PICKET BOATS DROPPED

White Head One Of Ten Stations
To Lose One Under Official Orders

Ten Coast Guard picket boats will be dropped in the First United States Coast Guard district at once, according to official announcement.

The dropping of the boats, which have been used principally to check rum running off the New England coast, will also result in the discharge of 30 men in the Coast Guard service in this district.

It is planned to assemble the boats at Base 7, Gloucester, whence they go soon to the Coast Guard depot at Baltimore.

Among the stations listed to lose a picket boat is White Head.

THOMASTON BANK ON UP GRADE

Total Stock Subscription This Morning Shows That Success
Will Soon Crown the Work of the Canvassers

The good news is flashed this morning that the total subscriptions to the stock of the Thomaston bank stand at $125,940.

Thomaston extends its congratulations to its good friends and neighbors, Rockland and Camden. The news that these two towns had gone over the top in raising new capital for their banks was received with admiration and enthusiasm, and a belief that, with the Thomaston National Bank well on the way, the sun is soon going to shine again for the people of Knox County.

And we're coming! says Thomaston. Every day the figures climb, and while we well know we are on the last steep miles of the long hill, the good-will of our people and yesterday's developments fills us with confidence that we shall make the grade—perhaps even with a brilliant finish. This little old bank has been running pretty well and pretty continuously since 1925, and we don't propose to put up the shutters just because the weather has been a bit rough lately. And now for the bit of news that renews our faith that the good in human nature rarely or never deserts us in the hour of need.

Yesterday afternoon a worthy citizen of Union, a former director in the old Thomaston National Bank, sent in his subscription for 150 shares of common stock. This was joyfully received as a proof of his confidence and faith in our institution's future; but when it became known that this was purchased as a gift to his native and beloved town of Union, the act will be appreciated and appraised at its full worth by all who read.

ANOTHER MAKES GOOD

Rev. Kenneth H. Cassens,
Rockland Boy, Wins His
Spurs in the Ministry

Another Rockland boy who is giving a good account of himself is Kenneth H. Cassens, whose preparatory activities were directed toward the ministry. After graduation from Colby in 1928, followed by graduation from Eastern Seminary, Philadelphia in 1932, the young man last June took over the pastorate of the Lubec Baptist Church. There are four churches of this denomination in the Lubec region, and these the young pastor supplies in rotation. For a quarter of a century the churches had been without a settled pastor. Restoration of interest in religious work was the problem facing the young but ambitious pastor. The construction of these founda-

Rev. Kenneth H. Cassens has added 34 to Lubec Church roll in the first year of his first pastorate tions was actively gone at, which saw a speedy restoration of church going in the communities and a visible awakening of religious interest.

Something of the results of these activities was disclosed at the recent Easter time, following a series of special services in the "Dixie" community and culminating in 29 additions to the church. If the measure of a pastor's success is exhibited by the frequency with which the ordinance of baptism is administered, then Rev. Mr. Cassens has much evidence of things well done, for on Easter Sunday his baptisms at Dixie numbered 13, the first time that church had witnessed the ordinance in 19 years. His total baptisms in the field show 34 added to church rolls, with five more candidates to be added to this list the coming Sabbath.

It is probable that no church in Maine can show in the past year a larger increase in new membership. Mr. Cassens has developed a spirit of cooperative helpfulness on the part of the people, and in particular has the Lubec Herald given him the friendly support of its columns.

Mr. Cassens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Carl Cassens of 152 Camden street, and a member of the First Baptist Church of this city. He was married in Sept. 1928, to Bertha Sherrard of Sidney, Me.

Mrs. Cassens is an active associate of her husband in all his work, occupying the pulpit when he is on another part of the field, conducting prayer meetings and supporting him in every department of religious and social work. She also is a graduate of Eastern Seminary.

CONSERVATOR OTIS' REPORT

On the Security Trust Co. Made Yesterday In Presence Of Chief Justice Pattangall—Three Methods Suggested

"In the words of George Washington's farewell address I advise you to 'avoid foreign entanglements.'"

This was the advice conveyed yesterday by Chief Justice William R. Pattangall of the Maine Supreme Court, after listening carefully to the report of Ensign Otis conservator of the Security Trust Company, and the spokesmen of the depositors who are seeking a reorganization of the bank.

"Any plan for reopening," said Chief Justice Pattangall, "must embrace the fundamental proposition that the structure will be sound. A short time ago we were living in blissful ignorance that all banks were not sound. During my experience with some of the leading banks I have met with some surprises and some shocks. Reorganization or new bank—they are alike in principle. I want to be of assistance in getting sound banking facilities. A city situated as Rockland is should have two commercial banks. Thus far I have seen nothing that should cause criticism of those who have been in charge."

"Some of the banks appear to be under the penalty of having been adopted into a family made up of men who are not residents, and treated as stepchildren rather than legitimate children, with some of their inheritance possibly dissipated."

Diverging from the immediate subject for a moment, Chief Justice Pattangall touched upon the matter of savings banks. These, he explained, are absolutely owned by the depositors whereas in commercial banks the profits go to the stockholders, and not all of the losses should go to the depositors.

The report of Conservator Otis, which appears on this page, in full, was interesting not only as to the financial status of the bank, but the suggested possibilities as to its future. Briefly, there are three courses, as outlined by Mr. Otis.

One is the obvious and possible course of definitely abandoning of further efforts to continue a banking institution and proceeding to a full slow liquidation of all assets for the benefit of the depositors, a plan which would have few advocates the conservator said.

Plan No. 2 is for reorganization under the present charter which would involve the writing off of all deposits over and above the quick assets—"a new and practically untried device," objections to which were pointed out by the conservator.

Plan No. 3 calls for an entirely new trust company, which would start with clean and adequate capital—$100,000 capital and $50,000 surplus, with a suggested orderly liquidation of assets.

State Bank Commissioner Cooper presented several petitions, one of which was for a stockholders' assessment of 100 percent. Another called for the appointment of a special master to hear claims, and was followed by the appointment of Edward C. Payson.

J. H. Montgomery, speaking for the depositors' committee, said that a sub-committee had been appointed and asked for a continuance in order that it might study the conservator's report—a request which Chief Justice Pattangall declared to be perfectly proper.

"We hope to make our report very early," said Mr. Montgomery. Elisha W. Pike, chairman of the depositors' committee told of the important position which the Security Trust Company has filled in this community, with its 7000 depositors and $2,800,000 in deposits.

"It is almost the unanimous opinion," he said, "that the bank be reorganized. We feel that a feasible plan can be presented."

Judge Pike did not quite agree with Conservator Otis that a new bank would yield better returns for the depositors, citing the improved condition of the bond market; the proposed government guarantee for depositors; and the prospects of borrowing from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

A meeting for the depositors will be called at the committee's convenience.

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust.—Psalm 18:2.

AMONG THE BANKS

The community interest in the local banking situation, this morning, addresses itself in particular to the National bank in Thomaston and the hearing held yesterday by Chief Justice Pattangall in the affairs of the Security Trust Co. The news that the Thomaston situation waits only upon a remaining subscription of some $24,000, gives assurance that the loyalty of the people, allied with the earnest and unselfish labor of the committees, is soon to bring that situation to the point of gratifying success. The report of Ensign Otis, conservator in the matter of the Security Trust, is herewith printed in full, for the careful consideration of that portion of the public whose interest is associated with the institution and who eagerly await the forward action which shall restore it to its sphere of usefulness in the community. All of which lies hopefully in the situation which is to see complete restoration of a sound banking condition in Knox County and the gradual return of prosperous times.

