession at once.

Mayor Carver is in Washington, D. C. attending a good roads conference.

The monthly meeting of the Knox County Fish & Game Association will be held at the American Legion hall tonight, with supper at 6.30 p. m. George Harrison, agent of the Grand Trunk Railroad will talk on the sporting facilities of Eastern Canada and will bring with him several reels of motion pictures.

GREAT BOWLING HERE THURSDAY

Ralph Pearson, State Champion, and Bill Milligan, Forty Club Challenger, Will Meet at Carr's Alleys

Sensational bowling will be on tap for local fans at Carr's alleys Thursday night at 8 o'clock when Ralph Pearson, active champion of Maine, will defend his title against Bill Milligan, the Forty Club challenger of this city. It will be the biggest bowling event held here in years and with State laurels at stake is creating keen interest in all parts of the county.

Pearson has had a strenuous career as champion, having defended his title against such men as Ovide Caron, former champion; Bill Manning and the Sanford wizard Arthur Legere. He is an artist on the alley with a remarkable cleanup ability and a famous crash ball that has defeated many opponents at the outset.

On the other hand Milligan is a real bowling ace with an accuracy and a steadiness that is likely to raise havoc with the more spectacular champion. This is easily Milligan's best winter and he is in perfect shape for this crucial test. He is a sensational, skillful master of the bowling game and his official sponsors, the Rockland Forty Club, are confident of victory. He is a member of the club and bowled its teams to victory this and other seasons.

The match will be 10 strings here and 10 at Portland, the Rockland match starting at 8 o'clock Thursday night. The Carr alleys provide an ideal setting with fine chance for spectators. A limited number of reserved seats have been arranged for and these tickets may be obtained from the committee—Horace Lamb, Jack Black, Fred Black, Dr. Linwood Rogers, Joseph W. Robinson, L. B. Cook and Basil Stinson. In addition general admission and rush seat tickets may be obtained from them or most any Forty Club member, at Burpee & Lamb's store, Black & Gray, Inc., Thomaston, telephone 59, or the Vinalhaven & Rockland Steamboat Co. office, telephone 402. As the space for the event is limited an early reservation of tickets is urged.

One who has been leading lady of the stage and cinema will Wednesday and Thursday make her Rockland debut in the new art form, Vitaphone. Gladys Brockwell, who will always be remembered for her part in "Seven Heavens," will have the leading role in the Vitaphone playlet—"Hollywood Bound" at the Strand theatre. This is the first time in 14 years that Gladys has had a comedy role. She carries it extremely well. A very interesting and unusual touch is the offering of Carolyn Snowdon and her company. Carolyn is one of the foremost West Coast colored syncopators, having led jazz bands in Southern California for four years. She sings and dances with a rare interpretation of the jazz music. The synchronized feature is "Desert Nights" with John Gilbert.

The Glover-Lawry Company, capitalized at $100,000 was incorporated last week, with Edward F. Glover as president, William A. Glover as treasurer and those officers, together with Mrs. Katherine Norton and Mrs. Alice Knight as directors.

Anniversary exercises will be held by the local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs in their hall Friday night, April 26, with Frank B. Miller, Rev. H. R. Winchenbaugh and O. B. Lovejoy as speakers, a Rebekah music program and dance afterward. On the following Sunday the bodies will attend the Methodist church.

A fine paper on "Securities and Stock Market" was given at the Forty Club yesterday noon by Standish Perry who brought it first hand being an employee of the fine old security house of Stone & Webster. He had a basic understanding of the subject which he translated into terms interesting to the layman. The Milligan-Pearson bowling tourney of Thursday night at Carr's alleys came in for a vigorous approval and a tentative date for the big Father and son get-together of Rotary-Lions-Forty Clubs was named. The club paid a regretful adieu to "Back" Fifehead who moves this week to Bangor. The attendance in excess of 60 included Dr. R. W. Bickford, Al Wiseman, Charles C. Wotton and William Blackall as guests.

"You can't afford to miss it," says the notice for tomorrow night's meeting of the Baptist Men's League. Rev. William J. Day, founder of the League, has come all the way from Winthrop, Mass., to deliver the address, and he has for his subject "The Most dramatic Event in the World War." No hint is given as to what angle he will approach the subject from, but knowing Mr. Day the members know of the great treat in store. The supper will be one of the two notches extra kind.

