AT THE SAMOSET

Distinguished Men In Session There For the Coming Two Weeks

Because certain sponsors of foreign missions desire to know how their money is being expended and what results are being produced, there is being at the Samoset Hotel for the ensuing two weeks meetings of the Laymen's Foreign Missions Inquiry Commission, the result of which will be an elaborate report covering every phase of the work, with a complete financial accounting.

The meetings are being presided over by Dr. William E. Hocking, professor of philosophy at Harvard University, who with Mrs. Hocking, is a member of the Commission, and H. R. Bowler is secretary.

The other commissioners present—representing men and women prominent in educational and ecclesiastical circles—are:

Dr. Frederic Woodward, vice president of the University of Chicago, vice chairman of the commission.

Albert L. Scott of New York.

President Clarence A. Barbour of Brown University.

Edgar H. Betts of Troy, N. Y.

Dr. Arlo A. Brown, president of Drew University, Madison, N. J.

Dr. Charles P. Emerson of the University of Indianapolis Medical School.

Dr. Henry S. Houghton, dean of the Medical School of University of Iowa City.

Dr. Rufus N. Jones of Haverford College.

LINDBERGH'S SECOND SON

A special radio bulletin at 8.30 this morning told of the birth of a son to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. And in the hearts of the waiting world is but one thought—happiness again for the parents and long life for the newcomer in the family of the distinguished flyer.

FOUND NEAR MONHEGAN

Missing since early yesterday morning after taking off from Gloucester, Mass., to aid in transporting a sick fisherman to port, a Coast Guard amphibian plane and its crew of four was found 18 miles southeast of Monhegan Island last night. The plane was found by the Destroyer Wainwright, which started in search of the plane after its crew had radioed four hours after leaving Gloucester that the gasoline supply was running low.

More than 900 "short" lobsters, seized from international fishermen because they were not the legal size, were liberated the other day between Race point and Provincetown from the decks of the steamer Dorothy Bradford. The lobsters were released by the division of marine fisheries of the State through the co-operation of the Cape Cod Steamship Company.

Dr. William P. Merrill of Brick Church, New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper Sibley of Rochester, N. Y.

Dr. Henry C. Taylor, agricultural economist, who recently completed a rural survey of Vermont.

Miss Ruth Woodsmall, an international secretary of the Y.W.C.A.

The report now being prepared will comprehend the efforts of the commission the past 10 months during a survey of India (including Burma) China and Japan. The official report will be forwarded to the group of laymen in New York which sent these commissioners to the Far East on the survey, and it was stated that no details will be divulged until the report is in the hands of that group.

Meantime the Commissioners have buckled down to strenuous business sessions, with the most pleasant surroundings imaginable.

GREATEST OF DOLLAR DAYS

Friday and Saturday of This Week Mark Big Merchandising
Event—Many Gifts and Three Grand Prizes

Rockland's annual Dollar Days will be Friday and Saturday, Aug. 19 and 20. This announcement, always eagerly awaited by thousands of shoppers, holds far more than normal interest this year due to the extraordinary low prices and high values offered by the local merchants in consideration of the late depression.

From all parts of the nation come pouring in news of business awakening, new enterprises starting up, old industries taking on additional hands and working on full time. Of late the columns of this newspaper have shown that this community is actively sharing in the new business awakening.

Hence Rockland's Dollar Days will be a sort of celebration of the passing of the depression. Low prices such as have not been seen since pre war days will prevail and every store will offer some extra special values that will be truly astounding. The Dollar Day stores are a unit in making this the most memorable merchandising event in years and are sparing no efforts to that end. Some idea of the great values offered can be gathered from the advertisements though it is naturally impossible to list all items. The city is co-operating and to the end of customer convenience all parking rules will be suspended those two days.

Coupons will be given with each dollar purchase at all the Dollar Day stores and customers are urged to be sure and secure their coupons from the clerks. Convenient and well marked receptacles will be available in several stores for deposit of these coupon stubs. On Monday afternoon at 4.30 at Postoffice square all coupon holders should be present for these fine prizes will be then given away—a Buckeye Electric Refrigerator, cost $109.50; a Speed Queen Electric Washing Machine, cost $69.50 and an Easy Washer, cost $59.50. These contributions will be absolutely free.

As a special accommodation to its patrons the Vinalhaven & Rockland Steamboat Co. will offer reduced rates from all points for Dollar Days of one fare plus 25 cents for the round trip.

DEEP SEA LEAGUE

Perry's Market Has Won All of the Games Thus Far Played

Playing for a cash prize of $25 offered by Morris B. Perry, the Perry's Market team defeated Matinicus on the Plantation Grounds Sunday by the impressive score of 26 to 12. This in spite of the fact that the island team had shanghaied four out of the State ringers, if one is to credit the statements of the warriors from the mainland.

* Matinicus got away to a good start by scoring two runs to Rockland's one in the first inning, but thereafter the produce dispensers sailed around the four buoys almost at will.

Low Small, the market pitcher combined headwork with his speed and curves, but confesses that it required all three when Tom Foley, the official umpire allowed the Matinicus batters four strikes and five balls. Some of the remarks aimed at Tom caused his cheeks to redden, and it is not often that hardened real estate men blush. Charlie Schofield concealed his handsome features behind the catcher's mask and caught some wonderful fouls—not "fowls" this time.

Foot and Ames comprised the Matinicus battery, and persevered despite adverse circumstances.

But it was a great day and a good time, and every body had a good appetite for dinner, even the embarrassed Tom Foley.

Following is the standing of the Deep Sea League:

STRAND THEATRE

A two-fold interest and importance attaches to "Jewel Robbery," the brilliant Viennese romantic melodrama which comes Wednesday and Thursday.

First and foremost, it marks the screen reunion of William Powell and Kay Francis after a lapse of many months. Secondly, because "Jewel Robbery" has fascinated and amused the theatre-goers of two continents with its wit, its suave, subtle satire, and its gay, polished rascality.

Powell is a polished, debonair bandit who gracefully eludes the smartest police agents of Europe. Kay Francis is the spoiled wife of Vienna's richest banker, whose proud boast it is that no man can give her the thrill that a new jewel affords her. The afternoon that her doing husband is about to purchase for her a celebrated diamond, at Vienna's most exclusive jeweler's is the afternoon that "The Robber" has chosen to pay the same jeweler a professional visit. Even while she is being robbed the Baroness forgets her passion for precious stones in her admiration for the aristocratic outlaw who so gallantly relieves her of her jewels, as a mere incident to the looting of the shop. Of absorbing interest all the way through is this picture.—adv.

JOHNSON'S DEATH INVESTIGATED

Judge Butler Finds No Ground For Holding Mrs. Hattie Marshall In Camden Case

In Rockland Municipal Court yesterday there was a preliminary hearing, without formal arraignment in the case of Mrs. Harriet Marshall of Camden, whose automobile caused the death of John Johnson of that town on the night of July 15. The examination of a number of witnesses including Mrs. Marshall and her husband, Arthur E. Marshall, led County Attorney Ensign Otis to declare that he should not ask for a warrant for Mrs. Marshall's arrest, and Judge Walter H. Butler, in summing up the case said that she could leave the court room with the idea that she had been cleared in a public hearing.

On the other hand it was expressly stated that yesterday's proceedings did not close the door to grand jury investigation in case other witnesses should appear, nor did it have any bearing on civil proceedings which might arise.

County Attorney Otis appeared for the State, and Alan L. Bird for the respondent, Miss Jessie Stewart acting as stenographer.

The first witness for the State was Archie E. Mitchell of Camden who appears to have been the only eye witness of the fatal accident with the exception of the four members of the Marshall family who were in the car which ran into Mr. Johnson.

The accident occurred on Washington street, near Spring street between 9 and 10 p. m. The victim, bound for his home was walking diagonally across the concrete highway on Washington street. He apparently did not see or hear the approach of the Marshall car. Witness said he heard no horn. Its headlights disclosed the presence of Johnson in the highway. Mrs. Marshall, who was driving turned the car sharply to the left, struck the man and went into the ditch. Mitchell said he heard the brakes applied when the car was near Spring street, but it was within six feet of Johnson, before he saw the latter. On cross examination he gave it as his opinion that the victim would have had opportunity to avoid the collision, irrespective of the car's speed, if he had seen the machine.

Stanley Foster, who was at the corner of Knowlton and Washington streets, heard the brakes applied followed by the crash. The car had passed him going south.

Three men employed by the Eastern Amusement Co. were given a summer "slightride" last night, and the driver was a Rockland kid by the name of Young.

When the carnival closed late last night the boy stood by shivering and afraid to go home. The men took pity on him, gave him a coat as protection against the night chill, and then started to escort him home.

The boy led his benefactors nearly to Crescent Beach, and in despair they finally phoned back to the Rockland authorities to solve the problem.

Sheriff Ludwick and Patrolman Ingraham went to the rescue and identified the lad as a youngster of runaway proclivities whose home is not very remote from the carnival grounds.

When the men learned how they had been stung they threatened to feed the boy to the gator, if he shows up on the grounds tonight.

PARK THEATRE

Jazz, sex and high speed in the whirl of the younger generation provide the dramatic motif of "New Morals for Old," which will be shown Wednesday and Thursday with an imposing cast headed by Robert Young, Margaret Perry, Lewis Stone and Laura Hope Crews. The plot concerns the attempt of modern children to live their own lives despite the opposition of parents who have lost sight of the "wild oats" of their own youth. The daughter defies her mother and enters into a clandestine romance with a married man; the son goes to Paris to study art and figures in the free life of the French capital. Eventually they come to their senses through bitter experience. The picture is an adaptation of John Van Druten's stage success, "After All," in which Margaret Perry scored in the motion picture version.—adv.

GRANT MEMORIAL SERVICES

An Incident In Rockland's History Which Happened 47 Years Ago

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
In looking through a box not long ago, I came across a program which shows that Aug. 8 marked the 47th anniversary of the "Grant Memorial Services," which were held in Farwell hall. Scanning the program I noticed that most of those taking part in that event, have passed to the Great Beyond, but their memory still lives in the hearts of many who attended those services.

Gen. Davis Tilson was chairman of the meeting, and the opening prayer was made by Rev. L. L. Hanson. Remarks were made by Revs. Holman, Scott, Hanscom, Hill, Hemmingsway, Peterson and Harrington. C. E. Littlefield, True P. Pierce, W. T. Cobb and D. Mortland. The benediction was by Rev. Mr. Hemmingsway. One Who Attended

LITTLE BOY BLUE
The little toy dog is covered with dust, But sturdy and staunch he stands; And the little toy soldier is red with rust. And his musket moulds in his hands. Time was when the little toy dog was new. And the soldier was passing fair. And that was the time when our Little Boy Blue Kissed them and put them there.

"Now don't you go till I come," he said "And don't you make any noise!" So toddling off to his trundle-bed He dreamt of the pretty toys. And as he was dreaming, an angel song Awakened our Little Boy Blue. Oh, the years are many, the years are long. But the little toy friends are true: Ay, faithful to Little Boy Blue they stand. Each in the same old place. Awaiting the touch of a little hand. The smile of a little face. And they wonder, as waiting these long years through. In the dust of that little chair, What has become of our Little Boy Blue Since he kissed them and put them there. —Eugene Field.

