SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson VII.—Third Quarter, For Aug. 15, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, I Kings xii, 25-33. Memory Verse, 28, 29—Golden Text, Ex. xx, 4, 5—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

When we hear Jeroboam saying in his heart, "Now shall the kingdom return to the house of David, . . . they shall kill me and go again to Rehoboam, king of Judah" (verses 20, 27), and remember that God had said to him if he would walk in His ways and do right in His sight, He would be with him and build him a sure house (xi, 37, 38), we cannot see any evidence in Jeroboam of any faith in God or any heart for Him. When he took counsel and made the calves of gold and set them up at Bethel and Dan for Israel to worship, saying, "Behold thy gods, O Israel, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt" (verses 28, 29), he proved himself an idolator and a liar and a true child of the devil. He preferred his own way to God's way, darkness rather than light, the service of the devil rather than that of God. His sacrifices and his feasts, his altar and his incense, were all the device of his own heart (verse 33), and it is written of him again and again through all the story of the ten tribes, "Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin." He never turned from his evil way, but did worse and worse, and after reigning twenty-two years he died and was succeeded by his son Nadab, who followed in his father's footsteps (xiv, 20; xv, 25, 26). Rehoboam reigned in Judah seventeen years, but he also did evil in the sight of the Lord, and led the people into idolatry and into all the abominations of the nations which the Lord cast out before the children of Israel (xiv, 21-24).

This is a story of long ago, but is being repeated on all sides before our eyes today, and as truly as the time came when both the ten tribes and the two tribes went into captivity for their sins, so the time will come, is even now drawing near, when the Lord will spue out of His mouth the professing church because of her sins and set up His kingdom of righteousness and peace on this earth (Rev. iii, 14-22). The church, the company of believers, is expected to represent Jesus Christ on this earth, as Israel was expected to represent the Lord God of Israel; to walk in His ways and do right in His sight. From the beginning God has wrought by His Spirit and His word and His own power. Thus He created all things in the beginning, and thus He restored all things after the catastrophe (Gen. i, 1; ii, 8; Ps. xxxiii, 6). In all the history of Israel He redeemed, He fed, He guided. He said to His apostles, "It is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you" (Matt. x, 20). It is written of Stephen, "They were not able to resist the wisdom and the Spirit by which he spake" (Acts vi, 10).

When we consider the worldly abominations which are found in the churches of our day and the false teaching, such as the denial of the virgin birth, the deity of Christ, His vicarious atonement (His suffering for our sins in our stead), His literal resurrection from the dead, present ministry of intercession for His people, and coming again for His own and later with His own to set up His kingdom, does it not seem as if many of the leaders of our day are, with their increased light, worse in their idolatry and unbelief than were Jeroboam and Rehoboam? In all ages God has had His own faithful ones, though always only a few comparatively. One day as Jeroboam stood by his altar at Bethel to burn incense there came a man of God out of Judah with a message from the Lord, and he said that one would come from the house of David, called Josiah, who would burn the bones of the false priests upon that altar; and as a sign that it would be so the altar was then rent and the ashes scattered.

Jeroboam attempted to lay hold of the man of God, but his hand dried up, and he could not draw it back again until the man of God prayed for him. Then he asked the man of God to go home with him that he might refresh him with food and give him a reward; but he replied that he was charged by the Lord not to do this. Shortly after this an old prophet of Bethel, who had been told by his sons of this incident, saddled his ass and found the man of God sitting under an oak and invited him home, but the man of God replied as he did to Jeroboam. Then the old prophet said that an angel had told him to come for him and to bring him home. (But the old man lied.) To this the man of God yielded and went home with the old prophet. As they sat at table a strange message came through the old prophet, which was fulfilled when the man of God left his house, for a lion met him and killed him, but did not eat him and did not harm the ass on which he rode. This story is fully recorded in I Kings xii. The fulfillment of the man of God's prediction some 800 years later is found in II Kings xxi. As to the death of the man of God for disobedience I have often wondered if Paul had it in mind when he wrote Gal. i, 8. According to those words there are many who are under that curse because they do not preach the simple gospel. We must hear only what God the Lord has said (Ps. lxxxv, 8) and be deaf to all else.

COUNTING THANKS.

