

An Open Letter

September 11, 1931.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

May I make the following public announcement through the columns of your paper:

The Portland Evening News in its Sept. 9th issue, announced that in the event of my reelection as Mayor of Rockland, at the Municipal election next December, I would be a candidate for the office of Sheriff of this County. I appreciate the friendly support of those who have advanced my name as candidate for High Sheriff, but I am in duty bound to decline. I shall be a candidate for Mayor and I wish to make it clear that in the event of my reelection, I positively shall not be a candidate for the office of Sheriff or any other County office. With no private business to distract my attention, I have devoted my entire time to the many varied duties of the office of Mayor. I have striven to serve the City with an eye single to its general welfare and the best interests of its citizens, regardless of party affiliations.

In closing may I again reiterate that the office of Mayor is a full time job, and if reelected, I shall under no circumstances be a candidate for any County office.

Thanking you for many courtesies and space for these few lines, I am,

Sincerely yours,

C. M. RICHARDSON.

NEW DAY MAJESTIC

Homes Not Equipped With Power May Now Have Great Super-Heterodyne

So remarkable is the performance of the present line of Majestic Super-heterodyne Radio Receivers designed for use on light-socket power, that there has been a widespread demand for a similar receiver that would operate in homes not wired for electric current.

Being intended for use in unwired homes, Model 121 is, naturally, powered by batteries, but it should not be confused with the battery-operated receivers of the past. It bears no resemblance to them, in either appearance or performance. It looks like an AC set, is operated like an AC set and, best of all, performs like an AC set. This new Majestic Super-heterodyne brings to the unwired home the kind of radio reception hitherto thought possible only with powerful light-socket powered receivers but it does not require a storage battery and is free from the weaknesses and limitations inherent in battery operation.

The console walnut cabinet measures 37 1/2 inches high by 24 inches wide by 16 1/2 inches deep. Handsome matched butt walnut is used for the front panel, decorated with carved trim and a Laceywood overlay. Tuning is done entirely with the central knob on the escutcheon plate, the left hand knob is the "on-off" switch, while the right hand knob gives smooth, exact control of the volume from a whisper up to that required for dancing.

This receiver is to be powered from an Air Cell "A" Battery, three Heavy Duty 45-volt "B" batteries and a 22 1/2-volt "C" battery. On the basis of 2 1/2 to 3 hours daily use, the Air Cell battery will last for a year.

The Rural Child

Financial help is desired for carrying on in Knox County the religious training of unchurched boys and girls of the neglected rural districts. The work is well organized, under a trained leader, calls for financial support. Contributions sent to this paper will be promptly acknowledged and passed on to the treasurer of the Knox County Association for rural religious education, J. W. Robinson, to whom checks should be made payable.

Worthy Examples For Others

The Sunday School which was organized at North Warren under the auspices of the Knox County Association for rural religious education is now under local leadership. Mrs. A. K. Kallach, superintendent and teacher of the adult class; Miss Helen Hill, valedictorian of the 1931 graduating class of Warren high school, teacher of the intermediate boys and girls; Mrs. Frank Jameson, teacher of the juniors and primaries; Esther Tolman, secretary; Albert Hill, treasurer; and Mrs. I. Mank organist and song leader. The young people and boys and girls are to be congratulated in having those adults in their midst who so interested in the future welfare of their community that they accept the responsibility of maintaining the Sunday School. While some of these adult leaders used to walk to Sunday School when they were in their teens, and younger, they are going out of their way to bring others in their cars to the school.

The adults of the Head of the Lake and Shepherd Hill communities are also accepting their responsibility for the religious and moral education of their youth, but are using a different plan. Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Nichols and Mr. Grasso took the boys and girls of their community to the Sunday School at Union, where they will have the advantages of a graded school. Mrs. E. R. Norwood is planning to go each Sunday. In this way every boy and girl of the community will have the opportunity to attend. Ralph Hunt, who carries the Shepherd Hill boys and girls to public school, is also taking them to this Sunday School.

Thus busy men and women are measuring up to meet the religious needs of their children. "Who follows in their train?" If America's religious heritage is to challenge our youth, others must be willing to sacrifice and serve. God needs helpers in the task of bringing in the kingdom of peace and good will.—[Communicated.]

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Enclosed checks to be accredited to the fund for the Rural Child—the five dollars in the name of Ava B. Lawry and the three dollars in the name of my three children, Robert, Hervey, Jr., and Patricia Allen. If funds are slow in coming, it seems to me that every parent that could, would be more than willing to give a dollar in the name of their own child, for if one would think only of their own, it is surely worth a dollar to our children, to have the Rural Child have the benefit of religious education. It certainly is a most worthy cause and I do hope it will meet with response unforeseen.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE REVIEWED

Increased Attendance Shows Its Popularity—Picking An All-League Team No Cinch This Year

[F. A. WINSLOW]

One of the gratifying features of the season just closed has been the increasing attendance at the games of the Knox County Twilight League, as reflected in the division, this week, of the net receipts showing in Rockland, at least, that there was a gain of about 30 percent over last year. This gave the boys a nice little present, which could not be considered in the nature of a salary, of course, but the boys play mainly for the pure love of the sport, and whatever they receive in the nature of a "divvy" is a welcome feature.

The dedication of the new ball park in St. George marked the inception of a remarkably successful season there. On one night 170 motor cars were parked in and alongside of the field, and this was probably exceeded on other occasions. St. George folks support their team most loyally and the benefit entertainment on Labor Day was productive of a nice little present for the players.

St. George is "baseball crazy." Coming through that town from the Martinsville sector Thursday night I counted no less than seven games in progress on improvised fields, and I saw Manager Ernest Rawley coaching a High School team which seemed to have some very promising players. The word is that the St. George league team will be practically intact another season, but whenever a break does occur the material for filling it is in the making.

The Camden team, though at the foot of the list, was able to make a good financial showing, and has had much more loyal support than is usually accorded a "tail-end" team. The Thomaston team, without suitable grounds of its own made use of Community Park for its home games, and whether host or guest always drew well.

So much for the commercial aspect of the situation. Now for a glance at the playing ability of the several teams.

Taking St. George first, because it is again the title-holder, admiration is compelled by the well moulded and well handled machine which it represented. Its acknowledged advantage lay in the fact that the players were always to be found in the same positions, except when Simmons alternated between the box and the field. Its disadvantage lay in the fact that so much dependence had to be placed in Maurice Simmons—as shown by the fact that he was always selected by Manager Rawley as the twirler to oppose Rockland, whom the St. Georges naturally beheld as their most dangerous rival.

Rockland was believed by many fans, both here and in the other league towns to have the best fielding team in the circuit, although how far this might be supported by the official statistics I am not prepared to say. Its weakness lay in the fact that it seldom played the same team two games in succession, and that it lacked the punch at bat, when one hit would have won a game. It was also unfortunate that "Chummy" Gray and McPhee could not have been injected into the lineup sooner. McPhee was an eleventh hour discovery, and the inspiration furnished by his excellent playing and cheerful manner went a long way toward achieving the victories with which the team closed the season.

