TUNE IN ON THESE

Radio Broadcasts By Knox and Lincoln Farm Workers—Union Boy Yesterday

The University of Maine extension service is sponsoring a series of radio broadcasts this week which are of especial interest to Knox and Lincoln Counties.

Yesterday's speaker was Clifton Meserve of Union, whose subject was "4-H Poultry Week." The announcer in presenting the speaker, said:

"Poultrymen and poultrywomen from Knox and Lincoln Counties will be on the air this week telling us about their experiences in the poultry business. Tomorrow Harry Waterman of South Thomaston will speak on the subject, 'Poultry on the Coast.' Wednesday, Philip Lee of Waldoboro will tell us why he went into the poultry business. 'Poultry for Profit' is the subject listed for Henry Keller of West Rockport, who will speak Thursday. Friday, Albert Wotton of Friendship will be before the microphone speaking on the subject, 'A Poultry Account Tells the Story.' Mrs. Charles Hendrickson will interrupt her Saturday's work to tell us how poultry has enabled her to buy home conveniences.

"Our speaker today is Clifton Meserve of Union. Clifton started his poultry business in 1926 with ten chicks. This year he had 500. He has been carrying a poultry project in connection with his local 4-H Club for five years. I am glad to introduce him at this time."

And here is young Meserve's story as the radio brought it:

My interest in poultry work started in 1926 when I was 12 years old. I did not know about the 4-H Club work at that time. That year I had ten chicks given me by my grandfather when they were about two weeks old. The next spring I decided to increase my flock and set three hens. From these, I got 30 chicks which gave me 13 pullets and 17 roosters.

In 1928, I learned about 4-H Club work through a poultry paper which suggested I get in touch with the county agent. This I did. From the next three years I carried the poultry project alone as there were no other boys and girls enrolled in the community.

The first year I took poultry management and bought 50 Barred Rock chicks. The chicks developed well and I had no loss. At the end of the year, my chicks showed a profit of $87.19 in my 4-H poultry account, book which I had to keep as part of my project.

The money that I made this year went into new building, and I built a 12x12 foot house and increased my flock by buying 150 Barred Rocks. This year, the birds again showed a profit and I saw there was a chance to make money with hens and I doubled my housing capacity so that I had a 24x12 house. During the winter of 1930, I built a 20x20 foot laying house, bought a coal stove brooder, and put wire sun porches on the house. It has been necessary to use the wire sun porches as my land is limited and I cannot get my chicks on to range.

I used this building for a brooder house and put in it 470 day-old chick Barred Rocks. My profit that year was $287.74. This looked good to me, and I decided to go into poultry as a regular business.

In 1930, a 4-H Club was organized and there has been one every year since. This has helped to keep my interest in 4-H Club work and do better work with my poultry.

In 1931, I bought 300 March hatched chicks and another 200 in June. Those were also Barred Rocks. I wintered 160 pullets. From the profits, I built a brooder house this past year, 12x16 feet.

This year, I had 300 March chicks and 200 June chicks and am housing 175 pullets.

I feel that boys and girls who are interested in 4-H Club work will not go wrong if they take either chick raising or poultry management for a project. There is lots of fun in it, and a good profit can be made with the birds.

These broadcasts come over WLWZ at 11:45 a. m. and from WCBS at 12:30 p. m.

HI-LITES

In The Courier-Gazette Thrift Club

(By The Club Manager)

While there is life—there is still South Hope.

And Cushing for our rocking chair—And brothers and sisters—we need it. Or a fan.

Takes just three of these things to get warmed up to the subject—if you have ever noticed.

Notwithstanding the terribly hot seat on this desk. And when we say hot, we mean hot, sizzling hot.

We will never in this world get cooled off from Saturday. What a day. And what records. That "running comment" in the letter was at least premature.

But, what's the use of pretty babies growing into homely men. And Wisa Worsa.

Real subscription records came from all over the territory. Half the subscriptions taken in on Saturday have not reached the Club Books yet. Most of the counts are on the list today, except in the case of those having an unusually large number. Not all of those could be counted in time today.

John and the rest of us fooled around all the forenoon yesterday—but when we came back, look what we brought home.

Surprise prizes. Even John was surprised. And say, when that boy gets surprised, "sophon" is sure coming.

These seven prizes are added prizes. Surprise prizes just about accounts for them. You win them this week and next. The most money turned in on subscriptions, either new or old, will turn the trick.

Announcement of the winners with the winners of the main club. We could figure it out on these specials, but we will be turned if we will. Let the judges do the work, they will let the lemonade and the cigars, at the 19th hole.

But seriously, what a week last week, and what a day Saturday. Never expected anything like it. Records were made one minute, only to be knocked into a cocked hat the next.

This writer wants a deer gun. Who has one to sell? No, not a deer gun—but a deer gun—one you bring back the venison with. Deer meat to you.

Thanks pretty lady, for the specs. We get dumber and dumber. Heels all worn off now.

Wonder if these specials will kick up such a hurricane of subscriptions as were flying around here last week. If it does, I know one bird who is going to hide over the weekend, next week. And that is Im.

Three steppers on the records for the specials so soon. Mrs. Geneva Rose Hoke, Miss Amber Elwell and Mr. Fred E. Harden. No choice between their standings yet, though.

Going to try to report progress on the specials in this column, if possible. Thursday, we ought to have our washing and ironing done, in time to give you some of that "running comment" on what happened last week. Nothing like good up to the minute news—at least a week after it happened.

Who ever has extra counts due them from last week, ought to get them tomorrow. With luck. And the help of Olympus.

Some one—no friends of ours—were busy for the last two days spreading the report that Mrs. Elsa Constantine had withdrawn from the Club. Mrs. Constantine has no intention of withdrawing from Club Membership. Anyone who would deliberately spread a rumor like that—Words fall us—that is words we can use here.

One lady didn't want a single one of the special prizes, so we have arranged to get her an aeroplane.

Windy again today. Hope it will blow a few of those Rumormongers out to sea.

Well, this seems to be about all we can do this time. So hold everything until Thursday.

But subscriptions—don't hold them. Who will lead on Thursday for these specials? This is sure going to be interesting.

Yoo-hoo Mrs. Bloom.

THE COLLEGE POLL

Showed Big Margin For Hoover In All But the Solid South

Sweeping the East, Mid-West and Far West, Herbert Hoover gained a margin of more than 11,000 votes over Franklin D. Roosevelt in the nation-wide poll conducted among 47 colleges in 31 states under the sponsorship of "Daily Princetonian," campus newspaper of Princeton University.

The final tabulation of the 58,680 ballots, showed that 29,289 men and women in American universities indicated their support of Hoover, while 18,212 cast their ballots for Roosevelt. Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, garnered 1,470 votes, while 715 went to William Z. Foster, the Communist representative in the coming national election.

Twenty Eastern colleges supported Hoover giving him 15,075 votes to 5,201 for Roosevelt and 4,973 for Mr. Thomas. In the South Roosevelt swept 11 colleges, gaining 7,605 votes to 1,965 for Hoover and 857 for Mr. Thomas. In the Middle West Hoover was victorious in nine colleges which gave him 7,408 votes to 3,678 for Roosevelt and 1,233 for Mr. Thomas. The Far West majority gave him 4,769 votes to 1,827 for Roosevelt and 1,233 for Mr. Thomas.

Thirty-one colleges in the group went strong for Hoover; 11 for Roosevelt, and five for Mr. Thomas. Among the latter were New York University and Columbia.

A LIFE OF KNOX

Colby College Professor Devoting His Spare Time To Its Proper Achievement

A visitor in the city Saturday was Prof. T. M. Griffith, instructor in history at Colby College. Professor Griffith is well-known in these regions, from his church pastorate in Camden several years ago. His visit here at this time was to look over Montpelier, in association with the work he is doing in preparing a Life of Major General Henry Knox.

For five years Prof. Griffith has been engaged in this task, which he truly designates as well-nigh herculean. He echoes the opinion expressed by Chief Justice Pattingall, that the life of Knox, in spite of the biographies by Drake and Brooks, yet remains to be written, a task, the chief justice declares, that will occupy its writer ten years.