[Henry Van Dyke.]

Do you give thanks for this or that?—No, God be thanked,
I am not grateful
In that cold, calculating way, with blessings ranked
As one, two, three, four—that would be hateful!

I only know that every day brings good above
My poor deserving;
I only feel that on the road of life true love
Is leading me along and never swerving.
Whatever turn the path may take to left or right,
I think it follows
The tracing of a wiser hand, through dark or light,
Across the hills and in the shady hollows.

Whenever gift the hours bestow, of great or small,
I would not measure
As worth a certain price or praise, but take Them all

And use them all, with simple, heartfelt pleasure.
For when we gladly eat our daily bread, we bless
The hand that feeds us;
And when we walk along life's way in cheerfulness,
Our very heart-beats praise the Lord that leads us.

Dear Aunt Madge:
OBSERVATION COMPARTMENT CAR
GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

Since reading so many excellent letters by the M. B. sisters this spring and summer, I promised myself to be a more faithful niece, and send a message as soon as I had something of interest to write. And surely this whole day's ride across North Dakota, on our way to Glacier National Park, ought to furnish inspiration for one-fourth of a column, at least.

As I remember our charming reunion at Mrs. Chabot's and picture the faces gathered about the bountifully laden table, I place them in fancy by the spacious windows of this observation car, arrange the chairs for conversation, and have an ideal M. B. reunion.

You will notice we are on the route of the Oriental Limited, and since early morning have been crossing the northern part of North Dakota—the empire wheat state; "the land of the elevator and the big red barn." We passed, just before breakfast, through Grand Forks, the second city in size in the state, and a leader as a manufacturing city. Here are the seat of the University of North Dakota, with a $250,000 plant and 1,000 students, and of Wesley college and St. Bernard's academy. Situated on the west bank of the Red River of the North, opposite the mouth of the Red Lake river, it takes its name from the divergence of these two streams.

Departing west, bound from Grand Forks, we begin the ascent to the upland prairie of the state that lie to the west of the Red River valley. Larimore, Devils Lake and Minot are in the center of rich lands, and are shipping centers for livestock, wheat and flax. North Dakota produces more flax than any other state in the Union. It is shipped to Minneapolis to supply the linseed oil mill.

Do you notice we are nearing Williston, the chief market town for the northwest corner of North Dakota? It is located on the north bank of the Missouri river. Here is where the U. S. government has in operation an irrigation project that comprises about seven-thirty miles of canals and is divided into forty or eighty farms on which are produced alfalfa, corn, wheat and potatoes. Water is pumped up electrically from the Missouri. Here at Williston we change from central to mountain time. Set your watch back an hour. Starting west from Williston, west-bound, the Montana division follows on southwest along the north bank of the Missouri river, the "Big Muddy." This part of the upper Missouri was, in the old steamboat days, navigated by many large boats that plied between St. Louis and Fort Benton in north-central Montana, at the head of navigation: carrying supplies to the army posts and gold seekers for the Montana Rockies up stream and bringing cargoes of furs down. Because of the shifting channel, the deadly snags, and hostile Indians, much interesting steamboat history was made along here.

And now we are at Buford. Right here the broad Yellowstone river joins the Missouri, its chief tributary. Lewis and Clark, on their journey of exploration, camped here several days in 1805, and here at Buford, the Sioux chief, Sitting Bull, after his massacre of Gen. Custer's command on the Little Big Horn in

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Logansport, Ind.—"My baby was over a year old and I bloated till I was a burden to myself. I suffered from female trouble so I could not stand on my feet and I felt like millions of needles were pricking me all over. At last my doctor told me that all that would save me was an operation, but this I refused. I told my husband to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I would try it before I would submit to any operation. He did so and I improved right along. I am now doing all my work and feeling fine.

"I hope other suffering women will try your Compound. I will recommend it to all I know."—Mrs. DANIEL D. B. DAVIS, 110 Franklin St., Logansport, Ind.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

With U. S. troops under Gen. Miles at his heels, crossed on his escape into Canada.