INCREASING THE CROP

Heaven knows that cases of drunken driving before our local courts are plentiful enough now. What shall we do with 'em when beer is being legally sold all over Knox County? One way to guard against the already too apparent evil is to keep Maine on the water wagon.

A FRIENDLY CALL

Turning into the little-traveled branch road that carries one over the summit of Bear Hill, you encounter at the top of it the famous Packard farm—famous because its cultivated acres for a matter of two centuries have been under ownership of the one family whose name it bears, and will continue to bear for generations to come. What more natural than that you should stop to shake hands with your old-time friend Jason Packard, the present owner, who with his wife enjoys the comfort of the modern luxuries which have been grafted upon the rural home, while their son Karl and his capable wife administer the many exacting activities of this well-conducted farm. Jason confesses to years that number 88, while Mrs. Packard, in her 95th year, is proud to show the seventy-six patchwork quilts which her skill and taste have lately brought to completion. A fine couple, of the genuine old New England stock, the sort you will still come upon here and there among the rural homes of Knox County, hospitable, old-fashioned folk, who retain the traditions of earlier times, when life here flowed in simpler channels, and whom you part from with a feeling that you have touched in with an atmosphere of things which it were better for all of us could they be brought back again.

A MODEL NEWSPAPER

Our thanks to the reading room committee of the local Christian Science Church, who have made of us a complimentary subscriber to the daily paper published by that society, the reading of which, upon those gracious terms, we are to enjoy during the six ensuing calendar months. Every editor of a publication which desires to remain alive in its served community necessarily finds himself in contact with many contemporary newspapers, of whose pages he takes daily cognizance and by that process endeavors to keep himself in step with the passing show. He is not insensible to the merits of those vehicles of news gathered out of the world's four quarters; but alas how frequently he puts them down, benumbed by the ballyhoo, by the public scramble for the exclamatory type exploding its message from the first page; by the lengthy columns exploiting matters of no general interest or public concern. Crime, sports, the gangster, beer, with kindred topics emphasized beyond their importance in the daily scheme of things. So that a practiced reader lays down his copy of the Christian Science Monitor, after a reading of its filled columns, with the feeling that he has been told the news of the world, in brief but with comprehension, by a narrator who has laid it before him with that courtesy of speech which characterizes the gentleman.

BIRD IS PRESIDENT

Local Attorney Now Heads the Rotary Club—A Legislative Session

Alan L. Bird was elected president of Rockland Rotary Club at yesterday's meeting. He will have associated with him during the ensuing year John M. Richardson as vice president, Louis A. Walker as secretary and Alan F. McAlary as treasurer. The retiring president Charles W. Sheldon, L. A. Thurston and Edwin L. Brown were added to the board of directors.

In recognition of the approach of Memorial Day a delegation of G.A.R. members were honor guests, including Col. F. S. Philbrick, Capt. H. R. Huntley of Rockland, Orville Brown and Samuel Rankin of West Rockport and Enoch Anderson of Belfast. The silver haired veterans were given a royal welcome as introduced by "Uncle Fernando," and Louis A. Walker presented the club's tribute. Songs of the Civil War period and of today were led by Dr. Bickford and the irrepressible Doc Webber of Belfast.

The principal speaker was Dr. Neil A. Fogg, lately representative from this city in the 86th legislature, and he told in a paper replete with gems of wisdom and dry humor his experiences as a neophyte in politics. It was early evident to the hearers that Dr. Fogg had kept eyes and ears alert to all legislative doings. He took occasion to pay tribute to the political acumen of Raymond E. Thurston and spoke strongly in behalf of a State sales tax which he feels will have passage either in special session or early in the 87th legislature. His experiences as presiding officer of the House occasioned many chuckles.

Representative Adelbert Smith of Vinalhaven was invited to speak and gave an interesting comment on the lobster angle of the recent session which claimed his primary interest. Having heard from the three representatives the meeting moved into the Senate and received an enlightening commentary on the local banking situation from Senator McLoon who is making an intensive study of the existing problem. A lively open forum testified to the interest in the subject. It is worthy of note that in the heat of argument a keen listener caught the wily gentleman from Knox in a slip which lightened the senatorial banter by two bits, amid much laughter.

Visiting Rotarians were Ralph Thomas and Dr. Webber of Belfast, and I. R. Cutler from Old Town. Guests in addition to the veterans included Representative Smith and E. G. Carver of Vinalhaven, and Peter A. Isaacson of Lewiston.

RATING OF ASSETS

The following classification of assets of the Company is comprised in the report of Appraisers, based upon market reports as to the values of stocks and bonds, whether owned or held by the Company as collateral security; and upon a close and detailed study and analysis of each individual loan, whether time or demand, secured or unsecured.

Deposits for Distribution,	$2,524,577 02	$302,423 61 $2,827,000 63

The foregoing analysis indicates beyond any reasonable doubt the very material depletion of the capital assets of the Company, and thus automatically raises the question of possible recovery from stockholders' liability. In a petition filed herewith the Conservator asks for a decree authorizing the enforcement of stockholders' double liability by levy of a 100% assessment upon all stockholders of the Security Trust Company. In view of the fact that a majority of the stock, 692 shares of the 1,000 total, is owned by Fidelity Trust Company of Portland, itself under conservatorship; and as recovery of assessments against other substantial holdings of stock is problematical, no attempt is here made to estimate the probable net recovery from this source. With this item eliminated from calculations, and no account being made of possible recovery from appreciation of security values or possible realization upon items rated as doubtful or worthless, it may be calculated that an orderly and slow liquidation of assets might be expected to return something like 73% to savings depositors and 20% to commercial depositors. It must be understood, however, that this estimate is formed without consideration of the elements mentioned above or several other contingent factors.

"PLANS"

Several general "plans" of procedure have been informally proposed, and it seems appropriate that these be outlined briefly here as a part of the general situation to be considered.

First, there is the obvious and possible course, of definitely abandoning further effort to continue any banking institution and proceeding to a full, slow liquidation of all assets for the benefit of the depositors. While this might eventually work out to a very fair net return to depositors, I believe the plan would find few advocates. It would entail serious hardship for the business of the community and deprive it of the banking facilities to which it has been accustomed. This course, unfortunate and unpopular as it would undoubtedly be, must be considered as a possibility unless some plan to reorganize or replace the present bank can be devised and supported by depositors and other interested parties with reasonable unanimity.

Second, there is under consideration a plan for reorganization of the Security Trust Company, under its present charter, under the terms of the so-called Emergency Bank Act as enacted by the 86th Legislature, 1933. This plan would involve a write-off of all deposits over and above the value of the quick assets; allocation of these quick assets pro rata over the deposits, observing the distinction between savings and commercial deposits as provided in the segregation statutes; giving to each depositor a certificate of indebtedness for the balance of his claim; enforcement of the stockholders' double liability by officers of the bank; and the issue of enough new stock to rebuild the capital structure.

