EDISON DIAMOND Point PHONOGRAPHS

Last week, at Symphony Hall, Christine Miller personally rendered parts of many selections, the beginning of which was sung by the Edison Diamond Point Phonograph, the audience not knowing when the Edison ceased and Miss Miller began. Her voice and its recreation were identical. A whole column by the Transcript's musical critic was enthusiastically devoted to unqualified praise of the wonderful reproduction of the human voice.

Meetings under the auspices of the International Layman's missionary movement are being held at the Methodist church this week. Last evening Dr. N. L. Rockey, who has spent thirty-one years in India, gave an address on conditions in that country. This afternoon Rev. H. B. Haskell, of Ellsworth, Dr. Rockey and Dr. Cole, of China, spoke on current topics of the day. This evening, at 7.30, Dr. Cole will lecture on China.

Harold F. Moon and his singing comedy company, of Bangor, will be a special attraction at the Strand to-morrow evening, in Mr. Moon's own production, Broadway." Mr. Moon has always pleased Ellsworth audiences, and his production of this year is pronounced his best yet. Superintendent of Schools Patten has restored the no-school signal system for the Ellsworth schools, which has been discontinued the past year. Supt. Patten, however, says he does not believe in too liberal a use of the signal, but thinks for small children especially, there are days in the winter when they should not be compelled to attend school. The signal will not apply to the high school. For no school in the forenoon, the whistles at the hardwood factory and foundry will be blown at 7.45 a. m., three blasts repeated three times. For no school in the afternoon, the same signal will be blown at 12.45. The signals will be given at Ellsworth Falls by ringing the church bell. Only a small audience enjoyed the artistic performance of Alfred A. Farland, the "magician of the banjo", in his recital at Hancock hall last Thursday evening. This artist, who has enthused crowded houses in the large cities in this country and abroad, was greeted here by a mere handful of people. This was doubtless largely due to the fact that people generally associate the banjo with ragtime rather than with classical music. Mr. Farland's performace was remarkable as well as artistic. Difficult selections from Beethoven, Liszt, Gounod, Chopin, Mendelssohn and other great composers were played without notes, and with a fineness of tone and expression generally believed impossible on the banjo.

H. F. Wescott, Allon P. Royal and son Kenneth had a trying experience while hunting ducks in Union river bay this forenoon. They were out in the middle of the bay in Mr. Royal's small motor boat, when the accidental discharge of a gun blew a hole through the side of the boat below the water line and near the bow. A fountain of water spurted up into the boat, and with no tender in tow, matters looked decidedly serious. Quick work was necessary. plugged with mittens and clothing, and by

Mr. Marshall, always an industrious and ambitious man, had been ill several months. Sunday he returned from Bar Harbor, where he had consulted physicians, receiving no encouragement.

Mr. Marshall was a native of West Hancock, where he had spent most of his life. He had been employed for years as section hand on the railroad. For several years he had lived in Ellsworth. He was devoted to his family, ambitious for the advancement of his daughters in their studies, and the breaking of his health preyed upon his mind.

He leaves a widow and three daughters—Sylvia, Selma and Agnes. The family has the sympathy of the community.

The funeral will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Developing Cape Rosier Zine Mine. CAPE ROSIER, Nov. 22 (special)-Work is being pushed in the development of the zinc mine here, which, as recently reported, has been taken over by New York men.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Lesson IX.-Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 28, 1915.

Text of the Lesson, Amos v, 1-15. Memory Verses, 14, 15—Golden Text, Jer. xxiii, 23-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The message of Jonah was to gentiles, suggestive of foreign missions; that of Amos was to Israel, and therefore a home mission lesson reminding us of the need of the church today to be awakened to see her privileges and opportunities and responsibilities. The sins of Israel and her needs were not different from those of believers now. They bore the name of Jehovah, but were false to Him and worshiped idols. They know not to do right, saith the Lord" (iii, 10). There was self and sin in all their worship. Therefore the Lord said, "Offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven, . . . for this liketh you" (iv. 4. 5). Leaven is always a type of evil. Because of the sin in their professed worship of God He days." I will not accept nor regard your offerings (v. 21-23). Although they outwardly kept new moons and Sabbath days their hearts were longing for them to be over that they might sell corn and wheat and grow rich by fraud, giving small measure and taking in as much money as possible (vili, 4, 5).

