Lesson X.—Fourth Quarter, For Dec. 6, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xvi, 1-8; Matt. xxviii, 11-15—Memory Verses, 6, 7—Golden Text, Luke xxiv, 5, 6. Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The resurrection from the dead is the crowning event in all His work. For Christ be not risen faith is vain, preaching is vain, no one is saved; there is no forgiveness of sins (1 Cor. xv, 14-18). But before we consider His resurrection we must look at some incidents in connection with His death and burial which we have passed over. Note the women who ministered to Him, who followed Him, who looked on afar off as He was crucified, who beheld where His dead body was laid and returned and prepared spices to anoint it when the Sabbath was past (Mark xv, 40-47; Luke xxiii, 55).

They loved Him greatly, but did not believe that He would rise from the dead, so those spices were in a measure love's labor lost because of unbelief. Note the pierced side, the blood and water with all their Scriptural suggestions and the fulfilled Scriptures about His being pierced and not a bone broken (John xix, 31-37; Zech. xii, 10; Ex. xii, 46).

The boldness of Joseph and Nicodemus at a time when all others seemed to fall, the new tomb, the loving ministry and the fulfilled Scripture concerning His grave being with the rich in His death are a fascinating record (Luke xxiii, 50-53; John xix, 38-42; Isa. liii, 9).

It would appear from Matt. xxvii, 62-66, that some of the Pharisees remembered, as His disciples did not, that He had spoken of rising again after three days and therefore they had His tomb sealed. Our lesson verses give us only the beginning of the resurrection story. They tell us of the coming of the women to the tomb very early in the morning on the first day of the week to anoint His body, wondering who would roll away the stone for them. How often we find the stone which we thought would hinder us rolled away when we reach the place! We read of an earthquake when He died, but this is another one at His resurrection (Matt. xxvii, 54; xxviii, 2).

Inanimate nature is moved by these events while the heart of man remains harder than the rocks. Some day we shall see these angels, whose countenances are like lightning and their raiment white as snow, and we, too, shall shine as the sun (Matt. xxviii, 3-4; xlii, 43). We should be reflecting more of His glory now in these mortal bodies (11 Cor. iii, 18). How beautiful it is that the first word from the angel to these devoted women was "fear not" or "be not" affrighted (verses 5, 6; Matt. xxviii, 5, 6). So He Himself said to the other women after He had appeared to Mary, as He allowed them to hold Him by the feet and worship Him, "Be not afraid; go tell My brethren" (Matt. xxviii, 9, 10).

With similar words He spoke to the disciples in the upper room that evening, saying: "Peace be unto you. Why are ye troubled? Behold my hands and my feet that it is I myself" (Luke xxiv, 36-40). Even though we fall and forsake Him He has only words of peace and comfort for us. Matthew and Mark speak of one angel; Luke and John speak of two, but there is no discrepancy, for if there were two there was certainly one, whether the disciples or women saw one or two. Neither is there any discrepancy in the seemingly different positions of the angels, for they can move about more easily than we can. The words of the angel concerning Jesus, "He is risen, He is not here" (verse 6), are sometimes used by ministers at a funeral concerning the dead, but that is a wrong use of the words, for they refer to the resurrection, not to the burial of the body.

How very gracious it was of the Lord to tell the angel to send by the woman a special message to Peter and then to give Peter a special personal interview (verse 7; Luke xxiv, 34) after all his base denial of his Master. It is always so—weakest lambs have largest share of their tender shepherd's care. The angels reminded the women that Jesus had said that He would be crucified and the third day rise again, and yet when the women told the disciples that He was risen their words seemed to them as idle tales, and they believed them not (Luke xxiv, 6-11). Mark xvi, 9, says that Jesus appeared first to Mary Magdalene, but the full record of that appearance is found in John xx, 1-17.

Is not His appearing first to her another illustration of the same great truth that we saw in His giving Peter a special personal interview? She was blinded by tears of unbelief, but one word from Him opened her eyes. A peculiar thing in her case was His "Touch Me not" when He afterward allowed the other women to hold Him by the feet.

To my mind the reason He gave her was clear and plain. "For I am not yet ascended to My Father" (John xx, 17). Another wonderful thing that on His way to His Father in His resurrection body as our high priest He should stop to speak to her and comfort her. Having ascended and returned, He could then let others touch and handle Him as He did the others and the disciples that evening.

Mutual Benefit Column.

EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE".

Its Motto: "Helpful and Hopeful."

The purposes of this column are succinic y stated in the title and motto—it is for the mutual benefit, and aims to be helpful and hopeful. Belief for the common good, it is for the common use—a public servant, a purveyor of information and suggestion, a medium for the interchange of ideas. In this capacity it solicits communications, and its success depends largely on the support given it in this respect. Communications must be signed, but the name of writer will not be printed except by permission. Communications will be subject to approval or rejection by the editor of the column, but none will be rejected without good reason. Address all communications to

LIGHTEN THE LOAD.

Only a little bit lightens the load, Only a little bit softens the road, Only a little bit helps up the hill, Only a little bit sets one a-stririll, With the joy of new effort, with hope and with trust, To climb to the light, through the shadows and dust. Lighten the load of another's long mile With the song of your hope and the sun of your smile: Only a little bit, day after day; Only a little bit lessens the way, Shortens the suffering, sorrow and tears, Only a little bit brightens and cheers. Only a little bit makes them again Happier women and usefulness men; Only a little from you to help live; Only a little of all you could give; Lighten the load, as your own has been lifted By the light and the love that around you have drifted. —Selected by Zilla.

Dear M. B. Friends:

We sometimes hear persons say, and perhaps we even think it ourselves: "There is so little we can do," we may mean little we can do for some good cause, or to help the needs of others, or to make the world better or brighter for others. Sometimes persons excuse themselves from doing "the little" because they cannot do the more or greater things.

What is that old Scotch proverb? "Mony a little makes a mickle" (my spelling may be a little off, but I trust you get the idea). A few days ago an editorial in one of the daily papers alluded rather disparagingly to the work of preparing and sending aid to the suffering poor and home-wrecked people of other countries; and the poem reminded me how many were adding their mites, everywhere in country and city, to increase the number of articles of comfort, which represent also sympathy for the distressed. It may be "only a little bit" that one may do to alleviate the suffering of a multitude, but how the supplies increase to shiploads when the help of the "ones" is gathered into a great whole!

Having read thus far some of you may be saying, "but charity should begin at home," so for that side of the question let me quote from the December American Magazine.

Olive May Wilson, a seventeen-year-old Philadelphia girl, made 5,000 children happy last Christmas time, and is pushing a big scheme for making many times that number glad this year. She managed to get the local post office authority to deliver her all the letters addressed to Santa Claus which came through the mails; hitherto they had gone direct to the dead letter office. Last December she went to Washington, D. C., and tried to get the franking privilege on the Christmas packages sent in response to the appeals to Santa Claus. She found she could not get the bill through Congress in time for last year's work.

Her plans were worked out with great care. Besides the lists of names gathered from the Santa Claus letters, she secured additional names from city missionaries. She received checks from prominent men and women all over the country, and with the funds bought over 5,000 presents which, with the assistance of her family, were put up in parcels, directed and stamped. Even the war will not be allowed to upset her plans.

Dear Aunt Madge.

I would not write again so soon only to tell you in what a sad plight I found our dear Nell last week when I dropped in upon her one dark, rainy night just before the big November thunder shower. She met me at the door with her usual sweet smile, and when she saw I was alone, that smile grew brighter. She had eleven children in bed with the measles, some very ill. Day and night she stood watch by them. Others were coming down next morning when I left her.

