NEWSPAPER HISTORY

The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established and consolidated with the Gazette in 1885. The Free Press was established in 1855 and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

No man can ever rise above that at which he aims.—Rev. A. A. Hodge.

BASEBALL BANQUET

The players in the Knox County Twilight League, and managers of the respective teams, have been invited to a banquet entertainment and dance to be given in Odd Fellows' hall, Tenants' Harbor tomorrow evening at 6.30 (daylight). The affair is under the auspices of St. George's loyal women fans, and it is believed to be the first time in Knox County that an event of this kind was ever attempted on such an elaborate scale. Needless to say that the players and the "bosses" are keenly awaiting the sound of the dinner bell.

ROGERS IS PRESIDENT

The Forty Club elected Dr. Linwood T. Rogers as its president last night at the semi-annual meeting held at Crescent Beach Inn. The other officers are: vice presidents, H. E. Jackson and Dr. E. W. Peaslee; secretary, C. A. Palmer; treasurer, Dr. E. L. Scarlott; directors for three terms, R.

TWO GREAT DAYS COMING

Thursday and Friday of this week will undoubtedly be two of the greatest in local history for remarkable inducements have been made to draw people into the city—witness the many features and great values noted in the present issue of The Courier-Gazette. A Philco Radio, console model, will be given away at the free band concert Friday night, 20 free air rides will be given each day and there will be numerous other attractions.

All parking rules will be suspended for the two days out of courtesy to the shoppers, Mayor Richardson only requesting that care be taken not to leave cars in front of hydrants. The plane dropping the free ride gliders will fly over Main street at 9 o'clock each day. The tickets for the radio will be given away at all the Dollar Day stores. Care is urged on all persons to be sure their name is written plainly on the ticket before it is deposited in the conveniently located boxes. The local merchants have vied with each other in listing fine bargains. Special features are on at both theatres and a general invitation is broadcast that all are welcome to Rockland.

STAUNCH DEFENDER OF LAW

National Grange Master Taber Makes Remarkable Speech Before Knox County Pomona

Linwood T. Rogers, Newly Elected President of the Forty Club

When somebody writes the history of Knox County's two Pomona Granges one of the most important chapters will deal with their joint session at Crescent Beach Saturday when the farm folks had the pleasure of listening to National Grange Master Louis J. Taber of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the ablest men and ablest speakers who has ever held that office. Mr. Taber did not speak at great length, but there was meat in every word he uttered and his illustrations were most convincing. His message on law enforcement was an especially strong feature of the address, and left small comfort for those who favor the repeal program.

The weather Saturday forenoon would have delighted the Middle West farmers who for weeks have helplessly watched their crops shrivel for lack of rain. In spite of the inclemency here the gathering of Knox and Limerock Valley Pomona was a large one—probably 300 Patrons of Husbandry being in attendance. The National Master and a group of leading Grangers dined at the Inn, while the others were enjoying a picnic lunch at the Pavilion.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Lucia Hopkins of Camden, lecturer of Limerock Valley Pomona, who introduced Oscar E. Copeland of South Warren, master of Knox Pomona. The visitors were eloquently welcomed by Judge E. K. Gould, who is a member of Limerock Valley Grange.

State Master H. B. Crawford praised the present condition of the Grange in this State, as a hopeful augury of betterments to come. E. C. Moran, Jr., escheved politics in an address of much excellence. Vote for principle and good government and for a lessening of expense was the trend of his talk.

Albion Allen of Hope, 96 years of age, and first master of Hope Grange, was a striking figure on the platform and was accorded an ovation when Judge Gould alluded to him.

Frederick P. Bonney of Rangleley late candidate for the Congressional nomination stressed the importance of living for our country as well as dying for it.

"When a foe threatens from the outside," said Mr. Bonney, "there are plenty of men and women to spring to the Nation's defense, even though the sacrifice of life may follow. But when it comes to the daily job of defending the Nation by making the home and community better, of respecting and obeying law, of upholding high standards of conduct, of improving schools and supporting churches, of improving health conditions, and generally making life better, not so many answer, 'Here am I; use me!'"

"Being a real patriot is not merely a time job; it's mainly a peace time job. And it takes just as much courage of every sort to be a good citizen in the common, everyday relationships of life, as it does in the crisis."

The Grange has a threefold program to enable agriculture to make progress during the generations to come, and the 60 years of constructive grange service gives proof that if this program is properly carried out it will render service to the tillers of the soil.

"First, organize. The farmer cannot continue as an individual unless he meets organization by organization. The organization of the future must seek to maintain local and community ideals, advance education, improve social, moral and economic conditions. The farmer must have some agency that will protect his interests and fight his battles in a state-wide and nationwide way and without hesitation I believe that a million new members in the Grange could do more for rural prosperity than any legislation that congress could enact."

"Second, better marketing methods. The farmer must secure a larger share of the consumer's dollar. Today he receives but from 35 to 38 cents out of the consumer's food dollar, and much less out of what the consumer pays for fiber products. We must shorten the route between producer and consumer and above all develop a marketing system that gives farmer-owned and farmer-controlled distributing agencies. Proof that there is something wrong is the fact that while wheat is 35 to 40 per cent. lower than it was a year ago, wheat products sold to the consumer at the same old price. The Federal Farm Board is rendering service in this direction."

"Third, equality in taxation and legislation. In tariff legislation, in taxation and in kindred problems, the farmer must secure equal treatment with all other groups. Agriculture asks no special favors, but when labor, finance, transportation and all other groups are seeking from Congress and from state legislatures laws for their own protection agriculture must see to it that equality of opportunity is given our basic industry. The farmer is sometimes less concerned about what Congress can do for him than what it does to him."

"Given these three steps, it is apparent that the farmer, with intelligent leadership, with a loyal membership, can hold his own in a changing world, and will be able to produce the food and fiber necessary for modern civilization in a manner that will enable agriculture to render its full share of service to mankind."

The manufacturer and business man of New England must come to realize their concern is national agricultural welfare. Our present industrial depression has its roots in 10 years of curtailed purchasing power by the American farmer. The farmer's dollar has been below par continuously since 1920. When we improve the standard of living in 6,500,000 farm homes, and when we increase the farmer's purchasing power, we will improve industry and add to prosperity in every city in the land.

"Another task of the Grange is to see to it that we preserve the ideals and institutions that the Pilgrim and pioneer brought to America, and in this century-year New England agriculture should re-dedicate itself to the great work of seeing to it that newcomers from across the sea do not pull down our standards, but that their standards are built up to the high ideals of our forefathers."

"The Grange has stood for more than 60 years of the enforcement of law and it is disturbing to find sections, especially in the East, where there are substantial groups with the unsound notion that they will choose the laws that they, themselves, shall elect to obey. This unAmerican and dangerous doctrine will finally undermine American institutions if not checked. The Grange offers no apology for standing for the Constitution and for the 18th amendment."

It is unfortunate that in this period of stress, this period of unemployment, this period of economic problems created by the drought all some candidates for office can think about is the repeal of the 18th Amendment. Whenever I see a man running for office on a repeal program, I can but wonder if he has the knowledge, the capacity, the patriotism and the ability to discuss the great problems of fundamental importance to national welfare. The 18th amendment was written into the constitution by every state but two, and it will take 36 states to take the amendment out of the Constitution. Those who know America well know this number will never be secured. How foolish it seems, therefore, to spend so much time and effort on a program that leads only toward nullification and law violation."

REPUBLICAN WHIRLWIND TOUR

Knox County Towns To Be Visited Friday Forenoon and Afternoon—Mass Meeting At Camden In The Evening

The Republican campaign in Knox County which has thus far contented itself with unobtrusive but none the less effective committee work, will be marked this week by a Whirlwind Tour, similar to those which have been held throughout the State in the past few years.

This tour contemplates no set speeches, but candidates for national, state and county offices will be in the party, and will speak informally wherever there may be groups of voters waiting to greet them.

The candidates leave Rockland Friday morning at 8 o'clock, swinging first through the southern towns and in the afternoon taking in the northern tier, the concluding event of the day being the mass meeting at Camden Opera House in the evening.

It is expected that the following Republican leaders will be in the party: Gov. Gardiner, Hon. Wallace H. White, Jr., candidate for United States Senator; Hon. Donald B. Partridge, candidate for Representative to Congress; Mrs. Guy P. Gannett, national committeewoman; and Mrs. Eva C. Mason of the Republican State Committee. The speakers of the evening in Camden will be U. S. Senator Felix Hebert of Rhode Island. It will be the Senator's first speech in the Maine campaign.

Here is the official schedule:

Daylight Time		P. M.
A. M.		12.45	Long Cove and Wildcat
8.00	Leave Rockland	1.45	Warren

CURTIS BIRTHPLACE

The Scene of a Family Luncheon Followed By a Radio Concert

Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher and philanthropist, spent several hours Friday at the modest little house at the corner of Brown street and Cumberland avenue, Portland where he was born 80 years ago.

There he lunched with his wife and daughter, Mrs. Edward W. Bok, and sister, Miss Harriett L. Cutter of Pasadena, Calif., by arrangement of a committee of prominent Portland citizens who took this occasion to honor the donor of the municipal organ on the 18th anniversary of the famous gift.

Mr. Curtis and his family assembled at the birthplace shortly before noon and were greeted by Louis E. White, chairman of the citizens' committee. After the informal lunch they gathered in the living room to listen to a special radio program broadcast from the studio of Station WCSH.

This program, also arranged by the committee of citizens in honor of Mr. Curtis, was inaugurated by Dr. Henry Stiles Bradley, former pastor of the State Street Congregational Church, and included a group of selections by the Portland Men's Singing Club, and a brief organ recital by John E. Fay, playing the Kotschmar organ in City Hall.

While awaiting lunch, Mr. Curtis displayed interest in the ancient melody which is a feature of the living room. This instrument was made in Portland about 75 years ago and is similar to that which first stimulated Mr. Curtis' love for knowledge of music.

The luncheon and special broadcast were indication of Portland's affection for its distinguished son and further evidence is the tablet which has been placed at the doorway of the Curtis birthplace. The plaque reads: "Birthplace of Cyrus Hermann Kotschmar Curtis, Patron of Education, Music, Culture, An Honor to Portland, A Citizen of the World."—Press Herald.

Gov. Gardiner appears to have dealt with the Sheriff Getchell case in Kennebec County promptly, dispassionately and fairly.

No matter whence the calm that pervades the Kennebec shirevalty may come, so far as this incident goes—there it is. It so differs from the fuss over the Cummings case—with stormings of the jail and hearings both public and private.

When we note the calm, we forget the causes. And this is frequently a matter of injustice to the management, that has so conducted affairs as to leave people in a considerable frame of mind—agreeable to the verdict.

Gov. Gardiner has been in the Executive chair for two years. He has sought to do business quietly. His financial affairs have gone well; he has had a pleasant time with his Executive Council; they like him; most of them will declare that he has been sensitive only to justice and fair play. One of them tells us that his chief fault is "being over-consciousness." In other words, he is fussy to do what seems to be right. In a recent session of Republican chairmen and members of committees of the Republican party, the common verdict was "He has never done one thing that I have asked him to do." This indicates an absolute disregard for the commonly described "machine." He disregarded it in at least four instances in the past year, wherein "politics" were supposed to be of great importance.

The Governor does not like the "platform." He is more or less embarrassed at banquets and such. But he makes a clever speech; and he leaves a fine impression of a manliness and honorable devotion to public affairs.

If ever a man deserved a reelection, it is he. He has done his very best under conditions that have not always been easy. He has done that best, with but one thing in mind—public good, as he saw it. He has been absolutely independent. Politics, have not annoyed, or concerned him. His mistakes have been apparent; and are few. He has shown a great deal of that quiet leadership, that made him a great football leader in college; that caused him to be known as the trainer of some of the greatest foot-ball stars that ever went into a game. No young man can do that unless he has power, force, determination; foresight and discipline. His name is in the archives of his university among the best of the traditions—along with the renowned Percy Haughton, of treasured memory—a clean man and a great leader.

