treasurer, as soon as possible. Mrs. Linwood H. Cushman was chosen delegate to the conference of the Eastern Maine Missionary society to be held in Bangor, May 21.

The Calendar society of the Methodist church will hold its regular monthly business and social meeting in the church parlors this evening. Refreshments will be served. No admission will be charged except to those who are not members of the society.

Free mail delivery will be established in Ellsworth on June 22, according to announcement of the postoffice department. But there are some conditions still to be met by those desiring the service. A more extended report appears elsewhere in this issue.

Hutson B. Saunders and wife, and Mrs. Arthur I. Saunders arrived in Ellsworth Saturday to arrange for the transfer of the Saunders house at Hancock and Main streets to Dr. J. T. McDonald. Mrs. A. I. Saunders expects to remain in Ellsworth this summer. H. B. Saunders and wife returned to Portland Monday.

The Yale University Bulletin makes the following announcement: "The annual course of William L. Storrs lectures will be given this year by Hon. Lucilius A. Emery, LL. D., formerly chief justice of the supreme court of Maine, whose subject will be 'What is Justice, and How can it be Secured?' The course will consist of six lectures and will be given on April 28 and 30, and May 5, 6, 7 and 8."

Rehearsals for the production of the original sketch, "At the Big Game," by Roy C. Haines, indicate that it will be a musical and spectacular success. A chorus of about forty voices will be heard in college songs and gems from the popular light operas. The entertainment is produced under the auspices of the Dirigo club. A ball will follow, the committee in charge being Frank J. Dunleavy, chairman, Herbert Beal, Walter Allen, Harold F. Hawkes, Leon E. Rowe and Fred D. Fields.

Some time ago the pastor of the Baptist church inaugurated a campaign on the clearing up of the mortgage on the church property. This amounted to $700, and by dividing this into seventy shares of $10 each and arranging it so that the shares could be paid in time-payments, a dollar every three months, it was hoped that the entire amount would be pledged. Over one-third of the shares have been taken, and on Easter Sunday morning the pastor announced that a friend, formerly a member of the church, had pledged five shares on the condition that the remaining shares would be all taken by the first of August, which will mark the tenth anniversary of the present pastorate. The church is endeavoring to take advantage of this splendid offer, and the campaign will be pushed more vigorously than ever.

DEER ISLE MEN LOST.

Capt. H. G. Hardy, Wife and Brother Victims of Wreck on Jersey Coast.

Capt. Horatio G. Hardy, of Little Deer Isle, his wife, his brother Abijah, who went with him as mate, and seven others of the crew of the schooner Charles K. Buckley, were lost when the schooner went ashore on the New Jersey coast in a gale Wednesday night. One member of the crew, Emil Martinson, was saved from drowning in a peculiar manner, becoming tangled in a life-line that was thrown to the vessel, and being dragged ashore. He received injuries from which he was not expected to recover. Those on board were unable to seize and make fast the life-lines thrown to the vessel by the life-saving crew, owing to the heavy seas running.

Capt. Hardy, his wife and crew were lost by the capsizing of a boat in which they were trying to leave the vessel.

The Buckley was bound from Jacksonville, Fla., for New York with lumber. She was a three-masted schooner of 430 tons, hailing from Newark.

The bodies of the two brothers reached their Maine home Monday. By a peculiar coincidence, Mrs. Hardy was a daughter of the keeper of the lighthouse at Seabright, N. J., where the vessel first struck. The body was claimed by her father, and was buried there.

Odd Fellows' Minstrels.

FREE MAIL DELIVERY.

To be Established in Ellsworth on June 22 Next.

Postmaster J. W. Nealley has received notice from the postoffice department that free mail delivery will be established in Ellsworth beginning Monday, June 22.

The service will be inaugurated with two carriers and two substitutes, but the hours of delivery and collections are still to be worked out. Fifteen letter boxes will be erected at convenient places throughout the district covered by the delivery, which will include all the business district, and, generally, the district lying between the junction of Oak and State streets on the north, Beal avenue on the east, Washington street on the south and the top of Bridge hill on the west. This district has not been officially designated, but it is understood that, roughly speaking, these will be about the limits, delivery being extended beyond the limits stated in some places and possibly falling short in others.

It still devolves upon those desiring the mail service to meet certain conditions. As already reported, the numbering of houses is one of these requirements. The municipal officers recently passed an ordinance requiring the numbering of houses within certain limits. Homeholders and owners may obtain the correct number for their houses or places of business at the city clerk's office.

Another thing required by those who wish the delivery is the placing of some suitable receptacle for mail at their front door. A slot in the front door, with or without a box on the inside, will answer the purpose, or some suitable box may be placed outside the door.

The postoffice department makes it distinctly understood that no patron will be served by carrier unless some receptacle for mail is provided at or near the front door. These boxes should be provided some weeks before the delivery is established, as Postmaster Nealley is required to make a report as to progress made in this direction fifteen days before the date set for the establishment of the system. Failure of the people generally to comply with this condition may result in delay in establishing the service.

Murphy-Redman Wedding.

Ellsworth friends of Fulton J. Redman, of New York, extend congratulations on his marriage, which took place Tuesday of last week at Newark, N. J. The following report of the wedding is from the Newark Evening Star:

The marriage of Miss Florence Elmore Murphy and Fulton Jarvis Redman, of New York city, was quietly solemnized at the residence of Miss Murphy's aunt, Miss Florence D. Murphy, at Newark, this afternoon, by Rev. Mercer G. Johnston, rector of Trinity Episcopal church. Only members of the two families were present.

The bride is a niece of former Governor Franklin Murphy, of New Jersey. She was gowned in white faille brocade garnished with old duchess lace. Her veil was of duchess lace, falling in straight folds, and she carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and pale pink orchids. Miss Caroline Redman, of Boston, a sister of the groom, was her only attendant, and she wore a draped gown of pale pink satin with garniture of roses and lilac tulle. Benjamin F. Briggs, of New York city, was best man.

A supper followed the ceremony. The color scheme of the decorations was carried out in pink, white and lilac, with roses predominant.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Redman will live in Pelham Manor, N. Y.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Written for The American by Members of E. H. S. Press Club.

Last Monday being a legal holiday, there were no sessions of school.

Commencement day will probably be Thursday, June 18, though the date has not been definitely fixed.

The senior class parts have been assigned as follows: Valectictory, Harvard Moor; salutatory, Agnes Young; prophecy, Martha Milliken; history, Clifford Carter; presentation of gifts, Hazel Giles; address to undergraduates, Eben Whitcomb; ode, Nellie Abbott.

Last Saturday several of the high school students did some work toward preparing the baseball field and putting it in shape for the season. Next Saturday more work is to be done, and it seems only fair that some of those outside the school, who will doubtless use the diamond later in the season, should assist in the work.

COMING EVENTS.

ELLSWORTH.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson IV.—Second Quarter, For April 26, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xv, 1-10. Memory Verses, 8-10—Golden Text, Luke xv, 10—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

There was something in His teaching which reached the hearts of these publicans and sinners who were so despised by the self righteous Pharisees. He was full of grace and truth; they knew the truth that they were sinners and they needed the grace that was in Him. He taught as one having authority and not as the scribes; never man spoke like this man (Matt. vii, 29; John viii, 46). That which the Pharisees sneeringly said of Him, "This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them," was, and still is, gloriously true. He is still saying, "If any man hear my voice and open the door I will come in to him and will sup with him and he with Me" (Rev. iii, 20).

The word here translated "receiveth" is generally translated "waiting or looking for." Weymouth's rendering is, "He gives a welcome to notorious sinners." Not only does He receive sinners when they come to Him (John vi, 37), but He is on the lookout for them. He came to seek and to save that which was lost (Luke xix, 10). If we are truly His disciples, as in the last lesson, we, too, will seek in all the world the lost ones whom He came to save, the "whosoever" who will make up His body, the church.

His murmuring led Him to speak the threefold parable of the lost sheep, the lost coin and the lost son, in which we see the love of the Son as the shepherd, the love of the Spirit and the love of the Father. The love of God is the greatest topic in all the Bible and was specially manifest in His giving His only Son for us that we might not perish, as it is written, "In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent His only begotten Son into the world that we might live through Him." "Hereby perceive we the love of God because He laid down His life for us" (1 John iii, 16; iv, 9). The story of the shepherd and the lost sheep is found also in Matt. xviii, 11-14, and the record of the Good Shepherd is found most fully in John x, where He not only cares for the sheep, but gives His life for them. In our lesson He is seen seeking till He finds; laying it on His shoulders, rejoicing, bringing it safely home and calling others to rejoice with Him. In Heb. xiii, 20, 21, He is the Great Shepherd who, having found and saved, works in us that which is well pleasing in His sight. In 1 Pet. v, 1-4, He is the chief shepherd rewarding His own faithful service. Thus we have again the threefold aspect of our relation to Him as in last lesson—saved, serving, waiting for Him. I have often been glad that when He finds His sheep He brings it home; He does not drop it by the way. And what a place it is to be on His shoulders, us and our burdens, too (Deut. xxxiii, 12; Isa. ix, 6, 7). There must be more significance than we have ever seen in these words, "The Lord is my shepherd," and if we fully believed we could not but rejoice (1 Pet. i, 8).