Now we are crossing into Montana, Montana, the "Treasure State"—in size the third state in the Union, California and Texas alone exceeding it. So vast is the state that this train of ours, entering as we now have, the eastern edge at 4 p. m. and steaming steadily on at an average speed of forty-five miles an hour, with less than twenty stops, does not pass out of Montana until 1 p. m. to-morrow.

Since the discovery of gold near Helena in 1861, more than $200,000,000 worth of gold and silver have been taken from Montana's mountains; hence the title of the "Treasure State".

But agricultural Montana is now overshadowing mineral Montana. To encourage the project of "dry farming," 300 acres are allowed each homesteader, and lands that scarce one-half a dozen years ago were all ranges for cattle and sheep, are now being made into prosperous farms.

But it is now bedtime, and I will sleep for next week this delightful trip through Montana.

How much we have all enjoyed this part of the trip with Aunt Sae! Some of you who have not been studying the map of the West for several scores of years may look up the route we have just travelled—as I have done. Only the other day I was looking up Roseman, in Montana, because one of our home girls has been there for months, and it has brought her renewed health, while still another is spending her fourth year near there, finding it a grand place in which to live.

Ann wishes Moll to know that dipping the stems of poppies in boiling water as soon as picked, will keep them fresh for days, just as Moll said.

Dear M. B.'s:

My letter will have a far different ring this time. Soon after my last letter, I had to take a trip to bed for a week, then croon around for two weeks. Then, as I began to feel like myself and plan a trip somewhere, my better half (and I do realize he is the best half of this ranch) smashed his foot in the moving machine wheel, spraining and twisting his leg and cracking several bones in his foot. He has not stepped for two weeks, save by the aid of crutches or cane. Therefore my duty claims home care.

I always claim I was born under a lucky star, and I surely believe it was so, for my first thought after the accident was to look for help. A telephone message brought me a nephew twice removed, who had just finished a job, so before twenty-four hours, he was here and took hold of all the numerous lines of work in good shape.

A good neighbor came and helped get the hay in before this awful rain and fog settled. I have been giving a home to a homeless girl the past year, and now she is just what I need, so while lots of others are advertising for help they come to me. I am so glad to be well again. Like "Pollyanna," I am glad things are so worse. We all wonder Mr. C. is not minus a foot.

A dear old friend, known to many of you as Ellen Green, was dying some ten miles away, and wanted to see me. I thought it impossible to leave home long enough to see her. Dr. Hagarthy telephoned he would send his automobile if I would go, which he did, and how thankful I am that I went, as she only lived a few days. I was not gone away from home two hours. I guess Dr. Hagarthy wishes I could vote for him to be governor, but that was not a vote-getting act, only one of the many kind deeds I have known him to do.

You seem to be doing very well indeed, Dell, in "remembering your machine!"

AUNT MADGE.

MAKES DANDRUFF QUICKLY VANISH

No one likes dandruff, but to get rid of it you must do more than to wash your hair. The cause of dandruff lies not in the hair, but on the scalp and in the hair roots, and just as twice daily you use a germicidal tooth powder or cream to cleanse your teeth from your scalp, prevent its return, protect your hair from falling out and nourish its proper growth. Dandruff makes your hair fall out. Parian Sage makes Dandruff fall out and your hair stay in.

A delightfully perfumed hair and scalp treatment easily applied at home, very inexpensive and obtainable from G. A. Pacher or at any drug or toilet counter.

BLUEHILL FAIR.

PLANS FOR THE EXHIBITION AT MOUNTAIN PARK.

PREMIUM LIST AND INFORMATION FOR EXHIBITORS ISSUED BY HANCOCK COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The annual fair and cattle show of the Hancock county agricultural society will be held at Mountain park, Bluehill, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 31, Sept. 1 and 2. The society has issued its premium list and circular of general information for exhibitors, which is printed below.

The officers of the society are: F. P. Merrill, president; A. C. Hinckley, vice-president; Max M. Hinckley, treasurer; N. L. Grindell, secretary; E. L. Osgood, J. M. Snow, A. C. Osgood, F. H. Allen, H. S. Leach, directors.

IMPORTANT TO EXHIBITORS.

For any information concerning the fair, address the secretary, N. L. Grindell, South Penobscot, Maine.

Entry book for exhibitors will be opened with the secretary after August 30, 1915.