T. E. Libby and Charles S. Libby of Vinalhaven were marooned in the city over Sunday on their way to Boston.

When the Canary Sings Bass

By BLAKE E. ANNIS, D. C.
(No. 26)

If there is ever a time when the canary sings bass it is when it has a spring cold. It will sing but it can't lift. It will sing bass because it feels base.

For such acute ailments as the spring cold, sore throat and run-down condition, there is no better health giver, no better method of getting back to normal than by chiropractic spinal adjustments. It is a great conditioner for the summer, a real tonic. By my chiropractic health method I correct diseases of the eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and lower organs.

MORE GRAFTING

Is Calculated To Increase the Price of Apples In Knox and Lincoln

No more low priced apples. That's what the orchardists of Knox and Lincoln counties say, according to the Farm Bureau News. The McIntosh Red seems to be the popular apple. Last year over 1,500 trees were top worked by men in the county.

From all indications there will be more trees grafted this year. Marshall Moody is going to start grafting over his Starks. George Cameron of Union has a block of Ben Davis which will be finished this year. In the Bachelier orchard, Union, A. C. Heald is going to work over some Ben Davis. J. F. Calderwood, Union, has a block of Starks that he will start to work over this spring. In Hope, F. M. Payson, Henry Brown, Miller Hobbs, Frank Grasso, W. F. Bartlett, Chris Grasso, E. N. Hobbs, A. F. Dunton and Nate Barrett are all going to do some grafting.

The recent agricultural outlook indicates that the New England orchardist has a distinct advantage over others in that he is close to the markets and has the opportunity for the production of certain high quality varieties. The McIntosh for Maine

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

The worst snowstorm for the winter came Friday and Saturday, blocking roads and interfering greatly with traffic. Old Sol came out Sunday and caused the snow to disappear rapidly. There is still a large body remaining and it is hoped people will not forget the dear little birds, hovering around to be fed.

Last Friday was observed as Bird Day at the Primary and Grammar schools. Many interesting facts were learned about the birds.

Child Health Day will be observed May 1 by the primary and grammar schools. It is hoped that many parents and friends will visit the schools on that day. Mrs. Louise Newton of Kent's Hill will speak to the children on good posture.

TO ADDLEPATE

[For The Courier-Gazette]

Hey diddle diddle, Hear Addlepate's riddle, What is it? Who has it? and why? Cannot Addlepate get it and keep it and pet it? Why is the creature so shy? No secret enfolds it. Its owner still holds it. It still lives, rejoicing and free. It's vain to argue, 'Tis no use to desire O. B. Joffa's G. O. A. T. Addlepate tried to get it, and keep it, and pet it. In device ways, not a few. Now she's wondering whether it still wears a tether. So, I cheerfully answer, he do!

PARK THEATRE

The Ebel May Shorey Company opened their week's engagement at the Park last night by the presentation of the intensely interesting comedy drama "The Frame Up." This company is a new one to Rockland theatregoers, but if the reception accorded them last night is any indication they should be enthusiastically approved. "The Frame Up" is a story of a young office worker in the employ of a New York millionaire who becomes a victim of circumstantial evidence and is framed by Paul Harding, the real culprit, who committed the theft to further his own ends. A very pretty love story surrounds the plot of the play which makes a happy ending when the innocent boy is vindicated to return to his sweetheart and the ends of justice accomplished. Ebel May Shorey as Gloria Wayne, the girl, captivated her audience with her clever and versatile portrayals. The bulk of the comedy was taken by Fred S. Campbell as Ted Saunders, a reporter. Mr. Campbell had the audience in roars of merriment with his humorous sayings and deportment.

The specialties were well received and included Miss Hazel Roswell, a clever dancer, and Fred Campbell the comedian, who sang some of his own songs and told some funny stories. Miss Shorey's peppy orchestra was forced to play several encores and proved that they are real musicians.

Tomorrow matinee and evening Miss Shorey will present a modern version of that grand old play "East Lynne." If you have never seen this great play you owe it to yourself to see this interpretation. The policy of the company will be a complete change of play, scenery and specialties daily. Matinees and evening performances daily with reserved seats on sale at the box office. Popular prices prevail. There will be a special matinee Saturday for the children.—adv.

