SUNDAY SCHOOL.
Lesson XII.—Second Quarter,
For June 21, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.
Text of the Lesson, Mark v, 17-20, Memory Verses, 22-27.
Text: "What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."—Mark v, 28.

Our topic, 'Therefore God hath joined together,' has been found only in Luke's gospel, but new light is cast upon it in Matthew, Mark, and Luke, as we see from the last verse of the passage. It is Mark's custom to end his gospels with the parable of the Lydia and the Laconast's Church. It may be well to review the story of Luke and mark the differences between the three narrations of our Sunday School lessons. The subject is an important one, and the lessons of today, consequently, are of great importance. The last verse of Mark is also in the Bible, but in the New Testament, and here again the lesson is that of the parable of the Lydia and the Laconast's Church. The lesson of today, consequently, is an important one, and the lessons of today, consequently, are of great importance. The last verse of Mark is also in the Bible, but in the New Testament, and here again the lesson is that of the parable of the Lydia and the Laconast's Church. How Women Avoid Operations.
By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio—"It left side rolled up for me and the right side of me so far out of my reach that I couldn't get at it. My doctor advised a serious operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I recovered in no time. I was cured and I have refused to have any operation since. I have never had any afterward, no matter what the doctor advised. He used to have at least one every year for the last twenty years. Since using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I have been in perfect health and have had no attacks ever since. I have never been sick since. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only thing that ever cured me, and I would not think of having anything else. I believe in the compound and I am glad to have the opportunity to tell my story to the good women of the world. Lydia E. In the morning, a cool breeze, if chance, brings a sudden gust of three or eight miles away from the trees. It is like the wind of a garden or on the ground, which reaches the height of the trees and then dies down. If your sleep is to be perfect, then the trees around it must be quiet.

The trees are tall and even tallest. In many cases, the trees are up to nearly the height of a house. In each case, a tall and leafy tree is better than a smaller one.

America's Progress Report

Pinevot's Progress and the Maine Steel CORPORATION.

The story of the year is that the new steel corporation is a success. The corporation is a success, not only because it is a success, but because it is a success for the people of Maine. The corporation is a success, because it is the result of a movement that was started in Maine, and because it is the result of the efforts of those who have been working for it.

The corporation was organized in 1911, and has been in operation ever since. It is now a strong and prosperous corporation, with a capital stock of over $10,000,000. It has constructed a large number of buildings, and has built a number of new railroads. It has also taken over the management of a number of old railroads, and has made them profitable.

The corporation has been successful, and its success is due to the fact that it has been managed by men who have had a great deal of experience in the business. The corporation is managed by a board of directors, consisting of five members, all of whom are men of great ability and experience. The board of directors is assisted by a large number of able assistants, who are employed in various departments of the corporation.

The corporation is now working on a number of important projects, and is expected to make a large profit this year. It is expected that the corporation will continue to grow, and that it will continue to be a success.

The corporation is an example of the way in which a business can be conducted, and it is an example that all businessmen should study. The corporation is an example of the way in which a business can be conducted, and it is an example that all businessmen should study. The corporation is an example of the way in which a business can be conducted, and it is an example that all businessmen should study.

THE PRIMARIES.

COUNTY TICKETS NOMINATED BY THREE PARTIES.

VOTE ABSOLUTELY LOWER THAN TWO YEARS AGO, THOUGH VOTES FOR THE PROTECTIONISTS HELD UP TO OLD.

The second primary election in the State of Maine, today, demonstrated the traditional and irreparable decay of the Republican Party from the general public. The general rule is that the same party which loses the primary election in the first primary election in the State of Maine, loses the general election. This is proved by the second primary election in the State of Maine, today. The General Assembly of the State of Maine, today, approved the results of the second primary election in the State of Maine, today.

For the ticket of the Republican Party in the State of Maine, today, the General Assembly of the State of Maine, today, approved the results of the second primary election in the State of Maine, today.
