With a perfectly balanced team, presenting the latest of musical successes, Director Rice will please the dancing public in Ellsworth as he has pleased audiences throughout Maine. Everyone who enjoys dancing under the best of conditions should not fail to be present.

Mrs. C. D. Wiggin delightfully entertained the embroidery club at her home Monday evening. Artistic table decorations of pink and white, with a handsome centerpiece of roses and ferns, suggested something a little out of the ordinary, and when on the dainty place cards were found linked the names of Miss Elizabeth T. Cushman and Bartlett Cottle, the secret was out. Miss Cushman, one of the club members, immediately became the storm center for congratulations.

The friendly rivals of the Union river yacht fleet, Rev. R. B. Mathews' Cygnet and Dr. E. H. Baker's Tiger, tried it out again last Wednesday. The course was about eight miles, across the bay to the mill cove, down the eastern shore to the Haynes shore and a beat back to Contention cove. Albert Mazrall acted as skipper with Mr. Mathews, and Alex. Stuart sailed the Tiger. The Tiger showed its tail to the Cygnet throughout the race, gradually drawing away in the run across the bay and down the shore, and increasing its lead decisively in the beat home. But the Cygnet has not yet sung its swan song. Mr. Mathews hopes some day to meet the Tiger in Cygnet weather and with the yacht better groomed for racing.

Dr. Arthur H. Parcher left Saturday by automobile for Boston. C. E. Alexander accompanied him, returning by rail Monday. Dr. Parcher extended his trip by rail to Cleveland, O., where his marriage will take place to-day. The bride is Miss Winifred Hassell of Cleveland, who was the guest of Mrs. Parcher this summer. The marriage is the happy sequel to another war romance, which began in England, where Miss Hassell was engaged throughout the war in Red Cross work, first with the English army and later with the Americans. Dr. Parcher and his bride are expected home early next week. Those who met Miss Hassell while here, anticipate with pleasure her return as Mrs. Parcher.

Chief Game Warden J. H. Macomber shipped to Augusta to-day the carcass of a young moose that fell a victim to a wire fence, near North Bend, Surry. The moose, a good-sized calf, was found yesterday morning by Henry Blodgett hung up by one hind leg in the fence. In thrashing about, the animal had succeeded in getting all three strands of wire about one ankle. The animal was alive. Mr. Blodgett reported the case to Warden Macomber, who found the moose too badly injured to save, one leg being broken and the flesh badly torn. He shot the animal and brought the carcass to Ellsworth, receiving instructions from the department to ship it to Augusta.

The special meeting of the Woman's Alliance of the Unitarian church last Friday afternoon partook of the nature of a reception to Mrs. Charles P. Lombard of Plymouth, Mass., whose husband was pastor of the church here forty years ago. The welcome of the Ellsworth Alliance was voiced by Mrs. Myron King, its president. Mrs. Lombard, in response, spoke reminiscently of her residence here, and then told of the work of the National Alliance, with which she has been prominently identified for years. Singing by Mrs. Howard Walker and a reading by Miss M. A. Greely added to the pleasure of the afternoon. Tea was served. Mrs. Lombard, who is a guest of Miss Greely, sprained her ankle by mistep on the stairs Saturday, but was able to be out again yesterday.

COUNTY CONTEST.

Boys' and Girls' Clubs in Ellsworth Oct. 17 and 18.

The annual county contest of the boys' and girls' agricultural clubs will be held at Hancock hall, Ellsworth, Friday and Saturday of next week.

The woman's club has made a canvass of the city, and secured necessary accommodations for club members and their local leaders for lodging Friday night and breakfast Saturday. Members will find their own dinners Friday and Saturday, and supper Friday night will be in the form of a banquet.

Exhibits have already begun to arrive, and from all indications, the invitation to hold the county contest in Ellsworth, extended early in the season by the city, will be met with a hearty response.

County banks are back of the club movement this year with $500 for prizes, more than is offered by any other county in Maine, and the Eugene Hale scholarships of $25 each are being eagerly sought by many boys and girls.

Bar Harbor Boy Killed.

Henry, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown of Bar Harbor, died Monday at the Bar Harbor hospital, from wounds received by the accidental discharge of a gun.

With some schoolmates, he was at Eagle lake Saturday, and picked up by the muzzle a gun which he supposed to be his and unloaded, but which was the gun of one of his companions. The gun was discharged, the load entering his thigh.

Elliott N. Benson Dead.

Elliott N. Benson, member of the Hancock county bar and former judge of the Bar Harbor municipal court, died very suddenly yesterday forenoon, at his home in Bar Harbor.

Enough Said.

Brother and sister were parted for the first time, he going on a month's trip with their mother and father and she to spend the month with their grandparents. The leave taking was rather strained, as neither one of them quite knew what to say. Finally little brother walked up and putting his arms around his sister said: "Mardret, I'm your brother an' you're my sister."

An Expression of Confidence

During the month of September 118 NEW ACCOUNTS were opened in this bank, an average of nearly 5 for each business day.

A great deal of this new business came to us through the recommendation of our old customers who knew of the strong financial standing of the institution, our methods, and the excellent service that we had rendered them, consequently, when their friends asked their advice they were glad to recommend us and advise them to become depositors.

If your name is not already on our books we would be pleased to open an account with you.

LAMOINE PEOPLE INJURED.

Mrs. Alvah Graves and Two Daughters in Auto Accident.

Mrs. Alvah Graves and two of her daughters, Emma and Minnie, of North Lamoine, were severely injured in an automobile accident near Newport Sunday evening. The daughter Emma was the most severely injured, and is suffering from concussion of the brain. She is in the Emerson McVetty hospital at Newport, and yesterday her chances of recovery were reported as slight. She had not regained consciousness since the accident.

Mrs. Graves had one arm badly wrenched and bruised, and sustained a severe shaking up. The daughter Minnie received cuts about the head and face. The driver of the car, a Mr. Dill of Bangor, was not injured.