Thomaston was generally considered to have the best batting team, but found itself rather embarrassed for pitchers when it was discovered that Feehan was no longer able to continue in that capacity. Had Rockland's services been more frequently available it is hard telling what might have happened.

Camden lost out very largely because it was not so hot on the hot corner. Had the team been able to hold Brick Reed it would have had a most formidable infield, but Manager Thomas took the very patriotic position that the town could not afford to furnish employment for an out of town ball player at the expense of some local citizen who needed employment.

This year I am not attempting to pick an all-league team because of the difficulties which would be imposed by that task on account of so many evenly matched contenders.

Behind the bat one instantly thinks of "Sump" Archer, who was admittedly the all-league choice last year. The majority will probably pick him this year, while admiring the special virtues of Burns, the Thomaston catcher and Thomas the Camden catcher. Burns' batting ability, as shown in the latter part of the season brought him into the limelight. Thomas is a hard worker, with an especial aptitude for making difficult foul catches. Meantime

I am going to ask you to keep an eye on Flanagan, youngest of the group, whose work shows steady improvement.

Simmons would probably be named by most of the fans for first string pitcher, but he has a dangerous rival in Chummy Gray, whose ability came to be more generally recognized as the season drew to a close. He lacks some of Simmons' speed, but he has good stuff and a good level head—which are qualities serving to help put a player out in front. Speaking of pitchers what are you going to do with Charlie Wotton who won eight games in 10 starts? We generally think of Wotton as not a pitcher but a first baseman, where he has shown so brilliantly for many seasons, but his claims to pitching success are not to be idly dismissed gumdrop or no gumdrop.

Other pitchers who have shown brilliantly on occasion were Boynton and Bennett of Camden, and Condon and Kirkland of Thomaston. Take away Condon's tendency to wildness and he would be well up with the leaders.

First base, ah, there's the rub! The league was well fortified in that position, with Feehan of Thomaston as perhaps the best batter of the quartet, and Wotton, Davidson and Wadsworth more adept in the art of receiving thrown balls. All three saved the other infielders many errors because of wild throws. Gentlemen, make your own choice.

About the only second baseman who occupied that position the whole season (or nearly so) was Boggs of the Thomaston team. This genial Waldoboro boy who prefers baseball to a good feed, has a graceful way of handling ground balls, and of making quick, accurate throws to the other bases. Not generally considered a heavy batter, he has nevertheless made many timely hits, and is a past master at bunting. Morrissey did excellent work for St. George in the closing games. Fowler and Plaisted played second only semi-occasionally and their rating is more difficult to fix because of that fact. Both have done brilliant work at times, and Fowler has not infrequently excelled at bat.

Third base position is not difficult to decide. Sonny Dwyer of St. George is the acknowledged choice. He has a marvelous whip, and is the terror of the opposing pitchers, though his batting did fall off a trifle in the closing days when wily pitchers have slow ones on him.

Another all-league choice which I am sure is quite unanimous, is that of Ogier of Camden as shortstop. He is marvelously accurate on ground balls, and his throwing lacks little of perfection. At bat he is always a menace.

The outfield has had an abundance of good men. Left field offered four well matched players in Grafton, Monaghan, Mayhew and McCarty. Mayhew was easily the best thrower in the quartet, while McCarty was exceptionally accurate. I do not attempt to select the all-league man for this position. In centerfield it is Jeff Mealey of Rockland albeit he nearly caught heart disease with his vest pocket catches. A very close rival is "Dool" Dailey of Camden, whose value to his team was enhanced in the closing hours by his newly acquired ability to swat the ball. Also very close in the rating are Vinal and M. Simmons, both good batters as well.

Right field seems to me to be most ably filled by Dimick of Rockland, but Boynton, Feyler and Stone have done some very capable work there.

C. Churchill Wahle of New York who umpired the closing games and who has watched baseball many years with a discriminating eye, selected the following all-league team after a week's observance of the players: Archer C, Gray P, Feehan 1b, Boggs 2b, Dwyer 3b, Ogier ss, Monaghan lf, Mealey cf, Dimick rf. Second string battery, Simmons and Burns.

Manager Rawley of the St. George team makes these selections: Archer C, Simmons P, Davidson 1b, Fowler 2b, Dwyer 3b, Ogier ss, Grafton lf, Mealey cf, Boynton rf. Mr. Rawley picks Bennett as second string pitcher because of his victories attained with a weaker team.

A. C. McLoon, one of the best baseball experts in the county picks two teams:

Position	First	Second
Catcher	Archer	Burns
Pitcher	Simmons	Gray
First Base	Wotton	Davidson
Second Base	Boggs	Fowler
Third Base	Dwyer	Oney
Shortstop	Ogier	McPhee
Leftfield	Mayhew	Stone
Centerfield	Mealey	Dailey
Rightfield	Boynton	Grafton
Second string pitchers	Gray and

HERALD-TRAVELER MODERN PLANT

Great Metropolitan Dailies Now Housed In Three-and-a-Half Million Dollar Structure

The Boston Herald and the Boston Traveler greeted their readers from a new home when President Hoover pushed a button that started the battery of presses rolling on Friday, Sept. 11. Two days later a large rotogravure edition will tell the story source of power, light or heat. This form of energy, utilized as never before in printing a newspaper, melts the metal for the plates and for all the type. It also runs the motors that drive the presses, dries the mats from which the plates are cast, op-of this high mark in a vigorous existence of exactly 85 years for The Herald and 106 years for the Traveler. The plant, the largest in New England and practically double the size of the previous quarters, was constructed at a cost of $3,500,000, a period when the undertaking served to demonstrate the faith of its publishers in the future of the region. It is the most modern, complete and efficient newspaper plant in the United States. The new structure, occupying the area occupied by the old Adams House annex in addition to the adjoining site of the former Herald-Traveler building, overlooks Tremont street from approximately the same location at Mason and Avery streets which The Herald has occupied since 1906.

The seven-story plant provides more than three acres of floor space, designed and equipped to combine the utility of a factory with an atmosphere of order and quiet, unfamiliar to veteran reporters and printers. The crew which issues the present papers totals 1280 men and women. The readers have multiplied from a scant 2000 to 300,000 daily for the combined Herald and Traveler. One of the outstanding features of the new plant is its complete electrification. There is hardly a process in which electricity is not used as a erates the elevators, gives the spark of life to hundreds of telephone and telegraph instruments, lights the building, supplies some of the heat, freshens the air, cools the water and even dries the ink. Of particular importance in the saving of time and money is the radically new system, depending on electricity, of recasting the rotogravure cylinders with copper after each press run instead of grinding off the old impression.

On the fourth floor are the intricate typesetting machines, banks for assembling type, tables for fitting it into forms and moulders for making the mats.

The news room on the fifth floor, on which are the desks of all editors, reporters, copy readers, feature writers, and the files of the reference department, contains the most modern equipment to facilitate their work. Especially noticeable are the sound-proof rooms which smother all noise of the teletypes and telegraph instruments. Ultra-modern telephone equipment, capable of 60 per cent expansion, is the outstanding characteristic of the sixth and seventh floors which house all the business departments of the paper except the "counting room," or main public office, that occupies the most prominent first-floor position at the corner of Mason and Avery streets.

