schooner was sold away from Elisworth more than fifteen years ago, and was sold by Sullivan owners last spring. It is understood that the Public Utilities commission of Maine is arranging for hearing in Ellsworth on the new schedule of water rates of the Bar Harbor & Union River Power Co. While official announcement of a hearing has not yet been made, it is understood that Thursday, Nov. 26, is the date under consideration. The Baptist, Unitarian and Congrega tional churches will join in a union service Sunday evening at 7 30, in the Con gregational church. This service is for the benefit of the Armenians and Syrians, and is held in obscience to the request of President Wilson, Ten-minute addresse will be made by the pastors, and a contribution taken at the close of the service. I Bishop Louis Walsh, of Portland, was ere Sunday and confir med a class of about twenty-five children and three adults, after morning service. He was accompanied by Rev. J. B. Sekenger, of Bangor, who was assistant pastor bere this summer. It has been eight years since Bishop Walsh has given confirmation in Ellsworth. From here he went to Cherryfield to confirm a class in the afternoon

Jerome Floyd, of Dollardtown, has re eived official permission from the inland fish and game commissioners to keep the cow moose, which has made herself at home in his barn. Mr. Floyd is allowed to keep the moose, without expense to the State, but cannot dispose of her without the consent of the commissioners. He plans to exhibit the moose at county fairs next year, if she thrives on home treatment.

The program which Miss Constance Purdy is to give next Sunday afternoon at her home, for the benefit of the local branch of the Surgical Dressings committee will be of varied character. It will include two groups of songs in English, two operatic arias and will close with few of the Russian songs with which Miss FOUR BELIEVED DROWNED. Purdy's name is so closely associated in the musical world. It is hoped that for Put Out from Bar Harbor Saturday the benefit of this good cause, the attend-

Harriman, in Bangor. Mr. Gilmore was born in Dublin, Ireland. eighty years ago, and came to this country at an early age, settling in Eastport. He erved in the Civil war, in Co. E, 6th Maine. He lived in Eastport until about ten years ago. Mr. Gilmore enjoyed goo health for his years until last July, when he suffered a shock, and had since been confined to his bed. He was highly ed by all who knew him. The firemen were called out on a still alarm yesterday afternoon for a fire at C. L. Morang's garage. A pan of gasolene used in cleaning in the work shop caught fire, making a lively blaze. The fire was confined to the pan, and burned itself out. Damage to the extent of $50 or more was done by heat and smoke. The garage takes every precaution against fire, and watchman is in the building nights. At this garage work for the winter has begun on the manufacture of truck hodies. Increased space has been provided in the basement for this department, and new machinery installed, including a Universal wood-working machine. It is expected missing since Sept. 30, when it is supposed to have fifteen men employed in this department during the winter. The garage he fell from the Nicholson wharf while already has many orders on hand for fishing. spring delivery.

Lesson V.-Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 29, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

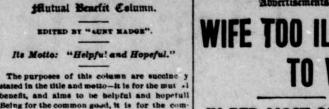

Text of the Lesson, Acts xxvii, 13-26. Memory Verses, 22-24-Golden Text, Ps. xxxvii, 5-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Now Paul is off to Rome and has been delivered from his enemies in Jerusalem who so persistently sought his life. But the devii is sometimes permitted to rage on the sea as well as on the land, and Paul has more tron. bles ahead, but we shall see God glorified in all. Then there are so many "handfuls of purpose" to cheer us along the way (Ruth ii, 16) and lighten our journey. I hope he enjoyed the sea voyages, for to me they are so restful, and even storms are magnificently grand if one can keep a quiet and body. He had at least one good companion with whom he could have good fellowship on the voyage. Aristarchus of Thessalonica, who afterward a fellow prisoner with him at Rome (verse 2 and Col. iv, 10).

At Sidon, where the ship called, Paul was given liberty to go to his friends and refresh himself (verse 3), and this must have been a good handful and much appreciated. They changed ships at Myra, in Lycia, some distance south east of Ephesus, where they found a ship from Alexandria bound for Italy. They reached Crete safely, but, not giving heed to Paul's advice to winter there and thinking that they had a favorable wind, they set sail. I shall never forget one of the most enjoyable sea trips of my life from Port Said, in Egypt, to Brindist, in Italy, in 1897 After some months of tropical heat in China and India and the sail up the Red sea, which the captain thought must have been called Red because it was red hot, I thought I never had anything quite so enjoyable as that sail. My diary for Sept. 15, 1897, says, "Sighted Crete about noon and kept along the southwest coast till night." I was then writing notes on the Sun day school lessons just as I am today and have been doing in the summer months ever since 1887. How great have been my privileges! To Him be all the glory. Pardon this digression and give Paul and Crete the credit o The tempestuous wind and the being exceedingly tossed (verses 14, 18 20) did not come my way on the Medi terranean, but I have known some thing of it on other seas and been kept in peace.

This was certainly a great storm that this ship fell into, for neither sum nor stars were seen for many days. and all hope of surviving the storm was given up (verse 20). We think of the works of the Lord and His wonders in the deep and of people at their wits' end and how He can make the storm a calm or in some other way deliver (Ps. cvil, 23-30). After many days and nights of this great storm Paul had a visitor from heaven, an angel of God, either the Lord Himself. as in xxill, 11, or one of His faithfui messengers, as in xil, 7-10, with a word of good cheer for him and for all on board. Oh, these wonderful angels who excel in strength, who delight to do His bidding, who can run and re turn like lightning! (Ps. ciii, 20, 21, Ezek. 1, 14.) They have no fear and seem to have all power. Just think of this one finding this ship in the midst of this great storm and the one man on board of all the 276 whom he specially wanted (verse 37).

Dear M. B. Friends:

You will doubtless smile as you read the poem for this week, and our older readers will recall the days "When the Old Hed Cradle Bocked Them All". Some of us have heard our mothers or grandmothers tell how they did their washing with one foot on the rocker of the cradle; and even the echo of the straight-backed, basket-bottomed chair as the mothe rocked solidly back and forth in it, with the baby in her arms or over her shoulder. reverberates with its sharp "click", in the emories of others.