Beboes of the ridiculous primary campaign against Gov. Gardiner are now forgotten. There was not one element of truth in the major assertions of subservience to "machine" devotion to outside influences or anything of the sort. He has but one purpose. He has never been friendly to any of our suggestions in matter of appointments; but we have no occasion to question his appointments. And so far as our suggestions go, they have been merely those of a private citizen, emphasized as such, dissociated from the newspaper; for we would scorn to have a personal choice and make its refusal the subject of newspaper comment.

Gov. Gardiner merits reelection. He has carried himself with dignity, reserve, courtesy, and fairness. He has had two years of training. He is fitted, again to carry on.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

THE ARROW AND THE SONG

I shot an arrow into the air,
It fell to earth, I knew not where;
For so swiftly it flew, the sight
Could not follow it in its flight.

I breathed a song into the air,
It fell to earth, I knew not where;
For who has sight so keen and strong,
That it can follow the flight of song?

Long, long afterward, in an oak
I found the arrow, still unbroke;
And the song, from beginning to end,
I found again in the heart of a friend.

—Henry W. Longfellow.

SEPTEMBER 8 THE DAY

Maine's election day is only a fortnight away. So far as we are able to observe the general situation there is no reason to doubt that the usual off-year victory for the Republican ticket may be looked for. The attacks made from the platform upon Governor Gardner's administration we believe have aroused only languid interest. In another column is reprinted the Lewiston Journal's editorial review of the Governor's administration. Read it. It will leave that official high erected in your estimation, as we think he is erected in the minds of voters all over Maine. There is no reason, politically or personally, why the voters of his party should withhold from him, or from their other candidates, national and local, the full measure of their support. We look to see this done by the voters of Knox County in the handsomest manner, and we do not expect to be disappointed.

Friday of this week sees Knox County as the theatre of the "Whirlwind Tour," which the Republicans have in recent campaigns found so effective and which already have opened the present campaign in other counties with marked interest and success. Upon another page appears the list of candidates participating in the tour and the schedule upon which they will move. They are bound to receive cordial greeting in every community visited.

ROCKLAND'S DOLLAR DAYS

The accompanying announcements by our city merchants are calculated to impress readers with the fact that Rockland's Dollar Days for 1930 are to surpass in interest all former similar occasions, interesting and successful as they have uniformly proved to be. It is the splendid spirit of co-operation on the part of our merchants that gives special emphasis to the present year arrangements, not alone by reason of the advantages in buying that each place of business sets forth to the prospective visitor, but because in addition there are programs of entertainment that will lend graceful and attractive color to each day. Thursday and Friday of this week should prove to be memorable. From every corner of this trading region our city hopes to greet these visitors, who may be assured a cordial welcome, and upon the business side of it frank and generous consideration.

The Labor Day track and field meet at the Trotting Park is drawing a field of contestants that are the best. The following cities, towns and colleges are sending men to this event: Old Town, Bangor, Belfast, Lincolnville, Camden, Rockport, Rockland, Thomaston, Warren, Bath, Skowhegan, University of Maine, Bowdoin, Dartmouth, Harvard and Princeton. Two state record holders will have some difficulty in showing their heels to some of their brother Maine athletes. The javelin event includes two college men and a strong scholastic youth, all of whom are throwing better than 150 feet. The boxing matches have drawn together some fast men who have some old scores to settle, which will go toward making a very fast and interesting set of matches. The baseball game will be between Friendship and Thomaston while Burns and Patch, battery for Friendship will have to work hard to hold the Thomaston sluggers to few hits. The track and field events start at 9 a. m. and activities will terminate about 5 p. m. Trainer will furnish lunches and hot coffee on the field.

Visitation Day at the old church at South Hope was excellent Sunday afternoon, with a large gathering of people who listened to a fine discourse by Dr. C. G. Robbins of Lawrence, Mass. Pleasing music was furnished by a trio of Massachusetts musicians, and picnic dinner was served in the Grange hall at the close of the service. Among the Rockland people present were noted Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Stoddard, Mr. and Mrs. George L. St. Clair, Miss Ellen Cochran, Henry Payson and daughter, Miss Edna Payson, Miss Alice Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, Fred Leach and family and Wilbur Cross and family.

A group of golfers were yachting, guests of E. K. Leighton on board his yacht, Saturday the destination Castine, where the nine-hole golf course with its excellent greens was given a try-out. Eighteen holes of play in the forenoon was followed by lunch on the yacht, served by that expert chef Howard Dunbar. Another round of play was to have featured the afternoon, but the weather came up and prevented. The participants in play included the well-known fussy foursome, Leighton, Dyer, McRae and Veazie, the other foursome including H. A. Buffum, Dr. A. W. Foss, H. E. Robinson and Clarence Shaw.

Children's Playground will hold its annual picnic Saturday at Oakland, leaving the waiting room via electric of 9:30 and returning at 4 o'clock. Hot dogs and pop will be provided. There are no charges but picnickers should take own lunch.

ROCKPORT

Mrs. Fred Holbrook and Mrs. Henry Carleton left on the train Monday night for New York on the first lap of their journey to Europe with the Gold Star Mothers. They will have one day in that city for sight-seeing, leaving Hoboken, N. J., Wednesday noon for the trip across. Mrs. Annie Bucklin of Rockville is also a member of the party.
Mrs. Hildred Ryder and son Byron, and Miss Helen Small motored to Searsport Sunday, where Byron will remain for several days' visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Parker.

A very enjoyable day was spent at Penikese Sunday by the following group of townspeople: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holbrook and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Ingraham and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Champney, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryder, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Upham, Mrs. Leola Mann and sons, Mrs. Orva Burns and children, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Libby and daughter, Miss Helen Small and Mrs. Charles Everett.

Everett E. F. Libby arrived Friday from Manchester, N. H., and this week will move his family to that city where they will make their future home.

The Johnson Society will be entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Orva Burns, Summer street.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cash returned Saturday from a week's camping trip at Milo.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Small and child of Rockland were Sunday guests of his mother, Mrs. Annie Small.

Charles L. Veazie returned Sunday from Portland where he had been in attendance at the Convention of Amateur Radio Operators.

The road leading from the Whitney residence to Rockville is being widened and greatly improved.

Schools in town will commence Sept. 8.

A concrete sidewalk is being laid from Hoboken schoolhouse to the Cora Wentworth house on Commercial street.

The chauffeurs' ball held at the Town hall Friday evening under the auspices of the chauffeurs of the summer colony of Rockport and Camden proved to be a great success both socially and financially. This was a benefit ball for the local children's Christmas fund. That the worthiness of the cause was appreciated by the community was fully demonstrated by the large number in attendance. Much credit is due these young men for taking such an interest in the town and the townspeople.

Weather This Week

Weather outlook for week in North and Middle Atlantic States: Scattered showers over the north portion Tuesday and showers more generally about Friday. Cool at the beginning of the week with slowly rising temperature the latter half.

Hancock County Fair begins today.

Alfred Fredette is driving a new Pontiac car.

Frank Wheeler is having two weeks' vacation from his insurance office.

Charles McIntosh has moved from Court street into the Orr house on Spruce street.

Rockland friends of "Bud" McKenney, late of the Curtis-Wright Aviation School, will be pleased to learn that he has received his pilot's license at Presque Isle.

A cluster of nine apples growing on a single stem, and all of good size is handed to The Courier-Gazette by George Ulmer of The Meadows. The tree is a wild one.

Under the original agreement Sept. 21 was the date on which daylight saving was to terminate in Rockland. Recognizing that this would work inconvenience to parents of school children in those families where the men folks work on standard time, it was decided yesterday to fix Sept. 7 as the date instead of a fortnight later. It is believed that this will be more satisfactory to all concerned.

The fact is stressed in the Dollar Day advertising that the radio to be given away is one of the beautiful Philco cabinet machines of latest model. It has been displayed in the local theatres and carried about town on a raised platform truck. It is of the low-boy style, and like all Philco consoles, is beautifully finished. It will be given away at 8 o'clock Friday night at the band concert with Mayor Richardson officiating.

The real big game of the season will be that played by Rockland and St. George at Community Park Thursday night, as the result will practically decide the championship. Simmons has his orders to go at Rockland good and hard, from the moment the first ball is pitched, and the Rockland batters have their orders to take his measure. It is said that there will not be enough people left in St. George that night to extinguish a chimney fire.

A. R. Dunton of Hope whose communications to this paper, sometimes under the signature of "Dunt," are being read with so much interest, was a visitor in the city yesterday. Mr. Dunton had very serious eye trouble during the winter, but is now making a good recovery from it, thanks to a Rockland specialist. His farm work this summer has included the cultivation of an acre of fine corn, $900 ears of which have found their way to a well known Rockland market for the delectation of local consumers.

Fine clothing for men, women and children will be sold at cost or even less at the sale now starting at the home of George Soffayer, 20 Holmes street, Rockland. He has been sick and is closing out his stock at once.—adv. 102-103

KNOX COUNTY SETS PACE

In Matter of Religious Education In Rural Communities—Ambitious Plans In the Making

Comparatively few persons are aware of the important work which is being done in this County in behalf of religious education in the rural communities. The Knox County Rural Religious Education Committee is a by-product of the Knox County Ministerial Association, and is operating under the following organization:

President—Rev. J. L. Pinkerton, Friendship.

Secretary—Rev. L. G. Perry, Rockland.

Other members—Rev. H. I. Holt, Rockport and Warren; and Rev. George H. Welch, Rockland.

Simply told, the object of this committee is to reach as many of the isolated children of Knox County as possible.

Rev. J. L. Corson has handled the field work since this mission was undertaken three years ago and for two years Miss Villa Burroughs of Lynn, Mass., supplemented his efforts. Miss Burroughs was procured through the Boston University School of Religious Education, and proved to be a trained worker of remarkable ability.

The fields thus far invaded are Hope Corner, Burkettsville, Washington, Stickney's Corner, Pleasantville, South Hope, East Union, Rockville, Clark Island and Simonton.

The original plan was to confine the work to summer schools, through which 200 children were reached last year, but the possibilities offered for work through district schools seemed too promising to be ignored, and this work was taken up with the district schools of Cushing and St. George, where at one time every child in the towns, under High School age, was under religious instruction—a 40-minute period once a week being given to each school.

The teachers reported that the deportment of the children improved very materially, and many have asked for a continuance of it. Funds for the summer school work have been furnished by the various Sunday Schools.

A Group Of Happy Children Attending a Rural Religious Summer School

Miss Ruth Conant, daughter of Alderman Ralph P. Conant has continued the work begun by Miss Burroughs, and when the school at Stickney's Corner closes tomorrow, it will mark the end of the season's endeavors. The reports from the parents are of such a glowing nature that Mr. Corson and Miss Conant feel amply repaid for the special pains which they have taken and for the time which they have devoted.

It is hoped to take up the work next April or May in the district schools, but to carry out the contemplated plans means the raising of a fund estimated at $5000. To lay such a foundation means an even more ambitious effort on the part of the committee, and one thing which it has in view is the organization of a citizens' committee made up of outstanding men and women in the county who shall assist the workers from the Knox County Ministerial Association in the laying of a financial foundation which will render it possible to all rural children through the medium of trained workers.

The experiment—although it has long since passed that stage, has been and is being watched all over the State, and Waldo County has followed suit, with a pastor engaged on the rural work at a stated salary.

The Warren Street schoolhouse is receiving its annual cleaning. Blackboards have been scraped and painted, floors oiled, chairs, desks and wastebaskets and woodwork varnished, or painted, as needed, and windows made to shine. When school opens the children should be proud to enter its portals and the cleanliness ought to be incentive to study; also to have things kept neat and orderly. The janitor, Walter Flanders has worked indefatigably during the whole vacation, doing the greater part of the task himself, and is deserving of much praise.

WALDOBORO

The Homemakers gave a successful supper at the Methodist vestry Friday.

Edward A. Trowbridge of Boston is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Emma T. Potter.

Miss Laila Waltz has returned from Portland.

Miss Isabelle Waltz and Miss Dorothea Waltz, who are passing the summer at their camp at Back Cove, have been at their home here for a week.

Miss Irma Waltz of Skowhegan is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Rowe.

Mrs. Alice S. Clark of Somerville, Mass., is visiting Mrs. J. W. Sanborn.