Consider the growing rich by fraud that abounds today even among those who hold high positions in the church, the oppression of the poor, the formality in worship, the false teaching that are children of God, that Jesus Christ was only one of the sons of God better than the others, but not God; that there is no bell, no lake of fire; that if people are not saved in life they can be in the next and that a God of love will never allow any one to perish eternally; the Bible cannot be taken literally, it does not mean what it says-consider all these horrible things and then think how God in His mercy sent forth a Daniel Crawford from the heart of Africa and a William Sunday from the baseball field to show His people their sins and to uphold the honor of His word.

How does the Lord plead by Amos? He reminded them how He had brought them out of Egypt, led them forty years in the wilderness, given them the lands of others, raised up prophets and Nazarites from among their sons and revealed to them His purposes by His prophets (ii, 10, 11; ili, 7; ix, 7), therefore He would have them seek Him and live, assuring them of an abundant pardon if only they would turn to Him with the whole heart (v. 4, 6, 14; Isa. lv, 6, 7). He also pointed them onward, as He always did and still does, to the future glory, for in spite of all the sin of Israel it is the purpose of God to re-store Israel and bless all nations through them. He will raise up the tabernacle of David (ix, 11), and James said at the great council at Jerusalem that would be after He had gathered the church, or, as he put it, taken out of the Gentiles a people for His name.
Then he said that all the Gentiles would after that be gathered (Acts xv, 13-18). Note how in the very last words of Amos' prophecy the Lord said that He would bring again the captivity of Israel, that they would build their waste cities and inhabit them; that He would plant them upon their land and that they would no more be pulled up out of it (ix, 13-15). Abraham was encouraged and sustained by the assurance of the city-Moses by the recompense of the reward. David by the kingdom, Paul by the glory to be revealed and our Lord Himself by the joy set before Him. I know of no way by which the church of today can be turned from its worldliness and indifference so successfully as by set-ting clearly before her the great love of God in Christ Jesus, the greatness of the salvation He has provided and the glory of the kingdom to which we are called.

that exist, to reform or uplift the race. to bring a kingdom of peace on earth by their own efforts, but "They know not the thoughts of the Lord, neither understand they His counsel" (Mic. iv. 12). They do not know that the babe of Bethlehem was born to rule in Israel and that there can be no kingdom of peace on earth till He shall come again (Mic. v. 2-4). People are so filled with their own thoughts and ways, just as Israel was, that they will not be agreed with God and therefore cannot walk with Him (Amos iii, 3). Because many preachers in pulpits and teachers in seminaries are turning away from God to the wisdom of men is a famine of hearing the words of the Lord (Amos viti, 11). As in the last lesson, those who have knowledge of God are disobedient and asleep and must be awaked. As it is written in Eph. v. 14. "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." "Be not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is" (Eph. v. 17, 18). "It is high time to awake out of sleep, for now is our salvation nearer than when believed. The night is far spent. the day is at hand" (Rom. xiii. 11, 12).

The whole world lieth in the wicked one; it is an evil age from which the Lord desires to deliver us (I John v. 19: Gal. i. 4). All things indicate as never before that the end of this evil age is near and that it is a time to be specially separated unto God from all evil and unbelief. Mutual Benefit Column.

-Selected by Sunshine's Daught

Dear M. B. Friends: We have been furnished with a good notto, not alone for this week, but it could be safely used successive weeks, until it became a fixed habit.

When you unfold your AMERICANS this week, your Thanksgiving goodles will all be arranged in apples-pie order on the shelves, and the air will be scented with the aroma from pies and puddings and cakes and fruit and almost numberie good things.

Some of you may have heard persons say: "I don't know as I have anything to be thankful for." They need to think of that first New England Thanksgiving. What do you suppose the people of those days would think, if they could take a bird'seye view of even these eastern states, to say nothing of the vast stretch of cities and cultivated land, the net-work of telegraph and telephone wires, the railway lines, and the thousand wonderful things connected with our so-called modern civilization, that overspread this land from shore to shore?