Boynton; third string pitchers, Kirkland and Condon.

Next season it is not unlikely that there will be five teams in the Twilight League. Hadley H. Kuhn and William G. Labe of Waldoboro were in the city Thursday seeking to learn what the chances were for obtaining a franchise in that town, and were given a friendly and encouraging reception. It is also understood that Camden is favorable.

Waldoboro's introduction into the League would mean a realignment of the Thomaston team, as Benner, Boggs and Burns would naturally serve as a nucleus for the Waldoboro team. The rumor that there might be other defections from Thomaston was not borne out by the conversation with the Waldoboro delegation.

As usual, at this season of the year there are wars and rumors of wars, but when the roses spring into bloom next spring complete harmony will have been re-established and the nation's greatest sport will again come into its own. The fans will insist upon it.

Hancock County Lobstermen Grateful For Recent Rockland Hearing

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Fish Warden Fred Hagah, in behalf of the fishermen at Swan's Island and Frenchboro sends a word of appreciation and thanks to Director H. D. Crie at Rockland for the good work he is doing. The inviting of Senators White and Hale, and Representative Nelson to a banquet held at Rockland Sept. 4 for the purpose of laying the lobster question before them, was understood and appreciated.

Howard Rich of Reading, Penn., who has a summer home here at the island, represented the island's fishermen. Mr. Rich was on a business trip to Pennsylvania, which he delayed a day in order to speak for the fishermen. He is very much interested in the people of the islands and shows it in every way possible.

CAPT. HURLEY DIES

Death of Snack Skipper Who Was Injured In the Recent Explosion

The explosion from gas fumes which occurred on the wharf at Swan's Island on the Donohue wharf Aug. 29, resulted yesterday in the death of Capt. John Hurley, commander of that craft, who suffered burns from head to foot.

The deceased was 50, and resided in Plymouth, Mass., until nine years ago. He was engaged in bringing fish from R. E. Feyler, wholesale dealer on Tillson wharf, who yesterday succeeded in locating a surviving relative in the person of a sister, Mrs. Frank Neal of Plymouth, who indicated her intention of coming to Rockland at once.

The accident which resulted thus tragically also lost to Capt. Hurley his uninsured boat valued at $2500.

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Me., Sept. 12, 1931.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who on oath declares that he is President of the office of The Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of Sept. 10, 1931, there was printed a total of 6176 copies.
W. H. BUTLER,
Notary Public.

A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.—James 1:8.

A DANGEROUS CORNER

For the second time within a brief period the corner at Beech and Lincoln streets has been the scene of accidents, one of them fatal. It is a corner with a shoulder obscuring vehicles from two lines of approach and the fall of the roadway from three directions apparently invites to speed. Then there is the complication that arises from the hundreds of school children, who at certain hours through the sidewalks and overflow into the street, with utter disregard of danger, and often with youthful abandon and perverted sense of humor dashing in front of the passing automobile. Superintendent Toner upon another page asks the cooperation of parents in keeping pupils away from the school buildings until the hours for study begin, and points out that the police department is lending aid at the hours of congestion. It is to be hoped that these measures serve to correct conditions that are essentially grave.

"ADVERTISING MAINE"

There are many forms of advertising that recommend themselves to the business man, none of which, we are confident, is to be valued as highly as that supplied by the columns of the newspaper that finds its way into the home. Among some of the less popular mediums of publicity we should list first the way-side bill-board—and here we quote from the editorial page of the Boston American:

An exasperated New York tourist, motoring to Bar Harbor, expressed the conviction that there was no uglier road in the world than between Portsmouth, N. H., and Portland, Me. He was referring to the road sign nuisance, of course, for the roadway itself is modern and comfortable and the Maine topography is unsurpassed, when it can be seen. A recent tabulation showed in excess of 1400 indiscriminate and nondescript signs in the 12-mile stretch between Vaughn's Bridge and Saco. They set forth the allurements of everything under the sun, from the humble hotdog to instant relief for tired feet. The one thing they do not advertise, but from which they detract, is Maine's most precious asset—her beautiful natural scenery.

In the connection we recall the recent incident of which the Boston Transcript remarked: "We cannot join in chorus of praise for Maine's publicity 'stunt.' Two guides from the Maine woods traveled to New York. It was announced that they had gone there to offer their services in the war on the gunmen. Then it was discovered that their real purpose was to advertise the beginning of the hunting season in Maine." Alluding to the great amount of free advertising which this visit of the guides obtained, our contemporary ventured the opinion that such publicity was less than valuable, and declared that Maine does not need this kind of "stunt" to attract attention to itself. Its seacoast and lakes, its mountains and spreading forests, its healthful and refreshing climate, afford abundant material for publicity without resort to fairy tales. If the advice of a friend may be offered without giving offence, we would suggest to the Maine folk that they stick to the truth and avoid adventures in publicity that may impair confidence in the kind of publicity that should prove of both immediate and lasting value.

Accepting what we conceive to be these kindly-intentioned suggestions from our metropolitan friends, brings us back to our earlier contention, that the one safe and satisfactory medium for advertising is to be found in the newspaper which finds its way into the family home.

WORLD DISARMAMENT

At noon tomorrow there will cross the borders of New England the disarmament caravan of the Woman's International League for peace and freedom, which started from Los Angeles in June, and holding meetings in half a hundred cities has rolled up an enormous petition—a petition which is being circulated in forty different countries, demanding world disarmament, and to be presented at the conference in Geneva next February. It is universal and total disarmament that is aimed at, and the caravan is said to have had such enthusiastic welcome along the line as suggests a great public sentiment existing in this country favorable to the announced purpose. We shall have a more lively expectation of seeing total disarmament arrived at, when Russia's army of nine millions no longer menaces a world which that country purposes to make Soviet.

CREATOR OF DISCORD

It is not surprising that when our Direphone projected itself into newspaper discussion it developed pen and ink acerbity. Such has ever been its effect upon the disposition of the innocent bystander. What it needs is one of those modifying gadgets such as radios are mercifully equipped with.

VOTE FOR THE AMENDMENT

Smaller Counties, Including Knox, Will Be Protected If "Yes" Vote Predominates Monday

To the Voters:—

Under present provision of the constitution the number of State senators is limited to 31 and a district, which practice has made a county, may have as many of that number as its population bears in proportion to the total population of the State.

It is conceivable that as the western counties continue to outstrip the eastern in gains in population, that it might be necessary to combine two or three of the small counties to make a district and only one senator might represent Knox, Lincoln and Waldo, where they now together have three.

According to the new amendment each county is entitled to at least one senator. A county having a population of 30,001 is entitled to two, of 60,001 to three, of 120,001 to four, of 240,001 to five, while if it were based on proportion it would give these counties 2, 4, 8, and 16 respectively. Thus it is easy to see that the smaller counties will be protected by the amendment.

