THE GARDEN CLUB

Discusses Some of the Civic Improvements Which May Be Undertaken

The September meeting of the Garden Club was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. David Talbot, an informal program replete with information, ideas and suggestions being presented.

The chairman touched upon the recent flower show, expressing appreciation for co-operation given in making it a success in the short time allotted for preparation, and announced that Mrs. Helen Lamb had consented to direct next year's show. Recalling her efficient direction of this year's show, this is very gratifying to the members. At the January meeting the general committee and classes will be announced, so that members, and all others interested, will be able to order seeds and plan their gardens with view of displaying in next year's show. The club will conduct an open garden day next summer, designed for members only. Responding to inquiries regarding guests for club meetings the chairman explained that the privilege of taking guests should be confined to house guests, persons in the city from out of town belonging to garden clubs, and persons who show a desire to become members. In any case those Gertrude Wooster, who has to obtain a place for meetings and other chairs. A sale of perennials and bulbs in fall and spring was discussed.

The program was opened by Mrs. Leola Wiggin with a presentation of suggestions for civic improvement which might be undertaken by the Garden Club, among which were: Steps taken to prevent children and adults crossing lawns and other person's property; to compel garbage collectors to cover their wagons or trucks when passing through the city streets; to have the city dump chemically treated to allay distressing fumes; to take steps to prevent breakage of windows in unoccupied houses and promiscuous destruction of property; to have homeowners and tenants keep grass and weeds removed from ditches in front of houses and to keep sidewalks in front of houses swept clean; to have unemployed men being aided by the city put to work clearing away the tall grass, worm ridden bushes, burdocks, etc., that grow along some of the city streets, particularly on the outskirts of the city; to have these same men keep the principal streets, such as Main and lower Park swept clean of

THE PHEASANT ON TRIAL

Knox Fish and Game Association Asks That the Hunters Help Protect Them

The open season on upland game birds begins next Monday, and it is fitting at this time to bring to the attention of the sportsmen in this county their added responsibility and the extreme caution of making sure before you shoot.

For the past few years many individuals have been liberating pheasants, believing that another game bird would be an asset to the county and more game for the sportsmen. After careful study by the Department of Inland Fisheries and Game the pheasant was found worthy of consideration and inasmuch as they had survived throughout the winter months their stamina was beyond question. Two years ago Commissioner Stobie established a game farm at Gray, Me., with a young man from this county, McNeil Brown of Rockland in charge. Mr. Brown, a graduate of the Game Conservation Institute, Clinton, N. J. has been very successful in the difficult work of raising pheasants to maturity and this year about 2500 birds have been liberated in different parts of the State. Of this number 125 have been liberated in this county and a similar number in the counties of Waldo and Lincoln.

Bird hunters this fall no doubt will flush them occasionally, but with a reasonable amount of care they can easily be distinguished from the partridge. The male bird with its long tailfeathers cannot be mistaken and the female, quite unlike the partridge will run very fast before taking wing.

If these birds are protected, and with the output from the pheasant farm increased each year, it is reasonable to assume that within a very few years they will have increased in sufficient numbers to warrant an open season. The pheasant is on trial this fall, it is either pheasants for a few now or pheasants for all in the future. It's up to you sportsmen!

LIFE TO BUILD ANEW

So Says Jessie B. Costello In Response To C. M. Lawry's Congratulations

Among those who followed the recent Costello trial with keen interest, and sent a congratulatory note after Mrs. Costello's acquittal, was Charles M. Lawry of this city. Yesterday he was much pleased to receive this reply:

Peabody, Mass., Sept. 27
Dear Friend:
You probably know the confusion of my life since my arrival home. I hope you will understand and will accept my apologies for being unable earlier to send you this little note of thanks for your kindness to me.

Life brings trouble to all of us, of one sort or another and I learned when I was going through mine that the kind words you and other friends offered me were the source of my greatest comfort.

Please accept these words as from my heart and be assured that your kindness to me will be with me through all my life. I have my whole life to build anew. I do so with the confidence that your well wishes are still with me and the three children which God has given me to care for. Again I thank you.
Sincerely yours,
Jessie B. Costello

AWHEEL IN THE WILDERNESS

Being the Story Of Mt. O-J-I and the Country's Third Largest Storage Basin

(By the Roving Reporter—First Installment)

Twenty-five miles above Ripogenus Dam, in the Northern Maine wilds, Nature carved the initials "O. J. I." on the side of a lofty mountain in the Katahdin range. For many centuries she regarded in silent admiration her own handiwork, but a year ago her complacent mood changed into a petulant one, and she proceeded to efface the insignia at which so many generations have gazed in awe. Down the steep declivity she poured three streams of rocks and soil, the avalanche completely obliterating the initials which had been engraved on the mountain side and leaving three white scars, in one of which the natives see a magnified fork and in another a spoon of the same generous dimensions.