THAT DOLLAR DAY

We think it to be a fact generally recognized, that when in the past the merchants of our city have united in any occasion of special sales, the purchasing public has found itself benefited and joined in a general feeling that it had been handsomely used. This conclusion naturally presents itself in connection with the "dollar day" set down for the coming week. We have been at the pains to study the announcements set forth in the advertising columns of this paper, and they appeal to us as straightforward, honest and convincing. We are persuaded that they will be regarded by our readers in the same favorable light. In this season of the jealous guarding of the family budget, the wise householder scans with careful eye the opportunities for wise expenditure. Here is where a carefully organized dollar day in particular comes in for favorable consideration, such as in the present instance we are confident the men and women of the buying public of this vicinity will emphatically give to it.

Miss Hazel Marshall who completed her work in the juvenile department of the Public Library the past week was tendered a surprise party by her co-workers Saturday evening at the close of work. She was whirled to Cooper's Beach where she found Miss Margaret Snow, Mrs. Stella McRae, Miss Ruth Rogers and Miss Doris Blackman waiting for her with a dainty repast set forth. The relinquishment of Miss Marshall at the Library is a matter of real regret to the many hundreds of patrons who have always found her most efficient, obliging and interested. Her work with children has been outstanding for its excellence, and to attain efficiency in this branch of the work she has studied and read extensively.

Ex-Mayor Andrew J. Peters' son, John, fighting an infantile paralysis crisis at North Haven was taken to Boston Saturday night for treatment. The planes used by the Maine Air Transport, Inc., were busy at the time, but the company promptly leased the large Sikorsky which had come from New York with passengers for Dark Harbor. This plane left Rockland at 5 p. m., and at 7 o'clock the former Boston Mayor's son was in the hospital there. The Sikorsky returned to New York yesterday with the passengers it had brought to Dark Harbor.

WALDOBORO'S SIXTH STRAIGHT

Won From Rockland Last Night In Errorless Game—
St. George Outpoints Camden

This Week's Games
Tuesday—St. George at Camden.
Wednesday—Thomaston at Rockland and Waldoboro at St. George.
Thursday—Camden vs. Thomaston, at Rockland.
Friday—Rockland at St. George.
Saturday—Waldoboro vs. Thomaston at Rockland. Double header.
First game at 2 o'clock.

The League Standing
Waldoboro last night advanced to within five games of St. George, and there will be blood on the moon when those teams meet in St. George tomorrow night to play a postponed game. St. George is saving Simmons for that occasion, and is determined to wipe out the defeat which it recently received at Waldoboro's hands. The standing:

	W	L	P.C.
St. George	15	2	.883
Waldoboro	10	7	.588
Rockland	8	12	.400
Thomaston	6	10	.375
Camden	5	13	.277

St. George 6, Camden 1
The St. George champions, with an unusual lineup, went merrily on their way Saturday, adding a few points to their abnormal average, and showing the hard luck team a little deeper into the underground apartment. The mathematical chance of preventing the Harbor boys from copying another prize is now so small as to be almost invisible to anything but those instruments with which the scientists are to observe the total eclipse of the sun this month.

Juggling the players into positions to which they were not accustomed did not seem to interfere with the forward march of the League leaders. The spectators marvelled to see Johnny Davidson transplanted from his time-honored position at first base into right field, but were later informed that he had cut his right hand the previous day. In right field he felt considerably like a schoolboy making his first speech, but he successfully muddled the two flies which went his way, and figured in rather an unusual double play.

Westberg went onto the mound for the second time this season and held Camden to five hits, which is no fool of a job. Morrissey who is playing the game of his life at second base, swapped jobs in the last inning with Schreiber, who enjoys playing anywhere but on the bench, which, it may be added, he never has to do. Morrissey had 12 chances, and handled them like some big league star. Maurice Simmons, also out of position, had a busy day at short field, at bat, and with Kidders' Row. He led both teams with the stick. Joe Greenlaw was hit quite hard by spells, but deserved much better support that he received. Dailey and Fowler had a busy day in the outfield, catching nine flies. "Gabby" also figured in a double play when Morrissey was neatly shut off at the plate. The score:

Waldoboro 3, Rockland 1
Manager Brown's Waldoboro team has evidently forgotten how to lose; anyhow it won its sixth straight game last night by defeating Rockland in an errorless contest at Valleyview Park.

Careless baserunning on the part of the Limerock City boys was a prominent factor in their defeat. Three times there were men on bases only to be caught off while indulging in cat-naps. In the eighth inning Mealey was thrown out in an attempt to stretch a nice single into a double, and was prevented only by the fact that Brewer, the Waldoboro right fielder made a mighty nice throw.

The game was in the essentials a pitchers' battle with Gray holding the home team to five hits and shooting a startling assortment of curves across the plate. Hilton was hit for seven singles, but was very strong in the pinches, fanning the last four of the innings.

The Waldoboro fans were delighted with the manner in which their team functioned, and had every reason to be. Boggs and Sherman were working like a charm around the central sack, and found excellent counterparts in Chaples and McPhee. The only men to hit safely twice were Kuhn and Dimick. Waldoboro's first run was made by Benner who found home plate unprotected after a passed ball. The other two runs were accounted for by Brewer's single after Kuhn had doubled and Benner had walked. This was in the fourth inning and Waldoboro did not again threaten seriously. McPhee scored Rockland's only run in the seventh on his single, a passed ball and Dimick's hit. The score:

The arbitration board of the Knox County Twilight League acted Friday night upon two protests. In the case of Rockland vs. St. George the decision favored St. George; and in the case of Camden vs. Rockland, the decision was for Rockland.

Rockland played in Searsport Sunday and had better luck, winning this time 11 to 10. Cottrell pitched eight innings, and Chummy Gray the ninth. Cottrell's long hit was a feature. Charles Wotton, generally named as all-league choice for first base, has retired from the game, for the present at least, on account of business reasons. He has been one of the mainstays of the Rockland team for a number of seasons, and no other man has done more to put the Twilight League on a successful basis. He is succeeded by Frank Stewart of the Rockland High School faculty, who has been playing with the University of Maine summer school team this season, and was named in newspaper reports as one of its stars. Arnold Peabody, Colby star, was the pitcher, and Ed Doonan, Yale football center last year, was in the lineup.

Seven members of Huntley-Hill Post, V.F.W., attended the meeting of the Department Council of Administration in Bath Sunday. It was there learned that Knox County may soon be honored with another department officer. The local Post meets on the second and fourth Mondays and welcomes men eligible to membership. A picnic is planned for next Sunday.

CAMDEN

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Stover of Lewiston were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Jamieson at Camp Bokavi, Hosmer Pond.

Rev. Enoch Bell and son John have returned to their home in Newton Centre, Mass., after spending several weeks in Camden.

Miss Della Thomas has returned to Northeast Harbor after a visit with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Tyler and the latter's sister, Dr. Sarah L. Wetherbee of Boston, have returned from an outing at Bayside.

Miss Marion Lowe entertained her dancing pupils on Friday evening at her home on Chestnut street. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Maiden Cliff Rehearsal Lodge will hold a picnic Saturday at A. S. Prince's store.

The Auxiliary to Arey-Heal Post, A. L., hold a fair at Legion hall today.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Locke of Harvard, Mass., are spending a few weeks at Lake Megunticook.

Miss Ella Johnson and Irving Johnson, Jr., have returned to Melrose, Mass., after spending a few weeks at Lake Megunticook.

Miss Abbie Sawtelle and Miss Verna Bryant of Dexter were guests Sunday of Miss Bryant's aunt, Miss Maude M. Thordike. They were enroute to Boothbay Harbor for a short stay.

John Brackett of Wakefield, Mass., has joined Mrs. Brackett at Lake Megunticook for a few weeks.

N. Y., is spending a few weeks at her camp at Lake Megunticook.

"At Comique Theatre today the attraction will be "As You Desire Me," featuring Greta Garbo: Wednesday, Tom Mix in "Destiny Rides Again," also special stage attraction, the Kilgore Radio Entertainers in a revue of singing, dancing and musical novelties; Thursday, Charles Bickford in "Scandal For Sale;" Friday, John Gilbert in "The Big Parade;" Saturday, "The Silent Witness;" Friday night is bargain night; buy one ticket for 35 cents and another for 5 cents.

The second annual outing of the Past Presidents' Association of the Maine State Branch, National Association of Postoffice Clerks, was held here Sunday at Sherman's Point. A shore dinner was served by D. J. Dickens, John L. Stahl, E. M. Crosby and George Conant. The program of the day included fishing, boating and swimming. The report of the 26th annual State convention held in Belfast May 30 was read and other business was transacted during the afternoon. Members of the families of the past presidents and friends attended.

MAKING MORE SHOES

Total U. S. shoe output in June represented an increase of 4.3 per cent over May production. Figures for the two months were respectively 23,463,176 and 22,497,043 pairs. Increased production prevailed in all cases, it is pointed out, with the ex-

WEATHER

Fair and warm, it was a perfect weekend. These are busy days with reunions, picnics and fairs for August is half gone and vacation time is short. Now if weather like this holds until dollar days everybody will be happy. Yesterday noon was 74, this morning 65 at 8 o'clock, wind west.

Hiram H. Crie has returned to The Rockland National Bank after a vacation of two weeks.

Earle C. Dow, on a fortnight's vacation from his duties with the Post, is rusticiating at Lake Cobbescontee.

The majestic electric refrigerator which has been so much admired at McCarty's drug store awaits its owner. The password would be 10648.

Activities in John C. Meehan & Son's quarry at Clark Island yesterday were on a somewhat enlarged scale, another derrick being put in operation. This meant an addition of about 25 men. The more the merrier.

The Eastern Amusement Company which has been exhibiting at Camden the past week, moved to Rockland Sunday and its carnival is in full swing on Holmes street, sponsored by the local battery of the Coast Artillery Corps.

Clinton P. Anderson, president of Rotary International, will be entertained by the 33 clubs of the 38th District at Poland Spring Sept. 17. The 38th district is composed of clubs in Maine, Southern New Hampshire and Northeastern Massachusetts.

Next Monday night at 7:30 Rockland Republican women will have a meeting at the Court House, and other Republican women are invited. Mrs. Inez Crosby of Camden, who is the nominee for representative to Legislature in her class, will be one of the speakers.

J. N. Southard took a party of eight from Boston on a sail in the "Mary Ella" Sunday, stopping at Hewitt's Island for a clam bake and broiled lobsters. The members of the party were enchanted with the scenery and declared the sail to be one of the high lights of their summer season.

Walter Damrosch, music counsel of the National Broadcasting Company, will visit the Eastern Music Camp next Sunday. The event will mark a historical milestone in Maine, for it will be the second consecutive year that Mr. Damrosch has visited the Eastern Music Camp to act as a guest conductor of the orchestra there. Many local people are planning to attend.