All entries for the trotting races must be made on or before August 23, 1915, as the entries for those classes will positively close on that date, at 11 p. m.

Entries for the draft contests must be made at least one hour before the time for each contest to take place.

Entries for all articles, stock, manufactures, produce, etc., must be made before 12 m. Tuesday, August 31, and all persons contemplating making an exhibition of any kind are requested to give notice of such intention as early as possible, naming articles, etc., to be exhibited, space required, etc.

Provision on the part of the exhibitors will save much annoyance and delay, and will be greatly appreciated by the managers.

No entrance fee will be charged on exhibits of any kind made by residents of Hancock county. A limited amount of space will be reserved for exhibitors outside of the county, at reasonable rates, but no premium will be awarded to such exhibitors.

Plenty of stalls and pens will be furnished for horses, cattle, sheep and swine, but exhibitors will please notify the secretary early of space required, so that ample accommodations may be furnished in time.

Plenty of water on the grounds to supply the stock in the driest time and for all other purposes for which water is needed.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

All articles exhibited for premiums should be on the grounds Monday evening, Aug. 30, and nothing will be received later than 12 m. Tuesday, Aug. 31.

Entries for articles and stock to be made on Monday, Aug. 30, and positively not later than 12 m. Tuesday, Aug. 31. Entries should be made with the secretary, N. L. Grindell, South Penobscot, Maine.

Cattle not drawing premiums, driven over five miles, will be entitled to a mileage of five cents per mile, distance to be reckoned one way.

Stock to be on the grounds by 9 a. m. the first day.

Stock will be judged at 9 o'clock on the second day. Each person owning stock must be on hand to bring his animals out in judges' ring.

Specimens of agricultural products must be thoroughly cleaned and in boxes, tubs or baskets, and have a suitable place to be marked by the secretary or superintendent of the department.

No members of the same family can enter vegetables, farm crops, dairy products, canned goods, etc., and fruit in the same class.

No premiums will be paid except on articles raised or manufactured and animals owned and kept within the limits of Hancock county.

Judges examining animals and articles are requested to report their awards to the secretary before 11 a. m. of the second day, and to him only until after the award of premiums is published.

Any driver exercising cruelty or using profanity while driving his team shall be immediately ruled off the ground by the judges.

No person who is an exhibitor can act as judge on the class in which he exhibits. No premiums or mileage will be paid on articles or performance unless adjudged worthy by the judges, although there is no competition.

Premiums will not be paid to exhibitors until two weeks after the fair.

If the society should not receive money enough to pay premiums to exhibitors in full, they will be paid proportionately, according to what the society may receive. Premiums will be forfeited if not called for before January 1, 1916.

Every animal or article entered for premium must be owned by the person entering it, or his family, and all products of the farm, dairy, orchard, garden, house or shop must be entered by the producer or his special agent, and must be finished and complete.

All farm and garden products must have been produced or harvested the present year, and only one exhibit of every variety from the same planting or crop can be entered for premiums in its class.

Exhibitors, when requested by the secretary or by superintendents of departments, are expected to make verbal or written statements concerning their contributions; refusal to comply with such request may bar the exhibit from premium.

Awards will in no case be made when the exhibit is deemed by the judges to be unworthy of the premium.

When there is but one competitor in a class, the judges may award the first premium, if meritorious, but if not worthy of receiving the first premium, and if, in the opinion of the judges, the animal or article may be worthy of the second premium, then the judges must award only the second premium.

The managers will take every precaution for the safe keeping of animals and articles after arrival and arrangement for exhibition, but the association will not be responsible for any loss or damage that may occur. Exhibitors must give personal attention to their animals and articles, and at the close of the fair attend to their removal.

The association offers a liberal reward for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons apprehended in committing any malicious mischief or removing or parading any articles left with the association for exhibition or otherwise.

No person shall be permitted in the judging rings except the judges, groomers or persons in charge of the animals, officers of the association and members of the press.

Stock, etc., will be marked with tags furnished by the secretary, designating the number of entry, and during the entire fair they must be placed entirely under the control of the officers of the association, and must not be removed before the close of the fair without special permission.

Gambling devices of all kinds, and all selling of liquor upon the grounds, are strictly prohibited, and any person observing any infraction of the above rules will confer a favor by reporting the same to the secretary or general superintendent at once.

