SEEK FIVE KILNS PROPERTY
Seems To Be Excellent Prospect That Gulf Refining Company May Locate Here

The most interesting development of the week in Rockland was the sudden appearance here of surveyors and attorneys said to be interested in the acquisition of the Five Kilns property at the Southend, which is said to be viewed by the Gulf Refining Company as an excellent location for a large distributing plant.
Several times in the past other parties have inspected the property, but no deal was consummated. The present investigation seems to have the earmarks of a much more definite and hopeful proposition.

The real estate is part of the holdings of the Rockland and Rockport Lime Corporation, which some time ago dismantled this famous landmark as a lime-burning proposition, but only increased its value as a waterfront location for some concern of the Gulf Refining Company's type.
Citizens will be watching the developments with keen interest hoping that it will offer the silver lining to sombre clouds.

BUSINESS BETTER
So Writes Lieut. C. W. Kal-loch, Back On The Job In Genoa, Italy

An improvement in the steamship business, so far as it relates to the Export Steamship Corporation, is noted by Lieut. Charles W. Kallouch, a prominent official of that corporation who has returned to his office in Genoa, Italy, after a visit to his former Rockland home. Lieut. Kallouch writes thus to a member of The Courier-Gazette staff:
"I may say that as far as our business is concerned, it is beginning to look up again. In spite of the instability of exchange rates and the fluctuation of the dollar business is on the pick-up and buyers on this side of the water are now experiencing a decided advantage in purchasing American goods.
"It has been most unusual that up to the present moment our business from European ports to United States has exceeded our eastbound business by a great deal. But we believe the eastbound movement is only slightly delayed, and we are looking for it to show an increase by September.
"It appears that Italy and France intend to cling to the gold standard and one would think that this would result very disastrously to them in connection with the tourist traffic of which approximately 70% is American.
Here again we are wrong, for the tourist business from United States to Italy is so far for 1933 in excess of the 1932 business for the same period.
To compensate for the loss in exchange which Americans suffer, Italy has made very drastic cuts in many things, such as railroad fares, hotels, etc. As an example, during this summer, tourists can obtain a 70% reduction on the regular rail fares for round trip tickets which will actually include a trip anywhere in Italy.
France hasn't gone to quite this extreme, but I believe that they have made many reductions to favor English and American tourists and certainly hotel rates are considerably under those of a few years ago."
And Lieut. Kallouch adds this personal note:
"Don't suppose I will get over there (to America) again for two years;
however, I am always there in spirit."

HELD AT MEDOMAK CAMP
Young People Of Maine Congregational Churches Had Notable Sessions At Poland Establishment

The Ninth Annual Young People's Camp, under the auspices of the Congregational Conference of Maine, has concluded an interesting and successful session. For the first time in its history the beautiful Medomak Camp was chosen as the place of meeting. Thirty years ago on his ancestral home farm Frank E. Poland, then a schoolmaster, established a camp for boys. From humble beginnings it has grown to be one of the outstanding boys' camps of the country. In addition to fine equipment Mr. Poland has chosen a group of outstanding executives, who have given the boys invaluable training.
Among these leaders Roland S.
Tapley of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Ross McKenney, the famous Maine guide, and two swimming instructors remained to serve the Congregational Young People's Camp.
The enrollment reached a total of exactly 150, who were mostly of High School age. It is not strange that enthusiasm ran high.
Courses were given during the morning and afternoon on Jesus' Way
Of Life, Personal, Home and World
Problems, World Friendship, Sunday School Methods, as well as on drama and photography. Swimming instruction was given every afternoon.

The dean of the conference was
Rev. Ray Gibbons of Westbrook.
Rev. George Gilchrist of Tilton N. H., Rev. Joel B. Hayden, headmaster of Western Reserve Academy, Rev.
Mervin Deane of Norway, fellow under the Kahn Foundation, gave movies taken during his trip around the world. Two plays were presented, one "Young China in Revolt," written by Rev. Ralph Schrader of Foo Chow, and coached by him, and the other "The Color Line," coached by Miss Virginia Roundy of Portland.
On the last Sunday night the Lord's Supper was administered at an outdoor service.
Mr. Poland was present during the entire conference and rendered valuable assistance. The beauty of the surrounding country, the fine equipment of the Camp, the capable leadership and the splendid spirit of the young people, all combined to make the Camp an outstanding success.

A FRIENDSHIP DISASTER

A bad accident occurred in Friendship Harbor early Tuesday morning when the engine of the lobster smack, Conqueror, backfired and set the boat on fire. Capt. Orrin W. Burns, and Engineer Roy Carter were taken severely burned, and were taken to Dr. Hodgkins' hospital in Thomaston.
The accident took place at Stenger's wharf and after the injured men had jumped overboard and were safe the boat was towed out between Garrison and

Long Island and beached by LaForest
R. Burns. There were several explosions and the fire lasted all day. The craft is a complete loss. About $600 in cash which was aboard was saved.
The smack was getting ready to leave for Vinalhaven to buy lobsters. Capt.
Burns and Engineer Carter were reported a little more comfortable
Tuesday evening. The Conqueror was owned by J. A. Young and Co. of Bucksport. One of the owners, who lived at Southport was in town during the day.

LOCAL CONTROL BOARD

The appointment of the local control board of the N.R.A. was announced this morning. The members are:
Ensign Otis, chairman and legal member of the board; M. E. Wotton, employer; A. W. Gregory, employer;
W. W. Gregory, labor (provisional);
and W. H. Spear consumer.
This board is to handle local problems, as regards the general code, but has no authority over industrial codes. It stands ready to assist outside towns, as far as possible.

The Board has designated Monday of each week (at 2 p. m.) as the time when meetings will be held for the purpose of hearing complaints, etc.
The place of the meeting will be the City Council Chambers.

SMALLEST IN TWENTY YEARS
Blueberry Crop This Season About Sixty Per Cent Of Normal, the Report

To those who have seen the long line of blueberry-laden motor trucks in Rockport this season the statement comes surprisingly that the season's crop in Maine this year was only little better than half of normal. The appended clipping is from Tuesday's Bangor News:
"With many of the Maine canners of blueberries practically completing their 1933 pack, the crop in Maine is about 60 per cent normal and the smallest in 20 years, according to William R. Sawyer of Bucksport. According to a signed letter sent to the News, Mr. Sawyer states that Hancock county packers are completing their pack with about a 50 per cent crop; and Washington County packers will conclude the present season with approximately 60 per cent of the normal pack, as many of the factories have not opened at all and others have packed ranging from 30 to 70 per cent of the five-year average pack.

"According to Mr. Sawyer, government supervision of the blueberry industry has resulted in a marked improvement in the product of the Maine factories and the small crop in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia have led Maine packers to anticipate a good price for the 1933 pack."