A Brunswick despatch to the Bath Times says that Harry Miller of Rockland was found guilty of illegal transportation before Judge Rousseau in police court Friday and was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to serve three months in Cumberland County Jail in Portland. He appealed to the September term of Cumberland superior court and furnished cash bail of $500. Miller was stopped on the Bath side of the State highway at Cook's Corner by State Officer John P. Crosby of Bath and a search of his Dodge sedan revealed 30 quarts of choice liquors.

Between innings in the Twilight League games this week everybody is discussing the great game which will be played at Togus next Sunday afternoon when the St. George champions will try conclusions with the powerful team representing the National Soldiers' Home. It might be presumptuous to expect the Knox County amateurs to win from these semi-professionals, but with Simmons working at his best in the box, and the other players showing the same high grade baseball that they have been offering all season, it should be no walk away to say the least.

The summer meeting of the Knox County Fish and Game Association will be held Thursday evening at the Camden Yacht Club. Dinner will be served at 6:30, daylight, $1 per plate. The speaker will be Dr. Charles E. A. Codman of Philadelphia, who will show several fine movie reels, all new and highly interesting. Room does not permit extra guests but reservations can be made if membership is to be taken out at this meeting. Make reservations not later than Wednesday either by return card or phone Rockland 1073. The committee will not be responsible for those who do not make reservations.

When O. B. Brown of the permanent fire department went on his vacation a fortnight ago he says to himself, "Now I will get just as far away from fire as I can." So in the course of his vacation itinerary he swung around a wide circle and eventually found himself in Burketville. As he was following instructions how to find somebody he was looking for he came across a house afire. He summoned help but it was too late to save anything but the garage and henhouse. The buildings were owned and occupied by Roy Luce, who was forced to flee from the buildings, so suddenly did the fire break out.

A delightful concert has been arranged by Chester Wyllie of Warren for Thursday evening in the Baptist Church of that town. The program will embrace choral numbers, vocal solos and duets, mixed and male quartet numbers, and instrumental selections. The Universalist Grange and E. R. Veazie and Harold Greene, tenors of Rockland will assist. Small admission fee.

Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, who failed of the Presidency in 1912 only because of the small Democratic margin in California, is a guest at the Samoset Hotel, Rockland Breakwater, this week, accompanied by Mrs. Hughes. The early part of the summer found them in Canada, and during the week prior to coming here they were at Kineo and Moosehead. And it is not impossible to believe that they will fond Rockland Breakwater the most charming spot of all.

A fat purplish gray caterpillar with black markings, resembling midrib and veins of a leaf, brought in by Elmer Lufkin of Hill street, has been named by Norman Lermond as that of the hawk moth. From its large size—fully three inches long—the creature was almost ready to enter the chrysalis stage. Mr. Lermond identified it by small white horns at either end.

John Koneonin of St. George was awarded a six months' jail sentence yesterday after Judge Butler had heard evidence how he struck Elmer Johnson, a fellow townsman over the head with a bottle. The bottle got the worst of it, but Johnson had cut's enough on his head and face to warrant a court case. Deputy Sheriff Granville Bachelard did the investigating and made the arrest. Koneonin was committed.

The Maine shore is fairly dotted with authors in the summer time and with the scenes of their tales. Just now Thomaston is rejoicing over Ruth Blodgett's "Home Is the Sailor," which came out last week. No place has a group of writers to compare with the Kennebunkport trio, though a few years ago York Beach had a colony that could challenge its fame. That was when Thomas Nelson Page and Thomas Bailey Aldrich were alive.—Boston Herald.

The annual conference of the Maine Superintendents of Schools opened at Castine yesterday, and among those attending is Supt. E. L. Toner. The program embraces many notable speakers—Dr. Anna D. Cordis, professor of education at the Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Ia. E. C. Hartwell, superintendent at Buffalo, N. Y., James M. McConnell, commissioner of education in St. Paul, Minn., etc. At a round table conference tomorrow on "How Can the Public Schools Meet the Challenge of Depression," Supt. Toner will take part. The closing session will be Friday morning.

Miss Rose Sharek of T street, who has been in New York for some time, was chosen from several hundred entrants in a contest conducted by The Foster Grant Co. Inc. of Leominster, Mass., to be the model for advertising demonstrations for the PermaCurier. Advertising matter shows Miss Sharek in four poses, her attractiveness assuring one why she was chosen.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Stewart, Willow street, had as guest last week Stewart Smart, instructor of geology at Tufts College. During his stay Mr. Smart visited Knox Arboretum where a delightful afternoon was spent with Curator Lermond. Mr. Smart speaks highly of the remarkable work Mr. Lermond is doing at the Arboretum, and joins the large number who bewail the fact that this commendable work cannot be carried on as envisioned by the curator.

The marriage of Miss Dorice Povich daughter of Mrs. Nathan Povich of Front street, Bath, to Benjamin F. Mench of Washington, D. C., will take place Sunday, Aug. 21, at 6 p. m. at Old Orchard. A reception will be held at the La Reine Hotel following the ceremony. Miss Povich is a graduate of the Morse High at Bath and the Emerson College of Oratory in Boston. Mr. Mench, a graduate of the George Washington University in Washington is connected with the Riggs National Bank in Washington. Miss Povich is the cousin of Miss Ann Rich and Mrs. Joseph Dondis of Rockland, who with Mr. Dondis will attend the wedding on Sunday.

UNION

There will be a concert given by the musicians of Mars Hill Camp at the Methodist vestry Thursday evening for the benefit of the High school furnishing fund for the new schoolhouse. The party is invited. A free will offering will be taken.

U. H. S. Alumni Gathering

Fifty members of the General Alumni Association of Union High School were present at the banquet held Aug. 9 in the Masonic Temple. They were addressed by Edward Roderick, Deputy State Commissioner of Education, who speaking of the trend of modern life and its problems, emphasized the significant part that education must play in the preparation of the future progress. He commended the foresight and intelligence of those present who were so vitally responsible in making certain that the youth of Union should be properly fitted to take its place in the world. The new high school building, he added, though it represented great sacrifice would always stand as the pledge of its builders to the boys and girls of Union.

In the business meeting which followed the banquet the secretary's and treasurer's reports revealed that public subscription had furnished more than $410 available at once for furnishings for the new building. Generous gifts of money and equipment were announced as well. Supt. Frank D. Rowe mentioned that the classroom desks of the old building were being refinished at the prison in Thomaston for a very modest sum, thanks to the kind offices of Warden Thurston. A new type of desk, satisfactory, popular and economical, Mr. Rowe said would soon be available for inspection at Warren.

The association chose as officers for the year, Mrs. Holman Robbins, president; Mrs. Ralph Starrett, vice president; Winona Messer, secretary and Mrs. Frank Gordon, treasurer. The association feels very grateful to the committee who prepared and served the banquet. They are to be complimented on their success. Those in charge of the banquet were Mrs. Edwards Mathews, Mrs. Henry Ames, Mrs. Lizzie Hughes, Mrs. Edward Aldrich, Mrs. Mary Barker, Mrs. Alice Hills, Mrs. Herbert Leach and Mrs. Wilbur Abbott. The association wishes to thank them for their kindness and to thank the many others who helped to make the banquet a success.

NORTH CUSHING

Virgil Robinson and family accompanied by Elizabeth Killian and James Young have returned to Providence.

Miss Margaret Simmons of Friendship visited Mrs. Ida Smith last week.

The Variety Club met with Mrs. Ida Thornton at her home in Thomaston Wednesday evening.

Capt. and Mrs. W. Freeman and son Charles of Rockland with Mrs. Freeman's sister Bertha were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Larabee at their cottage here.

Harold Smith has gone to Winchendon, Mass., where he will join his uncle W. B. Hall and other relatives for a trip to Niagara Falls and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spaulding and children of Rockland, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Risteen and daughter Phyllis with Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Smith and son Gerald enjoyed an outing with dinner at the shore Sunday.

A BETTER HIGHWAY

Changed Plans Assure It For the Road Through Lincolnville

Important changes have been necessary in the four-mile stretch of U. S. Highway No. 1, through Lincolnville which will mean a much higher-grade highway surface than originally intended, but will extend the work well into the fall.

Originally Naugler Brothers' contract called for the construction of four miles of gravel highway with asphalt surface over the location, the contract price being approximately $60,000. Work has been in progress for several weeks, the sub-base and base being practically completed and the work of spreading gravel started.

Then it was discovered that what appeared to be a bed of gravel that would supply sufficient material for the entire project did not hold up to the specifications and that it would be impossible to obtain anywhere near enough material to complete the highway.

Prospectors scoured the countryside for another bed of gravel that would meet the specifications, but none could be found. Finally one was located some 14 miles from the highway under construction. Under the terms of the contract the State obligated itself to pay extra unless gravel could be obtained within a certain specified distance from the highway, the extra compensation being based on mileage.

With the cost of hauling the gravel 14 miles added to the original price, it brought the construction costs to a figure far in excess of a reasonable figure for gravel road construction.

After a conference between the State Highway Commission and the contractors a new contract was made, the new agreement providing for the construction of a macadam surface for the highway at a cost of approximately $120,000.

The contractors have the machinery set up for blasting and crushing the rock to be used for the new surface and will as soon as possible resume the construction of the highway. The extra work means that the construction will be extended much later into the fall than had been originally planned.

It is not often that a detour is better than the principal road, but in this case the route which has been tarred and signed, leaves Belfast at the corner of High and Miller streets and runs through a very picturesque section by the way of Lincolnville Center and the Camden Turnpike to Camden is fully as good as No. 1 ever was, and is much appreciated by automobilists.—Belfast Journal.

ON PLANTING A TREE
 Grow tree, grandly, year by year.
 In your bed new-laid;
 Shelter make for nesting birds,
 And for man, sweet shade!
 Take you firm and firmer root,
 Neath your earthy fold;
 That you may withstand what
 Comes—storm and heat, and cold!
 As breezes touch your branches,
 Bend your top in prayer,
 Praising Heaven constantly,
 As you grow more fair!
 May generations yet to be
 Find joy in thee, O gentle tree!

About the Legion Fair At Thomaston — Pined For An Organ Grinder

Meeting House Hill, Thomaston, Aug. 16.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

This is a wonderful age we are living in, what with the radio and all only sometimes I wish that I could cluttered up with so many of them dang crooners and moaners and the like of that. This morning I was muttering something more or less under my breath about what I'd like to do with the hull kit and bling of em and Hetty stoped ringing her clogs out of the rene water long enough to say that I'd be glad to know they'd managed to find an old organ grinder for the Parade come Wednesday. I been saying every so often I wish I could hear one of them things again and seems as if they ain't been one round for a couple years. She said never mind you told me it come pritty strait he's got a munky too and I hope you and the rest of the kids will be happy for once. So, Mr. Editor I'm writing to you my paper for maybe there's some more old timers like myself that'd like to follow an organ grinder again.

That was a nice fellow from your paper that called to see us tuther night. I vov I had a good talk with him and he didn't interrupt me none. Seemed awful good. Hetty was sorry she want home before he left for she had some things hed like to hear about and if I had time I'd tell you about the little red mittens she said was so cunning that Mrs. Averill nitted and the baby's shoes made of tatting that Ella May Stackpole down the road a piece from us give em and I don't know what all but I aint got time for Mr. B. Brown is going to mail this for me when he sends his news in and he's coming now.