The local fire department was in Bangor Friday and won third prize with the Rawhedge in the contest of the State Firemen's Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hastings and Miss Gladys Hastings, who have been passing two weeks with Miss Elizabeth Genthner, have returned to Somerville, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Bailey of Philadelphia are passing a week at J. T. Gay's.

Mr. and Mrs. James Williamson and Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Palmer enjoyed a motor trip with J. V. Benner last week. They were in Brunswick and at Orr's Island, Bailey's Island, Cundy's Harbor and Dingley's Island.

The Ladies' Circle of the Baptist Church held a successful sale on the church lawn Friday afternoon. Miss Edna Young sold beautiful hand work; Mrs. H. P. Mason had charge of the aprons; Miss Helen Jones, Mrs. George Genthner and Mrs. F. S. Simmons were at the cake and candy table; Mrs. W. H. Crowell sold ice cream; Miss Blanchette Cross presided at the fish pond from which mysterious packages were drawn with hook and line. The receipts of the afternoon were about $75.

EAST SEARSMONT

Christina Hall who has been working in Belmont has returned to her home.

Mrs. Mary Thomas, 83 years of age who is visiting her daughter Mrs. Charles Heald climbed the mountain one afternoon recently and picked two quart pails of blueberries and walked back down the mountain. What lady of that age can do better?

Alvah Donnell and two children of Beverly, Mass., spent the weekend with his father H. M. Donnell.

WARREN

A telephone and light pole was snapped off and a parked truck damaged early Saturday afternoon when the brakes locked on a Chevrolet truck driven by Merrill Kallack as he came down the village hill and slid on to the cement walk by the postoffice. The truck which he hit is owned by Harold Pease of Warren.

A pedestrian narrowly escaped being run down. The Central Maine crew lost no time in repairs and many watched them as they cut the wires and lowered the fragment of pole to the ground.

The annual Men's supper will be served at the Congregational Church Thursday. George W. Walker is the chairman of the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mayhew of Glen Ridge, N. J., who are summering at South Hapswell spent several days at Hilltop Inn last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rieser and daughter Rosamond who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Starrett left Monday. Mrs. Rieser is going to Connecticut. Mrs. Rieser and Rosamond to Bradford, Mass., to visit relatives for a time.

Miss Harriet and Miss Susan Stevens, Mrs. Mary Louie, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mayhew, Rev. David Burgh, Mrs. Ellis Spear Jr., Mrs. E. S. Spear and Miss Sadie Moxham motored Tuesday to Bar Harbor.

A. B. Davis and son of Rindge, N. H., have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Starrett, Middle Road.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stone of South Portland were guests of Mrs. Edwin Emerson the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lawrence and family of Rockland entertained the following guests at the Baptist Circle supper Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. Winslow, New York, Mrs. Edwin Emerson and daughter Raychel, and Mr. and Mrs. George Stone of South Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Starrett, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Starrett, Mrs. Arthur E. Starrett and son Wayne were among those who were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stoddard of Rockland at their cottage at Ash Point for a "weekend" Friday night. Pitching horseshoes, cards and stunts followed the picnic supper that was served at the shore.

The congregation of both the Baptist and Congregational churches were fortunate to hear Miss Raychel Emerson sing the oratorio "Rest in the Lord" at the Baptist Church Sunday evening and the oratorio, "I Will Extol Thee, Oh Lord," at the Congregational Church for the morning worship. Miss Emerson was accompanied by Mrs. Pauline Rieser, a musician of unusual ability.

Invitations have been received for the wedding and reception of Miss Helena E. Hinkley of Millbridge to Hiram Moody of South Portland to be held at the First Congregational Church at Millbridge at 4 o'clock Aug. 30. Thomaston Tub Squirts Farthest In Its Class—Gen. Berry Gets a Piece of the Prize Money

Two Knox County handbuds came back from the Bangor muster last Friday night with brooms waving, the R. H. Counce of Thomaston having won first prize in Class 2 and the Gen. Berry of Rockland having won third in Class 1. The story of the muster was thus told in Saturday's Bangor Daily News:

A difficult cross wind and a leaky reservoir made the hand-tub contest, the feature of the last day of the fair, a real sporting event for the crews of the seven tubs entered. The adverse conditions were such a handicap that no tub was able to show up to good advantage.

The Torrent of Lubec, pumping for the first time since 1908, took first place in class one with a play of 164 feet, 11½ inches. To the R. H. Counce of Thomaston, went the first prize in class two with a play of 154 feet 7½ inches.

The tubs were scheduled to be set on the track to the west of the grandstand and the play was to be made in front of the grandstand but at the last minute it was found necessary to change the location of the tank and pumps as the tank was leaking so badly that sticky mud on the track made conditions almost impossible. The nozzles and paper were left where they were and the tubs were moved inside the oval on the grass ground. Despite this fact the water from the reservoir so flooded the ground that many of the firemen removed shoes and stockings and carried out their duties barefoot.

A wind blowing directly across the track broke up the stream from the nozzles so that the contest became one to determine who could best judge the moment when the breeze would die down and have a crew ready to take advantage of the lull. The usual 15 minutes was allowed to get set, play for distance and make way for the next tub.

The part the breeze bore in the affair is shown by the fact that the little Counce, with less than a six inch cylinder threw a stream over 154 feet while the class one Torrent and the Senator Baxter, both with cylinders nine inches or more were the only ones in the larger class to out throw the Torrent.

For the members of the Torrent crew this muster was in the nature of a reunion. Not since 1908 had the tub been to a muster and fully 70 per cent of the crew that went at that time entered again for what will without doubt be the last muster for the veterans. It brought the largest number of any tub, with a crew of 72 members.

Among the active men at the play-off was William Story, 83, the oldest active fireman in Maine. Mr. Story who has served continuously for more than 60 years, set a mark that was hard for some of the younger men to equal when he marched the entire distance from Hammond street to Exchange, to the Railroad station, State and down Main to the Fair grounds during the parade in the forenoon. During the entire march he carried his post brass nozzle, a fifteen-pound affair which he would trust in no other hands.

The officials at the meet were: Scorer, Edward W. Vaughan, Bath; timer, Robert Cosgrove, Gardiner; judges, Charles Lawry, Rockland, George Hunt Randolph, Frank Fortier, Bath, Ernest Gray, Thomaston, Chester McKay, Bath, Frank H. Turner, Bath and Van Russell, Rockland.

The prizes were $100, $75, $50 and $25 in each class. The results:

Class One
Torrent, Lubec, 1st, 164 feet 11½ inches.
Senator Baxter, Bath, 2nd, 155 feet 3¼ inches.

Class Two
Blaw Bessee, Waldoboro, 3d, 133 feet 10½ inches.
Gen. Berry, Rockland, 4th, 127 feet 7½ inches.

Class Three
R. H. Counce, No. 2, Thomaston, 1st, 154 feet 7½ inches.
Androscooggin No. 2, Topsham, 2nd, 152 feet 1¼ inches.
Hecla No. 1, Randolph, 3d, 140 feet 8½ inches.

VINALHAVEN

Mrs. and Mrs. Ivan Poole returned Thursday from their honeymoon motor trip and are occupying Mrs. Poole's (Ruth Smith's) former home at Lane's Island.

At the home of their uncle O. P. Lyons are Mrs. Mary Daniels and Mrs. Jerold O'Donnell and baby Suzanne of Medford who arrived Saturday. Mr. Lyons received a surprise call Thursday from Mr. and Mrs. William Daley and son William of Medford, Mass.

Curtiss and Kenneth Webster of Pleasant River Grange attended the meeting of Knox Pomona at Crescent Beach Saturday. They also spent the weekend with friends in Camden.

A proof that our townpeople appreciate and enjoy a first class "talkie" was the nearly full house the first night of "Sunny Side Up," a matinee and a very good sized audience the second night. There were favorite stars with the support of a fine company.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Fossett, Miss Avis Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John P. West, daughters Janet and Ruth and a friend, Mr. MacDonald of Boston, were guests of Mrs. Ella Ames at the Ames' farm Thursday. Mr. West and family were entertained Friday at See All, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Carver. The Wests returned Saturday to Boston.

Louise Morong of Rockport is guest of Mrs. T. E. Libby.

Mrs. Alfred Orcutt was in Rockland Saturday to accompany home her daughter Miss Helen who has been for several weeks at Knox Hospital following an operation for tonsillitis and adenoids. Miss Lila Greenland spent the weekend in Rockland.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clark of Portland have been at the Wilson bungalow the past week during his vacation.

Mrs. Edward Condon and daughters Gertrude of Ardmore, Pa., who have been guests of Mrs. Condon's mother Mrs. Elizabeth Urquhart, left Friday to visit in Massachusetts. Her mother, formerly Rose Condon of Vinalhaven, and her daughters are anticipating an extensive European tour and are to leave Boston the last of this month. Further mention will be made of their trip.

A committee of Union Church workers have arranged as a Labor Day celebration a sale of holiday food specialties including sandwiches, cake and lemonade, candy, etc., and will offer a musical program for entertainment. The above plan will enable those who desire an opportunity to get a lunch before going to the ball game.

Rev. W. J. Hutchinson of Cleveland preached at Union Church Sunday morning and evening and impressed his listeners deeply with his well chosen words apt illustrations and manner of delivery. Mrs. Blanche Hamilton Kittredge was soloist with Nell Calderwood at the piano.

Union Church Circle supper will be held Thursday this week at the usual time 5.30.

THOMASTON FINDS ITSELF

And Rockland's Pennant Chances Go a-Glimmering—
St. George Team Is Sitting Pretty

The League Standing

Statisticians who have been striving for several days to straighten out the Twilight League standing yesterday reached the conclusion on which the appended figures are based. Manager Rawley is under the impression that St. George has won 11 games, and this is as published in Saturday's issue. Taking into account last night's game, which was wrought with such disastrous consequences for Rockland, the standing, as presented to this paper, is:

Won	Lost	P.C.
St. George	10	5
Rockland	9	8
Camden	6	9
Thomaston	6	9

We shall be very glad to make correction if this is found erroneous.

The Rockland Pirates split a double-header at Community Park Sunday afternoon by defeating the White Head and Burnt Island Coast Guards team 6 to 3, and then losing to the Keag team 7 to 5 in seven innings. But for the Pirates' blunder of five runs in the third inning of the first game off Kent the contest was a pitcher's duel between Ran Hopkins, who relieved Kent, and Chummy Gray, Pirate pitcher. The Pirates blew up in the final inning of the last game enough to sew it up for the Keag. Hopkins did the ironman stunt pitching in both games. The scores:

Thomaston 4, Rockland 1. Rockland's hopes of overhauling St. George in the Knox County Twilight League received a severe setback last night when the home team wilted before the rejuvenated Thomastonians.

Three singles summarized the home team's attack on pitcher Feehan, and one of those was very scratchy. "Tip" has been out of the game several weeks on account of an injured knee, but last night there was certainly nothing the matter with his arm or his headwork. Jones' men ate out of the hollow of his hand, and found it very slim diet. The solitary score made by Rockland was due to a pass with the bases filled.

A single by Feehan and three passes in the first inning, netted Thomaston half of its runs, the others being made in the fifth on singles by Condon, Hinckley and Tripp, with a wild throw stirred in.

It was a different Thomaston team which appeared on the field last night, and went to show that it would have been a real threat this season had not injuries put two of its best men out of

SIXTY YEARS MARRIED

"Sam" Doe Homestead At The Highlands the Scene of Another Happy and Important Occasion

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Doe of The Highlands observed their 60th wedding anniversary, which in these changing times is a "long time married." Open house was kept and Mr. and Mrs. Doe were very happy in the reception of friends.

This couple have passed 60 years of married life more happily and closely than falls to the average lot.

hardest labor on the farm and in the home, an efficient housekeeper, expert with the needle, and always a devoted mother.

Four children were born to them, an infant who died at birth, the daughter Nettie and son Ernest who died after reaching adult age; and the daughter, Merle, now Mrs. Russell Bartlett, who with her husband and

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Doe, the Sixtieth Anniversary of Whose Marriage Was Celebrated Yesterday With Open House At Their Highlands Home and have seen many changes take place in those years, not only the evolution from stage coach days but in their own everyday lives.