STRAND THEATRE

"The Wolf on Wall Street," an all time feature George Bancroft and Bachelard is now showing.

The new announcement for Wednesday-Thursday of a motion picture bearing the romantic title, "Desert Nights," should be enough to make the feminine hearts of young Rockland beat a trifle faster. But that isn't all by any matter of means; for added to this alluring title is the name of a star who has often been called the screen's greatest lover. The name, of course, is John Gilbert, the magnetic star of "The Merry Widow," "The Big Parade," "Flesh and the Devil," and countless other films. In "Desert Nights," a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sound presentation, Gilbert is again cast in a role similar to those that have endeared him to the American movie public. And the woman who fascinates him and who learns to love him as they wind their way through the wind swept wastes of the desert, is a notorious diamond thief. She and an accomplice have robbed him of a fortune in precious stones and have made him their prisoner. But he alone knows the secret of the desert; he alone knows the way back to civilization. The fate of the diamond thieves is in the hands of their prisoner. Here is a situation that is developed in highly dramatic fashion, moving swiftly through many exciting adventures and building up to a power and convincing climax.—adv.

LAST OF LEGISLATURE

now stand during the next two years, the only changes by the act relating to the administration of the department. The measure provides for a commissioner and deputy commissioner and for an advisory council of seven. The resident hunting and fishing license fee will be increased and put on an annual basis, the fee to be 65 cents for a hunting license and 65 cents for a fishing license, for $1.15 for a combination license for both hunting and fishing.

Authority has been given the city of Portland to vote upon a new charter providing for a board of Mayor and nine Aldermen. Westbrook has been given an opportunity to vote upon amendments to the charter, which would provide for a biennial election and reduce the number of Aldermen from 13 to 7.

The Legislature passed the $15,000,000 bond issue for roads and the 3-cent gasoline tax, both measures to be voted upon by the people in September.

Two important changes have been made in the laws regarding the use of highway funds. One law would raise the limit of population from 2500 to 5000 for towns where bond issue money can be used in the built-up or compact portions. Another measure would permit the use of third-class of highway funds in sections of road where the houses are nearer than 200 feet apart.

Passage of a $50,000 resolve provides for the continuance of work upon an important highway which when completed will connect Jackman and Greenville.

The taking over of the last private-owned toll bridge in the State is made possible by an act which would empower this State to take over the Arrowie Bridge.

The Grand Army veterans were recognized in a $15,000 appropriation to assist in defraying the expenses of the national encampment of that organization which will be held in Portland in September.

Sixteen legislators, one from each county have been appointed as members of a recess committee to re-consider the Inland Fishing laws. This committee has been given authority by the Legislature to hold hearings in Augusta and in other places if they see fit, to employ counsel, and an appropriation of $2,000 has been made to pay the expenses of the members of the committee. The members from this section are Senator Zelma M. Dwinall of Camden, Representative H. W. Bishop of Boothbay Harbor, Senator J. Sherman Douglass of Lamoine and Representative Frank E. Littlefield of Monroeville.

The House Saturday finally killed the act repealing the bounty on hedges. This was an emergency measure requiring a two-thirds vote of the entire membership of the House to enact it. But 50 members of the House voted for the measure so that the opponents lacked only one vote of having a two-thirds vote against the measure.

The measures which would provide for a State-owned toll bridge near Bucksport went to Gov. Gardner for his signature. One of these bills provides for an amendment to the constitution which would permit the issue of bonds to the amount of $1,200,000 for the construction of this bridge which is to be known as the Hancock-Waldo bridge.

The other authorizes the Governor to appoint a board of directors to build the bridge, which is to be located in Prospect or Stockton Springs in the County of Waldo and in Bucksport or Verona in the County of Hancock.

Bills were introduced early in the Legislature for two private owned toll bridges to be built in this section. Senator Nickerson of Waldo insisted upon a State-owned toll bridge and pushed forward his measure to passage.

A RETURN MATCH

Bud Fisher and Johnny Miltus Meet Here Again Friday Night

Determined to strike while the iron is hot the local boxing management announces another exhibition for Friday night—a return match, in fact, between Bud Fisher of Rockland and Johnny Miltus, the boy from the Granite State.