Woman is a type of the church, both true and false, but here she represents the true church in the power of the Holy Spirit seeking diligently that which is lost. The sheep set before us one phase of the condition of the lost, as when we read, "I have gone astray like a lost sheep." "All we like sheep have gone astray" (Is. lii, 1). The piece of silver may suggest the indifference of the lost, as when we read of being dead in trespasses and sins (Eph. ii, 1). In both cases the Lord is the seeker, as He has always been ever since He sought Adam in the garden of Eden, after he had sinned, saying, "Where art thou?" (Gen. iii, 9). He does not merely call us to come, but knowing that we are as helpless as Mephibosheth, who was lame in both feet, He sends and fetches us into His presence and by His great love causes us to fall on our faces in true penitence, then gives us all (1 Sam. ix, 3, 5, 6, 7, 13).

Like the good Samaritan, He finds us helpless and wounded and tenderly cares for us and puts us in His place and brings us to a place of rest and continues to care for us (Luke x, 33-35). Like Paul in the case of Onesimus, He says to His Father concerning the sinner, "Receive him as myself; if he hath wronged thee or oweeth thee ought, put that on mine account" (Phi. xvii, 18). "God commendeth His love toward us in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. v, 8). In the story of both the sheep and the piece of money, note the conclusion, "Joy in heaven. . . . Joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth" (verses 7, 10). Does it not seem that if we really believed that, we who are saved would have a greater desire to have others know and share the great salvation? How much of the spirit of Christ have we if we have not His heart of compassion for the lost? He became poor for us and suffered in our stead for our sins. How are we proving that we are His disciples? "He that winneth souls is wise." "They that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars forever and ever." It was Paul's ambition "by all means to save some" (Prov. xi, 30; Dan. xii, 3; 1 Cor. ix, 22). What does the Lord see in our hearts in this matter?

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 199 Waldo Street, Providence, R. I.

A Minister's Wife Writes:

CLOQUET, MINN.—"I have suffered very much with irregularities, pain and inflammation, but your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has made me well and I can recommend the same to all that are troubled with these complaints."—Mrs. JENNIE AKERMAN, c/o Rev. K. AKERMAN, Cloquet, Minnesota.

From Mrs. J. D. Murdoch, Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. MURDOCH, 25 Gordon St., South Quincy, Mass.

Mutual Benefit Column.

EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE".

Its Motto: "Helpful and Hopeful."

The purposes of this column are succinctly stated in the title and motto—it is for the mutual benefit, and aims to be helpful and hopeful. Being for the common good, it is for the common use—a public servant, a purveyor of information and suggestion, a medium for the interchange of ideas. In this capacity it solicits communications, and its success depends largely on the support given it in this respect. Communications must be signed, but the name of writer will not be printed except by permission. Communications will be subject to approval or rejection by the editor of the column, but none will be rejected without good reason. Address all communications to MOVE INTO THE LIGHT.

The world to your vision, My poor little lad, So homesick and heart-sick, Looks sorry and sad. The beautiful world, Oh! my son, is all right; You sit in the shadow, Move into the light! Forsake the dark corner That has been your bed; Let plenty of sunlight Come down on your head. Then study your fellows, Who labor and strive To find the right pathway In which they may thrive. Oh, tender young mother, And dear little wife, 'Tis true you feel sometimes Quite weary of life. You doubt and you worry, You feel every slight, You're sitting in darkness, Move into the light! Step forth in the sunshine, And raise your bright eyes, Take in all the glory Of earth and of skies; Your spirit will soar Like a lark in the blue, If you drive out the seeming And take in the true. E.

Dear M. B. Friends:

When I arrived home I found a large collection of mail matter from my M. B. family. I wish to thank each who remembered me with Easter cards and greetings. I wanted to send each one of you an Easter remembrance, but it was not convenient, as I only had a few days to be away. I sent a wireless through to Eunice as we passed through Haverhill and to L. E. T. in Lynn, and would like to have seen A. M. Y. and "Nailin" also. I thought of you all near and far.

Now you shall hear from several. A card from Jennie says:

BAN HARBOR, April 9, 1914. Dear Mrs. M. Just a line to let you know I have moved back to the more business part of Bar Harbor, and that my address is 42 Eagle Lake road. "Irish Molly" has sent me some fine butter-milk a number of times. Oh, but I did enjoy it! I also thank the "unfamiliar sister" for her recipe. I greatly appreciate the many kind thoughts and deeds that have come to me from so many. Lovingly, JENNIE.

Check Your April Cough Thawing frost and April rains chill you to the very marrow, you catch cold—Head and lungs stuffed—You are feverish—Cough continually and feel miserable—You need Dr. King's New Discovery. Bucklen's Arnica Salve for All Sores.

While many of us have been wishing we might help Jennie out, "Irish Molly" has simply done it.

I neglected to mention E.'s poem, but you will all get its spirit while you read it; "out of the shadow and into the light" is a healthy move both physically and mentally.

It will give you all pleasure to know that Aunt Madge has not forgotten us. I am very glad the question of "what have you been reading?" has brought out so many helpful mentionings of different books. I have not yet read "The Promised Land", but the author, Mary Antin, is writing a series of articles in the American Magazine entitled "They Who Knock at Our Gates", which deals with present day problems of immigration.

I am sorry the following letter from Dell, which recommends practical work for the M. B.'s, could not have been inserted in the column a week ago, but we will hope it is not too late to help out Nell in the good cause for which she labors.

Dear Aunt Madge and M. B.'s: I make a trip to see Nell last week, and as it stormed, spent a day and a night and a half with her. It was midnight when I got there. I telegraphed ahead, and a warm reception awaited me. As it was a cold, pouring rain and two homesick children on my hands, you bet I was glad to see Nell's smiling face.

While there I saw two children leave—one a baby adopted into a lovely home at Waterville, the other, a girl of sixteen, I took with me to a good home near me. Thus it is day by day; Nell cries when they come and cries when they go. Oh, what a mother she is, always planning for their comfort! Now she is arranging for an apron sale, to get things needed in the kitchen and new shades for the windows.

While I was there two aprons came from Spokane, Wash. She hopes to have one or more from every state. She will mark on every one on that list in round numbers.

I expect before this is in print to see Nell again, and shall take an apron, and a baby three months old, and another of three years.

Oh, I must say right here that better enforcement of the prohibitory law is showing results by less commitments to all of such homes in the State. Who will not shout for national prohibition and teach her John to vote for it when the time comes? DELL.

AITKIN, MINN., April 2.

Dear Aunt Madge: Just a line to tell "Melly" that I found the name of the author of the helpful little verse sent from "Ye Cosie Corner". The poem, as I found it in a volume called "Sunshine in the Soul", is entitled "Trust"; the author, Mary Frances Butts. I have looked through several other volumes of collected poems, but do not find her name again.

I, too, enjoyed the talk on books. We have lately read, with great interest, "The Inside of The Cup," having heard it discussed at various times and preached about. One of the best talks upon it was given by Dr. Freeman of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Minneapolis. While not agreeing fully with the author on several points, Dr. Freeman said: "It is in many ways a remarkable book, and though we do not entirely approve, let us remember that Mr. Churchill is a churchman, a communicant and a Christian gentleman."

I hope many of the M. B. sisters have had the privilege of reading Mary Antin's "The Promised Land"—a wonderful book. And how many know "The Life of Alice Freeman Palmer"? I do not read that—I study it, and gather from it inspiration for many little talks to girls' clubs or Sunday school classes, and even in some cases to small Sabbath schools, especially upon "the three rules for being happy" as Mrs. Palmer gave them to the children of the slums, in the vacation schools of Boston. Alice Freeman Palmer's clubs are helpful things, and some time when Aunt Madge needs material for a full column these "three rules" will be good reading.

Have you met "T. Tembarom" yet? The little lad to whom New York was the world and who loved little Ann with all his heart. Surely, Mrs. Burnett has never written a more delightful story. Greetings to all and best wishes to Jennie. AUNT SUE.

GOULDSBORO, April 6, 1914. Dear Aunt Madge: I saw in the last AMERICAN that you were wondering if the Mayos and Mayhews were originally the same. I do not think that they could have been, for as early as 1681 they were two distinct families. I have no record of either family earlier than that. I am much interested in both, as my father's people were Mayhews from New Bedford, Mass., and my mother's people Mayos from Eden, Me. So it is just possible, Aunt Madge, that we are "real flesh and blood relation", as well as M. B. ones. I hope so, any way. Lovingly yours, ELMA.