"O. J. I." as the mountain will probably continue to be known for many more centuries is one of the show places of Northern Maine, and to reach this mecca one makes a 50-mile pilgrimage through virgin forest, much of which would be classed as a very decent road but for the fact that it is covered with rocks and gravel which rain constantly against protesting mudguards. The last three miles of the journey (or the last three we made) was over a wood road, from which giant stumps had recently been removed. The road twisted and turned, but imbedded in ruts which were from three to eight inches deep, the wheels of our car follow it faithfully. The width of the road is a few inches more than the width of the car, and in the three miles we did not see more than that number of possible sidings. What would have happened had we met another car in that woodland maze is not pleasant to contemplate.

A Gauntlet Of Colors
After all it was worth the while, for one must penetrate that deep into the forest to worship at the shrine of "O. J. I." and in those 50 miles we passed constantly through a gauntlet of brilliant hues autumn foliage—green, yellow and crimson, woven into a pattern which would have plunged a Smyrna rug-maker into a state of ecstasy. The frost king comes early to the North Woods, and we had passed Charleston before we saw that his gentle touch had appreciably altered the summer greens.

It was an early get-away which Edward Gonia and I made last Sunday morning and we saw a gorgeous sun jump out of its Atlantic shower bath and hide coyly behind low-hanging clouds. The one-way traffic on the Camden outskirts necessitated by the State's construction work was easily negotiated, for ours was the only car in motion. Rockland motorists who have not been over this road in the past fortnight are going to be vastly surprised when they see what is happening to Springbrook Hill, a place which is always associated in my mind with one of the earliest automobile accidents in which a Rockland boy—now one of Waterville's leading attorneys—was concerned.

The Valley Of Clams
The flag was flying thus early at Beach Inn, Lincolnville, and Mrs. McIntyre was ready to produce the hot breakfast she had promised. Beach Inn has had a wonderful season, but just now is thoroughly homesick because of the departure of those smart Burgess girls. Stella has gone to White Plains, N. Y., where she will take a special course at the Bloomingdale Hospital, and where she may be addressed at the Student Nurses Home.

In the Belfast sector one is impressed by the number of Dickey signs—real estate and insurance. The founder of that agency, Orrin J. Dickey, now deceased, was one of my early newspaper friends, and was well known to the local Sons of Veterans. A fine fellow and a good booster for Belfast.

The fresh clam dealers were early on the spot. I have often wondered just how this industry got such a flourishing foothold in the Penobscot valley. I have certainly not seen its counterpart elsewhere along the entire length of the Maine coast, to say nothing of its valleys. Turning that sharp corner at Stockton Springs you pass through a long and solid lane of maples—green when we rode through it, but a little later to be one of the most attractive avenues in the State. Winterport has a wayside store with an attractive name—"Sunnybrae."

Some Things They Sell
Leaving Bangor we take Route 105 for Dover-Foxcroft traversing a fine stretch of cement highway, which eventually resolves itself into bituminous macadam. It was a beautiful morning ride, but we were not so much absorbed in scenery that we failed to notice evidences of commercialism. According to the signs along this highway they want to sell clams, cows, honey, sweet cider, vegetables, eggs and fresh eggs, and most persistent of all were the "Old Gold" signs which have starred at me in the Provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Quebec and in the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York. I make no doubt that there are some in the island of Sulu.

Farmers are oft-times given to poetical inclinations. For instance in East Corinth is an estate which proudly bears the name "Sun-Kist Farm," and it specializes in nice looking Jersey cattle.

A Wonderful Vista
Comes now the town of Charleston with the fine structure which everybody knows to be Higgins Classical Institute. Three students are out for an early suitor, but neither is Ken Wiggin, Bun Freeman or Norm Cannon, the three Rockland boys who are quite certain to star on the school's football team this fall. Wiggin, by the way, is captain of the eleven. On the outskirts of Charleston is one of the most beautiful and expansive views I have seen anywhere in Maine.

