PARK THEATRE
Revealing the fantastic plan of a warring nation to destroy its enemy in one smashing blow, "The W Plan," an unusual war film, comes to the Park Friday-Saturday.
Although "The W Plan" deals with the war period, it is said to have a minimum of trite war scenes in it. The action takes place behind the German lines, and in the subterranean galleries which were part of a reputed plan to dig across "no man's land" and break the back of the Allied forces. How this plan was developed and eventually blasted by the ingenuity of a single man forms a story which has been termed by critics to be "brilliant and excellently exciting."—adv.

STRAND THEATRE
An elaborate night club where smartly dressed women and men make merry, will be seen in "Hell Bound," showing Friday and Saturday at the Strand.
In the midst of the merry-making, a slip of a girl renders a song that brings tears to her listeners. Lola Lane portraying the heroine of this gripping story of gangland sings a song that was especially written for her charming, plaintive voice. It is entitled, "Is It Love"—a haunting melody. Leo Carrillo has the leading role as the sympathetic gang-leader.—adv.

THE SIEGE OF WASHINGTON
Being a Further Recounting Of a Famous Vacation Trip
Told By Miss Pride and Students

(Second Installment)

Wednesday—Israel Snow
[The itinerary states that we have a free morning or time spent at leisure of party. Of course there are many interesting things to do but all will not choose the same thing. It so happens that the writer of today's activities is to visit Corcoran Art Gallery and I'm sure it will prove most interesting; for the Corcoran Art collection is one of the most famous of art collections. Our writer is Israel Snow—Miss Olive Pridel.]

This was our free morning. Different members of the class formed small groups and visited the museums and art galleries, while others went shopping. We decided to visit the house in which Lincoln died. It is situated on 10th street, a few blocks from the hotel. It is a small red brick building hiding snugly between the large office buildings of Washington. The room in which Lincoln died is not very large, and the original floor, though badly worn, is still there. In another room are relics of the Lincoln family; chairs, beds all kinds of furniture that the family used. There is contained in a glass case the Bible which Mrs. Lincoln used when she read to her son.

After leaving the place of Lincoln's death we started to walk toward the Corcoran Gallery of Art. Crossing the park one could see the cherry trees, green grass and bright tulips. Now as we looked through the beautiful green foliage of the trees we could see the shining White House with its well kept lawn, its graceful fountain and its cool-looking awnings.

Entering the gallery we mounted the beautiful marble stairs, which led to the art galleries in which were hung many beautiful paintings by famous artists. The W. C. Clark collection is very well known and we spent much time in these halls. There is a particularly fine collection of the paintings of Corot perhaps the most outstanding exhibit of this famous collector. Mr. Clark collected pictures of which he was fond and which pleased him regardless of the name of the person who did the work.

We reached another room in which were wonderful Gothic tapestries of the XV century. Finally we reached the Louis XVI salon which was one of the most beautiful sights in the whole gallery. All the paneled walls were adorned with beautiful mural paintings and the furniture was of the graceful and elaborate Louis XVI period.

After lunch we prepared ourselves for the afternoon trip to Mount Vernon. We arrived at the wharf only to find that the steamer did not leave for 1 1/2 hours. We used the time to excellent advantage for we went aboard Byrd's ship "The City of New York" which was moored to a nearby dock. We saw Byrd's cabin and headquarters, the radio cabin and the chart room.

We went into the hold where a museum has been made containing relics of Byrd's trip to Little America. There we saw seals, penguins, and other animals of the cold land. We also saw the sleds, tents, cooking utensils, and clothing which the men used on their journey.

We reached our wharf just in time to board our steamer and start for the beautiful trip to Mt. Vernon by way of the Potomac River. Anchored near the wharf was the majestic and beautiful yacht Lyndonia, owned by Cyrus H. K. Curtis.

It began to rain and many contented themselves by dancing in the saloon. It was still raining when we reached Washington's estate, but rain could not stop Rockland High School students from visiting one of the most famous places in all the country. The first thing we saw was Washington's Tomb, which was very beautiful and impressive. Next we visited the main house, which contains the original furniture of Washington's time. We saw the bedroom in which Lafayette slept during his visit to Mount Vernon, also the room in which Washington died.

After seeing the coach-house which contained a coach of Washington's; the servants' quarters; the spinning house in which all cloth was made; and the beautiful gardens which Martha Washington planted herself, we went back to the boat and started back for Washington, wet but glad we had seen historical Mount Vernon.

At dinner in the evening we had a birthday party for Mrs. Hart and presented her a pair of blue "mules" or slippers. Walter Gay made the memorable presentation speech which will always be remembered. It was most spontaneous and met with great approval by all.