Thank you, Elma, for this information relating to the two families. I believe there was a Rev. John Mayo who preached many years ago in the old North church in Boston. I think he was an ancestor of the Eden Mayos. There's no doubt you are "blood relation" to "Uncle" if not to "Aunt Madge".

Among the Grangers.

This column is devoted to the Grange, especially to the granges of Hancock county. The column is open to all grangers for the discussion of topics of general interest, and for reports of grange meetings. Make letters short and concise. All communications must be signed, but names will not be printed except by permission of the writer. All communications will be subject to approval by the editor, but none will be rejected without good reason.

SEAGIRT, 471, SOUTH DEER ISLE. Saturday evening, after the usual business, the lecturer presented a good program. Next Saturday evening will be observed as temperance night. Question for discussion, "Resolved that national prohibition is preferable to the present system."

CANTINE, 250. April 11 the program consisted of readings by Emma Bowden, Ada Leach and Austin Heath. Topic: "To how great an extent can the farmer of to-day intelligently calculate on probabilities?" Remarks by J. W. and E. C. Bowden. A question box was enjoyed. Some of the members of this grange have not been idle. Nearly 95,000 brown-tail moth nests have been gathered and destroyed.

BAYSIDE 476, ELLSWORTH. April 15 the lecturer furnished a pleasing program of stories and readings. An essay on "Road Improvement", written by Mrs. E. M. Lawrence, of Lubec, was read by one of the members.

PAMOLA, 265, HANCOCK. April 18 the lecturer presented the following Patriot's day program: Singing, "Battle Hymn of Republic"; paper, "Lives of the Colonists"; Ellis Young; paper, "The Story of Israel Putnam"; O. W. Foss, Jr.; historical questions, Gertrude Foss; singing, "America." The lecturer read a letter of greetings from the State lecturer, which was full of helpful thoughts.

At the next meeting, George N. Worden, director, whose headquarters are at Ellsworth, will give a talk on farm demonstrations in Hancock county, and will explain fully regarding the organizing of a boys' and girls' agricultural club. This talk will be at 8 o'clock, and will be public. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

LAKE VIEW, 451, HAPPYTOWN. On account of the bad travelling, there have been no meetings this month.

ALAMOOSOOK, EAST ORLAND, 409. April 18, it being the eleventh anniversary of the grange, supper was served. A good program was presented. Good roads were discussed.

LAMOINE, 264. April 14, the new secretary, Grace Stratton, was installed, and Sister S. J. Young was elected chaplain to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Alma H. Coggins. A committee, consisting of the master, lecturer and F. L. Hodgkins, was appointed to bring in suggestions in regard to clearing up and beautifying the grounds around grange hall.

This being the full moon meeting, the committee, Sister Villa Hodgkins, chairman, presented an excellent program as follows: Singing, grange; reading, Grace Stratton; reading, Roy Smith; report of good roads convention in Bangor, Fred L. Hodgkins; violin solo, Lewis Smith; readings, Grace Hodgkins, Hattie Kingman, W. K. Salisbury; singing, mixed quartet. Cake, cocoa and coffee were served.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS. Whereas, The Divine Master has so suddenly called unto Himself our worthy chaplain, Sister Alma H. Coggins, therefore be it Resolved, That in the death of our sister, Lamoine grange has lost one whom all loved and respected for her worthy life, her marked ability and willingness to helpfulness in all that pertained to the good of the order, and the exemplification of the noble principles in her daily life, and though her loss is deeply and sincerely mourned, yet we would bow in submission to Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That we as a grange extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved husband

OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Relieves Backache and Bladder Disorders After A Few Doses Are Taken

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Croxone, overcomes all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It moves the urine into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands; and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly. It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Croxone is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate cases.

It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for restoring the lifeless organs to health and strength and ridding the system of every particle of uric acid, and you can take it with the utmost confidence that nothing on earth will so quickly cure such conditions.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

In the "Show-Me" State.
EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, MISSOURI, Feb. 4.
To the Editor of The American:

For several years we have been hearing of Excelsior Springs as a close rival to Hot Springs, Ark., and wishing a bit of a change from Minnesota's bracing air, came down here for a few weeks.

Like thousands of others, "we came, we saw," we were conquered. Aside from the fact that the mineral waters and baths do one incalculable good, it is hard to find a better place in which to spend a few weeks for rest and recreation.

It is situated thirty miles from Kansas City, in the picturesque fishing river valley, surrounded by wooded hills, beyond which are table lands of great fertility. With an elevation of 800 feet above sea level and in favorable latitude, its location prevents the severe climatic conditions of the extreme North and South, making it an all-the-year-round resort for invalids or tourists.

It is only within the last few years that the people of the central section of the United States have waked up to the real merits of the waters to be found here, and with their awakening Excelsior Springs changed as by magic from a little cross-roads village of a few hundred people to a beautiful, flourishing little city of 5,000 people, with all the comforts, luxuries and necessities of modern civilization.

It can boast of having more paved streets and granite sidewalks than any other city of its size in the world. It has excellent public schools, several of which we visited, Methodist, Catholic, Baptist, Christian Union, Christian and Presbyterian churches—all with resident pastors; a Y. M. C. A. and many secret orders.

The city is well supplied with hotels, boarding houses and cottages—more than 200 I am told—well located and well managed. The people are free and very friendly, and seem to have no plans for getting rich from a few tourists, but strive to give full compensation for your money in stores, bath-houses and hotels.

Sylvan spring—the first one whose waters were found to be impregnated with curative properties—was discovered in 1880 boiling up at the foot of a hill and covering the rocks over which it flowed with a golden yellow deposit. One Dr. Flack recognized the possibilities of the water, had it analyzed, and found it contained mineral of great chemical merit. Since then other springs have been discovered, both on the surface and by deep drilling, until now about twenty springs are in operation, all compounded in nature's great laboratory and containing as ingredients, iron, sodium, manganese, lithium and various other minerals—all prime factors in the building and repairing of the human body.

Bathing is a necessary adjunct to drinking these waters. All of the leading hotels are equipped with private baths, and the bath houses are numerous and complete to the last detail. The bathers and masseurs give to their patrons an intelligent knowledge of bathing and massage as well as the kindest consideration and care. You are made to feel that to you and you alone, for the time being, belongs their time and strict attention.

But if you are not really needing the baths and the mineral waters—if you have come to keep some sick friend company or for a change and rest, you will find enough for your entertainment. Tennis, bowling or golf are here for those who care for such exercise. The splendid country roads are fine for motoring. Horseback-riding is very popular. The lover of the kodak finds much material for pictures in the great hills stretching away the pretty streams, giant rocks and boulders, and the quaint old country-side.

One must not forget that best of all exercises, walking. Nearly every street of the town leads away to the country round about, and one seems to forget distance in just the pleasure of walking in this invigorating air.

If you do not play golf you will want to go out to the links, where the play is, as it were, "in the air." The golf course is one mile from town, a long mile, too, we seemed to find it, because the road winds up hill nearly all of the way. But the view well repays one for the climb. From the club house you look over a beautiful undulating bit of land, down upon the town, the Missouri river far away, and at night, to the lights of Kansas City. The course consists of fifty well-kept acres. The altitude gives one the benefit of every breeze that blows.

But we cannot leave the subject of the Springs without remembering it is in the state of old Missouri. In a little talk Mr. DeLaitre gave to the eighth grade the other day, he asked the pupils what the state of Missouri is called, what its "nickname". "Maine is the 'Pine Tree state', Minnesota, the 'North Star state', what do you call your state, boys?" Up went a hand, "The 'Show-me state', sir," was the reply. Whether that was correct or not was not proved, but Missouri is a great and prosperous state, possessing, as it does, great natural resources of very fertile soil, extensive deposits of coal and zinc and a mild and healthful climate. While, unlike Maine, it does not have state-wide prohibition, it does have county local option, under which in three-fourths of the territory no saloon can legally exist.

Throughout the state we have received a most favorable impression of the people, their sociability and kindness, their worth as citizens and loyalty to their state. We used to hear about "poor old moss-back Missouri", but it cannot truthfully be called that to-day, as her people are wide-awake and progressive, "keeping step in the march of progress."

OLD INDIAN RELICS.

Prof. Moorehead, of Andover, Tells of Excavations in Orland.

At a meeting of the Bangor Historical society recently, Prof. Warren K. Moorehead, department of archaeology, Andover, Mass., gave an illustrated address on researches in Maine.

For one hour, Prof. Moorehead took his audience over the State of Maine and gave the people a good understanding of the primitive cultures found in this State, the Red Paint people, and the Shell Heap people. The former are so called because of the presence of great quantities of brilliant red ochre in the graves.