The party was bound from Portland for Bangor. Running along in the fog and rain, with windshield obscured, the driver did not notice the sharp curve at Hurd's corner, and crashed into a tree. Both wheels and the running board were stripped from one side of the car.

The point where the accident occurred has been the scene, it is said, of many automobile accidents.

May be Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound - This Letter Proves It. West Philadelphia, Pa. - "During the thirty years I have been married, I have been in bad health and had several attacks of nervous prostration until it seemed as if the organs in my whole body were worn out. I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made a well woman of me. I can now do all my household work and advise all ailing women to try Lydia E. Mutual Benefit Column. EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE".

Its Motto: "Helpful and Hopeful."

The purposes of this column are succinctly stated in the title and motto - it is for the mutual benefit, and aims to be helpful and hopeful. Being for the common good, it is for the common use - a public servant, a purveyor of information and suggestion, a medium for the interchange of ideas. In this capacity it solicits communications, and its success depends largely on the support given it in this respect. Communications must be signed, but the name of writer will not be printed except by permission. Communications will be subject to approval or rejection by the editor of the column, but none will be rejected without good reason. Address all communications to

THE AMERICAN, Ellsworth, Me.

There's a hammer called Opportunity. And when the moment comes To clinch success or else to fail, For each who fairly strikes the nail A hundred hit their thumbs. -Sent by Vashit.

That word "strike" in the verse above, suggests to me that many who are on strike have really "hit their thumbs." One can but wonder where it will all end, and what the victory will prove to be for the many thousands now out of work.

I have always had faith to believe we should hear from M. A. B. again some time. I will send you word when you can find me.

CAPE ROSIER, Me., Sept. 26.

Dear Aunt Madge: What do you think? I am not a good niece. I know it but, oh, I think of you all so often, and now and then I see a paper to make me wish I could write often.

At present I am very much alone. There has been no one in the house since last Saturday and to-morrow is Saturday again. I've been out once and called on two neighbors. Have been expecting a man to work but no one came. Yesterday I thought I would try to do some of the work myself. I painted two outside window sashes and then took all the tacks out of an old window screen. I did not leave one in, for I didn't care to have a third row of tacks and there had been two already. Am putting on galvanized wire this time. Hope it will last. It is quite impossible to get help here.

I wonder if any of you know that a screw-driver is the very best tool to extract tacks. I have hammers, and a tack hammer, but I find my screw driver the only tool which will take all the tacks out. I also use one to take the covers off from jars and cans. If you have never tried it, better do so. I sit and sew sometimes until I get so tired and nervous and cold that I go out and chop wood to get warm, and it really is not as hard as I supposed, though I only try small sticks or some which cut easily. The worst trouble, there is no one to grind the ax. About all the help I can get is from the summer friends. One of the summer colony brings my mail; another helps me in various ways and even cuts wood sometimes, though I don't like to have him do that, for he has enough to do without helping me.

Hiram Blake has two late guests - ladies. They will get the cream of the summer. They are wise to come at this time. Most of the others are gone. The two boys who won races at Bluehill, July 4 are at Amherst college. They have made Cape Rosier their home since they were small boys, and though this is a part of Brooksville, Arthur rather objected to being reported as coming from any place but Cape Rosier. His winter home is in Brooklyn, N. Y., where his father's family is at present. That is why it is so lonely here because all the summer people are gone.

Last year, I went away early, but it is so beautiful here now, and I find so many things that need to be done. I decided to stay awhile. You ought to see the fleet of boats hauled up for winter on my point. One beach is covered with them.

I came through Bluehill in May when I came from Ellsworth, where I visited about a month. If I knew in what part of the village Aunt M. lives, I might be near and see her sometime, for it is quite likely that I may return that way.

Love to all, M. A. B. Sept. 27, 1919.

Dear Mutuals:

Doesn't it seem good to see this glorious day, with its bright sunshine and bracing air? I just feel like getting out and running the road and jumping the rope. Ah, do I shock some of the clan? Well, I am sorry, but once, a long time ago, I used to jump the rope. Good exercise, too.

Ellis, I have tried your recipe for brown sugar doughnuts. I lost no time after getting my paper Wednesday night and reading it. The next morning I got out my kettle and made some. They are fine, none better. And to Grandma Disable, I want to say the same thing. In less than twenty-four hours after reading your mock mince pie recipe, I sampled your pie - no, my pie. Your recipe it is all right. The pie was better than any I had eaten before that, but, like Aunt Madge, I added butter.

Jennie is ill; been in bed several weeks. I can't say she enjoys very poor health, for I don't think she does enjoy it, but she endures it.

S. J. Y., send us the recipe for the new beet salad you had at the reunion. And say, Aunt Madge, haven't I heard some of the clan say something about a new M. B. cook book? Is there one in the making yet?

Well, how fast the months are slipping by. I have my canning done, my pickles and jelly made, and have peeled and dried about two or three bushels of apples. Have some sugar left from the preserving for I took advantage early in the summer, when they began to talk "no sugar in the fall," and got plenty to bring me safely through the preserving season and have a little left.

Good wishes to all the aunts, uncles, sisters and nieces of the M. B. column, and to anyone who needs sympathy, or a kindly word, I send hearty greetings. IRISH MOLLY.

I intended to mention before this, that Grandma Disable told me there should have been butter in the mince pie recipe. She did not say how much, but as the cook books, or more especially cooks themselves often say, "use your own judgment." Chicken or beef fat is equally good. Thanks for your letter, Irish Molly. It was a forerunner of the one that follows:

To my Dear M. B. Sisters: I am not dead yet, but have been pretty ill, and am sitting up in bed with pillows behind me, trying to say something.