In most families now the old cradle with its wooden top reposes in the stlic as a relic of the past. No more jolting and jostling for the baby offic-day that is brought up by modern method. While the "bringing-up-by-rule" ides, may not be accepted by everybody, the fact remains that regularity in all the habits of the infant, tends to its comfort and growth and health.

There is a possibility of a mistake being made in following strictly certain rules in regard to feeding; because children differ constitutionally in their makeup; and the answer of one grandmother when asked if her daughter was bringing up her baby by rule was "yes, by rule and com

NEW MAP OF MT. DESERT.

Government Has Issued Maps Showing the New National Park.

New Englanders especially, and the people of the nation generally, will be much interested in the maps just issued by the United States geological survey, department of the interior, of areas in Maine known as the Mt. Desert and Bar Harbor quadrangles, revised to show the Sieur de Monts national monument created upon Secretary Lane's recommendation by proclamation of the Presi-dent on July 8, 1916.

This monument includes more than 5000 acres on Mt. Desert island, directly south of Bar Harbor. In fact, its northern boundary lies within a mile of that famous resort. On the east it touches the Schooner Head road. On the south it approaches within a mile of Seal Harbor. It lies less than a mile north of Northeast Harbor. It is surrounded, in short, by large summer population. This superb area, for many years widely celebrated for its historical associations, as well as its commanding beauty, in cludes four lakes, and no less than ten mountains. The lakes are Jordan Poud, Eagle lake, Bubble pond and Sargent mountain pond. The Bowl lies just outside the boundary line. The mountains are Green mountain, Dry mountain, Pickett mountain, White Cap, Newport mountain, Pemetic mountain, the Tryad, Jordan mountain, the Bubbles and Sargent mountain. No The lands included in the Sieur de Monts national monument have never formed a part of the public domain. Through the patriotism and generosity of the owners, known collectively as the Hancock county trustees of public reservations, they were presented to the United States for the benefit and enjoyment of the public. George B. Dorr, excutive of the society mentioned, thus beautifully describes the monument: "The new reservation on the Maine coast is singulary interesting. There is nothing like it elsewhere on the continent. A noble mass of ancient granite that once bore up a domidating Alpine beight on its broad shoulders has been carved into forms of bold and striking beauty by recent ice-sheet grinding. This granite mass, surrounded broadly by the ocean as the coast has sunk, constitutes with its ice-worn peaks and gorges and intervening lakes the new national monument.

"The picturesque and broken lower lands that lie between it and the sea, and make the summer home of men from the whole eastern country over, form the island of Mt. Desert, bearing still the name that Champlain gave it three centuries ago, when exploring under de Mont's orders, he sailed into the shadow of its great eastern cliff and beached his open toat on the Bar Harbor shore."- Christian Science Monitor.

Most everybody in Chatham, knows Mr. George Walker. His romantic career in the British Army-during the Crimean War and later in the terrible Indian Mutiny under Lord Roberts—is known to many of the older residents of the city: while his erect, martial figure and vigorous health are in striking contrast to the average man of his years. What he says, carries conviction. Chatham April 3rd, 1913.

Chatham April 3rd, 1913. "I am a veteran of the Crimean War, and the Indian Mutiny, volunteering from the Royal Artillery into the Royal Engineers, and serving under Lord Roberts during the Indian Mutiny, and am a pensioner of the British Government. Fierce hand-to-handfighting and continual errors use left me a great sufferer from Fierce hand-to-handfighting and continual exposure, left me a great sufferer from Rheumatism, so much so that my legs swelled up making it impossible for me to walk. My bowels were so constipated that I only had one passage a week until I got to using "FRUIT-A-TIVES." They relieved me of both the Constipation and Rheumatism. To-day, I walk many miles every day and enjoy perfect health. No more Rheumatism or Constipation."

GEORGE WALKER Ess.

GEORGE WALKER Ese. This letter of Mr. Walkers tells how to help Rheumatism, but does not tell WHY "Fruit-a-tives" ends this trouble. Rheumatism is the result of poisoned blood, due to weakness or faulty action of the bowels, kidneys or skin. In Mr.' Walker's case, Rheumatism was the result of continued Constipation. Waster matter remained too long in the system, was absorbed by the blood and inflammed the nerves and membranes in his legs. When he started to take "FRUIT-A-TIVES," these tablets immediately acted on the liver. More bile was given out to move the bowels. As the bowels were cleansed, the poisonous waste matter was removed, the blood became clear and the nerves were no longer irritated. "Fruite time", the wonderful fruit medicine, is now prepared in the "Fruit-a-lives", the wonderful fruit medicine, is now prepared in the United States, as well as in Canada and England.

NORTH ELLSWORTH.

OBITUARY.

Rev. Alfred J. MacGown, who died in Furner, Oct. 10, was a son of Alfred and Ruth Hastings MacGown, of North Elis-worth. He was born Sept. 10, 1343. Early in life the dominant factor with him was to procure an education, which he obtained by dint of his own efforts. No work was too hard or sacrifice too great to deter him from realizing this one ambition. Born of parents of limited means, he had to blaze his own trail. How well he succeeded is best known by those most familiar with his long and useful career.

After being graduated from Bucksport eminary, he took a course at the Bangor commercial college. Entering the Eastern State normal school, he was graduated at the head of his class in 1870. He taught school for several years in New England, his last place being the high school at Scituate, Mass.

He was successful as a teacher, but s higher call came to him, and he decided to enter the ministry. He entered Bangor theological seminary in 1874. Graduating from that institution, his first call was to the Congregational church at Orono and he held a successful pastorate there for four years. He left Orono with expressions of regret both from parishoners and townspeople. His second pastorate was at the Congregational church at Claremont, N. H. His stay there was short because of a great bereavement which came to him in the death of his wife.

missionary for Maine, a position which he filled for two years. While engaged in this work, he organized the Union Congregational church at Bar Harbor, which at present is one of the strongest churches in Hancock county. He became pastor of the church which he had organized. leaving it to accept a call to the Congregational church at Amherst, N. H., where he completed the unusually long pastorate of twenty years.