My trip took me to the state school for boys at Portland, the soldiers' orphans home at Bath, and to Brunswick, where I returned a runaway boy to his people; also to Freeport, where I have a cripple child boarding—or rather, she was a bad cripple, considered a hopeless case, when I took her to the children's hospital at Portland in April, 1913. She has been in a plaster case ever since, but can walk and run now, and by the first of January, 1915, we expect her to be pronounced cured. Then she will be taken in to be mothered by our Nell until she finds a home. She is very smart, and we expect it will pay all it has cost to change her from a cripple from birth by the hip being dislocated to a normal child at eight years of age.

I expect my next trip to be to the Shaker village at Alfred. I have always had a desire to visit it. Will tell you of it if I do. You will be glad to know Jennie has come back to East Surry, (even if she is within the borders of Ellsworth) where she can get all of the buttermilk she wants. She looks a lot better than when she met us at reunion last. We all hope to see her a fat old lady.

This letter of Dell's is right in the line of this week's thought—helping—here, there and everywhere. As I read the following letter to B. E. S. and Zilla and others who have met the writer at reunions, we took much pleasure in the thought that Aunt Maria and Uncle Mark were enjoying their second Thanksgiving dinner at the same time we were partaking of our first.

Dear M. B. Friends:

Good morning, I'm speaking you this

A Test for Liver Complaint

Mentally Unhappy—Physically Dull The liver, sluggish and inactive, first shows itself in a mental state—unhappy and critical. Never is there joy in living, as when the stomach and liver are doing their work. Keep your liver active and healthy by using Dr. King's New Life Pills; they empty the bowels freely, tone up your stomach, cure your constipation and purify the blood. 25c. at Druggists. Bucklen's Arnica Salve excellent for Piles.

24th day of November, 1914, to let you know that all is well with us—yes, extra well, for we are to have two Thanksgivings and this is how it happens. It all began by going gadding, Yes, the 14th, I took in a fine Pomona at Oriand village, the 15th visited friends in Bucksport, the 17th visited a daughter, and had such a swell dinner.

Well, all this going about for an old stay-at-home got me rattled, and I thought Thursday of that week was Thanksgiving, so I made ready my chickens, plum pudding, and pies, gave the pater strong coffee and we ate our Thanksgiving dinner. Sat long at the table. Then I cleared away, and C. and I went over to son Herbert's to call. I said to them as soon as I got in the house: "Well, how did your Thanksgiving dinner set?" They said, "Why, what do you mean?" "Why," I said, "isn't this Thanksgiving day? Anyhow, we've eaten our Thanksgiving dinner, this very day." Well! You should have seen that family; they near died laughing, and I looked at the calendar. Then I laughed as hard as any of them, in fact, we had "a gale."

In due time I came home and told M. W. "Good," he said, "let's have Christmas dinner to-morrow and alternate 'till the real days get here, and you will see how very happy I'll be."

So you see how 'tis, and I'm stewing pumpkin and making ready for Thanksgiving No. 2, and I think we will call it a great "nut" for one year. What say? I hope this letter will find all hands of our M. Bites fine and dandy, and may you all have a fine Thanksgiving dinner; in fact, I wish you two in the same year—they go well, and if the chickens hold out—why not? I meant to write long ago, but have been on the run ever since the reunion. Wasn't that a lovely day, reunion and all, and written up so fine, too; nothing left for any of us to say only "Amen—I was there". I've such a lot that I'd like to talk about, but haven't time; should miss the mail. I greet you one and all, and with love and very best wishes, good day. AUNT MARIA.

MOUNT DESERT.

J. A. Somes is having new chimneys built on his house.

Miss Mildred McFarland, of Trenton, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Fred P. Smith.

Dr. J. L. Grindle, wife and son Robert, of Northeast Harbor, spent Sunday with Dr. R. L. Grindle and wife.

Mrs. George Salisbury and daughter Dorothy, of Bar Harbor, are visiting her parents, Loren K. Richardson and wife.

A. C. Fernald, Jr., left Monday for the University of Maine, after spending Thanksgiving with his parents, A. C. Fernald and wife.

Richard O. Allen returned to Bowdoin college Sunday, after spending his Thanksgiving recess with his parents, M. L. Allen and wife.

Master Harry E. Gray is rapidly recovering from a shooting accident in which he lost a toe. His friends are pleased to hear he is doing so well.

Friends of Mrs. F. H. Somes will be glad to learn that she is improving, after an operation a couple of weeks ago in Russell hospital, Brewer.

Mark W. Somes left Monday for Boston, where he is attending a business college. He spent his vacation with his parents, John Allen Somes and wife.

As everybody knows, automobiles are not allowed in the town of Mt. Desert, only on the road leading from Indian Point through Pretty Marsh, but it seems that more or less of them take advantage of the law after dark. While everything is quiet and peaceful, they go through Somesville at a breakneck speed. During the past three weeks some two or three dozen have been seen and heard, going through anywhere from 7 o'clock p. m. until daylight. Sunday evening a night officer took possession of the corner. About 7 o'clock an automobile came rolling into town. The driver was arrested and appeared at Bar Harbor at 9 a. m. Monday for his fine. It happened to be one of our own town citizens who got on the wrong road.

Among the Grangers.

This column is devoted to the Grange, especially to the granges of Hancock county. The column is open to all grangers for the discussion of topics of general interest, and for reports of grange meetings. Make letters short and concise. All communications must be signed, but names will not be printed except by permission of the writer. All communications will be subject to approval by the editor, but none will be rejected without good reason.

Saturday, Dec. 5—Meeting of Hancock Pomona grange with Castine grange.

Bayview grange held an interesting meeting Wednesday evening. The second and fourth degrees were conferred and a pleasing program was listened to. Officers will be elected Dec. 2.

MARIAVILLE, 441.

Nov. 28 it was voted to accept the invitation to meet with Senic grange, Waltham, Dec. 2. Dec. 5 officers will be elected. All are requested to bring something for a harvest feast. The literary program was well carried out. There were interesting remarks by members of Senic grange and also of Mariaville grange. Games were played during recess and refreshments served.

LAOMOINE, 264.

Nov. 24, about thirty were present. After business, games were played at recess, and the following program was presented: Sketch of the life of O. W. Holmes and reading of "September Gale", Eunice Coggins; quotations from Holmes; solo, "Meditation," Miss Taylor; character sketches by pupils of North LaMoine school; a jumbled Thanksgiving dinner, which was a game of transposed spelling; grange notes, Grace Hodgkins; historical contest in which Homer Wilbur's side won. One application was received. Next week is election of officers, and the week following there will be degree work.

An Afternoon Diversion.

A hostess who wished to provide a novel diversion for her afternoon guests prepared a number of sheets of paper with the name of a course of an elaborate dinner written on each, and at the bottom of each sheet were written the words, "I vote for."

The papers were distributed, and the guests were invited to write an original recipe for the course, which fell to her lot. A quarter of an hour was allowed for the writing of the recipes, and at the end of the time the papers were gathered up and redistributed, so that no one had the paper she had written. As no names were on the papers no one knew whose paper she held, and thus with perfect boldness she read aloud the recipe on the paper in hand. Only the culprit knew who had written the recipes which provoked so much mirth when they were read aloud.

When all the recipes had been read each guest voted on the paper she held for the recipe she liked best. The papers were then collected again, and after the votes had been counted the prize, which was a cookery book, was awarded.

Some players were very serious and did the best they could with the limited knowledge at their command. The others were nonsensical and amusing.

Ballroom Etiquette.

Guests are privileged to arrive at a ball at any hour before midnight. Men and women check their wraps in their respective dressing rooms and bow courteously to those who stand by the door to receive them.

If a woman is not asked at once to dance she should seat herself beside her chaperon.

As soon as a dance is over a woman, should she wish to be free of her companion or feel that he is eager to leave her, is at liberty to ask that he accompany her back to her seat beside her chaperon.