It is not too much to say that the im print of New England, the influence that came from those stoical settlers bas been felt over the whole country. We may have drifted far from their sterner views of life and duty, and from their strict orthodoxy, but the seeds of truth they sowed have not been without fruition. Really, we honor them in observing year afte year the Thanksgiving day which they originated, and I venture to quote a few selections taken from some of the November magazines on this day we celebrate in reunions and feasting. "Over and over and over again God's harvest falls in the hands of men: Of feeding these clamorous children of His.

Of ripening the grain, and painting the fruit, And giving the oak its studier root; Of wrapping the cornfin its husk away, Of hiding the seed for the wand of May:

Over and over again He pours And so for the richness and joy of living-For all that is good wejkeep Thanksgiving."

"For all that is good we keep Thanksgiving." Isn't that a cheery, wise motto? There is always good to be thankful for, if we will but keep our eyes open to see it, and our hearts receptive to the glad and gracious things of life. That is our part. There is not one among us but can discover something to be gracious for. It may cost quite an effort the effort, and keep at it until we shall have formed the habit of seeing and expecting good, not only for ourselves but for every-

PIRST CALL POR DINNER.

"Another year has almost gone, the way all good years go; a few dead leaves upon the lawn, in the air the feel of snow; and a noble bird is drawing near a very fitting end. Perlazy summer days; perhaps she counts the around the frozen ground while shivering in the sun. Whate'er her thoughts she cann reck the fate which is in store; that soon some table she will deck, more beautiful than e'er before; so brown, so crisp. so tender, an bursting with dressing sublime. I'd bet.er stop at the turkey. If I were to go on to tell about the small mountain of snow white mushed potatoes, the hill of golden squash the pond of cranberry sauce, and that lake of rich brown gravy which no French chef could ever get within a mile of, I'd probably be bound over to keep the peace. But Lucul-lus in his best days never had anything to eat which was better than an old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner."-from an editorial is

BALANCED RATION 103 COWS ON PASTURE

CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF THE STATE OF T

The general opinion among dairymen is that it seldom pays to feed grain to cows on good pasture, says the Kansas Farmer. While it may be possible to increase the milk flow, this increase costs so much that there is no actual profit. A number of experiment stations have made tests, and the results secured have pointed to similar conclusions. Very seldom, how ever, do cows have all the pasture they need for a very long period of time When the pasture begins to fall the milk flow falls off and cannot be main tained without supplemental feeding. This is especially true with heavy milking cows.

The first and most important point. from the standpoint of economical production, is to be sure that the cown have all the roughage they can handle Extra green forage, silage or alfalfa hay can be fed to make up the pasture deficiency. Some few heavy producers after reaching the limit for consump-tion of roughage may still have further capacity for milk production. With such cows grain or concentrated feed in addition may pay. The grain so fed must supply the nutrients properly balanced-that is, they should be in the proper proportion for economic milk

It is poor economy to supply protein in excess of the needs of the cow, but

The Brown Swiss dairy cattle are easily kept in good flesh and also have the vitality to withstand hardships, as droughts and severe win ters, to a remarkable degree. ters, to a remarkable degree. They are also free from nervousness, as is often the case with many other dairy breeds. No matter how heavy a Brown Swiss cow is milking, she seldom shows signs of low vitality. She always appears vigorous. The cow shown is a pure bred Brown if this nutrient is deficient in the ration the cow cannot respond by an increase in milk flow. For cows on pasture: Two hundred pounds of bran, 200 pounds of cottonseed meal and 100 pounds of cornmeal. In determining the amount to feed many dairymen follow the rule of allowing a pound of grain to each four pounds of milk the cow is giving. In determining the economy of extra grain feeding the feeder should watch closely the results upon the different cows in the herd. It is only by keeping a close watch on each individual that the economy of feeding the grain can be determined. If the cow is not responding profitably the grain ration should be reduced.

