Miss Eleanor Royal is visiting in Bar Harbor.

Miss J. A. Thompson is in New York on business.

The Thursday club will meet with Mrs. O. W. Tapley this week.

Roger L. Higgins is in Boston attending the automobile show.

The literature club will meet with Mrs. C. E. Alexander next Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert King are receiving congratulation on the birth of a daughter, born March 4 at Rockland.

Mrs. W. H. Dunn arrived home Monday from a visit of several weeks in Boston, Providence and Biddeford.

Rebekahs wishing to go to Brooklyn Friday are requested to notify Mrs. George S. Hagerthy or Miss Helen Cousins.

Ensign Earl Holt has joined the U. S. S. Cohasset, which sailed Tuesday for France. It is his second trip across.

Wives' encampment, I. O. O. F., will work the patriarchal degree at its regular meeting next Monday evening, on a large class.

Martin A. Garland has been appointed apprentice fish culturist at the government fish hatchery at Green Lake, and will report for duty soon.

Sgt. Emilio Bernardini of Camp Devens spent a few days last week in Ellsworth with his brother Antonio. He returned to Camp Devens Monday.

At a special meeting of the Unitarian parish last evening, E. C. Osgood was elected a trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John P. Eldridge.

A second basketball team has been organized in the Ellsworth high school. The manager, Thurston Jordan, invites correspondence from other teams wishing games.

The talk by Major Carroll J. Swan on "Fighting in France," and song recital by Mrs. Swan, will be given at Hancock hall Saturday evening, April 5, for the benefit of the Boys' Welfare club.

Deputy Collector John J. Lee will be in Ellsworth again this week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at the custom house, to assist income taxpayers who have been delayed in making their returns.

District Deputy Thomas E. McDonald of Portland paid an official visit of inspection to Acadia chapter, R. E. M., Monday evening. There was a banquet at 6.30, followed by work in the mark degree.

Frederick Stone, jr., is spending a furlough of ten days with relatives in Ellsworth. He has been with the Metz Co. in Waltham, Mass., which has been turning out twenty airplanes a day for Uncle Sam.

A. H. Sawyer, local agent for the American Railway Express Co., says that the campaign for better marking and packing of express packages is resulting in marked improvement. The return or refusal to take packages not properly packed or marked is an object lesson to shippers that they don't soon forget. The campaign has been nation-wide, and the company reports a falling off of 50 per cent. in the number of packages being sent to the "no mark" bureaus, the "dead letter" offices of the express business.

Howard B. Moor, who has been confined to his home several weeks by a sprained foot resulting from a fall on a stairway, is getting about again. His recovery was delayed by a second fall while getting about the house on crutches.

A large delegation of Bar Harbor Odd Fellows came to Ellsworth last Friday evening, and the degree team from Island lodge worked the third degree on five candidates in Lejok lodge. There was a banquet at 6.30 and a supper at midnight.

Sunday evening in the Congregational chapel at 7.30, Hon. J. A. Peters will speak to members of the parish and their guests concerning his experiences in Washington the winter past. Mr. Peters will take up some of those questions that are of vital interest to the nation at the present time. A large representation of the parish is earnestly requested.

Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Royal of Somerville, Mass., formerly of Ellsworth, got homesick for his old home town. He took French leave from school and home, and took the Monday night train for Ellsworth, arriving here yesterday morning. Incidentally, he brought with him another boy, Arthur Eldridge, son of Mayor Eldridge of Somerville. The absence of the boys was discovered early Monday evening, but efforts to stop them en route miscarried. Yesterday morning Sheriff Wescott received a request from Somerville to arrest and hold the boys. Mrs. Royal and the chief of police of Somerville arrived here this morning to accompany them home.

TRYING EXPERIENCE.

Two Fishermen Rescued After Three Days in Open Boat.

STONINGTON, March 17 (special)—The community was stirred Thursday when it became known that Charles Bye and Howard Greenlaw of Oceanville, who had gone to the fishing grounds off Swan's island early in the morning, had been caught in the terrific squall which swept the coast early the same day.