This plan of reorganization is a new and practically untried device, and the conservator has not as yet seen the possibility of applying the terms of the Emergency Act to the present situation. If it can be shown to be practicable, the Conservator will, of course, co-operate to the fullest extent to bring it about. He wishes, however, to point out what appear to him to be serious objections to it.

(a). Time of accomplishment. It appears from the phrasing of the Act in question, that no figure could be arrived at upon which to base the "scaling down" of deposits until the amount realized from assessment of stockholders' liability had been conclusively fixed, not by estimate, but by actual collection. Nor could this allocation of assets be determined until every question of liability had been determined by a Master and his report accepted by the Court without appeal. It is difficult to see how the procedure could be expedited sufficiently to insure reopening of the bank within any reasonable time.

(b). Release of deposits. The Act provides that, after the assets have been so allocated, and the percentage of deposits credited pro rata, these "released" deposits are payable to the depositor, not absolutely and at once, but "in such amounts and at such times as the Court directs." In other words, the deposit cannot be certainly and freely drawn upon, even in its greatly reduced amount. It is not clear that partial release of deposits upon such uncertain terms would add greatly to the depositor's feeling of confidence or give him any material freedom in making his business plans.

(c). The stock issue. As the terms of the Emergency Act definitely subordinate the rights of the new stockholders to the claims of the holders of certificates of indebtedness, to an amount (in this specific case) several times in excess of the total capitalization; and as these certificates must be paid off in full with compound interest before any stockholder can participate in the earnings; the Conservator does not believe that it would be practical to place the new stock that would have to be sold, if the prospective buyers fully understood the liabilities and disabilities this stock would be burdened with.

(d). Operation of reorganized bank. Even if the bank could be so reorganized in any reasonable time, and the impaired capital replaced, still the bank would have to continue to operate under what would amount to a receivership for all the time it was getting the mass of certificates of indebtedness cleaned up. Every decision of its officers and directors would have to be made, and every decision arrived at, subject to review, approval and decree of the Court. It may be conceivable, but hardly believable, that any officers or directors would be found who would be willing to assume their duties under these conditions. In addition, the loss of prestige and confidence in a bank so operating would be a handicap, the seriousness of which could hardly be overestimated.

Third, it has been suggested that the Security Trust Company be replaced, and its banking functions carried on, by an entirely new trust company. Such a company could be organized quickly and economically; it would start business with clean and adequate capital ($100,000 capital and $50,000 surplus has been suggested); and it would inherit none of the problems or complications inherent in the old bank. This new bank would take over at once all sound assets of the Security Trust Company, and would place to the credit of depositors, at once and without any restrictions or reservations whatever, an equivalent amount of deposits.

Slow, doubtful and poor assets of the old bank would then be liquidated in a slow, orderly manner, and as fast as any substantial liquidation was effected the resulting funds would be, released, unrestricted and free, to the depositors, pro rata.

The organization of the new bank would provide the needed banking facilities to the communities served, and, in the Conservator's opinion, would enable the depositors to realize a much larger percentage of their present deposits eventually. The plan involves no complicated and expensive borrowings, payment of interest on preferred stock nor loans from Reconstruction Finance Corporation or any similar source. Unless there are aspects of the case which have wholly escaped his attention, the Conservator wishes to give his full and considered approval to the new bank project.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, the Conservator has to report that, to keep depositors informed and to establish the fullest degree of co-operation between him and the depositors whose interests he has to protect, he called a general meeting in Rockland on May 16. This meeting was well attended, and it was the almost unanimous opinion that the bank should be neither abandoned nor consolidated. In response to the Conservator's suggestion, a general committee was appointed to represent the depositors, and this original committee has since increased its membership to include representatives from every town in the county. This committee is invited to study and analyze the situation in the light of this report and its substantiating figures, and is assured that the fullest weight will be given to its well considered decisions and wishes.

As time is the essential factor, both from the standpoint of business in general and the best protection of the rights of depositors, it is cordially hoped that, with the guidance and suggestions of the Court, the depositors may soon find it possible to unite upon a plan which will best serve to bring about a resumption of normal banking activities in Knox County and begin at once the active and united work that will bring this plan to a quick and successful culmination.

Respectfully submitted,

ENSGN OTIS,

Conservator of Security Trust Company.

A MORAN CLAUSE

Finds Its Way Into Steagall Banking Bill—Conference With Glass

The Steagall banking bill as passed by the House of Representatives, included the provision suggested by Representative Moran, requiring banks to divorce themselves from insurance affiliates as well as from securities affiliates.

Meanwhile Senator Glass, author of the nearly identical bill before the Senate, asked Moran to confer with him on his proposal with a view to including it in his bill.

The section added to the Steagall bill prohibits any bank or any employee of a bank whose deposits are guaranteed in any respect by the bill to act directly or indirectly as an agent or broker for any insurance business. It imposes a penalty of $1000 fine or one year's imprisonment, or both, upon a violation.

Representative Moran urged the divorce of banks from insurance affiliates on the ground that banking judgment on loans "is frequently affected by the fact that large insurance commissions are available if the loan is granted."

"It would also end the coercion of insurance premiums through the power of credit," he argued. "I firm-

SOUNDS MUCH BETTER

Encouraging improvement in the finances of the Maine Central Railroad is shown in the figures of that road for April. A deficit of $29,858 in net income is shown. This compares however with a deficit of $45,587 in April 1932, despite the fact that revenues of the Maine Central in April this year were $242,734 less than in the same month of last year. For the first four months this year, the Maine Central has a deficit of $231,381 which is $41,098 less than in the comparable period of 1932 when revenues of the road were greater by $843,827.

Saunders Cabins reopen Sunday for the season.

WEATHER
Showers this morning are drenching the apple blossoms which the warm sunshine of the past few days has brought out in such profusion. Yesterday noon temperature was 72; this morning at 8 o'clock, 48, wind east. The rain is greatly needed following a prolonged period of dry weather. There is some prospect of clearing tomorrow.

Sunshine Society meets Monday afternoon.

There will be no meeting of the Forty Club next week because of the holiday.

The county high school track meet scheduled for today at Knox Trotting Park is postponed until Monday at 1.30.

William Ellingwood Jr. who recently underwent a minor car operation at Colby College arrives home today to recuperate.

Jay Oliver, for 15 years employed at Jack Green's, has opened a confectionery and tobacco store in the shop formerly occupied by Fred Tripp.

The Rockland and Thomaston Twilight League teams will play an exhibition game at Community Park on the afternoon of Memorial Day at 4 o'clock.

Among the pledges recently initiated by the Maine Masque at the University of Maine were Almon Cooper of Rockland and Miss Lee Ingerson of Vinalhaven.

The Maine Letter Carriers hold their annual convention in Hallowell tomorrow. The guest speaker will be President Douglass of the New York branch. There will be a banquet at the Marston House from 4 to 6 p. m.

The Holman Memorial Chapel, Ingraham Hill, will be open Sunday at 2.30 for the benefit of children's Sunday school. The young people from Littlefield Memorial Church of Rockland will furnish the program. Everybody welcome.

An interesting feature of the meeting of the Rockland Lions Club was the report of last week's district convention in Bangor, presented by President-elect Albert Elliot. The Lions are to meet with Secretary Brunberg at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to discuss what may prove to be a new regime.