AGE TO BREED HEIFERS.

Too Early Freshening Retards Devel-

The smaller dairy breeds develop earlier than the larger breeds, but we doubt if it is advisable, as a rule, to have even Jersey heifers freshen before they are two years of age. growth and future development of the heifer should always be considered. In raising heifers for dairy purposes it is important that they be grown out to as large a size as possible. The lar-ger cows of any dairy breed are usually more profitable than the small under sized cows of the same breed. Heifers that are bred too young are likely to be stunted in their growth and never make as large cows as they otherwise would. We never liked the idea of permitting the herd sire to run in the pasture, says the Kansas Farmer.

When a heifer freshens too early it is a good plan to extend the first lactation period so as to give the animal a chance to overcome the stunting effect of freshening too young. Extending this first lactation period is also a good practice in that it tends to establish the habit of persistent milking In the young heifer.

Water For Cows. Cows which produce twenty-five pounds of milk a day require seventyfive pounds or more of water daily. A liberal supply of salt should be prorided in a place where the cows have ready access to it.

Seventh Annual Gathering of Home Folks at Roxbury.

The seventh annual Brooklin reunion was held in Intercolonial building, Boxbury, Mass., Saturday evening, Nov. 13. The usual number was present and the usual good time was enjoyed by all.

Five came directly from Brooklin for the purpose of attending the reunion and felt well repaid for the effort, one having been heard to say that she had the best time she ever had at any gathering in her life, which eneaks well for the seventh life, which speaks well for the seventh Brooklin reunion.

First on the program for the evening was an address of welcome by the presi-dent, Eugene Hamilton, of Somerville, after which all joined in a grand march, followed by a reading by Miss Miller, of Emerson college. The rest of the ev ing was spent in dancing with two other dings by Miss Miller, and the meeting of old friends, neighbors and schoolmates some of whom had not met for many years. Pleasant reminiscences of the past were discussed until one almost feit oneself back to the old days in the old home town.

Much credit is due the president mittee for their efforts in making the evening one grand success, and it is hoped that the pleasant memories of the evening may linger with each one during the coming year, and that all may meet again the second Saturday in November, 1916. Tobacco, Like Food, Must Be Fresh To Be Good

Real tobacco flavor depends upon the leaf being preserved in its natural state, possible only by pressing the leaves into plug form and keeping it in by covering it with a natural leaf wrapper. The natural flavor and strength of tobacco escape when cut or granulated.

Take a Plug of Sickle that is even thoroughly dried out so that when you whittle it off it crumbles into dust, but it will burn and smoke smooth and cool as it has all of its original tobacco flavor preserved, unevaporated in Plug Form.

Whittling a pipeful is little trouble, amply repaid in both quality and quantity. Try this experiment and judge for yourself.

Telephonize Your Walk Every step you take uses up energy. Conserve it. "Let your head save your heels," as the homely adage phrases it. The National grange, Patrons of Husbandry, at its annual session in California last week, passed a resolution endorsing the movement for a national constitutional amendment granting the ballot to women.

The New York Times sees from the elections a reunited opposition to the democratic party, and warns Mr. Wilson that "It will not do to repeat such perilous blunders as that of the seamen's act, or to persist in such adventures as a government-owned merchant marine".

The public school teachers and officials of Ellsworth have united with the citizens in an organization having for its primary object the welfare of the public schools of the city. It is a combination possessing elements for great good in the community, and should bring about a co-operation of the teaching force and the citizens, so much to be desired and so often sadly lacking.

COUNTY GOSSIP.

There will be a real Thanksgiving in one Hancock county home this week. Albert W. Buck, son of A. R. Buck, of Orland, who, it was feared, was a passenger on the steamer Ancons, torpedoed by the Germans in the Mediterranean with heavy loss of life, arrived in Boston Sunday, and will be at home for Thanksgiving. Mr. Buck has been doing Red Cross duty in Serbia.

At a special meeting of the town of Eden last week it was voted to authorize the selectmen to hire a sum of money not exceeding $15,000, for the purpose of improving certain sections of the Ocean drive and Otter Creek road, the most beautiful and popular drive on Mt. Desert island, skirting the shore and affording a magnificent view of the sea, with its numerous islands on the one hand and unsurpassed mountain scenery on the other.