"He is right," said Prof. Griffith, in his call on The Courier-Gazette. "I have been at it for half that number of years, and I see a great amount of work yet to be done. There is an enormous quantity of material to deal with, rich in information. Those half a hundred volumes of Knox letters filed with the Massachusetts Historical Society constitute a fertile source of information which previous biographies have only slightly dealt with.

"The greatness of the abilities and the character of Knox, the place he filled in that earlier period of our country's history, these things have not yet been properly brought to the attention of the American people. When they are once adequately set forth, I believe Knox will be shown as among the chiefest of the group that stood about Washington, of which company Knox was closest in intimacy with the great leader, both during the war itself and in the dozen years of the peace that immediately followed it.

"It is the ambition of the Life I have in mind to accomplish this end. The further I engage in uncovering sources of information, the greater my conviction of the worthiness of the task I have engaged in."

Prof. Griffith was enthusiastic in his approval of the Memorial to Knox that has been set up in Thomaston,

ALMANAC ARRIVES

Bringing Lots of Information About the Year That Is To Come In Two Months

None of us likes to see the years slipping away too rapidly, but everybody welcomes the arrival of the Maine Farmers' Almanac, which has just come to hand for the 115th time, with Charles E. Nash & Son of Augusta still featured as the publishers.

We may or may not take the weather predictions seriously, but even if we don't there is plenty to interest us in the contents of the 48 closely printed pages between those familiar tan colored covers.

The prospectus of eclipses is not one calculated to inspire great enthusiasm, or make us forget the Presidential campaign, as there are to be only two of them, and neither visible in Rockland. The first will be annular eclipse of the sun Feb. 24, and the second another annular eclipse Aug. 21.

There are to be no eclipses of the moon, but in view of the great stunt she did with the sun last August this omission may be cheerfully forgiven.

The holidays next year will fall on these days and the dates: Feb. 12, Sunday, Lincoln's Birthday; Feb. 14, Tuesday, St. Valentine's Day; Feb. 22, Wednesday, Washington's Birthday; March 17, Friday, St. Patrick's Day; April 9, Palm Sunday; April 16, Easter Sunday; April 19, Wednesday, Patriot's Day; May 30, Tuesday, Memorial Day; June 24, Saturday, St. John's Day (Masonic); July 4, Tuesday, Independence Day; Sept. 4, Monday, Labor Day; Oct. 12, Thursday, Columbus Day; Oct. 31, Tuesday, Halloween; Nov. 30, Thursday, Thanksgiving Day; Dec. 25, Christmas, Monday.

The Almanac is the only publication which has come to the editorial desk this year without some kind of an essay on Depression in it.

STRONG FOR HOOVER

University of Maine Students Overwhelmingly For Him—Socialist Near Roosevelt

Herbert Hoover was voted by the University of Maine its choice to continue leadership of the country during the next four years, according to the results of a presidential poll conducted by The Campus, university student publication.

Of a total of 988 votes, Hoover received 656, 456 more than his nearest competitor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, with 200. Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, was credited with 129 votes, while Foster, Communist, received two, and Reynolds, Socialist Labor, one.

The results of the Maine ballot compares with similar from the other three colleges of the State. In every instance Hoover has been given a substantial majority, while the Cobys students voted Thomas in second over Roosevelt.

which he is confident will be growingly recognized as one of the very foremost historical shrines of the Nation.

COLLISION PROVED FATAL

Edward M. Creighton Returning To Home In Union When His Automobile Crashes Into Telephone Pole

Death came swiftly to Edward M. Creighton of South Union yesterday morning when his automobile left the highway near Macy's Pond in Rockville, and 200 feet distant collided with a telephone pole. Mr. Creighton was alone in the car, suffered a broken neck.

The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Ludwick, Medical Examiner Frohock, County Attorney Otis and State Patrolmen Pray and Shaw, who were convinced that recreational steering gear was responsible for the tragedy.

The body was taken in charge by Bowes & Crozier.

Mr. Creighton had been at the H. B. Bowes cottage, Spruce Head during the previous day assisting the latter with his boat. He was returning home early yesterday morning when the accident occurred.

The body was found lying face downward in a ditch partially filled with water. The automobile bore the appearance of a total wreck but to the surprise of onlookers it was later removed from the scene under its own power.

Mr. Creighton who was 58, drove a motor truck in connection with the Thurston Casket factory at South Union, and also did work as an electric lineman. He was a member of Union Lodge, F.A.M., and other Masonic bodies—well known in the northern part of the county and highly respected. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Ida Creighton; his wife, Leila M. Creighton; one son, Wallace, aged 16; a brother, John C. Creighton of Union; and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes of Union and Mrs. Cora Willard of New Rochelle, N. Y.

The funeral services will be held at Mr. Creighton's late residence in Union Wednesday at 2 p. m.

MIRROR LAKE COTTAGE LOOTED

Mrs. Adriel Bird Reports Loss of Nearly Everything Contained In Her Summer Home

During the last storm burglars broke into the cottage of Mrs. Adriel U. Bird at Mirror Lake and with the aid of a motor car, whose wheel prints were plainly visible, took away practically all of the contents which were movable.

Mrs. Bird told a Courier-Gazette reporter that a previous attempt to enter the cottage had been made by prying open a door. On their next visit, assuming that they were the same parties, the screws were removed from the hinges of the screen door.

Among the stolen articles, according to Mrs. Bird were an oil stove, crockery ware, a black and white auto rug, sheets and pillows, blue and white lace dollies, hand towels, a folding army cot, two folding chairs, and two victrolas, one a bright red machine of French make, bearing the name of Lubin.

Mrs. Bird placed the investigation in the hands of County Attorney Otis and the sheriff's department.

NOVEMBER TERM UNDER WAY

Judge Chapman Presiding Here First Time—Many Divorces and Criminal Matters

The November term of Knox County Superior Court opened this morning, with Justice Arthur Chapman of Portland on the bench. It is Mr. Chapman's first visit to Rockland in his judicial capacity, and he is certain to find here the cordial greeting which has been accorded to the other newcomers. His stenographer is Samuel H. Carter of Portland.

Rev. G. H. Welch officiated as chaplain. The grand jury, which is a new one, this term, entered immediately upon its duties, under the direction of Ensign Otis, who is serving his last term as county attorney.

The grand jury will report at 9.30 Wednesday morning.

Sheriff Harding has made this disposition of his deputies: Jethro

D. Pease, grand jury; Arthur D. Fish, first traverse jury; A. O. Pillsbury, second traverse jury; Granville Bachelder, crier; C. Earl Ludwick, deputy at large.

Robert A. Webster is court messenger. Clerk of Courts Milton M. Griffin occupies his familiar seat in front of the bench, receiving congratulations because of the fact that he will be a fixture there for four more years.

The reading of the docket disclosed 100 new entries. The criminal docket, which has been accumulating since last May, shows 12 appealed cases, and a large number of matters for grand jury consideration. A number of trials are said to be in prospect.

DEER HUNTING SEASON ON

The woodcock season closed at sundown yesterday and the majority of the hunters feel that it used them very nicely.

And now the deer hunting season is on, and the hunters are looking for a different kind of prey. Those who succeed in bagging game must report at nearest game station, and for the benefit of Knox County nimrods here is the list for this section:

Community Service Station, Park street, Rockland.

D. A. Daugherty & Son, Camden. Mary Smallwood, Rockport.

Cogan & Drewett's Garage, Warren.

O. V. Hassner, Waldoboro.

W. L. Hilton, Broad Cove, Bremen.

Carl L. Fales, East Friendship.

J. J. Fales, Cushing.

For your own convenience clip the above list and paste in the top of your hunting cap.

THE DIGEST VOTE

And Some Curious Reasoning on the Part of a Boston Newspaper

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

The hilarious vein in my nature arose on reading an editorial in the Boston Post bewailing the Literary Digest's straw vote relative to the political status of the "Hub!" The Digest gives the Post's city to President Hoover by a considerable lead, but the Post seems to think it ridiculous to estimate Boston's political color from that source, as the city always turns out a heavy Democratic majority.