THE POST SEASON SERIES
St. George Took Opening Game Last Night—Second Game Here At 5 P. M. Today

Because of short notice and the early playing hour, Manager Allen was unable to present the full strength of the Rockland team at St. George last night and the Texasons received a sound drubbing in the opening game of the post season series between the two Twilight League winners. The second game will be played at Community Park shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon and the management believes that it will tell a different story.
The prize awards, which have been delayed for various reasons will positively be made during tonight's game, and the name of the donor will be announced.
Last night's game resolved itself into a story in which the young island twirler, Middleton, was distinctly the hero. In eight innings he fanned 14 men, making it three straight in the last inning, just to show that he meant business.
St. George bunched all of its hits in the three innings when they scored. In the second inning, for instance there were doubles by Davidson and Middleton, topped off by Ricker's triple; in the third inning
Archer's double and Westberg's single; and in the seventh inning singles by Hopkins and Westberg.
Chaples' double and a passed ball made Rockland's solitary score possible.
Two nice catches by Maurice Simmons in right field spoiled a threatening Rockland rally in the third.
The score:

CROSSING THE BRIDGE
Holiday Traffic Over Kennebec
Structure Much Larger Than Last Year

Holiday traffic over the Carleton bridge amounted to $4528 against $3179 last year, a gain of $1348 for the three days over the corresponding period. The largest day's business in the history of the bridge was on Sept. 3, 1928, when receipts amounted to $1780 and it appeared that Monday's business was on the way to equal or exceed this amount except that the rain interfered. As it was the day's business amounted to $1440 against $1085 for Labor Day last year, an increase for the day of $354 and only $340 under the record.

It should also be borne in mind, says the Bath Times, that since that boom period of 1928 commutation tickets have been so reduced that a $20 book may now be purchased, thereby reducing single fares to holders to 20 cents a trip against 35 cents and book tickets for big trucks have been reduced from $12 to $9 and $7.50 to $6. Under the circumstances it would appear that business was holding up to its peak in 1928.
Total receipts from the bridge for the first eight months of the current year amount to $100,322.70, or $9,925.88 more than for the same period last year when they amounted to $94,397.10.

NINE VOLUNTEERS
Furnished Blood At Knox
Hospital For Infantile
Paralysis Serum

Nine volunteers who have passed through the trying experience of infantile paralysis, appeared at the Knox Hospital clinic Tuesday to give the blood which was to be transformed into serum for treatment of infantile paralysis in the early stages.
The volunteers were Ernest Searles and Neil Karl of Rockland, Louis Hary, Jr., Mrs. Marcus Chandler and Louis Arush of Camden; Eino Lindell of North Cushing, Don Cameron of Clark Island, William Burgess of Warren, and Frederick Montgomery of Cushing. Their ages ranged from 12 to 40 years.
Each of these volunteers received a check for $15, this remuneration being a delightful little surprise to young Hary, who had come purely as a volunteer, and with no expectation of reward. Each person gave a pint of blood, and it will interest many readers to know that about half of that quantity comes back in the form of serum. The testing and processing is done at the Harvard University laboratories, and the resulting serum will be kept at Knox Hospital to be used in the treatment of infantile paralysis cases, before paralysis sets in.
Knox Hospital was selected for the clinic because of the numerous cases of infantile paralysis which have been treated in this section. The doctors who conducted the clinic were Neil A. Fogg, James C. Kent,
C. H. Jameson and James Laughlin.
They were assisted by Miss Ellen Daly, superintendent of Knox Hospital, and members of her staff.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

A PRAYER
Father, from out the turmoil and the strife
That never know surcease,
We cry to thee: Lord of our troubled life,
Grant us thy peace!
Our air is filled with din of angry cries,
The battle sounds increase,
From the calm azure of thy upper skies
Grant us thy peace!
Harsh discords all thy truer music
drown;
Love's tender breathings cease:
Upon the clamor and the grief look down!
Grant us thy peace!
Pierce passions our compliant natures
away;
Courage and faith decrease;
Harassed with doubt and fear, to thee
we pray:
Grant us thy peace!
We crave that inner quiet so desired
When outer storms increase;
To rest on thee, for we are very tired;
Grant us thy peace!
From duty's path, however steep, we ask
For no ill-timed release;
Only—for strength to finish well our task—
Grant us thy peace!
—Edward A. Church.

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

In the day of my trouble I will call upon thee; for thou wilt answer me.—Psalm 86:7.

UNDER THE BLUE EAGLE

In common with the newspapers of Maine not in the daily class, The Courier-Gazette has waited upon the code in preparation for such papers as combine job printing with publishing. This has now been notified from Washington. Under its terms this paper announces its affiliation with the N.R.A. and its purpose so to adjust its business to the requirements of that National measure as shall satisfy every demand of patriotism.

THE NEW CITY CHARTER

Shall Rockland follow an example set by many municipalities, that in place of the old-time form of government, in which party politics played a dominant part, have adopted the commission-manager form. Last winter the subject received a thorough thrashing-out before the legislature, which enacted a law providing a new charter for our city, the full text of which has been printed in this paper. We quote an article from one of the foremost publications of the day, the Rotary Magazine:

While the depression, the article says, has crowded many American towns to the brink of bankruptcy, Aitchison, Kansas (population 13,000) has kept on a cash basis throughout, and in the past twelve years has cut its bonded debt seventy per cent and its tax rate thirty-five per cent. The reason, according to Ed. W. Howe, founder of the Aitchison Daily Globe, is simply a determination by Aitchison business men that their city be run like a business. This has led to the commission-manager form of government with three business men as commissioners. They appoint a city manager as they would hire a general manager for their own business.

"Although it has been said business men will not consent to accept office, and that citizens will not support them," says the veteran newspaperman, "this did not turn out to be true in Aitchison. During the twelve years since the commission-manager form was adopted, one commissioner has been elected four times, another died after serving five years, and one resigned after serving ten years. The two appointed to fill the vacancies are still serving. All have continuously been really excellent men. The new plan was successful from the start: the commissioners inherited an old bonded indebtedness of $1,250,000, and paid it off all except $180,000."

It was Cyrus H. K. Curtis who said that the two ablest editors in this country are George Horace Lorimer and E. W. Howe—therefore it is with interest that we quote from the latter this testimony to the success which his own city has experienced in this connection. We believe the testimony arrayed in support of the new charter for Rockland justifies its adoption by the citizens in next Monday's election.

HANNAH DUSTIN'S KNIFE

In common with all youthful students of history we found those days at school greatly uplifted by the story of Hannah Dustin, who borne into captivity by the Indians, following an attack upon Haverhill, was for a season held prisoner upon a river island in New Hampshire. There for some time she languished, until, possessing herself of a knife, and under the cover of darkness, one by one she put to death her captors and made good the return to her home. She was one of those thorough-going New England women of the time, was Hannah Dustin—her name suggests good housekeeping—and before taking leave of the dozen or so victims of her womanly skill with the knife, she further exercised it by neatly scalping each one of them, a detail practiced by the Indian tribes of that day and naturally taken over by the English invaders of their territory.

Of course Mrs. Dustin brought home with her these gory scalp trophies of her adventure, also the knife. It was natural that the later years of Sons and Daughters of one thing and another should produce also a Hannah Dustin Association in Haverhill—to which these few lines are now dedicated in felicitating its members upon acquiring for their museum the knife itself with which their namesake, 236 years ago, indicated to her Indian captors, in the vernacular of the present day, where they, as well as their scalps, got off. Truly a grim relic of those stirring times. The only contemporaneous thing with which we can match it is the Indian tomahawk that in those older days found congenial employment in this vicinity and is now housed in the Knox Memorial.

NOTICING

Have any of this paper's readers, gifted with the noticing faculty, noticed—

THAT this is the season of the year when the local newspapers have their attention drawn to ambitious hens who achieve fame by laying two-yolk eggs.