Yours truly,

SI Low.

Mrs. Spear had been very active in community affairs, in the Congregational Church, the Woman's Club and Ivy Chapter O.E.S., and was generally popular. She is survived by three sons, Hilda, Harlan and Jasper, a daughter, Miss Marjorie Spear, three brothers, H. M. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, both of Warren, and Charles Robinson of Rockland. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon from the Congregational church at 2 o'clock daylight. Much sympathy is felt by all for the bereaved family, especially for the brother who is himself so ill.

Mrs. Arnold Teague and two children of Union were recent guests of Mrs. Isa Teague.

Mrs. Howard Batchelder and family returned to Weymouth, Mass., Sunday after being guests for several weeks of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Spear.

Aarne Polacker is employed at the home of Chester Wallace.

Miss Helen F. Lamb, a classmate of Miss Tena McCallum at Colby in 1897, who is at present president of Lamb's Business Training School, Brooklyn, N. Y., is spending several days with Miss McCallum.

Eight o'clock daylight is the time set for the concert at the Baptist Church Thursday evening, and by all accounts it should be an event not to be missed.

The Baptist Ladies' Circle with Mrs. Laura Seavey as chairman will serve supper at the Montgomery rooms at 5:30 standard Thursday, with a special summer menu featuring string beans, escalloped potatoes, egg salad, cakes, pies and coffee.

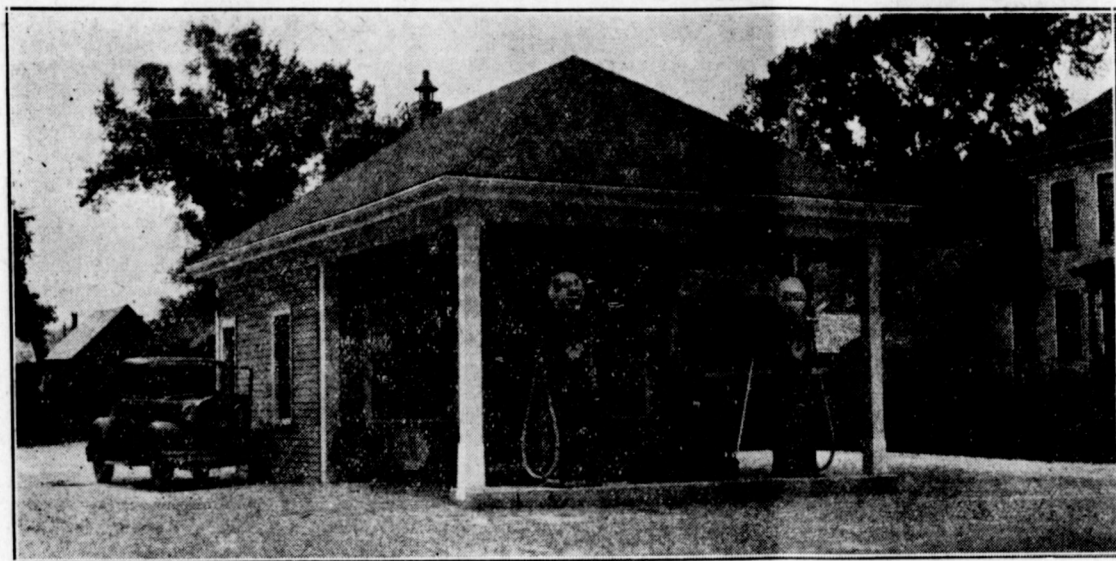

Plans are complete for the summer fair sponsored by the Woman's Club which will be held Tuesday of next week at Town hall. Buffet lunch will be served and an entertainment will be given in the evening.

Miss Frances Moore went Saturday to Matineus where she will visit her grandmother Mrs. C. H. Ring for three weeks.

Mrs. Evelyn Vining of South Hope is with George Teague for a time. All schools will begin Tuesday, Sept. 6 with the same teachers as last year. The schoolrooms of the Mathews' Corner, Hinkley Corner and village buildings have been papered and painted and the desks for the grammar room refinished. New desks for the High School have been bought by the trustees of the Academy Fund at a cost of $531. One of the best adjustable desks was selected, costing $9 each.

Hooper's Fine New Parking Space and Service Station Offers Ideal Accommodations For Rockland's Dollar Day Visitors

Dollar Day visitors by motor to this city will find Hooper's filling station and super excellent parking space a great convenience. This modern station, brand new and immaculate, is located on Union street just north of the Narragansett Hotel, exactly at the western end of Orient street.

During the crush and crowding of Dollar Days the huge parking space at Hooper's will be a veritable oasis in a desert of no satisfactory parking space. Here all comers can be accommodated with no difficulty or trouble. Wide spaces between rows of cars give easy access and egress. The average driver can park his car at Hooper's without fear of losing paint or patience. Every courtesy and service is promptly forthcoming.

The station has a commodious ladies' rest room with complete facilities for preparing for shopping after the drive in to Rockland. A rest room for men is included in the plant's conveniences. Parcels may be checked at the station if owners do not care to leave them in the car, though the big parking lot on three sides to insure absolute immunity from marauders. Very low

TO CAMPAIGN MAINE

Secretary Mills of the Treasury Heads List of Political Speakers

A special Washington despatch to the New York Herald Tribune says: "With the 1932 campaign opened by the acceptance speech of President Hoover, leaders of both parties are looking forward with more than ordinary interest to the Sept. 12 election in Maine in which members of Congress and State officials will be chosen. Since Maine will be the first State to test sentiment between Republicans and Democrats, it will be regarded as a barometer of public opinion at least in the East."

Representative John Q. Tilson, Republican of Connecticut, who is in charge of the New York Speaker's Bureau of the Republican national organization, conferred at the White House on the Maine election. He is arranging for a large corps of Republican speakers to stump Maine the last two weeks before the election. Foremost in the list is Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, who will close the campaign with an address on September 10 at Portland. Seth W. Richardson, Assistant Attorney General will be two weeks in the State, and several members of the House, including Representative B. M. Chipenfield, of Illinois, and Joseph L. Hooper of Michigan, will speak there.

VINALHAVEN

The following party enjoyed Thursday afternoon and evening at Camp Alyssa: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Lane, Mrs. Cora E. Carlson, Mrs. Carrie Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Lane, Mrs. Myrtle Delano of Boston, Mrs. Mary Willey and daughter Mora, of Cambridge, Miss Helen Cogswell of Plymouth, Arthur MacDonald of Dorchester, William Bell of Everett, Arthur and Frank Thomas of this town.

Vivian Libby and friend of Wollaston, Mass., arrived Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Barker and daughter, Josephine of Taunton, Mass., and Mrs. Josephine Sellers of this town were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newbert at Rabbit Lodge. A fish dinner was served.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Hutchinson of Cleveland are at Ell-Will-Ell cottage at the Reach.

Mrs. Nelson Bunker and daughter Sara, Mrs. Sidney Ingerson and daughter Mettie, have returned from an auto trip to Halifax.

Mrs. Bertha Brockinger, who has been the guest of her cousin Mrs. William Bernhard at Camp Welik, Chester, Mass.

William Winepaw of Rockland has been a guest the past week of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. White.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rule, John and Edward Rodgers left Sunday for Medford, Mass.

Mrs. Mary Willey, daughter Mora, Helen Costello and William Bell who have been guests at the home of Mrs. James Dickinson, Lane's Island, returned to Boston Sunday.

Miss Nettie Follett who has been the guest of her cousin Mrs. Ora Jones, left Wednesday for Boston. Enroute she will visit in Rockland and Belfast.

The American Legion and Auxiliary will hold a bridge and "63" party Friday at Legion hall.

The ball game Sunday at Clark Island resulted in a victory for the Vinalhaven picked team, score 11-2. About 50 went on the excursion.

Members of a party who spent Sunday at Merrie Macs, Shore Acres were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McIntosh, B. L. Lane, Mrs. Lillian Libby, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Libby and family, Misses Margaret, Louise and Alma Libby, Vivian Libby, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Calderwood and family, Kendall Hatch and Lincoln Whitman. A fish dinner was served.

Mrs. George Newbert was recently given a surprise that marked the celebration of her birthday anniversary.

batteries etc. in pleasing array. The large windows afford a pleasant prospect for those desiring to wait with a view of the hurrying traffic on Park and Union streets and a glimpse of Main street via Orient. The double marquee gives ample protection from the elements to cars being filled with gas and oil. At night the station presents a charming picture with its many lights over the entrance, fences and marquee.

The genial proprietor of this fine establishment is Irl R. Hooper who is always on the job with a ready smile and an efficient hand. He learned the ways of machines through 15 years connection with the Maine Central Railroad in its marine department, working up from mess boy to engineer. Mr. Hooper and his father-in-law, M. F. Donahue, did a real bit of city improvement in creating this plant for in preparing the site they removed several buildings long past their usefulness and in place of these fire hazards built a plot of gleaming white smooth as a billiard table top. The station proper is painted an attractive shade of yellow and sits well back from the street to insure ease of handling cars. Over 100 cars may be parked in this handy parking place with utmost ease. For convenience in parking, for comfortable rest rooms, for safety and for fine Shell gas and courteous service, visit "Hooper's," Union street just north of Hotel Narragansett.

BIG FIVE LEAGUE

Dragons 9, Rockville 3

The Dragons, playing tight ball behind Hunt's good pitching, chased the jinx Rockville has had on them all season and took the berry pickers into camp by a 9 to 3 score. Two bases on balls and timely extra base hitting netted the Dragons enough runs to win in their first time at bat. Rockville's attempted rally in the seventh was nipped when Hamalainon got caught in a run down between second and third and Collamore struck out. The score:

ALDRICH-PERKINS

Wedding In Massachusetts Society Circles—Groom a Member of Knox County Summer Colony

Miss Elizabeth Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Howard Perkins of Irving street, Cambridge, and Bailey Aldrich, son of Major and Mrs. Talbot Aldrich of Boston, and only grandson of the late Thomas Bailey Aldrich pledged their troth Saturday afternoon in the Second Congregational Church at Cohasset, Mass., which was beautifully decorated with garden flowers. The Rev. Raymond Calkins read the marriage service and Mr. Perkins escorted his daughter to the altar for the ceremony. A reception followed at their summer home on Jerusalem road in Cohasset.

Miss Helen Boyden of Cambridge and Miss Eliza Boyd of Rye Beach, N. H., were bridal attendants and Aroch W. Ericson, Jr., of Swampscott officiated as best man. The ushers included Messrs. G. Holmes Perkins of Cambridge, a brother of the bride; Bertram K. Little of Brookline; Talcott M. Banks, Jr., of Scituate; Josiah Q. Ericson of Swampscott; John Mulford of Princeton, N. J., and William Broad of Syracuse, N. Y.