Mr. Doe, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Doe of China, as a boy came to Waldoboro where his father maintained a tanning factory. It was at Waldoboro where his marriage to Ella Gilpatrick, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilpatrick of Washington, took place, and only a short time thereafter that his work brought him to Rockland during the time the Maine Central Railroad was being put in.

He was driving team then, and was so successful with his sturdy horses that he stayed on, finally driving limberock teams before the days of the Lime Rock Railroad.

The home was made here in Rockland, and after a time a milk route of pretentious proportions was established. A sand and gravel bank was opened to supply material for road building and other local purposes.

Mr. Doe comes of hardy stock and has always been a hard working man. Despite his 79 years he is a fine physical specimen today, with mind alert and faculties undimmed. He will attain his 80th birthday Christmas day. While he has always maintained an interest in civic welfare, he has taken no active part in politics, and does not belong to any secret orders. His life has always been centered in his home and his work, giving to them his best interests and strivings.

Mrs. Doe, like her husband, comes of sturdy New England stock. Her grandmother was a bride who, on horseback with her husband, blazed a trail for the new home—pioneer stock that has built the foundations of the American people. Mrs. Doe who was 78 in July has been a helpmeet in the truest sense of the word, standing by her husband's side through all their children makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Doe, Mr. Bartlett assisting in carrying on the work of the farm.

The Doe homestead, which has been occupied by them for many years, is one of the most attractive spots in the city. A large white house, it occupies a prominent site just outside the city proper, with many farm buildings adjacent and wide green fields stretching from it. The home has always been a gathering place for the young. Many are the men and women who turn their memory back to the days when they as children attended house parties, sliding and skating parties, candy pulls, amateur theatricals and so on at the Doe home. It has always been "open house," and their hospitable friendliness has won them countless friends who were happy at this time to offer their congratulations and best wishes for their 60th wedding anniversary.

The Sea View Garage was a busy place Monday. Over 75 persons drove over the course in the Gasoline Derby the first day. The car was on the go constantly with drivers waiting their turn at the starting point.

People of this vicinity more than justified the management's belief that such a contest would prove interesting. Up until the early part of the evening Miss Ruth Williams had high mileage with 3.6 miles to the pint. E. L. Baker broke the record turning in a fine mileage of 3.55. These are not exceptionally high and some one is bound to break them.

The ladies are showing the proper spirit and hung up mileages which made some of the men look envious.—adv.

We restless Americans still believe that there's no place like home, but we first want to make a practical investigation of the matter.—Arkansas Gazette.

The birthday anniversary of H. Nelson McDougall received recognition Saturday evening, when a group of friends invaded the McDougall cottage at Megunticook Lake and gave that startled gentleman the surprise of his life. Fortunately the other members of the family were not ignorant of the planned surprise, so that the essential feature of supper under the direction of Mrs. McDougall was admirably provided for and appreciatively discussed by the visitors. The anniversary was further observed by a number of gifts of appropriate character which accentuated the surprise of the occasion, but which their recipient was able to acknowledge and to add his appreciation of the friendship that had inspired the evening's recognition by his friends. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Wotton, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Pillsbury, Mrs. Eltona Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. TALK OF THE TOWN

Charles L. Vezale, register of probate, attended a radio convention in Portland Saturday.

Last week's prizes at Carr's bowling alleys were awarded thus: V. Norton, 151; Goodwin, 124; G. Shute, 117; H. Newbert and Abbott, 115.

The picnic of the Ruth Mayhew Tent is to be at Hobbs Pond Friday. Members are to meet Friday forenoon at 10 o'clock at Grand Army hall.

Ex-Gov. Ralph O. Brewster is to open a law office in Bangor the coming week, and will be located in the Eastern Trust & Banking Co.'s building.

The assistant engineers of the Fire Department are selling a whole flock of tickets for their annual ball, Friday night, "Stick" Smith and his orchestra, with Bert Libby band artist on the side, will do the musical honors.

A Rockland athlete broke into the editorial columns of the Bangor News the other day. This is what it said: "Charles Wotton, Rockland baseball player and all round athlete, broke a toe while trying to put on his pants the other day. Recalls the drowning in a shallow pool, down in Washington County some years ago of a man who had sailed 'round the world four times, and the remarkable case of the New York Hippodrome acrobat who, after performing dizzy feats for years on the stage, broke his leg by falling out of a kitchen chair."

On Friday at 2 p. m. I am going to give away sixteen gallons Gilson's house paint. The first prize being 6 gallons, 2nd prize 4 gallons, 3d prize 3 gallons, 4th prize 2 gallons, 5th prize, 1 gallon, absolutely free. Be sure and be at the store Friday and you will be the lucky person. Goni's. 102-103.

Ow's Head Inn is to remain open until the last of next month, so successful is the season proving at that institution.

The Registration Board begins its sessions tomorrow. The hours will be 9 to 11 a. m. and 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m., standard.

St. George is playing Thomaston tonight at Community Park, and will undertake to strengthen its pennant position by winning.

Mrs. Edward W. Bok has donated $100 to the fund which is being raised in Portland for the family of the slain policeman, Michael T. Connolly.

Charles K. Philbrick, manager of the Dark Harbor telephone exchange, was in the city over Sunday, returning from Lamoine, where he attended a field meeting of telephone employees.

Reginald, little son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Drew, fell from the piazza Friday, and sprained one of his ankles. The past few days he has been visiting his grandmother, Mrs. W. F. Drew, in Belfast.

Henry Johnson of Warren street, has torn down the old barn which has stood on the premises for so many years, and intends building a smaller one to adjoin the house. The foundation of the old structure was giving way, after doing service for 90 years or more, although much of the timber boards, etc., were perfectly sound, and can be used in the reconstructed building. The place was the property of Nathaniel Beverage, father of the late Henry Beverage, from whom Mr. Johnson bought it. During the lifetime of the elder Mr. Beverage, cows were kept in the old barn and some of the older residents of the neighborhood well remember buying milk there at 5 cents a quart.

HARVARD STAR IS FINED

After Auto Accident In Thomaston, Resulting In Broken Leg For Police Officer De Long

George N. Talbot, 2d, one of Harvard's football stars, appeared in a new role, and a defensive one, Saturday, when hailed before Recorder Walter H. Butler in Rockland Municipal Court on the charge of reckless driving.

Talbot, whose home is in Hingham, Mass., was returning early Saturday morning to a camp where he is employed as councillor, accompanied by Clifford Massey of Manchester, Conn.

As he neared the point where the new road construction begins in Thomaston, he saw a truck on the right side of the road, headed toward Rockland. About the same time he saw a light which he supposed to be on an approaching car, but which subsequently proved to be a lantern on the arm of Harold De Long, who was doing police duty on the road job.

Talbot turned his car sharply to the right and it turned onto the newly completed section of cement road, but the driver remained in ignorance of the fact that the rear of his car had struck anybody, until he went back to learn what had happened.

According to the testimony of Mr.

Blake driver of the A. & P. truck which was standing in the highway, Talbot's Ford touring car was coming down the stretch at a 40-mile clip, and never slackened an inch as it passed within three or four feet of the truck.

De Long who had been standing at the rear wheel of the truck talking with Blake, was walking away when the Ford came onto the scene and was knocked unconscious. Another car, which came along later, took the victim to Knox Hospital, where it was found that his left leg had been broken.

Talbot and his companion went to Knox Hospital soon after De Long had been removed to it.

Talbot said that he was driving about 30 miles an hour before he reached the new construction. When the watchman's lantern was suddenly disclosed he mistook it for a light on an approaching car.

Recorder Butler fined the respondent $50 and costs, emphasizing as he did so the fact that Talbot was thoroughly familiar with the condition of the highway and should have been exercising greater caution. No appeal was taken.

"ON MY SET"

Fair weather Wednesday.

Excellent reception again last night, with many stations in evidence.

Lon Chaney, motion picture star, and John R. Gordon, U. S. Shipping Board fame, died this morning.

I shall never ask for better radio reception than that of Saturday and Sunday nights. The volume and tone were above reproach, and the boys who listen in to the Sunday afternoon ball games must have been well pleased.

A rich treat for music lovers was afforded by the international broadcast of Saturday night when 2000 trained voices were heard in chorus selections at Toronto, the program including compositions by Bach and Handel as well as Canadian folk songs. Hard to believe that this impressive music was coming all the way from Toronto.

Friday evening, 10:30 to 11, the Fast Freight program will be presented: On a sight-seeing tour of the automobile center of the world, the organizer and guest, vens and recalls the great power of her wonderful personality when she presided over the convention in Dover in 1903.

I wonder how many of you heard the General Electric Bands rendition of "The Glow Worm," Saturday night. Glorious!

Two popular songs are having strong rivalry just now. One is "When It's Springtime In The Rockies," The other is "Somewhere In Old Wyoming." Both are very pleasing.

My friend Francis Harrington, home from Hartford, told me Saturday night that I must not fail to hear the New York American globe-trotter in his mighty news review. I heeded his injunction and felt well repaid. This man presents a wonderful review, and Floyd Gibbons has nothing on him for speed.

Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics, one of the grand old game's finest organizers, who brought seven American league pennants and four world championships to Philadelphia, will be interviewed over the Coca-Cola Hour broadcast via WEEI tomorrow evening at 10:30.

The Bird Song from "Pagliacci" will be sung by Olive Palmer, soprano of the Palmolive Hour tomorrow evening at 9:30 over WEEI. Olive Palmer, who in real life is Virginia Rea, is said to be the highest paid featured soloist in radio work, receiving $500 each night she sings in the Palmolive Hour.

STRAND THEATRE

A girl of "common clay" who becomes the plaything of forces too strong for her and whose efforts toward rehabilitation and happiness only entangle her more deeply in the web of Fate—such is the grippingly dramatic theme of "Common Clay," featuring Constance Bennett and Lew Ayres at the Strand today, Wednesday and Thursday.

The picture opens with Miss Bennett as a "hostess" in a speakeasy; not inherently vicious, but a girl who loves pleasure and gaiety and dancing, and who has taken the easiest way to secure these.

An unexpected vice-squad raid brings her into jail, where she listens contritely to a kindly judge's lectures and decides to "go straight." She obtains a position as a maid in the home of one of the city's most prominent families—only to find conditions but little improved over those in the speakeasy.

Both the butler and the young heir of the house make unwelcome advances and when the latter is almost convinced that she "isn't that kind," his pal, who has known her previously, tells him what he knows. This news leads the other to commence a cautious campaign of love-making, which only terminates when, the summer vacation over, he returns to college leaving behind him a girl who has learned to love him too well.

When her baby comes, the girl does not want money; she demands justice—a name for the child. Her past record is brought out, whereupon she insists on a trial to settle the matter. The unexpected revelations that ensue at the hearing and the subsequent climax at the attorney's office the next day form one of the most dramatic endings in screen history—adv.

NEW KIND OF YACHT

An order for a Diesel-electric yacht, the first of its kind to be constructed in this country, has been placed with the Bath Iron Works by a prominent New York broker and yachtsman whose name was withheld by the naval architects, Henry J. Gielow, Inc.

The yacht, to be 148 feet overall, will carry a pair of 400-horsepower Diesel engines connected to generators which in turn furnish the power for the propulsion motors operating on twin screws to develop a cruising speed of 14 knots. She will have a beam of 24 feet 10 inches and a draft of 8 feet and 6 inches.

In overall appearance, it will have a single deckhouse on the boat deck and two on the main deck, so arranged that unbroken sheer lines carry back from stem to stern. The forward house on the main deck will include the dining saloon and the pantry while the aft house will contain the owner's private stateroom with bath and wardrobe and a large living saloon in the after end. The steel house on the boat deck will include the pilot house and the captain's stateroom. Quarters for guests on the cabin deck will consist of three staterooms, three bathrooms and a large sitting room.

All exterior woodwork will be of teak, including the decks, bulwark rails, skylights and window trims, while the inside main rooms will be finished in selected hardwoods. Auxiliary equipment to be carried will consist of a Sperry gyroscopic compass, a gyroscopic pilot, a radio direction finder, mechanical refrigeration, a thermofan system for heating, cooling and ventilating, a hot and cold water system, throughout the yacht, and in addition, the usual array of compasses and signal devices.