THAT patrons who enjoy good clean pictures with honest laughter in them are glad to learn that Charlie Chaplin is at work upon another of that class for which he became famous.

THAT you have a friendly sympathy for that faithful citizen the letter carrier on his deliveries loaded to the guards with the accumulated mail of a double holiday.

THAT you don't give any special thought to those rains in Main street until they're filled with rain and a passing motor car showers you with the proceeds.

THAT one of the things that discourages the fruit tree in your back yard is the boys who strip the branches just as you were counting upon the fruit for your own use.

THAT few of our people are aware of the fact that the beautiful marble statue of Gen. Berry that graces Acorn Cemetery was made by one of the country's foremost sculptors.

THAT those times seem to have passed in which the young folks, either with sails or oars, made the waters of the harbor a resort for exercise and enjoyment.

THAT the sign limiting to 15 miles the rate of speed on Broadway is a relic of ancient days which some motorists can still recall.

THAT the picture of robins in groups on your lawn discussing the details of southern flight is now a familiar sight out of window.

THAT you harbor a good-natured wish, which you somehow can't get rid of, that fewer folks would ring the family telephone at meal time.

THAT you can recall the time when every home cooked its own doughnuts and some of our women folks were renowned the town over for the special excellence of their product.

THAT with its smartness of paint, the neatness of the trimmed privet hedge and the spreading growth of flowers the Donald Kelsey place on North Main street makes an agreeable picture as you drive by.

THAT nowadays you seldom hear the expression "fortnight," and that Bob House is concerned to know why.

THAT a Northend concern and a downtown Main street concern are on the point of joining drives, with women particularly interested.

THAT the Simonson's Corner dance has an African dodger annex and both seem to be very well patronized.

THAT if you have never seen those abandoned lime quarries at Simonson's Corner "you ain't seen nothin' yet."

THAT everybody remarked Tuesday they wished there had been that kind of weather for Labor Day.

THAT the St. George folks put on a good Labor Day show even if it wasn't done on Labor Day.

THAT if you drive slowly up Ingraham Hill the picture you get of the beautiful home at Holman's Oaks will repay the making of a special trip to see it.

THAT the great show in dahlias is encountered at Holiday Beach, at the summer place of Mr. Cole of Waterville, which upon no account would you have missed seeing.

WASHINGTON

BOK PRIZES AWARDED

To Winners In Camden Garden Club Contest—Thomas J. Watson the Speaker

Camden citizens flocked to the Opera House in large numbers Tuesday night, the lodestone being the award of the Bok prizes to the winners in the Camden Garden Club contest.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Ernest A. Robbins, president of the club, who called upon E. G. Gribble to preside. The speaker of the evening was Thomas J. Watson of New York, a member of the Federal Reserve Board, and president of the International Business Machines Corporation. Mr. Watson's public spirit has meant much to Camden, since he became a member of the summer colony. He was given a most cordial greeting, and his practical remarks fell upon fertile ground. Music was furnished by the Camden Boys' Band.

The awards were made by Mrs. Mary Louise Bok, donor of the prizes. This year, in addition to the awards for lawns and gardens, there were others for vegetable gardens and canned fruits and vegetables.

The list of awards follows: Best gardens: First award of $30, Mrs. Leon Bryant, Cobb road; second award of $40, Mrs. Charles Smith, 43 Sea street; third award of $25, Mrs. Guy Cucunotta, 27 Belmont avenue. Best lawns: First award of $50, Leslie Marshall, 90 Pearl street; second award of $40, Capt. J. V. Raynes, 87 Bay View street; third award of $25, Mrs. C. F. Brown, 69 Chestnut street.

New gardens: First award of $50, Mrs. Isabel C. Simonton, 28 Limerock street; second award of $40, the Rev. Leroy A. Campbell, 8 Belmont avenue. New lawn: First award of $50, Gilbert Leadbetter, 109 Bay View street; second award of $40, Frank J. Blood, 66 Washington street.

Community planting: First award of $20, to Walter Bowden, Charles Dipple, Herbert Duffell, Elm street; second award of $15 to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Handren, Maynard Leach, Lawrence J. Manning, Sea street; third award of $10 to John F. Matthews, Joseph W. Regnier, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Achorn, Whitmore Terrace.

Best vegetable gardens: First award of $50, N. Berry, 41 Harden avenue; second award of $40, J. N. Leonard, 90 Washington street; third award of $30, Hollis Drinkwater, 6 Harrison avenue; fourth award of $20, Charles W. Burgess, 60 Mechanic street; fifth award of $10, Arthur C. Hatch, 92 Elm street; honorable mention, A. B. Bennett, 115 Elm street, the Rev. Leroy A. Campbell, 8 Belmont avenue, Herbert Duffell, 107 Pearl street, Winfield Bryant, Pearl street.

Best canning: First award of $30, Mrs. Percy Small, 59 Pearl street; second award of $25, Mrs. Agnes Ware, 4 Belmont avenue; third award of $20, Mrs. Orvil Young, 32 Mountain street; fourth award of $15, Mrs. Fred Cassins, 60 Mountain street; fifth award of $10, Mrs. Olive Annis, 82 Pearl street; honorable mention, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, 35 Pearl street; Mrs. Mabel Holbrook, Thomas street; Mrs. Edith Nash, Melvin Heights; Mrs. Laura Matthews, Whitmore avenue; Mrs. Ann Grinnell, 43 Union street; Mrs. Joshua Ingraham, 54 Mountain street; Mrs. Katherine Dow, 10 Chestnut street.

Homes attractively planted: First award of $25, Mrs. Etta Wright, 4 Brookside avenue; second award of $20, Fred Beale, 6 Cross street; third award of $15, Leroy Wasgatt, 88 Pearl street.

Homes well kept and attractively planted: First award of $10 each, Miss Lucine Arat, 19 Belmont avenue; Miss Dorothy Ware, 15 Belmont avenue; Fred Trask, 12 Chestnut Hill; George H. Thomas, 105 Bay View street; Eugene Mitchell, 110 Washington street; Andrew Cotta, 14 Mount Battle street; Arthur Dougherty, 7 Willow street; W. O. Williams, 24 Union street; Mrs. Laura Kettunen, 24 Rawson avenue;

NEXT YEAR'S PLATES

Maine Registration Numbers Will Seem Odd—Colors, Orange and Black

Seven thousand Maine automobile owners who reserve the same registration number year after year, will not be deprived of the privilege under the new system of lettered number plates to be introduced next year.

The new plates adopted by Secretary of State Robinson C. Tobey are similar to those used in Connecticut with one or two letters preceding the numbers running only from 1 to 999 in each combination of letters. The advantage of the new plates are that they are less expensive to the state, saving approximately $7,000 a year, are more easily discernible at a distance and also are more attractive. The color scheme of the 1934 plates will be orange and black, the numbers being in black.

Because plates bearing four numbers are no longer than plates with three numbers preceded by letters the first 9999 plates next year will be printed as usual. This will permit the secretary of state to carry out the provisions of a law which provide that the first 7,000 plates may be reserved year after year for the same owners, under certain prescribed conditions.

With the 10,000th plate, the new lettered system will commence. The first series will be from A1 to A999; the second from B1 to B999, and so on through the alphabet. Then will start the double letter combination. A11 to A999; B11 to B999, and so on through each combination of two letters up through the alphabet as far as F11 to F999 series, which will complete the list. These several combinations will provide approximately 138,000 plates for pleasure cars, which is estimated to be the probable needs for next year.