It was generally thought by sea faring men that their boat could not withstand the seas. The several U. S. naval stations were notified, and the cutter, accompanied by patrol boats, was sent out in search, also the tug Betsey Ross and the large smack, Grace Cribby.

Great relief was felt when word came that the missing men had been picked up Saturday many miles at sea by one of the government boats. After three days in an open boat, without food or water, they were returned to this port Sunday forenoon in good physical condition, but a bit careworn from worry and exposure.

ANOTHER CLOTHING DRIVE.

Need of War Sufferers in Europe Still Great, and Must be Met.

The Red Cross will next week conduct another old clothing drive for people of Belgium and Northern France left destitute by the war. The distribution of the clothing in Europe will be entirely under American supervision.

Capt. Charles L. Smith of Ellsworth has been appointed chairman for the county in this clothing drive, and will be at the Davis carriage repository on Franklin street Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of next week to receive contributions of clothing. At other times clothing may be left at the offices of the county chapter in the postoffice building.

It is hoped that the response by the people of Hancock county to this appeal will be as ready and as generous as in the previous clothing drives. The nature of the articles wanted is generally known through the lists issued in the previous drive. Almost every kind of garment for all ages and both sexes is needed, but only garments of strong and durable material should be sent.

The war is over, but the suffering because of it is not. You may think you have gone the limit in overhauling your own clothing, but you must try once more.

Died in the Service.

Mrs. George Haskell of West Eden has received news of the death on Feb. 23, from pneumonia, of her son, Sergt. Cecil Hodson, with the army of occupation in Germany. He was twenty-four years of age, had been overseas about a year, and seen much fighting.

TRAGEDY AT FRANKLIN.

Father and Five Children Burned to Death in Home.

Emery Colson, aged fifty-one years, and five children, were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their home at East Franklin early last Thursday morning. Mrs. Colson and a boy about one year old were the only members of the family saved. The youngest child burned was only two weeks old, and Mrs. Colson, not yet recovered from confinement, is in a serious condition from the shock and exposure resulting from the fire.

Mr. Colson arose about 4.30 o'clock, and after building a fire in the kitchen, went to the barn to take care of his stock. The fire started in the kitchen, presumably from a spark from the stove. Mrs. Colson, aroused by the fire rushed to the barn in her nightdress to call her husband. She took the year-old boy with her.

Mr. Colson, evidently not realizing the headway gained by the fire, tried to reach the sleeping rooms to save the other children by way of the kitchen. The kitchen was then a mass of flames, and Mr. Colson must have been overcome almost immediately.

The children burned were Ethel May Tourtelotte aged thirteen; Shirley A. Colson, aged nine; Fannie J. Colson, aged seven, Donald E. Colson, aged four, and Marvet V. Colson, aged two weeks.

The fire destroyed the Colson buildings, with a horse owned by Mr. Colson. The flames also spread to the house of John Walton, Mrs. Colson's father, and all his buildings were destroyed.

COMING EVENTS.

Mutual Benefit Column.

EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE".
Its Motto: "Helpful and Hopeful."

The purpose of this column are succinctly stated in the title and motto—it is for the mutual benefit, and aims to be helpful and hopeful being for the common good. It is for the common use—a public servant, a purveyor of information and suggestion, a medium for the interchange of ideas. In this capacity it solicits communications, and its success depends largely on the support given it in this respect. Communications must be signed, but the name of writer will not be printed except by permission. Communications will be subject to approval or rejection by the editor of the column, but none will be rejected without good reason. Address all communications to

THE AMERICAN,
Ellsworth, Me.

Grin and bear it; that's the way,
Make your mind up now to stay
On the job and see it through—
That's the only way to do.
Rain or sunshine, look up and smile,
Working forward all the while;
Disappointments now and then
Happen to the best of men!
Grin and bear it, that's the way;
Keep your nerve up every day.
Life is not one round of pleasure,
Pain and grief fill up the measure;
Roses bloom and fade away,
Nothing ever comes to stay;
Heartache only lasts awhile,
Then it's banished by a smile.
Smiles at times may disappear,
But enjoy them while they're here,
Grin and bear it, that's the way;
Trouble only lasts a day.