Thursday—Ernest Blackington
[How we would have liked to remain longer in Washington with all its grandeur and beauty to enjoy! Still all good things must come to an end and our stay in the city was over, so with our bags all packed and buses waiting we were transferred to Union Station there to leave for Philadelphia. Of this trip and of our first day in New York we shall hear from a senior who has enjoyed the trip thoroughly, Ernest Blackington.—Miss Pridel.]

Every one up early for breakfast and most of us are sorry to leave Washington. The weather is fine and just the kind of day that one enjoys. Once on the train, everyone finds something to do, either playing cards, sleeping or otherwise amusing themselves. Burgess and Halligan have just finished their lemonade and now they are making use of the ice and it seems to be a "free for all" to see if they can spoil some one's day by dropping it down some unlucky person's neck in their pocket.

By the sound someone is playing "I doubt it!" That someone proves to be Ludwick with a few friends he has found on the way—he follows the slogan, "Making new acquaintances and keeping the old." Halligan is playing "scissors" now with Burgess and they appear to be having a snappy good time. The train arrives at the station in Philadelphia and we go up to the dining room for lunch.

A bus takes us to the famous spots of Philadelphia. On Market street we saw Wanamaker's department store covering a large acreage in this section. Near that is located one of the finest hotels in the city, Hotel Philadelphia. The guide tells us that on the roof the sandwiches cost one dollar and with mustard one dollar and a half. We wonder what the price is on the lowest floor? Then we pass Keith's new million-dollar theatre, and across is the theatre used by Schubert.

We visit Independence Hall. We see the Liberty Bell and the room, chair and table where the Declaration of Independence was signed. We passed the cemetery where Benjamin Franklin is buried. (We saw a street laid out by Benjamin Franklin. It was very narrow and has the gutter in the middle, which has his idea. We then passed the first Presidential Mansion, the home where Thomas Jefferson framed the Declaration of Independence.)

It was very interesting to all to see Betsy Ross's home. On the left of this house is the Federal Building and postoffice. We visited Fairmount Park which has countless trees planted in memory of boys who fell in the World War. We saw the Art Museum with the water falls in front representing the four largest rivers. In front of this is Washington to the art galleries in which were hung many beautiful paintings by famous artists. The W. C. Clark collection is very well known and we spent much time in these halls. There is a particularly fine collection of the paintings of Corot perhaps the most outstanding exhibit of this famous collector. THE FOSSIL CLUB

Entertains Youthful Guests and Some Who Have Traveled Long Road

Written by Dion E. Woolley for the New York Evening Post.

Those two unusually precocious boy publishers, the Marsh brothers, William J. Jr., aged twelve, and Charles (Bub), ten, of New Milford, Conn., enjoyed a day and evening in New York Saturday as guests of the Fossils. They were accompanied by Fossil John Adams Thayer, of Westport, Conn.

In the evening the boys attended the Twenty-eighth annual reunion and dinner of The Fossils, that unique organization composed of men who in their boyhood edited and published amateur papers. The event was at the Club of the National Vaudeville Association, 228 West Forty-sixth Street. The boys were enthusiastically greeted by seventy or more members, whose ages average more than seventy. The contrast between the youthful, bubbling, hopeful faces of the happy expectant journalistic adventurers, and those of the boy editors and printers of more than fifty years ago was intriguing and soon inspired the seniors to a state of complete rejuvenation.

Early in the proceedings, with President Evan Reed Riale presiding the boy guests were introduced and William entertainingly described their experience in writing and printing their first book, "Our President, Herbert Hoover."

In striking contrast to these youths, from this standpoint of years, there were two members of The Fossils present who have pursued the vocation of printing continuously from the time of their amateur days until the present. These were William O. Fuller of Rockland, Me., who still publishes three times a week the "Courier-Gazette" which he started as an amateur paper (The Courier) in 1874, and James B. Borland of Franklin, Pa., publisher of the "Evening News," which he started as an amateur paper in 1878.

Rarely have the amateur publishers continued their hobbies so many years, although Cyrus H. K. Curtis, who published his first paper, "The Young America," in Portland, Me., in April, 1865, at the age of fifteen, has devoted his entire life to the publishing business, his work resulting in a stupendous success. The Scribner and Putnam publishing houses were the outgrowth of amateur printing.

President Riale referred to the addition of 50 new members during the year and called upon the initiates present for brief remarks, responded to by William Cogger, Washington, D. C.; Mr. Fuller; William F. Rexford, Philadelphia; Fred H. Bowersock, Washington, D. C.; William M. Rumney, Brooklyn.

TWILL BOOM MAINE
Spring Timetable of Maine Central Something Besides Dull Statistics

The most radical departure ever, has been made by the Maine Central in the issuance of its new spring timetable of train service. Instead of finding the regulation timetable that the traveler has been accustomed to when trying to locate a train he is now attracted by the gaudy covers and the invitation to "Take a Rest Down Maine." "Play Golf Down Maine."