There will be some exceptions to the letter combinations set forth above. For example there will be no combination with the letter H as the H series will be reserved to designate hired cars as at present. Also the X Y Z series will be used to designate commercial cars and the O series for convertible cars.

Municipal and county cars will bear the word "Municipal" over a series of numbers running from 1 to 2,000; busses will carry the word "Bus" with a number from 1 to 300; and there will be other specially designated plates for official State cars, the State Highway Commission, governor's council, tractors, trailers, and other classifications.

Although the letter system to be adopted here is similar in type to the plates used in Connecticut, the letters and numbers will be larger and more easily distinguishable than the Connecticut plates.

WEATHER
A fresh early-autumn morning with skies and a wind that is gentle even though it points out of the east. Fogs have continued to present their woolly countenances, but only now and then. The full moon, the color of flame, has been a beautiful sight, lifting itself out of the distant islands, illuminating the waters of the bay and filling the soul of the spectator with awe. Notice it tonight. Morning temperature 60 and rising.

King Solomon's Temple Chapter holds its stated meeting tonight.

The Boston boats begin next week their fall schedule of three trips a week.

Welcome news to everybody that Leopold has put 100 stoneworkers on the job at Vinalhaven.

Dr. E. L. Searlott and family are occupying their recently purchased home at 38 Summer street, where Dr. Searlott opened his office yesterday.

Principal Blaisdell requests that all out of town pupils, also all post graduates, register for their courses this week. Office hours are 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 daily.

Eubertus A. Clark of National City, Calif., is on his way East, planning to visit his son in Holbrook, Mass., and promising a visit to The Courier-Gazette office.

Dr. Andrew MacAusland, a distinguished Boston surgeon, who summers at North Haven, performed operations upon two children at Knox Hospital Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Wiggins Spear died last night at her home on Limerock street, where funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 o'clock. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

Roger Mills and Wesley Curtis were committed to Knox County jail for six months, Tuesday, after pleading guilty in Recorder Miles' court to the larceny of 72 bottles of 32 beer from the Perry's Market storehouse. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Ludwick.

The second game in the post season series between Rockland and St. George will be played at Community Park this afternoon, as near 5 o'clock as possible, and the Texacos will have a much stronger lineup than the one defeated at St. George last night. The prize awards will be made.

Lester Allen, Charles Brann and Percy Colson descended upon the editorial sanctum Tuesday with a yellow butterfly so handsome that it required the united efforts of the three youngsters to carry it. On the same day William Young brought in a worm of dazzling colors but not particularly palatable.

James H. McNamara, Miss Rose McNamara, Miss Alice McNamara, Miss Antonia McInnis and Rev. Fr. Govett arrived this morning from Eagle Rock, Va., having made the trip in Mr. McNamara's car. Fr. Govett is a World War veteran and is priest of the Catholic Church in Clifton Forge. Mr. McNamara and Fr. Govett return next Monday.

Things are humming in the Century of Progress contest with one of the later entries, Norma Seavey, torging to the front. She has collected several hundred votes the past few days and has the leaders distinctly worried. Sidney Harding, a Country Club caddy with one of those infectious smiles, has started a systematic drive on his own account. The standing will be announced Saturday with five more weeks of the contest yet to run.

There is quite a strong likelihood that Rockland will have a ten-mile marathon race on Armistice Day, under the sanction of the A.A.U. which would bring entries from outside of the State. John Guistin and William J. Sullivan are collaborating in the matter, and arrangements will be made whereby a series of attractive prizes can be offered. The race, as now planned, would be within city limits. It is believed by Mr. Guistin that he can get John Ingemi, who won the Cathedral A.C. ten-mile race last spring to come here for the proposed race.

F. J. SIMONTON CO.

Edw. Sansom, postal clerk, is spending his furlough at Moosehead.

The Universalist parish has an important meeting tomorrow night.

Richard J. Foley, janitor at the federal building, is having his annual vacation.

Winslow-Holbrook Post has its first meeting tonight following the summer recess.

Horace Maxey has entered upon his duties as principal of Warren High School.

Rev. J. C. MacDonald, who has been on his annual vacation, will occupy his pulpit at the First Baptist Church Sunday.

Perry's ball team, now well acclimated to the sad sea waves, goes to Vinalhaven Sunday to play a team of island veterans. The Calista Morrill takes the team and its boosters.

PUBLIC MEETING TONIGHT

City Manager Ford of Auburn will be the principal speaker at a public meeting tonight in Temple hall, sponsored by the Forty Club in the interests of the new charter. All citizens are urged to attend. The meeting will start promptly at 7 o'clock in order to finish in ample season for those who wish to attend the benefit dance at the Samoset.

A. S. Peterson has presented an attractive bird bath to the Knox Armory. It is placed on the grounds near the Sarah Rideout Abbott memorial bench.

News has been received here of the death of Nellie wife of John H. Holbrook, which occurred suddenly from heart attack Wednesday morning at their home in Bremen. Funeral services will be held there Saturday afternoon.

One of the outstanding social events of the late summer season is the benefit dance at the Samoset Hotel tonight for Knox Hospital. The Country Club Orchestra will furnish music, and dancing will begin at 9. The affair will be informal.

Saturday Limerock Valley Pomona Grange will leave on steamer Castine for its annual meeting with North Haven Grange. The program will include talks on "Present Day Matters" by prominent people, musical numbers and readings. The Wessaweskeag Grange band will play. The steamer leaves Camden at 8 and Rockland at 9 daylight time. The excursion is open to the public.

Clarence Wylie of The Highlands raised a liberal crop of fine tomatoes this season but some of the vines carried a much less desirable crop in the form of some of the largest and strangest looking grubs ever taken into captivity. Charles R. Richardson brought a few of the samples to this office yesterday, and the sooner Norman Leonard identifies them—and takes them away—the better suited the nervous grub editor will be.

Under the direction of Mrs. Vivian Hewett there will be a quilt exhibition at Montpelier (in the gift shop) Wednesday, Sept. 13. The exhibit will include old and modern designs, and everyone having choice quilts or unusual designs are invited to display their treasures. There will be reduced admission rates to the Knox Mansion for the day, affording everyone who visits the show, to which there is no admission fee, to inspect this wonderful memorial. Those wishing to exhibit are asked to communicate with Mrs. Hewett, tel. 636-M, or at the Knox Mansion, in Tqumanson.

LET US VOTE NO

North Haven Citizen Opposes the Letting Down of Present Defences

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—As we were to vote on the 18th Amendment on Sept. 11, I would like to know before I vote just what we are to expect after the 18th Amendment is voted down—if it should be. I heard a speaker over the radio talking for repeal; he had a lot to say about the evils of the 18th amendment and how much the government was losing in revenue, etc., but had very little to say about what the conditions would be after repeal, which he so much urged the voters to vote for.

Why not be fair and give the voters both sides of the question? Simply because he was paid to talk for repeal by the brewers.

