Irving S. Whittaker of Washburn was here the first of the week, ac-companying here the body of his aunt, Miss Jane W. Moore, who died at his home December 5. IN MEMORIAM.

Every neighborhood has inhabitants who have wonderful capabili-ties for service and achievement. Such a woman was Miss Jane W. Moore of this village. The death of this good woman seems to call for brief word from her hative place, where she lived throughout her life extending over four score years.

Subscribe for the American For many years she was a teacher in the public schools here, and in the Sunday school, and a part of the time its superintendent. She im-pressed upon the minds of all under her charge something of her own nature and of her faith in the laws nature and of her faith in the laws which make for righteousness. She was one of the leaders in building Union church—the first place of wor-ship in the village. For several years she was superintendent of the town schools. She was a steady traveller along the upward road, busy in deviating liberal things and ready in devising liberal things and ready for every good work in plans for im-proving the educational conditions of the town. After the slow creep of physical infirmities limited her participation in community gather-ings, her interest was constant in all the activities of the village. She She furnished an excellent example of the virtues produced by the liberal movement in religion. Last August Miss Moore went to Washburn to live with her nephew, Irving S. Whittaker, who has cared for her during her declining years, and in whose home she fell asleep on Friday, Dec. 5. The body was brought here for burial. Services were held in Union church Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. French of Steu-ben officiating. The Methodist choir sang three selections.

Miss Moore was eighty-five year old on September 1 last. She wil She will be missed by a large circle of friends but perhaps most of all by the many whose characters she helped to form in school and Sunday school, and trained to know and appreciate the bible.

Mutual Benefit Column. EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE"

Its Motto: "Helpful and Hopeful."

The purposes of this column are succine stated in the title and motto-it is for the mutial enefit, and aims to be helpful and hopeful Being for the common goad, it is for the com non use-a public servant, a purveyor of in formation and suggestion, a medium for the interchange of ideas. In this capacity it solicits communications, and its success depends largely on the support given it in this respect. Com-munications must be signed, but the name of writer will not be printed except by permission Communications will be subject to approval or rejection by the editor of the column, but none will be rejected without good reason. Address all communications to THE AMERICAN, Ellsworth, Me.

Would sound thy praise in happy song State of Maine, my State of Maine.

Dear M. B. Friends: The letter immediately following (which was most gratefully received) explains the origin of the song above. I wish I could reproduce the paper on which the letter was written, with its dainty green pine tree, under which are the words, "Pine Tree State Club of Rhode Island," in gold.

At the harvest supper reported below, Washington county was the win-ning county in point of attendance, having thirty-three representatives present. Kennebec had twenty-eight Governor Milliken was expected to be present, but at the last minute word was received that he could not be there.

Providence. R. I., Nov. 30, 1919. Dear Aunt Madge:

I was about to send a report of our Pine Tree State club doings to The Ellsworth American when I chanced to look through the Nov. 5 number of that paper. The material in the Mutual column would indicate that I may still claim relationship with the Mutuals, so I am sending the information to you, and you will know how to dispose of it

The Hancock county members have just passed through a strenuous or-deal, but we came out of it with flying colors, and thecounties which provide future programs will have some difficulty in overshadowing our efforts. Androscoggin and Aroostook were our helpers, but there are only a few from those counties in Rhode Island.

Our harvest supper could not have been such a success if members of each of the other counties had not donated very liberally. Of the nineteen repre entatives from Hancock county at our last meeting, nine were from Brooklin, and most of the others were from Blue-I am enclosing a membership hill blank, and our State song, composed by one of our members.

We are always very glad to welcome new members from every county. Our annual dues are $1, and a visitor's ticket may be had for 25 cents. We meet the third Friday in each month, beginning with October and ending with our May meeting. Our officers are: President, Emerson

Adams, Central Falls; vice-president, Willis Drummond, Cranston; secretary, Mrs. Myles Glidden, Providence; financial secretary, Miss C. L. Freethey, Providence; tressurer, Mrs. George Hussey, Providence The place of meeting is Trinity Union Community Hussey, House. Take Broad or Elmwood cars. The club has been divided into teams, several different counties serving each month. The November team served a harvest supper at which 275 members were present. The program was in charge of a committee from the three counties, of which Miss Rosa Candage was chairman. ' F. C. . . .