The timetable is made up of 48 pages, profusely illustrated with attractive photographs advertising the Pine Tree State. Such beauty spots in Maine as Moosehead Lake, Bar Harbor, Rockland, Dead River, State Capitol, Mount Katahdin and Belgrade Lakes, receive prominent position. Illustrations of the Railroad's crack trains "The Gull," "The Bar Harbor Express" and new DeLuxe coaches are also included. It has an appeal to the vacation seeker in addition to carrying complete train schedules covering the entire system.

More than 200,000 of these timetables will be distributed by the railroad in all parts of the United States and Canada among travel and information bureaus, publicity offices, hotels, railroad ticket offices and other places where persons seek information on vacations in Maine. This should be instrumental in bringing many tourists to Maine this summer.

Information from various sources convinced Sheriff Harding that the missing farmhand was Alden Boulieu, with whose history the sheriff was familiar by virtue of the fact that the officer was commissary at the Maine State Prison when Boulieu began his life sentence. One means of identification was found in tattoo marks on the left forearm representing a woman's face beneath which was the word "Nina."

Boulieu was committed to the State Prison in 1914 for murder. He developed such strong evidences of insanity that he was removed to

Rockport Farmhand Who Disappeared At Same Time Believed To Be Alden Boulieu, Murderer Who Escaped From the State Hospital Last Fall—Rewards May Be Offered

The strange disappearance of Mrs. Fred Wellman, who has not been seen since she left her home on the Beech Hill road in Rockport last Thursday forenoon is now attributed to foul play, this decision having been reached yesterday by three officials who have been conducting an unceasing investigation since they were notified. The search now will be made for the body and with small expectation of finding the woman alive.

This theory is based on the disappearance of a farmhand, who is believed to have been identified as Alden Boulieu, a life convict, who escaped from the Augusta insane hospital last fall. The farmhand who went by the name of William Atkinson, entered the employ of Fred Priest, in Rockport, shortly after Boulieu's escape, and his disappearance was coincident with that of Mrs. Wellman.

Mrs. Wellman, who has a husband and three daughters is 37 years old, 6 feet tall and weighs 212 pounds. Absence of upper teeth, and the fact that she is somewhat freckled would have made identification easy, the officers say, and they refuse to believe that she could have left the community by any ordinary method, unobserved. Added to these methods of identification was the fact that Mrs. Wellman was wearing an ordinary house dress and was presumably hatless and coatless.

Except for the statement of a Camden street resident named Kaler that he thinks he saw her in Rockland subsequent to her disappearance from home, and that she was wearing a blue coat, there has been absolutely no trace of the missing woman.

That her departure from home was unpremeditated is shown, the authorities say, by the fact that she was engaged in washing clothes at the time of her disappearance and on the stove certain articles were being prepared for the noonday meal.

Joining in the investigation which began immediately after Mrs. Wellman's disappearance became known were Sheriff Frank F. Harding, Deputy Sheriff C. Earle Ludwick and Leon S. Shepard, widely known as the State's finger printing expert.

Their first discovery was that tracks had been found leading from the Wellman farmhouse to a wood-road, vanishing there because the ground was hard and dry from that point.

With little expectation of finding foul play evidence the officers at first confined their investigation to the usual sources of inquiry. When this failed to develop any clues the officers began to look for possible motives of foul play, and the trail led to the neighboring farm of Fred Priest, where a laborer was known to have suddenly quit the job.

Information from various sources convinced Sheriff Harding that the missing farmhand was Alden Boulieu, with whose history the sheriff was familiar by virtue of the fact that the officer was commissary at the Maine State Prison when Boulieu began his life sentence. One means of identification was found in tattoo marks on the left forearm representing a woman's face beneath which was the word "Nina."

Boulieu was committed to the State Prison in 1914 for murder. He developed such strong evidences of insanity that he was removed to the Augusta asylum about 1925. Cure apparently having been effected he was returned to the prison Nov. 27, 1929, only to be re-committed to the insane hospital Feb. 27, 1930.

He escaped during the fall of that year, and about that time a stranger appeared at Fred Priest's farm in Rockport and sought employment. Being in the midst of harvest season Priest took him on, and is said to have found him a good workman.

Something, however, made the employer suspicious of the laborer's clothing, and this suit was identified during the present investigation, by Mr. Shepard, as one which had been stolen from a farmhouse in Windsor.

Atkinson (the name which he had given at the Priest farm) claimed to be 37 years old, is about 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs about 150 pounds. At the time of his disappearance he is believed to have been wearing a blue serge suit, white shirt, a cap and pair of tan shoes. He is dark and has a head of bushy hair, almost curly, and partly streaked with gray.