The Post goes on to say that if the straw vote of the remainder of the state is equally as erroneous, the entire State is safe for the Democratic candidates. But why not go further? If such a political phase is deduced from the Digest's straw vote in Massachusetts why not the same situation hold true over the entire nation? If so, then President Hoover will be re-elected by a large majority, as the Digest's poll gives Roosevelt quite a large lead over the President.

However, personally I am not in sympathy with straw votes. I know the old saying is: "A straw shows which way the wind blows," but the wind often blows around the corner and carries the straw in an opposite direction from the true current. To illustrate further, the wind often whistles around the corner, making a dismal howling, while out in the clear the current is traveling as a mellow breeze to its destination (if there is any). It is even so with politics and religion.

Often times the greatest noises produce the least effect. The status of the social order depends on the character of the people. The atmosphere is impregnated with what we think and feel, and the purity of politics and religion, which are dual principles, depends entirely on the purity of thoughts and feelings, and not on bluster and bragging.

Far be it from the writer to dictate how anyone should vote, or what church to join, but the one who is a sincere seeker after the Truth wins a large place in his affections and admiration.

North Haven.

FORESIGHT

A correspondent in Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y., writes this to the Herald Tribune:

"Mr. Smith jeers at Mr. Hoover for not foreseeing the depression. Who built the Empire State Building?"

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

A WISH
Mine be a cot beside the hill;
A bee-hive's hum shall soothe my ear;
A willow brook that turns a mill
With many a fall shall linger near.

The swallow, oft, beneath my thatch
Shall twitter from her clay-built nest;
Oft shall the pilgrim lift the latch
And share my meal, a welcome guest.

Around my ivied porch shall spring
Each fragrant flower that drinks the dew;
And Lucy, at her wheel, shall sing
In russet-gowns and apron blue.

ASSURING BETTER TIMES

Our friends the Democratic spellbinders affect horror at Mr. Ford's statement to his employees, that in his opinion industry would return more rapidly to normal production under Republican policies. We fail to see the justness of this clamor, when there is taken into account the steady campaign carried on by the Democratic editors and radio speakers, to array the workman against the employer, and their wild promises of better times with Roosevelt in the presidential chair. Mr. Ford believes the opposite, and he is fully within his rights in expressing that opinion. No one of his employees for a moment believes that his job is at stake, should his vote differ from that opinion. The election of Hoover will insure the upward trend of business which his wise policies have already set in motion. The election of his opponent means a long, long period of uncertainty. The workman is most of all dependent upon a favorable setting for improvement.

We believe the election of Hoover means better times for the cement industry, for lime, for granite, for the mills of Camden and Warren, for every industry in whose prosperity the workmen of Knox County are interested.

NEXT TUESDAY'S BALLOT

A copy of the official ballot to be used a week from today is shown upon another page. Five political parties are represented upon it. The Republican ticket, in the first column, carries the names of the electors, headed by William T. Cobb of Rockland. A cross marked in the square at the top will serve to keep Knox County in the Republican ranks, where she so proudly established herself in the September election. The loyalty of every voter of that party is depended upon for the election of President Hoover and the country's prosperity which his election will make certain.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Now and then one hears expressed a nervous fear that the sun is gradually cooling off, and in time—not while the present generation is living, but shortly afterward—will ultimately die out, like the kitchen fire, and leave us to get along the best we can. There comes to the desk the annual report of the Smithsonian Institution, conveying information in this connection out of which much comfort may be extracted. It is the noted American astronomer, Theodore Dunham, who expresses the opinion that things will continue much as they are, with reasonable variations. He quotes geologists who tell us that the earth must have been here for at least a thousand million years; but he adds that there are various astronomical arguments which lead to the belief that the stars have ages even a thousand times as great as this. These are figures as impossible to visualize as the distances in miles which separate us from the farther planets; but they should, and doubtless do, create within us a degree of respect for the Omnipotence whose creatures we are and within whose hand man's destiny is held.

HOW TO TRAVEL

It is that keen observer of men and things, William Lyon Phelps, who in the Rotary Magazine—one of the best of present-day periodicals—discusses some of the phases of modern travel. There are two ways (we quote him as saying) an American may travel abroad; one is to compare everything he sees or hears unfavorably with what we have at home. This may be flattering to one's patriotic sentiments, but it closes the gates of the mind; the other way is to keep one's eyes, ears and mind open so that one may learn. There are few greater travelers than Professor Billy (as Yale men love to call him) and none better qualified than he to express views in connection with that popular form of relaxation. We can imagine that his suggestion here quoted takes its rise out of observation of that type of his fellow-citizens too frequently encountered in the lanes of foreign travel. Some of us when we get abroad are too apt to be that way.

A GENUINE SON

We hear of Sons of the American Revolution—Knox County has a chapter of them, a patriotic body, the membership of which runs along lines of descent to the historic times of 1776. These of course are "sons" only in courtesy of designation. The actual sons of men who fought in that far-off war are looked upon as long past off the scene of life. Therefore with the more surprise we learn Claiming that Roosevelt could probably raise campaign funds by writing Wild West stories—bad-time stories, which is what makes the west wild—Ray Perkins will sum up the political campaigns Thursday at 7.30. He will also sing, among other things, "the story of an Oriental municipal contractor, 'The Japanese Sandman,' which he declares takes a lot of grit.

In commemoration of the birthday anniversary of Gen. Frederick Funston, the Soconyland players will present Nov. 7 a dramatization of his capture of Aguinaldo the Filipino insurgent general. The play opens in Gen. Funston's headquarters at San Isidro, with the General preparing to return to the United States after more than two years spent in futile attempts to capture Aguinaldo. He delays his preparations, however, long enough to receive Segismundo, a native, who has recently given himself up and who brings with him letters of the Philippine general giving the location of his refuge and the movements of his troops.

Local fans who listened to the Roosevelt rally in Portland yesterday noon also had the satisfaction of hearing one of their own sons, Congressman-elect Moran, who told his listeners that he will campaign in New York and New Hampshire during the final week.

Station WHDH is back with us on full time, operating over a new transmitter at Saugus. Country's safe.

GEN. AMES IS 97

Yesterday, Oct. 31, that native son of Rockland, General Adelbert Ames, last surviving general of the Union Army, observed his 97th birthday on his wooded hill estate in Tewksbury, Mass., to which the local residents like to refer as "The Castle." The General, enjoying the best of health, spent the day quietly with his wife, his son and a number of more remote relatives. Throughout the day he received bouquets and telegrams of congratulation which, before the day was ended, were quite certain to include one from his old friend, John D. Rockefeller, who never forgets the general's birthday. Gen. Ames, born in Rockland, Oct. 31, 1835, graduated from West Point and was Colonel of the 20th Maine Volunteers at one period of the Civil War. He later was governor of Mississippi and U. S. Senator from that State.

SERVICE AT STONE SCHOOL

A major business change is always a notable event in local circles and such is observed at the big Fireproof Garage plant in Winter street.

The Winter street view of Fireproof Garage, giving a general idea of its size and accessibility.

today when Charles H. Berry relinquishes management to A. E. Hunt, formerly manager of the Blaisdell Automobile Co., in this city. Mr. Hunt will retain the remarkably efficient and courteous staff of the Fireproof and hopes to make departmental developments that will call for additional employees.

Fireproof Garage Co. was organized in Rockland, Sept. 30, 1922 with E. M. Lawrence as president, L. N. Lawrence, vice president and C. H. Berry treasurer with the late Arthur S. Littlefield serving as clerk. Its purpose was to conduct a general garage business and the huge structure was raised on Winter street at the rear of Strand Theatre, utilizing some of the area left barren by the big fire.

The building is thoroughly modern, cement, steel and asbestos alone being the construction materials used to make the garage truly live up to its name—Fireproof. It is 180 feet by 75 feet and is heated by a modern Sturtevant blower system which keeps the interior always comfortable regardless of weather conditions. Located just off Main street it is ideally situated for a general garage business. It has been the scene of several very successful automobile shows.

In May, 1931 E. M. and L. N. Lawrence retired from the enterprise leaving C. H. Berry as sole proprietor. Now Mr. Berry has called A. E.