The speaker told of his expeditions and the work of his party. He told of covering several hundred miles of waterways, and the digging in a hundred different places, and only five cemeteries of the Red Paint people were found. One of these could not be opened because it was beneath a large summer cottage, but the others were excavated completely, and 170 graves were found, from which large quantities of stone implements were removed. From observations made Prof. Moorehead thinks that the culture of the Red Paint people extended as far north as Passadumkeag, about thirty miles north of Bangor. Most of the cemeteries discovered are near tide-water, and range from the valley of the Kennebec eastward as far as Bar Harbor.

Prof. Moorehead showed views, and gave details of cemeteries explored at Orland, on the estate of Capt. S. M. Hartford, on Lake Alamosook, near the outlet, on land owned by Frank Pierce, esq., and known as the Emerson point; on the south side of Lake Alamosook, on the estate of the Messrs. Mason, and at Passadumkeag, on the farm of S. H. Hathaway. The graves, he said, varied from a foot to three feet. Some of them had been disturbed, probably by previous excavators, searching for curious relics. All of the specimens found and gathered from the cemeteries, with the exception of ninety-nine which were destroyed, when the Bangor Historical society's building burned in the big conflagration, and a very few others, in the hands of a man whose address is unknown, are now in the collections of the academy.

Large quantities of red ochre were found in the graves. It is not merely paint, remarked Prof. Moorehead but exists in great masses, and is the distinguishing feature of the culture. The graves are all very old—so old that 20 per cent. of the stone implements have begun to decay. Nowhere else in America have graves been found, of such age that not only do no bones remain, but even the stone gouges and hatchets have begun to crumble.

The shell-heaps, said the speaker, mark the villages of the Indians living along the coast, and appear to be different from the Red Paint sites. Ashes have a preservative power, and thus bone awls, arrowheads, fish hooks, spear heads, and other ancient relics have been taken from the shell-heaps. The forms of hatchets, tomahawks, knives and other implements are very different from the Red Paint people.

"Why, I couldn't find his name in the telephone directory."

This is the reply I get occasionally, when I ask a subscriber why he didn't send a toll or long distance message, and thus quickly settle some important business or family question.

As it would be practically impossible to include in one book all subscribers to the Bell System, each book is designed to include a given radius within which there are numbers frequently called.

If a Bell subscriber who lives outside this radius is wanted, you can reach him quickly and easily even if his name and number do not appear in your telephone directory. Just ask for the Toll Operator and give her the name and address of the person you want to reach. It really makes no difference whether he is in Skowhegan, Sioux City or New York—wherever he is, if within range of a telephone, he can be reached if he is connected to the Bell System. If you know his number, give it, but this is not necessary except on local calls or Two Number Toll Calls.

The next time you want to reach some distant friend whose name you cannot find in the telephone directory, just call the Toll Operator and tell her your story.

She will try to help you, and may be able to get a message to your friend, even though he has no telephone, and bring him to a Pay Station to talk to you.

In his reminiscences Henry Holiday tells a story of a Londoner, "Romeo" Coates, who thought he was a born actor. Coates paid a large sum to be allowed to play Romeo at Drury Lane, where he appeared bedizened with jewels and was received with vociferous applause by a public who appreciated the joke. Some of the young men who were the favored associates of the prince regent concocted a practical joke at the expense of Coates. They got a sheet of the prince's note paper and sent him an invitation to dine at the pavilion. The prince got wind of the trick, and when Coates was ushered in and the jokers were looking to see his discomfiture he turned the tables on them by receiving his visitor with great politeness and giving him a place of honor.

DANGER AFTER GRIPPE

Lies in Poor Blood, Cough and Worn-Out Condition.

Grippe, pleurisy, pneumonia are greatly to be feared at this season. To prevent grippe from being followed by either pleurisy or pneumonia, it is important to drive the last traces of it out of the system.

Our advice is to take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, and get your strength and vitality back quickly.

W. W. Lake of Aberdeen, Miss., says: Grippe left me weak, run-down and with a severe cough from which I suffered for a long time. I tried different remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again.

Try Vinol with the certainty that if it does not benefit you we will give back your money.

P. S. For Eczema of Scalp try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

A Way to Clean Windows.

In the December Woman's Home Companion appears a department entitled "The Exchange"—a department filled with practical household suggestions. An Iowa woman tells, as follows, her idea as to the best way to clean windows:

"There are so many 'best' ways to clean windows that one hesitates to offer her method unless very sure it is the way. Three or four ounces of emery flour in a heavy canvas sack about six inches square will clean and polish windows with greater ease than anything else I know of. Simply rub the bag over the window. It also removes streaks from any glass.

The furrow which Time is even now turning runs through the everlasting, and in that must we plant, or nowhere.—Lowell.

Kitery to Caribou.

Sardine packers of eastern Maine are alarmed at the scarcity of the little fish. The canning season opened last Wednesday, and not one factory in the Eastport district received any fish. The same condition is reported all along the coast.

William H. Adams, of Norway, is under arrest charged with the murder of his step-daughter, Mrs. Ethel Maude Cummings, who was found dead of a gun-shot wound in his home last Wednesday. The case was first reported as one of suicide but the coroner's jury found evidence which seemed to disprove this theory, and the arrest of Adams followed the funeral of the victim Friday.

Fresh Tobacco Never Bites; Dry, Cut-up Tobacco Does

Only when the natural moisture dries out of tobacco can a "bite" get into it. In the Sickle plug, all the moisture, flavor and fragrance are pressed in and kept in by the natural leaf wrapper. Every pipeful you whittle off the plug is fresh—so you always get a slow-burning, cool, sweet, satisfying smoke.

If you want your tobacco already cut up for you, in packages, you have to be content with dry tobacco, that burns fast and hot, and bites your tongue.

That's why experienced smokers cut up their own tobacco, from the Sickle plug. They get more tobacco, because they don't pay for a package—and better tobacco, because it's always fresh.

The Mexican Crisis.

The time for criticism or of discussion of President Wilson's previous Mexican policy has passed. Whether we agree or disagree with the attitude he has assumed toward Mexico and Huerta during the past few months, whether we approve or disapprove of the stand taken in the Tampico incident, every good American citizen must now stand behind the President in enforcing the demands made upon the Huerta government.

The President will employ the armed forces of the United States to enforce his demands for unequivocal amends for the affronts and indignities committed against the United States, at the same time disclaiming any hostility to the Mexican people or any purpose to make war upon them.

The action of the United States is directed entirely against Huerta, who has not been recognized by President Wilson as the head of the Mexican government. To preserve this distinction, to use the tools of war to force an apology from Huerta the man without recognition of Huerta the president and becoming involved in a war with Mexico, is the delicate task President Wilson has now set about accomplishing.

The news from Mexico this morning is not reassuring. By orders from Washington, to forestall the landing of a big consignment of guns and ammunition for Huerta, the custom-house and a section of the city of Vera Cruz have been seized. The landing of the marines was not opposed, but after the custom-house had been taken there was desultory fighting on the part of the Mexicans, and the transport Prairie shelled the Mexican positions. Four Americans were killed and twenty wounded, while a despatch by way of Galveston says 200 Mexicans were killed.

This may not, officially, be war, and the attack may be purely against Huerta, but the blood spilled by American guns was Mexican, and it would not be surprising if it cemented opposition in Mexico against the United States.

Sounds Familiar, Somehow.

This year they [the progressive party, press and speakers] will tell you that "Thompson can beat Patten; Patten can't." And what will they find it upon? Mr. Thompson is a good citizen, an honest man—who will never set the world afire—and we have as much respect for him as for any man in the progressive party. But how will he defeat Patten? In the spring of 1913 Mr. Thompson was in high favor in the progressive party. He was the biggest and cleanest man in his party in Maine. He had all the glamour of the Roosevelt favor of the previous November. There had been no elections since to dampen the progressive ardor, to refute any extravagant claims they might make, or to counteract their professions of angelic perfection. Not a word could be said against the progressive candidate by partisan opponents. Only four months had elapsed since the Roosevelt vote. Thompson was to be elected overwhelmingly.

That a half dozen United States senators on the agricultural committee now threaten to defeat the will of the whole American people by refusing any appropriation to enforce the McLean law for the protection of the nation's migratory birds, is declared by officers of the National Association of Audubon societies.

After wiring warnings to the 200,000 representatives of his organization all over the country, T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the National Audubon body, rushed to Washington to protest to the members of the Senate committee on agriculture against the adoption of the amendment introduced by Robinson, of Arkansas, cutting off all appropriations for this federal bird law and leaving it practically a dead letter. Unless the bird lovers of the land at once protest to their senators against this cutting off of the $100,000 asked by the friends of the biological survey of the department of agriculture to supply wardens to guard American bird life, the conditions of migratory bird butchery, to remedy which the whole American people asked for the McLean bill, will continue, it is declared.