In this long pastorate he made many warm and loyal friends, evidence of which was manifest by the receipt of many touching letters during his last illness. His last pastorate was at North Yarmouth. where he remained for five years, retiring from the active ministry to his present ome in Turner.

Mr. MacGown was twice married. On Aug. 29, 1872, he married Miss Sarah J. Thomas, of Bluehill, and on June 18, 1883, he married Miss Delia A. Thomas, who survives him. He leaves also a daughter, and two sons. The daughter, Mariam, became a missionary to Tientsin, China. Here she met Richard T. Evans, of Boston to whom she was married in that far-off land. Mr. Evans is now professor of law in Pei Yang university in Tientsin. Philip T. MacGown, the older son, is a practic ing physician in Mystic, Conn. Guy E. MacGown, a graduate from the Massachusetts agricultural college, has the car of the home farm at Turner.

His was a congenial personality, winning his way to the hearts of a wide circle of friends, who will sincerely mourn his death. It can truly be said that the world is better for his having lived, and poorer for his taking away. "He fought a good fight, he finished his course, he kept the

"Busy" or "Don't Answer?"

WHEN THE OPERATOR REPORTS THAT "THE LINE IS BUSY", it is because she has taken the time to test the line called for. It would be easier for her to complete the connection than to make such a report. If the operator did not test on every call, she might plug in on a busy line.

Furthermore, "Busy" means that the line (not necessarily the telephone number you have called) is in use. The subscriber on a four-party line may not be talking, but one of the three other subscribers may be, making the entire line closed to traffic, or some one of the party subscribers may have put in a toll call and the line is being held awaiting its completion. Lengthy conversations on unimportant matters often congest party lines and give cause for protests from other subscribers in common.

The league of American Sportsmen, whose object is the preservation of wild life, is considering the question of inaugurating a nation-wide campaign for the destruction of the English sparrow. Its officers say this bird is driving out the smaller song and insectivorous birds, and that it has become a question of whether we shall have only the English sparrow to represent our bird life, or destroy it and regain some fifty species of useful and beautiful birds that used to inhabit cities, farms and countryside all over the land.

Ellsworth proper was represented in the boys' and girls' agricultural contest last week by just one boy. Howard Lunt, who deserves credit for the industry and ambition he has shown. Ellsworth Falls and Bayside have flourishing clubs, and it is to be regretted that Ellsworth proper has no club. We understand that this is purely a matter of securing proper leaders. There are many ambitious and industrious boys and girls in Ellsworth who would welcome such a club; we know of several boys who are already working independently in gardening and poultry raising, and sticking to it, too, without the assistance of leaders, or the inspiration of competition. We hope that before the beginning of work for another year, suitable leaders will be found for clubs in Ellsworth. Here is an opportunity for volunteers in a worthy cause.

The first county contest of the boys' and girls' agricultural clubs held in Ellsworth last week was a splendid demonstration of the work being done in this county in the way of agricultaral extension service. It was more than an exhibition; it was a revelation. And it was a testimonial, too, to County Agent George N. Worden, who has had personal direction of the work. Mr. Worden is leaves in Bar Harbor and other islan more than a live wire; he is a whole gardens. From these, the spores, in the power-house of energy, with which he charges others. The State leaders of boys' and girls' clubs, who attended this contest, were enthusiastic. Hancock county has again taken the lead. Other counties have held contests, but none approached this in attendance, exhibits and interest manifested. It goes without saying that there will be another and larger contest here next year. The Ellsworth banks, that contributed so generously toward the work by offering cash prizes, feel well repaid, and the people of Ellsworth who contributed to the entertainment of the boys and girls will welcome them again another year.

as to bring him within the purview of the Carnegie benevolence. The trustees turned him down. Five years ago Joseph Pulitzer died. He left a large estate, a portion of which comprised the grea newspaper properties the New Yor World and the St. Louis Post-Despatel He sought the perpetuity of those properties, and for that purpose l named certain trustees. Amor them was Charles E. Hughes, upo whom alone of all the trustees desig nated Mr. Pulitzer laid no limitatio of his term of service. To M Hughes, Pulitzer bequeathed $100,00 as recompense for his service Hughes declined the trust and the be quest, though at that time he ha nothing but his salary as a justice of the supreme court, though there wa no legal bar to his acceptance, thoug the wishes of the testator were no only clearly expressed in the will bu had been reinforced by oral mee sages before Mr. Pulitzer's death. FARM DEMONSTRATIONS.

News of Interest to Hancock Count Farmers.

From the office of the county agent, G. 1 Worden, Ellsworth

At the last meeting of Greenwoo grange, an extension service committ was appointed to co-operate with th county agent, who plans to take on East brook as one of the demonstration town for 1917. This committee is composed of Leslie D. Butler, Grafton S. Googins and Vernon G. Haslam, who will accompany the county agent while in that town on Thursday and Friday, visiting farmers with a view of choosing demonstrators for the coming season.

White Pine Blister.

George P. Dorr, custodian and forester of the new national park at Mt. Desert island, calls attention to the presence of that destructive tree disease, white pine blister, in Ellsworth and on Mt. Desert island, and makes an appeal to owners of currant and gooseberry bushes to destroy them in order to prevent the further spread of the disease. One Ellsworth woman who has some fine currant bushes has already destroyed them. Mr. Dorr writes: "The fatal pine blister rust, one of the most destructive and swift of all tree diseases, imported but a few years from Germany, spreading with disastrous rapidity from originally infected areas in New York and Massachusetts, has reached both Ellsworth and Mt. Desert island, and prompt action, alone, in combating it can save our pines, both young and old.