We can't quite understand Mr. Coolidge. A few months ago he said he wanted to be known as "a former President who tries to mind his own business." And now he's a newspaper man.—New York Evening Post.

THE OLD GARRISON HOUSE

Relic of Troublous Times On the Old Burton Farm, Where Mackay Station Is Located

Capt. Benjamin Burton, the first owner of the Burton farm in Cushing, on which is located the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company station, arrived at St. Georges River in 1736 when he was 27 years of age. He married Alice Lewis in Ireland, by whom he had 11 children. His father Benjamin died on the passage from Ireland to the St. Georges river settlement.

In 1754 a block house of stone was erected by Capt. Burton, which he occupied with his family. To render it a more complete protection from the Indians it was surrounded by pickets. March 24, 1756, the Indian tribes made a furious attack upon this fortification which was commanded by their inveterate enemy whom, if possible, they were determined to slay.

By hard fighting and skilful tactics they were repulsed. Not, however, until they killed two men, scalped another and left him nearly dead. It is related that one of his daughters, who imbibed the spirit and courage of her father, often in the absence of a garrison would stand guard on the top of the fortress while her father was laboring in the field.

On the 20th of March, 1763 this unflinching soldier, who had passed through two wars, perished in his boat while going from the fort at Thomaston to his home. On the afternoon of that day he had some controversy with Capt. North, who had command at the fort at Thomaston and started home when the temperature was touching the zero point. The ice formed so quickly that he was unable to make any progress, or land on the shore.

The next morning his boat was discovered near McCarter's Point, and upon investigation the old warrior was found frozen to death. After his death the command of the stone garrison house was taken over by his son Col. Benjamin Burton. Between 1815 and 1820 the old garrison house was taken down much to the regret of many of the people living in that vicinity, and more so by the local poet who expressed his regret in the Antiquary's Remonstrance.

The new owners of the property on which the site of the old garrison house is located, will perpetuate the historical spot with a suitable marker. Excavations made by the Mackay company's crew revealed an inclosure 30 feet square with a passage-way leading to the water.

The men also found some bones, but these were reverently restored to the earth from which they had been taken.

Historian Frank B. Miller, who is responsible for the above information, also provided the appended and appropriate poem:

THE ANTIQUARY'S REMONSTRANCE

Forbear, and pull not down that pile! Though it lurks the reptile vile! Though lizards creep along the floor, And pole-cats scintillate the door, In hall and ladder bats are prowling, And night winds through the casement howling.

Though owls are hooting from the roof, No longer light or water proof; And nightly from the window all Croaks the ill boding whelp-poor-will Though moss has covered every stone, And thistles round the threshold grown; Though adders crawl from out the wall Already tottering to its fall!

Yet spare, for my sake, spare awhile, And pull not down the aged pile. To shield our sires from savage foes, And fancies from the structure rose; And fancy calls from every stone Some tragic deed of ages flown, And stalwart forms are here contending, And beauty's shriek to heaven ascending; The tomahawk and falchion clash, While the deep woods afar repeat The shout of onset or the cry of flight, And dying groans without, within, Bring up the rear of battle's din, And mother's sighs and orphan's cries Go up in concert to the skies.

Then spare, oh spare a little while, And pull not down the wizard pile. The tribes that fought have passed away; Fell are the woods that owned their sway; Their power is gone, their bow is broke, Their smothered fires no longer smoke; Or if at times, a feeble few In light canoes their way pursue, They find the river choked and dammed, With wharves, and mills, and factories crammed; And meet, instead of bears and beavers, Whole troops of spinners, smiths, and weavers While lime kilns gleam along the shore Where baleful camp-fires gleamed before, And vessels hold the waters hold, Numerous as birch canoes of old, Then spare, for their sakes, spare awhile, And pull not down the crumbling pile!

For when he sees this ancient wall, Which flattered many a vengeful hall, The Indian feels himself again— The owner of this broad domain— Son of the mighty Tarratine, Whom Madockwando and Castine Led forth to many a bloody field, And forced his proudest foe to yield, Strong was his arm, his heart was great, His stroke was death, his anger fate; And his descendant here forgets His present wrongs, his past regrets; And hears once more the cataract's roar And mose's hoof-clink as of yore, Then spare, for his sake, spare awhile, And pull not down the ponderous pile!

"Bucko Mate" Negligent

The "bucko mate" of fiction who rules his crew with fists of iron is not in tune with the modern mode, according to a ruling by the United States Supreme Court. The court held that assault on a seaman by a foreman to reprimand him for tardiness and to compel him to work was "negligence" within the Federal Employer's Liability Act.

DUE TO THE PRESS

Radio Owes a Great Deal To the Newspapers, Says Dr. De Forest

In view of the fact that the family of Dr. Lee De Forest is spending the summer at Ash Point—and has for several years—the following dispatch under date of Toronto, Aug. 18, will be read with special interest here.

"The debt of radio broadcasting to the newspaper 'is beyond all computation,' Dr. Lee De Forest, pioneer inventor, told the annual convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers which opened here Monday.

"Decrying what he described as 'the use of broadcast for direct and blatant advertising,' Dr. De Forest, delivering his address as president of the institute, stressed the part the daily press played in popularizing broadcasting.

"Radio's debt to the newspaper for daily program notices, program reviews and for the generous radio sections is beyond all computation. Unquestionably it was this astonishing interest on the part of the press in broadcasting during its early struggling ten years ago which alone enabled it to survive those crucial years until an awakened popular interest made radio self-supporting. I sincerely feel that the debt will be partially repaid only when certain forms of advertising most ill-suited for radio's medium go to the printed sheet."

"The influence of radio on the press has now become profound while its inherent limitations will never permit it to supplant newspaper extras on prize fight results, and has shown a curtailment of interest in baseball news. But radio has this limitation, that it must present its programs when the broadcasting choose and not when the listeners desire it."

Turning to the question of broadcast advertising, Dr. De Forest said that in his inaugural address last January he sought "to point out a very real danger to the fullest usefulness and enjoyment which radio has power to confer, a menace steadily growing greater, more ruthless, more deserving of suspicion and more generally detested—the use of the broadcast for direct and blatant advertising in larger and longer doses. Subsequent observation and active inquiry has convinced me that the warning to the radio industry then sounded was not a needless fear."

"If we consider the prosperity of the industry alone," he continued, "we engineers, dependent on radio for our livelihood, have ample ground for emphatic protest. But there are higher considerations—the thought that short-sighted avarice is at work to curtail the usefulness, the beneficence of radio in the home, in the school, as a means of entertainment, of education, of uplift generally. Unless the evil is voluntarily cured we are headed straight for government regulation."

"Already certain states are framing radio taxation measures. Canada has followed her mother country and levies a tax on each radio receiver. "Unless the present deplorable conditions are remedied they will hasten the entry of wired-radio in our homes entertainment freed from interference, static, fading and purged of all advertising."

AN OPEN LETTER

To the Voters of Rockland:—

I am a candidate for election as Representative to Legislature from the City of Rockland, on the Democratic ticket.

My employment with a nation-wide system of theatres makes it necessary for me to travel over a large part of New England, and it will be impossible for me to devote any time to personal campaigning at home. Nevertheless, Rockland is my home, and it is and will continue to be my voting residence; and I shall continue to be devoted to Rockland and its interests.

I should consider it an honor and a privilege to represent the city in the coming Legislature, and to work for such proposed legislation as promises to benefit Rockland.

My opponent for the office, in his advertisements, claims a brilliantly successful business administration. Mayor of Rockland. This was before I moved to the city, and I have no first-hand knowledge of events of that period. The older citizens will doubtless remember. For myself, I have had no opportunity so far to serve my city in any political office, and this will make me doubly anxious to make a good record.

I PLEDGE MYSELF

1. To work persistently for any measure that will directly benefit Rockland or Knox County.
 2. To support any measure that will tend, without injury to the business interests of Maine, to relieve the State from the domination and exploitation of selfish foreign interests.
 3. To work for a radical change in the State Highway Department, substitute business methods for political bargaining, and urge the building of permanent, connected and economical roads.
 4. To favor fish and game legislation designed to protect and aid the average fisherman and hunter, rather than for the exclusive benefit of wealthy sportsmen.
 5. To fight for economy and reduction of waste in every department of State government.
- I hope to have your votes, and to deserve them.

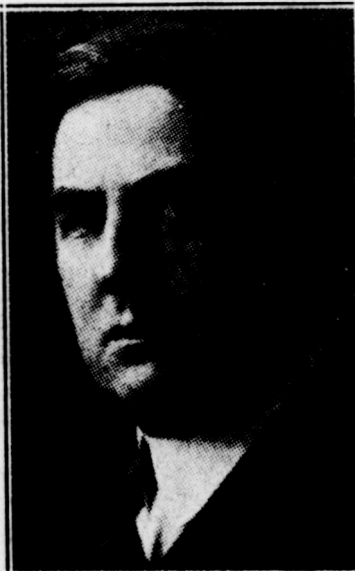

Respectfully yours,

EUROPE IS WORRIED

Over the Spread of Prohibition Sentiment, Mrs. Althea Quimby Says

Prohibition in the United States is having two effects on other countries, especially the wine producing countries, said Mrs. Althea G. Quimby, State president of the W. C. T. U., speaking at the annual field meeting at Old Orchard. One effect, Mrs. Quimby explained, is to cause the wine producing countries to organize to fight prohibition, and the second is that many countries are being awakened to securing the law for themselves.

Recently the disturbing announcement was made in the French Chamber of Deputies by Edouard Barthé, leader of the wine growers' block in that body, that there has been discovered in French school books certain paragraphs condemning wine drinking and highly commending the prohibition law of the United States. Among the passages that aroused the wrath of the wine growers was the following:

"The United States has forbidden the sale of alcoholic, fermented and distilled drinks. That is, it has proscribed even wine, beer and cider."

Accounts filed for notice: Estates Albertine Wincapaw, first and final, Elbridge A. Wincapaw Exx.; Angeline S. Upham, first and final, George Shalom Exx.; Katie M. Gay, first and final, Cora K. Carleton Exx.; Charles S. Coombs, fourth, Edward D. Spear, trustee.

France could not adopt such rigorous methods. One must admire without reserve the vigorous people—the United States who have had the courage to attain complete prohibition by sacrificing private interests to general interests. They will see later what a strong race physically and morally their civic virtues will have prepared."

So indignant were the wine-growers that the minister of public instruction was compelled to revise the book.

The international wine office of Paris, an association of 14 governments of wine producing countries, is growing worried. They are working harder to promote their business than ever before. They frankly admit that it is because they now have to fight a certain intangible thing called, for the lack of better expression, the "prohibition mentality."

The germ of this "mentality" came from America, but it is spreading like an epidemic over the civilized world. It is causing men and women to study the actual effects of alcohol on the human system and society. The wine growers view it with increasing alarm.

Mrs. Quimby outlined the educational work fostered by the W. C. T. U. in this country. It promoted juvenile societies and was ultimately successful in having temperance instruction introduced into the schools. In 1887 Congress passed the National Temperance educational law providing temperance instruction for all schools under Federal control. After this state after state passed a similar law.

Mrs. Quimby referred to the attacks which are being made on the prohibitory law but maintained her faith in this young and vigorous nation to keep to the course which it has chosen. She felt the women of the country, with few exceptions, have taken a firm stand for prohibition. The General Federation of Women's Clubs at its biennial convention in Denver, by an overwhelming majority and with great enthusiasm, placed itself on record as convinced that "prohibition offers the best method of curbing the liquor traffic."

Other women's organizations have taken the same step, and this, the speaker felt, all goes to prove that the 19th amendment will safeguard the 18th amendment.

Referring to state referendums on prohibition enforcement codes, Mrs. Quimby mentioned the failure of the liquor interests to secure referendums in North Dakota, Colorado or California. Some people who read the newspapers take it for granted that public sentiment is turning against the dry law.

As a matter of fact, of what victories can the liquor interests really boast? How many societies have they won over? The results of the primaries, with the sole exception of New Jersey, showed that the dry sentiment was very strong, for state after state nominated dry Congressmen. New Jersey did as it has always done, and voted for a wet to succeed a wet.