When leaving the ballroom the guests should say farewell to the hostess and thank her for the evening's pleasure.

Silk gloves should not be worn on such an occasion. Kid ones are proper.

Five o'Clock Tea.

An afternoon tea is supposed to be late in the afternoon, yet not so late as to interfere with the dinner hour, while refreshments should always be light. No salads or meats are required, and often a hostess confines herself to the custom of serving hot toasted and buttered English muffins with the tea. Sweet cakes are not good with tea; neither is fruit of any sort. The simpler the fare the better may be the rule. Invitations are informal—just a call over the telephone or a line to ask friends to come up for a "cup of tea" at 5 o'clock such a day.

Deference to the Elderly.

The pretty deference of youth to age is less in evidence these days than in former years, yet it is always an evidence of gentle birth and breeding that should be paid to those older in years and wisdom.

A man presents his young friends to his mother, then to his father; a husband presents his men friends to his father and mother first if they are present, as a matter of courtesy to the aged, and next to his wife.

When to Rise.

The hostess always rises for an introduction unless she is much older than those whom she is receiving. A man must always rise for an introduction. Under ordinary circumstances a woman need not rise for an introduction to either a man or a woman unless the person introduced is much older than herself or is particularly distinguished. In such a case it would be correct for her to show deference by rising.

Birth Announcements.

When you have received an announcement of the birth of a child to a friend politeness requires that you should call to inquire after the health of the mother and child and leave your card. If you live in a distant city and are unable to call you should post your card to the mother and inscribe "Heartly congratulations" on it.

Arms Off the Table.

The person who after meals clears a space in front of him is in bad form. Yet so many people get into this habit. No sooner have they finished a course than they push the plates toward the center of the table. Why? Well, sometimes to put their elbows on the cloth—another bit of bad table manners.

The Last Word.

It is said that the meaneast nature usually is successful in obtaining the discordant "last word." In regard to this no better advice than the following can be quoted:

"Any discussion which does not tend to bring two people into the one way of thinking is worse than useless."

When to Call.

Ceremonious calls are not made between women in the morning, evening or on Sunday afternoons. A man, owing to the exactions of business, may call in the evening and on Sunday afternoon.

A WARNING TO MANY Some Interesting Facts About Kidney Troubles

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease, which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1913, in the state of New York alone. Therefore it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. The mild and healing influence of this preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper, enclose ten cents, and they will gladly forward it to you by Parcel Post.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.

THIS WOMAN WAS VERY UNHAPPY

Physically and Mentally Worn Out—Tells How Nervous and Crying Spells Were Ended by Vinol.

Monmouth, Ill.:—"I was weak, worn-out and nervous. I had no appetite and was getting so thin and discouraged, one day I just broke down and cried, when a friend came in and asked me what was the matter. I told of my condition and how nothing I took seemed to do me any good. Vinol was suggested. I got a bottle and before it was half gone I could eat and sleep well. I continued its use and now my friends say I look ten years younger, and I am well, healthy and strong. I wish I could induce every tired-out, worn-out, nervous woman to take Vinol."—Mrs. HARRIET GALE, Monmouth, Ill.

There are many over-worked, tired-out careworn, nervous women in this vicinity who need the strengthening, tissue building, and vitalizing effects of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, and so sure are we that it will build them up and make them strong that we offer to return their money if it fails to benefit.

Vinol is a delicious preparation of the extract of cod liver oil and peptonate of iron and contains no oil.

Miss Laura H. Jones is in Belfast for a week.

Fred D. Jones, of Belfast, spent Thanksgiving with his sisters at the "Home-stead".

Edwin Leach and wife, of North Bluehill, were guests of E. E. Cummings and wife Thanksgiving.

Edward K. Tapley and wife, of Brooklin, were in town Sunday to attend the funeral of Mr. Tapley's aunt, Mrs. Emily S. Tapley.

Maurice L. Tapley and wife, of Roadfield, Capt. James H. Tapley, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and John S. Tapley, of Charleston, arrived here Saturday, called by the death of their mother, Mrs. Emily S. Tapley.

The funeral of Mrs. Emily S. Tapley, who died suddenly at her home Thursday, Nov. 26, was held Sunday afternoon, Rev. Charles Field Atkins officiating. The pallbearers were her four sons—Maurice L., John S., James H. and Ralph W. Burial at Mount Rest in the family lot. Mrs. Tapley is survived by the four sons named and five daughters—Mrs. Fred Hawes, of Bradford, N. H.; Mrs. Isaac Stover, Mrs. Fred J. Perkins and Misses Emily and Ruth, all of this town. Mrs. Tapley was the daughter of the late Samuel and Clarissa Blodgett Wasson. She was a bride at twenty-two and a widow at sixty-six. She was married to Capt. John Paine Tapley Oct. 6, 1864. Boarding the bark Ironsides, which lay at Bangor, loaded and all ready for sea, they sailed on their bridal trip to Montevideo, thence to Ceylon, thence to Point deGale and Tenany, India, thence home to Philadelphia, touching on their way at Cape Good Hope and St. Helena.

How Far Is Ellsworth Falls?

Not So Far That the Statements Of Its Residents Cannot Be Verified.

Rather an interesting case has been developed in Ellsworth Falls. Being so near by, it is well worth publishing here. The statement is sincere—the proof convincing:

Mrs. R. I. Moore, Ellsworth Falls, Me., says: "Some years ago, I came home from the hospital where I had undergone an operation. All that winter I was miserable with a severe attack of kidney trouble. The pain in my back was almost unbearable and medicine and doctors' treatment failed to do me any good. Doan's Kidney Pills, however, went directly to the seat of the trouble, not only curing the backache but strengthening my kidneys and improving my condition in every way."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Moore had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Found on the Battlefield

Why a Soldier Didn't Like to Talk About His Deed

By F. A. MITCHEL

I was born at the time of the war between the states, but what year I have never known till recently. My earliest remembrance is being in a foundling institution in Harrisburg, Pa. How I came to be there I could never find out, for it was, judging from my age, toward the close of the war and when everybody and everything was in a state of commotion. I left the asylum when I must have been about sixteen years old. At any rate, the inmates were not kept there after sixteen, and since there was a record on the books in 1863 of "a female baby apparently about a year old" that was called Betty or Hetty or something like that—the first letter was blurred—and I was called Betty it was assumed that the record pertained to me.

At leaving, being old enough to understand the importance of learning as much as possible about my antecedents, I made every inquiry concerning them, but all I could learn was the above. The clothes in which I was brought to the institution had been preserved, but the only thing on them for identification was the letters "H. C.," which were carefully embroidered.

On leaving the asylum I went to serve as nursemaid with a lady in Philadelphia. She and her husband were refined persons and on hearing my story took an interest in me, expressing themselves ready to help me to find my parents.

One day Mr. Sawyer, husband of the lady by whom I was employed, returned after an absence.

He told me that he had been in Harrisburg and while there, being interested in my case, had gone to the asylum where I had been brought up to make inquiries concerning me. Being a man of affairs, he was more successful than I had been. He had got from the records the names of persons who were connected with the asylum when I was sent there and had advertised for several of them. An elderly woman living in the country not far from Harrisburg answered the advertisement. Mr. Sawyer learned from her that she was at the asylum from 1862 to 1864; that during that time a girl baby was brought in by a Union soldier. That was all she could remember, for she had left the institution soon after the child was received.

"I AM THAT BABY!"

I think Mr. Sawyer took more interest in the matter than I. Perhaps it was a detective instinct in him that led him to busy himself about it. At any rate, his curiosity was aroused, and he kept thinking about it much of the time.