No intoxicated person or persons shall be allowed upon the grounds, and any person or persons guilty of any disorderly conduct shall be immediately expelled therefrom.

Authentic pedigrees of blood stock of all kinds will be required, which must be filed with the secretary at time of entry. No animal will be allowed a premium unless sound.

GRATUITIES.

Owing to the lack of time and other causes, doubtless many articles of value and interest manufactured and grown in this county have been overlooked in the enumeration of the following premium list.

It is earnestly hoped that all persons having such articles of any kind will kindly bring them in, and they will be awarded space for exhibition the same as listed articles, and if, in the opinion of the judges and directors, such articles are entitled to a premium, gratuities will be awarded.

Any person having novelties of any kind that would prove instructive or interesting will confer a favor on the society by presenting them for exhibition.

CAMPING.

Parties furnished tenting grounds free. Good spring water inside the grounds. The management desires to make this one grand picnic, and will do all in its power to give those attending a good time.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 11, 1915.

General Villa says, "To hell with the United States!" Simply his back-handed way of inviting us to Mexico.

A careful estimate of the loss in the hay crop of Maine, due to the dry growing season and the wet harvesting season, places it at $7,000,000. The apple crop, also, is reported a failure, due to June frosts and high winds, and instead of a normal crop estimated at $1,500,000, this year's crop is estimated at about $250,000.

Senator M. D. Chatto, of South Brooksville, will be a candidate for re-election to the State Senate from Hancock county. Senator Chatto was in Ellsworth on business Saturday, and when questioned by THE AMERICAN editor regarding a rumor that he would not be a candidate for re-election, said that there were no grounds for the report. On the contrary, he says he has every intention of being a candidate, and while he had not yet formally announced himself, will do so at the proper time.

Administration officials scoffed at the report that Capt. Robert Dollar, president of the Dollar steamship line, was going to dispose of his vessels because the seamen's bill, which goes into operation November 4, would make the operation of these lines unprofitable. Now comes the report that Capt. Dollar has sold two of his vessels—one to a Chinese, and the other to a British firm—and negotiations are under way for the sale of a third. This will leave the Hill liner, Minnesota, the only steamer flying the American flag in the trans-Pacific trade.

The New York Herald has just completed a country-wide canvass to ascertain the status of the progressive party to-day. Summing up the result of this canvass, it says: "In but two states—California and Wisconsin—does the party show any signs of remaining in the field, and in the latter the signs are rather listless. In all others it is discouraged and disintegrating. A canvass of thirteen states which together, in 1912, cast more than 2,500,000 progressive votes, indicates unquestionably that the progressive party is likely to follow the melancholy footsteps of the liberal republicans of 1872. Prominent republicans who gave liberally to the progressive party see only continued interference with successful business by further aiding the Bull Moose."

"Do it for Hancock county." The farm demonstration column in THE AMERICAN this week is of especial interest, not only to farmers, but to the women of Ellsworth and of the county.

Hancock county has taken the lead in a new movement for better farming—the organization of a County Farm Bureau or Advisory Council, composed of business men from various sections of the county, organized to co-operate with the county farm agent for the advancement of the agricultural interests of the county.

That Hancock county is first in this movement is due to the hustling but modest farm agent, George N. Worden, who takes little of the credit to himself. The matter was discussed at the recent convention at Orono, farm demonstrators reporting the need of some such county organization. The matter received hearty encouragement from the agricultural department of the university. Mr. Worden got busy, and Hancock county will have the first County Farm Bureau in the State.

"Do it for Hancock county" is the motto of the new organization.

The feature of the farm column this week, of special interest to the women of the county, is the announcement that a woman demonstrator in home canning will soon be in this county to give instruction in canning. This is a new feature of the University of Maine extension work, and Hancock county will be favored by the first work of this kind.

A review of crop conditions in Hancock county is an interesting new feature of the farm column.

COUNTY GOSSIP.

Former President Taft's first grandchild, a boy, was born to Mrs. Robert Taft at Bar Harbor Saturday.

The coastguard cutter Woodbury, after rounding out fifty-one years of faithful service along the coast, has been sold to Thomas Butler Co., junk dealers, of Boston, for $4,286, the highest of seven bids received.