"A federal inspector was here recently and identified the fungus growing abundantly upon currant and goose berry parasites alternate generation, pass on to the pines attack, destroying whole groves with fatel swiftness. The only remedy is to burn at once, before this has taken place, the currant and gooseberry plants, whose value is negligible beside that of the trees, which give the disease its opportunity to attack the pines. "Will not the owners of estates and gardeners upon Mt. Desert island do the mame? A great and lasting injury may be averted by it, and no other means evide." exists."

Some years ago an ardent disciple of William J. Bryan died in Connecticut. He left a modest estate and bequeathed a sum of money to his In addition he left a sealed envelope containing directions to pay a handsome amount to Mr. Bryan. The widow and her advisers did not recognize this document as an essential part of the testator's will, and the needs of the widow were such that she did not feel that she could spare the money. Yet Bryan went into the courts, fought that widow and tried to wrest from her the money which she needed and which he could claim in only a shadowy fashion. The courts turned him away empty-handed.

KEEP A ROAD ENGINEER.

No county that engages in a real road building campaign can + afford to dismiss its corps of engineers just as soon as the bulk of the construction work is done.

Fact of the matter is the engineer's work is just then well under way. In the matter of maintenance his advice is of the highest importance, for the work of saving what has already been done in a wise manner is certainly as important as to do it wisely. Again, it rarely if ever happens that the initial work is done so wisely but that there are little things that could later be added that would help immensely. In the matter of building roads containing many curves, for instance, it is highly important that these curves be properly banked. It is the hardest sort of a proposition to get this properly done during construction. The outside of these curves is usually a fill, and they may look high enough to the contractor, but they soon settle and become a source of danger to motor traffic. An engineer should be on hand to look after these things as well as a hundred other problems that constantly arise. There are myriad things that should be done and done quickly if roads already built are to do their fullest service. The salary of a good engineer is never thrown away.-Southern Good Roads.

Room For Improvement.

There are over 400,000,000 acres o uncultivated land in the United State awaiting development that cannot I leveloped without improved highway It has been shown that the value land is increased evenly with the improvement for the roads, the increase running from $2 to $9 the acre. As the roads are improved there is a coresponding increase in population. In twenty-five counties taken at random which have contained on an average only 1½ per cent of improved roads in the decade 1890 to 1900 there was a falling off in population of 3,000 in each. Undoubtedly the best system of maintenance for all roads is tha which provides for the permanent and netimes continuous employment of skilled laborers who have charge of particular sections of road or who may be assigned to any part of the county or other road unit where there is work most needed.

COUNTY CONTEST.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' AGRICULTUR AL CLUBS.

SPLENDID OBJECT LESSON OF WHAT THEY ARE DOING IN HANCOCK COUNTY-PRIZES AWARDED.

The first county contest of the boys' and girls' agricultural clubs held in Ellsworth Friday and Saturday of last week under the direction of County Agent George N. Worden, of the agricultural extension servici, was a great success. Nearly 100 boys and girls, club leaders and interested friends were in attendance. There was an unusually large percentage of exhibitors. and the exhibits were of high quality. To the people of Ellsworth who visited Hancock hall, it was a revelation of the work that is being done in this county.

R. P.Mitchell, State leader of boys' clubs, and Miss Mary I. Haskell, State leader of girls' clubs, who have been active in the work in this county, were enthusiastic over the success of the county contest, declaring it by far the best yet held in the State.

The exhibits were attractively arranged in Hancock hall, which needed no other decorations. The space in front of the stage was given to the exhibits of poultry and vegetables, while at either side of the ball was arranged the large display of the most delicious looking canned fruits and vegetables. The pigs, for obvious reasons, could not be exhibited in the ball, though they were allowed to make their bow there the first afternoon.

THOSE REGISTERED.

THE PROGRAM

The program for the two days, arranged by Mr. Worden, was carried out without a break. Most of the boys and girls arrived Friday morning, and after registration, were distributed about the city to places of entertainment furnished them in private

In the afternoon, after a brief opening by Mr. Worden, W. C. Monahan, poultry specialist of the University of Maine, gave a demonstration on poultry judging. This was followed by a demonstration on judging of canned vegetables and fruits, by Miss Haskell, and on judging potatoes by Mr. Mitchell. The boys and girls then gave practical demonstration of the points gained from these demonstrations by entering into a judging contest on canned goods and potatoes. E. M. Saxton, county secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who is accomplishing such good work in somewhat different lines among the boys and girls of Mt. Desert and the island towns, conducted play contests. Music during the meetings was furnished by Higgins' orchestra. At 6 o'clock, the boys and girls were guests of the business men of Elisworth at a banquet served at the Unitarian vestry by the Woman's Alliance. Mr. Saxton presided as toastmaster, and there were informal addresses by club leaders and others present.

land, of Lakewood, chairman of the Green Mountain Pomona grange committee on farm extension work.

The principal address of the evening was by Dr. Leon S. Merrill, director of agricultural extension service of the University of Maine, on "What the Future Holds for Our Boys and Girls". At the close of the evening program, the boys and girls were the guests of Mrs. Harriet C. Davis at The Davis moving-picture theatre

Saturday forenoon there were addresses by Miss Haskell, on "Girls' Clubs; What Are They?" and by Mr. Mitchell, on "Is the Boy on the Farm Worth While?" The reading of a few of the prize essays followed.

AWARD OF PRIZES.

Congressman John A. Peters then addressed the boys and girls, telling briefly and interestingly the origin and growth of the boys' and girls 'agricultural work. The storm of cheers which greeted his reference to Mr. Worden gave unmistakable evidence of the place which the county agent had won in the admiration of the boys and girls of Hancock county's clubs. Mr. Peters then announced the prize-winners, and each announcement was greeted by impartial and wholehearted applause by the others. The fifty cash prizes were awarded in the shape of deposit books of the three Ellsworth banks, showing the deposit to the credit of the prize winner.