Well, thank the good Lord that He let me get well enough to attend the reunion, anyway, and I did enjoy it so much; but would have enjoyed seeing all the clan there. Would Aunt Madge's house hold us all? Well, I think she and Uncle Madge would have made room, if they had put us up stairs

War conditions have made the demand upon a mother's time and energy unlimited. In their zeal to do all in their power for their loved ones, they continually overwork and are soon in a nervous, run-down condition. Vinol, the non-secret cod liver and iron tonic, will build you up and make you strong. HERE IS PROOF

Whitman, Mass. "I suffered from a nervous, run-down condition and loss of strength so it was hard for me to get around and do my work. After other medicines had failed to help me Vinol restored my health and strength and I heartily recommend it to anyone suffering from a nervous, run-down condition." - Mrs. R. M. Little.

Cleveland, Ohio. "I keep house for my husband and myself and got into a weak, run-down condition, no strength, languid and no ambition. After doctoring for awhile and getting no better I tried Vinol and to my surprise it built me up and strengthened my whole system. It is certainly a good tonic." - Mrs. Wm. D. Dawson.

Advertisements. LOW SALARIED SUFFER MOST Labor Department Compiles Statistics in Cities That Show Expenditures. FOOD AND RENT COME HIGH The Lower Your Salary the Greater Proportion of It You Spend for Food and Shelter, Say Investigators.

Washington. - The lower your salary, the greater percentage of it you spend for food and shelter, according to the latest government cost of living investigation. Tables compiled by labor department experts after study of hundreds of family budgets show the actual cash outlay for food and rent is greater in families with the higher incomes, but in the average family the expenditures for these necessities does not increase as fast as the income.

In Baltimore, for instance, 13 families with incomes under $900 averaged expenditures of $382.95 for food and $120.44 for rent. The average was 46.5 per cent of the total income for food and 14.6 for rent. The families whose incomes were $2,500 or more, however, average 13.5 per cent less for food in comparison with total income and 11.5 less for rent.

Showing how much more cheaply the higher-salaried families get off in other cities are these differences: Pittsburgh, food 15 per cent, rent 7.5 per cent; New York, food 6.7 per cent, rent 7.7 per cent; Boston, food 4.9 per cent, rent 5.2 per cent; Syracuse, food 4.3 per cent, rent 19 per cent; Scranton, food 3.7 per cent, rent 6.4 per cent.

How Spending Varies. How families of varying incomes spend them is indicated by tables showing average expenditures of different groups for Philadelphia and Camden, N. J. The table deals with expenditures of 301 families of seven different income groups.

Four families whose incomes were under $900 a year averaged per year for food $365.40; clothing, $100.87; rent, $176.25; fuel and light, $63.01; furniture, $15.22; miscellaneous, $100.52. The average total expenditure per family was $821.26, and the average number of persons per family 4.3. Three families in this group reported surpluses which averaged $24.33 per family, while one had a deficit of $157.35.

Seventy-five families with incomes of $1,500, but under $1,800, reported expenditures that averaged for food $593.69; clothing, $273.53; rent, $200.94; fuel and light, $75.66; furniture, $76.92; miscellaneous, $316.60. Total expenditures per family averaged $1,535.77 for an average number of 4.7 persons per family. Sixty-two families ended the year with an average surplus of $125.03, nine experienced an average deficit of $103.81, while four balanced their books evenly.

Study Many Cities. Eleven families with an income of $2,600 or over averaged in their expenditures for food, $914.42; clothing, $476.39; rent, $250.36; fuel and light, $95.16; furniture, $127.33; miscellaneous, $664.31. The total average expenditures per family was $2,527.89 for an average family of 7.6 persons. All families reported a surplus. The average surplus was $400.52.

Similar studies have been prepared by the labor department for groups of representative families in Baltimore, Boston, Bridgeport, Buffalo, Chambersburg, Pa.; Dover, N. J.; Fall River, Mass.; Johnston, N. Y.; Lawrence, Mass.; Manchester, N. H.; Newark, N. J.; New York city, Pittsburgh, Portland, Me.; Providence, R. I.; Rutland, Vt.; Scranton, Syracuse, Trenton, Westfield, Mass.; and Wilmington, Del.

PLAN NEW HONOR FOR HOOVER

Belgians Collect Money to Give Him Work of Art Symbolizing Achievements.

London.—Some time ago the king of the Belgians conferred on Herbert C. Hoover, the founder and first president of the commission for relief in Belgium, the title of "friend of Belgium." To commemorate the conferring of this unique title, the Belgian order of St. John of Jerusalem has opened a subscription for the purpose of offering Mr. Hoover an address, and also a work of art symbolizing the life which this American managed to maintain in the oppressed country during the German occupation. The Belgian army joined in the movement and each unit has sent a subscription. The contribution from the army alone is more than $3,500.

BANISH CATARRH

Breathe Hyomei for Two Minutes and Relieve Stuffed Up Head.

If you want to get relief from catarrh, cold in the head or from an irritating cough in the shortest time breathe Hyomei. It should clean out your head and open up your nose in two minutes and allow you to breathe freely.

Hyomei often ends a cold in one day, and brings quick relief from snuffles, hard crusts in the nose, hacking, spitting and catarrhal mucus.

Hyomei is made chiefly from a soothing, healing antiseptic oil, that comes from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia where Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Sinusitis, Influenza, Pneumonia and Consumption were never known to exist.

Hyomei is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber inhaler, use as directed and relief is almost certain.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including inhaler and one bottle of Hyomei, costs but little at Charles E. Alexander's and druggists everywhere. If you already own an inhaler you can get an extra bottle of Hyomei at druggists.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1919

Tuesday, Nov. 4, is the date tentatively set for the opening of the special session of the Maine legislature.

This is "Thrift Week" in New England. The people are appealed to aid in the national thrift campaign now being conducted to teach the benefits derived from thrifty living, the investment of their savings in such government securities as war savings stamps and treasury savings certificates.