Nearly every field that we now pass has its quota of barrels, and these will soon be filled with "Murphies." Who in the world eats all of the potatoes that are grown in Maine?
Odd names claim an observer's attention on these trips, and in Dover-Foxcroft I saw one which read "House on the Knolls Farm." The Lions Club is in evidence at Guilford, and at one side of the highway is one of those much discussed contrivances known as a covered bridge—a relic of the dim past, and no longer pay to use unless somebody gets caught in a shower. Much more modern is the Piscataquis Valley Country Club.

Always Gas At Greenville
The early frosts must have destroyed the foreign car crop for we get all the way to Guilford before we see one which does not carry a Maine license. In a former letter I have mentioned Monson's slate quarries and slate roofs, but perhaps I neglected to say anything about the narrow gauge railroad. Apparently they are planning to build a new highway from Monson toward Greenville, but to me the present road looked much better than many we have in this part of the State.

We reached Greenville on the lower end of Moosehead Lake at 9.30 a. m. and I realize that Ed has been pushing his Plymouth along at a goodly gait; in fact the needle pointed to 50 before it did to 40. Obeying a timely warning we "filled up" at a Greenville gas station, for such animals are few and far between after you leave Greenville and the stories we had heard about prices reminded me of the dime novels I used to read in which Jesse James, Claude Duval, et al., played the leading roles. The difference seemed to be that Jesse and Claude had guns.

BODY STILL UNIDENTIFIED

All Of the Officials Believe That the Stranger Found At Easter's Cove Was Slain

The remains of the unknown man found Sunday morning at Easter's Cove, an apparent victim of foul play, will be entombed today, and there held the customary period for possible identification.

A further autopsy was made Tuesday by Dr. Julius Gottlieb, pathologist of the Central Maine Hospital in Lewiston, and the results are being awaited with interest, as is the analysis of the tissues sent Monday to Augusta.

None of the officials working on the case seems to have any doubt of foul play.
Who was this mysterious stranger? Whence did he come? What motive lay behind the slaying? Where did that slaying occur? Who committed the deed?

Questions which may never be answered in spite of the diligent investigation being conducted by city, county and State.

The most interesting development yesterday was the appearance in the afternoon of J. M. Gottlieb of Massena, N. Y., a traveling salesman, whose name appeared on the pencil stub found on the body. In many quarters it was believed that he was the victim, and The Courier-Gazette is in receipt of a letter from a New York bakery concern, to which he sold, asking for a story of the crime and his obituary. Mr. Gottlieb visited the Burpee rooms, saw the body, but was unable to identify it. He did say that the kind of pencil found on it was in use three years ago.

It was also brought out that the man had sometime been the victim of an accident which resulted in the fracture of his third, fourth and fifth ribs, on the right side.
The report that the man stopped at a rooming house on Park street last week proved to be incorrect. After seeing the photographs the proprietress was convinced that the man was a stranger to her.

Educator From Dixie So Declared At Teachers' Convention—Morse New President

The annual Knox County Teachers' convention was held in this city Monday, with a registration of 186. The principal speakers were Hon. James H. Hope, State superintendent of schools, in South Carolina, who has been an educator in the South for many years, and who occupies a prominent place in educational circles in the country, and Dr. E. B. Bryan, president of Ohio University, a former president of Colgate University and who 30 years ago established the educational system in the Philippine Islands. They were two of the most brilliant speakers and educators the Knox County convention has been privileged to hear.

UNION FAIR IS UNDERWAY

Track Record Twice Broken In Yesterday's Races—The Drawing Events

North Knox Fair opened at Union yesterday, with an attendance of about 5000 in spite of the extremely unpromising weather. The clouds cleared away at noon, however, and the races were held under most favorable conditions. The fireworks were held last night, a very interesting display, but rain drove most of the patrons to cover when the evening's festivities were at their height.

The Wednesday Races
Lovers of turf sport got a lot for their money in these events, and among other things saw the track record lowered twice. All this happened in the 2.16 class, the first heat of which was captured by Wilma Scott in 2.09 1/4. This knocked half a second off the track record held by Henry of Navarre, and Wilma's backers felt there was little to worry about. But there was, nevertheless, for in the next heat Klata Direct came down the stretch in 2.07 1/4, this mare took the next two heats and race.

There was a deal of enthusiasm in the stand when C. Earle Ludwick, starter, announced this new track record. And in passing it may be said that Earle handled the several events on the card in his best style. There were no long waits, no excess scoring, and every entrant was with Mr. Ludwick's customary fairness.

