Mutual Benefit Column.

Its Motto: "Helpful and Helpful."

The purposes of this column are succinctly stated in the title and motto—it is for the mutual benefit, and aims to be helpful and hopeful being for the common good, it is for the common use—a public servant, a purveyor of information and suggestion, a medium for the interchange of ideas. In this capacity it solicits communications, and its success depends largely on the support given it in this respect. Communications must be signed, but the name of writer will not be printed except by permission. Communications will be subject to approval or rejection by the editor of the column, but none will be rejected without good reason. Address all communications to

THE AMERICAN, Ellsworth, Me.

Notable among appeals for the Salvation Army is the poem in the New York Times by William V. Stephens. He writes from the grateful heart that we have come to know in so many of our fighting men who were cheered and aided by Salvation Army workers.

THE GIRL AT NEUVILLY CROSSROADS.

[By William V. Stephens, Co. F, 11th Engineers, U. S. A.]
I stood at Neuvilly Crossroads, that wild September day,
When the transport lines were solid from Claremont all the way—
Solid up to the blazing-line, waiting a moment's chance
To edge along, to grind along, to follow the big advance—
When out of the toll and turmoil there the word was passed about:
"There's something doing down the road! They're passing the doughnuts out!"

The doughnuts had all departed before I had found the place,
The girl with the scarlet band was there, with a smile upon her face.
She joked with the tired soldiers and their curses went unaided,
For there wasn't a man in the army who would harm a hair in her head.
I don't know where she washed her face or brushed her bonnie hair,
For life was too full to wash just then, and we hadn't the time to spare:
Or where she slept with fearless heart, alone in the Argonne flood,
For the only flop was a cold stone floor or a pup tent out in the mud.

But she found for herself a ruined barn and part of a broken stall,
And the roof that filtered the moonbeams in was never a roof at all.
And her soul was steeled by her sovereign faith, till the drone of the Hun up high was lost in the pulsing majesty of her heart's sweet lullaby.

She didn't have much to give or sell, for the transport lines were slow;
But what did the dirty dough-boy care, if she was part of the show?
So long as she was in on the job, and her figure neat and trim,
Then she was a part of the Argonne drive and that was enough for him.
For she was the symbol of things he had left over across the sea;
And here she stood when the hand of Death was clasped on his shaking knee.
And for that he loved her with all his heart, which was all he had to give,
So he pledged himself to carry the word, if his God would let him live.
And the word of the one was passed along over and under the ground,
Till the curious world has asked at last the source of the strident sound.
Then the word comes back that "a girl has done all that a girl can do,"
And as she kept faith in the days of death, she expects the same from you!

Dear M. B. Friends:
A friend of mine in Massachusetts sent me a copy of the Literary Digest of June 7, with the above poem marked. I have the impression she associated "Aunt Zaida's molasses doughnuts" with those mentioned in the stanzas. Thanks to the friend who sent them. It is not the first help she has given the column, and she must count herself a mutual.

What an early season we are having this year! The foliage, the blossoms and the gardens all show it. The fields are aglow with buttercups, daisies and clover, and the whole countryside never presented a prettier sight. I hope all the mutuals are able to enjoy it.
I had a few minutes' chat with "Did" a day or two ago. We used to hear from her from all over the country years ago. Many of you will remember her letters from Washington state and other places. She has not forgotten the M. B.'s, and hopes to attend a reunion sometime.

The "sweet-graduate" and June-wedding days are here again. The individual participants are not the same, but the sentiment, and the doors opening into the future, give the same flavor and opportunity to new aspirants to happiness and success. We will not forget the renewal of old associations and friendships which the alumni enjoy on these anniversary occasions. The coming together at these gatherings brings back memories which brighten life's pathway and keep the heart younger. These gatherings are sort of an anchoring-ground, where for a little while "time and tide" wait, as it were, for old classmates to exchange greetings, recall the past, and forget that time has borne them along past several such meetings.