Atkinson (or Boulieu) claimed to have a relative in this section, and a checkup by the authorities revealed that Boulieu actually has a sister not many miles from where he had sought employment. Her name is withheld by the officers. Boulieu is evidently a French Canadian.

The three officers who have worked so industriously on the case, and with apparently such important results, called County Attorney Ensign Otis into the case yesterday afternoon, and laid their cards on the table, as the saying is.

They found prompt and hearty co-operation on his part, and he is today going carefully over the ground with Deputy Sheriff Ludwick.

It is quite probable that rewards will be offered for the recovery of Mrs. Wellman's body, (if indeed she has been slain) and for the apprehension of Boulieu.

SEES BACKWARD WEATHER
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Cook County, Ill., wants to be made a separate State (the State of Capone, no doubt). I think it would be much nicer to make it into a district, the same as the District of Columbia, governed directly by Congress, with Gen. Smedley Butler as city manager.

The abundance of caterpillar nests causes us to believe that a period of raw, cold, backward weather is at hand. As the native flowers and trees are several days ahead of schedule, we can have a week of raw weather and still be on time.

Bloodroot, mayflowers, bathflower, liverleaf, early sedge and early saxifrage are in evidence. This is unusual for April. Willow, poplar and the alders have been out for some time. If we get a warm day within a week, columbine, anemones and violets will be with us. J. A. T.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM
GOD GIVETH HIS BELOVED SLEEP
Sotly the wild bird sings
Into its downy nest when twilight falls,
And not one care his trustful spirit links
To the wide world without his fragile walls;
Unthought of those who wake to watch and weep
He knows—God giveth His beloved sleep.

The rangers of the hills,
Unnumbered herds that range the verdant plain,
The sliding serpent, charming while he kills,
The bee that homeward bears his luscious gain,
The rest, when o'er them evening shadows creep—
They know—God giveth His beloved sleep.

The very flowers are bowed
When cooler airs caress them and the dew
Hangs from their tinted petals, and a crowd
Of glittering stars look forth from fields of blue;
Then, while the songs of angels o'er them creep,
They rest, God giveth His beloved sleep.

To all, most holy night,
To the green leaves, the mountain springs, the flowers,
The constancy with thy silent wing of might,
And blessings greet thee from the tranquil hours,
While man, o'erborne with grief, forgets to weep,
Knowing—God giveth His beloved sleep.

And they all rest in peace:
Fusion is hushed, the toll, the strife, are o'er;
The struggling spirit hath obtained release,
And plumes its wings, though but in dreams, to soar;
Oh, blessed night, that bears, through shadows deep,
The charm that giveth God's beloved sleep.

And when the mellow light
From eyes we love grows dim and fades away,
When the low, grassy mound conceals the dead,
One who had made the brightness of life's day,
When floods of grief the spirit's chambers sweep,
Oh, think—God giveth His beloved sleep.

ARBOR DAY

Friday, May 8, is Arbor Day in Maine. Gov. Gardner's proclamation follows:

"Trees with their shade and shelter are the most lovely ornaments of our towns and countryside and our forests have been a dominant factor in the economic history of our State.

"In their beauty and grandeur and in the exquisiteness of their detail our trees proclaim the power of a creative Deity whose all-embracing care gives renewed confidence in the Providence whose gifts are so lavish and bountiful.

"Therefore, to assist in perpetuating our forests, and to impress our youth with the beauty and sturdiness of nature, and in keeping with statutory requirement, I hereby proclaim Friday, May 8, Arbor Day in the State of Maine."

American newspaper publishers, when they held their annual meeting in New York the other day seriously discussed the inroads which the radio has made in the advertising field. They feel that the multiplication of radio sets is due in no small measure to the publicity received through the press, and now that the radio has become a definite rival in the advertising field it should be placed under the same governmental restrictions that are placed on newspapers. Because of the tremendous number of radio receivers now in existence the value of broadcasting cannot fail to be very large so far as nationally advertised articles are concerned. But if, on the other hand, a Rockland man or a Belfast man should choose to expend a considerable sum in radio advertising, who for a moment believes that the results would be proportioned to those accruing from a similar expenditure in The Courier-Gazette, Camden Herald or Belfast Journal. There is no advertising medium that can possibly cover the local field as efficiently, and with such satisfactory results as a local newspaper.

Commander MacMillan's explorations will be interestingly varied this season by an airplane flight from Boston to London, in the course of which he hopes to solve the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the French flyers Nungesser and Gollé, who hopped off from Paris May 7, 1927. The Commander believes it quite probable that the French aces may have been forced down in Labrador, a theory which was strengthened somewhat by the statement of Col. James Fitzmaurice, who told MacMillan that if the fog had not lifted when it did his plane would have gone into the interior of Labrador. The long hop made by MacMillan will be from Nain, Labrador to London, and it is hardly necessary to add that everybody in Maine will be praying for the success of the intrepid Prepost explorer.