The Literary Digest sees a joke in the item printed in THE AMERICAN several weeks ago about an Ellsworth Falls calf born with "three hind legs, one where a foreleg ought to be." Probably the Digest man who discovered the joke couldn't tell a calf's hind leg from its foreleg if it happened to be detached from the animal.

Following the custom established by her late husband, Mrs. John S. Kennedy announces that the grounds "Kenarden Lodge," the most beautiful of Bar Harbor's many summer show places, will be thrown open to the public Saturday afternoons during August. The pleasure thus afforded to residents and transient visitors to Bar Harbor is greatly appreciated.

Our North Penobscot correspondent sizes up the hay crop situation in his section, which applies to other sections of the county, as follows: "Some of the farmers who had small crops have finished haying, but many others have hardly commenced. The majority have much yet to cut—and still it rains, rains, rains. Considerable hay is rotting in the fields, and I apprehend that considerable already in the barns is fermenting."

Forest Commissioner Mace is sending out circulars calling attention of municipal officers to the "slash law" passed by the last legislature, and intended to lessen the forest-fire hazard. The law, which went into effect July 3, that inflammable material, the slash, shall not be left within fifty feet of a railway or road after timber has been cut, nor shall such inflammable material accumulated in the building and maintenance of railways, roads, telephone and telegraph lines be left on the ground. In case of failure to remove such material, the forest commissioner is authorized to have the work done, and the persons liable will be compelled to pay to the State twice the cost of such work.

THE GERMANS AND CATHERINE HILL. Hancock county people who were inclined to scoff at the idea that the Germans had their eyes on the molybdenite deposit at Catherine Hill, on the Cherryfield road, as told in THE AMERICAN a few weeks ago, may be interested to know how nearly they came to getting their hands as well as their eyes upon it. They missed it by only about 200 feet.

C. V. Holman, the mineralogist—a former Ellsworth man, by the way—following out deductions drawn from occurrences of the mineral at Long Island, in Bluehill bay, and at Cooper, seventy miles northeast in Washington county, looked for and found, at Catherine Hill, the main deposit which he knew must exist between those two points. Having found the deposit, and without the precaution of procuring an option upon it, believing he knew the owner, with whom he already held property in common, did a little exploratory operation, and then went off to New York with samples for thorough tests.

During his absence, a man whom he had hired as a laborer, thinking he had located a fortune, "tipped off" the find to some mining men, and when Holman returned he found that the mineral rights of the land on which he supposed he had located the deposit had been sold to these men.

Visiting Catherine Hill again for the purpose of putting a stop to work which he had ordered done, he learned that the deposit he had opened was not on the land owned by other parties, the line passing only about 200 feet from the place he had been operating. He purchased the land, 1,200 acres of it, before the men who thought they had got ahead of him discovered their mistake.

To make a long story short, the land purchased by these men is now owned by Germans; it is believed to be controlled by the big German gun-makers, the Krupp. They missed by just 200 feet getting possession of the main deposit, which is owned by Mr. Holman. Very little molybdenite has been found on the German side of the line.

Mr. Holman is just now having a working survey made of his tract, which German interests have tried to get possession of. Of course all they could do at present was to suppress operations, and keep the much desired mineral out of the hands of the allies.

Incidentally, Mr. Holman is now busy at Bluehill developing the long-abandoned manganese mine, another mineral found in demand for hardening and demagnetizing steel. It is nearly forty years since operations were discontinued there, and the last cargo of manganese shipped to the Katahdin Iron Works. At present foreign manganese is quoted at $12 a ton.

Mr. Holman had an option on this property several years ago, but allowed it to expire. Last spring the United States Steel Corporation secured a lease, with right to operate and purchase if desired. The lease expired Aug. 1, and Mr. Holman snapped up the property, believing conditions and market were now favorable for successful operation of the mine.

Eastern Maine State Fair. The big fair of eastern Maine, at Bangor, will take place Aug. 24 to 27. The association announces a big bill, with something doing every minute.

Among the crowd-drawing attractions, in addition to the fine horse racing card, there will be aeroplane flights Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, balloon ascension and parachute jump each day, a motor-cycle race Friday, and lively midway all the time.