It is especially favorable to Knox which has a population of 27,693 and should soon get into the two-senator class while the five other smaller counties have a population ranging from 15,498 to 19,941.

Under the 1930 census the amendment if adopted would add one senator each to Androscoggin and Oxford counties and allow Hancock to retain its present number.

BICYCLIST INJURED

Edward Peaslee, Jr., In Collision With Levensaler Auto At Dreaded Corner

The corner of Lincoln and Beech streets, which has come to be a source of dread to vehicular and pedestrian alike, was the scene of another serious accident Thursday afternoon when an automobile driven by Atwood Levensaler, and a bicycle ridden by Edward W. Peaslee, Jr., were in collision.

Mr. Levensaler was driving westward on Beech street and the Peaslee boy was riding southward on Lincoln street. They evidently espied each other about the same moment and both made efforts to avoid coming in contact. The collision occurred on the southwestern corner of the junction.

Taken at once to Knox Hospital, young Peaslee remained in a semi-conscious state until late yesterday, when he was able to discuss the accident with his parents. A summary of his injuries shows a fracture of the skull, a fracture of the right arm below the elbow, a cut on one of his hips, and cuts on the face. His pulse was better yesterday and his condition this morning shows improvement.

Mr. Levensaler was so much overcome by the accident that he collapsed at the hospital, whither he had accompanied the victim.

ROCKPORT

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred K. Crockett and son Carleton and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crockett, Jr., of Portland were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Crockett.

He was a bit shy, and after she had thrown her arms around him and kissed him for bringing her a bouquet of flowers, he arose and started to leave.

"I am sorry I offended you," she said.

"Oh, I'm not offended," he replied.

"I'm going for more flowers,"—Cap-per's Weekly.

SEVEN CORKING BOUTS

The American Legion Boxing Show Gives Knox County Pugilistic Fans a Hilarious Night

When Austin Brewer, master of ceremonies presented the opening bout at Thursday night's sparring exhibition in Empire Theatre he looked out upon a sea of faces, for every seat in the venerable motion picture theatre was filled, and many were standing at the rear of the hall. Generally when there is a big crowd the show is "not so good," but this was a notable exception for the fans were kept constantly on edge, and it was the general opinion that the entertainment given by the Winslow-Holbrook Post Drum Corps was one of the best in the boxing line that Rockland has ever seen.

It got away to rather a slow start when Kid Smith of Rockland and Audette, Jr., of Waterville proceeded to play yo-yo with each other. Mr. Brewer and Referee Dondis agreed with the crowd that it was a punk performance, and after they had informed the boxers that this was a man's show and not a children's tournament there was an amazing change of front, and the boys gave four fast rounds in which Kid Smith's cleverness in ducking was an important factor.

Young Hooper is still the idol of St. George boxing fans; although for a few moments he had his hands full when he faced Art Oxtom of Warren. The bout was going along even Stephen until the St. George boy stuck out his jaw in a taunting manner. Oxtom could not resist a blow at the defiant features. This proved his undoing for Hooper laid him low with a powerful punch to the jaw. Oxtom made a manful attempt at a comeback, but in a few moments he was the victim of a technical knockout.

The principals in the curtain-raiser who had become lost in a crack somewhere, arrived by this time, and the fans saw a remarkably clever performance by "Baby" Jack Proctor, aged 7, of Waterville, and Billy White, aged 11, of Winslow. The younger of the thistleweights proved the cleverer, but both received a great hand as they left the ring.

Johnnie Yuck of Bangor and Billy Blanchard of Oakland swapped vigorous punches for four rounds, and the scrap had a whirlwind finish, slightly in Blanchard's favor.

The most sanguinary bout of the evening was fought by K. O. Robbins of Thomaston and Young Jack Dempsey of Woolwich. The towel was thrown in from Robbins' corner because he was bleeding so profusely from a bad cut on the mouth, but Dempsey's seconds were not to be outdone and they also threw in the towel. Dempsey appeared to be having the worst of the argument.

Young Sukerforth of Rockland who seems to have more stamina and facial expression than any other boxer in these parts, put away Young Bolduc of Dover, N. H. in the fourth round. If Bolduc has been doing any training this season it must have been with the yo-yo for he had too much avoirdupois to make a good ring appearance, and neither he nor his trunks was able to stand the strain. One thing he did not lack, and that was plenty of pluck.

The final bout was between two very aggressive boxers—Young Audette of Waterville and Gold Coast

Grenier of Winslow, who are said to have a personal grudge, all because of a pretty girl. Audette had the better of the first five rounds, but was not popular with the fans who nearly raised the roof when Grenier made his tremendous come back in the last round. Audette was booed lustily, and last seen of him he was challenging the crowd. It was a main bout such as Knox County fans have not seen in a long time.

The promoters are now cooking up another good show for the near future.

FOOTBALL SEASON

The Maine Games In Which State's Four Institutions Take Part

The Maine college football teams, in which there is always a strong Knox County interest, are getting ready for the fray. Here are the games in Maine:

Nov. 11—Colby vs. Bates at Waterville (State series).

Preserve the above list, fans.

LOCAL THEATRES

Park Theatre

"The Last Flight," The First National production starring Richard Barthelmess, and coming to the Park Theatre, Monday and Tuesday next, provides the personable star with his most dramatic role. He is an ex-flier, after the World War, who with four buddies and a lovely girl whom the five adopt is trying to find action as exciting as soldiering. The thrilling story is by John Monk Saunders who also did the story for the last Barthelmess success, "The Finger Points."—adv.

Strand Theatre

"This Modern Age," with Joan Crawford in the starring role and a cast which includes Pauline Frederick, Neil Hamilton, Monroe Owsley and Hobart Bosworth, will be the feature attraction Monday and Tuesday. The picture enables Miss Crawford to return to the "whoopee" type of role which made her famous and which she temporarily deserted for the straight parts of "Paid," "Dance, Pools, Dance" and "Laughing Sinners." The plot concerns an American girl who lives in Paris with a mother who is so ultra-modern that she even has a secret love affair with a wealthy man about town. It is this affair that brings disaster to the daughter, whose fiancé refuses to marry a girl with so disreputable a mother. The means by which the complications are solved make for an extremely lively and up-to-date story.—adv.

WEATHER
Who said summer was all over after Labor Day? Not the perspiring average citizen as he hunted for a cool spot yesterday. Rockland in common with the rest of the North Atlantic seaboard was in the grip of a heat wave which broke records for Sept. 11 in many places. Noon thermometer here stood at 88, wind west. Relief came suddenly late in the afternoon as clouds rolled up from the west and a brisk north breeze blew in the evening, making conditions very comfortable. This morning also is cool, skies overcast and vane pointing to northeast as we go to press. Continued fair weather is forecast for tomorrow, which is auspicious for the ending of the vacation season absences from church.

Claremont Commandery holds its first convolve of the season next Monday night.

Lucien K. Green Jr. leaves Sunday for Charleston where he will enter Higgins Classical Institute.

Camden and St. George are playing an exhibition game in Camden at 4 o'clock this afternoon, under the terms of the Bok prize award.