"You're a war baby, Bet," he would say to me. "I have an idea that you got lost somehow during the war. Maybe your father was a soldier and got killed and a comrade took his little girl and not being in a position to care for her left her at the asylum. This theory is supported by the fact that about the time you were taken there General Lee invaded Pennsylvania, and every citizen who could carry a gun turned out to oppose him. We will establish your identity and don't you forget it."

When the war ended, everybody, both north and south, had had enough of it. About fifteen years after its close those who were interested in it began to talk about it and write about it and discuss who should have the credit of this and who was to blame for that, and all the prominent Union and Confederate officers who were living found an opportunity to explain their records. As to those who had died in the struggle, they had nothing to say and were lucky if they didn't have to bear the brunt of blunders committed by those who had lived to tell their stories.

It was about this time, I believe, that people began to take an interest in the battlefields which now are made national parks. When I was nineteen years old there was a gathering of veterans on the field of Gettysburg, and Mr. Sawyer proposed to his wife that they make an excursion and visit the field themselves. Mrs. Sawyer would not go without taking their son, Tommy, now four years old, and that involved taking me along to have the care of him while his father and mother were visiting the scenes of the different fights on the battlefield.

So we all went down together on one of the anniversaries of the struggle, and, since Tommy manifested a desire to go about with his father and mother, I had an opportunity to go too. The veterans we saw moving about in groups locating different scenes of those exciting days of 1863 were not the old men they are today. Many of them had fought as mere boys, and they were fine looking middle aged men.

One Union veteran—he was between thirty-five and forty years old—a friend of Mr. Sawyer, took charge of our party and showed us over the field, telling us in a very interesting manner where this and that engagement had taken place, Little Round Top, Cemetery Ridge and other interesting points, pointing out where his own regiment had fought without claiming that it had won the fight or, indeed, saying anything about its or his achievements.

There was something in his appearance that attracted me, and this refraining from making claims for his regiment or himself added to my admiration for him. I had bemoaned my humble position, but now it was doubly hard to bear, for I could not but think that, though he was courteous to me as to the others, he must look down on me as a simple nursegirl.

After we had seen the scenes of heroism of others I asked our guide to be more exact in the matter of his own participation in the battle. Yielding to my solicitations, he told his story, which was interesting, though he refrained all through it from claiming to have done anything very brave.

After driving about the field we stopped at a farmhouse not far from it for dinner. A woman who served us seemed interested in our chat about what we had seen and, being asked whether she had lived there when the battle took place, said:

"Yes, I lived here, and I wish I hadn't, for there is a matter connected with the battlefield that has been a regret to me ever since and always will be. A lady had come from the city of Philadelphia to be in the country for her health. She boarded with my mother, who lived in a house where part of the fighting took place. We country people didn't know that there was to be a battle here and were not prepared for it. There were lots of soldiers gathering here, and we were all much excited over their coming. This lady from Philadelphia had a baby and had brought a nurse with her to take care of it. The nurse was taken sick and went home. Then the lady hired me to take care of her child."

"One morning I wanted to go to see my aunt, who lived across the field where the soldiers were to fight, and I thought it a good plan to take the baby with me in her little carriage. So I put the bottle in her mouth and started. I was passing along quietly when I heard a lot of firing all about me, and it seemed as if a dozen thunderstorms had broken out at once. I was scared to death."

The woman seemed to live again in the scene she was describing and trembled.

"Then I did what I have regretted all the rest of my life. I deserted the baby, leaving the little thing sucking at its bottle in its carriage, and ran away and hid in the first house I came to. The child was probably killed, for nobody has ever heard of it since."

"I can assure you," said our guide, "that it wasn't killed, for our regiment moved through the trees when you left it. My captain detailed me to take charge of it. I never have since liked to talk about my part in the battle of Gettysburg—at least, to mention this incident—for when I say I was wheeling a baby carriage everybody laughs."

"For land's sake!" exclaimed the woman. "What did you do with it?"

"Put it in a barn till the battle was over, then found it safe and sound, but bawling for more milk. Before the next day's fight came on I had provided for it temporarily, and after the fighting was over and the Confederates had withdrawn, my captain sent me off to hunt for its mother. I couldn't find her, and I was sent to Harrisburg with it, where I chucked it in an orphan asylum."

"I am that baby!" I exclaimed, much excited and, not realizing what I was doing, threw myself into the arms of the man that had rescued me.

There was a commotion at this, and then the rest of the matter came out. The woman who had been my nurse remembered my mother's name—Chenoweth—and I had been baptized Harriet. This corresponded with the initials "H. C." embroidered on my baby clothes.

What remains I will tell in a few words. My mother and father were both living, and I was reunited with them and several brothers and sisters. They were overjoyed at finding me and lavished every blessing on me that they could think of. One day the soldier who had rescued me asked me, "Where do I come in?" and when I inquired of him where he wished to come in he said, "Finders are keepers," which, being interpreted, meant that he wanted me for himself. He didn't have any trouble getting me.

After our marriage we went to the asylum where he had left me more than twenty years before and examined the record. There I saw that the first letter to the name I had been given was intended for a G. I had been called Getty, from the battle of Gettysburg, but the name was soon changed to Betty.

To Avoid CATARRH Or Break Up A Cold

Use Hyomei, a Simple Remedy that Instantly Relieves.

At the first symptom of catarrh such as sniffling, fits of sneezing, raising of mucus, itching of the nose, or that clogged-up feeling, surely take immediate steps to conquer the disease. Catarrh is not only distressing, unclean and annoying, but a serious ailment.

One of the earliest and simplest remedies to check catarrh and break up a cold is Hyomei. Just put a few drops of this antiseptic and healing liquid into the small inhaler that comes with every complete outfit, and breathe it. This medicated air immediately soothes the inflamed tissues and effectively drives out the poison. Just a few minutes' use of this most helpful remedy opens the stuffed air passages, clears the head and throat of the unclean discharges — you breathe freely and immediately feel better.

Hyomei is so certain to relieve and give lasting benefit that G. A. Parcher sells it on the "No-cure-no-pay" plan.

Two ways of getting along

Which wins?

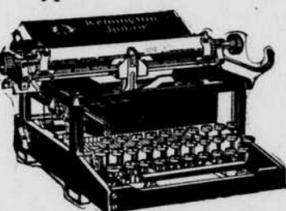

Now and then, we hear people say that they can get along without a typewriter. Yes, we believe that. Only forty years ago everybody got along without one.

So they did, a little further back, without the steam engine and the railroad train. They got along without them because there were none.

Anyone today who thinks he can get along without the typewriter because he can do his writing with the pen, is like the man who thinks he doesn't need the railroad because he can walk. In your method of writing you may be "walking" today. If so, then remember that the railroad is built and—

YOUR Train has arrived It is the New Remington JUNIOR Typewriter

We have built the Remington Junior on purpose for those who have writing to do and need a typewriter but who haven't bought one—yet.

We have built it for the traveler and for the home; for the doctor, the clergyman, the farmer, the retail storekeeper—for everyone who needs a typewriter for the simpler uses, like manuscript and letter writing.

The price of the Remington Junior is fifty dollars, cash with order. It is just what its name implies, a "boiled down" Remington; smaller, lighter, simpler and more portable, but a true Remington in the work it does and the way it does it, and sold under the iron-clad Remington guarantee.

Here is your chance, absolutely your first chance, to buy an absolutely first-grade typewriter at a medium price. For $55.00, we will sell you a Remington Junior on terms of $5.00 down and $5.00 a month. Cut out the attached coupon and send it to us with $5.00 in cash, check or money order, and we will send the machine.

HUB-MARK RUBBERS

for rubbers on a nasty wet morning suggests Hub-Mark rubbers to most people. Nowadays wise folks consider Hub-Mark rubbers as essential to the complete wardrobe as a pair of shoes, especially in this climate where the three seasons are June, July and Winter.