In their bout last Friday night it was hit and slash every minute—no clinching, no stalling and no loafing. There were times when Bud seemed on the point of sending Miltus to the pugilistic graveyard, but Miltus had surprising strength and agility and there were other moments when Bud, himself, appeared to be in danger.

Friday night's bout ought to convince the fans as to which is the better man.

Larry Walsh and Bob Cecetti will meet again. A low blow interrupted their match last Friday night, but this time the blows will be high and hard, and the fans are assured of another "go" which will keep them on edge to the finish.

There will also be three other fast bouts.

BUYS A THEATRE SITE

Corporation Headed By Manager Dondis To Build In Skowhegan—Ensign Otis Also a Director

Immediate construction of a theatre in Skowhegan, which will cost between $60,000 and $75,000, is contemplated by a corporation formed yesterday with a Rockland man as president and another Rockland man as a member of the board of directors.

The site for the new theatre was bought yesterday, and a representative of the corporation is already in conference with an architect concerning the plans and specifications.

The new corporation is known as the Somerset Theatres, Inc., and is capitalized at $50,000, with $30,000 as common stock and $20,000 as preferred stock. Joseph Dondis, proprietor and manager of Strand Theatre is president of the corporation, Blinn W. Page, of Skowhegan is treasurer.

The contract will be let in May and it is hoped to dedicate the theatre the first of September. A building capable of seating 900 or 1,000 persons is planned. It will probably be and George W. Gower of Skowhegan is clerk. The directors are Mr. Dondis, Mr. Page and Ensign Otis, Rockland attorney and former newspaper publisher. It is said, unofficially, that the three directors are equal owners of the common stock.

The tract of land bought by the corporation yesterday consists of three large lots having a frontage of 250 feet on Court street, and located only a biscuit's toss from the main street. The land is now occupied by two residences, a large storehouse used for lumber, the Standard Oil Co.'s office and two large barns.

The contract will be let in May and it is hoped to dedicate the theatre the first of September. A building capable of seating 900 or 1,000 persons is planned. It will probably be constructed of brick, as Skowhegan has a brickyard nearby.

The new corporation appears to have shown excellent judgment in the selection of this franchise as Skowhegan draws from a large territory and has but one theatre.

Nearly 100 Brave-Storm To Attend Rubinstein Musical

WONDERS OF RADIO

Here Is a Correspondent Who Has a Remarkable Vision

Editor of "On My Set":

Will you please give me the space to answer Charles Freely's comment in your columns on radio hook-ups, as the man seems to have a wandering mind when writing about radio. You have read recently of the woman who heard music coming from the sink drain pipe as she was doing her dishes in the kitchen. And the man who went down cellar to put coal on the furnace fire and heard singing coming from the gas meter. Strange but true. No spirits. Just radio mystery. As Patricia Hill says, a hippopotamus may have been calling its mate. Who knows? It is said that sounds or vibrations, once launched into the ether continue indefinitely on their uninterrupted course.

For thousands of years these sounds we hear over the radio have been traveling through the ether, but no one had ever invented an instrument to bring them within tune of the human ear. If our ears were tuned to catch all of these sounds, what a bedlam it would be. But a wise Providence has provided for that by giving us an ear drum sensitive to certain vibrations only. A robin can hear a worm. Haven't you seen them cock their heads and listen? Their ear is tuned to that sound that they may get their food. Man can now hear a worm crawl, with the aid of radio, which magnifies the sound in relay. And if the theory is correct that once a sound is launched into the air that it continues indefinitely, what is to prevent someone at some future date inventing an instrument that will be able to pick out of the air Marc Antony's speech at the tomb of Caesar, or his soft cooing as he made love to Cleopatra? What is to prevent us from listening to Abraham Lincoln delivering his celebrated speech on the battlefield at Gettysburg?

These things are all possible, and within the span of life of those now living. A few years ago we were startled by the realization that phonograph records would preserve Caruso's voice for eternity. It seemed so unreal to hear the dead sing. If a hundred years ago some pastor had preached, "the dead shall sing," he would have been considered a little broad in his views. Today we know it is a reality and we pay no attention to it.