Mr. Hunt, widely known to the automobile trade as "Gus" has devoted a major part of an active career to the motor car game and has for many years been with Blaisdell Automobile Co., Hudson-Essex distributors. He was in charge of the local Blaisdell interests up to the recent death of

Mr. Blaisdell, the settling of the estate requiring the disposal of the business. Born in Chester, Penobscot County, Mr. Hunt has spent most of his years in the industry and has built up a State wide circle of friends. He will conduct the business along the lines of complete and courteous garage service established by Mr. Berry but will lay great stress on the merchandizing side of the enterprise. Additional lines will be taken on and further services developed with the result that the staff personnel will probably be increased in the near future. All the veteran workers will be retained including Hurley D. Oliver and Wesley Oliver, popularly called "Mutt."

Hurley Oliver, day foreman, has gained a wide and favorable acquaintance with the trade since he took up his duties at the Fireproof a decade ago. He has been in charge of the big floor daily since the doors slid back for business back in 1922 and all comers have found him ever courteous, conscientious and ever to be relied upon. That smile of Hurley's makes the whole day go more smoothly. The veteran night foreman, Wesley Oliver, was on duty that first night and has been as much a fixture since as the stars, but unlike the stars "Mutt" is always on duty well before the appointed hour for his appearance. Dependability is the chief characteristic of the man and patrons may rest assured that they are being well cared for when Wesley has the floor. A side light on the kind of man he is may be obtained from the fact that preceding his 10-year service with the Fireproof was a 27 year continuous service with a single employer.

When you call 889 it is generally the voice of Cedric French you hear in response. Cedric is office manager and handles the credit department.

The Fireproof besides storage does an extensive delivery service in connection with live storage, much servicing, lubrication, mechanical adjustment and washing, this work being effectively cared for by Veto Leo, John Holstrom, David Richardson and Judson Garnett.

The convenient location of the Fireproof and its uniform heat makes it ideal for live storage. Couple this with the new low rates and the courteous and dependable delivery service and one gets a combination hard to beat. Dead heated storage is available at a very low rate as is day parking while shopping, at business or pleasure. The tire and accessory departments will be largely developed.

TWO SPEECHES

Showing Marked Difference in Calibre of the Two Presidential Candidates

[New York Sun Editorial]

If every voter in the country could read and digest the speeches delivered on Saturday by President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt the election would go to Mr. Hoover by a large majority. Nothing expresses better the intellectual processes of these two men than the addresses made respectively at Detroit and Louisville.

The President was not thrilling, even in a day when a large part of the public seems to hunger for thrills. He was his old business self, seeking to lay before the people an account of what has happened and what, in the natural course of events, is likely to happen. If he had devoted himself only to a recital of the remedies that have been applied to the depression by his administration and the good results which have sprung from these efforts the speech would have been convincing. But he took a thrust at an adversary who has left his armor open at several chinks.

Governor Roosevelt had declared that he would reduce the budget $1,000,000,000 by cutting out items outside the routine costs of Government. As President Hoover with his economies, his persuasions and his vetoes has already saved a billion a year, he inquires in what year and by what process Governor Roosevelt proposes to save the next billion. Of course, the Governor, in making his announcement of the billion to be saved, remarked that it would come through the reduction of superfluous and overlapping governmental agencies. This is so ridiculous that it is doubtful whether Mr. Roosevelt, on second thought, could take himself seriously.

The address of the Democratic candidate in Kentucky did not turn on the cold, hard figures of Government. One part of it was devoted to the charge that the Republican administration by permitting the boom in stocks to go on, brought on hard times. Foreign depression, said Mr. Roosevelt, had nothing to do with the slump here; in fact, "the Hawley-Smoot tariff law carried the decline of world trade from what amounted to a minor disaster to a genuine international calamity." So there you are. If the tariff had been low enough to let in plenty of foreign goods, incidentally closing American factories, everything would have been all right. The Governor closed the comedy by warning the country to "stop chasing

ALUMNI TOO MUCH

For the Local High School In Closing Game of Rockland Football Season

The former representatives of Rockland High football teams banded together at Community Park yesterday afternoon under the name of the Green Ghosts, and, though not in the best physical condition, pushed across two touchdowns in the first half, which gave them a 14 to 0 victory over Rockland High in a game that was witnessed by the largest gathering that has journeyed to the local field to watch a grid contest this season. The Green Ghosts were not as fast as they used to be, but a stonewall defence gave the victors a decided advantage.

The Green Ghosts' forward wall, which was very much heavier than that of the High School's, was charging hard and fast in the first half and split the Orange and Black line wide open so that the Ghost backs had very little difficulty in reeling off long gains.

Immediately after receiving the first kickoff the winners launched a savage running attack, and before the game was three minutes old had advanced the pigskin 55 yards to the High School's 15-yard stripe where a fumble by Huntley was recovered by the High School. Shortly after the recovery, however, the Orange and Black backs found it impossible to gain and Karl's punt was blocked and recovered by the Ghosts who took advantage of the scoring opportunity. Huntley and Paladino both advanced the ball deeper into High School territory where Freeman, on a power play through the left flank of the losers went over for the first touchdown on a 13-yard run. Huntley added the extra point on a line plunge.

The High School team found the road very rough without the services of four of its star performers. Hooper, L. Thomas, Crockett, and Heller, all being forced to watch the games from the sidelines because of severe injuries received a week ago in the Bar Harbor game. In the second period the Ghosts received the ball after holding their opponents on downs and continued onward to another touchdown, with Accardi smacking the center of the line for two yards and the final touchdown. Freeman added the extra point on an off tackle smash.

Although the scoring was concluded the contest did not lack spectacular plays as long runs by Freeman, Paladino and Steve Accardi kept the spectators well satisfied. The punting and vicious tackling of Howe Glover was also outstanding, as was the tackling of Planagan, R. Thomas and Pietroski. The latter two also did the bulk of the offensive work for the High School.

The Green Ghosts will play another game Armistice Day with Pre-Knight's Icemen, and under the efficient tutelage of Henry Marsh the former outfit should be a very tough nut for the Icemen to crack.

The summary:
Rockland: re. Allen, Shepherd; rt. Ames; rg. W. Glover, Perry; c. Raye, le. Peterson, Doyle; lt. Yeager; lb. Crane, Dally; qb. Karl, Pietroski; rrb. R. Thomas; lrb. Armata; lb. Accardi.

WEATHER
Yesterday saw October making us a smiling gesture of farewell, a little regretful over the excessive rains it had let fall equally upon the just and the unjust, but pointing to the fact that a good many leaves yet remain on the trees when it is an established fact of history that the last day of October usually sees them stripped bare. So on the whole we'll have a kindly farewell to it—the month that takes its name from the fact that it was the eighth month in the primitive Roman year, which began in March, and is celebrated in some countries as the month in which ale is made. "Broth October Ale." We recall that title in song and story, and are acquainted with people who declare that they can remember what it used to taste like. This morning ushers in November, in her hand a shrewd southeast wind, temperature 44, overcast skies, morning bulletin mentioning rain, a little warmer and southeast wind increasing.

The Auxiliary of Sons of Union Veterans meets tomorrow evening. Picnic supper at 6 o'clock.

The Past Presidents' Association of the Relief Corps meets Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Odd Fellows are requested to meet at the hall Thursday night for transportation to Waldoboro, cars to leave at 5.30 sharp.

The Rebekah meeting tonight will have 6 o'clock circle supper and a rehearsal of the degree staff following lodge work.

There will be relief sewing at the Congregational vestry all day tomorrow, with noon luncheon in charge of Mrs. Henry B. Bird and Mrs. Leo Howard.

The American Legion Auxiliaries of Union, Rockland, Camden and Thomaston are holding a joint installation of officers tonight at Union. Members of the local unit desiring transportation are asked to be at Legion hall at 7 o'clock.

Walter L. Wood of Somerville, Mass., and Charles S. Temple of Medford, Mass., both officers in the Charlestown State Prison, were in the city Saturday enroute to Moose River on a gunning trip of eight days. They were overnight guests of Mr. Wood's sister Mrs. E. J. Macey.