High honors, signifying an average of 90 per cent or more, have been won at Hebron Academy by Lawrence Robbins of Union. It is an extremely backward season when some Knox County boy or girl does not win some distinction at the seats of higher education.

Willard Philbrook, Alexander Beggs and Valois Young of Vinalhaven, enroute to Fort Williams, where they will be assigned to the reforestation camp, were callers at The Courier-Gazette office yesterday, and inspected the plant with much interest. They expect to be away six months.

We read about conflagrations, but get little conception of their real meaning unless we have actually seen them. The Lewiston Journal says that pieces of burned shingles and other relics from the New Auburn fire were found in the town of Lisbon Falls, ten miles distant. North Haven folks are doubtless able to add some interesting experiences.

Poultry field days are scheduled for several counties next month, the one for Knox and Lincoln to be held June 16. Demonstrating a burglar alarm system, getting more summer eggs, and showing new methods of poultry housing are among the features of the field meetings. Speakers will be Dr. J. F. Witter, animal pathologist for the College of Agriculture, and H. L. Richardson, extension poultry specialist.

Lyford Ames has moved from the Adams house on Broadway to an apartment on Talbot avenue.

The senior choir of St. Peter's Church is to present two sparkling comedies at the Undercroft Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, under the direction of Miss Margaret Buttmore. One will be "A Village Sewing Circle" and the other "A Day Off at the Old Ladies' Home." The activity is open to the public at a small admission fee.

The annual children's party of Edwin Libby Relief Corps Thursday brought out 54 youngsters. A program provided recitations by Richard and Arthur St. Clair, Angelina d'Agostino whose selection was "Flanders Field." Charles Huntley, Louise and Margaret Huntley; an instrumental trio by Dudley Harvie, violin, Marian Harvie, piano, and Eleanor Harper, trumpet; piano solos by Barbara Murray and Frances Marsh; trumpet trio by Dudley and Marian Harvie and Eleanor Harper; violin solo, Ruth Harper, and a charming flag drill by 13 girls. There was also chorus singing of patriotic songs. Mrs. Nellie Higgins as chairman was assisted by Mrs. Veima Marsh, refreshments, and other Corps members. Members are asked to meet at G.A.R. hall Sunday morning at 10 to attend services at Methodist Church.

The high point of excellency to which Principal Blaisdell has brought Rockland High School has been demonstrated in the district and State finals of the recent University of Maine scholarship tests. In the district finals, these results are known: Senior test, Richard Britt 4th, Walter Stanley 5th; sophomore English, Gertrude Heal, 3rd, Emma Harding, 6th; Freshman Latin, Edward Hayes, 1st, Marion Watts, 4th, Ralph Tyler, 5th, and Frances Young, 6th; Junior English, Norman Stanley, 1st, Nathalie Jones, 2nd; Freshman English, Edward Hayes, 3rd, Mildred Smith, 9th. In the State finals; freshman Latin, Edward Hayes, 2nd, 70 competing; Junior English, Norman Stanley, 3rd, Nathalie Jones, 4th, 78 competing; sophomore English, Gertrude Heal, 5th, 88 competing; freshman English, Edward Hayes, 9th, 78 competing. These tests are given all over the State, those entering the finals drawn from the district tests, so only the highest ranking students enter the finals. The above results are distinctly gratifying.

The Boy's Glee Club of Junior High School presented for the assembly Wednesday a delightful operetta "The Pirates of the Good Ship School", directed by Miss Elizabeth Hager, departmental teacher of music. With the aid of black and highly colored kerchiefs, gay sashes, and few eye patches, the boys were transformed into formidable pirates, who despite their forbidding appearance set forth the advantages of school and putting to rout all dissenters. Lawrence Crockett and Albert Huntley sang solo parts in a pleasing manner and the chorus work was splendidly done. In addition to the operetta several chorus numbers were given acceptably. Kenneth Morgan, president of the Glee Club, presided as chairman. Other members of the club are Clarence Peterson, Albert Huntley, Arnold Wright, Fred Haining, Lawrence Crockett, Reginald McLaughlin, Russell Nash, Richard McLaughlin, Gordon Richardson, David Curtis, Richard Marsh, Richard Harden, Adelbert Newbert, Ernest Johnson, Robert Saunders, Wesley Knight, Robert Crane, William Cross, Charles Dorgan, Ernest DeMasse, Charles Toner, Roy Brown, Earl Sukeforth, Roy Joyce, Otis Drake and Donald Marjiner.

Jay Oliver, employed 15 years at Jack Green's corner, has gone into business himself in the former Fred Tripp shop. All welcome.—adv.

Raymond A. Grady of Bangor was elected State deputy at the annual convention of the Maine Knights of Columbus in Augusta Tuesday. Among the resolutions adopted was one making the work of the coming year the raising of $10,000 to aid the Bishop in the support of the five Catholic hospitals in the State.

The recent feat of Al Middleton, the Vinalhaven pitcher who struck out 25 men in a recent game at the island brought deserved fame to this brilliant boxman, but did not constitute a Knox County record, as some have claimed. In 1901 Walter (Jack) Frost struck out 26 Rockport High players in a nine-inning game, a dropped third strike giving that team its only run.

One of the charming groups of children to be in the operetta "The Forest Court" to be presented by the P.T.A. for its milk fund on June 1-2 at the High School auditorium will be the Sweet Peas, Lucy Thompson, Nellie Raskid, Naomi Rackliffe, Jeanette Saunders, Louise Seavey, Shirley Firth, Barbara Bloom and Mary Snow. In the group under the name of "Children" have been Janice Farnham, Stanley Murray, George Wood, Doris Gatti and Richard Brown. Dorothy Peterson has been added to the cast of Fairies, and William East is taking the part of the First Owl in place of Herbert Ellingwood who recently underwent an injury to his foot so that he will be unable to participate in the operetta, and Elwood Hewett is taking William's place in the Owl group. The Rhythm Band of Purchase Street school, comprising 35 members, will present numbers between acts. Tickets are already moving well, and the committee in charge reminds parents to pass the good word along to friends so that a full house may be assured both nights. A splendid cause—milk next winter for undernourished and needy children.

At the annual meeting of the Congregational Woman's Association Wednesday, these officers were named: President, Mrs. Walter S. Rounds; vice president, Mrs. A. J. Murray; secretary, Mrs. David Beach; treasurer, Miss Dorothy Snow; finance committee, Mrs. H. B. Fales, Mrs. G. A. Lawrence and Mrs. Henry B. Bird; circle suppers, Mrs. John I. Snow, Mrs. Henry B. IN THE CHURCHES

SERMONETTE

Lights Along the Shore
The lighthouse lifts its massive masonry.
A pillar of fire by night, of cloud by day.
—Longfellow.

The fierce gales with which these coasts were visited during the recent autumn and winter, brought grave danger to the sailors and oftentimes to those whose duty it is to serve them.

The numerous lighthouse and life saving stations are enlisted in the same cause, a humane service centuries old. It always causes regret to read the notices, posted in our custom houses and postoffices, that announce the discontinuance of some light-ship and the substitution of a gas buoy. Many times these changes in old familiar beacons are brought about through the mistaken zeal of some congressman or senator, for so-called economy, who never found himself in peril on the sea.