In the June American Magazine, Philip B. Hawk, Ph. D., has given the public an article, which explains a number of theories in regard to what it is safe to eat, things we have always been told were conducive to serious if not fatal results. The writer is a professor at Jefferson medical college in Philadelphia, and experiments have been tried on human beings willing to take the tests on these different foods, etc. There is not space to write out these in our department, but a few may be mentioned:

We are told "hot bread" is bad for digestion; that "water with meals" makes a swimming pool of the stomach; that ice-water chills the stomach; that distilled water is worse; that rapid drinking of milk causes large tough curds, slow to digest (in connection with this statement, Dr. Hawk considers that during the thirty years he sipped a quart of milk a day, he wasted at least fifteen hundred hours). He also enters in this class "bob veal and Fletcherizing." All of these theories he refutes by actual experiments and tests. The article is certainly interesting.

People Constipated and Don't Know It!

It seems odd, but it is true, that you may be constipated and not know it.

You can see why it is. Take a glass and pour in water until full. If you keep on pouring in water after the glass is full, it will run over, but the glass stays full.

Just so with your bowels; they get full of waste matter, and then they pass off or expel from the body only about the same amount that goes into it in the form of food.

So you may have a movement of the bowels every day and yet there will remain waste matter that ought to be removed.

Give your bowels a gentle but thorough cleaning out and you'll feel great. A fine prescription for this is put up and sold under the name of Dr. True's Elixir. Doctors and druggists use it in their own families. Costs but little and brings health to men, women and children. Sweet and pleasant tasting. Works gently. Children like it. CLIFFORD-BABBIDGE WEDDING.

Miss Eleanor Clifford of Cape Rosier and James T. Babbidge of North Brooksville, were married at the Union church here on Friday, June 6, by Rev. Mr. Muder of the Castine Unitarian church. The church was well filled with relatives and friends. The single ring service was used.

The bride was prettily gowned in white satin, with veil, and carried a shower bouquet of white rosebuds and white lilies. Miss Adeline Clifford of Bethel, Vt., cousin of the bride, was maid-of-honor, while Richard L. Clifford, brother of the bride, was best man.

The church was beautifully decorated with white and purple lilies, apple blossoms and other spring flowers, under the capable direction of Mrs. Addie Black. The Lohengrin march was played by Mrs. Alfred Blake. There were many beautiful presents.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy D. Clifford, and was graduated from Brooksville high school in the class of 1917. The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Babbidge. Both are popular with all who know them. They have gone to housekeeping in a cottage near the groom's former home.

GOTT-STRANG WEDDING.

One of the prettiest of the early summer weddings took place June 14, at noon, when Miss Nettie Mae Gott of Brooklin, became the bride of Gustave Adolph Strang of Washington, D. C. The ceremony took place at All Saints' Episcopal church, Chevy Chase, Md., Canon J. W. Austin officiating. The chancel was decorated with clusters of white roses. Mr. Douglas W. Clephane acted as usher. The bride entered the church on the arm of Col. W. C. Clephane, who gave her away, and was met at the chancel by the groom. She wore a smart travelling suit of brown tulle with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of Sophronia rosebuds and pink sweet peas. The ceremony was followed by an informal reception at the home of Col and Mrs. Clephane in Chevy Chase. The house was artistically decorated with daisies and other early summer blossoms, while red and pink roses lent color to the drawing rooms. During the reception William T. Pierson, a Washington composer, sang his new wedding song, "When You Are Near Me." The bride was the recipient of a number of pretty gifts in silver, cut glass and china, and she received from the groom a $500 Liberty bond. Among the guests were several of the bride's friends who spend their summers in Maine, including Col. W. B. Thompson, Miss Mary Powell, Mrs. Jessie I. Pierson, Ernest Dowell and family, Miss Madella H. Small of Sedgwick, Mrs. Jesse E. Potbury of Cape Rosier, Miss Violet W. Pierson, William T. Pierson and others. Miss Ethel S. Watson of Winchester, Mass., was also an out-of-town guest. Mr. and Mrs. Strang left late in the afternoon for Atlantic City. After October 1, the couple will be at home to their friends in Chevy Chase, Md., where their residence is now under construction.