Grin and bear it, buckle in,
Stick right to it till you win;
Let your troubles pile up high,
You can stand them if you try.
Show the world that you can take
All it has of pain and ache,
Scorn or trouble, hate and wrong,
Knowing as you go along
Things will turn out right some day,
Wait God's time in His own way!

—Selected by Ann.

Dear M. B. Sisters:

Reading Aunt Sue's letter in the M. B. column brought to my mind the first time I ever saw her. It was at Castine normal school in March, 1877. A stranger and bashful, I stood in the lower hall watching the boys and girls rushing out and in and not paying the least attention to me. At last a sweet-faced girl came toward me, told me where to hang my coat and hat, then escorted me upstairs and said I could sit with her until the seats were assigned to the new class. I never forgot her kindness. I doubt if she remembers it, as it was only one thoughtful act of the many she did for the students.
I am glad that Ellis is safely over the influenza I, know how to sympathize with her, as I had it in November. I should have sent her a card, but saw by the paper that she did not go to the hospital.

VASHTI.

This mention of a kindness of long ago is a nice thing for us to have in the Column. Thanks to you, Vashti. It is evidence that such thoughtful, kindly acts are long treasured by those who were encouraged in a time of loneliness, and the lesson we can all learn from it is to do the same whenever we have an opportunity. Sometimes one thinks, too late, of what might have been done to make the life and the way of another more cheery or more easy.

The following clipping, sent some time ago by N. L. H., comes in just right, here.
DO GOOD.

Do good, and leave behind you a monument of virtue that the storms of time can never destroy. Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of thousands you come in contact with year by year; you will never be forgotten. Your name, your deeds, will be as legible on the hearts you leave behind as the stars on the brow of evening. Good deeds will

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss Flo Kelly 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

shine as the stars of heaven.—Dr. Chalmers.

MARLBORO, March 10, 1919.

Dear Aunt Madge:—

I only have a few minutes before mail time, but will try and say a few words. It has been a long time since I have written anything for the column, but I am always glad to read what others have written. That seems selfish, but such is life. I very much enjoyed the chronicles from S. J. Y. I, too, used to belong to a Good Templars lodge. I used to enjoy it so much, I was looking over some old papers a short time ago, and I came across one of our lodge papers which had one of our chronicles in it. It carried my mind back to the days of the past when I was a girl and used to meet with the young people of that age, who are all scattered now. Time makes many changes with us all.

I am wondering how Aunt Maria has succeeded in getting names for all those bosses. I think one of the M. B.'s tried to help her out; I have forgotten whom it was just now. Some of the names were rather hard to pronounce if one was in a hurry to say it.

ARE.

We missed you and yours at the last reunion. It is pleasant to hear from you again. S. J. Y. made a decided "hit" with her chronicles. Many have alluded to them.

RECIPES FROM MISS PENLEY.

GRAHAM MUFFINS—2 cups graham, 1 cup cornmeal, 2 tablespoons melted fat, 1 tablespoon sugar or molasses, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups sweet milk, 1 cup sour milk or butter milk. Add milk to dry ingredients, mixed and sifted; add melted fat; mix. Bake in gem pans in hot oven.

GRAHAM CRACKERS—Beat together 1/2 cup shortening, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon cream tartar, 1/2 teaspoon soda, and enough graham flour to knead. Roll thin, cut in neat squares, prick with a fork in several places and bake in a quick oven.

RAISIN OATMEAL COOKIES—One cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup shortening, beat to a cream. Add 2 well beaten eggs, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup hot water with 1/2 teaspoon soda dissolved in it, 2 cups sifted flour, 2 cups rolled oats, 1 cup raisins chopped, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased tins.

GEN. PERSHING PRAISES "Y" WORK

Consents to Request from Association to Be Relieved of Operation of Post Exchanges.