Patrolman E. C. Ingraham goes out tonight on his annual vacation, the itinerary of which has not been arranged. A trip to Brockton Fair possibly.

The 35th annual reunion of the 21st Maine Regimental Association was held in Augusta Thursday, among those in attendance being Past Department Commander F. S. Philbrick of Rockland and Albion Allen of Hope, the latter 97 years of age but still enjoying excellent health. Charles F. Tibbets of Augusta was elected president.

Improvements being made at Park Theatre add to the attractiveness of that motion picture house, and the new manager, Mr. Dandaneau has in prospect some other changes which he believes will please the patrons. — Next Wednesday and Thursday will begin a series of reels demonstrating the fine points of tennis, as explained by the famous star Bill Tilden.

Telephone teams, representing the Bangor and Portland districts, will play their rubber game for the State championship at Community Park at 2:30 this afternoon and it is safe to say that all (base) lines will be busy. Jimmy Murphy of Rockland is captain of the Bangor team. He is a former Rockland High School star, and the local fans will probably root for his team.

Rev. William Vaughn of Belfast was yesterday's Rotary Club speaker, presenting a masterly discussion of the principles exemplified by the Rotary Wheel as observed down the ages. All peoples of all time have needed some banner some insignia to bind their faith and ideals into a united front against the organized forces opposing right. The tablets of stone, the banners of the Crusaders and the wheel of Rotary international marked great monuments. Today the wheel moves on in all nations toward universal brotherhood and world peace. Visiting Rotarians included George C. Chase of Orlando, Fla., Dr. E. A. Farrington of Haddonfield, N. J., Kendall Hopkins, Dr. C. H. Jameson and Col. E. A. Robbins of Camden. Dr. E. L. TONER TO PARENTS

Seeks To Prevent Congestion Around School Buildings Before Sessions

I would like to call to the attention of all parents who have children in school that many children arrive at the building long before the time for school to begin. It is very desirable from the standpoint of safety that this congestion be relieved as far as possible, and that children play near home before and after school. The play grounds are supervised by the teachers at recess time.

The police department is cooperating by assigning an officer during the periods of heavy congestion in the neighborhood of the McLean and High School buildings where more than 1000 pupils attend school.

The actual time of opening and closing school sessions follows:

McLean Building—Penobscot—Begin, 9:40; sub-primary closes, 11; grades 1 and 2 close, 11:30; all other grades below Junior High School close 3:30.

High School and Junior High School—Penobscot—Begin 8:25, close 12; afternoon—begin 1:20, close 3:25.

The cooperation of parents in this matter will be appreciated.

The American Legion boys are on the alert for tomorrow's picnic at Vinalhaven to which all of the county Posts and ex-service men are invited. Transportation will be furnished by the steamer Vinalhaven, leaving Tillson wharf at 8 a. m., daylight. Dinner will be furnished by the Vinalhaven Post and there will be a baseball game. The Vinalhaven Post Drum Corps will furnish music. Members are requested to take instruments and baseball paraphernalia.

Colonel Joseph Atkinson, who is in command of the Salvation Army forces in New England with headquarters in Boston will visit a number of cities in this division next week. He will arrive in Rockland Friday accompanied by Major and Mrs. Charles Trew and Adjutant F. Keller of Portland. During the day business matters concerning the local corps will be gone over and at 7 p. m. a special open air meeting will be held, followed by a public meeting in the Army hall.

Holman F. Day, for many years connected with the editorial staff of the Lewiston Journal and afterward an author of note is now located in San Francisco, where he is entertaining people of the Pacific coast with a radio sketch called the Old Salt. It is a three person sketch of the Old Salt, the Mate and the Cabin Boy. Mr. Day handles the part of the Old Salt and in it portrays the character of an old time, down East Yankee sailor. It is said that the sketch is getting a big laugh from the entire West Coast and as far east as Utah.

The excessively heavy traffic which always obtains in this section around Labor Day has been responsible this week for double-header trains and heavily loaded steamboats. Reservations exist for some days to come, and the size of the homeward travel demonstrates eloquently that many hundreds of tourists were still enjoying the delights of the Penobscot Bay section when the bell rang. H. E. Conins, Rockland station agent, expressed the opinion to a Courier-Gazette reporter the other day that the summer travel in this section will hold its own with last year's.

Crescent Beach Inn has closed after a successful season.

The annual convention of the Maine W.C.T.U. takes place in Norway Sept. 22-25 with the twin towns of Norway and South Paris entertaining.

Elton Twaddell, son of Mrs. Isabel Twaddell of this city and a frequent visitor here, has been transferred from the Portsmouth, N. H., office of the Beneficial Loan Co., to Portland a manager of that office, the change making a material advancement.

Norman Waldron leaves today for Manlius, N. Y., where he resumes teaching in the French department at the Manlius Military Academy. He will be joined in South Windham by George Freiday, Jr. who will accompany him as far as Utica, N. Y. They will visit friends in Boston.

The Trumbull Players who have made such a fine impression in this vicinity are playing engagements at Waldoboro, Sept. 17; Thomaston, Sept. 18, and Union, Sept. 19, presenting the southern play, "The Man Who Made Good." Albert Dodge of Rockland, who recently joined the players, will be seen in an interesting role.

Knox County horses were among the winners in the Lewiston State Fair races this week. G. W. Bachelder's Topworthy won first money in the 2:18 trot; Jingle Bells, trained and driven by Harry Chukev, won second money in the 2:18 pace; G. W. Bachelder's Worthy Silk won fourth money in the claiming race; G. W. Bachelder's Expressive Guy won first money in the 2:14 pace; and Harold Burgess' Sister Napoleon won second.

On account of numerous requests from sportsmen throughout the Kennebec Valley the Togs management has rebooked the Philadelphia Colored Giants in an exhibition game against Togs Sunday. The last time these two clubs met it was a pitchers' duel between Jackman and Charlie Small and these two twirlers are slated to again perform. This is positively the last engagement of the season as the Philadelphia Giants are returning from a Canadian tour. The Togs management has been changed considerably.

The W.C.T.U. met Friday at the home of Mrs. Hope Brewster. These delegates to the State convention at South Paris were elected: Ex-officio, Mrs. Clara Emery, Miss Alena Young and Mrs. Hope Brewster; delegates, Mrs. Evelyn Sherman, Miss Florence Hastings, Mrs. Ida Simmons, Mrs. Jeanette Dunlop, Mrs. Laura Farrar, Mrs. Etta Stoddard and Mrs. Adna Ripley; alternates, Mrs. Jennie Randall, Mrs. Lizzie Smith, Miss Alice Erskine, Mrs. Blanche Sherman, Mrs. Florence Keach and Mrs. Leona Ristein.

Among those scheduled to appear before the delegates at the annual convention of the Maine Federation of Music Clubs in Caribou Sept. 25-26 will be Miss Helen Snider, secretary of library and program service of the music division of the National Federation of Settlements. Miss Snider will be heard Friday, speaking on "The Idea Behind Social Music." The Rubinstein Club of the city will be represented on the program of senior clubs Friday evening by Mrs. Ruth E. Sanborn, pianist, and the club is sending as delegates Mrs. Faith G. Berry and Mrs. Hazel Atwood, president.