In closing Mrs. Quimby made a plea for the protection of the fifty million boys and girls under 21 years of age in this country by safeguarding them from the snares and pitfalls offered by the legalized sale of liquor. The Eighteenth Amendment, she said, is the best safeguard for these young people.

Patient: "Well, you pulled me through."

Doctor (modestly): "It was the work of Providence."

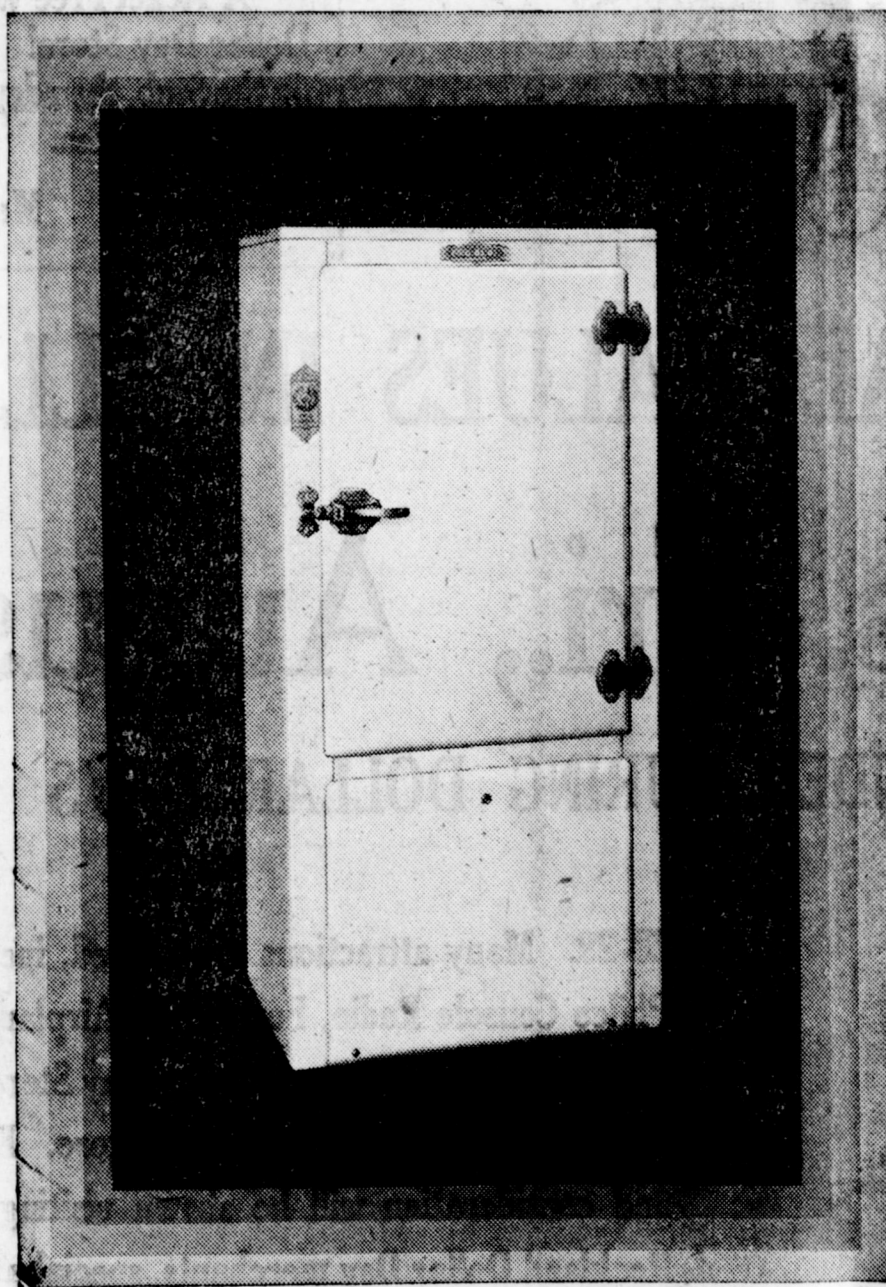

"Yes, but you'll charge for it."

Announcing my appointment as Frigidaire dealer for Rockland and Waldoboro

It gives me great pleasure to announce that I have been awarded the franchise for Frigidaire . . . the refrigerator that has won worldwide popularity by offering the proved dependable performance of a "Product of General Motors."

Beginning today, I will have a complete display of the latest household Frigidaire . . . including the new G-3 and G-4 models now being presented throughout the country.

Come in and see this beautiful Frigidaire. The cabinet is lustrous glacier-gray Porcelain-on-steel inside and out. It's equipped with the "Cold Control" . . . the device that has made Frigidaire famous for quick freezing of ice and deserts.

And the G-3 Frigidaire has a quiet, powerful mechanical unit that is entirely enclosed. Shelves are elevated to a convenient height and afford 4½ square feet of storage space. The freezing trays are self-sealing. The top of the cabinet is smooth, flat and usable.

Here is a Frigidaire in all that the name implies in efficiency, long life and low operating cost. Yet it is offered at the lowest price in Frigidaire history . . . only $157.50 installed. And you can select your own terms . . . as little down as you wish to pay, the balance arranged to suit your convenience. Stop in and see this new Frigidaire . . . and the other household models now being displayed. See a complete demonstration. Call at your first opportunity.

Mayor Richardson's Message

It is a real pleasure to extend the courtesy and welcome of the city on behalf of the merchants to the visitors during Dollar Days. Out of consideration of these guests all parking rules are suspended for Thursday and Friday, August 28-29, though in the interests of the general good it is respectfully suggested that all refrain from parking in front of hydrants.

The latch string is out and we hope the happiness of these days will be taken advantage of to the fullest.

C. M. Richardson, Mayor.

PARKING RULES SUSPENDED DURING DOLLAR DAYS

The dates for that great shopping event which Eastern Maine people eagerly await each summer, Rockland Dollar Days, have been set for August 28 and 29. This year's mid-summer festival of values is being sponsored by the Rockland merchants who will participate. And the fact that nearly every store and shop in Rockland, from the smallest to the largest, will cooperate in the 1930 Dollar Days indicates that this will be the merchandising event of the year in Eastern Maine. Make your plans now to shop in Rockland on one or both of these days, August

28-29. Many attractions are offered, including a Free Philco Console Radio, Forty Free Airplane Rides, Free Gifts and Samples at many Dollar Day Stores and Smashing Bargains at Every Dollar Day Store. Every courtesy and consideration will be shown visiting shoppers by Rockland Dollar Day merchants, special attractions will be offered at both theatres and all the restaurants will offer special menus and entertainment features. HAPPY YOUNG FOLKS

Burkettville Four - Aichers Have a Delightful Picnic In Liberty

One of the outstanding 4-H club picnics this year was held by the W.A.L.U. club of Burkettville, Wednesday, at Marshall Shores in Liberty. Eighteen of the 22 club members were present, with 10 visitors.

Swimming and horseshoe, and races were enjoyed with a picnic lunch on the shore at noon. Frances Pierpont won first place in the 50 yard dash, the bag race, with Delphy Light in three-legged race, Cecile Sukeforth won first place in the boys' bag race, 50-yard dash and with Kenneth Ripley in the three-legged race.

During the afternoon a club meeting was held to check up on the work completed, to plan for field day, Union fair and local contest.

Mrs. Ella Grinnell is the enthusiastic leader of the club and she was assisted at this picnic by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Light.

WASHINGTON

All of our girls who attended summer school at University of Maine arrived home last week.

W. E. Baker and family from Bloomfield, N. J., who were guests of Frank Sukeforth for two weeks, returned to their home Aug. 15, accompanied by Mr. Sukeforth, who will be their guest for a few weeks.

Grevis Payson of East Union, and Miss Marguerite Lincoln, were callers on Miss Clara MacDowell Tuesday evening.

The class of 1927 Washington High School motored to Ash Point Aug. 17 where they held their first reunion. A very enjoyable day was spent with a clam bake, picnic dinner and water sports. Those present all agreed that it was great fun to be together as a class again. We are hoping that other classes in years to come will follow their example. Those present were Marguerite Lincoln, Mary Humes, Gertrude Luce, Beulah Austin, John Babb, Lyndon Lawson and Howard Leighner. Out of the number who graduated only two were absent.

The regatta given by Medomak Camp boys Aug. 19 was much enjoyed but the evening's entertainment was postponed on account of the rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Maddocks of North Grafton, Mass. are visiting relatives here and at South Liberty.

UNION

Mrs. Billy Monkhouse spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dunbar. Gladys Irving also spent Saturday night and Sunday at the Dunbar home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edw. St. Clair of Biddeford, Me., and Jed Merrifield of Union were callers at Fred Merrifield's Saturday.

Joe Leonard who has spent a week with his friend John Dunbar has returned to Massachusetts. John Dunbar leaves for Massachusetts Saturday.

SEARSMONT

The many friends of Mrs. Ada Ripley wife of Henry Ripley of Greenland, N. H., were saddened to learn of her death, which occurred Aug. 13 at a Boston Hospital, after a long illness.

The funeral was held here at their summer home, Interment in the family lot, Oak Grove cemetery. The flowers were many and beautiful, expressing the love of her many friends.

Her aunt Miss Mary McFarland, who has lived with them for several years, came through from New Hampshire with Mr. Ripley to attend the funeral, this being her home town and where she has lived nearly all her life. Her friends were glad to see her and to know that at her age, her health is very good.

The people of this community are all glad we have a physician, Dr. L. A. Edgely, of Old Town. He is boarding for the present at D. K. McFarland's. Telephone 1-22.

Ruth Miller has returned from summer school at Gorham.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cobb have returned from a visit in Portland with his brother and family. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cobb and two children returned with them for their vacation.

Miss Mary McFarland of Greenland, N. H., was calling on friends in town Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Joseph Packard and son Ira, are visiting at Fort Fairfield.

E. Bliss Marriner returned home Saturday from New York where he has been for study. Mr. Marriner is a teacher of chemistry in Portsmouth, N. H. His wife and two children have been spending the summer with her father Eben Cobb.

Rev. O. G. Barnard of Belfast occupied the pulpit Sunday, while our pastor, Miss Annie Webb is away. Mr. Barnard preached a very impressive sermon. Twenty-two Boy Scouts attended services.

There will be a Sabbath School picnic held Aug. 27 at the Hermansen camps. Lake Quabacook. Every one welcome.

EAST LIBERTY

On Aug. 13 in Whitefield, N. H., at the home of Rev. Guy Roberts occurred the wedding of two of our popular young people, Raymond Harriman of Searsmont and Arlene E. Clark of this place. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Harriman of Palmer, Mass. and the bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ora M. Clark formerly of Liberty, now of Whitefield, N. H. After touring a few days among the White Mountains the young couple have returned to their home here where they are receiving showers of congratulations from their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George McLain, Eunice Quigg and Edwin Ryan returned to Abbot, Sunday. On their return they were accompanied by Fleetwood Pride and Walden Pride who will visit with them for several days.

Burton A. Eastman has been at his home here for a short vacation from his duties at Northampton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clough and daughter Gladys of Haverhill, Mass. were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hooper recently.

Several different parties have been in this vicinity looking over the vacant farms. The prospect of having new neighbors is encouraging.

MEMBERSHIP PLANS

Knox and Lincoln Counties Divided Into Six Districts With Separate Managers

At the recent meeting of the Knox-Lincoln Farm Bureau executive board plans were made for the annual membership drive. The county has been divided into six districts with these managers: District No. 1, Wallace Robbins, Hope; No. 2, George Cameron, Union; No. 3, Luther Carney, Shepaug; No. 4, M. P. Houdiet, Dresden; No. 5, Norris Waltz, Danvers; No. 6, Arthur Hall, Jefferson.

Committee meetings will be held in each community starting Sept. 15 and ending Sept. 24. During that time the local committees will put on a drive in the communities for old and new members.

The State Farm Bureau Federation is offering three prizes to the counties in the State who make the best record. A silver shield 1st, $30 for second prize and $20 third. The goal set for Knox and Lincoln counties is 850 members by the date of the annual meeting Oct. 23.