During recent years the night features have been gradually enlarged upon, and this year will be of more importance than ever. The fireworks display will be the most elaborate ever shown in Bangor, and will be a spectacular piece depicting the destruction of the great forts of Liege, Belgium.

Tuesday will be children's day at the fair; Wednesday, governor's day, when the governor and his official family will attend; Thursday, merchants' day, with special attractions.

Urban Stock Company.

The Urban Stock Co. will open a three-days' engagement at Hancock hall Monday evening. The opening bill, "Within the Law," which ran for two years in New York, is a brilliant play, full of exciting situations spiced with humor.

The Urban Stock Co. has made a name for itself for producing the best plays for the least money, and "Within the Law" is one of its best. In it Marion Johnston, the leading lady of the company, has a role in which she appears to the best advantage. She adds to the skill of the author of the play the work of a real artist in interpreting the leading part.

Owing to the length of the play, the curtain will rise promptly at 8:05. Vaudeville will fill the waits between the acts.

SUMMER SCHOOL.

Successful Term at Castine Closed Friday.

A successful term of summer school closed at Castine August 6. The steady growth of this school in recent years and the deep interest taken in it by elementary teachers of the State are some of the best proofs that the teachers appreciate the excellent opportunities afforded by summer schools.

Two courses of professional study were offered this year, the second course being open to those teachers who were regularly accredited students in the summer school in 1914. Special courses could be chosen from either of both courses. A special course in public school music was given this year. All these courses have furnished excellent and much appreciated opportunities for teachers to increase their vocational efficiency.

A part of each day has been given up to recreation. Picnics, bathing, boating, driving, walks, moonlight excursions, dancing and tennis, as well as literary and musical programs have furnished delightful entertainment for all. Committees were chosen from the student body to plan and direct the recreation of each week.

The instructors have been among the very best and most thoroughly efficient that could be secured. During the temporary illness of A. P. Richardson, for twenty-five years principal of this school, W. D. Hall, who has been transferred to Castine from the Presque Isle normal school, has been acting as director of the summer school and giving instruction in pedagogy and in history of education in Maine. Mr. Hall will continue as a member of the Castine normal school faculty during the coming year and will act as special assistant to Mr. Richardson.

Knocker or Booster?

Probably the most graphic definition of a "knocker" and a "booster" ever written is being shown by Valentine Jobst, Jr., president of the Creve Coeur club, of Chicago, to his friends. It appears on an embossed card and is as follows:

When the Creator had made all the good and beautiful things, in order that they might be truly appreciated, He then made the beasts and reptiles and poisonous insects.

When he had finished He had left-over scraps that were too bad to put in the rattlesnakes—the hyena, the scorpion, or the skunk; so He placed all these together, covered it with suspicion, wrapped it with jealousy, marked it with a yellow streak, and called it a Knocker.

Then as a compensation for this fearful product He took a sunbeam and put it in the heart of a child, the love of a mother, the brain of a man, wrapped these in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet, and a grasp of steel, and called it a Booster.—Boston Post.

Your Brain Must Have Pure Blood.

No more important physiological discovery has ever been made than that the brain requires a due supply of pure blood. It is estimated that this organ receives as much as one-tenth of all the blood that is sent from the heart—a great deal more than any other organ of the body. If the vitality of the blood is impaired, the blood then affords the brain an imperfect stimulus, and there is mental and physical languor, sluggishness or inactivity.

Pure blood is blood that is free from humors, it is healthy blood, and the term pure blood as it is generally used means blood that is not only right in quality, but also in quantity. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure, rich, red blood. This is one of the great truths about this great medicine.—Advt.

COMMON AILMENTS

How to Treat Them

A village doctor once said: "If my patients would take care of their little ailments, they would seldom need me for a serious illness." A headache, a disturbed stomach, a bilious attack, a little indigestion, or a cold in its first stages, are not serious in themselves; the danger is in what they may lead to. Many New England people have found a sure remedy for these common ailments in "L. F. Atwood's Medicine." They say it is like having a doctor in the home. Your family needs it. Just say "L. F." to your druggist. He will understand what you mean; he has calls for it nearly every day.