The American Y. M. C. A. at its own request has been relieved of its work in maintaining the post exchanges with the American army. Correspondence has been exchanged between Gen. Pershing and E. C. Carter, in charge of Y. M. C. A. with the army, resulting in this decision. Mr. Carter wrote to Gen. Pershing as follows:

Dear Gen. Pershing: A year and a half ago you requested the Y. M. C. A. to undertake the operation of post exchanges for the American Expeditionary Force in order that officers and enlisted men may not be taken away for that purpose from their paramount military functions of training and fighting.

"As soon as hostilities ceased we raised with you the question of whether the time had not come for the Y. M. C. A. to be relieved of the operation of post exchanges, in view of the fact that there was no longer the same pressing demand on the man power of the army for training and fighting. When we first raised the question it did not appear to you that it was feasible in the best interests of maximum service to the army that change be made. Now the situation is materially altered.

Needed in Other Work.

Recent general orders from main headquarters and requests from large numbers of commanding officers may have laid on the Y. M. C. A. increased responsibilities in promoting educational, athletic and entertainment activities in the American Expeditionary Force. This is placing a rapidly increasing burden on our personnel. The army also is now preparing for the delivery of all supplies for the post exchanges which heretofore have been imported, manufactured and delivered by the Y. M. C. A.

In view of the changed situation, I wish to know whether you do not think it would be possible for the army at a very early date to assume full responsibility for the maintenance of the post exchanges throughout the American Expeditionary Force.

Gen. Pershing replied as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Carter—I have received your letter of January 29 asking whether in view of the present changed situation it would be possible for the army to assume full responsibility for the maintenance of post exchanges throughout the American Expeditionary Force.

Gen. Pershing Consents.

As you correctly state, the Y. M. C. A. undertook the management of the post exchanges at my request at a time when it was of the greatest importance that no available soldier should be taken away from the vital military functions of training and fighting. As the reasons which impelled me at that time to request you to undertake this work no longer exist I am glad to approve your suggestion. In reaching this conclusion consideration has been given to the new burdens in connection with entertainment, athletic activities and education that you have assumed. I have accordingly given directions that the army units themselves take over and operate their own post exchanges.

In making this change permit me to thank you for the very valuable services and assistance which the Y. M. C. A. has rendered to the American Expeditionary Force in handling these exchanges. Handicapped by a shortage of tonnage and land transportation, the Y. M. C. A. has by extra exertion served the army better than could have been expected, and you may be assured that its aid has been a large factor in the final great accomplishments of the American army. Very cordially yours.

JOHN J. PERSHING.

TRAINING IN BOYS'

Makes Most Desirable Kind of Military Service.

West Virginia Member Now in Navy Lays Stress on Fundamental Principles Upon Which Agricultural Clubs Are Based.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The training boys get in the agricultural clubs conducted by the department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges makes them the most desirable kind of men for military service, in the opinion of a former West Virginia club member now in the navy.
Writing to the states relations service, the former club member lays stress upon the fundamental principles upon which agricultural clubs are based. The boys' agricultural clubs have as a part of their badge the four-leaf clover with four H's, one on each leaf, indicating the equal training of the head, hand, heart and health. The West Virginia sailor says this is just the kind of training which makes a good soldier or sailor. He says:

"Let us recall the training we were receiving from the agricultural clubs along four great paths: First, the head, which must necessarily be well filled with gray matter that will cause a recruit to be obedient and respect discipline; second, the hands, which are governed by the mind and do so much in military conflict; third, the heart, which must be clean and strong to make a soldier determined and unflinching; and, fourth, the health, which plays a very important part in making men efficient."

All of these are qualities which go to make up a good military man. Also, the writer pays tribute to the club members in his state who have been so busy helping in the great job of food production at a time when the farms of the country are short of labor.

"They have met the situation squarely," he writes, "and victory is ours, with them as a dominant factor in helping to secure it."