In these days when our stage entertainment is confined almost exclusively to the screen it is refreshing to sit through as nice a performance as that given by St. Bernard's Players in Park Theatre Tuesday night. Father O'Gara has developed a surprising amount of dramatic talent in the Catholic parish, and it has responded splendidly to his able coaching.

The "Nature Cranks" are finding much to write about this spring, and they would probably be surprised if they knew the extent to which their stories are being followed. Nature's diary is written in plain language for those who know how to interpret it, and when we cease to be interested in nature we have forfeited one of the best interests in life.

Courier-Gazette subscribers have followed with sympathetic interest the stories of the Washington trip told by the students, themselves. It is very evident that the students' horizon was materially broadened by what they saw, and that they also had the good times which one expects youths to have.

Last Saturday we handed April a nice bouquet because of the week of marvelous weather which had just been experienced. The subsequent behavior of that month is not calculated to give it all A's. Sort of a February, March and April rolled into one.

The average New Englander would be glad to see Calvin Coolidge President again while he is still in the prime of life, but who believes that the conservative Bay State man can be induced to enter the lists against President Hoover.

The front pages of the daily newspapers have been liberally bespattered with tragedies and crime stories the past week. Small wonder that the average reader quickly turns to the baseball news or cross word puzzle.

ton's monument, which has 13 steps leading up to it representing the thirteen original states.

Then back to the train with our destination now New York City where we were to stop for a short time. At Jersey City we left the train and took buses which took us to Lincoln Hotel in New York City.

In the evening we went to Roxy's Theatre which is an elaborate and pretentious theatre. The vaudeville was fine but we did not care for the picture. Someone observing the well-planned electric board which shows the seat plan and just how many seats were taken aptly remarked in the vernacular of two well-known radio performers "We don't know we're living;" this perhaps could be appropriate for many things which we observed.

After the theatre we went to "Chinatown," taking the subway and then the elevated. The people, signs and goods were all Chinese. We visited Tom Noonan's Rescue Mission, "the cathedral of the Underworld on Doyer Street." The service was impressive, with all those "down and outers" sitting there with hardly a friend in the world. Downstairs we saw the kitchen, very clean and immaculate. The history of the room is most interesting. Even when it comes to the mission is given as much bread and coffee as he wants, new clothes if he needs them and the mission tries to give him a new start in life. No one is turned away if there is room in the mission. We all checked in at 12 o'clock feeling quite strange in the large city but finding it quite a new experience.

Friday—"Bob" Dutton

[How anxious the girls were for this morning to come to start out for the shopping district and see Fifth Avenue. There is such a glamour to New York, the lights of Broadway—the scene the night before—the people with their very hustling and efficient ways, the buildings, tall and awesome looming everywhere, the city itself colossal, grim and unyielding, still that something which it creates which enthralled most people. Practically all went on shopping expeditions, however the writer for today, "Bob" Dutton did not shop but went touring and will tell you his experiences.—Miss Pride.]

After a welcome night's sleep at the pretentious Hotel Lincoln at 45th street in New York City, the various members of our party roused themselves and scoured the city for home-cooked food. After breakfast, the remainder of the morning, (a little remained to many) was spent at the pleasure of the party with a visit to the Chrysler building, the prevailing feature. Chinatown and the East side were treated to a visit by others, accompanied by Principal Blaisdell.

Luncheon having been obtained we joined the party for a three-hour sight-seeing trip of New York and the suburbs; visiting Fifth Avenue, Broadway, Riverside Drive, Grant's Tomb, Columbia University, Cathedral of St. John the Divine, thence to Chinatown, the Bowery, and the Bronx. From here the buses conveyed us to E.R.S. terminal where we boarded the steamer for Boston.

After enjoying the panoramic view of the city skyline and New York Harbor receding in the distance we went to dinner. The remainder of the evening was then spent in dancing, playing cards, and promenading the wide decks.

At 11 o'clock everybody retired, unanimous in the decision that it was the end of a perfect day.

Saturday—Dorothy Maguire

[Our trip all too soon is over and tonight will end what has been a week which will always be remembered by all who shared in the enjoyment of this trip. It was harmonious from beginning to end and it can be said most sincerely that a finer group and a more appreciative group would be difficult to find. Everywhere people spoke of the courteous and splendid behaviour of the members of the party and the entire journey was a joy to all who participated. The special trip for today is

A FINE PRODUCTION

St. Bernard's Players Amaze
 Big Audience With "Nothing
 But the Truth"

A large and appreciative audience witnessed the presentation of "Nothing But the Truth" by the St. Bernard Players at the Park Theatre Tuesday night. The cast, an unusually strong one, included many experienced players, and the play had not far progressed before the spectators quite forgot that it was an amateur presentation. The comedy, which carries through three acts was staged in excellent manner and with a complete absence of those little breaks which so often lend embarrassment to an amateur production.