How many of the speakers and voters that will vote Sept. 11 can remember the conditions that existed forty or more years ago, when our mails were flooded with circulars advertising strong drink, which was being sent through the mails to all parts of Maine, while the trains and steamers and coasters with their passengers were bringing it into the State. Please tell us what the conditions were then. We know what the young voters will say. "That it is as bad or worse now;" but we would like to have some one who lived through those times tell us what those conditions were. We know, for we have lived through them, and have seen and heard the effects of strong drink.

They tell us that the young generation growing up do not know anything about the horrors and hardships of war by experience and are liable to get into it again 10 or 15 years hence. Ask some of our men that were in the war what they think of it. They will tell you like Gen. Sherman that "War is Hell!"

Strong drink can wreck and destroy any home or life. Until they can give us something better than the 18th Amendment to handle it, let us vote for the dry candidates of Knox County to keep the amendment in force.

Ralph P. Conant, Rockland; Adin L. Hopkins, Camden; William H. Robinson, Warren.

NOTES FROM "VOX"

Telling of Steady Improvements Being Made Within Prison Walls

We have it from good authority that we are to have "talkie" pictures this winter, and we are to have them in the chapel.

Wall sinks in the kitchen have been replaced by a cluster of sinks in the center of the room. It is a good improvement, and more sanitary. After a few more minor repairs and changes, the kitchen is to be painted and we then will have a first class kitchen.

A crew of painters under officer Clark is scrubbing and painting the East Wing. Walls, ceiling, inside cells and all, are to be painted; also the bars, which are to be painted aluminum. It will make the Wing much lighter.

The canning department, under the able direction of officer Nash, is going full blast. So far beans only have been canned, but we understand that tomatoes, corn, squash and other garden produce are to be canned.

A set of 12 volumes, History of the World War, was donated to the prison library by Sergeant and Mrs. Burton of the Rockland Salvation Army. An inmate whose name we were asked not to print, donated a set of 12 volumes of English Fiction.

Mr. Paquin of the front office, and Capt. Thomson are on their vacation. Joseph Bryant has been transferred to the Prison Farm.

Out of 30 applicants for parole at the last hearing of the Parole Board, 15 made it.

There will be Catholic services the third Sunday of this month and every third Sunday of the month from then on.

EUGENE HARRINGTON
Solemn requiem mass was held at St. Bernard's Church yesterday forenoon for the late Eugene Harrington, Rev. Fr. James A. Flynn, the pastor, as celebrant. He was assisted by Rev. Thomas Henderson as deacon and Rev. Fr. Hebert as sub-deacon. Charles Coughlin, Donald Coughlin and George N. Phillips were ushers. The bearers were John McInnis, Patrick J. Burns, Raymond Moulaison, Fred Carlin, Joseph Adams and James Connellan, the interment being in the St. James Catholic cemetery, Thomaston.

The deceased was born in this city March 23, 1865, youngest child of Timothy and Mary (Sullivan) Harrington.

He attended St. Lawrence College in Montreal, returning home after the death of his parents, to enter the employ of Jerry Harrington, grocer. Forty-four years ago he entered the employ of the Maine Central Railroad and for the past 23 years was the very efficient baggage-master at the Rockland station, retiring last November on account of ill health.

Mr. Harrington was a member of St. Bernard's Church and Limerock Council, a valued and devoted worker for both. He was a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus, and had served several terms as guard knight of Limerock Council.

He was faithful to the last degree in the performance of his tasks; staunch in his friendships, and a most genial companion, who had never turned a deaf ear to those in trouble or in want.

Mr. Harrington was twice married, his first wife being Margaret Lyons, by whom were born the five surviving children—Walter, Mary J. and Leo of Jefferson, Mass.; Mrs. Alfred J. Dailey of Brookline, Mass., and Louise of Rockland. He is also survived by his second wife, Elizabeth A. (Reilly) Harrington; Mrs. William J. Pendergast of Jefferson, Mass., a niece; and Dr. Adam E. Cole of Swampscott, Mass., a nephew.

THE LEADBETTER REUNION
Mrs. Eunice Brown Elected President.—Fifty - Three Partook Of the Dinner

The 23d annual reunion of the Leadbetter family was held Saturday in Crockett's hall, North Haven, with an attendance of more than 50. Fifteen came from Camden for this annual get-together. After greetings and a social hour 53 sat down for dinner. The tables were laden with an abundance of good things. After dinner and during the afternoon ten others joined the group. Exercises were carried out thus:

Address of welcome, Mrs. Eunice Brown, the president; prayer, Mrs. Julia Beverage; social hour; recitations and music, by younger members; addresses by older members. After singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and prayer by the president, Mrs. Brown, the company adjourned to meet again in North Haven one year hence.

These officers were elected: President, Mrs. Eunice Brown; vice president, Winfield Ames; second vice president, Isaac T. Leadbetter; secretary, Mrs. Florence Brown; treasurer, Hiram Beverage.

Owing to an unexpected change in their plans, Rev. and Mrs. Huse, invited guests, were unable to be present.

Liza was on the witness stand. "Are you positive," inquired the prosecutor, "that you know where your husband was on the night this crime was committed?"

"Et Ah didn't," replied the witness firmly, "den Ah busted a good rollin' pin over an innocent man's head, dat's all."

Some drink a lot, others drink little. We serve a five-cent glass of beer at Chape's Lunch, 470 Main street—adv.

PROF. WILBERT SNOW

Gave Reading of His Poems Before a Thomaston Audience

An appreciative audience greeted Prof. Wilbert Snow Friday evening when he delivered his lecture on modern poets in Thomaston, under the auspices of St. John Baptist Episcopal Church.

A more interesting or magnetic speaker than Prof. Snow would be difficult to find. He is not the stereotyped speaker often appearing before the public, but adopts an intimate and easy manner which establishes a subtle bond between himself and his audience. He wanders about the stage, takes his time, yet never is there a lagging moment in interest. Touches of humor, subtle and infectious are interwoven with the subject matter which is always presented in an original and convincing manner. Readings from his poems are incomparably given—with dramatic color, sensitiveness and sincerity.

Recently Prof. Snow has made a departure into poems for children to meet the demand in his own family as he explained, and read one of these "The Giant and the Whale," which his adult audience also enjoyed.

Interspersing the program were violin duos by Misses Phyllis Belasco and Hazel Harrison, and contralto solos by Mrs. Gladys Morgan, Miss Alcida Hall and Miss Margaret C. Stahl were accompanists. The stage had decorations of late summer flowers, arranged by Misses Alice and Hilda George. An informal reception was held at Knox Hotel to meet Mr. and Mrs. Snow. Refreshments were served by a committee of women from the church. Noted in the audience were Miss Anna Coughlin and her niece, Mrs. Mary Carrillo, both students of poetry, and Miss Virginia Healey of Framingham, Mass., whose verse has attracted attention by its charm and promise.

THINKING OF THE CHILDREN

I am thinking of the children: the children whose parents, teachers and doctors tell them that intoxicating beverages are harmful, that temperance is right, that the only safe temperance is abstinence. Are these parents and teachers and doctors wrong? If they are right, is it more logical for a Government to repeal a restrictive law because it has not been properly enforced and on the promise of revenue from license of a traffic that is an admitted menace, or to work manfully toward better enforcement of that law?

Thinking of the children, I am thankful for a newspaper whose columns on the repeal question do not read as though bought and paid for by liquor interests.

The services at the Church of St. John Baptist next Sunday will be 9 a. m. Holy Eucharist; 10:45 a. m. church school; 7 p. m. Evensong and sermon.