GREEN MANURE CROPS

The New Jersey experiment station calculates that two crops of green manure contain as much phosphoric acid and potash as 20 tons of stable manure. Rye, soy beans and clovers are crops most often used. In the gardening section of the state rye is planted as a cover crop as soon as potatoes and early vegetables are out of the way. This is plowed under and takes the place of some of the barnyard manure that was formerly hauled.

CLEANING UP SWAMP LANDS

Undesirable Growth Should Be Burned When Ground Is Wet to Preserve Plant Food.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Growth which is to be cleaned up on swamp land or any soil containing a large amount of organic matter should be burned when the ground is wet, to prevent the destruction of valuable plant food. When soils do not contain a large amount of organic matter and it is the intention to seed in the ashes immediately after the burning, too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the importance of getting a clean burn.

Posters for 50,000 Schoolrooms

From the great cities of the coasts to the farthestmost, isolated sections of the backwoods, the schoolhouses of New England are being decorated with the "Stamp, Stamp, Stamp" poster of the War Savings Stamp Committee of New England. It was intended strictly and exclusively for the children, but so many requests for it are coming in to the Boston headquarters it is clear that the grown folk appreciate it quite as much as the youngsters.

The poster is such a jolly affair you would know just to look at it that whoever designed it was full of fun. You are not at all surprised to learn that the smiles are chasing each other over her face most of the time. There are hardly two minutes together when either they are not doing that or one is not lurking about ready to break through. Miss Dorothy Clogston is the artist, and she graduated from the High School of Practical Arts in Boston last June. She made the poster for a war poster contest at the school last year and left it behind her when she went away.

It was there that it was found by the War Savings Committee of New England on the last day of school before the Christmas vacation, and it was immediately carried off to headquarters. The next question was where to find the young artist, for she had disappeared in one of the thousands of offices that go to make up a big city. The master of the school and the head of the department were appealed to, and they ran Dorothy down, as it were, to an office not far from the War Savings Stamps headquarters. Everybody in that office was almost as excited as Dorothy was when the news went abroad that the War Savings Committee wanted Dorothy's poster, and her employers were willing enough to grant her leave of absence while she made a few changes necessary from a commercial standpoint and to bring the idea up to date.

Miss Dorothy insists that it is a serious poster. She had a serious subject and she wanted to present it so seriously that after people looked at the poster they would go and buy War Savings Stamps, she said, and pointed to the sailor boy with his determined way and important air, as proof that she had accomplished what she wished.

She doesn't know why she drew the poster just the way she did. Miss Dorothy says, the lines just seemed to come. She does do naturalistic things, she adds, but when she draws the way she likes to she draws like that. Last summer Dorothy was a farmerette at Concord, and has signed up for next summer also. When the harvests are over in the autumn she is going to some art school and there specialize in the work that has already brought her a certain amount of fame.

EVERYONE'S EFFORT COUNTS.

Although the fighting is ended, the support of everyone is needed by the United States government to meet its war obligations, to maintain its troops in comfort abroad, to bring them back home, and to discharge all promises made to every soldier and to his dependents. Moreover, the purchase of government securities by millions of people, instead of a few, makes these millions actually financial partners in the government. It is a privilege of the individual—in fact, it is the essence of real democratic government. A person who is partner of Uncle Sam is more interested in the government's doings and is less open to insidious suggestion than one who has no personal stake in his country. War Savings Stamps are very practical promoters of Americanization, make better Americans of our native born, and make permanent Americans of our foreign-born element. Everyone's effort and everyone's savings and everyone's War Savings Stamps count.

PSYCHOLOGY AND THE RECREATION AND ACCUMULATION.

How a Farmer's Wife Reduces Meat Consumption Secretly.

A bright farm housewife, who manages to buy at least one War Savings Stamp a week, tells how she does it by inducing her family to especially like what she prepares for them. She does not tell them they cannot afford fresh meat at present prices—to do so would only whet their appetite for it. They do not even realize that she is not buying as much meat as ever. She has cut down the quantity consumed by substituting other appetizing things and makes the meat she uses go farther by serving less expensive things with it. Scalloped potatoes and other vegetables are popular with the family, vegetable salads with cream mayonnaise never go begging, and fried or grilled apples are "tasty" with veal or pork. This woman's larder is well supplied with green vegetables preserved by the cold pack process.