WAYNE-ALLEN

In the lovely old church at Hope Corner last night was solemnized the marriage of Virginia, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Pliny A. Allen of North Adams, Mass., and Jermyn Charles Down Mayne of Boston. A profusion of garden flowers in varied hues formed an effective background for the bridal party, being arranged by Hope Corner friends who have taken the Allen family into the midst of their friendly circle. This note of affection was repeated in the large audience made up of Rockland, Camden and Hope friends.

The father of the bride officiated, using the double ring service. The bride was attended by her sister Mrs. Esther Allen Addenbrooke of Chicago; and the groom had as his best man Danforth Allen, also of Chicago, who gave the bride in marriage. Mrs. E. F. Berry of Rockland played the wedding march, and prior to the ceremony Paul Allen played "Oh Promise Me" as a trumpet solo.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white silk crepe, worn with close white hat, and carried a bridal bouquet of white and green. Mrs. Addenbrooke wore an embroidered white ensemble and carried an arm bouquet of flowers in varying shades of pink.

An informal reception was held and as the bride left the church her bouquet was thrown and caught by Miss Daphne Winslow of Rockland. Several friends joined the bridal couple and Allen family at the cottage they are occupying at Hobbs Pond for the month of August, where a delightful gathering was held. Bride's cake, cut and served by the bride herself, and ice cream were served. The newlyweds departed for a short honeymoon spent at one of the nearby beaches, going the latter part of the week to Boston where their new home will be. Mrs. Mayne, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen began her schooling in Rockland, graduating from the high school in Norway. She has been employed recently in Boston, in work of a clerical nature. Mr. Mayne was educated in Boston and is radio operator for the Bay State Fishing Company. He is held in high esteem by his employers and all others who know him.

A BRILLIANT CAST

Miss Bushnell's Play, "The Heel," Delights Park Theatre Patrons

Crowded houses at Park Theatre, yesterday greeted performances of "The Heel," the latest one-act play from the clever pen of Adelyn Bushnell, starring Lou Tellegen. Numerous curtain calls testified to the fact that the audiences found the play and players most interesting.

The roles, brilliantly depicted, were taken by a notably well-balanced cast—Lou Tellegen as Joe Caprelli, alias Nick Maroni; Eve Casanova as Steller; Adelyn Bushnell as Rose Maroni; and Marshall Bradford as Andrews of the police staff. The story is woven around the great and pure love held by Nick Maroni for Rose, his dead brother's blind wife, and his desire and determination to shield her at all costs. Even in his evil life as a gangster, this is his one weakness. When the police nets finally gather him in, he plans every detail so that Rose may be cared for to the end and may always believe him to be honorable in both friendship and business.

In the role of Joe, alias Nick, Mr. Tellegen demonstrated his real ability as an actor, the part demanding emotions ranging from reverential awe to dramatic intensity, his portrayal outstanding in every respect. Miss Casanova (Mrs. Tellegen) as Joe's "brood" also did a notable piece of acting, conveying in her brittle gaiety the fear that lurked with her day and night—the fear of losing out with Joe, through Rose. In the part where her ragged nerves break she displayed real dramatic power. Miss Bushnell as the blind Rose was a veritable rose in the sordid emotions about her, her sweet voice, the innocent expression, and trusting manner depicting the part to perfection. Mr. Bradford imbued his role with sincerity and conviction, the hardened exterior covering a tender and understanding heart.

"The Heel," which appeals as one of the cleverest yet done by Miss Bushnell, is to be presented over the FKO Circuit this season, with the same cast local theatregoers are privileged to see here at Park Theatre again this afternoon and evening.

Patrolman Charles McIntosh is having two weeks' vacation.

Earle MacWilliams has resumed his position at the Power Station, Glen Cove, after two weeks' vacation.

THE FLOWER SHOW

Rockland Garden Clubs Hold
Forth Thursday—Let Everybody Help

Lively interest is being displayed in the second annual flower show of the Rockland Garden Club, which takes place Thursday in the Universalist vestry from 2.30 to 9 p. m. Preparations indicate that it will be one of the outstanding shows in this part of the State.

All residents of Rockland, whether members of the club or not, are invited to make exhibits. The feature of the 1931 show was that it was everybody's affair, and enthusiastic and general efforts are being put forth to have this same spirit prevail this year. Don't wait to be solicited—take your exhibits to the vestry not later than 10 a. m. Thursday, clearly marked with name of class and exhibitor. Exhibitors are to provide containers and see that flowers are arranged in them. Prizes will be stars as follows: First prize, gold; second, blue; third, red; honorable mention, silver. Classification:

Class A: Artistic arrangement of cut flowers, either cultivated or wild, in containers.
Class B: Window boxes, inside and out.
Class C: Potted plants.
Class D: Miniature gardens.
Class E: Best display of gladioli, dahlias, asters, phlox, marigolds, zinnias, sweet peas, roses and other flowers not designated.
Class F: Children's exhibits.
Class G: Specimen blooms.
Class H: Vegetables and fruits.
Class I: Wild flowers.

Rockland has a wealth of hand-some gardens this year. The show sponsored by Rockland's own Garden Club provides opportunity not only for display but for procuring ideas and information for future development. Viewed from any angle, it means a step ahead for the community.

The show will be open to the public, a small admission fee to be charged. Special invitation has been extended to the garden clubs of Thomaston, Camden, Belfast, Union, and other Maine towns, to participate.

Mrs. George W. Smith as general chairman has as her committee: Mrs. Arthur F. Lamb, Mrs. Harvey Allen, Mrs. Harriet Silsby Frost, Mrs. E. M. O'Neil, Mrs. Ralph Wiggin, Mrs. E. M. Lawrence and Mrs. H. B. Pales. Assisting committees are: Wild flower exhibit, Miss Caroline Jameson, chairman, Mrs. Clarence Beverage, with Miss Edith Bicknell and Miss Irene Lunden as collectors; punch (to

TALK OF THE TOWN

John H. Freeman on a week's vacation from the cement plant plans a visit to Portland, a trip to Cadillac Mountain, and between whiles will shingle his barn.

McNeil Brown, superintendent of the new State game farm in Gray was home for the weekend, his work being temporarily slowed up until the necessary apparatus can arrive.

Always a lover of flowers G. A. Achorn, an employee of the Burpee Furniture Co. generally contrives to have one of the best posy gardens in the city. It is always a pleasure to view his premises at 88 South Main street.

When one of the old buildings was moved away to make room for the altered highway at Rockland Highlands James Murphy found a 10-cent piece which was born in 1827. This was thought to be quite an old chap until along came Albert Grant with a dime seven years its senior.

The outboarders transferred their affections to Castine Sunday and in the harbor of that picturesque resort staged another series of exciting races. In the Lockwood Ace class (7 1/2 h. p.) the prize was carried off by Gifford Calderwood, driving Arthur B. Packard's Ritz. Second prize went to the boat owned by Curtis Weed of Camden, and driven by his son, Roy. In the 12 h. p. class Frank McDonnell would have been an easy winner except for a spill. Next Sunday the scene shifts to Jefferson Lake.

The Camden rock crusher, parked at Hosmer's Pond, will supplement the State's big crusher now being set up near Lincolnville Beach, the former having a capacity for crushing 100 cubic yards a day, while the latter can crush 500 yards a day. The total amount to be crushed is about 45,000 yards, and it will be used in providing a first class road through the town of Lincolnville, as elsewhere described in this paper. A. B. Packard's trucks will haul the crushed rock from the Camden machine.

R. M. Packard, Tyler Murphy, Charles K. Philbrick (Dark Harbor) Frank McDonnell and Elmo Crozier attended the field day of the Bangor District of the New England Telephone Co. at Camp Benson Saturday. Messrs Murphy, Crozier and McDonnell were members of the winning team in the tug of war, and Murphy played on the baseball team which did up Portland to the tune of 3 to 1. Bob took no chances with those strenuous sports, but over in the dance hall he showed the youngsters how to trip the light fantastic, and won first prize.

A lobster caught recently along the eastern shore of Nova Scotia was found to be red in color. As far as is known this is the first live lobster ever found of this hue, says a Moncton despatch. It was discovered by accident in one of the crates and consequently the exact location from which it was taken cannot be established. The back shell according to the Canadian National railways, is a pronounced red and underneath it varies from a shell to a decided pink. The lobster has been placed in a separate crate and will be kept alive as long as possible to permit experts to study it.

Twenty happy Rockland kiddies whose ages range from 7 to 12 years are wreathed in smiles this week because of the fact that on Friday morning they go to Christmas Cove for a fortnight's outing at the Miles summer camp. That institution lost its promoter in the death of Mr. Miles, but thanks to the generosity and efforts of the widow the enterprise, which he conceived, is carrying on, even if on a more limited scale. Transportation will be afforded by the Crockett bus of Rockport, through the generosity of the Rotary Club which beys half of the expense, and the moderate rate made by the owner. All of the children undergo a physical test before going to Christmas Cove, where their welfare is in the excellent hands of Adjutant Charles Phillips of the Salvation Army and Mrs. Miles.

Favored with the best of summer weather the pageant "In the Garden of the L.T.L." was presented before an appreciative audience on the lawn at "Rose Cliffs," summer home of E. M. Lawrence. Mrs. Clara Emery directed the pageant, assisted by Miss Bernice Robinson at the piano. Following the exercises Mrs. Lawrence introduced her house guest Mrs. Pauline Holme of Baltimore, who has the distinction of having graduated in the first class from Vassar College and who has worked all her life for the betterment and uplifting of youth. Mrs. Holme spoke briefly to the children, warning them especially of the danger to their character in the forming of the cigarette habit. Those taking part in the pageant were: Reader, Miss Arline Haver; Legioners, Marion Harvey, George Robishaw, Harold Small, Everett Small, David Curtis, Ruth Emery, Esther Cohen, Douglas Cooper, Betty Munro, Thelma Burns, Barbara Wood, Tilly Haskell, Jackie Wood, Francis Haraden and Francis Robinson; workers, Katherine Drake, Betty Beach, Edith Gray, Elaine Ames, Eileen Beach, Ernest Munro, Jr., Helmi Lehto, Gladys Widdecombe, and Alfred Chapman; flowers, Helen Smith, Alice Clancy, Marie Thistle, Virginia Gray, Virginia Wood, Eleanor Ames, Edith McLellan, Harriet Worcester, Marion Rawley, Virginia Haskell, Dorothy Sylvester and Lucille Stanley.

GREGORY'S

"ON MY SET"

Finding WIOD on my list of stations the other night I was reminded that the winter season is not so far away. Perish the thought, but also perish the static.

KSL of Salt Lake City, Utah, which operates on 1130 k.c. or 265.5 meters, is about to become a 50,000 watt station, which will make it one of the two highest powered stations in the far West. I used to log it occasionally in winter, but with its new gear it should be heard frequently the coming season.

WBT of Charlotte, N. C., is soon to be the key station of the Dixie Network, with its power increased from 5000 to 25,000 watts. It seemed to be coming in with pretty good force Sunday night.

WABI of Bangor was pretty much in evidence Sunday.

I deluded myself with the idea that I had logged rather a complete set of New York stations, but last night I found on the air WENX, "The Voice of the Bronx," which was new to my list, and made my 316th station.