The Wilbert Snow poetry reading and lecture was a delightful occasion, enjoyed by a good audience which responded enthusiastically to the brilliance of the speaker. The hope has already been expressed several times that Mr. Snow may return next year for a similar lecture.

The musical groups were the offering of Mrs. Gladys Morgan, Rockland, and Misses Phyllis Belasco and Hazel Harrison of local musical prominence. All numbers were beautifully rendered and highly appreciated by the audience. Much credit should be given to Miss Hilda George and those who assisted her for the appearance of the stage which was gorgeously decorated with a wide variety of exquisite flowers. Directly following the lecture, in accordance with the invitation made from the stage by Franklin, a good portion of the audience went to the Knox Hotel where the poet's high school classmates had prepared a reception for Prof. and Mrs. Snow.

There will be a meeting of the Guild of St. John Baptist in the parish hall tonight at 7:30. A good attendance is requested.

MADE STIRRING APPEAL

Flying Squadron Speaker, "Joan D'Arc Of Prohibition," Tells What Repeal Means

A well attended "regional rally" was held at the First Baptist Church Tuesday night. Rev. George W. Currier, pastor of the Rockport Baptist Church, led in congregational singing. Rev. C. E. Brooks, pastor of Pratt Memorial Methodist Church, Rockland, read the scripture lesson, and offered prayer, and Rev. Walter S. Rounds, pastor of the Rockland Congregational Church, introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Norma C. Brown, vice president of the Flying Squadron, sometimes referred to as the Joan D'Arc of prohibition.

Miss Brown said that, when the people of the United States got the Eighteenth Amendment, they quit, and those who had done the most for prohibition, in the past, seemed to feel that the Federal government would do it all and that there was no further local obligation on the people to see that the law was enforced. She said that this "let down" in responsibility was worse in Maine and other States like Maine that had had State Prohibition.

Now, by reason of the lack of local support, conditions have developed that have resulted in the situation which we now find ourselves. Submission of the proposed constitutional amendment to the States is not repeal, but it is the first step and that, through the act of Congress, has become an accomplished fact.

The second step is ratification of the proposed amendment and it requires at least three-fourths of the States to do away with the Eighteenth Amendment, which means that it is necessary to have 36 States vote for the repeal amendment and national constitutional prohibition will still be in force if 13 States refuse to ratify the amendment which would do away with it.

States now is to win that number of States and, if repeal can thus be held back, it will give people an opportunity to think the matter through and realize what they are doing, rather than to have the matter rushed through with little thought but to go with the majority. Many bemoan the fact that beer has come back, which was formerly the beverage basis of 90% of the liquor traffic, but the stand of public officials, sworn to obey the constitution, who voted for beer, was a worse blow.

The wets made many pretty promises about beer and how money would pour into the government treasury as the result of the sale of beer, and they promised that unemployment would be greatly helped by the return of beer. The result is that eleven million people remain unemployed and the flow of money into the treasury has been more like that of a trickling stream, rather than the promised flood that would pour into the government coffers.

Miss Brown said that the beer problem was not the big problem at the present time and said, "If we do get rid of repeal, we can get rid of beer, because the court will probably declare the 32 beer illegal and Congress may take action in regard thereto, if we win the fight against repeal."

Miss Brown declared that a vote for repeal is a vote for the return of the old time saloon system and one has not the slightest chance to persuade a man who wants the saloon back to vote against repeal. She said that the wets used to make speeches against the saloon and say that it must never return, but now they propose, by repeal, to wipe out all the protection that we have against the saloon.

She said that many of the audience would remember the problems that presented themselves in Maine, and yet territory all about the State, and that the present methods of transportation would make it much easier now to get liquor into Maine than in the old days when people should be kept awake nights, if repeal becomes a fact, because the saloon will be coming back in a new day, must worse than when it existed before, with automobiles speeding along on the highways at the present high rate of speed, as compared with the maximum of 20 miles an hour in the old days she mentioned the retarding effect of even beer on the brain and what could happen even when thought was delayed by two-fifths of a second, emphasizing the necessity for a clear brain, steady hand and calm nerves and said that "alcohol and gasoline don't mix."

She spoke of the situation in Europe, where they do have liquor and automobiles and referred to the higher percentage of automobile accidents there, saying that, if we repeal, we will have the same situation here.

KILTON-TRAFTON

The marriage of Miss Adelaide M. Trafton, daughter of Frank F. Trafton of this city, to Charles H. Kilton, took place Monday evening at the home of the bride's uncle, H. D. Flynn in Machiasport. Only members of the two families were present. Rev. H. L. Wass was the officiating clergyman and the double ring service was used, the bride being given in marriage by her father.

Room decorations were golden rod and other autumn flowers and autumn leaves, making a colorful setting for the bridal party. The bride was attended by Mrs. Marcella Olson, sister of the groom, and Mr. Kilton had as his groomsmen Emery Trafton, brother of the bride.

The bride's gown was of light gray silk with matching fur trimmings, navy blue shoes and stockings. Her bouquet was of sweet peas and baby's breath. Mrs. Olson wore robin's egg blue and carried roses of Sharon and mountain daisies.

The Bridal March from Lohengrin was played by Miss Hazel Robbins who also caught the bride's bouquet. Mrs. M. L. Cole was in charge of the guest book.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held and refreshments were served by Misses Frances Flynn, Nancy Snow, Julia Nash, Florence Nash and Jane Pettigrew.

Amidst the usual jollifications the young couple made their get-away, bound for a wedding trip of about a week. The many gifts, including money, furniture, electric appliances, silver, pewter, etc., testified to the regard entertained for both Mr. and Mrs. Kilton.

The bride is a graduate of Rockland High School and Gorham Normal School. For two years she taught in Machiasport, and since then has been teaching sub-primarily at the Purchase Street School in this city, where her work has been marked by efficiency and expertise. She is a social favorite as well.

Mr. Kilton, the son of Capt. and Mrs. Herbert Kilton of Machiasport, is a graduate of Washington Academy at East Machias, and is in the employ of the Booth Fisheries Co. He is held in high esteem.

Out of town guests were F. F. Trafton and son, Emery, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Snow and daughter, Nancy, of Rockland; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dinsmore and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Perkins Jr., of Bucksport; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Cole and son David, and Miss Merle Campbell, of Lynn; and E. B. Foster of Brooklyn.

E. E. Gillette and daughters, Mrs. Edward Wheaton and Miss Mildred Gillette, have closed their cottage at Crescent Beach and returned to Newton, Highlands, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Keith of Waterville were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Morey. They were accompanied by June Tyler of Cambridge who had been with them for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blackington and son Harold who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blackington, Waldo avenue, returned to Everett, Mass., yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sewall of Newport who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Plummer for a few days are now on a two weeks' motor trip to New York and may possibly go to the Century of Progress Exposition. Their daughter Dot, is remaining with Mr. and Mrs. Plummer during their absence.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Marsh, Miss Ellen J. Cochran and Miss Margaret Robinson motored to Lakewood Monday.

Mrs. Adelbert L. Miles and children, Robert, June and Joan, accompanied by Mrs. Miles' mother, Mrs. Lucia Burpee, will leave Saturday to take up their residence in Portland, where Mr. Miles now conducts a law office. Their address will be Pitt street, Woodfords.