Many mariners regret the abolition of the twin lights at Thatcher's, Cape Elizabeth and other points. Even when a more powerful light is substituted, it does not accomplish the primary purpose, which was for safety of those on the ocean. These lights were distinctive and when seen were never mistaken.

Could you imagine anyone wishing to change the, one—four—three, flash of Minot's, constantly flashing to the sailor, "I—love—you!"
Economy should never be carried so far that a single light once established shall ever fail. Goethe's last words were "More light." William A. Holman.

At the morning service at the Congregational Church tomorrow the subject of Mr. Rounds' sermon will be "Christ's Standard of Judgment." The Sunday school will meet at noon.

At First Church of Christ, Scientist, corner of Cedar and Brewster streets, Sunday services are at 10.30 and the subject of the Lesson-Sermon tomorrow will be "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism. Denounced." Sunday school is at 11.45. Wednesday evening testimony meeting is at 7.30. The reading room is located at 400 Main street, and is open week days from 2 until 5 p. m.

Pastor Perry's subject at the Sunday morning service at Littlefield Memorial Church will be "Investments that never depreciate." The choir will sing the anthem "When our journey here is over," Von Berge, and Mrs. Lina Barter will sing a solo. Junior church will meet at 10.30 with Olive Bragg as superintendent and Bible school at 11.45. The B.Y.P.U. will hold their service at 2.30 at Ingraham Hill chapel instead of 6.30 at the church. The pastor will speak. "The devil in the churches" will be Mr. Perry's Sunday evening subject. The junior choir will sing. Friday evening's Bible study will be at the home of Earl Randall.

At the Pratt Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow Memorial Sunday will be observed. The Grand Army of the Republic and other patriotic bodies will attend the service at 10.30, when Rev. Charles E. Brooks, the pastor, will speak on "The price of freedom." The vested choir will sing as an anthem "O for a thousand tongues to sing." Wooler; and Mrs. Marianne Bullard will sing as a solo "The unknown soldier." O'Hara. The church school will meet at the noon hour. The Epworth League service will be combined with evening worship at 7.15, and Rev. L. R. Craig of Bucksport will be the guest speaker. The midweek service of Christian fellowship will be held on Tuesday evening at 7.15.

A message for Memorial Sunday will be given at the First Baptist Church Sunday morning. The choir will sing "Come unto me," Heyser. Gerald Margeson will sign "When the world forgets." Ackley. The church school will meet at the noon hour and the Christian Endeavor meeting will be held at 6 o'clock. The people's evening service will open with the big sing, assisted by the organ and piano. Mr. McDonald will give his seventh

HE WASN'T BASHFUL

But Was Too Busy To Answer Fool Questions—One On Bert Blodgett

Bert Blodgett tells a good story at his own expense. Riding through the country the other day his attention was attracted to a bright looking youngster. "How are you today, my son?" he asked.
No reply.
"I believe you're a little bit bashful, aren't you?"
This time the boy turned, and addressing his interrogator said:
"Say, mister, I ain't bashful, but if I answered every darned fool question that is put to me I wouldn't get nothing done."

And so Bert drove on, concluding that he wouldn't hinder the wheels of progress.

What complications were created at Chisholm's Spa when Ray accidentally set the clock ahead an hour he will probably be glad to relate to all friendly inquirers.

CONCERNING FEDERAL LOANS

Senator White Describes Method By Which the Maine Farmers May Obtain Them

Instructions for obtaining mortgages on Maine farm land under the new farm mortgage bill have been mailed to Maine farm organizations and newspapers by Senator Wallace H. White, Jr. of that State.

The bulletin instructs those Maine farmers who wish loans secured by a first mortgage on their farms to apply to the secretary-treasurer of a National Farm Loan Association operating in the county in which he lives. No applications should be sent to Washington.

Those holders of a first mortgage on Maine farm land who wish to exchange their mortgages for Federal farm loan bonds should communicate directly with the Federal Land Bank of Springfield, which may exchange Federal farm loan bonds for first mortgages on farm lands executed prior to May 12, 1933, on a basis not to exceed the unpaid principal of the mortgage on the date of the exchange or 50 per cent of the normal value of the land mortgaged and 20 per cent of the value of the permanent, insured improvements thereon, as determined by a land bank appraiser, whichever is the smaller.

The bonds so exchanged will bear interest at a rate not in excess of 4 per cent per annum and such interest (but not the principal of the bonds) is guaranteed by the Federal Government. The bank may also purchase with such funds as may be in its possession any such mortgages under the same conditions.

If the Maine farmer's existing mortgage is determined upon appraisal to be in excess of 50 per cent of the normal value of the land and 20 per cent of the value of the permanent, insured improvements thereon he and his mortgage holder must agree to compromise the mortgage to an amount acceptable to the bank and not in excess of the limits mentioned above. It is understood that it is entirely optional with the present mortgage holder whether he will make such a deal with the mortgagee or with the land bank.

If the deal is consummated between the mortgage holder and the land bank, the farmer who is indebted on the mortgage will be entitled to have his mortgage refinanced in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Farm Loan Act on a long term amortization plan on the basis of the amount paid by the bank for the mortgage.

Sumner B. Archer was a weekend guest of friends in Washington.

One large millinery establishment now has a lounge for the use of its customers. The idea is to provide them with a place where they can rest for a few minutes while the fashion changes. — The Humorist (London).

OUR JUNIOR PUZZLE

BREAD AND MILK

"Here is some brown bread and some milk," says Ned. "I know he will like it. He likes it better than tomatoes, too." If you want to see what Ned is talking about, take a pencil and join all the numbered dots together, starting with dot number one and ending with dot number forty-nine. Ned says he found his strange pet in their garden last summer.

VINALHAVEN

All patriotic orders will attend Union Church Sunday. The pastor, Rev. N. F. Atwood, will preach an appropriate sermon and there will be special music, with Mrs. Elliott Hall organist. The American Legion and Auxiliary will have charge of the evening meeting.

There was a large attendance at the Alumni bridge party in the G.A.R. rooms Tuesday evening. Honors in bridge went to Mrs. Fred K. Coombs and Meredith Trefrey; in 63 to Mrs. Myra Dyer and Mrs. Rebecca Arey.

Miss Gertrude Vinal was hostess to the Two O'clock Club Tuesday.

These events are scheduled in connection with the annual commencement of Vinalhaven High School June 11: Baccalaureate sermon at Union Church, June 15; commencement exercises in Memorial hall; June 30, alumni banquet at Union Church vestry, served by the church circle.

When returning from Boston recently A. B. Vinal, having a few hours in Rockland before taking the plane for Vinalhaven, called on his cousin, Mrs. Mary Wicher Tolman, aged 90, whom he had not seen for 72 years, though being but 12 miles apart. Although then but a boy of eight years and she a girl of 18, the recognition was mutual. They planned to meet again soon. Mr. Vinal also called on a former resident of Vinalhaven, Mrs. Rebecca Hunt, of East Barrington, N. H.

There will be a dance in Memorial hall tonight with music by the Merry Midnighters.

Memorial Day will be observed by the usual decorating of graves and monuments of comrades by Gettysburg Camp No. 13, Sons of Veterans, with the assistance of comrades and other attendant and patriotic orders.