Mrs. Lily M. Waltz, Damascus, is to broadcast from WLBZ, Thursday, at 12 o'clock, daylight on Extension Work. Her talk will also be read over WCBH at 12.15 p. m. Mrs. Waltz has been chairman of Damascus community since it was organized in 1926 with the exception of one year. She has also served three years on the Knox-Lincoln executive board as county clothing leader. Last fall she organized the Happy Home Handy Helpers 4-H club. There are 20 girls in the club and all are taking the cooking and housekeeping project.

Watch Thursday's paper for our big dollar days' bargains. Stonington Furniture Co., 313-325 Main St.—adv.

WHIFF OF THE SEA

In the Days When Knox County Ships Sailed on Every Part of It

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— I wonder if they had in the curriculum of the Rockland grammar schools in your day such ditties as

On starboard tack with yards braced tight.

See that your green and red are bright For every ship that's in your way Must clear the track by night or day.

Green to green and red to red, Perfect safety, go ahead.

I am not sure that they had them in Thomaston, but am quite sure that somewhere along those years I absorbed them.

The first voyage I went to sea was to London, with a cargo of barrel kerosene. I went under positive instructions to keep a diary to send home when we arrived. I kept that same and comparatively recently I came across it, with a lot of letters that I then wrote home. They are of much interest to me. I can assure you. Unfortunately, some of the first pages of the diary are missing—think the first fourteen days—but there is enough left to make it interesting reading—to me. For instance, one day that reads about as follows:

"Sunday, Sept. 28, off the Isle of Wight; saw the famous Eddystone Light last night. Have the forenoon out. Have shaved, read, sewed, and so on. Beautiful day, fresh, fair wind, and the old girl is going along, tending to business. Finally went on to the forecastle and counted the sail in sight, and what do you think? Counted seventy-three; all sorts, large steamers and small, sea-going craft of all kinds, fishermen and pilot boats; counted them myself. Later, 4.30 p. m., counted again and found eighty-four in sight."

Wasn't that interesting? It is certainly quite a story—maybe you will consider it too large for your columns. I have told it before now and have had some of my listeners look skeptical though they seemed to take it on my reputation for veracity. At sea everything is on such a scale that it is quite impossible for one who has never been there to comprehend it, hence the looks of doubt. Perhaps some time Mr. Editor, I will bring those tattered sheets to your office and you can read them for yourself.

Of course you will understand that these vessels were going in all directions, and as we had the wind aft it was up to us to clear of them. Hence the officers were very busy men. It is not at all difficult for me to think that these ditties were going through their minds all the time. That was in 1879, and little did I think that I would ever be telling those experiences to the newspaper. Lots of water has run over the dam since then, and probably vessels are not so thick as they were in those years.

Pardner.

Thomaston, Aug. 10.

THE BI-ACOUSTIC
Victor People Score Triumph With Their New Tone Control

Paul Whiteman, noted American orchestra leader, took part in an unusual test recently in the laboratories of the RCA Victor Company, at Camden, when he was permitted to actually see and study his own music as it was translated from sound into light waves through an electrical testing device known as an oscillograph.

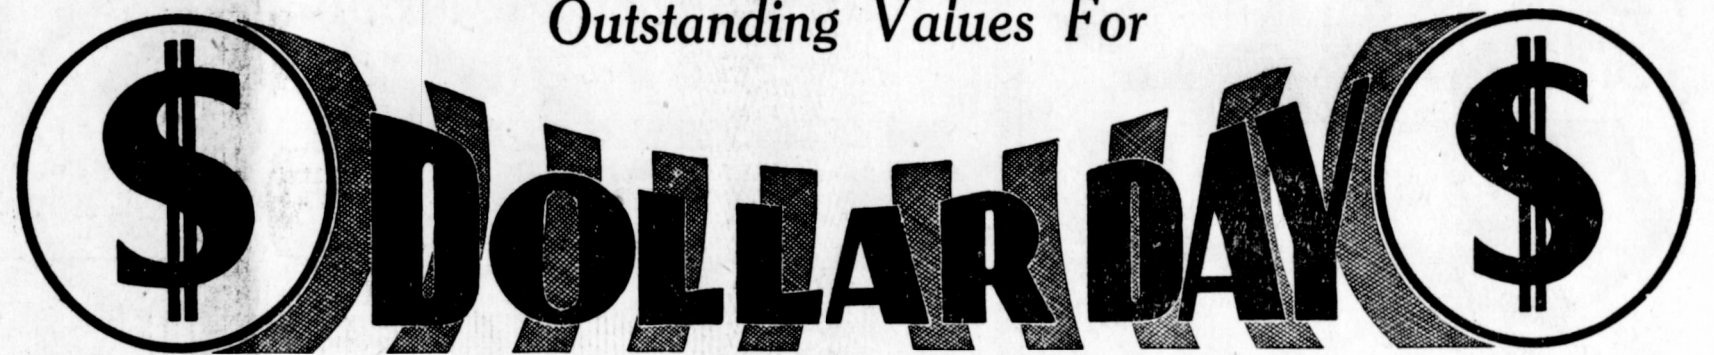

The test was held to demonstrate the overwhelming superiority of the reproducing qualities of a remarkable new radio receiver developed at Radio Headquarters, called the Bi-Acoustic radio. The new instrument derives its name from the fact that it embodies a number of major acoustical developments. The prefix Bi was added to denote that twice the amount of reserve power and twice the tone range are provided by the new instrument.

Having just completed a recording of Ferde Grofe's new Grand Canyon Suite, the record was played through the reproducing system of an ordinary radio receiver. At the same time the oscillograph was connected to the audio system of the instrument and the sound waves automatically converted into light waves. These light waves take on a definite pattern of continuous curves and lines that may be clearly seen.

As the music took visible shape, the informal audience noted that when the climaxes of the music reached its crescendo, the peaks of the waves became fuzzy and blurred, indicating that the receiver was incapable of handling the volume of the music at its peak. The oscillograph device was then connected to the Bi-Acoustic radio and the same music passed through it at the same output of power, and where the peaks formerly blurred and disappeared they now became entirely distinct and increased greatly in amplitude.

According to the engineers who designed the Bi-Acoustic receiver, the application of a new system of Class "B" Amplification which provides an output of more than twice that of ordinary receivers is largely responsible for the superiority shown in the test. Other acoustical improvements include special tone chambers in the receiver to establish the proper acoustic relationships within the cabinet; automatic tone compensation which maintains the correct relationship of the lows and highs even when the receiver is playing at low volume; the application of entirely new types of Radiotrons throughout the circuit, including a new mercury vapor rectifier tube, a double grid audio output tube, a new E. F. Pen-tode tube and a high efficiency triode; an extended scale of reproduction of a full octave at the bottom and at the top of the musical register; a specially developed loudspeaker system to handle the extended range of frequencies and the increased audio output at the peaks; and an acoustically correct cabinet to bring out the full capabilities of the instrument without impediment.

Philosophers say the secret of success is to look ahead and never behind. Any boat racing crew will deny this.

SHORT LOBSTERS

A Boston item reads: Eleven defendants pleaded guilty to possession of "short" lobsters and fishing without a license, and their cases were placed on file in East Boston District Court where they were arraigned after an intensive drive by H. J. Crowley and Ellsworth B. Hubley. State fish and game wardens. The men were arrested by the wardens who used the new fish patrol boat, Marine Fisherman, in rounding them up. During the past week, Warden Hubley told the court, 2768 short lobsters, lobsters less than nine inches long, have been confiscated, and more than 1000 seed or female lobsters. These have been replaced in the ocean by the wardens.

Two young men clad in bathing suits bicycled into Rockland last night a bit weary but still happy. They left Boston Wednesday morning, enroute for Mt. Katahdin.

PAMPERED WOMEN

Most of Them Are In America, Says Katherine Brush, Novelist

Katherine Brush, the writer who summers at Waldoboro, likes American and American women—most of them—but she thinks they are the most pampered in the world.

"How do we get away with it? I don't know," she said, after her return to New York Tuesday from a trip abroad with her husband, H. C. Wilms, banker, "unless, perhaps, it is because American men are naive and let us."

The author of "Red-Headed Woman," which portrayed one of the most detestable characters in modern fiction, thinks European women know more about real home-making than Americans do.

"There is charm in their homes," she said, "and beauty, and they have time to live gracefully and to ease the load for their men. I can't analyze it exactly."

Modern from the rim of her pert, pink turban to the ideas beneath the smoothed brown hair inside it, Mrs. Brush nevertheless runs the changing order which robs children of homely surroundings and greater companionship with their families.

Her brown eyes were serious as she spoke of her 9-year-old son, Tommy Brush. It was to make good for Tommy she toiled long hours at her typewriter so long ago before the days of fat checks and movie royalties.

Hastily unpacking a few things in the chaos of an apartment used for redecorating—she and her husband have separate living quarters in the same building—she hurried with him to see for the first time the movie of her "Red-Headed Woman." Then almost at midnight, they set off by automobile for the New Hampshire camp where Tommy has been spending the summer.

Mothers lose a good deal, she thinks by going out of their homes in independent fashion in all kinds of activities.

THE SEA SERPENT

Captain Bassum, of the Dutch ship Sianter, is shocked to find that nobody wants the authentic sea serpent he found in Java Bay and has been offering to every aquarium at the ports between Java and Naples.

The serpent is nearly four feet long and looks very much like the land variety of serpents except that it has fins. Since it was caught it has lived in a tank all to itself, where Capt. Bassum kept the water between 82 and 88 degrees Fahrenheit.

"Everybody has been interested in it but nobody wants it," he said ruefully. "And to think that for years learned men have argued about whether sea serpents exist or not, and now they have got it alive they won't take it."

The expense of providing it with the proper food seems to be the main reason for rejecting this rare if not unique specimen. Captain Bassum goes to New York from Genoa and hopes to dispose of it there.—London Observer.

A BREAK FOR HOOVER

"Bossy" Gillis, former Republican mayor of Newburyport, has announced that he will run for the House of Representatives as a Democrat. Gillis said he was changing his party affiliation because he could not support the policies of President Hoover and because he wanted to "help Roosevelt win."

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

Subscriptions for the all-star municipal concert series of 1932-33 in Portland have reached the highest point ever attained at this period of the summer. The list of artists carries an extraordinary appeal. The opening artist is Luciezia Bori, beautiful Spanish soprano of the Metropolitan, who will be heard Nov. 22. Harold Bauer, renowned pianist, is to appear in December followed in January by Paul Robeson, famous Negro baritone-actor, while Nathan Milstein, the sensational young violinist is scheduled for February, and Tito Schipa, Metropolitan tenor whose appearance at La Scala in Milano this summer aroused the greatest enthusiasm, will close the series in March.

Jesus Maria Sanroma, pianist, and member of the New England Conservatory of Music faculty, whose art is winning favorable comment, is teaching this summer at the University of Puerto Rico. It is his first visit in 45 years to the island on which he was born in 1903. of Catalonian parents. While at San Juan he will be heard in recital. One of his early engagements of the forthcoming season will be as pianoforte soloist at the Worcester (Mass.) Music Festival.