The prizes were awarded not for excellence of exhibit alone, but on the basis of profit on investment, the record, the story of the year's experience, and the exhibit. The judges were Mr. Monahan, Mr. Mitchell and Miss Haskell, and that they gave real work to judging is told by the fact that they took the best part of two days going over the records and stories. The grand prize for the bighest total score was won by Miss Helen Sawyer, of Castine, who in addition to the cash prizes, won the $25 scholarship in the University of Maine, given by Mrs. Eugene Hale. The scholarship for boys, also given by Mrs. Hale, was won by Darwin Power, of West Eden. These scholarships, to be known as the Eugene Hale scholarships, will be held in trust by the university until the winners are old enough to use them.

CHAPTER OF BURGLARIES.

Three of Similar Nature in Hancock County Last Week.

Hancock county experienced three burglaries last week, all of the thrilling stand and deliver" variety, but in widely-separated parts of the county, and apparently not connected one with another. Two of them, in fact, occurred the same night, one on Cranberry island and the other in Brooksville. In two cases the burglar forced entrance to a house at night, awakened the sleeping occupant, demanded money, and escaped. AT NORTH SEDGWICK.

The first case reported was at North Sedgwick Monday evening, when the house of Roy Allen was entered. Mr. and Mrs. Allen left home early in the evening, to attend an entertainment in Bluehill, leaving the hired girl, Olive Leach, of Penobscot, in charge of the house. Lights were left burning upstairs and down.

The story as told by Miss Leach is that she sat up until about 10 o'clock. She says that before that time she heard a noise at one of the windows, but thought nothing of it until later.

Shortly after retiring, she says she heard noise in the woodshed, and a little later heard a chair fall in Mr. Allen's "den" She went down stairs, and entering the room saw a man at Mr. Allen's desk, pulling over papers and ransacking drawers.

The burglar, she says, turned, pointed s revolver at her, and told her to keep still or he would shoot. Then he resumed his search of the desk. Miss Leach says she crept up behind him, and when he laid town the revolver to open a drawer, she grabbed it and fired. She says she thinks the bullet hit the man in the wrist, for she saw blood.

The burglar wrenched the revolver away from her, knocked her down, tied a string several times around her neck, fastened her hands behind her and put the desk chair on her. That, she says, is all she re-members. Mr. and Mrs. Allen found her there, face down and apparently unconcious, when they returned from Bluehill two hours later.

Miss Leach describes the man as short and fat, heavy black moustache, front teeth gone, and wearing ragged clothes Nothing was missing from the house.

AT BROOKSVILLE.

The second burglary occurred at Brooks ville during the storm Thursday night, when the house of Nellie L. Billings. widow of Deputy Sheriff Frank H. Billings, was entered.

Mrs. Billings and her two small grandchildren were the only people in the house. Mrs. Billings was awakened shortly before midnight by an automobile passing. This may have had no connection with the burglary, but a few minutes later she heard someone enter her room, and a man whispered, "Your money!" She had a wallet, gold watch and keys to the store of her late husband, on the bed beside her. She passed the man an envelope containing $13 and a check for 7.99 that was in the wallet.

The man took it, put it in his pocket, and passed out through the diningroom, kitchen and entry, closing the doors behind him. He had gained entrance by tearing the wire from the screen door, unfastening that door and then pushing the key from the lock of the inner door. Mrs. Billings describes the man as short and slim, gray eyes and very small mouth, and wearing a cream-colored rain-coat and gray cap.

AT CRANBERRY ISLES

During the same stormy night, or in the early hours of Friday morning, there was similar burglary at Cranberry Isles. Mrs. Mary Stanley, widow of Thomas Stanley, past seventy years of age, lives alone on .Great Cranberry island, in a small clearing in the woods, one-quarter of a mile from her nearest neighbor. She was awakened in the night by man coming toward her bed with a flashlight. He demanded her money. In a small bag beside the bed Mrs. Stanley had

GOOD ROADS MEETING. Executive Committee of County Association in Ellsworth. The executive committee of the Hancock County Good Roads association met in the board of trade rooms in Ellsworth yesterday afternoon. Members of the committee and of the association present were Pascal P. Gilmore, Wiley C. Conary, Bucksport; Dr. C. C. Morrison, Dr. Elmer J. Morrison, Mark C. Morrison, Dr. George A. Phillips, James M. Shea, Bar Harbor; H. F. Emery, Eden; Dr. J. D. Phillips, Southwest Harbor; John E. Whittaker, Arthur B. Holt, Gouldsboro; George I. Soper, Orland; Ward W. Wescott, Bluehill ; F. W. Lunt, West Tremont ; James S. Scott, Sullivan ; L. C. Bragdon, Franklin; Roy C. Haines, F. A. Patten, W. H. Titus, Ellsworth. Changes in the executive committee were announced as follows : F. W. Beck in place of Paul D. Scott, Deer Isle; A. E. Farnsworth, Brooklin, in place of Roy Tapley, Brooksville.

The bylaws reported by the president were adopted. The objects of the associa-tion, as set forth in the bylaws, are "to ncourage, promote and develop the united spirit for permanent road improvement and construction in Hancock county, to use every bonorable means to induce each town to take proper steps toward permanent road improvement and construction, to influence the building of State roads in the most logical, practical and needful locations, to determine the most advantageous place for trunkline improvements, to strive for a better and more economical method for surveys and inspection of road construction, to demand commonsense and good value in road construction, re-construction, maintenance and expenditures, to maintain a publicity department in connection with the road service, to report to the public through the press all matters working for the detriment and hindrance of proper road work in Hancock county, and to exert every influence towards progressive, constructive road work and road legislation." Any one interested in good roads in Hancock county, whether a resident of the county or not, is eligible for membership. The membership fee is $1. Regular meetings are to be held the first Wednesday of May, June, July, August, September and October. The meeting in June will be the annual meeting.

The business of the meeting was followed by general discussion of good road work in the county.