Column will form in front of Memorial hall at 1:30 p. m. in the following order: L. B. Dyer, marshal; Vinalhaven Band, J. W. Kittredge, director; Lafayette Carver Post No. 45, W. S. Vinal, commander; World War Veterans, H. L. Coombs commander; Gettysburg Camp, S. of V. H. L. Arey commander; school children in charge of teachers. They will march to John Carver cemetery, thence to waterfront at Smith's Point, to scatter flowers on the water in memory of naval comrades, under direction of Joseph Headley, World War veteran; thence to G.A.R. hall and break ranks. The memorial address will be given in Memorial hall at 7:30, Rev. N. F. Atwood speaker.

The community was saddened to learn of the illness of the veteran town clerk, Hon. Owen P. Lyons. His niece, Mrs. Mary Daniels, arrived by plane Thursday and another niece Miss Teresa McKenna, R. N., is expected today.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Morrison were overnight guests Sunday of friends in Waterville.

Mrs. Fanny Morrison was a Waterville visitor Monday.

Mrs. Fred Crossman is in very poor health.

Friends of Mrs. Bernard Nichols, formerly of this place, were shocked to hear of her sudden death which occurred at her home in Pittsfield.

Clyde Mitchell has employment in Thomaston. Lewis Skinner is also away working on a highway job.

GUARDIANS OF OUR COAST

What our lightkeepers and coast guardsmen are doing to protect coastwise shipping by day and by night. The day's news from many lonely outposts along Maine's waterfront.

Matineus Rock

Once again this station will try to get in the lighthouse news. We surely enjoy this wonderful weather we are having. More than that, we enjoy the telephone which has been out of order two months or more. The cable boat was here May 18 and repaired it.

We have seen more ships go by here in the past week, than in the past year. A large tramp steamer, three or four three-masted schooners and one square rigger, and lobster smacks. Guess at that rate we shall need a few lights left. Mr. Thompson, the additional keeper, is still with us. He hopes he will stay, as he likes it here and it is near home, as Matineus Island is his home.

It is interesting to read about the Matineus mail, what "Observer" had to say, then the "Matineus resident." The writer quite agrees with the latter—what good is a story without an author. Too bad Capt. Ames lost the bid. He was a good mail carrier. We are interested in these different views, as our mail comes to Matineus, including some very important mail from the superintendent of the first district. We feel that the new mail carrier will be o.k. and do all he can and what his contract calls for. Someone has to lose, some time. Even our presidents are defeated. So it is a good policy to live and let live, and an old saying is, every knock is a boost. If you can't say a good word for a man, say nothing.

We are setting hens. Hope we have as good luck as the keepers on Egg Rock. We are always glad to hear from Nash Island. The medricks have landed here by the thousands. We would like to hear from Additional Keeper Singer and the Mrs. Best regards to all along the coast.

Libby Island

Jasper Channey and Gleason Colberth were in Libby Thursday of last week calling on Mr. Channey's family for a few hours.

Irwin Wass spent the weekend ashore. Most of the day Saturday he and his brother Philmore worked on the grounds of their new home in Machias, and Sunday they attended the L. D. S. conference in Jonesport. They reported fine music and sermons, and a full house at each service. The church has a seating capacity of about 500.

Mrs. Gleason Colberth and sons Hollis and Welton were calling on friends in Bucks Harbor recently.

Mrs. Hervey Wass and son spent the weekend here with her husband. Had fine weather for both trips.

Gleason Colberth Jr. and brother Julian spent the weekend here with their parents.

Mrs. Jasper Channey, sons Forest and Roland, and friends Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mahar of Lubec spent the day here Sunday. Mr. Channey went to Starboard for them in the morning and took them back in the afternoon. A smooth sea and light wind made the day favorable for the trip and they all reported a good time.

Friday night last week proved to be an unlucky one for the little song-birds. When the men went to work Saturday morning around the tower they found many of them dead and wounded. One bird seemed to be a stranger here, as none of us had ever seen one like him. We referred to our bird guide and found it to be a rose-breasted grosbeak. He was a beautiful bird nearly as large as a robin, with a black head, black and white wings and tail and a white and rose colored breast. His home is in northern Canada and he winters in Central America.

Great Duck Island

Rev. Mr. Guphill of the Sunbeam called on us recently, and his visit was enjoyed by all.

Miss Myrtle Faulkingham is working for her sister Mrs. William Lockhart.

Mr. Crosby has been at the station repairing the telephone.

Mrs. Frank Faulkingham and daughter Lucille have returned to Baker Island Light after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. William Lockhart.

Keeper and Mrs. Kennedy expect to try out their new Oldsmobile soon. The chickens are coming now, and it seems as though all keepers of other stations are having as good luck as we are.

Two Bush Island

F. C. Batty and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Mann and daughter June were Rockland callers Saturday.

The French patrol boat passed recently, going east.

Keeper Leland Mann, D. L. Mann and Sam Batty were at Friendship recently and purchased 30 chicks of Albion Wotton. Mr. Wotton has a fine display of Barred Rock chickens.

D. L. Mann and Sam Batty were out hand-lining Friday and came in with one cod. During the winter months the draggers at the south-west of the island are dragging up all of the spawn fish. The writer thinks our next legislature ought to take some action on this matter.

Portland Head

W. C. Dow was guest of R. T. Sterling Monday.

Willard Hilt went to a ball game at Cape Elizabeth Wednesday with Robert Sterling Jr. Robert was one of the players. He didn't shout much when he came home, but the boys are hardly in trim—give them time and we will have to stuff cotton in our ears when they return.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Hilt and Mrs. Sterling motored to Redstone, N. H., Sunday, calling on Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Robinson. Mr. Robinson is in ill health but goes out for a walk every fine day and some days he goes for a ride.

A cheerful reminder in the Tuesday issue of our Courier-Gazette from J. A. Tolman—he tells us Memorial Day, 1884, there occurred a snowstorm. As we near that memorable day may our eyes open to bright sunlight and this year when so much is at stake in the consideration of disarmament may we not concentrate and feel, as evening closes in around us we have not spent the day in vain. May there be no more wars, and may we never forget our brave that fought in all our wars.

Mrs. Hilt and Mrs. Sterling attended regular meeting of Good Times Club Wednesday, all members present. Mrs. Marian Soule, hostess, entertained in her usual quiet charming way. Before the party ended a social hour in song was much enjoyed, singing old and new songs from Seth Parker's song book. Accompanists at the piano were Mrs. Hilt and Mrs. Dow.

Chang, the pup belonging to Robert Sterling Jr., met with a mishap Wednesday when he tried to catch a fish hook dangling from a fish pole held by one of the Fort soldiers returning from fishing off the rocks. The hook caught in the little fellow's lip and had to be pushed away through the skin. The end of hook was then cut off and the rest pulled out—quite an exciting time. We are glad to state the pup is doing fine and so far hasn't lost a meal.

WHITE HEAD

Mrs. Wilson Garter and son were guests of Wilson Carter, B.M. 2d class, at the station one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Faulkingham of the coast guard are on a ten-day leave of absence at their home in Jonesport.

Miss Helen Meserve of Spruce Head has employment at Mrs. G. L. Alley's at the light.

The blaze and smoke at Vinalhaven presented a weird sight on the eastern sky last Saturday night. The light from the Ellsworth fire also was seen by the coast guard man on watch in the lookout during the night of the conflagration.