The National Grange Monthly credits the defeat of the "daylight wasting" law to the grange. It says: "Daylight wasting is ended, and with the close of the present season comes a return to standard time and a nation back once more to common sense."

THRIFT WEEK.

A Proclamation Issued by Mayor Hagerthy of Ellsworth.

In accordance with the request of the savings division of the Treasury Department in New England, and with a desire to promote the economic welfare of the community to encourage all measures pending thereto, the week of October 6 of the current year is designated and set apart as Thrift week.

Having in mind the extravagance of the last four years which can only be offset by increased production and savings, it is earnestly urged that this week be observed in a practical way by concentrating our thoughts and energy on the country's needs for thrift and industry, and joining in a national thrift movement in order that every-thing possible be done to reduce the high cost of living and to increase all savings, and that the people may understand the value and necessity for such investments.

Given at Ellsworth, Oct. 1, 1919. ALEXANDER C. HAGERTHY, Mayor.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. In Roumania.

As far back as the first winter of the war, the Red Cross sent to Serbia a sanitary commission that effectively checked the scourge of typhus, but after the United States entered the conflict, the Red Cross was able, in August, 1917, to send a full commission that carried on extensive relief operations among the suffering refugees of the tortured nation.

Soon after the entrance of the United States in the war the successes of the Central Powers in Roumania had reduced that country to a most tragic condition and in the summer of 1917, the American Red Cross despatched its first Roumanian relief contingent. Two hospitals were at once taken over and operated by the Red Cross, a canteen for the starving refugees established and food and clothing distributed over a large area.

Transportation was one of the toughest problems with which the Red Cross workers in Roumania had to deal. Here is seen an oxcart used by the Red Cross to carry its relief supplies up into the mountains.

Bucksport, made famous on the stage in "Old Jed Prouty," is now to be famed in song. Miss Ina Patten of Portland, a former Bucksport girl who is gaining recognition as a song-writer, has dedicated her latest song, "Give Me My Old Home Town," to her own old home town of Bucksport.

The new Mt. Desert bridge was thrown open to traffic Friday, but the formal dedication will not take place until later. It is a handsome structure, built to stand up for years. The only criticism we have heard is that the roadway should have been two or three feet wider. It is wide enough for cars to pass safely, but a little close for passing at high speed.

Capt. Leroy Flye of North Brooklin sends some interesting information concerning the crack three-masted fishing schooner, Arthur V. S. Woodruff, in which he, some years ago, made several voyages to the Grand Banks. The schooner was built for Capt. Thomas M. Nickerson of Bucksport, and for many years was owned principally there.

Ground for Confidence.

We sometimes want to know how well a man has done when we are asked for an opinion as to how well he will do. We almost instinctively judge the future by the past; this is reasonable by induction, a process that generally leads to right conclusions.

MAY BE TRUTH IN LEGEND

Investigation of "Enchanted Table" in New Mexico Seems to Bear Out Story Long Believed.

An isolated butte rising out of a vast plain in the vast Southwest—a flint-topped hill 430 feet high and with sides so nearly vertical that for many centuries it was supposed to be hopelessly climb-proof, is one of the most interesting of the natural wonders of this part of the United States.

Many attempts to climb the "Enchanted Table" or "Mesa Encantada," as the first Spanish settlers called it, have been made, but Indian superstition has attributed their failure largely to a supernatural influence that balked the ascent. Hence the name "Enchanted."

According to the Indian legend, the mesa, which is three miles northeast of the well-known Acoma pueblo, in New Mexico, was very anciently the site of a prehistoric village. A frightful storm carried away part of the rock and with it the rocky staircase which offered the only path of access to the summit.

As a result, the people in the village were cut off from the plain below. They could not climb down; no help could reach them, and they starved to death. The only survivors were a few who by chance were absent from the mesa top at the time of the disaster. From them, it is explained, are sprung the present-day inhabitants of the pueblo of Acoma.

But science, while disposed to be incredulous of things unproved, is at the same time inclined to investigation. Hence an expedition which the government bureau of ethnology sent out to climb the Mesa Encantada. The party, after almost incredible efforts, arrived upon the top.

What they expected to find was nothing. But, to their surprise, they discovered, on the summit of the mesa, plain and unmistakable evidences of ancient occupancy, such as ruined walls, and what they saw there afforded a measurable confirmation of the Indian legend.

Tasks for Disabled Fighters.

An outline of the efforts of the bureau of employment of the Pennsylvania department of labor and industry to find suitable industrial tasks in Pennsylvania for disabled soldiers and sailors is given in a bulletin just issued by the department. This bulletin, which may be obtained upon application to the department of labor and industry, at Harrisburg, analyzes by task and locality, the 50,000 employment opportunities offered by 900 employers in 60 counties, number of plants, kinds of firms and numbers of openings in each class of employment.

One series of tables shows at what tasks several hundreds of disabled men are now employed by the Philadelphia and Reading Railway company. Another chapter on "Placement of Disabled Soldiers and Sailors in Employment" gives a general review of the placement subject, outlining conditions that may be expected and methods to be employed in locating each disabled soldier and sailor at a specified task in Pennsylvania plants.—Scientific American.

Turned From Friend.

The revolving floor in one of the dancing cabarets mystified two young lieutenants just back from France and evidently strangers in New York. They were ushered to a table on the revolving floor. Shortly afterward one of the soldiers went to the telephone booth; emerging about ten minutes later, he looked around in dazed fashion, and made several starts for the spot where he had apparently left his companion, but couldn't seem to find him.

Wherefore he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankruptcy act, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge. Dated this 8th day of September, A. D. 1919. SIXON CROCKETT, Bankrupt.

OBITUARY.

MRS. GREENLY SMITH. Now and again one passes from the earthly sphere who leaves behind a memory so bright and fragrant that years alone can bring forgetfulness.