FOR STATE AUDITOR.

Former Hancock County Man Announces His Candidacy.

Roy L. Wardwell, city treasurer of Augusta, and a native of Penebscot, has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for State auditor in the June primaries.

Mr. Wardwell has a wide acquaintance throughout the State. He is sole proprie tor of R. L. Wardwell & Co., a wholesale paper and twine concern.

He has been successful in the three things to which he has given his most earnest attention-following the sea, business and rolitics. Born in Penobscot, be was educated in the common schools of the town, and early in life began his career before the mast. In square-rigged ships he sailed around the world, and from time to time was promoted until when be gave up the life of the sea he was serving

ARTHUR SIDNEY TREAT.

Arthur Sidney Treat, of New York and Ellsworth, died Saturds v afternoon at his summer home, Labrador farm, on the river side. Mr. Treat had been failing in health for a year or more, suffering from Bright's disease. He came to his home here for a few weeks' rest in July, but the disease made such rapid progress that he was unable to resume business, and remained at his farm here. His daughter, Mrs. Robert Barrett, has with him through the summer, and for the past three months a sister, Mrs. Carrie Bacon, of Syracuse, N. Y., has been with him. During the summer, his other daughter, Mrs. Marion Shafer, and other relatives have been with him from time to Mr. Treat was born at Frankfort, Me.,

July 12, 1852, but as a boy went to Boston, where in his early manhood he was con nected with his father in business. For many years he had been in the employ of the U. H. Dudley Co., wholesale grocers of New York, as special traveling representative, and was one of their oldest and most valued employees. He had traveled extensively all over this country.

His first acquaintance with Ellsworth was through his marriage on May 15, 1879. to an Ellsworth girl, Miss Caro Coombs, daughter of the late Jacob Coombs. He loved Ellsworth and came to look upon it as his home. Here he spent many summers, and made many friends. He was interested for a while with the late S. G. Stevens in the sardine canning factory at

Mr. Treat was devoted to his home and family, though his business took him so much away from them. He was a bigbearted friend, a genial companion, a News of his death will cause sadness in hearts from one end of this country to the other, for wherever Mr. Treat went be made friends, and friends once made were never lost. He was an Odd Fellow, a member of the Royal Arcanum and of the United Commercial Traveler's association.

He leaves two daughters - Mrs. Shafer and Mrs. Barrett, both of New York; one brother, Louis, and two sisters, Mrs. Bacon and Miss Harriet Treat, all of Syracuse, N. Y. All these were here for the funeral, with two nephews - Norman Treat of Philadelphia and Leonard Treat. of Boston.

The funeral was held Tuesday forenoon at the home, Rev. R. B. Mathews officiating. Interment was in the family lot at Woodbine cemetery, beside his wife, who by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the resunt, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever: nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

The funeral of Capt. John O. Kief was held last Thursday afternoon at the Methodist church, Rev. T. S. Ross officiating. There was a large attendance of friends and comrades of the Grand Army post. Many beautiful flowers were sent by friends. Sons of the deceased acted as bearers. All the sons were present except Frank, of Boothbay, who was unable to make connections at Rockland in time to reach here for the funeral, but who came Friday for a visit of a few days. Details of the accident by which Capt. Kief lost his life at the mill in Lawrence, Mass., will never be known, as there were no witnesses. His body was found early Tuesday morning on the lower floor of the mill, near the elevator shaft. The position of the body outside the gate, which protects the elevator shaft, leads to the belief that Capt. Kief was caught between the ceiling of the first floor and the floor of the elevator as it ascended. There were signs of life when the body was discovered a very few minutes after the accident happened, but Capt. Kief died before an ambulance ar-

Hipper was a baker on board the German liner Kronprinzessin Cecelie, which sought refuge at Bar Harbor at the outbreak of the European war last summer. came to Ellsworth in October, and had been employed by Mr. Holz ever since. Last Wednesday evening, while Mr. Holz was attending a show at Hancock hall, someone smashed in the bottom of a drawer in a desk in the bakery, and stole $65. The theft was not discovered until Thursday morning. Then Mr. Holz went to Hipper's room over the bakery. He did not find Hipper, but he found the small box that had contained money. Inquiry disclosed the fact that Mr. Hipper had hired an automobile to take him to Bangor about 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, and from Bangor had taken the midnight train west. As yet, Hipper has not been apprehended, but Mr. Holz hopes to catch him yet.