The workmen at the light are hustling the work on the new fog whistle right along and it is expected to be in commission around June 1.

Freeman Beal, B.M. 1st class and L. B. Beal, M.M.M. 1st class, left Wednesday of last week with the picket boat from the coast guard station for Portsmouth and Baltimore. This winds up the career of this little boat, which did many a good deed for island residents throughout the county while stationed here.

Mrs. Clyde Grant spent last week-end at her cottage here.

Mrs. H. W. Andrews of Norton's Island and Mrs. J. W. Kelley were recently callers on Mrs. Edward Hopkins in South Thomaston.

Robert Williams of the coast guard returned Sunday from the rifle range at Camp Curtis Guild, Wakefield, Mass. and Clifford Ellwell has spent this week there.

Keeper A. J. Beal of the light received a wire May 15 calling him to Jonesport, as his mother Mrs. Edwin Beal had suffered a serious illness. Mrs. Beal was unconscious on his arrival and died the following morning. Mrs. A. J. Beal left that afternoon for Jonesport. The seven children of the deceased were all at the funeral of their mother, coming from various States, and besides the sons and daughters she leaves 17 grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Keeper and Mrs. Beal arrived home last Saturday. Much sympathy is extended them in their loss by their friends here.

THE HENDRICKS HEAD LIGHT

One Of the Coast Beacons To Be Blown Out, But It Ought Not To Be

[Among the "Guardians of Our Coast" none has taken greater interest in giving the news of his Station than Charles L. Knight, keeper of the Hendrick's Head Light at West Southport, one of the stations on the coast which Uncle Sam from motives of economy has marked for extinction. Today's contribution by Keeper Knight contains so much of general interest that it is given the formality of a special heading, that it may perhaps attract attention of an even larger company of readers than generally turn to this special feature—and that is to indicate a large number indeed.—Editor]

The keeper is continuing his search for suitable quarters if he get through here next month. There is a bill now in Congress, understood to have already passed the House, which will permit employees to retire on three-quarters pay (that is, it would be three-quarters of base pay to light keepers, no allowance being made for quarters or fuel), and if this passes, as is expected, he will have recourse to that. He is looking for a small farm, preferably back a little from the salt water—for having put in so many of our years close to the Atlantic ocean there is a desire on our part to try it further back for a time; but not too far back. But he doesn't want to buy a farm at first; rather, to rent it. Then he will find out how he likes before being loaded down with the property.

There seems to be a sincere and deep rooted objection in this section to the rendering of this station automatic. Originally, it is understood, this light was to serve as a guide to craft bound to and from Wiscasset. Nowadays there are practically none. However, Southport has developed as a summer resort, as has Five Islands and McMahon's Island. Thus the summer craft make use of the bell. Then Hendricks Harbor and Five Islands are still fishing ports. It is nothing unusual, in the fishing season, to count 20 craft on the grounds out here, most of which hail from Coscy (Hendricks) Harbor, Five Islands, or points in Ebenezer Harbor, etc. In case of fog these depend on the bell to get in—especially into Coscy Harbor, since a mean reef makes off this point, and Five Islands. Then the reservation and light have become a kind of park for the whole section to summer folks.

So much of the shore hereabouts has been taken up by well-to-do summer people that save at this point, where the view is exceptionally good, there seems practically nowhere non-property owners can get close to the water without trespassing. Thus each year some thousands motor down here, a considerable number of whom go through the light. (Many who come simply onto the reservation may be classed as "repeaters;" that is, they had already been through the light, so go through again only in intervals of a few years.) The summer people, especially those with cottages or short lots for sale, fear a bell buoy; while if it is set so far out as not to interfere with these, the fishermen, opposed to such substitution anyway, believe it will do them no good whatsoever. And of course light keepers don't like to see any stations discontinued—especially their own. The off-shore keeper ever looks forward to becoming an inshore keeper; otherwise he and family are out of the world, so to speak, for life, and seeing so many of the inshore stations going can't be pleasant to these.

Finally, Hendricks Head Light Station has a great history—it being the light involved in the story and drama known as Uncle Terry, with the "White Horse Legend," on which the bark is supposed to have struck, directly off this point. The keeper generally points out this spot to visitors, all of whom seem deeply interested. But there is quite naturally a doubt on the part of some as to whether the tale is based on fact or pure fiction. As the keeper wasn't here at the time he can't vouch for the fact, but parties in whom he has placed absolute reliance have informed him that they have had the story for fact from "old timers;" one fine old lady claiming she knew it to be true the baby washed ashore in a mattress, well bound up, because a relative of hers was the keeper at the time. So the keeper has always opined this was true; at least much of the story.

In the interests of the Auburn fire victims a dance and social was given at the town hall Tuesday evening by the senior division of the local 4-H Club. This was well attended, and a small amount of money realized.

On Saturday the 20th, we were pleased to receive a visit for the weekend from the keeper's two cousins, Miss Edith Knight of Bangor, and Miss Annie Knight of Damariscotta.

This weekend we are expecting a visit from Mrs. Knight's brother, Will Cleaves and his family, from Peaks Island. Will is a pretty good horse shoe player, and on his visits some close games are enjoyed. He defeated the keeper four games to three on his last visit. It is expected that there will be seven in the party.

A FAREWELL TO MAINE
[For The Courier-Gazette]
Even though I leave you now,
You'll always be the same;
I loved you mid the frost and snow,
I loved you when it rained.

Alas, dim shadows fall once more,
I leave the mainland rugged shore,
And go to a land quite far away—
I only wished that I might stay!

So, you children, of dear old Maine,
Never wish to leave your home again.
For when the time arrives to go,
You'll find as I do now, I know,
I only wished that I might stay!

BIG FIVE LEAGUE

The Season Has Opened With Seven Teams Sure of the Pennant

Wednesday's results: South Thomaston 7, Rockport 6; Rockville 7, Pirates 6; Snipers 8, Battery F 8.

Sunday's Games

Rockport vs. Pirates, at Rockland. Clark Island vs. Battery F, at Thomaston. Snipers vs. Rockville at Rockville.

The League Opens

The Big Five League opened its third consecutive season Tuesday when two newcomers, Snipers and Battery F of Thomaston, played an 8-8 tie game at Thomaston. The other towns got under way the following night when South Thomaston and Rockville both won their games by the same score, 7-6.

There are four new teams in the league this year — the Snipers of Rockland, Battery F of Thomaston, Rockport and Clark Island. With the three standbys, South Thomaston, Rockville and Pirates, this makes a seven-team league. The schedule this season consists of 24 games. Each team plays every other team four games.

South Thomaston needs only one more winning team and it can keep the cup, as under the league rules, the first team to win three times is the owner thereof. According to pre-season dope, seven teams are going to have that cup in September. And according to Hoyle six of them are going to be disappointed.

Rockville 7, Pirates 6

Rockville defeated the Pirates in the Big Five League opener at Community Park Wednesday night 7 to 6. Matson and Perry both pitched nice ball, but Matson received errorless support, while two of the winner's runs were booted in. Rockville overcame a four run lead in the fifth and took a 7 to 4 lead in the sixth. The Pirates rallied again in the last inning but fell one run short of a tie when Teague made a nice scoop of Wink's grounder for a forecourt to end the game. Henry Gardner and Al Starr turned in nice fielding games, while Teague led both teams at bat with two singles and a double out of four. The score:

THE WIND

[For The Courier-Gazette]

The merry wind is playing

Around the trees still bare,

I cannot really see her

Though certain she is there.