She was born on December 14, 1840, and when but nineteen years of age became the wife of Capt. Greenly Smith, two sons were born to them—George Porter, who for many years was chief engineer on the Maine Central railroad boats, and whose death in 1912 was deeply regretted, and Capt. Charles L., with whom, since her husband's death in 1908, Mrs. Smith had made her home.

Some one said, on the day of her funeral: "Mrs. Smith was an institution." The words fitly describe the activities of her life, and the impression she made upon those who came to know her well. The whole neighborhood where she lived so long was her home. Sickness or sorrow in a home brought Mrs. Smith to the door, not as a casual inquirer, but as a friend and helper.

Another source of notable service in Mrs. Smith's life was the grange. To Bayside grange, near her home, she gave an unstinted loyalty, and elicited the same in return. The meeting of friend and neighbor which took place there; the gathering of young life of which she was so fond; the consideration of topics so vitally interesting to her; these all made grange days inspiring ones for her.

It seemed especially fitting that one whose life had been lived in such intimate communion with nature, should, like ripened grain, be gathered into God's great garner at the harvest time. Her death, like her life, had a beauty of its own. Active to the last, keen and vital till the last, she slipped from earth as one who falls asleep here to awake "beyond the stars."

She is survived by one son, already mentioned; a grandson, Walter, of Alexandria, Va.; two granddaughters, Mrs. Harriet Kidder, of Boston; Mrs. Corinne Andrews, of Bangor; a great grandson, L. Porter Andrews; two brothers, John A. Jameson, of Lynn, Mass.; George B. Jameson, and a sister, Mrs. C. E. Cousins, both of Ellsworth.

IT'S WONDERFUL!
DECLARES PALMAN

LEWISTON MAN HARDLY ABLE TO WORK, TAKES TANLAC AND NOW FEELS FINE.

"It's the honest truth, Tanlac has driven away all my troubles and brought back my strength so that now I can tackle any job and never have a bit of trouble doing the work," declared Thomas Palman, 431 Saco street, Lewiston, a few days ago.

"I guess I've tried about every remedy there is for stomach trouble during the past two years," he continued, "but nothing did me any good until I began taking Tanlac a little while ago. I had been having a terrible time. Every time I would eat anything gas would form and bloat me up to where I thought my chest would burst. Then I had awful pains around my stomach and through my back. These got so bad that I was hardly able to do any work and sometimes I'd just have to quit altogether and lie down until the pain passed a little. I was so nervous that I could hardly sleep at night and when morning came I wouldn't be fit for a thing. I tell you I suffered and sometimes I just thought my back would break."

"That's how I felt when I began taking Tanlac, but now my pains are all gone and I'm full of energy all the time. Why, I can work hard from morning till night and never feel it at all. I can eat anything without any trouble from gas or bloating. It all agrees with me and it sure does taste good. My back don't hurt any more, my nerves are in fine shape and I sleep sound all night long. Tanlac is a wonderful medicine and I'm glad to say a good word for it."

Tanlac is sold in Ellsworth by E. G. Moore, in Bar Harbor by West End Drug Co., in Mount Desert by A. C. Fernald, in Bucksport by R. B. Stover, in Bluehill by W. L. Partridge, in Tremont by O. M. Kittredge, in Brooklin by Geo. F. Gott, in Sedgwick by Jno. W. Paris.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Memorial services for Corp. Arvard W. DeWitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. DeWitt, were held at the chapel at 2:30 Sunday, October 5, Rev. Henry W. Conley officiating. The services were well attended among those present being a sailor and soldiers in uniform. On a flag-draped stand was a large portrait of Corp. DeWitt. Mr. Conley spoke words of comfort and helpfulness to the family, and touched in a feeling manner upon the noble traits of the young man's character, his devotion to his family, his unswerving loyalty to his country. When asked shortly before going across, if he wanted to go, he replied: "I don't know as I really want to go, but it is my duty to go."

Corp. DeWitt, when very young, joined the National guard in Bangor and served with Co. G, 2d Maine, on the Mexican border during the outbreak there. Returning home from there, he in a few months answered his country's call to participate in the great struggle, and he bore his part bravely and uncomplainingly until, at noon Nov. 10, 1918, he laid down his young life which he had lived to such good purpose, on a battlefield near Argonne forest, only a few hours before the cessation of hostilities.

During the service, Mrs. H. Fremont Maddocks, Mrs. Harold E. Maddocks and Rev. Mr. Conley sang three selections. Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt express deep appreciation of the honor shown their son.

OBITUARY.

The neighborhood was saddened by the death of Annie M., widow of D. W. McKay, Sunday night, Sept. 28. Her place will be hard to fill. She was always ready to help in sickness and sorrow, a great worker in church and Sunday school, and for anything that would help in the social uplift of the community. She had endeared herself to all.

Mrs. McKay was Miss Annie M. Kittredge, daughter of the late Whiting and Lydia Kittredge. In early life she went to Rockland and was very successful in business as a milliner. Later she went to Clinton, Mass., where she married Mr. McKay. They moved here about thirty-five years ago, and kept a general store. Mrs. McKay was still keeping the store at the time of her fall recently, when she received injuries that ultimately caused her death.

Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday afternoon, Rev. G. Mayo of Bangor officiating. A profusion of flowers bore silent testimony to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held. She was seventy-six years of age. Interment was in Mt. View cemetery.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

At Saloniki.

The veritable mountains of relief supplies turned out by the millions of chapter workers during the war made the American Red Cross one of the biggest "manufacturing concerns" in the world, with great warehouse space at scores of strategic points all around the globe.

One of the biggest distribution centers was at Saloniki, Greece, and in this picture Bulgarian prisoners of war are seen there unloading a Red Cross cargo of 2,300 boxes from a French transport. At the right is seen one of the American Red Cross camions, fleets of which were used in rushing relief to points where the suffering was greatest.