A SNAPPY ENGINE

Green and Gold Locomotive Now Hauls New England's Pride, The Flying Yankee

A green and gold locomotive, replete with nickel-plated cylinder heads and carrying a brass plate reading "The Flying Yankee" at her front, has lately been added to the distinctiveness of the Boston and Maine's crack, non-stop express as it races through Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine on its daily run in both directions between Boston and Portland.

The "Flying Yankee," hauled by a locomotive painted in the conventional black has, since April 28, 1929, been making a daily run that has brought the train to the fore among the fastest in the country, averaging 51 miles an hour on its entire trip.

The newly-painted locomotive, on which two tones of green, broken by the gold stripes and shining nickel, replace the sombre black, will be seen at various points on the Boston and Maine system during the next few days, as she is broken in during preliminary runs prior to taking up the more strenuous task of hauling the steel Pullmans and coaches of the "Flying Yankee" over the 114 miles between Boston and Portland in the fast time of two hours and 15 minutes.

The buff and blue of the locomotives "Paul Revere" and "William Dawes, Jr.," which haul the "Minute Man," Chicago express of the Boston and Maine pale in comparison with the new motive power of the "Flying Yankee."

The upper part of its great boiler jacket, surmounted by the steel dome and sand dome, steel turrets and the locomotive bell is painted a green, matching the grass on New England's hills. Below that, the running gear is a darker green, the color of the pines. Both the boiler and the engine, a stripe of gold marks the running board the entire length of the engine, and the tender, painted the darker green, bears the Boston and Maine insignia in gold. The wheels are tinged with silver paint. Below the cab window also in letters of gold, is painted "The Flying Yankee."

The engine arrived in Boston from the Boston and Maine's Billerica shops where the new trimmings were applied. It is of the Pacific type and has formerly been known as "Pacific 3689."

SOUTH WALDOBORO

THE KENTS HILLERS

Carter B. Keene Succeeds Dr. R. W. Bickford As President of Association

Carter B. Keene of Washington, D. C., was elected president of the Kent's Hill Seminary Summer Field Day association at a business session Saturday, when nearly 200 alumni gathered for the meeting in spite of the rain. In accepting the office Mr. Keene expressed the wish that the present high standards of scholarship might be maintained.

Mr. Keene also took up the matter of the newly formed Kent's Hill Associates, an organization formed to promote the interest in the school. The Associates will be composed of members of the faculty, the Board of Trustees and interested alumni.

When the class roll was called, it was disclosed that three members of the class of 1873 were present and had met one another for the first time since their graduation. Another of the older alumnae was Miss Allen of the class of 1869 whose father was headmaster at Kent's Hill many years ago.

All speakers on the program expressed great satisfaction at the enthusiasm and spirit shown by the returning graduates and predicted a renewed interest in the general alumni body. Inaugurated by Dr. Ralph W. Bickford of Rockland three years ago, these summer reunions have met with much approval and it was voted that they be made an annual affair.

A program of entertainment scheduled for the morning period was cancelled due to the heavy rain.

OUR HOME SERVICE COLUMN

(By Florence Foreman Ellis of the Home Service Department of the Central Maine Power Company)

The Emergency Menu

During August, when those who have summer cottages are in them and those who haven't drop in unexpectedly on friends who have, a great many meals are prepared from the pantry shelf. When wayfarers, tired and dusty, stop just for a moment to say hello they don't like to feel that unnecessary work is added to the household because the people they drop in on are vacationing too. Therefore it is well for "accessible" people to have well filled pantry shelves.

Nowadays when electric current no longer stops at the town's edge but extends itself far into the woods and along rugged coasts and into almost unbelievable places, one sees every kind of electrical appliance and these are heaven-sent to the busy, hospitable hostess.

Every housekeeper has the wherewithal to put a waffle together and these are delicious for breakfast, luncheon, tea, supper or the midnight snack. The ever popular waffle, sometimes we wonder if their popularity doesn't depend upon their simplicity, or perhaps because some one housekeeper at one time took extra care to serve them well and her effort was far reaching. Like the Maine

Stein song. Anyhow there are other recipes just as deserving of popularity as the waffle. The omelet is one and it already runs the waffle a close second. Below we are giving an emergency menu which includes a simple and easily prepared omelet. The asparagus salad can come from the pantry shelf and the biscuits from the refrigerator where they have been kept since the cool of the morning when they were first made up and put away until baking time.

The entire menu is simple. Try it sometime on the guests that just dropped in to say hello but stayed for lunch.

To yolks beaten until thick add seasonings. Fold thoroughly into whites beaten stiff, to which water was added when half beaten. Pour mixture into hot iron frying pan in which butter is melted. Cook over low fire. When well puffed, finish in slow oven, 225 degrees, until top is firm to touch. Or bake about 25 minutes in a 325 degree oven. Crease omelet at right angle to handle of pan, fold over and turn on to hot platter. Serve.

GEORGES RIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robertson have moved into Jennie Anderson's cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ensted entertained guests from Rockland and Vinalhaven this weekend.

Tolva Johnson, Edwin Harjula and Eino Stein have returned from Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Jalmar Nelson from Quincy, Mass., called to see Broad View Farm this week on their way to Vinalhaven.

Rev. Raita was at Vinalhaven last Sunday and held a service followed by a picnic.

Irving Johnson of Portland was here this week taking orders for steam boilers for milk bottles. It is necessary for all milk bottles to be put in these boilers and sterilized before they are filled with milk.

Matt Toorpakka has deeded his farm to his son Mike from Copper Cliff, Canada, who will take possession soon.

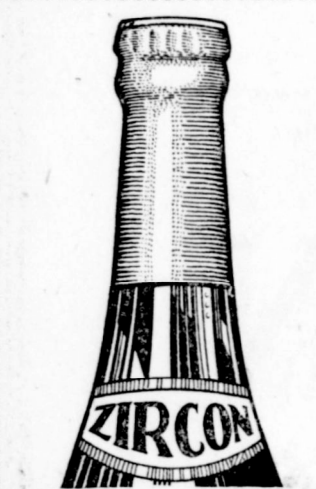

A very interesting letter has been received from Mrs. Jennie Anderson who is now traveling in Finland. Mrs. Anderson states that she receives three copies of the Courier-Gazette each week. She expects to return in September.

WILL NOT RECOMMEND

"Canadian System" and "Swedish System" of Liquor Handling Not Approved by Commission

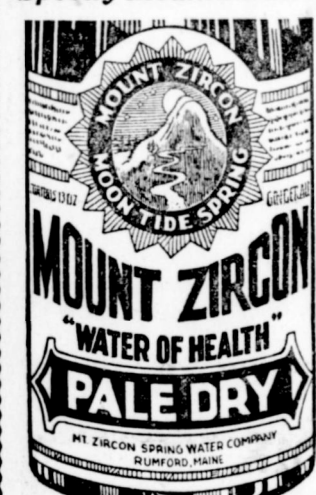

The commission on Law Observance and Law Enforcement will not recommend the "Canadian System," the "Swedish System," or any other government distribution of liquor. This is evident from the statement of Chairman Wickersham to the Appropriations committee of the House of Representatives. The failure of the press to report the matter leads us to circulate Mr. Wickersham's words:

"We have pretty full information in our possession," said Mr. Wickersham, "as to what they are doing in other countries. I have a report sent me by the Canadian Minister and giving a lot of statistics. I have reports of the Swedish system. Not one of them, with the exception of two provinces in Canada, has been continuously in operation for five years. They say they work well and I assume they are satisfactory to those people. They could not be adopted in this country without a change in our constitution and I doubt that they are adapted to a people such as ours. They are applicable to an autonomous people with common origins, common customs and common ideals. The Swedish system by no means produces as idyllic results as people would generally assume. I found there is much objection to it and they say that bootlegging has developed very extensively for the benefit of people who cannot get a certificate entitling them to purchase. The moment you get somebody not entitled to purchase by a legitimate method he gets a bootlegger to supply his demands."—From the W.C.T.U.

THE DAIRY OUTLOOK

Butter Prices Expected To Show Marked Improvement—Cows Cheaper

The outlook for the New England dairy industry for the next six months compares favorably with that for most agricultural products. This is the findings given by the New England Crop Reporting Service. "Prices of cream should be well supported by the expected decrease in western butter production resulting partly from drought," the report says. While New England milk production during the next six months is expected to be up to last year's level and while employment and consumer purchasing power has been reduced by the current business depression, the more favorable cream situation is expected to result in composite milk prices fully as high as last year.

"At present the consumption of milk and cream in New England is somewhat below that of last year. Seasonal gains in employment and the gradual improvement in industrial output do not offer the prospect of sufficient recovery in consumer purchasing power to materially increase milk buying before the spring of 1931."

"There appears to be an increase in the number of cows, which combine with the tendency to higher fall production, first manifested in itself in 1929, indicates a fall supply of milk fully up to that of last year. The condition of pastures in New England on August 1, 1930, was reported as $5.5 as compared with 74.8 on August 1, 1929. The prospects are excellent for fall feed. These factors tend to swell production. On the other hand, the quality of the hay crop is below that of last year and the unfavorable relationship between milk and grain prices during last winter and early spring has resulted in a reduction in the amount of grain fed. These two factors may be expected to exercise a depressing effect on midwinter production."

"Although the prices of grain, as compared with milk prices for the last two months, have been favorable, the growth in the mid-West resulting in a decrease in the cost of crop, has brought an increase in the average wholesale prices of feed of about $4 per ton during the past month. The extent of the drought damage is uncertain, but present conditions indicate a supply of corn short enough to materially strengthen the price of feedstuffs. The shortest national crop of hay since 1921 indicates higher hay prices."

"Milk prices to farmers during September, October and November, are likely to average up to last year. Composite milk prices during December, 1930, and January and February, 1931, are likely to be higher than during the corresponding months a year ago. This increase in return during the latter three months will come primarily through improvement in the price returned for cream and other milk products. The butter market particularly is likely to show marked improvement in prices during December, January and February."

"The price of cows is now definitely on a downward trend. There is considerable probability that the drop in cow prices will be accelerated during the coming winter in sympathy with declining meat prices resulting from forced marketing of cattle from areas with short feed supplies."

State Convention in Bangor Will Open With the Annual Fall Concert

Preliminary plans for the annual meeting of the Maine Teachers' association, to be held in Bangor Oct. 22 to 24, were discussed Tuesday by Adelbert W. Gordon, the association's secretary and members of the Bangor Chamber of Commerce committee which will handle the many details of entertainments for the big gathering.

The opening event in the annual convention program will be the annual fall concert of the Eastern Maine Musical Association for which preparations are in progress under the direction of Conductor Adelbert W. Sprague and members of the association's executive committee.

When the teachers met in Bangor two years ago a similar plan was followed and the fall festival concert drew a large attendance from the members of the Maine Teachers' Association. So successful was the opening in 1928, that immediately following the decision to hold this year's meeting in Bangor, arrangements were made between the two organizations for a repetition of the highly successful plan.

Conductor Sprague has numerous artists under consideration for the October concert and it is certain that a selection will be made that will prove highly satisfactory both to the teachers and to the regular patrons of the festival association's concert.

Window Washing Perilous

When you watch a window washer busy at his task on a ledge a dozen stories above the sidewalk, you feel that he has a dangerous job. And he has. Records compiled in the recent Industrial Safety Contest covering 1452 accidents in greater New York show that the most dangerous occupation is that of window cleaning. The safest work was found to be that of making fine machines or instruments.

APPLES AND SPUDS

Former Crop Over and Later Under, According To Latest Estimates

Although this year's potato crop was expected to be 12 percent lower than that of last year, the apple crop will be nearly 14 per cent larger than that of the year before. It was reported by the New England crop reporting service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

It was reported that the outlook in New England for commercial apples is for a crop of 2,132,000 barrels compared with 1,868,000 a year ago, and 1,897,000, the five year average. Both apple bloom and set in New England were quite heavy and while a heavy drop was reported a large crop of apples still remains to be harvested. Insect and disease damage have been quite light in most localities.