Sometimes I'm sure she's angry

With a calmness so serene,

When in all her glory sweeps

Over the bending grasses green.

Sometimes I'm sure she's angry

For I've heard her noisy yowls,

When in all her glory sweeps

Over the bending grasses green.

BLUES WERE LOSERS

But Their Baraca Class Supper Wednesday Night Was A Victory

Baraca Class of the Methodist church has been conducting an attendance contest for the past 10 weeks between the Blues, with Mrs. Shirley Rollins as captain; and the Reds with Henry deRochemont as captain. The Blues were losers, and treated the winners to a supper, Wednesday great enthusiasm being manifested by all contestants, regardless of rivalry.

Mrs. Rollins acted as supper chairman, her efficiency convincing everyone that it was well that the Blues lost. Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Brooks and Mrs. Brooks' mother, Mrs. Gammon, were given a hearty welcome, Mr. Brooks having just come to the pastorate from Rumford. Other special guests were Rev. and Mrs. Albert F. Luce of Camden and Miss Ernestine Nodding of Augusta.

The absence of Mrs. William Ellingwood, class teacher, due to illness, was deeply regretted. A letter from her, replete with the charm and wisdom she has infused into her teaching, was heard with much appreciation, and to remember Mrs. Ellingwood's birthday falling on Thursday she was given a festive cake and a card shower.

A happy feature after the supper hour was a miscellaneous shower given Capt. and Mrs. Elmore Strout, recently married. The gifts, prettily wrapped, were placed in a gaily trimmed box, and presented by two little girls gown to match the box trimmings—June Cratto and Ruth Witham. June made the presentation speech which was an original verse. A brief business meeting and a social hour rounded out the evening.

Francis Gilbert of Utica, N. Y. has arrived in town for the summer and is occupying one of the Chatfield cottages on Russell avenue.

Church Night was observed Thursday evening at the Baptist Church with a large number of parish members present. At 6:30 a baked bean supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Rhodes. At the business session which followed, Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Currier were chosen delegates to the State Convention at Lewiston, June 20-22. Plans were also discussed for the Every Member Canvass which will start in the near future for raising money for the regular church expenses of ensuing year. It was also decided to hold the Community Church School, beginning June 12 and to continue for two weeks. It will be open to the children of both churches and the enrollment this year is expected to exceed all previous records. The treasurer's report showed the church in a very satisfactory financial condition.

STRAND THEATRE

"Sailor's Luck," with James Dunn and Sally Eilers comes for Monday and Tuesday.

"Sailor's Luck" probably leans more to comedy than any previous team picture of the well-known screen pair. The story concerns a bunch of "gobs" on shore-leave and their romantic adventures while "dame-chasing." The action takes the sailors everywhere from a hilarious comedy scene in a swimming pool to a battering gang fight in a marathon dance hall. Entwined throughout is the tender romance of Dunn and Eilers—adv.

At The High School (By the Pupils)

The terrific noise which signified the falling of the centuries-old elm tree which stood behind Rockland High School heralded the fall of a mighty monarch. As long as boys and girls have been going to school there it has always been a distinguishing figure and in falling it left a place which will never be filled.—Edward Ladd.

Several students have written articles commenting on this event just mentioned. We quote those of Stanley Gay, Edward Ladd and Tony Accardi:

Gee, Bill, I wonder how old it can be? Older by far than you or me. Its trunk is so big and round and old. Think of the stories it must have told. To the birds that have nested in its branches high Way up there near the sky.

..... Tony Accardi.

"Cre-e-e-ak! Whe-e-e-e! Crash! With these unearthly noises, a patriarch of the elm family sank into oblivion. The scene was laid in the back yard of the Rockland High School, and had as spectators a number of teachers, students and workmen. At the close of school some of the more ambitious of the students set out to count the rings, telling how old the tree was. After all had compared counts, it was estimated that the tree was 230 years old. Later, a bit of inquiring was done and it was learned that some of the oldest inhabitants of Rockland remember the tree as being as large and compelling as it was at the time of slaughter. In the earlier days, the old tree sheltered noblemen of the forest no doubt. It is our wholehearted wish that the now-gone grandfather, be used for a worthwhile purpose as it was in the days of old."—Stanley Gay.

Chief Pettee and His Men
Share Honors With C.A.C.
Volunteers

Words of hearty appreciation are certainly due Fire Chief W. S. Pettee who was in charge of the volunteers from Rockland, who assisted at North Haven, during the recent fire. The good judgment he displayed in handling the situation, his qualities of leadership, and his faithfulness in staying on the job are all worthy of mention.

Leaving Rockland at midnight Saturday, he arrived at North Haven at 2.30, starting off immediately with Foy W. Brown for an inspection of the burning area, and a conference with the Vinalhaven chief. On his return, before 7 o'clock, after a hasty breakfast, he ordered the Sophia and the fire fighting apparatus across the Reach to the vicinity of the fire, where, until 10 o'clock, he directed operations, with only a hastily eaten sandwich for lunch, leading his men, and doing his share of the heavy work of dragging several thousand feet of hose over the rough shore. After supper, he remained on watch, snatching only a two hour nap, seated in a chair, after a heavy shower had somewhat deadened the fire.

At dawn Monday he was up and at it again, for another hard day of similar work. Monday night was a little more restful, for after midnight he was able to sleep until morning, on a "comfortable" coil of rope.

On Tuesday, not until the apparatus was unloaded from the lighter, and safely in the fire station, did he leave for his home.

For well over 60 hours he was on duty, and at the hardest kind of work.

Equal praise is due the volunteer crew which included permanent firemen James Gray and Percy Dinsmore; volunteer firemen John Nystrom, Edward Walker, George Burns and William Widdcomb.

Fifteen men from Battery E 240th C.A.C., commanded by Lieut. Charles G. Hewett also did yeoman service, both on the hose, and with the bucket brigade. Especial mention should be made of Louis B. Cook, who, while not connected with either organization, was one of the hardest working men in the party. The boys are all extremely grateful to the folks at North Haven, who made every effort to make them as comfortable as was possible under the circumstances. They all have pleasant memories of the excellence of the cooking.

Cutter Kickapoo, Southward
Bound, Now Has Quite a Different Crew

The Coast Guard Cutter Kickapoo is in passage for Baltimore, where she will undergo a thorough overhauling, and if present plans are carried out she is due back at her Tillson wharf berth next November.

But so many things have been changed "since Hannah died" that nobody knows what's next—especially those employed in the Coast Guard service. One thing which has been learned is that the "Kick" is soon to have a new commanding officer—Lieut. Commander Jewell, at present skipper of the destroyer Wainwright.

Meantime substitute craft will come to Rockland for the periods when the Kickapoo would ordinarily be in port.

Earl B. Drinkwater, formerly of the Kickapoo staff has been transferred to the Coast Guard cutter Ossipee and will be stationed at Portland, to which city Mr. Drinkwater is now arranging to remove his family.

D. S. Fish has been transferred to the destroyer service.

Only six members of the Kickapoo's personnel when she was stationed here are now attached to that craft.