And so it is possible that ten years from now, or sooner, we may be able to pick up from the Nile the voice of a hippopotamus calling its mate—and this hippo may have lived during the reign of King Tut, or Pharaoh or Rameses—and he may have done his mate calling at that time, 1500 years before the birth of Christ.

It may even be true that Patricia Hill did hear a hippopotamus, through a short circuit of some kind, just as the man in the cellar heard the singing coming from the gas meter.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without gripping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person.

AT AGE 83

Get a bottle today, at any drug store and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

Snow King Stops the School Practice — Big Leaguers Are Ready

High school baseball practice has been discontinued until those April fool snowdrifts vanish from Community Park. As the Weather Bureau used all of the teams alike the blizzard was of no strategic value to any team in the Knox and Waldo League.

The Courier-Gazette's description of the summer baseball situation in Knox County was read with much interest, and widespread regret is expressed because there is so little prospect of a continuance of the semi-professional brand. The idea of a real league in the event that a Maine Coast League is not possible, finds much favor for a majority of the fans recall the real enjoyment (minus the heartbreaking worry) which such a league was giving here only a few years ago. In this connection the following clipping from the Camden Herald will be read with interest:

OPENS OFFICE HERE

Maurice F. Lovejoy Is Agent For Home Finance Corp.

The Home Finance Corporation of Portland is announcing the opening of a new branch office located in the offices of Roberts & Veazie, at 19 Limerock street, where small loans up to $300 can be negotiated by housekeepers and professional people.

The Home Finance Corporation is a subsidiary of the Maine Acceptance Corporation—the largest finance company handling automobile sales paper in the state owned by Maine people. The stock of the Home Finance Corporation is owned entirely by the stockholders of the parent company, and its officers and directors are all on the board of the Maine Acceptance Corporation.

With the opening of local branch offices in territory where the parent corporation is already serving the automobile dealers, it is felt that their service is being well rounded out as they are now in a position to extend their financial help to a large number of people exclusive of those who are assisted in buying cars, radios, etc., on deferred payments.

The officers of the corporation are William Boyce, president; Joseph A. Lincoln, treasurer; S. Arthur Paul, secretary, all of Portland. The directors include the above together with Col. Fred N. Dow, Herbert B. Sturgis, Paul A. Gibson, Dr. Alfred Haskell, J. Putnam Stevens of Portland; Leon O. Telleb, Waterville; John L. Baxter, Brunswick and Col. Eugene Savage of Bangor.

The local office will be managed by Maurice F. Lovejoy of Roberts & Veazie which concern has been handling the business of the Maine Acceptance Corporation in this section for the past two years.

"In order to give the local fans and lovers of the national sport some good games, the American Legion of Camden has laid plans to organize a twilight league. From the teams of this league, will be selected a team to represent the Legion and get games with the Hazards of Gardner, Brunswick, Bath, etc.

"A meeting will be held on Thursday evening, April 25. All who are interested in having amateur baseball once more in Camden and any who desire to play are requested to send their names and places of employment to either Fred Eddy, Jack Kennedy or George H. Thomas, the committee of the Legion which is in charge."

Clyde Sukerforth of North Waldoboro is apparently to do the bulk of the catching for the Cincinnati team in the National League this season. The regular first string catcher not yet having signed, Clyde was with the Nashua team of the New England League before he went into his company, where he is now making good.

Both Times—"Ben Houser is whipping his Bowdoin baseball candidates into shape for the exhibition tilt with Bates on Patriots' Day, barring another blizzard. Last season, a good Bowdoin club went Democratic because of the lack of a catcher that could hold Cliff Gray's slants. There is no Cliff Gray on the mound for Bowdoin this spring. Pitching candidates who look promising are George Souther of the Bay State and Howard Stiles of Augusta, former Cony high athlete." The Cliff Gray referred to pitched for Rockland two years ago, and was water with Belfast.

Prospects for baseball at Crosby High School of Belfast are particularly bright this season, and practice has already started, some 40 men appearing. Crosby has three seasoned pitchers who are to be a great asset to the team, Ben Buzzell, Pete Hills and Richard Sherman. Reggie Whitcomb is considered one of the best first basemen in the state on a high school team. Crosby High is scheduled to play at Camden April 17, and at Rockland April 25, Camden playing a return game May 4, and Rockland a return game May 11.