The cast:
 "Clarence Van Deusen," Robert McCarty; "E. M. Ralston," Edwin Lynch; "Professor Doran," John Moulaison; "Dick Donnelly," Alme Beaudoin; "Bob Bennett," Robert Boyle; "Mrs. Ralston," Joanna Patterson; "Gwen Ralston," Helen Moulaison; "Ethel Clarke," Cecilia Brault; "Mabel Jackson," Agnes Flanagan; "Sabel Jackson," Mildred Ryan; "Martha," Madeline Coffey.

Act 1, scene 1, brokerage office of E. M. Ralston.

Act 2, scene 2, parlor of E. M. Ralston's Country Home, following afternoon.

Act 3, Same scene, same day.

Mr. Boyle gave a convincing performance of the part of Bob Bennett, the engaging youth who actually proved that it is possible to speak nothing but the truth—at least for 24 hours.

As manager of Park Theatre Mr. Boyle is naturally much at home in that institution, but he proved equally so on the stage. He has had experience in amateur theatricals in his home State of New York, and in Vermont, and is a distinct addition to local circles histrionic.

Mr. Lynch was particularly good as E. M. Ralston, whether selling worthless stocks over the telephone, staving off solicitors for charity funds, or juggling to convince the charming Mrs. Ralston Joanna Patterson) that he was really not the monster her imagination pictured him.

The program was eagerly consulted to learn the broker's identity, but to most persons the name of Edwin Lynch signified nothing. For their benefit it may be stated that he is on the office staff of the Lawrence Portland Cement Company, and was prominent in college theatricals.

Miss Patterson rated as one of the important members of the cast and gave to her part the exact amount of zest for which it called.

Robert McCarty and Alme Beaudoin, as the two bright young brokers intent on winning their bet, were admirably adapted to their parts. Any play with two Moulaisons in it is bound to be good. Helen made a delightfully dainty heroine and John was never louder or funnier than as Prof. Doran yelling for his money. Madeline Coffey would have delighted the heart of any hostess in search of a maid, while Cecilia Brault carried off a rather thankless part with excellent grace, her "terrible" solo being all the funnier to those who know her undoubted musical talent.

The Jackson sisters, Mabel and Sabel, played by Agnes Flanagan and Mildred Ryan were a very decorative and dashing pair amiably obliging with $200 worth of dramatic details arranged to suit the customer. Between the acts the audience was entertained with vocal solos by young Eddie Griffin. The cast is indebted to Miss Adelyn Bushnell for valuable assistance in the coaching of the play.

"Rounded" Performance!

Amazing Torsiograph tests prove The Dictator engine the smoothest Eight within hundreds of dollars of its price!

NO CAR in its price class matches the velvet smoothness of The Dictator's 81 horsepower engine. Its Torsiograph record is smoothly "rounded" in striking contrast to the roughness common to ordinary eights, sixes and fours.

No car in its price class has the effective carburetor silencing and the full-power engine muffling without back pressure that combine to give The Dictator Eight quiet and smoothness equaled only in high priced cars.

Studebaker goes to extremes not approached by any maker in this price class to remove vibration. The crankshaft of The Dictator engine has nine (9)

The Torsiograph, one of the most nearly infallible of automotive laboratory instruments, records accurately the vibration of any rotating shaft. The closer the record chart approaches a true circle, the more nearly perfect the balance of the crankshaft. Above are shown the Torsiograph records of The Dictator Eight nine (9) bearing crankshaft and those of two other eights of double The Dictator's price. Notice the smooth roundness of The Dictator graph contrasted with the irregularity, or "humpiness" of the other two.

bearings and is balanced not only statically but dynamically on machines that are marvels of precision.

What remains of vibration is further minimized by a crankshaft vibration damper. Dual carburetion and manifolding, feeding exactly proportional amounts of fuel to each cylinder, avoid "starving" of the end cylinders and assure even power impulses.

And plus all this, plus the fact that The Dictator Eight has only 38.2 pounds of weight per horsepower, you also get Free Wheeling, greatest engineering advance since the electric starter. You get Free Wheeling's unique travel-smoothness, its freedom from clutch pushing, its 15% to 20% gas and oil savings, its officially approved increased safety.

Drive this Free Wheeling Dictator—the Eight without a "rough spot" in its whole sparkling speed range and you'll recognize, without a word of salesmanship, that it's far and away the best "buy" in its price range.

The old Thorndike house on Pine street is being demolished. It had not been occupied for 15 years and was really unsafe. The old 4th Maine infantry encamped provides the motif for a picture on display in the window of W. H. Glover Co. It was painted by Frank Winslow of Vinalhaven from a photograph and is a carefully executed piece of work. It is displayed in the hope of further interesting the public in the efforts of the sisters of Ruth Mayhew Tent to raise funds for a suitable marker at the old campground of the 4th Maine on Middle street hill.