A meeting of the Hancock county farm ers' association was held Saturday evening in the county agent's room over Moore's drug store. Reports of the fall plowing campaign inaugurated by the association showed that it had accomplished gratifying results. It is estimated that fully fifty per cent. more acreage has been turned over in Hancock county this fall than usual. Plans for the demonstration work for next year were discussed. The past year's work has been largely devoted to economical demonstrations. Next year it is proposed to make comparative demonstrations the feature - treating one-half an orchard or one-half a crop by the best known methods, and leaving the other half to the ordinary treatment, and letting the results speak for themselves. An effort will also be made soon to awaken interest in the boys' and girls' clubs. Other counties are alive to this work, but Hancock county in this respect has been a little backward, owing largely to the lack of competent local leaders. It is hoped to secure leaders who will inspire the girls and boys of Hancock county to emulate the example set in other counties and other states. The county agent's room, by the way, is more and more becoming an assembling place for farmers. The room is brimful of interest for them, and with a sizable library on agricultural topics, a table filled with up-to-date agricultural hibit of agricultural produce, seeds, diseased woods, vegetables, etc., any farmer can put in profitable and interesting hours there. It will do him good, also, to keep in touch with County Agent Worden. The room is free to their use, as to the public generally, and should be taken advantage of.

AFTER GRIPPE

Mrs. Findley Made Strong By Vinol

Severy, Kans.—"The Grippe left me in a weak, nervous, run-down condition. I was too weak to do my housework and could not sleep. After trying different medicines without benefit Vinol restored my health, strength and appetite. Vinol is a grand medicine and every weak, nervous, run-down woman should take it."—Mrs. Geo. FINDLEY.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, sharpens the appetite, aids digestion, enriches the blood, and builds up natural strength and energy.

WHY consider going out of town to do your Christmas shopping when there is nothing in the line of Christmas novelties that you cannot buy from the local merchant?

It is inexplicable why some people think they must go out of town to shop during the holiday season. There are myriads of reasons why you should do your Christmas shopping in your home town. Here are some powerful ones:

In town you know with whom you are dealing.

If you are not suited you. can make a ready exchange.

I You will save time, car fare and shoe leather.

I And you can buy just as cheaply, if not cheaper.

If you did your Christmas shopping out of town in former years don't make another mistake this

To Make Dandruff Quickly Vanish

No one likes dandruff, but to get rid of it you must do more than wash your hair. The cause of dandruff lies not in the hair roots, and just as twice daily you use a germicidal tooth powder or cream to cleanse your teeth of germs, so you should use Parisian Sage twice daily to drive dandruf from your scalp, prevent its return, protect your hair from falling out, and nourish its proper growth. Dandruff makes your hair fall out. Parisian Sage makes Dandruff fall out and your hair stay in.

A delightfully perfumed hair and scalp treatment easily applied at home, very inexpensive and obtainable from Geo. A. Parcher, or at any drug or toilet counter.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES.

Friday, Mrs. Albert Richardson, assisted by several teachers, served an afternoon for the special class.

Those among the normal school faculty sho enjoyed a pienic several years ago on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's besutiful estate on Nautilus island, were recently invited to an afternoon tea in their honor at the home of Prin. and Mrs.

daturday evening an indoor track mee between "Yale", "Princeton" and "Har-vard" teams was held at Richardson hall. with the following events: Dumb-bell relay, whistle race, potato race, roceter fight, three-legged race, medley ball, putting the shot, throwing hammer, addition relay, marshmallow race, circle dance hall. hand tug of war. Features worthy of special mention were Yale's bull-dog and a drill in the primary colors given by the Princetons. The score, Yale, 42; Princeop. 37; Harvard, 35.

