WILLIAM TELL FLOUR

We scatter the wheat six times, one after another, so that it simply toys with the grain. Then we peel off the outside hull and cut out the poor, rich hands portion of the grain.

This WILLIAM TELL is the best of the wheat, and absolutely clean.

OPPOSE NATIONALIZATION.

Representatives of Agricultural Organizations Threaten To Assail Helpless Radio-Farmers.

Private ownership of the railroads is the issue at the heart of the important vacation legislation which will have its last public hearings in the Senate committee today. The bill, which is before the committee, is designed to put the railroads on a sound financial basis by transferring to them the ownership of the railroads throughout the country. This policy, it is said, is a national policy which stateually in the past is the one which makes railroads out of business throughout the country.

In a letter to the members of the United States Senate, T. C. Allen, Washington representatives of the National Farmers' Union, which is said to be the largest organization of its kind in the world, representing more than 1,500,000 farmers in the United States, the answer is asked as to why the large amount of money invested in the railroads by private owners, and the necessity for their continued financial support, is not an argument in favor of public ownership. The reason is that state ownership always means higher rates, higher taxes, and the railroads out of business.

A FAXIMILE PROTEST.

"Mr. President," the letter says, "you are the President of the United States, and you are the representative of the American people. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of self-reliance, and you are the embodiment of the American ideal of democracy. You are the embodiment of the American tradition of freedom, and you are the embodiment of the American dream of justice. You are the embodiment of the American hope of a better future, and you are the embodiment of the American promise of a better day. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of progress, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of innovation. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of enterprise, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of ingenuity. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of creativity, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of imagination. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of perseverance, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of determination. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of faith, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of hope. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of courage, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of fortitude. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of generosity, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of charity. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of kindness, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of compassion. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of love, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of mercy. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of justice, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of truth. You are the embodiment of the American spirit of honesty, and you are the embodiment of the American spirit of integrity. Herbert Garber, until now the big question mark among presidential possibilities, has been plucked out of the air. The question mark is his party has taken him, as of his party has placed him without a quill to correct the mistakes of the Republicans, but in the two weeks to come we shall see whether he has been carrying out new ideas or not.

Five railroad managers of the New York legislature have been unseated by an overwhelming vote of the House, on the ground that the platform upon which they were elected contained doctrines similar to those of Republicans. A bill has been introduced to provide that no party group, consisting of more than five members, shall be entitled to occupy the occupied seats of the House without the power of the other party to engage in general debate.

Mrs. Phillips is the first to acknowledge that she is not the most able of the three women. But she has been serving in that capacity for two years, and she is determined to carry on her work without any change in the results of the election.

They Are Putting the Filipinos on the Map in Washington

MEET THE DE VEYRA FAMILY

Mme. Annie C. de Veyra, Who Has Been Represented on Philippine Commission in U. S.

Mme. Annie C. de Veyra, who is doing important work for her people in America, is on her way home. She has been in the United States representing the Philippine Commission in Washington and during the three years of her residence in this country, she has been named by the Philippine Government as its official representative in the national capital.

Her visits to the various public institutions of the United States, and her representations of the interests of the Filipinos in the United States, have been instrumental in bringing about a better understanding between the two nations.

The de Veyras are a family of some importance in the Philippines. The late Mr. de Veyra, a prominent citizen of the city of Manila, was a member of the Philippine Senate and was elected to that position by the people of his district.

The children of the de Veyra family are all prominent in the national and international life of the Philippines. They have been actively engaged in the promotion of the interests of their country and have made many contributions to the advancement of the nation.

The de Veyra family is one of the most respected families in the Philippines and has always been active in the promotion of the interests of their country.