Dear Aunt Madge:-Will you let a stranger come and join your ranks? I have read your column since I was a child, and Ellsworth was my home town, but I can't claim to know any of the M. B. members except Aunt Maria. My good aunt sends me The American, and although the locals come first, I must always see what the M. B.s are doing next. One of the nieces described a trip through the Rockies. I camped up on the Continental Divide for two weeks a year ago. As I am fortunate enough to own a camera, I secured some excellent views to refresh my memory once in a while. One of the best is that of the horse-shoe bend made by the track around the side of the mountain. The wagon road makes similar-bend much lower down the mountain, andthe figures from the train looked like pygmies. From our cabin on the mountain side we looked down on a deserted mining town, once known as Empire. Like other "empires," it has now gone to decay. The skeleton of the big crushing mill stands like a sentinel or the mountainside, with sput the selow, in ning back to the tunnels. Below, in the small town. The miners' homes were built mostly of logs taken from the forests near by, and they are caving in or are used as shelter by the range cattle. There are several large, roomy houses, evidently used by the managers, and beautifully finished, but now falling to ruins.

Although the town was snugly built, yet it seems as though the artistic sense was used in building it, as a grove of trees was left around nearly every house and thus secured a great deal of privacy. A picturesque mountain stream wanders about seeming to knock at everyone's door and offer its fresh waters unasked. I would not have missed exploring this "forsaken city," but it gave me a feeling of sadness for it, and I could not but wonder what joys, sadness, merriment and perhaps tragedies, it had seen. knows?

Aunt Madge, have I worn out you patience? Here is a fact some of the M. B.'s may not be aware of. In this high altitude (5,000 feet above sea level) it takes nearly three times as long to cook things as in Maine. I am actually hungry for a dish of New England baked beans. Here they stew them first and then finish cooking in the The result is far from satisowen, factory.

If you accept this, I may feel encouraged to come again. "Sira.

BRIDAL FLOWERS HERE AGAIN

That Orange Blossoms Are in the Market Is a Sure Harbinger of World Peace.

One interesting sign of the coming of peace has been the reappearance of real orange blossoms at weddings. During the war they were difficult to obtain, owing to the fact that they come as a rule from France. Nearly all the orange flowers which are used at smart marriages in London and Paris are grown in the sheltered valleys of the Alps Maritimes behind the Riviera.

Here there are orchards of orange trees scattered over the sunny slopes, and the local peasantry devote most of their time to growing the beautiful flowers. No attempt is made to get the fruit, seeing that the orange trees are solely cultivated for the sake of the glistening blooms

A large part of the floral crop finds its way to the perfume factories of but the choicest sprays are Grasse picked for the London and Paris markets. Orange flowers keep fresh for a considerable time, and they stand the journey to England very well, arriving in perfect condition .- London News.

Kangaroo Scored Knockout.

"Ned Kelly, the old buck kangaroo, has been having a fight with the boss stag of the axis deer herd," said Sergeant McGee of the San Francisco park police, "and it is the first time I ever heard of two herbivorous animals so widely different in species finding common ground for a quarrel. "As a matter of fact, it was the axis deer that started the trouble. He was trying to show off before the does and started butting at poor old Ned Kelly who was peacefully lolloping about with no thought for trouble. The first butt of the deer set Ned thinking, the second set him mad, the third-well, Ned Kelly just turned about and gave the axis deer one wallop under the stomach with its tail. You could hear the smack five blocks away, and it simply knocked the deer flat. It dropped as if it had been shot, while Ned Kelly just hopped away as happy as a bird."

One Thing More.

A pretty girl fluttered over to a neighbor's house Sunday last to borrow some writing paper. She had an important letter to write and mail, and she was out of stationery. About half an hour later she returned for an envelope, and a little later still came back for a stamp. "Well, I hope that's all she wants to borrow today." said the disgruntled neighbor woman as she slammed the door after the pretty girl. "She needs a little 'spit' to make the stamp adherc," said the neighbor woman's husband "and she'll be over after that in a minute."-Arkansas Thomas Cat (Hot Springs, Ark.).