Miriam Rebekah Lodge meets Tuesday evening for a short business session. In the afternoon occurs its annual fall fair, doors opening at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Belle Lewis general chairman will be assisted by Mrs. Lina Carroll and Mrs. Minnie Rogers, aprons; Mrs. Lizzie Smith, crabs; and Mrs. Josephine Burns, Mrs. Lillian Cotton and Mrs. Mabel Brewster, candv. The public supper at 6 o'clock will be under the direction of Mrs. Lewis. Reservations for the public card party in the evening may be made with Mrs. Grace Rollins, Mrs. Eva Flint or Miss Madeline Rogers. There will be tables for both bridge and "63."

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

North Haven Church Has Carried On Constructive Work All Year

At the union service of the summer congregation with island people last Sunday morning in an account of the activities of the island church the pastor, Rev. Mr. Huse, offered the following remarks:

Our activities during the year have been the normal ones of a Christian Church. Public worship and preaching services have been maintained and sustained during the 12 months of the year, morning and night; the church school has held its sessions more than nine months; schoolhouse and cottages meetings held between Sundays in the fall and spring; pastoral service has been rendered without a break save for one week's time.

One of the outstanding features of the year has been an awakened interest in the Sunday School. During April, May and June there was an average attendance of 122 for 10 consecutive Sundays. What proves to be the record attendance in the history of the island was that of June 7 when by actual count there were 192 present. With the population of the island but 475 at this time the record is remarkable. Moreover, in view of the fact that the average attendance from 1917 to 1921 was but 27.

At Easter time five united with the church by baptism and one by ex-perience. From 1900 to 1927 but 49 united with the church by baptism. In the past three years 21 have thus come.

One of the fine things the island people have done during the year is the repairs effected in the old Pulpit Harbor Church. Rotted timbers have been replaced, the tower largely rebuilt and made safe, the building painted, new steps and platform put in, the interior varnished throughout and the furnace renovated. In addition to the $1400 raised toward the budget of the church the island people contributed more than $450 of the $700, the cost of repairs.

With these improvements this church building used during the summer, historic old landmark, has been preserved for another generation. Its tower above the spruce tops will continue to point heavenward and to serve as a landmark for boatmen in North Haven waters, enabling them to get their bearings and to tell just where they are. And are not these things the mission of the church to lift our thoughts Godward, and to enable us to get our bearings upon life's sea?

The finest ship sailing southern waters 49 years ago was the Queen of the Pacific. The captain was George Alexander, the pilot, Ezekiel Alexander, the purser the late Fremont Beverage, all North Haven men. The ship ran into bad weather and thick fog. The captain said to the pilot, "Do you know where you are? I confess I do not." "Yes, captain, I know just where we are; tomorrow morning if the fog lifts you will see certain islands just ahead." It was an anxious night for the captain. With the morning the fog lifted and there just ahead were the islands. It is the mission of the Christian Church today, as it has ever been, to enable people to get their bearings upon life's sea, to determine just where they are, and to chart their course aright in the will of God, the realization of life's true meaning and end for society, no less than the individual that at the end of life's voyage all may come safely at last into the haven and heaven of God beyond all earthly horizons.

Let me say how much I appreciate the privilege of these few remarks, and acknowledge personally and in behalf of the island people that whatever we may accomplish through this church is largely due to the generous interest and support of summer friends who love North Haven and have at heart its noblest welfare. We are ambitious for North Haven. The support we have had we hope may be continued and the labors accomplished may commend themselves to one and all.

IN THE CHURCHES

SERMONETTE

The Mystery in Religion
There is no religion without mysteries and it is with the sacrifice, which constitute the essence of the worship.—Chateaubriand.

Man is as great a mystery as any in the universe. Possessed of Godlike qualities, it is impossible for him to be other than human. He alone of all God's creatures sins consciously and deliberately against even his own interests, and yet he always aspires and responds to those impulses which lead back to God. And since creation his progress has ever been upward.

Man cannot live by bread alone. In every age he has been led to worship, even those gods which are the work of his own hands.

Prayer is the mysterious medium by which man communes with God.

One morning very early, this summer, as president of the largest Protestant denomination, the writer hurrying through the great pines at Ocean Park encountered a group of men kneeling by a fallen tree. Whether they were connected with the convention, or some other body, and was a mystery; but what they were doing was no mystery—they were praying earnestly to God, and it was the very essence of worship. W. A. H.

Services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at Ingraham Hill chapel.

At the Congregational Church tomorrow morning Mr. Rounds will preach on the subject, "The Ebb Tide of Hope." The Pilgrim choir will sing.

The Salvation Army services for Sunday, rally day will be: 10 a. m. Sunday School and Bible Class; 11, holiness meeting; 6:30 p. m. Young People's Legion; 8, salvation meeting.

Rev. H. H. Marr has returned from his vacation and services will be held both morning and evening at the Pratt Memorial Church. The morning subject will be "Neglect—The Great Thief," and in the evening "A Cry For Help." Prayer service Tuesday evening at 7:15.

At First Church of Christ, Scientist, corner of Cedar and Brewster streets, Sunday services are at 10:30 and the subject of the lesson sermon tomorrow will be "Substance." Sunday School is at 11:45. Wednesday evening testimony meeting is at 7:30. The reading room is located at 400 Main street, and is open week days from 2 until 5 p. m.

At the Universalist Church tomorrow morning at 10:30 Rev. George H. Welch will have as the topic of his sermon "What Christianity Comprehends." The quartet will sing as anthems "Sing, O Daughter of Zion," Hosmer, and "Soft as the Voice," Charles Scott. Delegates for the State convention at Oakland on Sept. 20 will be chosen after the service. Sunday School sessions will begin next week.

At the Littlefield Memorial Church the pastor, Rev. L. G. Perry, will use for his morning subject, "The Question of Great Importance." Norman Crockett will be the soloist. Junior church will meet at 10:30 under the leadership of Miss Olive Bragg; Sunday School at 11:45, and B.Y.P.U. at 6:15, led by Edward Jameson. The pastor's subject for the evening will be "Divine Messengers" and Edward Jameson will sing a solo. Monday evening there will be a meeting of the finance committee in the vestry at 7 o'clock. Tuesday evening regular weekly prayer meeting will convene at 7:30. Thursday evening the officers and teachers of the Sunday School will meet in the vestry for a workers' conference.

NORTH HAVEN

Sunday services will be held in the new church at 10:30, standard; also at 7 o'clock. The pastor will preach at both services.

Several North Haven people attended the hearing at Rockland Wednesday on the automobile accident in which Thorleif Christiansen was killed. After listening to the story of this sad mishap, counsel for Von Ahnen moved for the dismissal of the case and it was forthwith granted by Judge Butler.