Hub-Mark rubber footwear is made so everlastingly good that it will give the tough pavement a terrific tussle before it gives in. Hub-Mark Rubbers cost no more than any standard first-quality rubbers, but when you buy them you are buying for not only one season, but perhaps two. It's the rubber of the present as well as the future. Made in a great range of styles for men, women, boys and girls.

When you buy rubbers ask for "Hub-Mark." It's best because there are no regrets.

The Monroe Doctrine. Great Britain and France have appealed to the United States to exercise its good offices to compel Colombia to observe more strictly the requirements of neutrality.

The conclusion to which many people in this country jump is that such forceful measures as the allies might take in South America to protect their interests would necessarily involve us because of the Monroe doctrine, under the pretty-widely-entertained impression that under it this country agrees to stand sponsor for the good behavior of our South American neighbors.

Only last Friday night, at a speech in Montclair, N. J., which we quote quite extensively elsewhere, ex-President Taft, defending the Monroe doctrine, defined its obligations and its limitations, and cleared away many mistaken views of it.

COUNTY GOSSIP.

Knowing her life was not in jeopardy, a large cow moose visited Sedgwick last week. After spending some time on the church common, she walked through several back yards and calmly swam across the river to Brooklin.

The State department of agriculture has sent out the usual notice calling attention of the municipal officers of towns and cities to the law requiring them to destroy brown-tail moth nests within the limits of public streets and parks before Feb. 15.

A Houlton man is quoted as saying that the Eastern Maine railroad, which will tap the up-river section of Hancock county, will surely be built next spring, "if the money market is not too tight."

Our Otis correspondent sends two good game stories this week. She writes: Moose have often been seen by woodsmen and hunters here, and last Sunday six of them came leisurely to the homes of Jed and Eben Salisbury, where they strolled around unconcerned by the many who had gathered to look at them at short range.

Mrs. Blanche Salisbury has unwittingly come into the limelight through her prowess as a deer "getter". One ran into the wire fence near the house. Determined that it should not escape as the moose did, she quickly, with an ax, finished him.

Is there such a thing as a man's "lucky day"? We don't pretend to know the answer, but listen to this:

Heman Treworgy, of Ellsworth, who has not been hunting for five years, felt the old fever upon him on the morning of Thanksgiving day. He dropped in to see one of his old hunting companions of former years, but he was "busy".

The fever grew upon Mr. Treworgy, and finally, after the day was well advanced, he started off alone. He struck into the Trenton woods, followed a couple of deer tracks for awhile, decided it was no use, and went out to the main road and sat down for a smoke.

Mr. Treworgy dressed up, came up town, and picked up a check for $148.50 on the sidewalk, all endorsed, ready to be cashed, which enabled him to return it to the owner.

Mr. Treworgy went to the moving-pictures in the evening. His day in the open had made him sleepy, and he dozed off in his chair. He heard someone calling of a number, and his next neighbor nudged him in the ribs to inform him that that was "his number".

Sure enough, Mr. Treworgy held the admission ticket coupon bearing the lucky number. He had drawn a gold watch!

GREEN LAKE. Mrs. Elizabeth Crossman is visiting her son in Bangor.

Mrs. C. Crossman and daughter Gladys spent Thanksgiving in Bangor.

Capt. John A. Lord, of Ellsworth, spent Thanksgiving with his son, Capt. Horace F. Lord.

Albert Higgins, of Ellsworth Falls, was here on business Tuesday.

Fish car No. 6 arrived Wednesday for messenger work.

Sunday brought T. L. Hodgkins and family, Fred Crowell and son Don to their cottages.

All hunters report the woods noisy, but numerous deer tracks. Within a week, seven deer have swam the narrows.

Wednesday evening there will be a box supper and social at "Bird's Nest" cottage, for the public. All are invited.

MOUTH OF THE RIVER. Capt. Clifford G. Fullerton has hauled his vessel, the Lulu W. Eppe, up in Surry, and is home.

The dwelling house formerly owned by John Murray Sargent was burned last Wednesday evening. This is the third fire here within four months.

James E. Murch, who has had employment as cook on a tug boat at Boston, is home for the winter.

Earl Tinker and wife spent Thanksgiving with his grandparents, George Day and wife.

LAKESWOOD. Madison Garland is at work for Frank Jordan in Mariaville.

The mule colt owned by Charles O. and Martin A. Garland now weighs 380 pounds.

OBITUARY.

MRS. LOUISE J. GOODWIN. Louise J., widow of Capt. Samuel A. Goodwin, who died on May 4 last, died Saturday morning at her home on Bridge hill, after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Goodwin was born in Waltham on May 15, 1845, the daughter of the late Eben and Mahala Jordan. She was married to Capt. Goodwin on May 19, 1866, and had since made her home in Ellsworth. Seven children were born to them, of whom three are living—Capt. Sidney A., Royal J. and Ruth, all of Ellsworth; also three grandchildren. Mrs. Goodwin is survived also by two sisters—Mrs. J. T. Hyde, of Somerville, Mass., and Mrs. J. L. Treadwell, of Amherst, and two brothers—George W. Jordan, of Ellsworth, and Sidney Jordan, of Massachusetts.

The death of Mrs. Goodwin removes one of Ellsworth's most estimable women, loved by all who knew her well. She was an active and loyal member of the Congregational church and of the woman's relief corps of Wm. H. H. Rice post, G. A. R. In her home life she was the ideal wife, mother and neighbor, never lapping than when busy about her household duties or among her flowers.

The funeral was held at the home Tuesday forenoon, Rev. E. B. Mathews officiating. Interment was at Woodbine cemetery.

DEFINES MONROE DOCTRINE.

Ex-President Taft Discusses It in Relation to European War. The Monroe doctrine was strongly endorsed, its relation to the present European war discussed and declaration made that interferences by the United States in Mexico and Central American states have had nothing to do with that doctrine, by former President Taft in an address at Montclair, N. J., Friday night.

The following are some of the salient features of his remarks: "The landing of troops in Canada by enemies of Great Britain would not constitute a violation of the doctrine, but an effort to establish a new form of government in case of victory would be a violation."

"There is little likelihood of the policy being pressed in Argentina, Brazil and Chile. These countries are able to protect themselves, and they are so remote from the United States that violation of the doctrine in respect to them would not be harmful to this country's interests and safety. The doctrine has not been applied in Mexico because there is nothing in it which requires the United States to bring about peace in that country."

"Watchful waiting," Mr. Taft said, was the term applied to the United States status, but, he went on, "we have never watched nor waited, but have, in fact, most hastily intervened, and thus find the present anarchy charged as the logical consequence of our policy."

Mr. Taft found much good to say about the Monroe doctrine, and expressed the hope that it might not be abandoned. "It has made for peace for ninety years," he said. "Why will it not make for peace in the next one hundred years?"

In taking up the proposition of Great Britain's enemies landing troops in Canada, Mr. Taft cited the stand of Secretary Seward, taken when Spain declared war on Chile. He announced that this country would not interfere as long as one country did not seek to inflict its government on conquered people nor compel a permanent transfer of their territory, nor resort to any other unjustly oppressive measure.

"It seems to me clear," Mr. Taft said, "from the history which I have given of the Monroe doctrine and from Secretary Seward's declaration in the case of the war between Chile and Spain, that a consistent pursuit of the policy would not require us to object to any warlike measures under the rules of lawful war which England's enemies might take against Canada. Canada is already furnishing substantial military aid to Great Britain and the allies. She has sent a body of 30,000 men, well-equipped soldiers, and is preparing more and intending to send them. On what theory, therefore, could we justly object to Germany's taking counter measures and carrying the war into a country which is waging war?"