On the basis of present conditions, the New England potato crop was expected to total 52,955,000 bushels, compared with 58,988,000 harvested last year. The expected total was fifteen per cent above the five year average. In Aroostook county the potato crop does not present a very satisfactory appearance, the crop reporting service declared.

"Conditions have been quite favorable to growth of potatoes in Southern New England but less favorable in Northern New England where rainfall has been too heavy and temperatures too high for potatoes to make healthy growth," the report said. "The crop in Maine is estimated at 44,180,000 bushels, 12 per cent less than harvested last year but nearly 15 per cent above the five year average. In Aroostook county the potato crop does not present a very satisfactory appearance. A few fields already have blighted badly and many others show evidence of some blight."

SHADOWS

[For The Courier-Gazette]

I looked into the distance and saw shadows on the hill. The hazy blue of evening sky and water calm and still. Where mirrored were the pictures of tree and shrub and vine. That met the real at water's edge and seemed to intertwine.

I gazed in wonder at them as they seemed to linger there. But subtle changes soon o'ertook and yet were not less fair. The shades of night shut down, the blue was turned to gray. The shadows lengthened—the pictures, none could bid them stay.

The sun behind the hill had sunk into the west and left the lengthened shadow ere earth had gone to rest. And all was calm and peaceful—then came a sudden sound. That broke the quiet stillness, and tremors shake the ground.

'Twas the note of whip-poor-will from a tree across the way. Calling, calling, to its mate just at close of day. In a plaintive weary voice that brought to mind the thought, "Beauty can not be lasting; peace can not be bought."

For toward the west at evening as we gaze on distant view Where are shadows, pictures, bird songs, old but ever new. And beyond the hilly distance the sun its shadows cast. As bird calls break the stillness and darkness falls at last.

EASTERN'S NEW BOATS

Work To Begin Soon On Two Six Thousand Tonnors, Having 20-Knot Speed

Construction of two steamers for the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., will begin as soon as negotiations with the postoffice department at Washington, regarding mail rights, are completed. Capt. Eugene E. O'Donnell, president of the company, said recently. The ships will be built by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company at Newport News, Va.

Capt. O'Donnell said he hoped postal authorities would give the word to go ahead within a few days. The shipping board already had advanced a loan of $4,661,220 toward the cost of the new ships and the navy department has approved the plans, he said. The vessel will have a gross tonnage of 6000 each, passenger capacity for 800 and speed of better than 20 knots. One is intended for service between Boston and St. John, N. B., and the other for New York to Yarmouth, N. S. route. They will be 403 feet long. It is expected they will be launched in the spring of 1932.

The summer is gone. I wonder what has become of our native viburnum with big leaves and blue-black fruit. I have not seen any for years and I used to see it and gather its fruit whenever I went into the woods. I don't know the specific name for it, but local farmers used to call it moose wood and moose browse, and some children called the berries wild raisins. I'd like to plant some of its seeds just for an experiment.

Admiring the Natural Beauty of the New Hampshire State

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
I have had great pleasure in reading the articles written for your paper about pleasant drives. I would feel I was not a true-lover of nature's wonders were I to neglect trying to visualize some of the beauty-spots noted in my recent motor trips through New Hampshire.

Maine has its mountains, lakes and rivers, but as I stood beside the lofty ranges of the White Mountains and gazed at their summits I became amazed and speechless. Railroads, penetrating solid rock, arise as by magic upon our vision, Cascades geysering from mountain heights, some tumbling and rushing down to our very feet. White Horse Mountain is startling with its horse carved in its white side and plainly seen by many tourists. The Madison boulders are a solid rock of immense proportions, towering above all objects that answer like atoms beside it.

And what can be said of the wonderful lakes and the birches growing beside them? In a week's sojourn in this ideal state, I was moved to deepest reverence while riding along the winding roads, often by the light of full August moon that turned the lakes to shimmering silver, softening in its splendor mountain, lake, and deep chasms.

is that these monarchs of the mountains should be given the name of our country's President. They are such noble mountains, so splendid in their majesty. Multitudes of tourists camp around their base, enjoying the summer unmolesed—though many tales are heard of the redmen who once roamed the forests there. A tribute should be paid to all the states that are improving their roads in particular Maine, but New Hampshire also has wonderful roads and continues to make such highway more of a delight to the tourist. If we praise Maine let us think of our neighbor state as likewise beautiful—a marvel of natural wonders.

Record Month For Insurance

An encouraging indication of fundamental stability is the large volume of business written by life insurance companies during what is generally regarded as a period of depression. The large life company wrote more protection during last June than in any month in the company's history. Another company wrote more than half a billion dollars worth of life insurance during the first six months of 1930 and issued more than 187,000 policies. With such substantial gains occurring in a business as basic as life insurance, it becomes logical to look forward to a general improvement in conditions.

"At present," he declared, "I know of no State that has a brighter future than Maine. In the summer time the wealth of the nation pours into the State to enjoy its remarkable climate and rare scenic beauty. In the recent terrific heat wave Maine was the only place where relief could be obtained. While millions sweltered and suffered in the torrid zones of Boston, Phila-

SOLDIERS and SAILORS

Who Served In The War For American Independence

BY FRANK BURTON MILLER

As is locally known, I have been engaged for several years in collecting material for a history of the Plantation of Lower St. Georges, in the Province of Maine, now known as the towns of Cushing and St. George. Having acquired considerable information regarding the genealogical history of the early settlers in this region, and the part they played in civil and military affairs, I am, of late, receiving many inquiries from the descendants of these families, whether or not they are eligible to membership in the "Society of the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution." To save time and labor in answering each individual inquiry, I have prepared a record of the naval and military service of those men, numbering about one hundred, who contributed their part, humble as it may have been, to make the thirteen colonies free and independent States, and to the severance of all political allegiance to Great Britain. Whenever possible I have expanded these sketches by adding material of a public, private and family nature. By so doing, many of the subjects of these sketches can be more easily identified. As to those whom I am endeavoring to rescue from the realms of oblivion, they having lived in the dim and misty past, errors are bound to creep in. If such are detected, either by the casual reader, or the descendants of these men of courage and action, it will be appreciated by the writer to be so informed, before the following sketches appear in a more permanent form. FRANK B. MILLER

[Fourth Installment]

At length, on the evening of June 18, 1781, a violent tempest occurred, attended with profound darkness, intermitted with flashes of vivid lightning. At about eleven o'clock the lightning ceased, and the rain began to fall in torrents. The opportunity which they had so anxiously desired, they believed had arrived. They went immediately to bed, and extinguished their candles while the sentinel was looking through the sash door. In a short time both arose and dressed themselves. At first Wadsworth in a chair, and then Burton on his feet, labored with the pen-knife, until in about half an hour they had cut out and removed the perforated board. Burton, the larger of the two, ascended through the opening with considerable difficulty. Wadsworth followed, but they saw each other no more during that fearful night. Burton crept silently along the joists over the officers' heads, let himself down into the entry, and thence proceeding through the square, ascended to the friezing on the top of the wall. While lying there and waiting for the General, he heard the voice of command at the opposite guardhouse, "Relief, turn out!"

Supposing by this that his companion was detected, he immediately threw himself over the friezing, and seizing it fast with his hands gave his body a pendulous swing, then gently loosing his hold, struck with his feet the chevaux-de-frize unhurt. To avoid the sentry-boxes he proceeded down the hill over rocks to the Penobscot at the northwesterly part of the peninsula, as previously proposed, "where the Americans landed in their first attack upon the British, two years before." As it was now of the utmost importance to elude any search and pursuit which might be made, and although in his anxiety he had struck the beach too far down to the westward, he yet waded forthwith into the water, which in crossing the cove was up to his chin. Much deluded, feeling his way in the dark, and sometimes swimming, he did not reach the opposite shore until daybreak. He then travelled a mile or more along the eastern margin of the river. At less distance than two gunshots he saw the enemy's barges, but which evidently had made no discovery. The rain had ceased, the opening morning was fair, and at sunrise he was safe on the bank of the river, perhaps seven or eight miles from the fort. His cup of happiness would have been full, had the General, whom he supposed retaken or drowned, been with him. While thus ruminating, he saw his fellow-prisoner calmly seated beside a canoe. The joy of their meeting can be easily imagined.

Crossing the river in the canoe, they landed at Sandy Point opposite, near the south end of Orphan's Island. They then shaped their course through the woods towards Belfast, and crossing the river Passagassawakeag in a boat found there, took refreshments at the house of Mr. Miller, where the village now is. Through fear of seizure by the villainous Tories, and of recapture by the British, they did not dare to stay over night in the house, but went a mile into the woods and lodged on the ground. The next morning they pursued their way to Canaan (now Lincolnville) then a plantation of three families, thence to Warren, and on the third day reached Burton's residence in Cushing.

Burton knew that the treacherous Tories, if they heard of his arrival, would devise some scheme to retake him. He therefore remained at home only a single night, and then went to Boston. Not finding any vacancy in the army which he wished to fill, he took a commission of Captain of Marines on board of a twenty-gun ship, commanded by Captain Thomas Dinsmore. After cruising for about a month near Newfoundland, the vessel's course was shaped for Cape Clear, off Ireland, intending to intercept a fleet of merchantmen from the West Indies. In October, 1781, seeing four ships at the windward which they supposed were a part of the fleet, they stood for them. To their surprise they were found to be three British frigates and a sloop of war. Our ship, unable to escape, the wind blowing a gale, was taken, and her crew imprisoned in the castle of Cape Clear until the following February, after news had arrived of the surrender of Cornwallis. They were then removed to England, and confined in the old Dunkirk seventy-four, from which the overtures of peace set them at liberty. In an enemy's land, without money and without friends able to assist him, Major Burton succeeded in getting a passage to L'Orient, in France, and thence in the frigate Alliance, Captain Harden, was brought to the shores of his beloved country, and landed at New London, in Connecticut. From that place, with only eight shillings in money, he accomplished a journey home, two hundred and sixty miles, before the end of May.

When the privations and perils of war were over, Burton with many thousands, like the worthy Cincinnatus, returned to the plough, to enjoy in straitened circumstances, and yet with a cheerful spirit, liberties and privileges, no less the bounties of heaven because they were the price of blood. Agriculture was his principal pursuit, although to some extent he engaged in navigation. On the reorganization of the militia under the statute of 1785, he was chosen lieutenant-colonel of the fourth regiment in the eighth division, and subsequently had the command of it. He held his commission until 1796, when he resigned. The next year he was the representative of Cushing in the General Court of Massachusetts. The first representative from Cushing was his brother-in-law, Edward Killaran. He was eight years a magistrate, and never filled an official position which he did not honor. But in no sphere were his credentials more heartily and justly awarded him, than by the Christian community. For more than thirty years he was a devout professor of religion, and at the time of his death was a deacon in the Baptist Church in Warren. He married Hannah Church of Bristol, Rhode Island, before he quit the service there. Two sons and four daughters survived him.

In person, Col. Burton was a large, tall and straight man, although in his latter days a little bent forward. His complexion was light and expressive, in motion and conversation he was quick and animated. In mind he was discerning, ingenious and otherwise liberally endowed. He had a taste for mathematics and for military tactics, and especially for reading the scriptures and works upon history. Such was this worthy man, beloved by all his acquaintances, useful to his country, and happy in his death.

The following children were born to Col. Burton:

1. Benjamin, 3d, married a Jameson.
2. Thomas, 2d, born about 1784; married Lydia Young of Cushing, Jan. 10, 1813; resided in Warren village in the home later occupied by William H. Hodgman; and died Sept. 28, 1850.
3. John, 3d, married first, Mary Norton; second Rebecca Vaughn who died Sept. 10, 1865.
4. Elizabeth, born in 1787; died March 1, 1877; married first, Anselm Vaughan of Warren, Aug. 5, 1808; second, Deacon John Miller who was born Nov. 16, 1781; died June 1, 1857.
5. Hannah, married John L. Robinson of Cushing, Jan. 16, 1814. He resided for a short time in Union, but died in Seabrook.
6. Sarah, married Capt. Dunbar Henderson, July 18, 1815.
7. Ann, married first Capt. Robert Norton; second, Dr. Thomas D. Ralburn, May 17, 1830; resided in Newton, Mass.

Col. Burton's widow died Aug. 21, 1834.