Insurance Against Tuberculosis.

Dr. P. J. Menard outlines in the Presse Medicale a plan for universal compulsory insurance against tuberculosis, the funds from which would serve for the fight against tuberculosis. His scheme is something like compulsory social insurance against sickness, but the tax or insurance dues imposed would include all classes of society, not merely the wage earners. He protests that the fight against tuberculosis should not be left to charity or private initiative.

Have you had any logging, sawmill or lumber handling experience? If you have, you may be one of several young men we are going to hire.

At Poughkeepsie, N. Y .- a hustling city on the Hudson river-we have great modern lumber storage yards where we carry in stock all the time twenty to thirty million feet of Pacific coast lumber-cut from the giant trees of California, Oregon and Washington. This lumber is brought on steamships via the Panama Canal and by rail. The yards are equipped with the most modern devices for receiving, handling, resawing, dressing and shipping lumber.

It is a place where there is not a dull moment from morning 'til night. There is something doing all the time.

It is a place full of opportunities for young men.

We are going to give these opportunities to young men who are ambitious to settle down and learn-

- -young men determined to stick to and rise in one of the best businesses in the world-with a good firm.
- -young men of good character, who have strong bodies in the best of health-bodies kept strong by good habits.
- -young men who are willing to put on overalls, handle lumber and get some callouses on their hands.
- -young men who are hustlers-right up on their toes to learn every minute and believers in "do-it-now" and "do-it-right."
- -young men who are not only not afraid of hard work, but who know that experience through work is the only road to success.
- -young men who are honest and from good families.

Many young men who can show us these qualities are going to be mighty glad they did.

Biblical Thrift.

The Scriptures give us many lessons in thrift. Ezekiel warned the children of Israel that during the siege of Jerusalem they would have to be thrifty. He said: "Take thou also unto the wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentiles, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof."--Ezekiel iv: 9. The Bible shows that Ezekiel ordered the children of Israel to eat their meat by weight, and even thus only "from time to time."-Thrift Magazine.

Gift Brought Punishment.

A young woman employed in the of fice of a Kobe shipping house received from her millionaire employer a sum of money as a present on New Year's day. The girl took her fat wad of notes home. She was promptly thrashed by her mother for stealing them and dragged to the office to apologize for the theft. Explanations were made but when they got home she was admonished once more for not stating her case more clearly .-- Japan Chronicle, Protection From Live Wires.

For the sure protection of linemen handling live wires a pair of gloves inside and one outside of the rubber gloves have been recommended. The woven fabric inside glove takes up perspiration and shields the rubber from the finger nails and a leather gauntlet over the rubber glove protects from outside mechanical injury, aids in grasping tools and keeps the hands warm in winter.

Ammonia.

Ammonia is found in minute quantity in air, and is a natural product 13.99 of the decay of animal substances. It is procured artificially by the destructive distillation of nitrogen organic matters, such as bones, hair, horns and hoofs, and is largely obtained as a byproduct in the manufacture of illuminating gas from coal.

"Are you expecting to be hit?" "I might be. One of the greatest luxuries I know of is sitting around the house in my shirt sleeves and reading the paper.'

New Golf Clubs,

Of special interest to golf players is a club made with a steel instead of a hickory shaft, shown in Popular Mechanics magazine, which, it is claimed, possesses all the flexibility of the wooden shaft and has additional desirable features. The steel shaft is hollow, tapers toward the lower end, and is much smaller in diameter than one of hickory. This is said to give the player additional driving power, because of reduced friction when the club is swung through the air.

Musical Advice.

"It's a pity you never took music lessons," said Mr. Rafferty.

"So's I could sing more?" inquired Mr. Dolan. "No. A study of music might have improved your taste so that you'd quit tryin'.'

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1919

Dr. Garfield, federal fuel adminis trator, has resigned. President Wilson went over his head and effected a settlement of the coal strike which Dr. Garfield says is a concession to the miners under cover of a seeming determination not to do so, and utter repudiation of the oft reiterated statement from the administration that the interests of the public were paramount. Dr. Garfield says the settlement will mean higher price of coal for consumers. He has been in touch with the coal situation since the early days of the war, and knows what he is talking about.