One afternoon last week, the broad interior of Fort George was the scene of a spirited game of arch ball. The teams were three in number, representing the players of each team were arranged in a column behind a leader in whose hands the ball was held. At a signal, the leader ed the ball over her head to be caught by the one behind her and passed on and on down the line. When the last player in the column received it, she rushed to the head of the line, which moved backward one pace. The game proceeded until each one had burried to the front, and the original leader was again at the head. When this position was reached, the game was brought to a close by the leader's running scross the finishing line with the hall. The line whose leader first did this was the winner of the game. There were and third rounds, the B's the second round, and the F's third in all three rounds. Nov. 16.

affilicts every one suffering with stomach trouble. Mi-o-na does not simply relieve, it aims to cure.

G. A. Parcher can teil you of many well-known people in this city whom this remedy has restored to health, often after they have tried many other methods of treatment with little or no benefit. No other dyspepsia remedy has made so large a percentage of cures as Mi-o-na. It is so large that G. A. l'archer stands ready to refund the price to any customer whom it does not heip.

The best kind of advertising is the praise of a pleased customer, and there are hundreds in Ellsworth today praising Mi-o-na because it does what it is advertised to do. A few months ago they could eat nothing without wondering what the result would be. Since using Mi-o-na, they eat what they want and when they want with no fear of suffering.

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

"Doctor," said Norman Goodfellow to Dr. Theodore Colt. "I am thinking of proposing marriage to a lady in whose family there are traces of insanity. Do you consider me justified in marrying her under the circumstances?"

"Not if the insanity is hereditary. There is a great difference between insanity from a temporary cause and from an organic trouble that may be transmitted from parent to child. I do not consider that any one suffering from an ailment which is hereditary has a right to marry. Your question suggests a story involving a case which came within my professional experi-

"One day a young man named Severance came to consult me as to a case similar to yours. He had recently been married and all had gone happily till one day on returning to his home from business he found his wife lying on the bed indisposed. She seemed drowsy, and, suggesting that she try to get a nap, he took the evening paper to a window and sat down to read.

"Presently he heard her tossing about on the bed and, looking at her from his paper, saw that, though asleep or at least dozing, there was an undulatory motion about her that suggested the movement of a snake. He had awakened her and asked her if she had not been dreaming, but she said she had not been conscious during her nap and felt much better for it.

"Nevertheless the young husband seemed to me to have been much shocked at what he had seen. Were it not for this I would have concluded that what he had seen was the working of his wife's nerves uncontrolled during slumber. I gave him this cause in order to reassure him, but it did not, However, since I could give him no other comfort, he left me, much de-

Not long after his visit, taking up a newspaper, I saw a notice that he had left his house a few days before and had not been heard from since. The police had been notified, and an alarm had been sent out. Fears were entertained that he had met with foul play. since the day before his disappearance he had drawn a large sum of money from his bank.

His visit to me, the story he told and his depression led me to suspect that he was suffering from some nervous or mental trouble, and I inclined to the belief that what he had told me about his wife was a creation of a diseased brain. I did not see how I would be justified in making known my suspicions without mentioning the cause, and that I did not care to do.

Severance never turned up. and no probable cause was ever given for his disappearance. When several years had passed his wife gave him up for dead, believing that he had been mur-dered for the money he had with him. Four years after his disappearance she is Bad To-day!"

"Try this," said good old Doctor Abner Johnson down in Maine. "I made that liniment special to stop the pains of muscular rheamstism." And it stopped the pain, tool And that man spoke about it to somebody else who used the liniment and passed the word along to others, and so on until there were so many wanted it the doctor had to keep it on hand.

Then the neighboring stores began selling it and it was called Johnson's Anod the Liniment. Of course you've heard of it, but maybe you didn't know it was a of it, but maybe you didn't know it was a look in his eyes and told me a story similar to the one Severance had told me. married again, and as fate would have

He had had a disagreement with his wife, during which she had become very much excited. During the vituperations she had hurled at him her eyes had glittered like those of an angry serpent. Her appearance during the trouble had made such a horrible impression upon him that he was afraid he would lose his mind. He asked me to give him a sedative.