Miss Virginia Tyler who has been spending several weeks with her aunt, Mrs. A. D. Morey, returned to Cambridge Tuesday, motoring back with Miss Evelyn Tyler of Boston. They had with them Virginia's smaller sister June, returning after several weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Keith in Waterville. Virginia and June are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Brown Tyler, formerly of this city.

Wilbur Prohock leaves Saturday to enter Thomaston (Ill.) College.

Miss Eleanor Snow of White Plains, N. Y., is spending the week with her parents, Commander and Mrs. C. F. Snow.

Mrs. T. C. Fales has returned to Egypt, Mass., after being guest of Mrs. Leola Rose for several days.

Mrs. Charles Wilkie (Helen Snow) and two children have returned to Ridgeway, N. J., after spending the summer with Capt. and Mrs. Richard Snow.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Snow and daughter Eleanor who have been at Treasure Point Farm, Tenant's Harbor, for the summer, have returned to Rockport, where Mr. Snow is principal of the High School.

Lincoln McRae Jr. celebrated his 7th birthday Monday by entertaining several young friends in a delightful manner at the McRae cottage, Crescent Beach. Games had to be of the indoor type, but the youngsters had a jolly time, especially when birthday cake and all the other goodies appeared. Lincol's guests were Peter and Buddy Pillsbury of South Weymouth and Ow's Head; Tommy and Billy Yates of Garden City, Long Island, and Ow's Head and their guest John Fitzgerald; Billy and Roxana Adams of Springfield, Mass., and Ow's Head; Donald Simmons, Philip Wentworth, Earl Cook, Carol Ann Wolcott, Albert Haverer Jr., Louise Vezie, Joan Besse of Swampscott, Mass., and Crescent Beach, George and Charles St. Clair, Betty O'Brien, and Mary Dyer, were received by the young host.

REMEMBER JOE KNOWLES?

Nude Man Of Maine Woods Now Lives In Washington State—Banquet Guest Here

Twenty years ago Joe Knowles, native of Maine, clothedless, foodless, weaponless, went into the Maine woods to prove that man could exist and survive with the resources Nature gave him unaided by any of the contrivances of man.

At the end of the specified period he emerged from the woods and from his venture in triumph. He had much the appearance of primitive man and he had proved that man can live for 60 days on what the forest provides and escape harm. The following year he performed the same stunt at the other end of the country, in the forests of Oregon.

Joe Knowles had place on the front pages of all the papers. His exploits were featured in big headlines. On many bookshelves in Maine is a volume, "Alone in the Wilderness," narrating his experiment in the Maine woods. Whether it is ever read now, we do not know. It looked as though Knowles had made the fame and fortune from this adventure which he had never made from his regular vocation of painting pictures.

After that sensation died down, Knowles just dropped there, and it is doubtful if a dozen Maine people today know where he is or what he is doing. Therefore it is of interest to re-discover him through Edward M. Miller, a writer in the Portland Oregonian and know that he is well and happy. Mr. Miller writes:

Few men, today, are happier than Joe Knowles. He hasn't much money now. He seldom breaks into print. He gives no lectures, and he no longer lends a thrill to gaping crowds. Joe Knowles is happy. He resides today in Long Beach, overlooking the surf of North Beach peninsula, southwestern Washington.

Word had come that Joe Knowles was happy, was content with his lot. So we drove down there, the other day to find what he had selected the North Beaches as his home, and to discover his recipe for the life that is perfect.

Joe Knowles and his several thousand resident companions reside on a long narrow peninsula known as North Beach, or Long Beach. Most notable tourist attraction is the excellent beach, some thirty miles long. Skirting the east side of the peninsula is Shoalwater bay, home of thriving oysters, and to the west is the Columbia river, and the Pacific. The peninsula is essentially aquatic in interests and industries. Oystering, fishing, clamming, crabbing, cranberrying a bit of farming, and tourism.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Knowles live at the very brink of the beach. Storm waves break into their living rooms. What's a little sea water to a man with a career like that of Joe Knowles?

Born in Maine, Friday the 13th, 1869; at twelve years ran away to a windjammer; followed sailing ships

DARK HARBOR BOATS

Islesboro Has Another Special Town Meeting, But No Conclusion Reached

The special town meeting in Islesboro to see what action the town will take on establishing a steamboat service between Dark Harbor and Rockland in connection with Maine Central trains during the summer season of 1934, left the project almost as much in the air as it was before. Townpeople and summer residents attended in unusual numbers, but the sole result was that the matter was left in the hands of Islesboro's selectmen, to investigate and learn what can be done to provide transportation, their report to be made at a meeting to be held later.

Practically all summer residents advocate boat service between the two points named, suggesting that the town either buy or subsidize a boat for the purpose. Among those who spoke in favor of this project were Frederic R. Kellogg, Mrs. John Turner Atterbury, George Lewis, Miss Maria Chapin, Mrs. Gustav Kisel and Miss Dorothy Forbes. George Tiffany also declared himself in favor of connection with trains, but favors Camden as the point of contact on the mainland. Year around residents had little to say on the subject.

At the regular town meeting last March the registered voters tabled a measure asking for action on this

WET IN WASHINGTON

New All-Time Record For Arrests According To A Hearst Newspaper

The Hearst metropolitan papers have never accused of drunkenness. The Washington Times, a Hearst paper, in the issue of June 19, had this to say concerning drinking:

"Station houses and police courts in the District of Columbia were jammed today when a new all-time record for arrests was rolled up over the weekend."

"More than 500 Washington citizens found themselves in custody. Of this number, 211 were charged with drunkenness. The records show that for 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning, 84 persons were locked up for imbibing too much, while for the previous period 127 who had drunk not wisely but too well landed in 'durance vile.'"

Conditions in the capital must be alarming to induce a news item like this to appear in a wet newspaper. What has gone wrong? The congress assured us by a substantial majority vote that 3.2 is not intoxicating. Evidently beer as a means for reducing drunkenness is making a worse job of it than prohibition according to the Washington Times. Beer is not the cure for drunkenness.

The W.C.T.U. matter and this summer Dark Harbor has been without train connections except by motorboat to Camden, thence by bus to Rockland.

AT KNOX ARBORETUM

Echoes of the Recent Field Day—Mr. Turner's Dedication Address

Recalling the pleasure derived by 100 nature lovers who attended the recent annual field day at Knox Arboretum, the promoters are anxious that a few more words should be said about it. For instance there was State Librarian Dunnack's reply to the address of welcome. He said:

"We are grateful for your welcome to the Knox Academy of Arts and Sciences. Under the care of your society we find an arboretum, bird sanctuary, botanic garden and museum. Here is a State institution for research work in the natural sciences; for the education of students and teachers in nature study; for the instruction of school children in the wonders and beauties of nature, for the protection of wild life.

"Fascinating is the story of the founding of this institution, because it tells of a dream of Norman W. Leonard which came to him more than 30 years ago, a dream that is coming true every day. Here is 100 acres, the gift of Mr. Leonard; here is a marvelous collection of birds, mammals, fresh water and land shells, butterflies, moths and beetles, dried and pressed plants, rocks and minerals; here are specimen trees, shrubs and vines. Mr. Leonard and his friends have collected here, in this Arboretum, Garden and Museum, exhibits of priceless value, which furnish an opportunity for the education of all who may find their way to this lovely garden on the old St. George's River. There is no better place to observe Maine in her sweetest aspects. We come today to observe and to recognize your gathered glories; we trust we shall go away with a deeper appreciation of your dream and its realization."