Mrs. T. H. Fernald of South Waldoboro presents the rose editor with two sprays from her Dorothy Perkins rambling, which is still in full bloom. She would like to hear from other owners of this popular climber whose bushes have the habit of blooming twice a year, as hers has done since set out five years ago.

News has been received here of the death in Los Angeles of Everett Chapman, former Rockland man, who for many years was prominent in Massachusetts detective circles. He deceased was a member of Rockland's famous H.M.B. polo team, the only survivor of which is Patrick McCulliffe, an employee of the street department.

The Knox Memorial, Montpelier, has been seized upon by Miss Edna Payson as the background for a highly attractive calendar for 1933. A picture card of the building, prettily colored, is framed in brown leather, paper, on which the calendar pad reposes. It is an artistic piece of work, is now on sale for the holidays and will make a pretty decoration for any home.

One of the headlines in the Chautauqua Festival booked for Rockland Nov. 8-10, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association, is Judge P. G. Bale, who has been with the Ohio Juvenile Courts for several years. Using "The Fiddler and the Fire" as his topic, Judge Bale will bring a vital message on present day problems among the children, drawn from actual experiences as juvenile court judge. He will be heard the opening night.

The W.C.T.U. Institute will open at 10 a. m. Thursday at the First Baptist Church with this program: Devotionals, Miss Florence Hastings; greetings, Mrs. Hope Brewster; solo, Mrs. Lillian Joyce; Welfare work of the D.A.R., Mrs. Ann Snow; open forum, County President Alena Young; echoes from State and National conventions delegates; noon time lunch, tea and coffee served; 2 p. m. devotionals, Miss Mabel Seavey; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Mary P. Rich; remarks by State President Althea G. Quimby; Work of the B.P.W. Mrs. Exxy Perry; silver medal speaking contest, boys from the Junior High. All members, and especially the new members, are asked to attend the sessions. Public invited.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new Spanish Villa ballroom on Tillson avenue and all will be in readiness for the opening Nov. 10.

The Woman's Exchange conducted by Mrs. Vivian Hewett in the store of James F. Carver is meeting with considerable success, particularly the cooked food division, which on Saturday was unusually well patronized. Mrs. Hewett is glad to talk with anyone about the "exchange" idea.

At the meeting of Golden Rod Chapter O.E.S., Friday night, I. Lawton Bray, worthy patron, gave the obligation, with Mrs. Hester Chase, past worthy matron, conducting the examination. Visitors from several chapters were present. Supper was in charge of Mrs. Velma Marsh. The next meeting, Nov. 11, will have Mrs. Grace Rollins as speaker chairman, and there will be an entertainment.

THE RED CROSS FLOUR
A portion of the carload of flour recently received by the Red Cross will be given out to needy applicants in the vacant store in the Masonic building Saturday. Meantime applications may be made to Levi Flint at the automobile registration station, corner of Willow and Union streets.

At "intermission" Friday night Deputy Marshal Fernald notified Patrolman Ingraham that there was a horse or some other kind of an animal roaming the streets at the North-end. Eddie made a diligent search, but no animal could be found. At the police station in the morning, as he was about to depart for home, he heard a commotion outside and there stood the roaming horse—come to give himself up. The equine was placed in the city stable, pending the arrival of the owner.

In the Maine College football series Saturday Maine defeated Cobby 6 to 0, and Bowdoin started the football world by holding the powerful Bates eleven to a 0 to 0 score. Maine is on its way to another championship, having only to defeat Bowdoin next Saturday to make a clean sweep of the series. But that word "only" may prove a stumbling block, as Bowdoin has displayed a whole boxful of surprises this season, and may spring another against Maine—as she so often has in the past.

Rev. F. W. Barton of Tenant's Harbor was elected president of Maine's Christian Endeavor Union at the annual convention in Skowhegan last week. Miss Emily MacDonald of Rockland was elected superintendent of the Quiet Hour and Stewardship department. Among the resolutions adopted the convention went on record in favor of law enforcement and prohibition. The convention closed with an illustrated lecture on the Passion Play by A. J. Shurtle of Boston. The afternoon address was by Rev. H. T. Wright of Dover-Foxcroft.

The stated assembly of King Hiram Council, R.S.M., will be held Friday, opening at 4 p. m. Applications for degrees will be received and all of the degrees conferred at this assembly. All candidates are requested to be present at 3.30 p. m. Arthur H. Landner of Gardiner, R.I., grand master of ceremonies of the Grand Council of Maine will be present for the official inspection of the Council. This assembly will be the last one for work this year. A banquet will be served by Golden Rod Chapter at 6.30 p. m. at 50 cents per plate. The band and patrol will perform their usual stunts.

Among local fans attending the Maine-Cobby game at Orono Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Rogers, Charles C. Wotton, William Glendinning Jr., Col. Basil H. Stinson, E. R. Veazie, A. S. Peterson, Arthur P. Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Munsey, Earl McIntosh, George B. Wood Jr., Fred Black, Butler Parsons, John Flanagan, Dr. and Mrs. William Ellingwood, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pomeroy, Miss Margaret Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sonntag and Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Lovejoy, R. A. Webster, F. A. Winslow, E. C. Moran, Jr., Frank D. Healey, Mrs. Alton Brown, Miss Mary Thomas and Miss Frances Chatto.

A meeting of District 9 of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Ruth Ellingwood, director, takes place Thursday at Megunticook Grange hall, Camden. Luncheon will be served at 12.30 and reservations should be arranged with Mrs. Rule Gross, Mechanic street, Camden, not later than today. A club institute will be conducted by Miss Anna Witherlee, General Federation chairman of club institute work, and Mrs. Gertrude Chittenden, State president, will address the sessions open at 10 a. m. Added features will include a play by the Community Club of Union and a musical program.

Miss Della Parsons, Mrs. George B. Clark and daughter, Mrs. William Vinal, figured in an accident Thursday which barely escaped a fatality. Motoring to Kears Falls to visit Mrs. Clark's other daughter, Mrs. Elton Fairfield, about three miles out of Gray on the Lewiston road, the car skidded when brakes were applied to stop quickly to avoid hitting a pedestrian walking on the wrong side of the road. The car crashed across the road, throwing Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Vinal out, and then turned turtle. Miss Parsons, who was driving, was in some way miraculously uninjured while Mrs. Vinal received bruises and wrenched shoulder and arm. Mrs. Clark's injuries were more severe, resulting in the muscles being torn in the back. She will be confined to her bed for a time. Miss Parsons remained with her until Sunday. Mrs. Annie Aylward is now caring for her.

The annual Universalist fair takes place tomorrow, with the doors opening at 2 p. m. The bi-centennial idea will be reflected in the booths and decorations, and many attractive and useful articles will be offered. Supper, a la carte, will be served from 5 to 7, and those wishing reservations may arrange them by calling Mrs. Lillian McRae, tel. 453-M, prior to tomorrow noon.—adv.

The Bluehill Fair Association has erected new horse stalls at the fair grounds, at an approximate cost of $2000. A year ago they put on an addition to the grandstand. The community appreciates the ways that the association tries to help by giving work to local men. With the able work of Secretary Williams and other officers this fair has grown steadily.

Capt. Francis Saville, First Lieut. Charles G. Hewett, and Second Lieut. Kenneth Mills and Percy Blaisdell of the Coast Artillery, motored to Portland Sunday to witness the football game between the First Corps of Cadets of Boston and the Fifth Infantry at Fort Williams. There were between 4000 and 5000 people on the side lines, and they had the satisfaction of seeing the Fort Williams "Juniators" win with a score of 42-0. A wallop, so to speak.

Mrs. Clara B. Emery is appointed Hoover publicity chairman for Knox County by Mrs. Fred W. Bunker of North Anson, State chairman, who also appointed Mrs. Mary Perry Rich as county chairman. Mrs. Bunker is national vice president for the Hoover Engineers Committee of America. Mrs. Rich also received appointment as county chairman by Mrs. Clyde H. Smith of Skowhegan, State chairman of the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee working for Hoover, whose chances they regard as brightening with every hour.