Visions of "the good old days" that some folks talk about were conjured up Tuesday when Patrolmen Ingraham and Christofferson dragged a "drunk" up from Crockett's Park. In Court yesterday the man had no recollection of his escapades, which included the smashing of a window at the Eastern Steamship wharf, the slugging of one bystander and getting knocked out by another. The sight of a drunken man being dragged through the streets—once so common here—is now fortunately a rare one.

The W.C.T.U. will hold an open meeting Friday afternoon in the First Baptist Church parlors, with a child welfare program in charge of Mrs. Clara Emery and Mrs. Evelyn Sherman. Tweedie whose subject is the spiritual training of the child. A group of children from the Tyler school will present a health exercise. A social hour will follow in charge of Mrs. Ida Simmons and Mrs. Grace Ludwick.

The May Day Fete to be given in the R.H.S. gym tomorrow night by the sophomores under the direction of Miss Fride, will have several very attractive features, among them being the maypole dance to the "Melody in F" and a minuet to the well known music of the "Minuet in G;" a court procession of 35 sophomores including knights and ladies in waiting, a herald, Merton Sumner, and court jester, Victor Armita, followed by the ceremony of the crowning of the May Queen whose identity is still shrouded in mystery. New 48Hour Treatment For Rheumatism

Over the Weekend Goes Pain, Agony and Swelling or Money Back, Says David L. McCarty

LARGE 8 OZ. BOTTLE 85c

They call this the Allenru week-end treatment for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis because you can go to bed on Friday Night—stay there as much as possible till Monday morning and when there drive the uric acid from your ailing joints and muscles. But during that time you must take Allenru as directed—for Allenru acts with double speed when the body is relaxed and rested. You can purchase Allenru from David L. McCarty or any progressive druggist in America—a large 8 oz. bottle 85 cents and money back if it doesn't do as advertised.

The Lions Club heard all about the old frigate "Constitution" yesterday noon, the speaker being Arthur W. Hatch of Thomaston, whose model of the Constitution has been the subject of such widespread attention. A picture of the model was presented in The Courier-Gazette a few weeks ago, together with the address which Mr. Hatch delivered before the Men's League in Thomaston, in connection with the showing of the model. Mr. Hatch yesterday had a deeply interested audience, and received many congratulations on the wonderful piece of workmanship, which he has turned out after repeated visits to the Charlestown Navy Yard to obtain data. The Lions discussed the forthcoming district convention at Belgrade Lakes. The meeting next Wednesday will doubtless have an unusual attendance as the speaker is to be Justice George L. Emery, and there will be numerous guests.

Dr. Rich Eysight Specialist will be at Vinalhaven on or about June 1st, for examination of the eyes and fitting of glasses.—adv. 51-53

The entertainment will begin at 8:15 sharp, and the American Legion, which is sponsoring the affair informs The Courier-Gazette that there will be seven bouts instead of the five originally advertised. The entire card will appear in the next issue of this paper. The Kickapoo boys ordered 25 tickets yesterday, and will be heard from.

On the Coast Guard Cutter Kickapoo next Thursday night there will be left just enough men to extinguish a fire in case one should break out. All the others will be at Empire Theatre watching the big scrap between Young Howell the Kickapoo's pride; and Bud Fisher, the apparently unbeatable leather pusher who is to be his opponent. The bout is going to cost the loser one hundred good American dollars; hence it will be seen that neither party cares to be the loser. A NEW MODEL

Sensational Type of Baby Grand Piano At the Maine Music Store

A new model grand piano has just arrived at the Maine Music Store and is attracting a great deal of attention. It is the smallest grand piano ever to come to Rockland—only four feet and six inches long—yet is as complete in every detail as a full sized Parlor Grand.

The keyboard is full 7 1/4 octaves with fast repeating and powerful action. A genuine Brannbach made in the only factory devoted exclusively to the manufacture of grand pianos, at a price no higher than a fairly good upright.

This instrument is the perfect piano for the home. Its present form is the development of the original Brannbach Grand scale, and its refinement of tone and case construction have been going on for many, many years, until today, it possesses all the tonal beauty and character that it is possible to secure in a small Grand piano. You are invited to see and hear this piano at the Maine Music Store.—adv.

And we as a Lodge extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family. That our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days in memory of our departed sister.
That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy sent to the bereaved family and a copy to The Courier-Gazette for publication.

NORTH HAVEN

With daylight time going into effect, with the Westport, and many in North Haven for the days ahead is "When do we sleep?" The Westport now arrives, if on time, at 5.15 a. m. standard time, and leaves at 4.15 p. m. or thereabouts.