Strange Indian Names.

Rapid City, S. D.—A recent issue of the Ogala Light, the monthly magazine of the Pine Ridge Indian reservation school near here, gives some peculiar names among those listed as students. Lizzie Shot to Pieces is at the end of the list. Other names include Victoria Holy Rock, Julia Afraid of Hawk, Mary Brown Eers, Julia Crazy Ghost, Mercy Yellow Shirt, Emma No Fat, Ella Red Eyes, Martin Chase Alone, Noah Horse, John Left Hand and Julia Stands Up. Out of 93 students attending the school only four have French names and seven names of English origin.

RECALLS OLD ROME

Ancient Coin of Surpassing Historic Interest.

Two Thousand Years Since It Came From the Mint, What a Story of Adventures This Token Could Tell!

A coin 2,000 years old, which may have reposed in the treasure box of a Roman senator, passed from hand to hand in the dice games of members of the Roman Imperial guard, been tossed to the rabble by a patrician as he passed through the streets on his way to the baths, or thrown to a victorious gladiator by one of the vestal virgins, now is in the possession of Arthur S. Hibler, United States immigrant inspector at New Orleans. On its way to Mexico, where it was obtained by its present owner, the coin may have been carried as a keepsake by one of the Spanish conquerors and exchanged for the gold and jewels of the Aztecs. Two thousand years afford ample time to pass through a few adventures.

The coin is valued by Mr. Hibler, not only for its age, but for the queer history attached to his gaining possession of it. While he claims he is not superstitious, he admits he regards the coin as a good luck talisman. The piece was sold to him by a Mexican, who wished to cross the border at Brownsville, Tex., and had not enough money for his toll. To pay his way across the international bridge he offered the coin with several others to Mr. Hibler, asserting that it had a strange significance and a blessing attached to it. It had been given him, he said, by the mother of a member of Villa's band, who had been murdered in a cafe brawl. As he lay dying, he had begged the man to take a handkerchief, stained with his life blood, to his mother. The Mexican had sworn to fulfill the trust, and delivered the handkerchief to the old woman. She opened the corner of the handkerchief, which was knotted tightly, and took out several coins. Then she retired into an inner room and, returned, placed a small silver disk in the messenger's hand, saying it was a talisman that would mean much to its possessor.

The coin is small and white, resembling a modern United States dime in size and color. On its front is a relief of a Roman emperor, with the inscription: "Domitian VIII, Imp. Caesar," and several other characters which are indistinguishable. On the reverse side is what seems to be a reproduction of the temple erected in Jerusalem by Solomon. It is worn thin by the touch of the millions of hands in which it must have rested. "I have no doubt that it is genuine," Mr. Hibler said. "But how did it come into the possession of the Villista bandit? Well—quien sabe?"

The Tale of an Egg.

Frank Lafferty, a captain of police at Muncie, once answered a call late at night from a restaurant whose owner asked that a drunken man be taken from the place.

"It was the strangest case of intoxication I ever dealt with," said Lafferty, relating the experience. "In the restaurant I found sitting on a high stool at the counter an elderly man who was weeping into his plate containing the remnants of what evidently had been a hard boiled egg.

"What's the matter?" asked the soggy individual and he answered between choking sobs 'I weep to think that by this act of cruelty in devouring this egg I have deprived some poor innocent chicken of the right of being born!"

"And do you know," Lafferty continued, "the only way we could comfort the poor fellow and get him out of there was to tell him it was not that kind of an egg."—Indianapolis News.

German Black List in Peru.

Publications in Peru do not believe in soon forgetting the intrigue of Germany or letting the Hun go unpunished. Newspapers there carry a complete list of merchants who showed anything like a friendly disposition to Germany throughout the war. It is known as the "Official Allied Black List." The boycott of these merchants includes trade with any of the employees of the firms. The notice at the top of the list includes this warning:

"Any transaction with an employee of a firm on this list is naturally the same as a transaction with the firm in its own name and will have the same consequences."

Wedding Bells.

A diversion was created at my wedding which has caused many a laugh since. Just as the minister was saying, "Dearly beloved," etc., the fire alarm sounded in the house above across the street, upsetting the solemnity of the occasion and causing a ripple of laughter among the guests. A dear, sentimental auntie, who is slightly deaf, said after the ceremony, "O, I thought it was so sweet to have the chimes while the service was being read."—Chicago Tribune.

Criminals Made Good.

All the 299 petty criminals who enlisted in the army at the urgency of the city's reform agency in Philadelphia distinguished themselves in war service "over there," and many have come back ideal citizens.

ABOUT RHEUMATISM

What Thousands Have Found Gives Relief From This Painful Trouble.

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease, manifesting itself in local aches and pains, inflamed joints and stiff muscles. It cannot be cured by local or external applications. It must have constitutional treatment.

Take a course of the great blood-purifying and tonic medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, which corrects the acid condition of the blood on which rheumatism depends, and gives permanent relief. This medicine combines, with excellent alteratives and tonics, what is generally conceded to be the most effective agent in the treatment of this disease.

If a cathartic or laxative is needed take Hood's Pills. Purely vegetable.

GREEN LAKE.

Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft motored to the hatchery from Lawrence, Mass., to spend the week-end with their niece, Mrs. Fred Grace.

A large bull moose is playing hide-and-seek with the men going to and from the Springer lumber camp at Northeast Cove, following one man nearly to the camp door. He is a fine specimen, and had better make himself scarce before the open season begins.

The fall work at the hatchery is well under way, and the fall fishing season is at hand. The summer season has been a busy one for Supt. Race, as a new dam was built at Rocky pond, repairs made on the flume, extensive repairs made on the annex to the hatchery, and a portion of the wharf at the lake rebuilt. Minor repairs were made about the hatchery buildings.