In connection with the field day occurred the dedication of a Memorial to Mrs. Sarah Rideout Abbott, who was one of Maine's best known nature lovers and teachers. The dedication address was by Rev. Charles W. Turner, now of Newport, N. H., who said:

In a cavern by the sea we stood one day, while a Master of the mysteries of the Great Deep rolled back the curtain that veiled for duller eyes the glories of the darkened pools of water left by the receding tide. As that little group of people stood there and heard the story of the microscopic forms of life that dwell in these silent pools of water, that old cavern was transformed into a Cathedral, and the Ancient Word uttered by the Great Teacher found new fulfillment.

"Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst."

On another occasion, we climbed up the mountainside and there, one skilled in the art of reading God's message, as inscribed in the rocks, opened our eyes to behold the ancient markings left by the waters which now thundered on a new shore line half a mile away.

Then, one day, a similar group gathered here in the Knox Arboretum, under the shade of the great trees, while the hand of one whom we honor today, spread upon a little table a group of the little folk who for a brief day, make their home among the leaves and ferns and mosses of this beautiful spot.

Sons of us had wandered about these trails and under the shadow of these great trees catching a glimpse of one here and another there as we hurried along with dull eyes and curtailed ears. But that day, our Friend and Teacher had slipped away from the larger group, and had called lovingly to her little friends in the wood, and one after another they had responded to her appeal, the appeal of one who knew them by name, until her little basket was soon filled. Then in garments of white and gold, blue and orange and brown, she arranged them on the little table before us—these members of the Fungus Family.

Then, in a silence in which even the birds seemed to cease their singing, she held aloft a twig of spirea with its delicate heaven pointing spire, like the little white spires among "The Temple Hills Of Old New England," and with a bit of a poem she lifted our thought into the presence of Him Who first created beauty, and called it very good. Then, when the atmosphere had been prepared, she picked up her little woodland friends, and like some devout soul with a Rosary, she named them one by one.

It was like coming back again to the old home, when the family album was taken down and Mother passed from page to page, calling each dear remembered face by name, causing here and there to relate some bit of fragrant memory associated with those, "Loved long since, and lost awhile," until somehow the old Arboretum was transfigured, and we stood like pilgrims of long ago in the midst of those First Temples, while this quietly Priestess of another day, kindled the altar fires, and burned sweet incense whose fragrance was wafted heavenward.

Then we understood the secret of her grip upon the minds and hearts of all who knew her, and were associated with her. It was just a year or two later after our Friend had slipped down a bypath of Our Father's Garden, that a few of us wandered along these trails again; and when we reached this lovely spot, we were taken down to a little Old Curator called attention to a little Cedar of Lebanon which he had received from the Land made sacred by "That Great Teacher and Lover of Nature," who, two thousand years ago had stood before a little group of Galilean fishermen, and plucking a wayside flower had made that wonderful pronouncement—

"Behold the lilies of the field, they toil not, neither do they spin, but I say unto you that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

One of our number suggested that it would be very appropriate if we could set apart this little nook, sacred to the memory of our Friend and Teacher Mrs. Abbott. That suggestion has come to fruition in the form of this fine rustic seat of concrete and field-stone constructed by our devoted Curator Norman Leonard, assisted by the contribution of those who had known and loved her.

In Nature Study as in other phases of scientific research it is not possible that we become so absorbed in the pursuit of knowledge that we fail to push back until we have come to enter into fellowship with Him whose hands have formed the object of our study.

The Psalmist from the hillsides of Old Judea had learned to gaze heavenward and behold the beauty of the Starry Hosts until the spirit of their Creator came to fellowship with him and he learned to sing.

"The Heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth His handiwork."

Shall we not dedicate this simple appropriate memorial not only to the memory of Mrs. Sarah Rideout Abbott, but to the spiritual enrichment of all who may come to visit this sacred spot, that they may find here an opportunity for communion with Him, who has inscribed His Autograph in silvery lines across the evening sky, and in the flaming sun of noonday, and in the play of the great deep on the rock bound shores of our New England Coast.

To this great end and in sacred remembrance of our beloved Teacher and friend, we now dedicate this simple memorial.

Mr. Leonard adds to the above these paragraphs:

"Already pilgrims are coming from far and near to visit this shrine. Monday Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Wentworth of Old Town, daughter, and two lady friends, were appreciative visitors, depositing $5 toward the Memorial Fund.

While looking over the collections in the museum, Mr. Wentworth remarked: 'The State needs just such an institution and the money should be forthcoming to finish the building.'"

"And now is the time to build when so many men are out of work."

"Your correspondent, failing to attend the second day, discouraged doubtless by a few drops of rain, took it for granted that no one else attended and that the meeting was postponed. Not so! A party of artists returned from Boothbay Harbor, bringing their lunches and painting

The conchologists spent the day studying and naming shells."

UNION
Miss Thelma Darrook of Cambridge, Mass., who is at her summer home in Jefferson was a weekend visitor with Miss Thelma Watts. Warren Reynolds spent Sunday at the home of Luke Barker. Miss Lida Messer has returned to York Harbor after being called home by the illness of her nephew Millard Watts. William Davies of Massachusetts was calling on friends in town over the holiday. Miss Mary Hill is visiting Miss Viola Hall for an indefinite time.

MRS. ELLEN CUSHMAN
Mrs. Ellen E. Cushman, widow of Capt. Frank Cushman died at her home early Sunday morning, the end coming suddenly and peacefully after an illness of several months. The deceased, born July 25, 1843, was the elder daughter of the late Harvey and Lucy Foster Barnes of Rockville where she spent her girlhood until her marriage to Capt. Cushman, since which time Rockland had been her home. A woman of noble character and deeply interested in world events, she was ever an interesting companion among friends and in no place was she more deeply loved than in her family. She is survived by one son, Capt. John P. Cushman of Philadelphia; and two daughters, Miss Castera Cushman of Rockville and Mrs. Theresa H. Millett, who has resided with her mother.

DELCO HEAT

SO THAT'S WHAT AN OIL BURNER IS... BET IT COSTS A HEAP TO RUN!

NOPE! THAT'S A DELCO HEAT AND DAD SAYS IT'S CHEAP AS ANYTHING!

The answer... Delco Heat BURNS 95% AIR AND ONLY 5% OIL!

That sounds like a mighty big statement... but we're prepared to show you! Come in and we'll prove everything we claim for Delco Heat.

Delco Heat's amazing economy is due to the "Delco Fuel Control." This is an ingenious invention resulting from General Motors' years of experience in carburetion development. It accurately meters the oil so that 95% air is used to only 5% oil, at all times! That is real oil burner economy. But even Delco Heat's first cost is gratifyingly low. And Delco Heat is so completely automatic. So quiet. So clean. So sturdy built. So simple... only one moving part! After our factory-trained mechanics install Delco Heat, you simply set the thermostat—and sit back. Don't put off the comfort, convenience and economy of Delco Heat. If you've already laid in your fuel supply, we'll take it off your hands and exchange it for fuel oil! So now—there's not a single reason left why you shouldn't come in and see Delco Heat demonstrated, is there? Or mail the coupon. Today!