The New England Conservatory of Music is introducing a novel feature, beginning early in October, when a class for children will be conducted by Ruth Conniston-Morize. The object of the class is to enable young children to acquire a firm grasp of the elements of music, through exercises which are at once interesting and instructive.

The work of the class had its inception in the teaching of French songs at a private school in New York. After games and simple dances had been invented to accompany the songs, the demand of the children to express that histrionic ability latent in all young folk became so insistent that it was necessary to enlarge the scope of the work, culminating in the publication of a book "Chantons un peu." This book includes some 56 French songs, made up of folksongs, Noels, hymns, marching songs, with directions for the games, dances and pageants. It is very simple for the beginner, but later it becomes more complicated, developing along the lines of folk dances and the larger forms of pageantry. Demonstration of the work, with groups of children, has been made before various teaching organizations with great success.

SUMMER RAIN
The rain descends to a world of songs. The trees reply in a music throng. And rushes carry the theme along. In tune with the summer rain.
The harbell carillon rocks and swings. The robin ways in the rain and sings To an obligato of grassy strings. In tune with the summer rain.
The pulses move to the quickened rhyme. The feet are stepping staccato time To the rainbow bubble-drop pantomime. In tune with the summer rain.
Anna Balmer Myers, in "Rain on the Roof."

Chicago citizens have been wondering for four years about the University of Chicago's belfry without bell, the open space in the institution's chapel tower. These wondering citizens will receive an answer in an autumnal symphony—the voice of a musical instrument weighing 220 tons, for on that date, university officials have announced, the world's second largest carillon, a cluster of harmonized bells, will ring out its debut. Workmen have for several weeks been getting the tower ready, machinery has been arriving regularly, and the bells, produced in England, will end their trans-Atlantic cross-country trip the middle of this month.

Dedicated to the university by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in memory of his mother, the carillon will be surpassed in size only by that of the Riverside Church in New York City. Here are some of the specifications:
Seventy-two bells, ranging in weight from 10½ to 3926 pounds—all pitched to peal forth in melodious chords. It will be music in the most modern motorized manner. Compressed air pistons and electrically-operated valves will take the place of flying fingers and educated lips. Total cost, around $200,000. The intricate music mechanism will be operated from a console located several stories below—a keyboard arranged for sharps and flats as for a piano. The individual parts of the mechanism which the artist strikes with his fists. And the artist? He has not been found yet. Carillon players are not just picked up anywhere. A representative of the school is now in Europe in search of a man who understands carillons, and who is not only an accomplished musician, but somewhat of a mechanic and athlete as well.

We wonder if they know that the Curtis Institute of Music of Philadelphia maintains a department of carillon playing in its curriculum. The pupils receive instruction under one of the most accomplished carilloneurs in the world, with opportunity for practice and work on the carillon in the Singing Tower in Florida.

The Portland Men's Singing Club is to be heard at the Eastern Music Camp Sunday, Aug. 14.

Prizes ranging from $250 to $500 for the best specimens of musical folklore discovered by next October have set village minstrels agog throughout Spain. The object, says the minister of education, is to stimulate Spanish culture.

Mabel M. Berryman of Portland has been awarded one of the Dean's scholarships at the Institute of Musical Art in New York for the coming year, this being the fourth year that she has won this award. Miss Berryman was graduated from King's Academy and attended the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston one year. She is a talented young pianist and vocalist.

An anonymous compiler has issued a book entitled "Tromboners," filled with various types of musical "boners" made by typesetters, critics and artists. The royalties from the book's sales are to go to the Musicians' Emergency Aid.

The Ottokringer Liedertafel, one of Vienna's smaller singing societies, has unveiled a memorial tablet on the house erected on the ground of the old Thalia Theatre—the house where Wagner's Tannhauser was first produced in Vienna, at a time when the Imperial Opera was barred to his music owing to his "revolutionary" activities. Among those present at the ceremony was Emma Adametz-Friedlowsky, who sang the role of Elizabeth in that memorable first performance and was praised by Wagner for her beautiful singing and acting.

Says the Musical Courier: "Ninth Beethoven's Ninth on Nineteenth Draws Ninety-Nine Hundred." What a rousing headline that would make for the ninth yearly performance of Beethoven's ninth symphony, which was offered the 9,900 patrons (authentic figures) at the Lewisohn Stadium in New York on July 19.

Jessica Dragonette of the Cities Service radio period is taking her first vacation in six years. Countess Olga Albani is filling her place on the program, and says "It is a welcome change. What say you?"

The editor of Musical Courier is vacationing in Europe and each week devotes a page of his eminent journal to describing his wanderings and musical news gathered therefrom. Here is an interesting bit:
"I am in a position to give you some exclusive information about Emil Ludwig's new book—'Conversations with Mussolini' which will be published very shortly in Vienna. (Confessing observations to that part pertaining to music.) Regarding music, Mussolini said that (like Bismarck) the total art aroused in him feelings either martial or idyllic. For the past two years the Duce has not gone on with his violin playing. He explained that it used to relax him, but now uses up his nerves. 'After half an hour of playing, I feel repose, but after one hour, I feel excited. The fine violins presented to me I have given to young artists who possess talent but no money'. . . . Asked about his favorite compositions, the Italian answered, 'I love the early Wagner and the third act of Tristan and Isolde. Beethoven to this day, seems to me the highest musical expression, especially his final chamber music and the sixth and ninth symphonies. At the same time I feel myself more closely related to the works of Palestrina and his school, even though they approximate Beethoven only distantly. I cannot dissociate music from racialism. Put me in a dark room next to one in which music is being played, and I think I could easily pick out the German, French, Italian, Russian pieces. In its general language all music is international, but in its inner expression it is entirely national. In fact, I hold that music is the most characteristic and eloquent form of national utterance. It extends even to performance. We Italians excel in Verdi, for instance, because he is in our blood. Hear him conducted by Toscanini, the greatest leader in the world.'"

Miss Georgia Shepard of Norton, Mass., is enjoying two weeks at the home of her foster parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shepard.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene U. Ufford and son James Kimball Ufford of Auburndale, Mass., are guests of his mother Mrs. Lullie Ufford and sister Mrs. Ethel Griffin.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mank of Somerville, Mass., were weekend guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mank.

Last Tuesday at her cottage at Seven Tree Pond Mrs. Henry Stickney entertained friends from 2 until 5 o'clock. Mrs. Stickney is an ideal hostess and entertained her guests with talks on her recent trip abroad.

A table was spread out of doors from which refreshments were served by Miss Wallace and Miss Antilla. Memory tests and letter games were tried, making the time fly all too quickly. The young people took to the water and amused the older ones with their stunts of diving, swimming and water games.

Those present were Mrs. Jennie Thurston, Mrs. Maurice Lovejoy and daughters and mother Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Meservey, Mrs. Cora Mank, Mrs. Lullie Ufford, Mrs. Bertha Bryant, Barbara Mank. A happy afternoon was passed and the hospitality of the hostess will long be remembered.

Friends of Mary Jones have received announcements of her marriage to J. W. Anderson July 29 in Wollaston, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will make their home at 21 Winfield road, Johnston, R. I. All send best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Goss are visiting Mr. Goss' cousins in Southwest Harbor and Bar Harbor.

It is expected that the new grade and high school building will be ready for occupancy Sept. 20. The date of opening, however, will be announced later. East Union and Stone schools will begin Tuesday, Sept. 6.

At a recent meeting of the school committee, schools were assigned as follows: Primary grades, Mrs. Doris Robbins; middle grades, Mrs. Eva Starrett; grammar grades, Mrs. Anne Farris; high school, Principal Thomas and Miss Merrifield. The pupils of Round Pond and Nye schools will be transported by Wilbur Abbott; Hawes pupils by Alfred Hawes and the pupils of South Union by Quincy Young.

25 YEARS AGO

A review from the columns of this paper of some of the happenings which interested Rockland and vicinity in this month, 1907.

The track record at Knox Trotting Park held by Belle P at 2:17 1/4 was lowered to 2:12 1/4 by Dorcas H. owned by L. L. Genther, and driven by his son Henry. Dorcas H had a record of 2:09 1/4.

Charles G. Procter bought the Charles U. Keene house on Hall street.

R. Fred Crie went to Newburyport, Mass., as government inspector on breakwater work.

Knox Hospital received a check for $1000 from George Warren Smith and Francis Smith of Warrenton.

A. H. Fogg, 76, died at his home on Pleasant street. He was one of the most extensive strawberry growers in this section, and was always possessed of the idea that there was gold on his farm.

A. J. Grimes of Peoria, Ill., bought the Smith cottage at Crescent Beach. Miss Maude Bickford of Auburn was elected teacher of science in Rockland High School.

Fred T. Studley and Walter Larabee bought the C. B. Jones store at the corner of James street.

Eugene Harrington resumed his duties in the freight station, having recovered from severe injuries.

Charles A. Young bought the Alvin Curtis place in South Hope.

William Brimington's house on upper Middle street was ransacked by thieves, who got 40 cents for their pains.

Congressman Littlefield moved into his new law office in the Thorndike & Hix building on School street.

The Rockland & Rockport Lime Co. had 25 kilns afire in this city and five in Rockport. Orrin F. Perry reported renewed activity in the New York market.

Thieves ransacked the residence of Joseph Flanagan, but stole only a ring and four cents.

The three-masted schooner Wawonock was launched from Snow's yard—a craft of 325 tons designed by John M. Gamage. The christening was by Helen, daughter of Capt. R. K. Snow, and took the form of unfurling an American flag. Capt. Anderson was to command.

John Kirkpatrick was thrown from the Northend trestlework when cars were derailed on "The Skyline." His hip and back were badly lamed.

Miss Mabel F. Hall was elected to take charge of the voice department of Irving College, in Pennsylvania.

The City Government met in joint convention following mandamus proceedings, and these officials were chosen: City marshal, W. O. Abbott; road commissioner, Elkanah Spear; chief engineer, a fire department, John A. Karl; assistant engineers, L. B. Simmons, T. S. McIntosh and L. W. Benner; milk inspector, Dr. F. E. Freeman; city treasurer, Leroy F. Clough.

Exalted Ruler W. W. Case served on the personal staff of the grand esquire during the Elks parade in Philadelphia. It was a very hot day and 2000 of the marchers succumbed to the heat.

The buildings on the West Meadow road owned by Gilbert Ulmer and occupied by Aaron Jones, were destroyed by fire, supposed to have been started by children playing with matches.

Charles Seavey, while unloading hay, fell from the peak of the barn onto a solid floor 25 feet below. He was picked up for dead but suffered only a sprained ankle.

Mrs. Eva Hatch fell in the street, breaking one of her knee-caps.

Harry Kenniston found a pocket-book containing $1000 in bills and $500 in city bonds. The wife of Capt. Strout of the schooner Annie Adams was found to be the owner, and the property was promptly restored.

Mrs. A. J. Shaw fell at a picnic, breaking one of her legs. A few days later her sister, Miss Emma Litchfield fell down the back stairway at their home, breaking her right ankle.

Ralph L. Wiggins was elected superintendent of schools in Falmouth, Mass.