Klata Direct, the new track record holder, is by Braden Direct, and owned by Nick Walton of Unity. Wilma Scott, who held that honor briefly is owned by Joe Robinson of Oxford, and was sired by Peter Scott. The 2.23 class was won in straight heats by Nate Volo, sired by Dillon Volo, and owned by George Smith of Groveton, N. H. In the same manner Betty Curtis, sired by Atlantic Express, and owned by F. G. Colburn of Farmington, won the 2.20 class.

Close finishes marked the day's races. The summary:
2.16 Class—Purse $250
Klata Direct (Foye) 2 11 1
Wilma Scott (Jordan) 1 2 2 2
Emily June (Meador) 3 5 3 4
Marda Harvester (Hodgkins) 4 3 5 3
Effie Hall also started.
Time, 2.09 1/4, 2.07 1/4, 2.10 1/4, 2.10 1/4.
2.23 Class—Purse $200
Nate Volo (Jordan) 1 1 1
Frank Abbe (Dyer) 2 2 4
Direct Patchen (Butler) 3 5 2
Jennie Geddes (Colburn) 5 3 3
Watts' Signal and Emphatic also started.
Time, 2.11 1/4, 2.13 1/4, 2.11 1/4.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

IT NEVER COMES AGAIN
There are gains for all our losses. There are gains for all our pains. But when youth, the dream, departs, It takes something from our hearts, And it never comes again.

We are stronger, and are better. Under manhood's sternest reign: Still we feel that something sweet Followed youth, with flying feet, And will never come again.
Something beautiful is vanished. And we sigh for it in vain; We behold it everywhere. On the earth, and in the air. But it never comes again.
—Richard Henry Stoddard.

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

In thee, O Lord do I put my trust;
For thou art my rock and my fortress;
therefore, for thy name's sake lead me and guide me.—Psalm 31:1-3.

MODEST ABOUT IT

Ex-President Herbert Hoover got an enthusiastic reception when he paid his visit to the Century of Progress exhibition in Chicago. If he had permitted that attention the people would have whooped it up for him, and Mrs. Hoover, with even greater emphasis, but protesting that he was "just a common garden variety of American citizen," the distinguished visitor went about the business of sight-seeing with a smiling countenance and no sense of regret at declining the honors. A level-headed gentleman, whom the country continues to honor and will increasingly do so now that the hysterics of election time have spent themselves and the great things that Herbert Hoover has done for the world, both in private and public capacity, resume their proper place of recognition in the hearts and minds of the people.

THOSE METHODIST FOLK

The Methodists of Maine, who have just been celebrating the 140th anniversary of the setting up of their denominational work in this corner of New England, have had a good bit of creditable achievement to lend point to that recognition. It was a solitary horseman (not the might-have-been seen one of the popular James) who from Boston brought into these wilderness regions near the close of the 18th century the form of preaching which was destined to become a prominent feature in the civilizing processes of which this Massachusetts district sorely stood in need. We have not at hand data dealing with the coming of Methodism to this eastern coast section, but it was early in the 19th century, we think in 1828, that the meeting-house on Union street of the then Shore Village of Thomaston was built upon land donated by Andrew Ulmer, the building, which with much later remodeling, continues to be carried on the work of this active and beneficent organization. Throughout this century of time the men and women (mostly women) who have busied themselves with the life of this Methodist Church of Rockland have contributed gloriously to the success of it, and their works do follow them. A fine record.

THE FAIR AT UNION

The roads that lead to Union are now seeing themselves much trodden with the public that always throngs these annual feast days of the Union Fair. The culminating features that present themselves today will be waited upon by visitors from regions near and remote, attracted by the programs which reproduce the life of the past and present in addition numerous features that illustrate a modern progress in which all these people share. The success which has grown with this Knox County autumnal event will not in this instance be wanting, reflecting thereby an increasing and deserved honor upon the loyal and progressive management.

ANCIENT DRIVERS

The story of Frank Fox, 82 years old, who last week drove the winner at the West Cumberland Fair, arouses natural interest in the subject of noted drivers who have held on to the reins far into life. We had lots of them here in Knox County, in those days when the horse in every channel of his activities was apotheosized. If to illustrate we should name in the connection that hero of the turf, Gil Ingraham, as he was everywhere known, we can see the face of the reader light up. Gil Ingraham, who built a private track on his farm at West Rockport and there produced a breed of horses that became conspicuous on many a circuit, where their owner himself often brought them in as winners. How old Gil got to be we are not able to say, but he was a gray, gray man when last we saw him, guiding with one firm hand his racer down the home stretch, while with the other hand he waved to the field, raved out behind him, to "come on."