To Save Systematically is Not to Eliminate all Joy of Living.

We are all saving—it is the fashion; but truth compels the statement that many of us do not know how to do it without feeling that we are missing something. We make wonderful resolves to sacrifice this, that or the other indulgence, to buy Thrift or War Savings Stamps. Heroically we resolve to eliminate something we have enjoyed or been benefited by, as if that were the only thing to do. It may be that the "movies" have been abandoned by some one who had found in them a change of thought when weary. For a period of weeks they have been tabooed, and the Thrift Stamps have accumulated merrily, but the saver experiences a tension and strain without the customary relaxation. Some day realization comes, reaction follows, and then—farewell to thrift. Instead of wholly cutting out either the favorite amusement or thrift, why not balance things a little more evenly, divide the income into proper proportions—food, shelter, clothing, recreation, improvement, charity, savings, etc.

The possession of money for itself is not an incentive to one who would get the best from life, but it should be impressed upon every child that saving will bring the best things in the years to come, therefore thrift is necessary. Many wonderful opportunities have been missed because of lack of financial ability to take advantage of them.

Once the thrift habit is formed, opportunities appear. Prices vary, and a few cents saved here and there may be added to one's store without altering the conditions of a budget. The possibilities of left-overs and make-overs are unlimited when thrift becomes a habit. By saving systematically and spending wisely, one may enjoy life to the utmost. The possession of a goodly number of War Savings Stamps will also add materially to peace of mind and buoyancy of spirits.

War-Saving Stamps hold your money for opportunity's call.

THE HAY CROP

An Important One in New England—Pasture a Prominent Feature of the Farming Operation of This Section.

Some Practical Methods for Increasing the Yield of Hay and Stimulating the Growth of Pasture.

Proper Management of the Soil Essential to the Success of the Hay Crop.

Hay is one of the most important farm crops in New England. The soil and climatic conditions favor to a large degree the best development of the natural grasses and clovers. In 1918 the six New England states had three and one-half million acres in hay, producing over five and one-half million tons. The average yield per acre for the same year was one and one-half tons. The average price per ton for the five years ending December, 1916, was $21.84 per ton, which means a return of $32.76 per acre. Since 1916 the price of hay has been much higher. The total value of the hay crop is close to $80,000,000 annually.

The conditions for hay production, which in the main are favorable, are not uniform, since a great variety of soils is found. These vary from the stiffest clay to the open, sandy types. A characteristic of all the soils of this region is that they are likely to be quite acid. It is well known that the growth of all grasses and especially of the clovers is most satisfactory where the soil is neutral or alkaline. The only practical way to sweeten the soil is to apply lime in some form. It is a common practice in New England to follow corn with grass. Splendid results have been secured by sowing the grass seed in the corn at the last cultivation, usually from the 20th of July to the 5th of August, in the latitude of Massachusetts. Since the clover should have a sweet or neutral soil, the lime should be applied to the corn crop just previous to planting. After plowing, the land may be harrowed once and the lime applied. The remaining workings of the soil will thoroughly mix the lime with the soil, which is highly desirable in order to obtain the best results. In case the grass and clover are sowed in oats the land should be limed this spring just before the oats are seeded. Care should be taken to apply enough lime to counteract the acidity present in the soil. Usually not less than one ton of lump or hydrated lime should be used per acre. Grass, including clover, which was seeded last fall, but without lime, will be benefited by a moderate application late this winter or early spring, before the grass begins to grow. Old meadows which have been cut for several years will often respond to a topdressing of lime in the early spring. If it is desired to renew the stand in portions of the field where the clover has disappeared the lime may be applied first and the clover and grass then seeded. To insure covering of the grass seed and the distribution of the lime the land should be harrowed. In practice it is not desirable to sow the seed immediately after the lime, but a few days later.