The rain of Sunday was most welcome. One may look now for a sudden explosion of vegetation.

The sewer construction is now completed. This means another very valuable asset to North Haven and houses along the way are fast making connection. The labor has meant much to local people who have been employed.

The church school attendance is maintaining its above 100 record. April 5 it was 106; April 12, 103; April 19, 120; April 26, 115. This makes an average for the month of 112. With a population of 475 in the 1930 census, if there is a church school in the State anywhere that can offer a better average of attendance in comparison with the population than North Haven we would like to know where it is. The leaders in this attendance effort, Alton Calderwood and Albra Stone, are doing splendid work and assistants to each one are enthusiastic. Watch the attendance next Sunday.

North Haven Grange observed its 22nd anniversary Sunday, with 16 of the 44 charter members present, and several members from Pleasant River Grange, Vinalhaven. Supper was served at the close of the program.

The parsonage garage built by Frank Beverage is completed and now in use. It is a fine looking building, and adds much to the value of the church properties. A vote of thanks was extended Monday night at the business meeting to Henry Duncan for assistance in hanging the doors, and for some work done in the parsonage.

Beginning today, Thursday, a dental clinic is to be held at the church room by L. M. Richardson, D. S. of Rockland. If pleasant weather the young people from the North East district will come first. If stormy those of the lowest grade in the village district. The correspondent asked Miss Grace Lawrence of the Maine Public Health Department upon her recent visit if she could note any comparison in the condition of the teeth of the boys and girls of North Haven, and those of other communities, inasmuch as for four years each spring this work has been regularly done here on the island.

"Decidedly so," she answered. "I enjoyed so much seeing the scholars in the North Haven schools smile—so many of them have such good teeth." The clinic will begin on the arrival of the Westport or at 7.30 and pupils are asked to be prompt. The major part of the expense of this clinic is borne by a generous friend of North Haven. Mr. and Mrs. Marsters of New York were visitors in this place Saturday. They occupied during July and August the Noyes house. Mr. Marsters is secretary of the American Tel. and Tel. Co. Also Mr. and Mrs. William Coolidge of Boston who occupy the Coolidge cottage visited the island. All returned on the Westport Saturday night.

Stone-Woodworth

Irene E. Stone and Miss Bessie L. Woodworth were united in marriage by Rev. Henry F. Huse at the Baptist parsonage April 19. Both bride and groom are popular North Haven young people, graduates of the High School. Accompanying the couple was the mother of the bride, Mrs. Orrie A. Woodworth. The effective and impressive double ring service was observed during July morning Mr. and Mrs. Stone left for Rockland in a private boat, and by automobile they journey to Colorado where they plan for the present to make their home. The heartiest best wishes of the community attend the young couple.

In first aid first place was given to Young, Gamage and Chase of Troop 2; Spear, Heller and Merritt of Troop 6 were second. One other team participated—Britt, Staples and Anderson.

Final score—Troop 10, 10 points; Troop 2, 11 points; Troop 6, 29 points. The winners of first and second place in each event are eligible to take part in the Portland rally.

The judges were Mr. Bowden, J. E. Blaisdell, and A. L. Whittemore, with Coach Heal as timer. Scoutmasters Gilbert, Kimball and Assistant Scoutmaster Paul Morgan assisted.

The rally was opened with assembly and To the Colors by Bugler Spear, followed by a flag salute and Scout oath. The closing exercises consisted of Scout laws and Scoutmaster's benediction. Because of lack of time the forestry slides will be kept until a later date.

Carolina Woman Lost 47 Lbs.

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Stinson, New Bern, N. C. Jan. 1930. "P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at David L. McCarty's and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

STEAMER SERVICE

Town of Islesboro Subsidizes Eastern Boat In Order Not To Be Without It

Determined to have steamboat connection with Rockland this summer, the voters of Islesboro went on record Tuesday, 99 to 45, as being in favor of raising $3000 for that purpose. The Pemaquid has been withdrawn from the route by the Maine Central Railroad because the receipts were so much smaller than the expenses.

After the decision of the railroad people was made public the Village Improvement Association went into session with officials of the Eastern Steamship Co., who agree to operate a small steamboat on practically the same schedule as that used by the railroad, if the company could be assured against loss.

To raise the necessary amount tax rates in Islesboro will be increased a trifle more than a half a cent. The greater part of the amount will come from taxes paid by non-residents, those owning summer homes here which are occupied only a few weeks during the summer season. The service will be inaugurated June 20 and continue until Sept. 20.

Islesboro may be one of the ports of call for ships of the newly organized airline, which will operate out of Rockland this summer. Already arrangements have been made for three islands in Penobscot Bay to be included in the line's route and officers of the line are agitating the question among Islesboro residents, many of whom have reacted favorably to the idea.