At the request of Mr. Emery, of the State Wide Good Roads committee, the association recommended Dr. J. D. Phillips, Southwest Harbor; Fred A. Patten, Ellsworth, and George I. Soper, Orland, for appointment as the Hancock county sub-committee of the State organization. The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the president. There will probably be another meeting before the opening of

A wedding in which friends here were interested took place Friday evening, Oct. 6, at Nantucket, Mass., when Miss Vera Morse Swain became the bride of Capt. Albert Eugene Closson, of Elisworth. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Swain. Rev. Dwight Nelson officiated. The room was prettily decorated with goldenrod and ivy. The bride was gowned in white creps de chine with pearl trimmings and wore a veil caught with smilar. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. Elmore Swain. After the ceremony a reception was held, only the immediate family being present. The couple was well remembered with cut glass, silver, chins and linen. Capt. and Mrs. Closson will make their home in Ellsworth.

how much. She knows there was more than $100, but thinks there was not as much as $200. She gave this to the man, and he left. She describes the man as dressed in quite a sum of money, she does not know sherman's oilskins and southwester. His face was masked, which leads to the belief that he may have been someone she knew by sight. As soon as the man bad left the house, Mrs. Stanley, scantily dressed, hurried to her nearest neighbors and gave the alarm.

In this case an arrest was made of a man who had been selling soip on the island, but there was apparently nothing to connect him with the burglary, and he was released. Suspicion has been directed to another man, a resident of the island, but no arrest has been made.

CLUB PAPERS

Boys and Girls of Agricultural Clubs Tell Experiences.

The following papers were among t submitted by the boys and girls of the agricultural clubs of Hancock county in the county contest:

HOW I BAISED MY CHICKENS.

Marjorie Jellison, Ellsworth Falls, Age 11. (Adjudged best story by Poultry Club member.)

When I joined the poultry club I had to buy my hens. For the first two I paid $1.00 each, the third one was given to me, and for the other three I paid 75 cents each ; one we borrowed.

1 set one of my hens in the ice-house; she left her nest after a few days. One in a corner of the barn chamber. One in another corner. One in the harness room. Another one in the horse stall; she left her nest after a few days. I exchanged her with a neighbor for a broody hen. In all, I set 108 eggs, and fifty-six chickens hatched.

For the first thirty-six hours I did not feed them. I took some of them away from the hens and kept them warm until the others batched. I fed them bread crumbs and scratch feed and dry mash at first. I kept my chickens in little yards until they were so large there was not room for them.

One day, while the chickens were small, we moved them upon the ploughed ground. The first scratch the hen made she kicked a poor little chicken to the other side of the yard. A little later I went out to give them some water, and the mother hen had kicked the dish over on a chicken and killed it.

One day I went out to give them som water and dropped the plate on one and stunned it, and before I could get it out of the pen the rest picked his eyes out, killing him. I lost several others soon after hatching, until it left me fifty-one chick-

My father built a poultry house, 12x16 feet, and a yard forty feet square.

we moved the chickens from One day their pens into the new poultry house. They were so glad they didn't know what to do

When my father painted the poultry house, the chickens were so tame they picked at the buttons on my father's clothes. One dodged under the paint brush, ny father painted his back.

When I weighed them, I put them in a bag a few at a time. To-night I let them run loose in the gar den for the first time, and they seemed to enjoy the change very much. They have not laid yet, but think they will soon, their combs are quite red. They are fat and plump, and begin to look like old hens.

MY SEASON'S WORK.

Frances Loweree, Elleworth Falls, Age 15 (Adjudged Best Story by a Garden and Canning Club Member.)

"Miss Haskell, State leader of girls' garden and canning clubs, will be here next F.day, April 6." This was the notice given out in the Sunday school. I at once ecided to be present at this meeting. I attended this meeting, and at its close I was a member of the girls' garden and canning clubs.

I had always wanted a garden, and the little I knew about preserving convinced me that I wanted to know more, so when this opportunity arose I immediately took

All the land around my home being to wet for plowing. I was forced to take my twentieth of an acre a mile distant, as it was already late in the season and I saw no way of bettering myself. This proved to be so far that I could not attend it regularly, and so keep my garden in good condition.

After the ground was prepared I trans planted lettuce, tomatces, and potatces, planted lettuce seed, peas, beans, beets, cucumbers and swiss chard. The potatces I started in an old tin pan until some of them grew from eight to ten inches high, and then I transplanted them.

blanch them, rub off the skins, pack and cook. Beans also I found quite difficult agiy. The first day, when I let her out, she to pack whole so that they make a full and would not come back, and I had to pretty pack. Mr. Worden encouraged us to send our produce to the Bluehill fair. We did, and much to my surprise I received the first prize. My sister received a box of chocolates at the Methodist fair, and I received twenty-five cents at the North Ellsworth

Next year I certainly will belong to the club, for I think it is fine, for it is not only a club for amusement, but in the end very profitable, as one has experience which is invaluable to them.

HOW I MADE MY CROP.

[Harold Archer, Ellsworth Falls, Age 15.] (Adjudged best story by Potato Club member.)

After joining the potato club, my first step was to procure seed. I bought two bushels of Green Mountain potatoes at $1.25 a bushel, of a man who selected his seed from the hills having the largest number of fine large potatoes.

As soon as I received the seed potatoes, I treated them with formalin. Having treated the potatoes, I cut them, put sulphur on them, and spread them out to green. These seed were prepared as told above and ready to plant by the last of May.

As the season was very wet, I was not able to plant my potatoes until late in June. I found then that I must substitute for the seed potatoes which I bought, some very nice Green Mountain potatoes of our own raising, part of which had been treated with formalin and greened. The ground was harrowed with a spring-tooth harrow. It was then furrowed and the fertilizer, 250 pounds of it, was strewn in the rows. The potatoes were dropped about six inches in rows three feet apart. The cost of labor to that date and including it was $2.90 and the cost of other things $8.05.