Jeannette Loff, charming Pathé star, says: "No matter what climate my pictures take me to, or how hard the water, I have found that Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin enviably smooth."

"I am utterly enthusiastic about Lux Toilet Soap," says pretty Mary Nolan, Universal star. "Even the most expensive French soaps have not kept my skin so beautifully smooth."

REALLY exquisite skin does win hearts—Hollywood knows how surely it wins them!

"If a girl wants popularity she must have a lovely smooth skin," says William K. Howard, Pathé director. "Without rare beauty of skin a screen star can never hope to win her public, no matter what else she may have."

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap. You have only to look at Jeannette Loff's skin, or Mary Nolan's, or Nancy Carroll's, to see how exquisite this delicately fragrant white soap keeps the skin. Small wonder that every one of the great film studios has made Lux Toilet Soap the official soap in all dressing rooms! You'll love it yourself—its generous lather is so caressing, and leaves your skin so velvety. Use it in your bath, too—and for the shampoo, as the screen stars do.

Nancy Carroll, Paramount—"Lux Toilet Soap is delightful for the skin."

"HEADS OF FAMILIES"

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—I want to tell you that The Courier-Gazette issue of April 9 is worth the price of a year's subscription for just one article which you printed viz: "Heads of Families," by H. C. Pease of Los Angeles.

In that list I found the name of one of my "forbears," who came from Germany to fight in the Revolutionary War and eventually settled in Barrettsville, although I never was able to find out when he came to the Province of Maine. If Mr. Pease is a subscriber to The Courier-Gazette I would like to ask him if he would kindly send the list of the heads of families in Union and also if he will sign his full address to his letter that I may write to him. "Historian."

Washington, April 10.

BEATS OWN RECORD

Hudson Makes Huge Output for First Quarter of 1929—Biggest Ever.

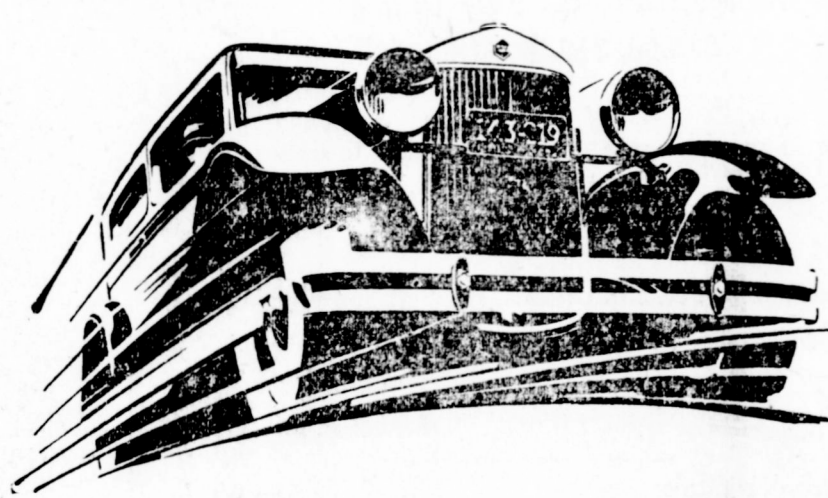

Hudson Motor Car Co. reports March shipments of 44,295 cars. This is the largest month in the history of the company and it brings the total shipments for the first quarter to 108,298, which is the largest three months period Hudson-Essex ever has known. In March a year ago Hudson-Essex shipped 25,730 cars, while figures for the first quarter of 1928 were 91,455.

April will proceed with a schedule of 45,000 cars, it is announced. Hudson announces not only its production and shipments at a new high level, but that retail sales are now at a higher rate than cars are being manufactured, although the plant has been operating at full capacity since a little after the middle of February. Ordinarily the sale of cars does not catch up with manufacturing schedules until around April 15, but Hudson-Essex anticipated this date by about three weeks. In the week ending March 27 shipments were around 10,300 while retail sales were 10,801.

Hudson's first quarter schedule was almost exactly as planned. Early in the year it was announced that 100,000 or 110,000 cars would be built the first three months, and this figure was missed by less than 1 per cent.