BIRCH HARBOR.

Harry Schoppee, wife and mother, of Sprague's Falls, were recent guests at M. H. Winslow's. Monday evening, June 16, the returned soldiers were given a reception, which was much enjoyed. After a short program, Frank Huckins, Walter Schultz and Edgar Rice told something of their experiences in France. A wedding of much interest to people in this vicinity took place at the Baptist church on Wednesday evening, June 18, when Miss Lottie Belle Pettee, daughter of Mrs. William Rice of this village, became the wife of Walter Schultz of Cleveland, O., recently returned from service in France. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Elijah Mercer, the double ring service being used. The church was well filled with relatives and guests. The bride wore white silk with bridal veil, and carried white carnations. She was given away by her step-father, William Rice. Miss Flossie Hancock, bridesmaid, was gowned in pink crepe de chine and carried pink carnations. Rupert Blance of Prospect Harbor was best man and Mrs. Ina Bragg of Winter Harbor played the wedding march. Misses Ivy Rice, Leonice Rice, Avis Temple, Alda Winslow, Edith Seavy, Vivian Workman were flower girls and Mildred Trundy, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. Following the ceremony an opportunity was given for congratulations, after which all went into the vestry, where refreshments were served. The bridal party was generously showered with confetti. RED CROSS CLEANS UP TURKISH CAPITAL

Americans Join With Allies in the Regeneration of Constantinople.

Constantinople is being cleaned up by the allies, and soon it will be like a western European city. The regeneration of Turkey is commencing with a general sanitary campaign in which the American Red Cross commission to the Balkans has been asked to aid. "American sanitary engineers of the Goethals type are badly needed out here," said an American physician. "Severe conditions must be installed throughout the near East in hundreds of towns. Constantinople must be cleaned up till it looks like a Swiss housewife's kitchen. "Mosquito netting by the millions of holes must be brought over. Local doctors do not believe in the screening of sick beds or of hospital windows. They must go to school again in their profession. "The people must be driven out of the filthy centers of disease into the open country, where the sun can get at them and where they can engage in healthful farm work. "Sometimes," said the Red Cross doctor, "I feel an irresistible desire to gather 10,000 of these unfortunate wretches together, strip them of their crazy-quilt bundles of vermin-infested rags, force them all into a vast petroleum pool, then into a great tank of clean water. I would give them one and all a pair of American shoes, a pair of overalls and a sweater. "The roads over which we are trying to get our automobiles, filled with Red Cross supplies for the underfed of central Serbia, are quite impassable. From Saloniki to Belgrade the roads are lined with tens of thousands of skeletons and rotting carcasses of animals. Soldiers' graves, thinly screened with earth, skirt the highways. No wonder there are dozens of cases of typhus in every city in Serbia. "What the near East needs is several divisions of Americans plumbers, railroad men, sanitary engineers, doctors, nurses, white wings, building contractors, army bakers and coat and pants salesmen with East side experience. "The first boatload to leave Toulon or New York should contain the plumbers."

CARES FOR COMFORT OF MERCHANT CREWS

Aboard every ship controlled by the United States shipping board the comfort of the men is carefully looked after. This picture shows a tier of individual metal clothes lockers where the "shore clothes" of the sailors may be kept under lock and key.

NORTH BROOKSVILLE.

The community was saddened by the death of Byron Herrick at his home in South Penobscot June 13, after a brief illness. Death was due to a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Herrick was much respected in the community. He was a man who loved his home, and one who loved all good things. He was a loving husband and sincere friend. The funeral was held on his seventy-fifth birthday. Rev. John Carson spoke words of comfort to the bereaved wife and relatives, from his knowledge of Mr. Herrick. He leaves a wife, two brothers and three sisters, who have the sympathy of all.