Thomas H. Chisholm was last night elected president of the new Athletic Association that is to support High School activities. Harold L. Karl was made vice president, W. A. Glover, treasurer and Dr. James Kent, secretary. The high expense and low income from football has caused its discontinuance in many schools and occasioned much discussion in Rockland's case though finally Principal Blaisdell was instructed to proceed with contracts for next season, with Camden, Bath, Belfast, Brunswick, Skowhegan, Brewer and Boothbay Harbor mentioned as opponents. The matter of the Community Park skating rink was presented as a serious financial problem for the school and found enthusiastic support. Principal Blaisdell has administered the project since its inception, with the co-operation of the school, and seeks assistance as the deficit amounts to some $200 annually.

Jesse M. Blackington, former Rockland man, sends a sample ballot for California to be used in the national election. It is 24 inches square, and contains the names of about 130 candidates, in addition to which the poor voter must struggle with 30 questions and propositions submitted to the electors. A 40-page pamphlet was submitted to each voter in order that he might study the questions before going in to mark his crosses. Mr. Blackington, who is a voter in California, has our sympathy—also our thanks for the specimen ballot.

RED CROSS DEPOTS
For Distribution of Farm Products and Clothing Among the Needy

The Red Cross is setting up depots in every Maine county to receive and distribute surplus farm produce, canned goods, or perhaps clothing which may be contributed for the benefit of the needy this winter. The Farm Bureau organizations are appointing one person in each town to make arrangements for persons wishing to contribute. It is suggested that as squash, potatoes, turnip, etc., are carried to market, an extra supply may be left at the depot designated by the Red Cross. Some canned products or extra warm clothing which is not essential for your family's comfort would also be welcomed. Credit will be given through local papers, Farm Bureau News, etc., to persons making contributions. Plans will start today. Extension agents will give information relative to plans for this country. The Red Cross will see that contributions reach the person who most needs it.

Summer-worn oil is DANGEROUS!

SAY "YES"

when the Texaco man reminds you to drain and refill with Crack-proof Texaco

At this time of the year thrifty motorists are draining diluted, summer-worn oil. They realize that expensive repairs are the direct result of careless, improper lubrication. So, for the good of your car, Say "Yes" when the Texaco man reminds you to drain summer-worn oil. Refill with the right grade of "Crack-proof" Texaco—the golden motor oil that flows instantly, freely at zero. You can't find a better heat-proof, frost-proof motor oil anywhere—and you can't buy cheaper car insurance anywhere than to put "Crack-proof" Texaco in your crankcase.

Get Rid of a Bad Headache in Few Minutes

Because of Quick Dissolving Property BAYER ASPIRIN Starts "Taking Hold" 3 or 4 Minutes After Taking

Due to important, scientific developments in the world-famous Bayer laboratories, almost INSTANT relief from headaches, neuralgia and rheumatic pains is being afforded millions.

Because of a unique process in making and tabletting, Genuine Bayer Aspirin is made to dissolve almost INSTANTLY in the stomach. Hence it starts to work almost instantly. And thus "takes hold" of the average pain or headache in as little as three or four minutes after taking. The fastest, safe relief, it is said, ever known for pain.

Remember, it is Genuine Bayer Aspirin which provides this unique, quick-acting property. So be sure you get the Real Article—GENUINE BAYER Aspirin when you buy. Naturally you want the fastest, possible relief—and that's the way to get it.

To identify the genuine, see that any box or bottle of aspirin you buy is clearly marked "Genuine Bayer Aspirin." And that any tablet you take is stamped clearly with the name "Bayer" in the form of a cross. Remember—Genuine Bayer Aspirin cannot harm the heart.

NO TABLETS ARE GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN WITHOUT THIS CROSS

White Line, Inc., Gives A Superior Type Of Transportation Service—"Fast But Safe And Ever Courteous" Is Watchword

One of the comfortable sedans operated by the White Line, Inc., between Rockland, Augusta and Lewiston.

When one thinks of comfortable, adequate cross country transportation one's thoughts naturally turn to the fine modern cars of the White Line Inc. This company always keeps new, perfectly conditioned cars on its routes and overlooks no item leading to the safety and comfort of its passengers.

"The White Line" as it is affectionately termed by its patrons, has earned its splendid reputation by years of consistent, satisfactory, dependable service. One thinks of the White Line cars as running regularly and as positively as the sun and this dependability has come to be accepted as a pleasant matter of course.

The word busses is a misnomer when applied to the White Line transportation for its machines are Cadillac, Pierce Arrow and Master Buicks and not busses at all. These splendid cars glide smoothly and comfortably between cities guided by specially trained, licensed operators whose every thought is for their passengers. Every courtesy and travel assistance is cheerfully given all passengers at all times and no effort or expense is spared by the White Line Inc., to secure that most desirable combination, a safe, sure, fast transportation service at a reasonable price.

The headquarters in this city are located at Hotel Rockland and The Thorndike where the cars stop every trip and where one way and round trip tickets may be obtained. Daily trips are made at 7.50 and noon out of Rockland for Lewiston, Augusta and Waterville connecting with Bangor, Boston, New York and Providence. The cross country run to Lewiston is one of great beauty and every foot of the way is over improved highways with additional work rapidly being done all along the line.

The running time is ideal for Knox County folk who wish to spend some hours in Augusta, Waterville or Lewiston. The morning trip out of this city is made at 7.50 which allows for arrival at destination in early or mid forenoon allowing the full day free for the cars leave Augusta for Rockland at 7.15 p. m. The second trip out of Rockland is at noon which still leaves several hours in Central Maine before the return. The "White Line" has come to be an institution and is viewed with well deserved regard.

THE BUSY GRANGERS

Some Interesting News Items Gathered By National Publicity Bureau

"The Grange that does not earnestly strive to improve the community in which it is located is not a real Grange."—National Master Louis J. Taber.

It is estimated that fifty Grange halls are now in process of construction throughout the country, either as entirely new projects or remodeling of other buildings for Grange use.

A statement issued by the United States Bureau of Public Roads shows that the highway departments of the 48 states expended $979,592,000 for highway purposes during the year 1931. The highway revenues of the states during the same period were $1,092,837,000. The sum of $640,795,000 was derived from taxation of motor vehicles and gasoline, together with bridge tolls.

According to the United States Bureau of Education, 23.5 per cent of all teachers of one-room schools in the country as a whole are 20 years of age or younger. About 2 per cent of the teachers in one-room schools are not yet 16 years old.

Granges in Pennsylvania have inaugurated the custom of bringing together at some central Grange hall all their candidates for initiation and then making a big night of the degree conferring. Crowds of several hundred Patrons are thus brought enthusiastically together.

Seldom has a higher tribute been paid to the Grange than that recently voiced by President Hoover, who thus keenly analyzed the place it holds in present-day American life: "The National Grange makes a significant and many-sided contribution to our national life. While service to Agriculture is its chief aim, its influence on home life, the encouragement of youth to clean and useful living, and the inculcation of respect for law and order among its thousands of members, constitute a public service of the greatest importance."

"The Grange not only aids in realizing the conception of a rich and rounded rural life, but helps to build into our national fibre the ideals of sound citizenship and patriotic service. It is clearly one of the most salutary forces in American life."

Paul Bestor, commissioner of the Federal Farm Loan Board, is authority for the statement that ac-

NO BANG DISEASE

U. of M. Dairy Herd Free From It—Comment By Prof. Howe W. Hall

The University of Maine dairy herd comprising 150 Ayrshire, Guernsey, Holstein, and Jersey cattle has been certified as free from bang disease, commonly known as infectious abortion, according to Howe W. Hall, assistant professor of animal industry, who has received official notification from H. M. Tucker, Chief, Division of Animal Industry, Augusta.

Only seven other herds in Maine have been accredited to date. Commenting on the test, Prof. Hall said: "The State of Maine has always taken the lead in guarding the health of their livestock and was the second state in the United States to become accredited for tuberculosis, and the University has had a Federal Accredited herd for a great many years. "The disease known as bang disease, and usually called among cattlemen 'infectious abortion', has been in the herds of Maine for many years."