Fred Grace, Martin A. Garland of the hatchery force and Frank E. Watts of Otis, left Oct. 2. for the Fish river waters, to take landlocked salmon eggs for the hatchery. They will be away about six weeks, making their headquarters at Guerette, shipping the eggs to the Caribou State hatchery, to be held there until they reach the eye stage, and then to be forwarded to the Green Lake hatchery. Mr. Grace is an experienced fish culturist, having served long and faithfully at the Green Lake station. With his natural ability and the experience which he has had, it is safe to say that the results will be most gratifying. The waters of Fish river system, in the extreme northern part of the State, abound with fish, practically undisturbed by the encroachment of civilization.

SPEED PLANS FOR R.D. CROSS DRIVE IN NEW ENGLAND

Chapters Appoint Chairmen to Direct Third Roll Call in November;

Seventy of the 168 Chapters in the New England Division of the American Red Cross have already appointed chairmen to direct the Third Red Cross Roll Call for members and money from November 2 to 11, and these chairmen are rapidly organizing their forces for the campaign. Every effort will be made to exceed the present Red Cross membership of 1,500,000 in the New England Division.

The Roll Call will open on Sunday, November 2, and before that date the clergyman of all faiths will be asked to devote their services on "Red Cross Sunday" to the American Red Cross and its membership appeal to the American people. The clergy will be provided with leaflets outlining what the American Red Cross did during the war, and presenting information on the things still to be done, together with suggestions for services on "Red Cross Sunday."

It is hoped that every church in New England will have at least one Red Cross service on the opening day of the campaign.

To Award Honor Flags.

To stimulate chapters and branches to exceed their quota in the Roll Call, James Jackson, manager of the New England Division, has decided to award honor flags. Each chapter that exceeds its quota will receive a Red Cross banner made of bunting and each branch that exceeds its quota will receive a Red Cross banner of Bristol board. These banners may be hung in the Red Cross headquarters and will have the red cross on a white field with the words "Honor Flag" written above and "Third Roll Call" written below the cross.

The chapter that exceeds its quota by the largest percentage will receive a Red Cross banner made of silk. It is believed that these honor flags will prove splendid incentives for chapters and branches to work for big results in their efforts to secure renewals of memberships and new members.

New Red Cross Films.

The New England Division has already secured four new Red Cross films for the Chapters to use in the motion picture theatres and at meetings in their territories. One of the most interesting of the films is a photo-play entitled "Winning Her Way." It deals with the public health nursing work of the Red Cross and relates a story of how a Red Cross public health nurse, supported by the local Red Cross organization, won the support of the townspeople for community nursing.

The other new films are "Good-Bye Brest," which shows American troops leaving Germany and France and embarking for home; "Roumanian Relief," which shows the distribution of Red Cross relief supplies in Roumania, and "Helping Our Boys at Home," which illustrates the service rendered home-coming American troops in their journey across the United States to their homes.

Several other films will probably be ready for use before the close of the Roll Call campaign.

Another interesting feature of the Roll Call will be a lecture entitled "The Heart of a Nation," illustrated by 100 colored stereopticon slides, picturing briefly the history of the American Red Cross during the war.

Division Tour a Success.

Division Manager Jackson is having splendid success in arousing interest in the Third Roll Call in his tour of Division territory, which will continue until the end of this month. He is accompanied by Miss Lavinia H. Newell, director of Chapter Production; Miss Elizabeth Ross, director of the Bureau of Nursing and Cheney C. Jones, director of Civilian Relief, all of whom are presenting details of the future work of the Red Cross in New England.

Dr. Livingston Farrand, the executive head of the American Red Cross, has started a tour of the 13 divisions of the Red Cross in this country, and will come to the New England Division just previous to the opening of the Roll Call. According to his present schedule, he will address a public mass meeting in Symphony Hall, Boston, on the evening of October 24, and if his time permits meetings will be arranged for one or two of the other larger cities in New England. It is expected that Red Cross workers from all over New England will go to Boston to hear Dr. Farrand who is devoting the principal part of his addresses to the health center plan.

Roll Call Posters.

Only three posters will be used throughout the country for the Third Roll Call. The most conspicuous of these is entitled "The Spirit of America" and was painted by Howard Chandler Christy. The feature of the poster is an attractive young woman wrapped in the folds of the American flag and beneath this figure is a huge red cross and the word "Join." The second poster is by Haskell Coffin and presents a figure of a young woman in Red Cross costume holding out her hands in appeal. The third poster is a new edition of the Greatest Mother in the World picture which was so popular in previous campaigns.

Several attractive window displays have also been prepared for the use of stores.

'HOME RUN KING' BECOMES PARTNER OF UNCLE SAM

Popular Red Sox Star Presented With Six $100 Treasury Savings Certificates

BABE RUTH, THE HOME RUN KING, RECEIVED TODAY SIX HUNDRED DOLLAR TREASURY SAVINGS CERTIFICATES—THE WOMAN IS RUTH'S WIFE—YES, HE TURNED THEM OVER TO HER.

Babe Ruth, the home run king, and the hardest hitting baseball player in the game today, became a stock holder in the United States Government recently, when, in the presence of thousands of admiring fans he was presented with six $100 United States Treasury Savings Certificates.

Babe Picks Winners.
The presentation was made the last game of the season in Boston between the Chicago White Sox and the Boston Red Sox.

A special "Babe Ruth Day" was held at Fenway Park and the certificates were presented between the games of a double header. They were the gift of the Pere Marquette Council, Knights of Columbus, South Boston.

In becoming a stock holder in the United States Government, Babe Ruth becomes a brother stock holder with Jack Dempsey, the pugilistic champion who recently invested $1000 in these securities. The cash value of the six Treasury Savings Certificates when presented to Babe Ruth was $504. In 1924 at maturity they will be worth $600.

Babe Ruth is a strong believer in investing his money in safe securities such as Treasury Savings Certificates and War Savings Stamps. He has no leanings toward the "get-rich-quick" schemes, and save oily-tongued peddlers of securities of doubtful value.