Twelve days after planting, the first potato plants came up. They were from the seed which had been greened and treated with formalin. The other plants came up about a week later. As we do not own a team and could not ford to hire one a great deal, I could not cultivate as much as I wished to, but I did have them cultivated once. At the same time I added another fifty pounds of fertilizer

During the summer I sprayed two times with Bordesux mixture and two times with arsenate of lead. I began to use the Bordeaux mixture when the plants were about eight inches high. I had almost no trouble with potato bugs, but the blight struck my potatoes. It did not do my potatoes as much harm as it did the potatoes of people who did not spray with Bordesux mixture.

On September 27 we started to dig the otatoes, but the ground was hard and we did not finish that day. No more were dug until October 7, when we finished digging them.

After weighing the potatoes, we found that there were twenty-seven and onehalf bushels in all, one and one-fourth bushels of which we saved for seed, eighteen and three-fourth bushels were marketable potatoes and seven and onehalf bushels were culls.

The cost of labor, rent and material for the entire season has been $20.12. The value of the potatoes 1 raised is $30.47. My profit is $10.35. The cost of my potatoes a bushel was 73 cents.

Although I have not succe ded very well with my potatoes, I believe the season's work has been very profitable to me, for I can see that if I were able to follow the directions carefully, I could raise many more potatoes and much better potatoes.

HOW I BAISED MY PIG.

- [Dorothy Shackford, Elleworth Falls, age 13] (Adjudged best story by Pig Club mem- ber.) I joined the boys' and girls' pig club early in April, and on April 15 I purchased my pig. At the age of four weeks he closed their cottage Oct. 16.

GOULDSBORO.

KRS. JENNIE E. SOWLE GRAY. The community was called upon Wed-needay, Oct. 18, to mourn the loss of one who entered very closely into the life of its old and young in the person of Mrs. Jennie Sowle Gray, only daughter of the late William and Lizzie Holbrook Sowle, and wife of J. Lyman Gray. She was chicks. I was going to pick them up, but born in Gouldsboro April 9, 1884, and had been a life-long resident of the com munity.

She had been ill since July, and a few weeks ago was taken to Bangor hospital. where she underwent a surgical operation Though she was relieved of her suffering she and her family knew that she could not regain her former strength and vigor. yet the end came much sooner than he friends expected. She feared not the end. and when she knew that only a few hours remained for her, she greeted her friend with words of cheer; and when physical life was so far gone she could no louger speak, she smiled upon her loved ones beside her, as her spirit passed from its earthly home.

Baptized in infancy, she became a mem ber of the Methodist church of Gouldsboro, and always remained a lively member, never besitating to render to her church any service that lay in her power. The friends who have grown up with her will sadly miss her, yet none will miss her more than the children of the community; for in them she ever had a loving interest. They asked the privilege of attending her funeral and following her remains to the final resting-place, that few days last week with Mrs. A. C. they might show the love they had for

> Aside from the resourcefulness that enabled her to be of much service to the social and religious life of her community, she possessed some literary ability, and wrote many stories for weekly newspapers and magazines.

> Her funeral was held Friday afternoon at the Methodist church, and was conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. C. Dalzell. It was attended by the Camp-Fire Girls and "Blue-Birds" in a body, of which organizations she was the guardian, and many other friends showed by their Dres ace and floral offerings the esteem in which they held their friend.

before I transplanted them, and cons quently did not grow so well as they might have. The flee beetle found my tomatoes and before I had learned that air-slaked lime would kill them, they killed most of my plants.

The crows killed about half my peas for the sake of the pes on the end. The rust struck my beans when they were alm ready for picking, and an early frost killed most of my cucumbers when they first be-gan to bear, but on the whole my potatoes my beets, and my swiss chard did pretty well.

During July and the first part of August I was sick with whooping cough, and I was unable to give proper care to my garden

When my harvest was gathered, my total reward was about $1.75, not counting my labor, which makes me feel that I don't want a garden another year unless it is nearer home.

In my canning, I thought at first I would simply can my fifteen jars-five from my garden and ten for the canning-but after wards I decided to try ten jars of crabapples. I gathered all my produce, thus saving the expense of buying it. I was very much surprised to see how the wild strawberries shrank. When 1 thought I would have a full jar of berries. they turned out more than half juice.

MANSET. INTERESTING CHURCH SERVICES.

Rev. W. T. Johnson, of Bryantville,

Mass., who has been the guest here of Everett G. Stanley, conducted interesting services at the church the past two Sundays. Mr. Johnson isbored here several years ago, as a young man, and has many friends here. Since leaving here he has be come well known in many places through his novel methods in church work. He started the "big sings" a few years ago, a novel kind of service, and by using a great deal of musical talent packed churches far and near. His methods have been commended by Rev. Alexander Mann, D. D., now pastor of Trinity Episcopal church, Boston, and by Bishop John W. Hamilton. The Cape Cod Indiana have assisted him in Massachusetts. He makes his services different from many others, and has the help and sympathy of talented singers. Two immense congregations greete him Sunday, and be preached two strong sermons. At the evening service almost every seat was taken, many coming from Bass Harbor and Southwest Harbor

He spoke feelingly of the kind treatment he received from the Manset people when he came to them years ago, an untried man, and the people inspired him by their kind treatment, and encouraged him in his work.

Mr. Johnson goes this week to hi parish in Bryantville, Mass., a suburb of Boston. Next Sunday be will speak, with several preachers, in a "big sing" service in the Congregational church in Hanson, Mass. In this service many musicians will take part, and the lonian ladies quartette, of Mr. Johnson's church, will sing.

He Got Hold Of the Wrong Stenographer By EDWARD T. STEWART

The president of the G. Y. and W. railroad was sitting to his office at his tose wood desk when an official entered In reply to a tap on his silver bell. Handing the subordinate a letter, he Raid:

"Take that into the office of the company's attorney and tell him to treat it to the usual way."