When a man who is holding a five gallon can that is being filled with gasoline has in his hand a lighted cigarette with sparks being blown from it by the wind he not only endangers his own life but that of his fellow workman. In fact the question as to what might be the result if the big tank should blow up is cause for serious reflection. The only safeguard against serious mishaps is eternal thoughtfulness and vigilance.

Add "Thrift" to the three Rs

Teaching young men to be thrifty is nearly as important as teaching them reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic. On their ability to save money depends their future success, for success and happiness is measured by a large extent by financial security. Teach your son, while he is still in the habit-forming stage of life, to save money. It may be only a little yet as the amount grows the lesson of thrift will be brought home forcibly. A savings account at this bank, in which he can make his own deposits, will help him form the habit of saving money frequently. We suggest that you come in with your son and make the first deposit on a savings account for him.

The Island of Bali, Dutch East Indies, is divided into six months of 25 days each, so that New Year festivities take place every 210 days. It is called Golegeng Day and was observed last January 7 and has just been observed again, Aug. 5. The next New Year begins March 2, 1932 and during the two weeks of unusual festivities and ample feasts, kriss or sword dancing, cockfighting and other sports, many round-the-world-American tourists will be present. The Kriss dances are famous all over the world and thousands attend the special exhibition given on the island of Serangan on Sakenen Day, eleven days after the New Year Festival. The official ceremonies of the Javanese at the Temple Tirka Empoul are as gorgeous as anything seen anywhere.

Illustrated at the right are some of the half-ton models included in Chevrolet's complete line of trucks—which consists of 1/2-ton and 1 1/2-ton models in three wheelbase lengths.

Take the question of first-cost—and you learn that the Chevrolet Six is one of the lowest priced trucks you can buy!

Investigate economy—and you discover the Chevrolet Six to be more economical to operate than any other truck, regardless of the number of cylinders.

Investigate stamina, reliability and upkeep costs—and you find that Chevrolet owners frequently report such records as "20,000 miles without opening the engine"—"50,000 miles and still dependable"—"ten months with practically no expense for repairs."

As for speed and power, Chevrolet gives you a six-cylinder 50-horsepower engine—25% more powerful than the engine in any other truck in the lowest price field. And as for capacity, Chevrolet's longer wheelbase, sturdy frame and long springs permit the mounting of extra-large Chevrolet-built bodies.

Before you buy a truck for any purpose, find out about six-cylinder Chevrolet trucks. Your Chevrolet dealer has the facts.

Knox Lincoln Farm Bureau

Among the orchardists at the field day held at Marshall Moody's orchard in Bunker Hill were: E. N. Hobbs, N. P. Barrett of Hope; Henry Keller, Leman Oxtow of West Rockport; J. F. Calderwood of Union; Howard Rollins of Nobleboro, Edgar Smith of North Edgecomb. Mr. Moody has a fine crop of McIntosh and Red Delicious. The apples are comparatively free of scab and are putting on good color. He expects 300 barrels this year. A series of sprays have been applied under direction of the Extension Service.

W. W. Cochran of North Edgecomb

has a very good crop of Baldwins this year. They are also clean. He has applied five sprays. He also has several trees of russets that are large and clean. He is satisfied that spraying will produce clean fruit. North Edgecomb is becoming an outstanding poultry section of the county. W. W. Cochran has 1200 pullets to house this year, is going to install a large incubator and also a mammoth brooder. He also has several hundred pullets housed that are laying about 30%. Edgar Smith has housed several hundred pullets which are showing good production. He is building his barn cellar over into a brooder room, with also a battery brooder; 500 pullets will also be housed in the cellar. The tie-up in his barn will be remodeled into a brooder room equipped with mammoth brooder.

Arthur Paquette of this community has increased his housing capacity to 1000 pullets. Randall Cummings has some fine pullets nearly ready for housing.

All of these men are following methods recommended by the Extension Service and have all enrolled in the grow good pullet campaign. They all agree that to raise good pullets clean range and plenty of it is necessary.

trap nested this winter. He has followed the recommendations of the Extension Service in raising the pullets.

George Hausen of Whitefield also has a fine flock of R. I. Red pullets. Alfalfa plots of James Cameron, Dresden; Fred Law, Whitefield and Donald Jewett, Whitefield were inspected this week by County Agent Wentworth. Good results have been obtained by all the men.

Harlan Everson says that since he has started using open air shelters and good range he has had no trouble in raising good healthy pullets. He has 500 fine barred rocks.

An outstanding farm in Dresden is Treen River Farm, Richmond Sargent, manager. They expect to harvest 4000 bushels of potatoes this season. They have a fine herd of Guernsey cattle. They also specialize in O. I. C. hogs; 15 of them were taken to the Lewiston Fair. This year they had a large crop of oats. Four acres of them were sprayed with iron sulphate to kill mustard with good results and an increased yield of oats. Harry Richardson, poultry specialist, of the Extension Service, will be in the county next week to assist poultry breeders in making up special pens. Calls will be made on following men who are doing pedigree breeding: Henry Keller, West Rockport; F. M. Piper, Rockland; Maynard Kinney, Thomaston; Foster Jameson, Waldoboro; Luther Carney, Sheepscott and Fred Law, Whitefield.

Farm Bureau Membership Campaign
The annual membership drive for Farm Bureau members will start on Tuesday, Sept. 16. Committee meetings will be held next week thus: Tuesday, Sept. 16 at 10.30 a. m. West Rockport and Rockport, 1.30 p. m. Hope and 7.30 p. m. Burketville. On Wednesday 10.30 a. m. Union, 1.30 p. m. Appleton and 7.30 p. m. Camden. County Agent Wentworth and the home demonstration agent, Miss Lawrence will attend these meetings and assist the committee in making final arrangements for the canvassing of the communities.

4-H Club Local Contests

At the close of the club year a local contest is held in each community where a club is organized. Club members take in articles they have made or produced for exhibition. This gives club members a chance to compare their work with other members, also places before the parents and citizens of the community the work done by their boys and girls. The local leader in each community is in charge of the meeting.

Miss Estelle Nason, State home demonstration agent leader, is to be in the county Thursday. She is to help Miss Lawrence make plans for membership campaign. She will also visit an in-between meeting at East Union on decorative stitches and quilting in the afternoon. There are also calls to be made in Damariscotta Mills, Edgecomb and Nobleboro.

Dreams don't always come true, yet plans seem to develop for many who know what they wish. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Waltz, Damariscotta, can testify that such prosaic things as kitchen conveniences and other desirable household facilities come to them. Whether these things came by dreams or otherwise, it is sufficient to state that Mr. and Mrs. Waltz are now enjoying them. The story is long, yet the following will give a sufficient glimpse.

Mr. Waltz and a carpenter built the home in the fall of 1914. Complete then? No, that is when the evolution began. In October 1915 Mr. and Mrs. Waltz were married and started living in their new home but the upper three chambers were not completed until three years later. In 1927 a hot air furnace was installed. Other changes and additions were made in 1931. Among these was a shed, a chicken house with housing capacity of 600 layers, and brooding facilities of 1000 to 1500 chickens.