"All that the Monroe doctrine would consistently require of us would be to insist that when the war is over, if Germany were successful, she could not take over the territory of Canada and overthrow its government and establish her own there, or take any oppressive measures which would have a similar effect. But we could not object to her exacting an indemnity if she were the victor."

Mr. Taft saw little danger of the policy drawing this country into trouble with a European nation soon, at least, one reason being that the present struggle abroad will leave the nations exhausted, and, therefore, unlikely to begin new hostilities.

"Were we to abandon the doctrine," he continued, "and thus in effect notify the European governments that so far as our remonstrance or interposition was concerned, they might take possession of Santo Domingo, of Hayti, or of any of the Central American republics, or of any South American republics that might be disturbed by revolution and that might give them some international excuse for intervention, it would be but a very short time before we would be forced into controversies that would be much more dangerous to the peace of this hemisphere than our continued assertion of the doctrine properly understood and limited."

The A. B. C. powers, he continued, understood that this country does not claim to exercise any suzerainty over them and is not tendering its guardianship as if they needed it. He added that he thought it would be a good thing if these powers would join in upholding the doctrine, but a move in this direction might cause jealousy and suspicion among smaller South American countries. As to such countries as Hayti and Santo Domingo, Mr. Taft said the work of the United States there in settling uprisings had been that of a neighbor who sought to maintain peace in the community.

COUNTY NEWS.

BAR HARBOR. George Fogg attended the Maine apple show last week.

Nick Mardini caught a codfish weighing forty pounds one day last week.

Arno Cleaves and wife returned Monday from a Thanksgiving visit to Steuben.

C. I. Merrill and wife, of Green Lake, were week-end guests of Mrs. Marie Maddox on Forest street.

Alonzo Woodworth and family have gone to Trenton to spend several weeks with their father, B. F. Jordan.

Last Sunday's boat carried many young people from this town going back to college after the Thanksgiving recess.

Willard Haywood has purchased the Hermon Willey property on Forest street, and will occupy it as a residence.

The thirteenth annual meeting of St. Saviour's parish was held Tuesday evening for election of wardens, vestry-men and other officers.

Miss Kathleen Morris left Wednesday for her home in Belfast, having completed her duties as book-keeper for the Mt. Desert nurseries.

Rev. Alexander P. MacDonald, of the Seacoast mission, has the Sunbeam at Cranberry Isles being put in shape for winter work along the coast.

Ora Strout has taken a contract to haul 1,500 cords of peeled pulp wood to the station at Holden. Many Bar Harbor teams have gone there to work on the job. Joseph W. Wood will act as scaler.

The Scud, belonging to Nickerson, Spratt & Greely, went to Harry Rodick's farm at Gouldsboro for a load of hay. Being caught in the big blow, she lost part of her spars and rigging. She has been towed in with her cargo.

Special moving pictures for children were shown at the Star last Saturday afternoon. The building was crowded, and the happy little ones saw Cinderella, Santa Claus, many birds and animals, as well as interesting and instructive things in plant life, and the complete process of bread making.

Dr. F. L. Wood died of pneumonia at 4 o'clock last Tuesday morning. He enjoyed a fine dental practice in Bar Harbor, and had a wide circle of friends who are deeply grieved at his death. Dr. Wood's age was fifty-two years and eleven months. He leaves a wife, three daughters—Misses Frances and Margaret, students at the University of Maine, and Miss Ruth; a two-year old son, David; a mother—Mrs. John B. Wood, of West Gouldsboro. Interment was at West Gouldsboro.

Schooner William Pierce, belonging to Alonzo Grindle, broke from her moorings Saturday night and drifted to Porcupine island. The schooner was light, but as she began to leak badly, Capt. Elmer Merchant, Everett Guptill and Howard Cook, who were aboard, came off in a boat none the worse except for a severe wetting. The schooner turned on her side and sank. Capt. Merchant is being assisted by Ralph and Clarence Garland with their motor boat. The schooner has been righted, and pumped out. Repairs will begin shortly.

NORTHEAST HARBOR. Miss Louise Carter, of Somesville, was in town last week.

An Opportunity for Household Economy

The great advance in price of cream of tartar—which is derived from grapes—due to inability to care for and market the grape crop in the European countries now at war, can be made advantageous to the housewives of New England.

Housekeepers will find it more economical and much more satisfactory to use Royal Baking Powder, which is made from highly refined, pure cream of tartar. First, because the price of Royal has not been changed and it will do perfect work; second, because food made with Royal Baking Powder will be finer and more palatable; and finally, because it insures the absence of all danger from alum or similar unwholesome products.

The old-fashioned custom of buying cream of tartar and mixing it with soda, or using sour milk, may be discarded with profit. The high cost and scarcity of cream of tartar furnishes a temptation to unscrupulous dealers to substitute an adulterated product, which may be either lime phosphates or alum, that will change the baking strength and may spoil the food.

Methods to Reduce the Cost, Time and Labor.

[Miss Lillian Randall, Instructor in Home Economics, U. of M., Farmers' Week Course, 1914.]

I wish to talk to you about methods to save labor and time as well as money, and it is but fair to ask: What does the modern woman do with her time? Why does she want more? Why does she want to spend less time at her household duties than her mother or her grandmother did? These questions can be answered in many ways. I will give but a few suggestions. Perhaps the foremost reason is that the modern woman wants to be more efficient, not only as a wife and mother, but also as a citizen. In many of our states the woman has as many civic duties as her husband. It is only a question of time when those duties will be shared by every woman in the land. How is she going to vote wisely unless she has time to study the questions of the day?

If you have read Ellen Glasgow's new book, "Virginia," you know how inefficient Virginia was as both wife and mother. Why? She failed in the first particular because she did not realize that a man wants a little more than a slave for a wife. She failed in the latter because she did not try to keep pace with her children. In the early years she did not have the wisdom to lay the foundations for a happy future. But, happily, the Virginia type is becoming scarce, and most women now wish to keep pace with their husbands and children. For this a certain amount of leisure is necessary.

Then, a woman's health must be considered. A woman owes it to herself and her family to get out of doors every day and to take a rest every day.

Now let us consider how she may insure a certain amount of leisure. The first necessity is to have system to her work. One woman with her work systemized can accomplish in an hour what her un-systematic sister will take four to do. And she will have her family trained to do their share of the work.

To speak of the preparation of food, the first economy of time and cost is to have good tools to work with. Too many women buy their kitchen tools in a haphazard way, not stopping to consider whether they are strongly put together or whether they are easy or hard to keep clean. When buying a tin cup or pan, do you think whether there are cracks and seams to catch and hold dirt? If you have a measuring cup, is it one of the seamless ones that are perfectly easy to keep clean or is it one with a rolling brim with a large space to gather germs? The good one costs no more than the poor one.

How about your kitchen knives? These are used a dozen times a day, and each kitchen should be supplied with some good ones. When you buy a paring knife, do you stop to consider whether the blade will work loose from the handle after a few days' use? It is real economy to buy good steel knives with the blades riveted into the handle.

Some housewives consider it economy to buy "seconds". Usually, it is false economy. The enamel-ware "seconds" are dangerous. Enamel is a liquid porcelain which is poured over and baked on to hard metal. The "seconds" always have a spot which has not been covered or has a thin covering so that it soon chips and exposes the metal. Aluminum is probably the best ware on the market as yet. It is expensive, but it is economy or not to pay three times the price for something that will last ten times as long as the cheaper thing?

Labor-savers, such as vacuum-cleaners, if carpets are used, washing devices, wringers, dustless mops and dusters, long-handled dust pans, should be in every home. A kitchen cabinet is a labor-saver as well as a great saver of room. A bread-mixer, especially in a large family, is a great labor-saver. If electric power is at hand, an electric washing machine will pay for itself in a short time.