The letter was from a young woman who made her fiving by stenography and typewriting. She had traveled on ae of the company's trains, and as it was nearing the station stood at the oor, bracing herself against the car The engineer stopped the train suchenty, and the car door slammed against the girl's hand and crushed her fingers. The injury ended her ability to make her living as she had been do ing it. She asked the president of the road if he would indemnify her. The 'usual way" referred to by him was to get an offer to settle, then pigeonhole it. This was done, and, the girl having refused to settle for a song. heard nothing more from the com any's attorneys. A few months after the pigeonholing of the girl's offer the president sent for his stockbroker and said to him:

"Mr. Barker, I have noticed a very slow rise for a month past of the shares of our road. I know of nothing to pat them up. Our monthly statement show ome falling off in the earnings, and there is some doubt about our main taining the regular dividend. Can you explain the rise in view of the facts?

Mr. Barker could not explain the rise. He thought that some person was manipulating the stock, putting it up for the purpose of making money on when it went down again.

"Please sell a thousand shares for my account." continued the president. "and every point the price of the stock rises, sell another thousand shares."

The result of this order within a cou ple of weeks was that the stock went up five points, and the president was short" of it 5,000 shares. That means that he had sold shares which he did not own at less than the market price When the stock declined to a figure b low what he had paid for it he would buy it and make the difference. As its president, he knew that the stock was not worth what he sold it for and did not doubt that he would make a good thing of the transaction.

But the stock did not go down. Instead it continued to rise. The president, who had good nerve, kept on selling stock that he did not own, and one day having called upon his broker for a statement of his account was informed that he was "short" 30,000 shares. This was somewhat unsteady ing, and the president directed the bro ker to hedge by buying 10,000 shares in lots of one and two thousand.

The broker reported that his buying of 3,000 shares had put the stock up 2½ points. The president looked grave The road was a small one, and its outstanding stock was not more than 500,000 shares, most of it in hands that had held it for years. If the seller could not buy the stock he had sold for delivery he would lose a fortune. He put off taking any action till the next day, when there was a flurry in the stock on the market, and the shares jumped twenty points.

Then came a report that the stock of the G., Y. and W. Railroad company was "cornered." That meant that gome person or persons had bought up the stock and there was none for sale One, three, four, six hundred per cent was offered for it, but no stock was brought out. Few persons had been selling the stock except the president. but he was ruined. In cases where a stock is "cornered" it is customary for the seller and the buyer to get together and settle, agreeing on a certain fixed price. The president sought his un mown enemy for this purpose. found him to be an enormously rich operator. The president went to his fice in fear and trembling and asked to what figure he was to be bled,

CADDIES OF THE LINKS.

Their Originals Were Messenger Boys In Old Edinburgh.

Originally the caddy of the present day golf links appears to have been quite another individual, engaged in another line of activity. Caddies in the remote past were messenger boys in old Edinburgh Gathered around the famous Edinburgh cross, where all important messages were read and many public ceremonies were heldthe cross which was the very center of the old city-the caddles in their rag ged clothes waited to be employed.

The claicf merchants of the city, the leading official persons, the men of learning and of talent, the nobles, the lairds, the clergymen-all clustered about the cross during certain hours of the day, and very often some one wished to send a parcel or message to another part of the town, or a stranger to Edinburgh wanted to be directed.

Here was where the caddies were ap pealed to. These boys might be trust ed with any duty with which the were charged. They were veritable street directories. A visitor to the town would often engage a caddle to be wholly at his bidding, as the boy's knowledge of the place was invalua-

But unless this visitor were most cantious, be would suddenly discover that his caddle, in addition to his vast knowledge of Edinburgh, knew also all about his employer-where he came from, what was his business in Edinburgh, his family connections, his tastes and preferences.-Exchange.

LIVING AEROPLANES.

Wherein Birds Differ From Flying Ma chines Made by Man. It would be a mistake to suppose that the bird's wings enable it to fly H wings spelled flying any of us could attach a pair and soar into the air. The hollow bones of the birds make light bodies, but they are attached to a rigid backbone, which forms the main feature of the bird's body. This gives the central firmness, and the muscles do the rest. The wings balance their owners, and the tail acts as a rudder for steering. Often enough the bird seems to use its tall as a sort of brake.

It is interesting to compare the bird with the product of man's skill-the aeroplane. To begin with, there is no aeroplane made which copies the up and down motion of the bird's wings all our machines having fixed wings. or planes

But naturally man tried to copy the living fliers around him. He made wings of feathers, etc., connected them with his shoulders and legs and found that his muscles could not raise him an inch.

The muscles, or motors, which now drive him through the air are as strong as 200 horses, so no wonder he falled Even the bird, with a body at first. so perfectly formed for flight, has flying muscles equal in weight to all its. other muscles put together .- Pearson's Weekly

"How much damage do you think our company should pay the lady? asked the president.

"What will give her an income of $2,500 a year. I think fifty of your first mortgage conds would be accept ed.

The president telephoned for the bonds, and while they were waiting for them he and the operator settled for the stock the former had sold the latter. But the operator said that he would not exact a fictitious value for the shares he had bought and made a settlement by which the president lost nothing.

"Thank you very much." he said. "for letting me off so cheaply. When another woman makes a claim against our road I will inquire where she has been employed."

"In this case you got hold of the wrong stenographer."

"Most decidedly." "Good morning."

It may be expected that there is a sequel to this story; that the operator would not have taken such pains on behalf of his stenographer had he not been otherwise interested in her. But he was an old married man. which will admit of a remedy

Rainbows

The time of day or the state of weather when a rainbow appears is believed by many people to be an indication of future weather conditions According to an old rime, a rainbow in the morning warns the shepherds to be prepared for rain shortly; an evening rainbow points to fine weath er the next day. Sallors believe that a rainbow in the wind is a sure sign of continues wet. If it comes in the opposite quarter the rain will soon stop. Agab, if in fair weather a rain bow be seen foul weather will speedily set in, but if the bow appear in foul weather fair weather will be at hand.