Four years ago an artesian well was driven for water. About a year ago an electric pump was installed with a supply tank for two houses, one for his father's across the road. Electric lights were put into the buildings about four years ago. In 1930 a cellar was dug the full size of the house with concrete walls resting on a bottom of solid ledge.

Last year they were interested in installing a bathroom. From a bulletin given out by the Extension service they built a septic tank. This year with help from another bulletin suggestions from Miss Cobb, home management specialist, and Jessie M. Lawrence, home demonstration agent, the kitchen and pantry were remodeled. The pantry was made into a bathroom. The cooking unit was changed from pantry to kitchen, which made less steps in preparing meals. Cupboards were built along a blank wall space; a small window was cut over the sink. As the kitchen had only one window, it was quite dark so another window was cut beside the present one. Mr. Waltz laid a special design marble floor in buff colors of green, cream and buff. The design is in 14" hexagons in the center with a border of 12" square designs. The bathroom is the same material only in black and white.

FRIENDSHIP

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll G. Gleason and son, returned Wednesday to Dover, Mass., having closed their Martin's Point cottage for the summer.

At The High School

Ruth Whittemore

Marion Anderson starts the year as office assistant.

Registration is larger than last year—over 400.

Regular lessons were being carried on in all classes the afternoon of Tuesday, the very first day of school. That means pretty near 100 per cent executive efficiency.

About $400 worth of new football equipment has been purchased this year including 12 complete uniforms—brand new from top to toe.

With six new teachers and two new wives to become acquainted the need for a faculty get-together was met promptly by a picnic supper Thursday evening at the Bowley cottage on Lermond Pond.

The Junior High School held a general assembly in the auditorium Wednesday morning. Brief speeches by members of the faculty and group singing of favorite songs were the main features of the informal program.

The new lawn now just emerging from its adolescent stage, new paint on all the wooden trimmings of the building and the gleamingly clean windows all combine to make the appearance of the school property this fall surpass that of any previous year in its history. Incidentally 110 pounds of putty and nearly two bags of cement were used in making the windows and window casings weather tight. An interesting problem in practical arithmetic would be to figure the relative cost of putty and cement in such a case.

Mr. and Mrs. Durrell (with the accent on the last syllable) are living in one of the Rubenstein apartments on Talbot avenue. Our new sub-master has an enviable record in athletics, three years of varsity basketball and baseball at the University of Maine followed by two years of semi-professional experience in both sports. Mr. Durrell is to assist Coach Hall with the various athletic teams.

Rockland people who have been interested in the Fisher Body contest for high school boys feel a certain degree of satisfaction in the news that the winner of the Massachusetts state prize and that for New England including the trip to Detroit was a pupil of Jerome Cummings, a graduate of Rockland High and one time pupil assistant in the manual training department. The expense involved in the purchase of materials for the model of the Napoleonic coach which was the project used in the contest deterred the Rockland boys from entering.

The Senior High Assembly Tuesday morning was presided over by Malcolm Haskell. William Ripley conducted the devotional exercises. The speaker of the morning, Miss Coughlin, met with an enthusiastic welcome. Just back from a tour of the British Isles she announced that her talk would touch only the most striking features of her trip and leave the rest for another time. The speaker made pertinent comment on the fact that she had to plan beforehand even to the extent of reserving passage more than six months ahead. Success in school means planning ahead. She spoke of having her attention called to the wonderful harbor of her trip and only once did she find it possible to go directly from the dock on board her steamer as she did at American ports. Instead it was necessary to be transferred by a small boat from the dock to the ship. A fact which impressed her greatly in Ireland was the presence of palm trees, bamboos and other tropical growth, which school text books never mentioned and which the author of a well known book on geography with whom she dined in London, admitted he had never heard of.

In Scotland, her visit to the World War Memorial at Edinburgh stood out as the most impressive event of the tour. By means of symbolic figures every person who had any part in the World War is represented in this the greatest soldiers' memorial in the world. The guards were men who had seen the most active service, many of them wearing medals testifying to their courageous and distinguished achievements. In a huge book bound in red velvet is recorded the name of every citizen of Scotland who served in the war.

In England the outstanding fact was the crisis with which the country is struggling. The old England of song and story is passing, said Miss Coughlin. Cottages are giving way to modern bungalows. Old estates are being sold. One homestead she saw advertised had been the property of the same family for 740 years. In the struggle of the nation to balance its budget in the face of the opposition of more than five-sixths of the population to any reduction of the dole, the coalition cabinet with Stanley Baldwin representing the Conservatives, Samuel Herbert the Liberals and Ramsey MacDonald the Labor party can mean but one thing—"Country is greater than party."

Other assembly speakers were Mr. Bowden, Mr. Heal and Principal Blaisdell. Mr. Blaisdell explained the reason why Malcolm Haskell had missed his chance to sell his famous car last spring when he had a bona fide offer for it. It seemed that Malcolm lacked the right change for a dollar. After making the necessary announcements Mr. Blaisdell stated the only special rules of the high school—no smoking and no leaving the grounds during school hours. Everything else that is required is the ordinary decent behavior which is desirable everywhere.

Elmer and Azuba Sprague over last weekend.

Mrs. Edmund Perry and three children of Somerville, Mass., and Mrs. Evie Perry of Rockland visited Mrs. Hazle Perry Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Moody, Nelson, Ruth and Warren Moody were in Bangor last Saturday.

THE MASKED MARVEL

Magician Who Does Wonderful Stunts Comes To Park Theatre Next Week

"The Masked Marvel" is coming to Park Theatre for next Wednesday and Thursday. He is classed as one of the greatest of modern magicians, and in a Vermont city where he appeared recently the local newspaper had this to say about him:

"The Masked Marvel is one of the best known exponents of mystifying methods of escape. He's been at the game for 31 years, during which time he has invented some of the best tricks and release acts on the stage. He is given credit as being the first man to release himself from a straight-jacket while under water. This feat was accomplished in 1911 in the Hudson river. Most of his work since the two years he travelled with and assisted Houdini has been in performing the dare-devil stunts for screen productions.

"He also issues a friendly challenge to the local police department to shake him with their own appliances and defy him to escape. He will permit them to place as many pairs of handcuffs on his arms as they can get on and then he will take them off. In this act he does not get behind a screen or curtain, but stands on the stage in view of those who put the 'cuffs' on him and the audience. He also invites local citizens to bring along ropes, locks or chains and bind him. In his appearances he works alone, there being no confederates. He is accompanied only by his wife, who has no part in his act."

SOME PERILS OF GOLF

"Just a reminder, to prove how prominent Rockland and its people really are," thus writes Mrs. Louise Perry Freeland of 156 West 88th street, New York city, enclosing a clipping from the New York Sun, Peg Murray's daily illustrated feature, "Anything Can Happen In Golf."

Three examples are presented of curious things that are possible to the game, one of them depicting a bird in flight, bearing a golf ball in its beak, with the legend: "A sea gull picked up H. A. Buttrum's ball and flew away with it—Rockland, Maine, Country Club."

The artist does not exaggerate. There were several local golfers besides the one whose ball was stolen, witnesses to the extraordinary peculiarity.