The tools should be so arranged that everything is convenient. Tools that are used every day should be kept close at hand so that no motion shall be lost.

Money can be saved by buying for cash and in quantities. Usually there is room enough in our houses for storage, and it is a saving of time as well to have a supply on hand. The expenditures should be watched so that we can tell if there are leaks anywhere.

Fuel may be saved by using the right kind of utensil and by the use of a fireless cooker. An electric iron not only saves fuel in summer, but energy.

Women should be as particular about the choice of a tool as it is possible to be, and after getting it, should know how to care for it to get the best service from it.

"My husband is a pognonomist; is yours?" asked Mrs. Pulton-Ayres at the reception. "Why-er-no," Mrs. Bride stammered, confusedly. "Jack really doesn't care much for those scientific studies." Reaching home, the first thing she did was to take down the dictionary, when she found that a pognonomist is a man who shaves himself. — Boston Transcript.

PURE RICH BLOOD PREVENTS DISEASE

Bad blood,—that is, blood that is impure or impoverished, thin and pale,—is responsible for more ailments than anything else.

It affects every organ and function. In some cases it causes catarrh; in others, dyspepsia; in others, rheumatism; and in still others, weak, tired, languid feelings and worse troubles.

It is responsible for run-down conditions, and is the most common cause of disease.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest purifier and enricher of the blood the world has ever known. It has been wonderfully successful in removing scrofula and other humors, increasing the red-blood corpuscles, and building up the whole system. Get it today.

The Finest Lemon Pie.

Fannie Merritt Farmer, cookery editor of Woman's Home Companion, presents a great number of recipes for the use of oranges and lemons in fancy cookery. Miss Farmer says, by the way, that lemons and oranges, although among the most easily obtained fruits, are not often enough used as food and drink. She says that the lemon, the most positive of the citrus fruits, is effective in toning the system and purifying the blood. The orange shares in all the best qualities of the lemon, though not so powerful in its direct effect. Following is her recipe for lemon pie:

"Mix (thoroughly) one cupful of sugar and three tablespoonfuls of flour. Add three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, the yolks of two eggs, slightly beaten, one cupful of milk, one tablespoonful of melted butter, a few grains of salt and the whites of two eggs, beaten until stiff. Line a plate with family paste and build up a fluted rim. Turn in mixture and bake in a quick oven at first, to set the rim, then decrease the heat."

WEST FRANKLIN.

Miss Dorothy Clark is visiting in Bangor and Sullivan. Charles Smith, of Hancock, was a business visitor in town Tuesday. Henry and D. M. Hardison are cutting pulp wood for George S. Hardison. C. S. Cousins has a small crew of men at work for S. S. Scammon on the "Ticket lot". Amos Clark and wife have closed their house and gone to New Hampshire for the winter. Galen Orcutt and P. T. Clark were business visitors in Ellsworth and Surry Wednesday. Joseph Higgins, Seldon Smith and Will Rollins were successful hunters last week, each securing a nice deer. Hollis Ray, Lester Orcutt and Gerald McKeenize have been taking a few days' outing at Camp Bonne Foi. Miss Ella Jarvis, of Surry, who is teaching at Eastbrook, spent Thanksgiving with S. S. Scammon and wife. A large number of young people attended the Thanksgiving ball at Eastbrook, and report an enjoyable time. The portable saw mill will begin a two-months' job of sawing on Donnell's stream near the farm of Fred Bunker. Norman Smith and Thomas Goodwin are at home from Long Cove, where they have been at work on stone several months. Miss Adah Savage was home for the Thanksgiving recess from Bradford, and Beulah Hardison from Bucksport, where they have been teaching. Lewis Shuman has moved his family into camp at the "Brailey farm", where he has a job of yarding logs and spool wood. Cecil Grindle and Clyde Clark are at work for him. It is reported that an agreement has been reached between the association and the paving-cutters' union, and with contracts on hand there are signs of a good winter in the stone business. More stone has been quarried and shipped from Sullivan the last month than for years during the same time. Nov. 30. ECHO.

Foster Marston is spending a few days here. Charles E. Smith is suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism. Maud and Georgie Morse spend Thanksgiving with their parents, Clarence Morse and wife. John T. Clark is home from Bangor, where he has been visiting his daughter, Idis Bracey. Mrs. Mary A. Cousins has returned home, after visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Springer. Nov. 30. MERCEDA. FRANKLIN. Eugene Bunker is home from Norcross for a brief stay. Clarence Young and wife, of Brooksfield, visited in town last week. The Baptist society will hold its annual Christmas sale at the Baptist vestry Dec. 16. Misses Muriel and Eirena DeBeck returned to the University of Maine Sunday after spending Thanksgiving recess at home. William Lawrie was host this year on the occasion of the family dinner given Thanksgiving day at the home of his sister, Mrs. Nettie Dyer. Mrs. L. F. Springer entertains the X. E. C. this week. Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell was hostess last week. The organization has a record for fancy needlework. The ladies' aid society is planning for its Christmas sale Thursday and Friday, Dec. 10 and 11, at the Methodist vestry. A chicken supper will be served one evening. The Nutting portable steam saw mill, of Bath, has been shipped here from Bucksport, and is operating on land of Fred Bunker. Later it will be moved to other lumber lands. Walter Lawrie, who closes his grocery business here for the winter, will employ a crew of men lumbering and sawing at the Eastbrook lumber company's mill. They will move in this week. Nov. 30. B.

FRANKLIN ROAD.

Frank Crabtree has returned from a successful hunting trip. There will be a pie sociable at the schoolhouse next Saturday evening. Carlton and Leon Stewart got a deer Thursday, and M. B. Joy and G. L. Stewart got one Friday. Miss Tillie E. Martin, of Bar Harbor, and Mr. Flynn were guests of C. M. Martin Thanksgiving. Miss Eva M. Dunham, who is teaching in Bar Harbor, was a guest of Miss Adelia G. Clark during the Thanksgiving recess. Nov. 30. M.

BIRCH HARBOR.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Crane, of Seal Harbor, is visiting here. Mrs. Frank Randall, of Harrington, and N. A. Fitzgerald, of Port Clyde, were called here last week by the death of Mrs. Calvin Lawrence. Nov. 24 the community was saddened by the death of Celia, wife of Calvin Lawrence, after a long illness from a complication of diseases. She was a life-long resident, excepting for a few months spent in West Gouldsboro this season. Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters by a former marriage—Mrs. Alton Bunker and Miss Mabel Stevens, one brother—N. A.

Prompt Action Will Stop Your Cough When you first catch a cold (often indicated by a sneeze or cough), break it up at once. The idea that "it does not matter" often leads to serious complications. The remedy which immediately and easily penetrates the lining of the throat is the kind demanded. Dr. King's New Discovery soothes the irritation, loosens the phlegm. You feel better at once. "It seemed to reach the very spot of my cough," is one of many honest testimonials. 50c. at your Druggist.

GOTT'S ISLAND.

Miss Peterson entertained the Rev. Mr. Forsythe and family Thanksgiving. Irving Hodgkins, of Bar Harbor, visited his sister, Mrs. Frank Babbidge, this week. With much sorrow friends here learned of the sudden death of Capt. Willard Staples, of Atlantic. He was ill only about seven hours. Nov. 27. CHIPS.