President Wilson got his canal tolls repeal bill through the House of Representatives, though to achieve it he was obliged to repudiate a distinct declaration of the Baltimore platform, and to repudiate his own speeches in support of this plank. Secretary of State Bryan, too, has changed front under British pressure. At Harrisburg, Pa., a few months ago, he said: "If a man flouts, after election, that his platform contains some things which he cannot honestly support, he should resign." It appears from Secretary Bryan's recent review of the tolls question and his defence of the President's policy, that either the Baltimore platform or the Harrisburg speech has been forgotten. We haven't heard of his resigning.

Business men, farmers, educators and members of the professions in all parts of Maine are joining the Develop Maine movement, launched at Augusta in February to develop the resources of Maine and tell the rest of the world about them. A campaign of publicity is now being conducted for the purpose of getting a membership of 50,000. As soon as the financial returns warrant it, a first-class business-getter will be employed, to interest capital and manufacturers in the Maine field. It is a campaign in which every community and every individual in Maine should unite.

An Ellsworth democrat told us the other day that his "democratic barometer" on Mt. Desert island indicated a progressive plurality in the four towns on Mt. Desert island in the coming election. Buncombe! Please notice that all such talk comes from democratic sources; even our progressive friends are more conservative. It is really surprising how fearful the democrats are of progressive victory.

In another column H. Fremont Maddocks, secretary of the North Ellsworth Farmers' club, announces that the club has taken up the generous offer of Charles P. DeLaitre, of Aitkin, Minn., of special prizes for Ellsworth boys and girls in competition in growing corn. The conditions of the contest are clearly stated in Mr. Maddocks' letter.

Women voting for the first time in Illinois elections closed the doors of more than 1,000 saloons outside of Chicago, adding sixteen counties to the thirty already "dry", and barring the sale of intoxicants in approximately 200 of the 300 townships in which local option was an issue.

The Ellsworth board of trade is furthering a plan for the observance of fire-prevention day in Ellsworth. The people of the city should cooperate.

Farmers' Club Offer.

ELLSWORTH, April 22, 1914.

The North Ellsworth Farmers' club has accepted the generous offer of Charles P. DeLaitre, of Aitkin, Minn., who offers through our society to the girls and boys of Ellsworth, between the ages of twelve and seventeen years, who will grow the most corn on one-fourth acre, three cash prizes, viz.: $10 to first; $6 to second and $4 to third. The conditions of the contest are:

Each girl or boy must notify the secretary of the North Ellsworth Farmers' club that she or he is to plant the one-fourth acre of corn.

They must help plow the land, they must plant or help plant the seed, they must help cultivate the crop, they must exhibit a sample at the North Ellsworth fair next September, they must write an essay on how they grew the corn, and file it with the club's secretary by September.

They must notify the Farmers' club secretary one week before the crop is to be harvested, so that the club can designate some person to measure the crop as it is harvested.

The contestants may plant dent corn or flint corn.

Mr. DeLaitre has sent to the secretary of the Farmers' club dent corn that the contestants may have to plant free. Mr. DeLaitre writes that this corn was bred on the Minnesota state farm near St. Paul; that it will mature as far north as the Canadian boundary line, and yield 75 to 100 bushels to the acre.

$100 Reward, $100 The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. POLITICAL NOTES.

THE AMERICAN invites announcements from candidates of all parties in the coming primaries, to be published in this column. This is purely a news column, and announcements will be treated as such. It will introduce to the voters of all parties the men who ask for their support, but no candidate will be given, intentionally, any advantage over another, either as between candidates for nomination within his own party, or as between parties.

Dr. Otis Littlefield, of Bluehill, has filed nomination papers as a democratic candidate for representative to the legislature from his class.

W. A. Ricker, of Castine, has announced that he will be a candidate for the republican nomination for representative from class 2, composed of the towns of Bucksport, Orland, Dedham, Verona and Castine.

At a meeting of the republican State committee in Augusta last Thursday, Col. Frederic H. Parkhurst, of Bangor, was re-elected chairman, Henry H. Hastings, of Bethel, secretary, and Henry G. Beyer, of Portland, treasurer.

A despatch from Augusta says: "Hon. Andrew P. Havey, of West Sullivan, Friday, over the long distance telephone, informed a friend in this city that under no consideration would he be a candidate for State auditor in the democratic primaries in June."

Sheriff Forrest O. Silsby says the rumor has come to him several times that he had withdrawn from the candidacy for re-nomination. He asks THE AMERICAN to contradict this rumor. He says he is in the contest to stay, and his name will be on the primary ballot in June.

Wiley C. Conary, of Bucksport, will be a candidate for the republican nomination for register of deeds at the coming primaries. Mr. Conary is a native of Bluehill, and a member of the Hancock county bar, having been admitted in 1906. He served as county-attorney two years, 1909-10. He has always been an active republican.

Timothy F. Mahoney, of Ellsworth, has been prevailed upon to enter the primaries for the republican nomination for clerk of courts. Mr. Mahoney has been one of the most active workers in the republican party in Hancock county for years. He was the acting chairman of the county committee in the special congressional campaign last year. For the past nine years he has served efficiently as register of probate.

Howard B. Moor, of Ellsworth, has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for sheriff. Mr. Moor is one of Ellsworth's well-known business men, largely interested in lumbering operations. He is at present serving the city as alderman, an office he has held for several previous terms. Mr. Moor, in speaking of his candidacy, says he realizes that one of the things the voters for a candidate for sheriff have the right to know is his attitude on the prohibitory law, and in this connection declares emphatically that he is for the enforcement of all laws.

Loren W. Rumill, of Tremont, announces that at the June primaries he will be a candidate for representative to the legislature from the class towns of Mount Desert, Lamoine, Tremont, Southwest Harbor, Swan's Island and Cranberry Isles. Mr. Rumill has always been an enthusiastic republican, having been an active member of the republican town committee, of which he is at present chairman. He has held some town office twenty-four years out of his twenty-eight years of majority. He was selectman nine years, six as chairman. He is serving his seventeenth year as postmaster at West Tremont, which position he resigns to accept this office.

Mad at Paint

25c a gallon for paint is about $2.50 on the average job, and lots of men waited last year for that; but they didn't reckon; they got mad; wouldn't pay it. There are times to get mad and refuse to pay; but when one's property needs protecting is no time to get mad and not paint. Besides, it costs more to get mad and wait than to paint. Getting mad doesn't do any good to your property; paint does it good by keeping out water; no water, no rot; no paint, some water and rot; and a little rot is more than enough to make a man liberal towards his painter and paint. Paint costs not a cent. All the paint in the world, so long as it keeps out water, costs not a cent. DEVOE.

WEDDING BELLS. HOPKINS-HAMILTON. Miss Bertha Hopkins, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund G. Hopkins, of Ellsworth, was married to George Willis Hamilton at the home of the bride's parents on Church street Monday evening. At 8 o'clock, to the strains of the Lohengren wedding march played by Mrs. Harry E. Rowe, the bride and groom entered the parlor and took their position under an arch of evergreen and white lilies, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. T. S. Ross, of the Methodist church. The single ring ceremony was used. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white crepe meteor, daintily hand embroidered and trimmed with pearls. She carried a large arm bouquet of white carnations and valley lilies. In the parlor the color scheme was green and white, many lovely potted plants being used, while evergreens were twined over doors and windows. The dining-room was decorated in pink and green. Miss Hazel McGown, of Nicoln, and Miss Nina Franklin, of Ellsworth Falls, served ices. They were assisted by Miss Bertha Hamilton, of Ellsworth Falls, sister of the groom, and Miss Annie E. Emery. The guests consisted of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom and one or two close friends. The wedding presents were many, demonstrating the love and esteem in which the young couple are held. Amid a shower of rice, the happy pair left in an automobile for parts unknown. The bride's going-away gown was old blue with hat to match.

HANCOCK S. J. COURT.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT PROBABLE BY FRIDAY.

ANOTHER DISAGREEMENT IN SURRY LAND CASE - THE CRIMINAL DOCKET.

THE COURT. Presiding Justice-CHIEF JUSTICE ALBERT B. SAUVOY, Auburn.

Court is to-day busy with the criminal docket. All civil cases for the juries have been disposed of, and final adjournment will be reached probably on Friday.