A REAL HUMORIST

"You know me, Al," became a nation-wide byword, out of which was fashioned the beginnings of reputation as a humorist which made Ring Lardner famous. His death brings loss to that great circle of people who enjoy the type of humor that is fresh, unique and leaves its reader without after regrets. The humorous writer is usually for his own generation, with those passing what he has written is apt also to fade out of sight; but there is a quality to Lardner peculiarly his own, which should long possess the power to entertain and charm.

NOTICING

Have any of this paper's readers, gifted with the noticing faculty, noticed—

THAT summer traffic is giving here and there evidence of lightening, but not violently so.

THAT the reason Main street looks so clean when you come down to it in the morning is because men were out at 4 o'clock sweeping up the previous 24-hours debris.

THAT the motor cars conveying children to and from school exceed in number the city's entire car registration of not so many years ago.

THAT the letter you were going to reply to at once still lies there on the desk unanswered, but tomorrow you'll certainly attend to it. Sure.

THAT our city isn't at all jealous of other cities and would cheerfully be left out of the first page poster type murder publicity.

THAT there's no Main street man earlier on the job than Lester Sherman and that the Beech street folks at breakfast say they can set their clocks by him.

THAT the copious rains with which you've been inclined to find fault are responsible for the retained autumnal lushness of trees, lawns and meadows.

THAT since civilization asserted itself it has been impossible for the head of the family in serving the fish to omit a warning "Look-out-for-the-bones."

THAT Rockland does a very neat piece of business in caring for these end of the season conventions and always gets a good word from those who attend them.

THAT when you visited your convalescent friend at the hospital, and both got so much pleasure out of it, you resolved to repeat the ceremony every time you get a chance.

THAT the rising of smoke from an increasing number of chimneys is an additional manifestation that cooler weather has arrived.

THAT you've been learning the good features of practiced economy in so many directions that you're all in a glow of satisfaction over the times which laid the necessity upon you.

THAT you find it impossible, reading the daily papers, to avoid the conclusion that the Roosevelt family is a very busy one.

THAT you continue to harbor the hope that some change of style is soon going to rid us of those funny unbecoming skull-cap hats the girls continue to wear with that one-sided twist.

FRANK PIPER'S CHOICE

Names A Young Man He Fully Believes Qualified For Mayor

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Obedient your invitation to "shoot 'em along," I am suggesting a man I would like to see mayor. He was born here in this town, and well known at one time. He is a man who has traveled the greater part of these United States, giving him a wide range of comparisons. He is a man who at one time was general manager of one of the largest inter-state bus lines in New York proving he has management ability. This was a $200,000 corporation. At one time he was chairman of the A.F.M. Governing Board, with a membership of over 17,000. This should prove he has the executive ability. He was for two years general contractor for one of the largest theatrical enterprises in New York and to hold this position two years proves that he can handle men and get results as this is a six months' job as a rule.

As to his education he went to school here in Maine and also attended the Howard & Brown's Business college in this city. He studied private law for a while in New York. Although not passing the bar he has plenty education to be mayor of this city.

I have had the pleasure of being in his company a great deal the past year, and have heard him explain what this city needs and his idea of cutting down taxes, giving work to the unemployed, making good use of our beautiful harbor, even getting the people who are on the town to pay their own way.

He is a young man, modern in all respects and a fighter for what's right. If these are not the right qualifications a mayor should have I would like to read the qualifications of some of the other candidates.

The man I have the extreme pleasure of suggesting is O. R. Lewis, a native son.

ISLAND TRADE COMING

On its winter schedule which starts Oct. 1st and ends June 1st the winter mail boat of the Thomaston-Monhegan and Boothbay Harbor line will run to Monhegan from Thomaston, instead of going to Boothbay Harbor, as in past years.

This means that the Monhegan trade will come to Thomaston and Rockland this winter, and it goes without saying that these communities will do their level best to make the Monhegan folks feel at home, and give them the best service that their excellent stores and professional officers afford.

Besides giving the island folks the benefit of "bigger and better" commercial advantages, there is also the matter of direct train communication.

The Courier-Gazette believes that all concerned will be pleased with the new arrangement.

MET AT ST. PETER'S

Woman's Auxiliary, Maine Diocese, Holds Largely Attended Sessions Here

The quarterly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Maine took place at St. Peter's Church, on Monday and Tuesday, with a registration of 150, and marked with keen interest throughout.