Have You Any Relics?

Dr. George A. Phillips of Bar Har-bor, chairman for Hancock county of the Maine Centennial committee, is anxious to secure relics for the big exhibition to be held in Portland big Googins. next summer. Every citizen should be proud to assist.

Dr. Phillips is asked to find every Dr. Phillips is asked to find every old relic pertaining in any way to the local or general history of town or county, such as papers, deeds, furni-ture—anything and everything that is old and of interest. These will be loaned, properly recorded, and re-turned after the celebration. Very soon a committe will canvass every town with proper papers for record and lists, so that every arti-cle shall be cared for and returned. It is hoped a hearty co-operation will prevail, as it is really a matter of patriotism

Dr. Phillips would like to make Hancock county the banner county. Already paintings upon a large scale have been begun, and, by the way, any photograph of a bit of scenery will be welcomed.

Schools closed on Friday for the Christmas holidays of ten days.

Miss Doris Trask, who has been teaching at East Sullivan, is spending three weeks' vacation at home.

C. Fred Jones, the new deputy collector, who has been boarding with Mrs. William Hanna, has been joined by his wife and will probably go to housekeeping for the winter.

George R. Ful er, with his son David, joined Mrs. Fuller, who had been visiting in Fall River for six weeks. After the Thanksgiving season with his sons Charles and Walter, they returned home last week.

Many Southwest Harbor people have caught the Florida fever. Two telephone girls from the exchange here, Misses Jessie Lawton and Emma Holmes, have secured good positions in a large hotel in Palm Beach, to carry on the same line of work.

The Willard W. C. T. U., after a few months' vacation, held a meeting at the library on the afternoon of Nov. 24, with a dozen members present. The new members were invested with the knot of white, and a short program was given. On Dec. 8, by invitation of Mrs. Katharine Walls, the members gathered at her home, where a profitable hour was spent. Refreshments were served.

Opportunity to Be Seized.

A porter in London was engaged in cleaning a luggage van, when the door swung back, striking him violently on the head. "Oh! Pat," he exclaimed to an Irishman standing on the platform, "I believe I've cut open my head." "Well, begor, now's the time to get something into it," was Pat's witty reply.

Safe Proposition. Abuse the public all you like; no on ever considers it a personal affront.

Government in a well-constituted republic requires no belief from man beyond what his reason authorizes. He sees the rationale of the whole system, its origin and its operations, and, as it is best supported when best understood, the human faculties act with boldness and acquire, under this form of government, a gigantic manliness. -Thomas Paine.

"Commonwealth and Coffee."

The introduction of coffee into Engand dates from the period of the Cromwellian Protectorate; according to a Restoration pamphleteer. "Coffee and Commonwealth came in together." Jacobs, a Jew, opened a coffee house at Oxford in 1650, and two years later the first one was established in London by Pasqua Rosee, the Armenian servant of a city merchant.

World's Lightest Wood.

The balsa tree, which is now being cultivated in Costa Rica, produces the lightest-known wood in the world. It is in great demand for all purposes where lightness of construction is of importance. It is very porous and a good insulator and is much used in airplane building, as it offers the minimum amount of air resistance.

It was the night before Christmas.

Jack determined this year to remain awake until Santa Claus came down the chimney. His eyes, heavy with sleep, watched the empty stocking faintly out-lined in the darkness by the glowing fireplace. The church clock struck eleven, then twelve. Jack was awfully sleepy. Suddenly there came a scraping and a scrambling-soot and bits of blaster tumbled down into the replace. Perhaps it was a mouse. The noise grew louder and louder. Jack quivered with excitement as a small rolly-polly body tumbled out of the chimney. It was Santa Claus. "Hello Santa," said Jack.

"Hello yourself!" said Santa, 'Waiting for you," said the boy. Santa Claus laid h' mck upon the floor. Out of it came every kind of a toy.

"Are those for m "" asked Jack, eyes big with astonishment.

Long-Lived Clock.

The life of a clock is much longer than that of any other machinery. The city of Rouen has a great clock, built in the year 1389 and still keeping good. time. Except for cleaning and a few necessary repairs it has never stopped during a period of more than five centuries. It strikes the hours and chimes the quarters.