School closed Nov. 20, after a successful term taught by Miss Gladys Yeaton. Mrs. Louise Norwood was in town last week superintending the moving of her furniture from her cottage. Mrs. Norwood has rented her cottage to Mrs. H. S. Mitchell. An entertainment given at the hall Wednesday evening, Nov. 25, by the choral society, under the directorship of J. J. Heath, was a success. Among the most pleasing numbers were the songs "Peg o' My Heart," by Misses Georgia Lunt and Georgia Reed; "Tipperary," by Arthur Dunn; a pleasing solo by Granville Walls, and piano music by L. M. Heath and J. J. Heath. The selections from Gabriel's oratorio, "Saul," were rendered by a chorus of twenty-four voices. Members of the chorus are Mrs. Lelia Rumill, Mrs. Cora Mitchell, Mrs. Mary Lunt, Mrs. Lucy Pervear, Annie Pettee, Gladys Swazey, Velma Murphy, Marjorie Murphy, Lurline Rumill, Gwendolyn Kelley, Georgia Lunt, Georgia Reed, Sylvia Reed, Winifred Kelley, Ernest Lunt, Seth Harper, Ezra Reed, Willie Swazey, Victor Heath, Arthur Dunn, Granville Walls, Neal Murphy, Archie Ober. The hall and stage were prettily decorated. Supper was served at the close. The receipts were about $10, a part of which was contributed by friends. The money is for the cemetery improvement fund. Mrs. Lelia Rumill, the business manager, is to be congratulated on her success. Nov. 28. N.

NORTH HANCOCK.

Carl Stratton, wife and children visited in Egypt Sunday. Friends of Mrs. Ida Springer are glad to know she is improving, after her recent operation. Leon and Carlton Stewart were among the lucky hunters last week, securing a large buck. Mrs. Charles Wooster and Miss Edythe Joy, of Ellsworth, were guests Sunday of Mrs. M. B. Joy. Merle Gogouis and Lee Joy returned to Charleston Monday, after spending the Thanksgiving recess with their parents. Nov. 30. ANON.

SOUTHWEST HARBOR.

Mrs. Harry Rice left last week to join her husband in Boston for the winter. Mrs. Lucinda Harmon, who has been seriously ill the past week, is improving. Mrs. Henry Tracy has returned from Brunswick after a six weeks' visit with her daughter. She seems much better for the rest and change. A serious accident occurred early last week on a motor launch in the harbor where Bartie McCaslin, a young man who has been employed here the past season, was overcome by escaping gas and fell on the fly wheel of the engine, cutting his head quite severely. The Y. M. C. A. director, Mr. Davies, gave an interesting series of stereopticon pictures of the life of Christ Sunday evening at the Congregational church, the pastor assisting with a song service and reading descriptions of the scenes. Mr. Ryan, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was present. George Harmon met with an accident a few days ago which will probably lay him up for a few days if not weeks. In getting his freight to the wharf he slipped and a boxed piano crushed against his ankle. It was thought at first the ankle was broken, but the physician's verdict was strained ligaments and a severe bruise. Dr. Johnson, of Washington, is having a new road built leading to the lot he purchased on the back shore, and will have a bungalow built near the Cooper cottage before another season. The name being similar the new cottager, was given last week as the Johnson who occupied the white cottage of Schuyler Clark, which the family will no doubt rent for another season. The sudden death of Capt. Charles Gilley on Nov. 24, at his home on Baker's Island, is deeply regretted by his friends here, who appreciated his genial nature and honest integrity of character. Capt. Gilley suffered a paralytic stroke on Nov. 22. He will be greatly missed in his home and by his neighbors on the island. He was buried in the family lot. One brother and three sisters survive him. Nov. 30. SPRAY.

The hall and stage were prettily decorated. Supper was served at the close. The receipts were about $10, a part of which was contributed by friends. The money is for the cemetery improvement fund. Mrs. Lelia Rumill, the business manager, is to be congratulated on her success. Nov. 28. N.

NORTH HANCOCK.

Carl Stratton, wife and children visited in Egypt Sunday. Friends of Mrs. Ida Springer are glad to know she is improving, after her recent operation. Leon and Carlton Stewart were among the lucky hunters last week, securing a large buck. Mrs. Charles Wooster and Miss Edythe Joy, of Ellsworth, were guests Sunday of Mrs. M. B. Joy. Merle Gogouis and Lee Joy returned to Charleston Monday, after spending the Thanksgiving recess with their parents. Nov. 30. ANON.

GOTT'S ISLAND.

Miss Peterson entertained the Rev. Mr. Forsythe and family Thanksgiving. Irving Hodgkins, of Bar Harbor, visited his sister, Mrs. Frank Babbidge, this week. With much sorrow friends here learned of the sudden death of Capt. Willard Staples, of Atlantic. He was ill only about seven hours. Nov. 27. CHIPS.

COUNTY NEWS.

SOUTHWEST HARBOR.

Mrs. Harry Rice left last week to join her husband in Boston for the winter. Mrs. Lucinda Harmon, who has been seriously ill the past week, is improving. Mrs. Henry Tracy has returned from Brunswick after a six weeks' visit with her daughter. She seems much better for the rest and change. A serious accident occurred early last week on a motor launch in the harbor where Bartie McCaslin, a young man who has been employed here the past season, was overcome by escaping gas and fell on the fly wheel of the engine, cutting his head quite severely. The Y. M. C. A. director, Mr. Davies, gave an interesting series of stereopticon pictures of the life of Christ Sunday evening at the Congregational church, the pastor assisting with a song service and reading descriptions of the scenes. Mr. Ryan, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was present. George Harmon met with an accident a few days ago which will probably lay him up for a few days if not weeks. In getting his freight to the wharf he slipped and a boxed piano crushed against his ankle. It was thought at first the ankle was broken, but the physician's verdict was strained ligaments and a severe bruise. Dr. Johnson, of Washington, is having a new road built leading to the lot he purchased on the back shore, and will have a bungalow built near the Cooper cottage before another season. The name being similar the new cottager, was given last week as the Johnson who occupied the white cottage of Schuyler Clark, which the family will no doubt rent for another season. The sudden death of Capt. Charles Gilley on Nov. 24, at his home on Baker's Island, is deeply regretted by his friends here, who appreciated his genial nature and honest integrity of character. Capt. Gilley suffered a paralytic stroke on Nov. 22. He will be greatly missed in his home and by his neighbors on the island. He was buried in the family lot. One brother and three sisters survive him. Nov. 30. SPRAY.

HUBBARD.

Those who attended the dance at the hall Thanksgiving eve, report a fine time. The Helpsomehow club will have a Christmas sale at Asa Colby's postoffice building, Saturday, Dec. 5. Frank Manchester, of Northeast Harbor, joined his wife, who has been here for several weeks, for a few days' hunting. Mrs. Harriet Archer and Mrs. Pike, who have been the guests of Mrs. Archer's parents, Arvill Jordan and wife, returned to Brewer Saturday. Vernon and Harold Haslem have built a camp near the Grant homestead, where they will operate the coming winter. Mrs. Ethel Williams is cooking for them. Mrs. R. H. Jordan was called to Bangor Thursday by the illness of her son Wilson, who is attending business college there. He was taken to the Eastern Maine general hospital. Miss Marion Jordan accompanied her. Those home for Thanksgiving were Herbert Phillips and wife, of Ellsworth; Mrs. Harriet Archer and children, of Brewer; Mrs. Rosa Bragdon and family, of Franklin; Alden Morse and wife, of Bar Harbor; Mrs. Julia Allen and Mrs. Philip Giles, of Eden, and Harvard Haslem, of Bangor. LaGrippe

THE DEADLY WEAKENER.

LaGrippe in itself is seldom fatal. But the weakness, lassitude and loss of appetite induced by it leave the system easy prey to the ravages of other ills.

"L. F." Atwood's Medicine is an unfailing remedy for these dangerous after-effects. It tones up the entire system, builds up the appetite and restores strength.

Mrs. Croxford's letter tells the whole story:

"I was very poorly after an attack of La Grippe. A friend recommended 'L. F.' Atwood's Medicine and I got a bottle. It has done me lots of good. I shall always keep it on hand."