The traverse jurors came into court Thursday forenoon. The two juries, as empaneled and organized, are as follows:

FIRST TRAVERSE JURY. Harold F. Carter, foreman.....Eden George F. Gray.....Surry A. H. Stinson.....Mount Desert Fred H. Webb.....Stonington Herbert L. Trandy.....Sorrento Zebby Heath.....Verona Fred L. Orcutt.....Sullivan Fred E. Morang.....Ellsworth George A. Pert.....Bluehill Herbert F. Emery.....Eden John N. Hancock.....Winter Harbor

SECOND TRAVERSE JURY. Samuel J. Stinson, foreman.....Swan's Island Warren T. Powers.....Deer Isle Walter E. Colby.....Bucksport George M. Perkins.....Castine Joseph M. Hutchins.....Penobscot Charles W. Mason.....Ellsworth W. E. Bragdon.....Franklin Fred J. Perkins.....Brooksport Andrew M. Gray.....Sedgwick Edward W. Griffin.....Brooklin Hollis E. Jordan.....Plantation No. 21 William W. Jellison.....Hancock

SUPERNUMERARY. Byron H. Mayo.....Southwest Harbor

TRIAL OF CASES. Evidence in a replevin suit of Nickerson, Spratt & Greely vs. Andrew L. Stafford, and another action, Andrew L. Stafford vs. Frank Spratt, was taken out before the court Friday. The cases involved title to horses, harnesses, etc. Deasy & Lynam appeared for Nickerson, Spratt & Greely, and Graham for Stafford.

PIERCE VS. SMITH. A civil action for damages for assault, Mrs. Ada Pierce, of Lamoine, vs. James Smith, of Bangor, was tried Friday afternoon. The assault alleged took place at the Bangor house, in Bangor, where plaintiff was employed, the defendant in the case being the steward at the hotel.

Plaintiff alleged that defendant offered her indignities on several occasions, and on one occasion seized her by the ankles, which was the assault complained of. The jury returned a verdict for plaintiff, awarding damages in the sum of $36.03. A. L. Blanchard for plaintiff, G. E. Thompson for defendant.

SPRINGER VS. HARDISON. An action for slander, Mrs. Eva M. Springer vs. George S. Hardison, both of Franklin, was tried Saturday. D. E. Hurley for plaintiff, L. F. Giles for defendant. Verdict for plaintiff, $500.

SAUNDERS VS. MIDDLETON. The case of Henrietta W. Saunders vs. Merie Middleton, and action to recover on a lease of cottage, defendant claiming an off-set for repairs, was tried Monday. Deasy & Lynam for plaintiff, Hale & Hamlin for defendant. The court directed a verdict for plaintiff for $1,430.

The suit of Mrs. Edwin L. Royal, of Ellsworth, vs. the Bar Harbor & Union River Power Co., growing out of the death of her husband by electric shock in January, 1913, has been continued.

MILLIKEN VS. OSGOOD. A Surry land case, Almira A. Milliken vs. Charles Osgood, went on trial Monday morning. Deasy & Lynam for plaintiff, Cogan & Cogan for defendant. This case was tried at the last October term, the jury reporting a disagreement.

The action is one for trespass in cutting down part of a fence and entering upon property owned by plaintiff. The defendant named in the writ is merely the nominal defendant, the real defendant being Mrs. Edna M. Treworgy, by whom he was employed. The case involves the question of a right-of-way over the property upon which the trespass is alleged.

The case went to the jury about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The jury remained out until 1 o'clock this morning, reporting a disagreement.

NEW CITIZENS. Naturalization papers have been issued to James Francis Kelley, Percy Kelley and John H. Stafford, of Bar Harbor; Henry Buote, of Swan's Island, and Max Wolf Dorsky, of Bangor.

SOME LATE SPRINGS.

E. H. Greely, of Ellsworth, Says This is Not So Bad.

The five-inch snowfall of last Thursday, April 16, and the cold weather of the past few days, turns attention to some cold springs of former years. When it comes to weather reminiscences, THE AMERICAN always turns to E. H. Greely, or Mrs. Greely, who for years has kept a weather diary.

"Oh, yes. There have been colder springs and later snows than this," said Mr. Greely. On April 16, 1868, about five inches of snow fell, and one week later eight inches more came in one fall. It had been an early spring up to that, and men had gone up river driving logs. They had no tents, and had to sleep out doors in the snow, with only their blankets over them.

"On April 10, 1863," continued Mr. Greely, "I left Bangor with a stage wagon drawn by six horses, and carrying twelve passengers. While coming to Ellsworth, ten inches of snow fell. When I got to the Craigs farm, the drifts were so deep that the leaders waded up to their collars. We had to shift to sleighs, and went three trips between Bangor and Cherryfield on runners.

"The spring of 1874 was remarkably cold. Mrs. Greely's diary records that on April 1 the mercury registered zero, and on April 30 snow fell nearly all day. May 1 the sun shone, but the ground was covered with snow, and icicles hung from the house all day. I carried my mother and little girl to the stable to see a colt just foaled. Mother suggested we should call it Mayflower, but the little girl said: 'No, it ought to be Snowbound,' and 'Snowbound' was the name it always bore."

The heaviest spring snow storm that Mr. Greely remembers was on April 2, 1887, when snow fell all day, accompanied by a heavy gale from the northeast. Trains were delayed twenty-four hours, and on April 4 Mrs. Greely noted in her diary that there were drifts ten feet deep and the snow was packed so hard that it was almost impossible to cut through. Under date of April 11 of the same year, the diary records that wheels are seen on the streets for the first time since December, and on April 14, that people crossed on the ice with sleighs from Oak Point to Newbury Neck. Two weeks later came one of the worst freshets in the history of Union river.

ELLSWORTH WATER.

Another Analysis by Director of State Laboratory of Hygiene.

Another analysis has been made of the Ellsworth water by H. D. Evans, director of the Maine laboratory of hygiene at Augusta. The analysis, the figures of which are for parts in 100,000, is as follows: Date of collection, April 13, 1914; examination, April 15. Appearance-Turbidity, 0; sediment, 0; color, 2.0. Odor-Cold, none; hot, vegetable. Residue on evaporation-Total, 2.9; loss on ignition, 1.3; fixed residue, 1.4. Ammonia-Free, .0016; in solution, .0122. Chlorine-.027. Nitrogen-Nitrates, none; nitrites, .0001. Oxygen consumed, 0.45. Hardness-1.3. Alkalinity-.03. Iron-.0016. Lead-None. Colon bacillus-None. Bacteria, per c. c.-120.

In a letter accompanying the analysis Dr. Evans says:

The analysis of the spring sample of water from your public supply shows the water to be in its usual good condition. There is no evidence of contact of the water with polluting wastes of any kind; while the water is in normal condition for this season of the year. In its present condition the water is a first-class one in every way.

Leaking Schooner Towed In. SOUTHWEST HARBOR, April 20 (special) -The British schooner Calabria, D. G. Gayton, master, with laths, sprung a leak on the voyage from St. John, N. B., for Philadelphia. About 1 o'clock last Thursday afternoon, Capt. Gayton succeeded in anchoring the schooner near Placentia island. Vessel was making water fast, and that night filled, but her cargo kept her afloat.

Friday the Cranberry Isles life-saving station crew went to assistance of the vessel. Saturday morning the revenue steamer Androscooggin arrived and towed the vessel into Bass Harbor. Owners of the schooner are expected today, when it will be determined what will be done. The vessel appears to be badly damaged.

April 21-The British schooner Oriole, lumber laden from the Provinces for Boston, is reported at Corea, full of water.

A Bath man contemplates an automobile tour of Maine this summer, and proposes to make it pay for itself. The law requires that at all four-corner cross-roads, suitable sign-boards shall be erected designating the distance and direction of the nearest town, and after notice, the selectmen are each liable to a fine of $5 per day until the signs are established, and half the fine goes to the complainant. The Bath automobile owner figures that he can clean up a good sum by touring the State and locating all the cross-roads that are not properly equipped with legal signs. Hancock county towns had better get ready for this visit.

BANISH SCROFULA

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cleanses the Blood, Skin Troubles Vanish.

Scrofula eruptions on the face and body are both annoying and disfiguring. The complexion would be perfect if they were not present!

This disease shows itself in other ways, as bunches in the neck, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, wasting of the muscles, a form of dyspepsia, and general debility.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine completely eradicates scrofula. It purifies and enriches the blood, removes humors, and builds up the whole system.

Scrofula is either inherited or acquired. Better be sure you are quite free from it. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla and begin taking it today.

COUNTY NEWS.

EAST LAMOINE. Mrs. Frank Wooster and son Donald, who have spent the winter in Millinocket, where Mr. Wooster is employed, are home.

OBITUARY. Friends here of John Stevens, of Sacramento, Cal., were pained to hear of his death. He married Miss Eliza Higgins, of this place. The Sacramento Bee says of him:

One of the best-known and best-liked of the old-time citizens of Sacramento died when John Stevens paid the great debt of nature. Mr. Stevens had been ill since September, patiently suffering and patiently facing the inevitable. Several times within the past month his life was despaired of, but his strong constitution and his indomitable will carried him on.