PING WONG WINS PERSHING MEDAL

Little Miss Ping Wong of Columbus, Ohio, does not wear the trousseau of the native Chinese girl's costume, but none of her trousered school competitors in the sale of War Savings Stamps was able to surpass her in business acumen and perseverance.

Miss Ping, who is 13 years of age and daughter of a wealthy Chinese merchant has been awarded a "General Pershing" medal for having sold more than $25,000 in War Savings Stamps this year. Miss Ping explained that she had sold War Savings Stamps because her father had told her she must do her very best for America because this country had given him a home, comfort and prosperity.

BEE WISE

BURNING MONEY By Walt Mason

Life is gay and blithe and sunny since the peace dove hit the breeze; everyone is burning money just as though it grew on trees. I insist on thrift and savings, but there's none to heed my words; johnnies say that I am raving, and throw money to the birds. Men are drawing princely wages and their breasts are filled with mirth, and they jeer foreboding sages who predict a day of dearth; but that day will come as surely as tomorrow's sun will rise; things will then be going poorly with the giddy spending guys. Things won't boom along forever as they're booming now, my friends; and the man who's truly clever saves as ably as he spends. It is patent to the knowing in expensive times like these, that the kopecks won't be growing always on the shrubs and trees. There will come a day of trouble, when this boom is left behind, and the kopeck and the rouble will be mighty hard to find; happy then the lads whose wages have been safely placed in brine, who obeyed the seers and sages, when the saving graft was fine. And how sick will be the mortals who like spendthrifts now behave, who reply with jeers and chortles when we call on them to save.

POULTRY FACTS

CARE OF BACK-YARD POULTRY

Phase of Home Production That Should Be Considered by Those Desiring Eggs and Meat.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The keeping of fowls on a town lot or in the back yard is a phase of home production that should be considered by all who desire to supply the table with eggs and meat at a cost considerably below the usual market price. Ordinarily, the keeping of from 12 to 25 hens is sufficient to provide the average family with eggs and meat. For a flock of 25 hens a space of from 20 to 30 square feet per bird should be allowed, and the yard so divided as to permit them to be alternated from one yard to the other. Thus, a lot of 25 by 30 feet, which is even smaller than the average town lot, should be the minimum space for a flock of this size. By having the yard divided cover crops, such as wheat, oats, rape, or rye, can be growing in the unused yard and when sufficiently grown the fowls be allowed to pasture it.

For a yard 25 by 30 feet, or 750 square feet in size, the above-mentioned grains may be sown in the following amounts: Wheat, 2 1/2 pounds; oats, 1 1/2 pounds; rye, 3/4 pounds; rape, 2 1/2 ounces. When available, lawn clippings make excellent green feed for fowls.

In this way the contamination of the soil and the possibility of disease are reduced to a minimum, and at the same time green food is provided. The actual selection of the breed should not be a difficult matter when one considers that more depends upon the way fowls are managed than upon the breed itself. Pure-bred fowls of the general-purpose or egg type purchased for a reasonable figure are well suited for backyard poultry plants. However, when pure-bred fowls can not be obtained, grades properly cared for and fed will usually produce sufficient eggs and meat for the table of the average family.

SENSIBLE TREATMENT OF HEN

Indispensable Requirements for Success Are Comfortable Quarters and Good Feed.

It makes no difference to a canary whether it is kept in a cage that cost $10 or 10 cents, or whether it has its feed and drink in china or earthen dishes; but it makes an immense difference whether it has good care or is neglected, and whether or not its needs are properly supplied. These things are equally true of a hen. Sensible treatment is of far greater importance than stylish quarters. A fine equipment should not be despised. It can be so used as to be of great value. Still it is not one of the vital things. The indispensable requirements for success in the poultry business are good stock; comfortable and healthful quarters; feed and drink of good quality, in proper quantity and at suitable times; and full protection from diseases and enemies.

AVOID SOUR OR MUSTY FOOD

Severe Losses Will Result From Use of Poor Feed During Hot Days of Summer.

During hot weather sour or musty food is more apt to be used for poultry feed than in the winter. Severe losses will result from the use of poor feed, so it pays to know the exact condition of the grain in the bins which may have been there for a long time. Never allow portions of the mash to remain in the troughs on hot days as it may become contaminated with dirt and then be eaten by the young stock.

OBITUARY.

The many friends of Mrs. Myra Dix of this town, widow of Capt. Charles E. Dix, were grieved to learn of her recent death. She had been in failing health some time, though confined to her bed but a few weeks.

Mrs. Dix was born in this town, though for about thirty-five years of her life she resided in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since the death of her husband in 1905, she had resided here with her sister, Mrs. Hannah C. Holden.

She leaves one sister, Mrs. Holden, one brother, Sullivan W. Verrill, of DeRay, Fla., a nephew, Dr. Frederick C. Holden of Brooklyn, N. Y., who resided with Mrs. Dix from boyhood, also other nephews and nieces. Mrs. Dix was eighty-one years of age last February. She was a devoted member of the Congregational church of this town.

Mrs. Dix was a woman of more than usual ability and experience. She accompanied her husband on many sea voyages, and was greatly interested in the work of her husband while he was engaged in the building of the Roosevelt, for Capt. Peary, for his North Pole expedition. Outside of her domestic duties, she was interested almost wholly in the work of her church. In its upkeep and all work connected with it she was greatly interested, and was instrumental in doing an abundance of good in her home community.

She was of a most congenial nature, forever welcoming strangers to her home, and will be greatly missed in many ways. Her life was one that will long be remembered, leaving memories that are sweet.

Latin Derivative.
Corporal is derived from the same Latin word as captain, but with an admixture of the meaning and spelling of the English word corps. Corporalis in medieval Latin meant a chief or commander; hence the French corporal.