The opening session was a vesper service Monday evening at 7:30 when Samuel Dennis, a young Hindu recently converted from Buddhism, was the speaker. This young man, (he is 23) is in this country studying economics and social life, and is already remarkably well read in our language and versed in our idioms. He is a free lance while here, not sponsored by any group, but has already made several speaking appearances with pronounced success. His address was stimulating.

Tuesday morning a corporate communion for the women was held, with Bishop Benjamin Brewster as celebrant. Breakfast was served in the Undercroft, with Mr. Dennis conducting a forum which brought out much interest. The business sessions were held, through the kindness of Miss Ellen Daly, superintendent of Knox Hospital, in the assembly room of the Bok Memorial Nurses' Home. Miss Marguerite Ogden of Portland, president of the diocesan auxiliary, presided. Among the speakers were Mrs. Edna Flagg, Mrs. Charles B. Clark and Mrs. Lucas, of Portland; Mrs. Kenneth C. M. Sills of Brunswick; Miss Mary Campbell of Portland; Miss Nancy Holt of New York; Miss Edna Robinson, Sanford; Miss Darlene Hunkley of Rangeley; the Misses Wyson of Philadelphia, Miss Abbott of China and Newcastle, and the closing address by Bishop Brewster.

Among the clergy present were the Very Rev. J. Arthur Glasier, Dean of the Cathedral Church of St. Luke, Portland; Rev. Ralph H. Hayden of Camden; Rev. Tom Akley of Gardiner; Rev. Ezra Ferris of Portland;

WHEN CALIFORNIANS MEET

First Thing They Talk About Is Maine's Superiority—Messrs. Hutton and Clark

Two Maine men, who adopted California as their place of abode—one to stay possibly the remainder of his years, and the other already back for keeps—met by accident in The Courier-Gazette office yesterday afternoon, and a bewildered reporter who tried to keep track of their rapid-fire conversation, gathered principally that there was nothing out around the Golden Gate that can compare with Maine or its products. One of the men was Eubertus Clark, formerly of St. George, who has been located the past seven years in National City, Calif., and who has now come back to New England to stay. The other was William J. Hutton, also formerly of St. George, who has made his home for many years in Los Angeles, and who may spend the rest of his life there through force of circumstances.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark started East two weeks ago, traveling by bus as far as Providence, being six nights and five days on the road. They came through the Devil's Canyon in Arizona a trail so crooked that the letter S would look straight by comparison, according to Mr. Clark. They inspected the Coolidge Dam and pronounce it a wonderful project.

Mr. Clark went away from Rockland 15 years ago, and was located for 14 months in Providence, where he was married to his second wife. He went from there to California, but twice returned to New England before locating in National City, where for five years he had charge of the National City Park. His travels have carried him through 38 States. He says that business in that part of California is "dead flat" and while there are some things he likes on the Pacific Coast he doesn't like them well enough to stay there.

Mr. Hutton entered the office at this juncture and the two men were quite naturally delighted to make each other's acquaintance. One of Mr. Clark's grievances seemed to be that he could not obtain good pork in California, a fact which Mr. Hutton promptly attributed to the alfalfa feed. Neither would admit that California fish are as good as those caught around St. George.

Mr. Hutton came East with his daughters—Mrs. Charles B. Strachan and Mrs. Eleanor H. Smith. The former is still here, but Mrs. Smith has returned to Los Angeles. Mr. Hutton says he's going "soon," but if his excellent host, George Brown, has his way, it will not be very soon.

"I go down on George's long wharf and I am perfectly contented," said Mr. Hutton. "He feeds me lobsters, clams, haddock, hake and mackerel and it seems as if I cannot get enough. And the smell of the rockweed puts vim in me. I think I must have gained ten pounds since I came East this time, and my health always improves when I am here."

His grip was firm, and his eyes flashed with the keenness of youth.

One thing Mr. Hutton especially likes about California is the fact that you can get fresh fruit and vegetables right from the gardens and orchards any day in the year.

"Business was always rushing in California before the depression," said Mr. Hutton, "but now real estate has gone down, there is no building, and the mechanics who went there are left stranded. The county has to care for many persons."

"What effect is the code likely to have?" Mr. Hutton was asked.

"That," replied the man from Los Angeles, "is a ticklish matter. I wouldn't dare to predict how it is going to come out."