John Stevens was one of the pioneer Sacramentoans and one of the old-time settlers on Sutter terrace, then known by the less euphonious title of Poverty ridge. He owned for many years the one-half block on the south side of U. street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second, and his garden and small orchard were always the admiration of the old people, and the delight of trespassing boys.

Deceased was born in Newburyport, Mass., in 1826, coming to California in 1856 by way of the isthmus. He was at one time president of the Pioneer box factory, and was vice-president of the Friend & Ferry Lumber Co., of this city, being connected with that firm for forty-five years. He served one term as school director in Sacramento, and was superintendent of streets under Mayor George H. Clark.

Mr. Stevens led a quiet and homelike life. He was known throughout his career, both in public and private life, as "Honest" John Stevens, and he well earned the title. So thoroughly appropriate was it that during the appeal of George H. Clark for re-election as mayor of this city, he spent a great portion of his time in proclaiming to the citizens that he would reappoint "Honest" John Stevens to his old position if he were re-elected. In fact he made "Honest" John Stevens a stepping-stone to his success.

Mr. Stevens was a very likable man, quiet retiring and a good citizen, not at all obtrusive, but determined when he was fighting for the right, chock full of courage, with an integrity that was never questioned.

He leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters—H. L. and Eugene N. Stevens and Misses Lottie and Addie Stevens.

April 20. ANON.

OBITUARY. The death on Friday of William E. Phillips, one of Surry's prominent and respected business men, caused sincere sorrow throughout the community.

During the past winter Mr. Phillips had been far from well, though he attended to his regular routine of work in his store. He was compelled to take to his bed on Saturday, April 11, owing to a sudden seizure. Sunday and Monday he showed encouraging signs of improvement, but Tuesday brought a fatal relapse and from that time he gradually became weaker, pneumonia developing. He died Friday forenoon at about 10 o'clock.

William E. Phillips was born on Feb. 21, 1874, the youngest son of the late Henry H. Phillips. An avocational fisherman, he was most prominent amongst the fishermen of Surry in the smelting industry. He also worked for a time as a carpenter, but ultimately turned to a business which was most fitted to his nature.

1901 he went to Northeast Harbor, and for four years worked in the Northeast Harbor bakery under M. T. Ober. He finally bought the business and carried it on for three years.

In 1910 he returned to his native village to open the general store which engaged the whole of his attention until his death. He built up a prosperous business, and demonstrated his ability in a manner which has given much cause for admiration.

For seven years he had lived a happy married life. His wife has entered into his pursuits with a consistency worthy of recognition. He leaves besides his wife, a mother, and two brothers.

The funeral took place Sunday, Rev. P. A. A. Killam officiating, assisted by Rev. J. W. Tickle. There was a large gathering of neighbors and friends, Odd Fellows and grangers. Interment in Surry cemetery.

WEALTH OF HAIR

Parisian Sage Makes Thin Lifeless Hair Soft and Abundant.

Beautiful hair, thick, soft, fluffy, lustrous, and free from dandruff, is one of woman's greatest charms. Yet so many have streaked, thin and lifeless hair and think there is no remedy. Pretty hair is largely a matter of care.

Frequent applications of Parisian Sage well rubbed into the scalp is all that is needed—it acts like magic. Try it to-night—you will really be surprised with the result. Not only will the hair become soft, fluffy, radiant with life and really doubly beautiful, but all dandruff disappears, falling hair and itching scalp cease—your head feels fine.

All druggists sell a large bottle of Parisian sage for fifty cents. Get it from G. A. Parcher; he will refund the money if you are not satisfied.

COUNTY NEWS.

FRANKLIN. Benjamin Crossley is ill of grip. Mrs. C. J. Cleveland, of Bangor, visited relatives here last week. The Methodist Sunday school enjoyed the Saturday evening social. Rev. W. H. Dunham left Monday to attend the conference at Presque Isle. Fred Donnell and family will move to L. C. Bragdon's boarding-house this week. Calvin Hovey is spending a few weeks with his uncle, B. B. Hovey, at West Sullivan. Miss Edith Bragdon, of Portland, spent the week-end with her parents, W. E. Bragdon and wife. Miss Mamie Blaisdell left for North Anson Thursday to visit her parents, Warren Blaisdell and wife. Lester Carlton and wife, who have been caring for A. W. Hovey a few weeks, left for North Sullivan Friday. Mrs. Mildred Jellison, of Houlton, was in town Tuesday to attend the funeral of her grandfather, W. A. Hovey. Mrs. M. A. Gordon and babe are visiting her parents, C. E. Dyer and wife, while Rev. Mr. Gordon attends conference. Mrs. Genie Newman, who has been caring for her mother, Mrs. Millard French, has returned to her home at Southwest Harbor. Mrs. R. L. Gay left Wednesday for Portland as delegate to the great council of Peabodians. From Portland Mrs. Gay will go to Boston and Providence, R. I., to visit for several weeks. News of the death of Dr. H. F. Collins, at his home in Washington, D. C., was a great shock to his many friends here, especially to those who hold in grateful remembrance his faithful and helpful medical services. His death occurred after two days' illness. The funeral of W. A. Hovey was held at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. H. Dunham officiating, assisted by Rev. G. Mayo. The large gathering of relatives and friends testified to the high regard held for the deceased. Mr. Hovey is survived by one son—Calvin, who has been for a long time his father's devoted companion. Much sympathy is felt for him in his bereavement. Many beautiful flowers covered the casket. Following is a list of teachers employed in common schools, which commenced last week: Franklin grammar, Clayton Atwood, of New Portland; Franklin primary, Miss Geneva Bragdon; West Franklin grammar, Miss Frances Dyer; West Franklin primary, Miss Nickerson, of Seabrook; East Franklin grammar, Earl Tyler, of Cherryfield; East Franklin primary, Miss Annie Wilbur, of Pembroke; Ryefield grammar, Miss Daisy Gordon; Ryefield primary, Miss Marcia Bragdon; Beechland, Miss Verna Lawrie; Egypt, Miss Hazel Clark; South Bay, Miss Bouliah Hooper.

April 20. BLUEHILL. Rev. R. A. Barker spent last week in Boston. Benjamin Curtis, of Boston, is spending a few days at his summer home, "Starboard Acre." Rev. Mr. Smith, of South Penobscot, will deliver the address to the local G. A. R. on Memorial day. E. M. Graham, of Bangor, was in town last week on business connected with the extension of electric power here. Marcellus Cogan, of Boston, O. E. Ruffell, of New York, H. D. Whitten, of Worcester, H. E. Davis, of Portland, and F. C. Whitem, of Boston, were among week-end visitors in town. A musicale was given in the town hall Monday afternoon for the children by Curtis Walton, of Cleveland. The concerts on the victrola were fine, such artists as Caruso, Melba, Farrar, Williams, Scottia and Lander being heard. The kindness of Mr. Walton was greatly appreciated. Dr. E. V. N. Bliss, of Philadelphia, will open an office about April 25 for the practice of medicine and surgery. Dr. Bliss has had a large experience in the hospitals of Philadelphia, and for the past ten months has been resident physician to the Eastern Maine general hospital at Bangor. The cast of "Uncle Silas", with a few guests, had a party at the rooms of the Bluehill fire company Saturday evening. The occasion was a happy one, and was fully appreciated by the company. Delicious refreshments were served by the young ladies. The cast forgot all the hard work involved in staging the play. John Warren Kane, jr., celebrated his twentieth birthday by a dancing party in Kane's hall. The hall was prettily decorated. Dainty refreshments were served by Mr. Kane, assisted by his mother and Misses Fannie Stover, Emma McHowell and Florence Morse. After the refreshments Curtis Walton, in behalf of the company, presented Mr. Kane with a gold watch inscribed with his monogram. Mr. Kane was taken by surprise, but recovered himself and expressed his thanks. Excellent music was furnished by Atherton's orchestra.

March 28. At this writing it is safe for loaded teams. Elevators are being installed in the Brigham cottage on Mt. Desert street and in the Bowdoin cottage on West street. "Traffic in Souls" was shown at the Casino Monday and Tuesday by Doherty's Moving Picture Co., and was largely attended. Gardeners who had begun uncovering, regret the recent snow storm, even though the surf along the sea wall was worth seeing. Mrs. Albion Jordan, who has been receiving treatment in the Osteopathic hospital, Philadelphia, is sufficiently recovered to be sight-seeing in Washington. She will return home in May. April 20. M.

GREAT POND. Mary Williams has gone to Bangor for a few weeks. Mr. Blanding is a guest of J. F. Haynes for the week-end. Mary Alice Williams entertained a party of her little friends Saturday, her third birthday. Miss Arabel Rowe, of Aurora, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Haynes, at Alligata, last week. F. E. Mace, of Augusta, spent a few days here this week. The young folks gave him an impromptu reception at the hall Saturday evening. Refreshments were served. While here Mr. Mace sold to T. H. McInch the Gus Collar place, a pretty country home. He also sold the grass on the home place to C. W. Emery and T. H. McInch and hired several men for driving. April 19. E.