Here was a worse complication for me than Severance had brought me. for I was not sure whether Severance's experience had been an hallucination occasioned by a disordered brain or had been caused by some peculiar condition in his life. But I dared not tell Hammond this, for it would be sure to make a wreck of him. I had no recourse but to say to him that he must have been suffering from some nervous weakness. Instead of giving him a drug I advised him to go on a trip, but on no account to take his wife with him. He took my advice as to the trip, but never returned from it. News of his having fallen over a precipice in Switverland was sent to her over the ocean. but I have always suspected that he arranged for its transmission himself. One thing confirmed this suspicion; his body was never found.

Two years after having become a hypothetical double widow the lady in this case died. I confess I was re-lieved. There was now no further chance of any more of my clients marrying her. Soon after her death I made some investigations as to her case through the physician who attended ber. I called on him and gave him the experience of her two husbands as given to me. He accepted a theory I gave him and promised if possible to learn facts that would confirm it.

He found an aunt of the subject of my story who told him that her sister soon after her marriage had been frightened by a serpent. Six months after this episode the child, who became Mrs. Severance-Hammond, was born. My theory was that the mother's fright at this critical period affected the nature of the child.

FARM DEMONSTRATIONS.

News of Interest to Hancock County

(From the office of the county agent, G. N. Worden Ellsworth

THE FERTILIZER SITUATION.

Muriate of potash soars to $250 per ton; nitrate of sods is also on the rise on account of the demand for this material in the manufacture of explosives; 3-8-3 fertilizer for spring delivery quoted at $52 a Who is going to pay the price?

Not many, and very few farmers need to. for they may call upon resources other than commercial, increase the fertility of Average application, 1,500 pounds per their land and raise better crops for less money at the same time if they so desire and are willing to work. It is simply a question of conserving the fertilizing reources already on the farm but going to waste under the present methods of

Last year, with half enough potash in this country to supply our needs, the fertilizer situation was not extremely serious, especially for the man who had his land in a good state of cultivation. The prospects of obtaining sufficient potash salts for next season's crops, or even as small an amount as was obtained last year, is decidedly doubtful at present, however, and it must be clear to all that some course should be adopted which will make up the present deficiency.

It is to be remembered that there already exists in most of our soils a sufficient supply of potash for the production of a great many crops, but that this supply is in such a form as not to be available for immediate use. How to hasten and increase this availability is a problem which concerns us greatly just at present. and following are given a few facts which we cannot well afford to overlook.

Even with an abundance of available plant food in the soil, an excess of water will prevent the growth of maximum hence we should see that all of our tillage land is as well drained as possible.

the finer will become the soil particles, and it is upon the fineness of the soil that the availability of all plant food therein contained depends. Give the land such a preparation for its next planting as it has ever known before, and begin by plowing this fall.

One of the great benefits of lime is that in addition to sweetening the soil, it helps make the potash contained therein more available. Don't be afraid to lime your land. Money spent for this material will return more profit on the farm than any other investment you can make. Lime in itself is not a fertilizer, but by its physical and chemical action it will cause the soil to become surprisingly productive.

Take better care of all farm manures, especially of the liquid portions, for this part contains two-thirds of the nitrogen and four-fifths of the total potash. Remember that these are just the elements bich, in commercial forms, cost so much and are needed so much, so before deciding to buy a ton of fertilizer for $52 next year, think bow much you can save by taking better care of that manure which every day you are wont to throw out behind the barn unprotected, there to remain until hauled upon the land with its value greatly diminished.

Use plenty of bedding as an absorbent and build a shed over the pile. That's one of the things you've been going to do for a long while, but have been so busy you haven't got around to it yet. A half-day's time will transform that old boardpile which has been in front of the house so long that it has become an eye sore, into just what is needed out behind the barn over the unprotected manure pile, and next spring the manure will have just three times its usual value. Do that job right now. It's the most important one on the farm and deserves immedi-