Mr. Hutton doesn't agree with President Roosevelt's attitude on the run question and was surprised at the result in Maine.

STRAND THEATRE

"Best of Enemies," new romantic comedy, is showing Friday. Buddy Rogers and Marian Nixon have the featured roles. The story details a romance between two youngsters whose personal lives are inextricably bound up with passing events. Their bringing up, their daily lives, belonging, as they do, to a familiar class of Americans, give rise to a number of barriers that must be overcome.

Who killed Frann Faber? Who mercilessly did away with young Thomas Brandt on the very night he pledged his love to beautiful Irene Von Helldorf? What dastardly

NUNN-BUSH ANKLE FASHION OXFORDS
$6-50

One of America's most noted authorities on leather and shoe construction referred, enthusiastically, to what he called the genius in NUNN-BUSH shoes. He went on to say that no shoes in the world were made with greater honesty and skill, and that among all the experts of his acquaintance this was the common conviction. Men who have been wearing this popular shoe will be pleased to learn that they can continue to purchase them in Rockland.

WEATHER

Morning advices promise clearing weather and not quite so warm, with humidity lower and moderate northwest winds. But more specifically we note the early clearing of the skies allied with a hopeful confidence that the sun is immediately going to take over the matter of drying the grounds and so making possible another of those successful days at Union Fair. Rains have persisted throughout the week but better things are predicted.

Major Talbot, Aldrich's yacht Bethulia has been hauled out at the Snow's yard for the winter.

Capt. Charles R. Magee is having a week's vacation from his duties as deputy collector of customs.

William H. Gleneden, Jr. has bought and will occupy the new Kirtledge house on Shaw avenue.

Clover Leaf Troop Girl Scouts will begin their winter meetings Monday at 4 o'clock at the Congregational vestry.

Baseball fans are offered another treat at Tugus Sunday when the Philadelphia Giants play there with Jackman and White as battery. Don Brennan of the New York Yankees will pitch for Tugus.

Here are three more suggested names in connection with the Republican mayoralty nomination—Joshua N. Southard, Col. Basil H. Stinson and J. Donald Coughlin.

On account of Mr. Rounds' vacation trip to Wisconsin there will be no preaching services at the Congregational Church for the next two Sundays. Sunday School will be held as usual at 12 o'clock.

The Canton Blues which meet the Rockland Shells at Community Park Sunday afternoon have the reputation of being one of the best teams in Portland, where it has been meeting all-comers the past 11 years. Vito Mannone will be in the Rockland lineup Sunday at left end.

The Penobscot Bay Dental Club held its meeting at the Copper Kettle, Saturday evening. The guest speaker was Dr. Alton T. Sweet, past president of the Maine Dental Society and Secretary of State Board of Examiners. His subject was "Safeguarding the Interest of the Profession, Through Organized Dentistry thereby Protecting the Public from Unethical and Illegal Practice."

Twenty-five alleys in the State were represented at Sunday's meeting of the bowling alley NRA group. Harry Fitzgerald and John Thomas were present and united with a majority of the other proprietors in the effort to hold the price down to two strings for a quarter. A tendency was manifest to boost the prices to 15 cents per string straight but the old prices will prevail locally for the present at least in the interest of all bowlers.

Capt. S. E. Willard, U.S.A. who has been in charge of the C.C.C. camp at Southwest Harbor this summer is now on a leave of absence, at the conclusion of which he will resume his duties as instruction officer for the Coast Artillery battalion to which the Rockland and Thomaston batteries belong. This is exceedingly gratifying to the National Guardsmen and Capt. Willard's other friends here. Accompanied by his son Robert he has been on a trip to the World's Fair in Chicago.

Miss Marion Starrett has resumed her duties at the Maine Music Store after four months' absence.

Duck hunting in Maine will be legal within a half hour of sunrise next Monday, Commissioner Stobie has informed inquiring sportsmen.

Miss Anne McLaughlin has resumed her duties at the store of Senter Crane Co. after spending a delightful vacation in Washington, D. C. New York and other places.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Parent-Teacher Association at the High School Friday at 7.30. It is important that every member be present. Plans will be made for the coming year's work.

Extensive plans are being completed for the three one-day sessions of the annual Sunday School convention to be held for the church and Sunday School workers of Maine under the auspices of the Maine Council of Religious Education, Wednesday, Oct. 11 at Pittsfield; Thursday, Oct. 12, at Biddeford; and Friday, Oct. 13, at South Paris. The annual business meeting and election of officers of the Maine Council will take place at the South Paris session.