NORTH HANCOCK. C. E. Googins and L. B. Crabtree entertained a party of friends for the week-end at camp Seldom Inn. Clarence Stratton and wife and F. H. Stratton were week-end guests of R. H. Williams and wife in Franklin. Miss Flora Stratton was successfully operated upon in the hospital at Bangor Saturday. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery. Frank O. Preble launched his new motor-boat Saturday. The Arvilla J. is a beauty. She was built entirely by lamp-light during the winter evenings. Calvin Hutchins, one of our smart old gentlemen, performed a feat Friday that would put some of the younger men to shame. Mr. Hutchins arrived in Ellsworth on the 11:06 train, walked down town, did several small errands and back to the station, with eight minutes to spare to catch the 11:43 train. Mr. Hutchins is seventy-nine years old. April 20. ANON.

SOUTH GOULDSBORO. H. I. Freese and wife have moved to Bar Harbor for the summer. Miss Sybil Hammond, of Winter Harbor, spent the week-end with her grandparents here. Edmond Hooper and his mother, Mrs. Ida Hooper, visited in East and West Sullivan last week. Mrs. Lucy Bunker, who was recently operated upon for appendicitis in the hospital in Bangor, is gaining satisfactorily. Sunday was observed here as go-to-church day. A large congregation listened to an inspiring sermon by Rev. E. S. Drew. The pulpit was surrounded by beautiful plants sent in by Mrs. Florence Hanna. There was special singing by the choir. April 20. H.

Three Liars A Story For Easter By F. A. MITCHEL

When our troops came home from Cuba and, nearly all sick, were unloaded from transports on the eastern end of Long Island the camps that held them were thronged with persons who had come to find relatives or friends. One of these, an old lady with an anxious look on her face, stopped at a tent before which sat an officer in a camp chair and asked in a tremulous voice: "Can you tell me if my boy has come?" The officer rose, took off his hat respectfully and said: "What regiment did your boy belong to, madam?" "He was with the —th Pennsylvania." "Come with me, and I will see if I can get the information you wish." He led the way to a tent wherein an officer was writing. "Make your inquiries here," he said and left her. "I'm trying to find my boy, Henry Ashurst," said the old lady. The officer looked serious. He remembered having the name of Henry Ashurst on a list of killed and wounded. He hunted in his desk for a certain paper and when he found it ran his eye over the list of names. His expression became still more serious, but he bent his face down so that it was concealed under the rim of his hat. He had found the name of Henry Ashurst, but had not the heart to tell the mother what list it was in. "Your son hasn't come up from Cuba yet, madam. He wasn't very well when the last transport sailed." "Do you know what his trouble was?" asked the old lady, tears starting into her eyes. "Some of those fevers they have down there, I believe." "Is he very ill?" "Well, I couldn't tell you about that. There's the regimental surgeon's tent over there; you might inquire of him." The old lady walked feebly over to the tent designated, found the surgeon and asked the same questions she had asked the adjutant. The doctor looked down upon the anxious face and turned toward just as the other had done. "Henry Ashurst?" he said as if trying to recollect. "There was a soldier in the hospital of that name, I think, but I can't exactly recall his case." "Was he very sick?" "Oh, no; not very sick. I think it was a simple flesh wound in the leg." "Do you think he will come on the next transport?" "No doubt of it, madam; no doubt of it."

The old lady went away. The adjutant saw her go and walked over to the surgeon. "I couldn't do my duty by that old lady, could you? I found his name on a list of mortally wounded. I told his mother he had a fever." "I remembered him in the hospital as one for whom there was no hope of recovery. I lied about it too. I told his mother he had a slight flesh wound. I only know what I have told you, so I took the benefit of the doubt." Every day the old lady visited the camp, and every day the adjutant and surgeon either told her more lies or repeated the old ones. The ship bearing her son never came to Montauk Point, and when the last tent was struck she ceased her visits and her inquiries. The winter passed and no one had the courage to tell the mother that her boy would not come back to her. They all excused themselves on the ground that no record of the death and burial of Private Henry Ashurst had been found. But when the war closed every one connected with the army was in a hurry to get away from the beat, the sickness, the death attending an army in a tropical climate in summer. Until some one would assure her that her son was dead the poor mother hoped. She was very religious and prayed fervently that her boy might be restored to her. One morning in April when the sun, shining warm, was opening the leaves typifying the resurrection shortly to be celebrated at Easter the old lady went to her rector and said she had a feeling that Henry would come home on Easter Sunday. "Do you think," she said, "that this feeling has been sent me by Providence?" "Quite likely," was the reply. "I believe that Providence often sends us forecasts of what is about to happen." He had no more doubt that Henry Ashurst's bones were moldering in Cuba than that the earth turned on its axis. "I'm so glad you think so!" added the mother, moving away, while the clergyman looked after her, not knowing whether to consider himself a liar or one who had done a kindness. At dawn on Easter morning there was a loud rapping on the door of Mr. Ashurst's house. "He's come!" she said, getting out of bed, and without stopping to put on a wrapper she went downstairs, opened the door and was clasped in the arms of her son.

"Oh, Harry, where have you been all this time?" "I was left in Cuba. When I got well I had forgotten who I was. Since then I have been going about as another person. Some time ago a surgeon removed a piece of my skull, and here I am."

April 20. BROOKLIN. H. S. Kane is ill. H. M. Pease was in Bangor last week. Mrs. A. H. Kane has gone to Bangor for treatment. Mrs. E. H. Bridges is visiting in South Brooksville. Archie Grindle, of Bluehill, is visiting his brother Harry. Mrs. Weston Gott spent several days last week in Rockland. Samuel Wardwell has moved his family back to West Brooklin. B. O. Dollard and O. L. Flye returned home from Boston Wednesday. Mrs. Alma Bartlett has returned from Freeport and Portland, where she has been visiting. Miss Edith Kane, who was called home by the illness of her mother, has returned to Castine normal school. Mrs. Lena Cunningham and master Virgil came home Wednesday from Freeport, where they spent the winter. Next Sunday, April 26, is anniversary Sunday for the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Services will be held at I. O. O. F. hall Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Arthur Tarbell will deliver the address. The Friend brothers, of Melrose, Mass., have just presented to the Robert C. Friend memorial library two large reading tables, and twelve chairs of willow, stained silver gray, for the reading room, also the window shade and a slide of plate glass for the book shelf. Such gifts are very acceptable. These same brothers gave the library, the building lot and $1,000 when the building was erected. They have maintained great interest in the library since its organization, and we know these gifts coming from them are much appreciated by the officers of the association and the community. April 20. UNE FEMME.

BASS HARBOR. Willie Watson is confined to the house with a sprained knee. Joseph Wooster and Maurice Thurston have gone to Nova Scotia after lobsters. Schools begin this week, with the same teachers—Miss Charles, primary, and Miss Rena Reed, grammar. Walter Farley and family have gone to Prospect Harbor for the summer. His sister, Reta Farley, went with them for a few weeks' visit. Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Miss Nadia Thurston, of this town, and Henry Abel, of Dorchester, Mass. After a wedding trip to New York, they will spend the summer at Mr. Abel's summer home at West Tremont. April 20. X. Y. Z.

WEST BROOKSVILLE. Mrs. Annie Green, of Bangor, is the guest of Mrs. Charles Babbidge. Miss Caroline Joy, of Grand Forks, N. D., arrived last week after an absence of two years, to spend the summer at her cottage. Mrs. Nancy L. Mills, the "mother" of the neighborhood, observed her eighty-seventh birthday April 9. Mrs. Mills is in fairly good health, and mentally is keen and bright. She is a great reader, and keeps well posted on the events of the day. It is a pleasure to pass an hour in her company. Her birthday was one of the happiest, she receiving many gifts. April 20. TOMSON.

April 20. EAST ORLAND. Miss Winifred Gray is at home from Castine normal school. Miss Grace Gibbs, who is teaching in Frankfort, is home for a few days. Mrs. Frank Mason and Mason Stanley arrived Saturday from a visit in Old Town. W. L. Wentworth has started his mill, manufacturing long lumber and shingles. Byron Arnold died Thursday at the home of his parents. He was a member of Almoosook grange, where he will be greatly missed, as he was always ready to help with music. April 20. M.

DEDHAM. Ellis Goodwin is visiting his sister, Mrs. George Brewster. W. E. Davis, of Cambridge, Mass., has moved his family to the Goodwin farm which he recently purchased. Mrs. Scott E. Jones, of New Portland, is teaching the village school, and Miss Vera Seeds, of Surry, the Peaks school, Miss Zina Davis, of Eddington, at Phillips Lake, and Miss Isaphine Brewer at Green Lake. April 20. B.