"A great deal of money has been spent for so-called cures because the nature of the disease is such that oftentimes the symptoms of the disease cease and the owner naturally thinks he has hit the right cure and so advertises it to his neighbors. There is no known cure for the disease, but on account of recent developments in testing for the disease and by action taken by the Maine Livestock Breeders' Association, the State Department of Agriculture has taken definite steps toward the control and eradication of this disease by approving regulations for the establishment and maintenance of Bang Disease Free Accredited herds of cattle.

"A bang disease free accredited herd is one in which no evidence of bang disease was found in three blood tests and a certificate is issued to the

Coal for the Millinocket Mill

The accompanying picture shows a number of carloads of coal at the Millinocket Mill of the Great Northern Paper Company.

This mill receives more than five thousand tons of coal each month, which means about 200 carloads, or five trainloads of forty cars each. About twenty thousand tons of coal may be seen under the trestles, in readiness for the cold winter season.

The question has been asked: "Why is so much coal needed for a mill with 44,000 horsepower on its water wheels?" That is a fair question, and entitled to a fair answer. In the first place, a large amount of steam is used in the seven digesters at the Millinocket Mill, for cooking wood into Sulphite Pulp. And by "large amount," we mean that quantity of steam produced from the evaporation of 430 tons of water each twenty-four hours.

Another large quantity of steam is used for drying paper on eleven paper machines. To give some idea of the meaning of this problem, you must imagine how much steam is required to vaporize fifty tons of water, each twenty-four hours, for each paper machine—that is, 550 tons of water every day—and put this vapor out of doors. If the temperature in the Machine Room happens to be 85 degrees above zero, and the temperature outside 25 degrees below zero, the load is very great.

Friend (gazing aloft)—"Aren't you worried when you see your husband looping the loop?"

Aviator's Wife—"Oh, no. You see I remove all his loose change from his pockets before he goes up."

All of this coal travels about 1300 miles, from the mines in West Virginia, to Millinocket, Maine. The GREAT NORTHERN PAPER COMPANY management regrets that coal is one thing not produced in Maine.—(Adv.)

Rockland Harmonica Band
Cut Good-Sized Figure In Junior Day Exercises

About 40 members of the Rockland Harmonica Band, accompanied by its director, Mrs. Ruth E. Sanborn and other adults, journeyed to Lewiston Saturday to participate in the Junior Day activities of the State Federation of Music Clubs.

Their first appearance was at the noon luncheon at the Universalist Church where they played a few selections during that hour. By special request they were a part of the afternoon program in the Moulton Auditorium of Edward Little High School, presenting groups—old favorites, popular airs of the day, and better class music. Little Doty Havener entranced ears and eyes when she played "Home Sweet Home." Roland Robishaw, also a diminutive youngster, played "Old Black Joe," while his brother, George, gallily played "Happy Days" with the band joining in the chorus.

Mrs. Sanborn briefly explained the chromatic group which gave "Blue Danube Waltzes," the solo parts being taken by Maria Ludwick and Ernest Johnson. In the better type music Ernest played Moszkowski's "Serenade," as a solo. Mrs. Sanborn's intelligent directing and instruction were reflected in the splendid manner in which the youngsters played and conducted themselves generally. They won compliments from all sides, and came home a happy group eager for better work than ever.

Mrs. Wilbur Messer made the trip to Lewiston especially to hear the Harmonica Band and showed her approval by presenting two boxes of candy to the children. Members of the band, all under 14, who made the trip, were:

Myron and William Cummings, Henry Dodge, Marian Ludwick, Jack Huke, Dicky Marsh, Grant Davis, Kathleen Chase, Jean Palmer, Stanley Murray, Edith Gray, Billy Bicknell, Hector McDonald, Ethelyn Harvey, Dicky Brown, Doris Freeman, Melissa Bostwick, Donald Chaplin, Elmer, Mary and Doty Havener, James Wentworth, George and Roland Robishaw, Frances and Hester Hatch, Norma Frost, Marian and Dudley Harvey, Alice Barton, Lolita Knight, Herbert Wood, Dicky Fisher, Robert Saunders, Ernest Johnson, Fred Blackman, Winfred Stanley, Madeline Philbrick, Anna Taylor, John Knight, Norma Philbrick.

The adults who accompanied the children in addition to Mrs. Sanborn were: Mr. and Mrs. Grover Knight, Mrs. A. J. Murray, Mrs. C. Alton Palmer, Mrs. George B. Davis, Mrs. Levi Flint, Mrs. Fred Knight, Mrs. Tibbetts, Mrs. Donald Cummings, Mrs. Earle Ludwick, Mrs. Rhama Philbrick, Mrs. Marguerite Johnson, Mrs. Harry Chase, Miss Vivian Chaplin, Howard Chase, Albert Dodge, John Moulaison, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Havener and Ross Weymouth.

Plans are now in the making for costumes for the Harmonica Band.

PARTRIDGE MAKES HIT

Second District Congressman Has Been On the Stump In Two States

Congressman Donald B. Partridge of Norway has returned from a speaking tour in New Jersey and Pennsylvania where he addressed three large rallies in the interests of the Republican party, and will resume this work in New Jersey and Connecticut next week. He addresses women voters in Rumford Tuesday night.

The first of the recent out-of-State speeches was at Hoboken, N. J., Oct. 13, where he addressed a gathering of 2000 people. After this he rushed to Jersey City where he addressed a large audience in Masonic Temple.

Returning to headquarters in New York the National committee decided to send Congressman Partridge, as principal speaker, to Williamsport, Penn., for a meeting held Monday evening. This meeting was attended by voters of nine counties. On the platform with Congressman Partridge were Sen. Davis and candidates for State office. These speeches were broadcast through Pennsylvania and amplified throughout the large lobby of Lycoming hotel.

Congressman Partridge left Wednesday for Riverton, N. J., where he is scheduled to speak the following day. He is also scheduled to speak at Williamstown, Conn., Oct. 31, at Bordentown, N. J., Nov. 2 and at Winsted, Conn., Nov. 3.

A telegram was received from Republican National headquarters, Friday, urging Cong. Partridge to accept an invitation to be the principal speaker at a closing rally of the campaign in Gettysburg, Penn. He has accepted this invitation.

Col. John Q. Tilson, head of the Republican speakers' bureau, plans to use Congressman Partridge as a campaign speaker in other important centers up to election.

THE THREE X SISTERS

The Columbia Stations Receive Many Letters Guessing At Their Identity

Hundreds of letters have been received by the Columbia radio stations offering guesses as to the identity of the 3-X Sisters on the "Tyde Jubilee" program, and asking for confirmation. So great has been the curiosity about these new stars of the radio, who appear each Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening 7:30 - 7:45 p.m. E.S.T. over the Eastern Columbia network, that it has been necessary to exclude all visitors from the studio for a period preceding, during and succeeding each broadcast. The only information which has leaked out is the fact that these mysterious girls recently scored a brilliant success in London at the Kit Kat Club and at other old world capitals.

The 3-X Sisters in the half dozen programs already broadcast, have sung, wise-cracked, impersonated and imitated their way into the hearts of the radio audience. No dialect is beyond them and there seems to be no limit to their versatility. Harry Von Zell is master of ceremonies for the unique trio, Miss X, Miss 2-X and Miss 3-X.

MOOSE NUMEROUS

Up In Washington They Constitute a Menace To the Motorist

From the woods of Washington comes this wild and woolly tale. Speeding along the recently completed stretch of highway Route 101 late Wednesday evening Arthur Getchell of Augusta saw two hulks dash down a hillside into the road. He jammed his brakes, swerved—but it was too late. There was a thud, followed by the sound of crumpling fenders and breaking glass and one of the huge forms toppled lifeless into the road. The other galloped into the woods.

Hurrying to the injured animal Mr. Getchell found a large bull moose breathing its last. A deep wound lay open on its chest close to the heart. The moose died in less than one minute.

Other automobiles arrived and examined the kill. Deputy Game Warden W. S. Foster of Cooper's Mills was notified and he came down to cart the body away.

Looking at his wrecked automobile, Mr. Getchell realized it was only a twist of luck that he did not share the moose's fate, much less suffer minor injuries. Two mudguards and a door crumpled, the windshield shattered and both headlights turned skyward.