That lime is a great aid in hay production has been shown by Dr. Wheeler, formerly director of the Rhode Island Experiment Station. He found that proper liming increased the yield of hay 120 per cent. Many other experiments in New England and New York show that lime will often double the yield of hay.

Renovating Old Pastures. The growing of grass for pasture is also an important part of the farming operations in this section. Much of the pasture land is too rough or stony to put in cultivation or rotation; hence it is desirable to keep the land in grass as long as possible. Some of the most valuable pasture plants will run out and must be reseeded from time to time. To make the reseeded successful the soil will need in most cases a topdressing of lime and occasionally a light dressing of manure. An application of 1,500 or 2,000 pounds of lime per acre may be made in the late winter or early spring. The thin spots may be seeded to clover in the early spring and scratched in with a spike tooth or a brush harrow if the surface is not too rough or stony. If this is followed by a thin dressing of manure on the reseeded portions a good stand will be secured. Land which produces a good stand of Kentucky blue grass and white clover will seldom need re-seeding, and the presence of these plants generally indicates that the soil has been well fertilized and limed. On the other hand, the presence of moss indicates an unfavorable condition for clover, which can be corrected in a large measure by the use of lime. A little patience in the application of lime and manure and an occasional re-seeding of the thin spots of the pastures will result in a marked improvement of the stand and quality of grass. Many believe that the cattle leave enough manure on the land to fertilize the grass, but close observation will show that the manure is not distributed evenly. Here is where the harrow is an aid in spreading the manure more thoroughly. This may be done after the lime has been spread over the pasture.

An off day

You may have an off day occasionally. It may follow eating too bountifully, it may come from overwork, or perhaps from exposure when fatigued. A dull, heavy, tired feeling in the morning, a headache or a cold in the early stages; these symptoms unfit a person for doing his best, and may lead to illness if neglected.

There is a remedy, safe, sure and reliable, which should be in every household for just such emergencies, the true and original "L. F." Atwood's Medicine. It may be safely used by persons of any age, from children to those well advanced in years. The best way to keep well is to prevent illness, and a teaspoonful or two of this old standard remedy will often prevent serious illness if used at the beginning of trouble. "I find the 'L. F.' PENOBSCOT.

M. F. Bridges has returned from Green Lake, where he has been employed.

Mrs. M. A. Wardwell entertained at whist Monday evening. Refreshments were served.

Sergeant Leo M. Sellers, who has been stationed at Eberts Field, Lonoke, Ark., the past year, has received his discharge and has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. M. A. Wardwell, the past week. He went from here to Ellsworth to visit his mother, Mrs. Eva M. Sellers, before going to Boston to enter Boston university for a course of training furnished by the government.

One of the pleasantest occasions ever held here was the reception and ball given Wednesday evening in honor of the returned soldiers and sailors. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and red, white and blue crepe paper. An orchestra from Bangor played. At 8:30, to strains of patriotic airs, fourteen of "our boys" marched to a position in front of the stage, where they received their many friends. Six young ladies acted as ushers. The grand march was led by Sergeant Urban Leach, who saw foreign service, and Miss Jeannette Sellers. They were followed by the soldiers and their ladies, about sixty couples. The dance orders were very attractive hand-work of the senior class of Clark high school. Each guest received a silk flag as a souvenir. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Archer Bridges and Mrs. M. A. Wardwell, assisted by the teacher and seniors of the school. Much credit is due the committee in charge.

WORMS MAKE SICK CHILDREN

Signs of worms in children are: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

The safe method for ridding the child of worms is to use Dr. Tru's Elixir. Mrs. William G. Boulton of Caddo, Oklahoma, wrote regarding Dr. Tru's Elixir. "We have used it for our children for the last twelve years and certainly know the value of it." You can buy Dr. Tru's Elixir wherever medicine is sold. Pleasant tasting—gentle acting. The family laxative and worm expeller for children and grown folks.