J. R. Baker was elected president of the Knox County Board of Underwriters.

Simon D. Crosby was confined to the house on account of blood poisoning. He scratched one of his legs with a wire.

CAMPAIGN OF DECEPTION

[Washington Post]

As everyone expected, Governor Pinchot comes forward as the champion of the rioters who were ousted from Washington last week. With an outburst of criticism, in which he merely displays ignorance of what took place in the bonus army camps, the governor of Pennsylvania takes the evicted veterans to his bosom, while his henchmen call upon Washington to feed them.

There is nothing strange in this action. Any group that seeks a dose, a bonus or any other form of gratuity from the Government can be assured of the wholehearted support of Governor Pinchot.

There has been no hostility on the part of the Government toward the veterans who came here to petition Congress for immediate payment of the bonus. The Treasury furnished them temporary quarters so far as that was possible. The War Department supplied equipment. When the mission for which these men came to Washington failed, the Government provided them with funds for transportation and sustenance for their return journeys. In spite of this liberal treatment a few bonuses laid claim to Government property and refused to vacate it, even after formal demands of evacuation had been made. When the Government took the proper steps to repossess its property these bonus marchers, under the influence of Communists and other radical agitators, precipitated a riot that ended in bloodshed.

No amount of falsification, deception or political misrepresentation can change those facts. Governor Pinchot is encouraging Americans to suppose that they can come to Washington and enforce unreasonable demands by intimidation and violence.

At this late date George Price informs me that he can make up a sentence with the word "vicious" like this: "Well, best vicious for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!"

And "amphibian." "So you think I amphibian, do you? Well, I can prove it."

And Solly Rosen can make up one with "cigaret": "Cigaret life if you don't weaken."—New York Telegraph.

A TIP ON LIGHTING

To enable the occupant of a residence to light his way from the garage to the main part of the house, says Edwin P. Simpson of Dayton, O., in American Architect, install in the garage a master-switch to control lights in the garage, kitchen, serving pantry, dining room and main hall or whatever course one might take going to and from the garage. Another master-switch should be installed in the main hall or living room. These master-switches operate to turn on all of the designated lights at one time independent of their local switches, and must be turned off again by one of the master switches before the local switches are operative. This method eliminates the turning on and off of lights in going from the main part of the house to the garage or vice versa.

"Who will help a man to correct personality defects if not his wife?" asks a heart-throb editor. Well, sister, there is his wife's mother.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MORE HOPE FROM HOOVER

Than By Supporting the Democratic Program Is View of Prohibition's Allied Forces

The Allied Forces, a prohibitionist organization, announced Sunday through Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman, that it has decided to support President Hoover for reelection.

In a poll of national executive committee members and outstanding supporters of the Allied Forces, Dr. Poling said, 187 out of 206 voted to support Mr. Hoover after his statement of his position on prohibition in accepting the Republican presidential nomination. Dr. Poling said: "Following the acceptance speech of President Herbert Hoover, the executive committee of the Allied Forces voted to support Mr. Hoover's candidacy. This action was taken without prejudice to the fundamental position of the Allied Forces with regard to the 18th Amendment and its supporting legislation.

"The Allied Forces are against repeal. "The Allied Forces are against any weakening of enforcement laws.

"The Allied Forces do not endorse any proposal for modification. Specifically we reaffirm our former statement: 'As to the Republican plank we reject the resubmission program.' Should any amendment to the Constitution be considered we are opposed to the State convention plan of ratification as untried and without safeguard against misrepresentation and corruption. Also, we oppose any interference with the initiative, and the responsibility of Congress in the matter of amendments to the Constitution.

"Our endorsement of President

Hoover is based upon the belief that, in contrast with Governor Roosevelt, his election will safeguard the gains made under prohibition, will move towards the elimination of existing evils resulting from non-observance and non-enforcement in some communities, will prevent naked repeal and the return of the saloon system, will not commit any public officer or candidate to any policy of repeal or modification against his own conscience or the sentiment of his constituents, and will confirm the principle of Federal control for a national problem.

"In support of this program the Allied Forces will conduct an aggressive campaign for the election of senators and representatives, whether they be Democrats or Republicans, who are against repeal and the re-establishment of the old liquor traffic. Our relation to each campaign will be determined by the conditions and circumstances of the individual case.

"The formal action of the executive committee confirms a nationwide vote by letter and telegram in which 206 members of the National Executive Committee and other standing supporters of the Allied Forces participated. Every State, and the District of Columbia was represented in this pool, which immediately followed Mr. Hoover's speech of acceptance.

"One hundred eighty-seven of the 206 voted that the allied forces should support Mr. Hoover. This conclusion covered every section of the country."

BETTER HUNTING AND FISHING

A fine breeding season for partridges, woodcock and ducks, reports Chief Warden Fred H. Smallwood. Pheasant culture is being carried on in this vicinity with a very fair degree of success. The beaver family at Wotton's Pond is on the increase. "Deer are more plentiful than ever," the chief warden told a Courier-Gazette reporter. "Moose are staging a good comeback, but are not as plentiful as they were in 1929, the last year of the open season, when the slaughter of these animals was on such a large scale as to cause much comment, and when much of the breeding stock was 'bumped off.'"

Fox hunters bid fair to have plenty of targets the coming season, and as to rabbits there will be no scarcity.

Better cooperation on the part of dog-owners is helping the game situation. There should also be better fishing in the near future. Sixty thousand adult trout from the Head Tide station in Alna have been distributed among the various streams and ponds of Lincoln County and 94,000 trout from the Bird Memorial Pool in Appleton have been placed in the waters of Knox and Waldo Counties. From the Camden hatchery 7,750 yearling salmon have gone into the waters of Knox, Lincoln and Waldo Counties.

THOMASTON IS AGOG

Big Crowd Will Be On Hand For the American Legion Fair Tomorrow

Thomaston is all agog with preparations for the annual County Fair on the Mall, Wednesday, which, as for the last four years, will be sponsored by Williams-Brazier Post, American Legion, and the Woman's Auxiliary. It will be an all-day event, with plenty of fun for everyone in the evening, when the midway will be in full swing and there will be a band concert by the Rockland City Band, beginning at 7.30.

The various committees are planning the usual attractive booths where fancy work, aprons, cook books, cooked food, candy, hot dogs, coffee and sandwiches, children's articles, fir pillows, grubs, vegetables, ice cream and hot dogs will be on sale.

The feature of the day, however, will be the big parade, which will be in two sections—the first made up of floats, and led by the Rockland City Band, the second, the children's parade led by the Camden Boys' Band in snappy uniforms. As formerly, the first division will also include the fun-provoking group of "horribles," which are alone worth going to see. Fred Burnham is in charge of this parade, with Mrs. Alonzo J. Spalding in charge of the horribles and the Misses Rebecca Robertson and Alice Collamore of the children, and it is certain that Thomaston's reputation for putting things across in a big way will be upheld this year. There are already a large number of entries, including five floats from the neighboring town of Camden, eight from Rockland, one from South Warren and many representing the various business houses in Thomaston itself, as well as decorated automobiles entered by individuals. The children's parade is always unique, with a dainty and amusing array of doll carriages, bicycles, tricycles, wheel barrows and carts and boys and girls in costume. The parade will start at one o'clock daylight, and the first division will form at the Maine State Prison, with the line of march down Main street to Pine, down Pine to Gleason, up Gleason to Knox, up Knox to Main and up Main to the Prison to disband. The second division, or children's parade, will form on Georges street and will follow the first division down Main street as far as Knox, where it will disband.

JUDGE WASN'T THERE

So Rockland Traffic Violator Was Placed On Probation In Lewiston

Judge Parent placed two on probation in the Lewiston Municipal court Saturday due to the fact that they had complied with the officer's orders when they went to Livermore Falls to appear in court and found the judge on his vacation.

Charles Grace, Rockland pleaded guilty to passing a stop sign at the Livermore-Dixfield road last Tuesday. That night he appeared for Court at Livermore Falls, but could not be arraigned because the judge was away.

"In view of the fact that you obeyed the officer, who did not know that the judge was absent, and travelled about 60 miles before coming in court I will impose fines of $5 and costs but suspend sentence and place you on probation for six months," stated the judge.

"Our economics prof talks to himself. Does yours?" "Yes, but he doesn't realize it—he thinks we're listening."—Juggler.

SPOKE TO LIONS

And Editor Staples Had Mighty Fine Time Down In Waldoboro

Arthur G. Staples, editor of the Lewiston Journal spoke before the Waldoboro Lions Club recently, and as usual he took along his notebook. Some of the interesting material evolved therefrom reads thus:

"Well—I was on my way to Waldoboro. For the first time in many months I was on a railroad-train. 'Running light!' said the conductor. I should say so—considering that it is the last week of July. Think back to the days when the big pullman sections, two and three in number, came rolling into Brunswick. 'Get a seat in a chair car!' Nothing doing. Rockland sections all full; dogs, servants, flappers! Yet, July 27, the chair car was like a deserted village. Two chairs occupied. Boy in the buffet could give me a luncheon; Yessah! Delicious luncheon. The ideal of all travel—so easy and so delightful. But nobody traveling.

"I spoke in Waldoboro to the Lions club, for an old college classmate and I had the felicity of seeing him 'Roar! Lions, Roar!' Bite 'em!" "I never had a better time; because I passed the afternoon and the night in a historic house with a family of the true spirit of a cultured old-fashioned New England hospitality—the hospitality of aristocratic breeding, through generations of that felicitous service known as being gentlemen and gentlemen. And when we went out to a little tavern by the roadside on Jefferson Road and had a dinner and I wearied them with remarks and they were so darned happy when I was through that they all had a good time.

"There were three lovely ladies in that house where I stopped, not to mention my old college friend. Night came down as we sat around the table after we returned from the Lions Club. The rain fell in soft music all around this old mansion half buried amid the trees that border the Medomak. I slept in an ancient bed in a room around which leaves rustled and roses twined. But the sweetest rose was one that twined around my heart, a rose of memory of days that are no more, fifty years ago, when this handsome and distinguished man of today, was just a boy. And we were boys together."

McGUFFIE'S REPORT

Shows Some Improvement At Stonington, and Voices a Hope

Alex McGuffie, secretary of the quarrymen's union at Stonington, writes thus to the Quarry Workers' Journal:

"I am glad to say that business is improving here since my last report. The Deer Island Granite Company has two small crews working in the quarry and a large loading sawed stone and random, but I do not hear of any cutters going to work. They are bidding on some cut work. I hope I can tell you that they have a large crew in my next report.

"On the John L. Goss job they are still sailing along, quarrying random. Their two saws are running and they have four or five cutters working on a vault job. I do not know how long the job will last but every little bit helps. This company is certainly shipping a lot of stone. There is a barge in at the wharf all the time either for grout, random or sawed stone so we can call ourselves lucky to be working as much as we are in these hard times. Still we are not satisfied. We are not getting the work we should be getting. By 'we' I mean the company here could handle lots more work easily and if it were not for unfair competition we would have more work. I am not referring to the low pay of Europe but to certain concerns doing business right here in the good old U.S.A."