Neighboring farmers who heard of the accident report that moose are so thick in the woods about Washington that they are becoming a menace. They prowl about farmyards and come up to the doors where they eat produce. Many residents are afraid to go out at night unprotected.—Kennebec Journal.

RANDALL CLINE'S QUESTION

Summarizing His Review of Wet and Dry Situation In National Political Field

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

The merits of prohibition have been both affirmed and denied, and discussed at length from various angles. Intelligent and thoughtful people who have followed these discussions carefully, should by this time have reached some definite conclusions.

The opportunity will soon be here to make those conclusions effective in the coming election. Some confusion exists however among the supporters of prohibition as to the best way to vote to secure the results desired. Therefore a survey of the situation confronting us, and how in my opinion the cause can best be served, may not be amiss.

The widespread agitation and vociferous demands for a reconsideration of prohibition make it likely that the question must eventually be submitted to the people for a decision. But this is no time for the consideration of such a question which calls for sober and intelligent thought undisturbed by such problems as confront the nation today. The dire need of millions of unemployed renders many people unable to think clearly or act unselfishly. If the advocates of repeal had the welfare of the country as truly at heart as they claim, they would have delayed until the more urgent needs of the people had been met.

Some people insist that both parties are for repeal and therefore it will make no difference how we vote. That is a superficial decision.

The party platforms should be considered according as they are supported and interpreted by the candidates for office individually and collectively. Ardent and conscientious drys—and there are such in both parties—will act according to their convictions, regardless of party platforms, unless they have definitely pledged themselves otherwise. And the dripping wets, of which there are also some in both parties, can be depended upon to support repeal, as they have in the past. Between these two extremes, a more or less neutral group is found, lacking convictions, swayed by political expediency, the influence of their leaders, or the demands of their constituents.

Now here is the real difference between the platform planks of the two principal parties.

The Democratic plank pledges its candidates to advocate and vote for repeal; and any Democratic Congressman must repudiate his party's plank if he votes against repeal, while the Republican plank permits its candidates to run as either wets or drys, and binds them to no specific action in Congress.

A Democratic candidate for Congress then may be assumed to stand definitely for repeal, unless he specifically pledges himself otherwise.

When we consider the candidates for the Presidency, we are confronted by a different situation. We must remember that the President has no direct power at all in the matter of changing the constitution. His sole power is that of his influence, but that may sometimes be very great indeed.

We know that President Hoover is dry, a consistent, life-long foe of the liquor traffic. His record has been established beyond question. Any concession he may make toward any change in the present law we know very well is not because of any friendly feeling toward liquor. Therefore we know that should a wet majority in Congress submit a repeal amendment to the States, but the States refuse to ratify it, we could depend upon him to enforce the present law.

The very opposite is true of Franklin Roosevelt. He has been opposed to prohibition since he first entered public life. His advocacy of repeal has been the one definite and unmistakable point in his whole campaign. I have listened carefully to nearly all of his broadcasts, and have read his statements, given out from time to time, but I fail to find more than a very few subjects treated in an unmistakable manner. We must concede his ability to use language in such a way that it can be construed to mean almost anything (or nothing) according to the wishes of his hearers. Take the question of the cash bonus, for instance. When, after remaining absolutely silent for several months on this important subject, he is at last forced to make some statement, he avoids the issue by referring to what he said six months ago. "I do not see how," is the key to that utterance.

He may never be able to "see how," or he may get a new vision at any time. Another bonus army might hold a torch for him, and in the light of political expediency, he can change it to: "I can see how!"

But upon the prohibition problem he cannot be accused of a like indecision. He stands four-square (in wet territory) for outright repeal of the 18th amendment, without any substitute; and pending that, as complete nullification as possible by the modification of the Volstead law and the legalization of beer, etc.

The high point of his speech here in St. Louis last week was his promise to secure the immediate legalization of beer.

Can any intelligent citizen who has the welfare of our country at heart, consistently vote for such a candidate and such a program?

A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for repeal, and will be so interpreted by that uncertain neutral group in Congress to which we have referred.

Our Lord said: "What man is there of you, if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone?"

And shall a man be elected President, who, when the people ask for bread, replies by promising them beer?

God forbid!

"UNFAIR," THEY SAY

Cement Industry and Electric Light Bulbs Meet English and Japanese Menace

Unfair competition from Great Britain has developed a serious menace to the American portland cement industry, while the sale of cheap electric light bulbs of Japanese manufacture threatens the domestic industry with extinction, according to evidence placed before F. X. Eble, customs commissioner.

In both cases, evidence showed the foreign produce is being delivered to the United States at a price lower than American production costs. In the New York metropolitan area, including Newark and surrounding territory, the British cement producers are capturing the business and have forced American mills to sell at less than production costs. British cement soon will be going into structures, public and private unemployment, according to witnesses.

Japanese competition already destroyed the domestic market for American manufacturers of Christmas tree electric bulbs, sold in this country at a cost less than that of the materials which go into the American product, evidence showed. The Japanese have now started to exploit the large bulb market with 5-cent lamps.

Both the cement and domestic electric light bulb manufacturers made a plea for anti-dumping orders.

Immediate ruling by the secretary of the treasury that there is a suspicion of dumping, and requirement that bonds be required on imports of all of these products were asked, pending final action by the treasury

THEY DEMAND HEALTH

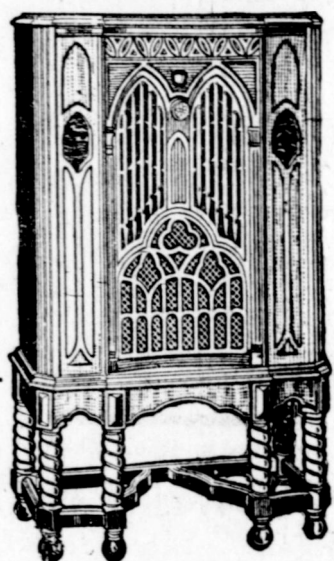

What Miss Spaulding, Clothing Specialist, Says About the New Styles

New styles demand health in the wearer, believes Helen Spaulding, clothing specialist for the Extension Service, who says: "The moulded slim-skirted silhouette of the moment requires the vigor, the vitality, and grace that belong to perfect health. It offers no disguises to blurred, sagging lines, and it is frankly hard on tired, ill and overweight persons. Obviously, there are many such persons, who must, in the nature of things, accommodate themselves to the mode, and since overcomin' these conditions requires time, if it is indeed possible, it follows that they will search for means to simulate the desired appearance."

"The alert designers of foundation garments have produced the means. The turn of fashion is meaning a new lease of life to them. Their offerings will conform the reluctant flesh to a semblance of the fashionable figure. Some of the best of these garments are positively helpful in that they give support to weak muscles without undue restraint. They help the muscle to regain its normal tone by supporting it in the correct position without fatigue. It must be said that the garments which perform this function most successfully are usually expensive."

"Some of the worst of these foundation garments hold the body in the accepted mold, but rob it of all possible grace and buoyancy by confining rather than supporting the muscles."

Commissioner Eble promised to expedite action.

SEVEN MORE PRIZES

WIN THE THRIFT CLUB

THIS IS YOUR CHANCE TO WIN TWO PRIZES
IN THE CLUB

WIN THEM THIS WEEK AND NEXT

EVERYONE STARTS EVEN FOR THESE

Here is your opportunity to win TWO Prizes in this THRIFT CLUB of The Rockland Courier-Gazette. Seven special prizes have just been added to the list of prizes to be given away. These seven prizes, as listed on this page, will be given the seven people who turn in the MOST MONEY ON SUBSCRIPTIONS, this week and next. Either old or new subscriptions count on these special prizes. Everyone starts even for these seven special prizes. Past records have no bearing on these specials. They are for the seven best records this week and next. The winning of one of these specials will have no bearing whatsoever, on the winning of the regular prizes at the close of the Thrift Club on the 19th of the month. These prizes are just an added bit of sunshine. An afterthought, if you will. Note the difference in the manner of winning these specials and the winning of the regulars. The regulars are won on the most counts secured during the entire Club. The specials on the most money turned in on both old and new subscriptions this week and next. Curtain falls at Eight o'clock next weekend on these specials.