Carl L. Thurston, on his way to the Century of Progress in Chicago, visited the wonderful Howe Caverns near Cobleskill, N. Y. The colorful, vaulted ceilings are perfectly reflected in the crystal like water of the lake which is about 600 feet long and quite tortuous. Modern passenger elevators, electric lights, well-kept paths and pure air make the walk through the most spectacular natural wonder in Northeastern United States easy and never-to-be-forgotten.

It was learned at the office of the Lawrence Portland Cement Company this morning that the quarrying of limestone for cement manufacture will be suspended after Saturday. It was said that grinding would continue indefinitely and that the manufacture of lime would not be interrupted.

Capt. W. H. Wincapaw returned yesterday in the plane La Touraine owned by the coffee company of which Adriel U. Bird is the head, after attending the Chicago Fair with Mr. Bird and William Ireland. On the flight back they visited Indianapolis, Louisville, Columbus, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh and Newark, spending Tuesday night in New York. Capt. Wincapaw returns today to Boston.

At a special meeting of Ruth Mayhew Tent Monday night it was voted to conduct an all-day rummage sale Oct. 16, with Mrs. Carrie House as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Lizzie French and Mrs. Irene Winslow. The annual inspection takes place tomorrow evening, with Mrs. Emma Derwent, department inspecting officer, in charge. Supper will precede inspection, the housekeepers to be Mrs. Lizzie French, Mrs. Belle Bowley and Mrs. Susie Karl.

Directors of the Central Maine Power Company have declared the 108th consecutive preferred stock dividend of the company, as follows: a regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on 7 per cent Preferred, a regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the 6 per cent Preferred and a regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the Preferred Stock $6 Dividend Series. The above dividends are payable Oct. 1 to all stockholders of record Sept. 10, it was announced.

A value smashing trade-in sale of Firestone tires and batteries is opening today at Fireproof Garage and will continue through Oct. 6. Up to 20 per cent is offered on tires and liberal allowances will be made on batteries on trade-ins. THE EXTROVERTS RULE

Psycho-Analysis Tried At Educational Club Meeting—Interesting Results

Stimulated by Dr. Farrington's illuminating address at Minnie Miles' picnic recently, the Woman's Educational Club instituted a game of Psycho-analysis, and so popular did it prove that it will be played again at future meetings. "Building Personality," treated by the expert psychologist who heads the famous Bancroft School of New Jersey, is an inspiring topic and when it was supplemented by members volunteering to psycho-analyze themselves and others desiring to be psycho-analyzed by the group of over 30 as introverts or extroverts, it was discovered that the number of extroverts predominate, though time did not permit all who wished to be dissected mentally and emotionally.

Psychology in its department of human relations has been chosen for club study for the ensuing year and much sport is expected for all able to follow the full course.

Ballots written to make selection of the two executive board members most gifted in the line of club salesmanship to conduct immediate solicitation for expansion of membership to every girl and woman complimented Bertha Orbeton and Etta Covey as first choice and they are directing an intensive campaign for new members and renewals. These two had been key women and previous prize winners in this club activity and exceptional results are expected by Maine's largest woman's study club, for which Gov. Rann is definitely scheduled to speak this season.

Ray Thompson, president of the Kennebec Valley Cooperative Creamery, in a letter to C. W. Champney, president of the Penobscot County Farm Bureau, said: "There are over 300 bona fide farmers who own this Creamery. About one year ago 60% of the cream was arriving at this Creamery so high in acid that approximately 180 farmers had to take a price of 6 cents less than if the cream had been properly handled. As a result of letters and calls by the County Agent these 180 farmers are now receiving top price. This meant at least an average increase in the income of these 180 farmers of approximately $500 per month."

"For eight years I have been keeping a poultry account and I would no more forget to put down an item than I would forget to feed my hens," says Mrs. Susie Bean, Auburn. Poultry account books are furnished by county extension agents. At the end of the year the account is summarized for each account keeper, but figures are kept confidential. Accounts start November 1.

VOICES

(For The Courier-Gazette)
Sitting by the open window,
On this perfect autumn day,
I hear children's voices echo
As they sing and shout in play.

Voices of the traveling hucksters,
As their wares they loudly sing,
Telling housewives of their bargains—
Through the air their voices ring.

Voices of the neighbors chatting,
Telling of their work and woe,
And discussing local data—
These are wafted to and fro.

Voices of the birds and insects,
Trilling melodies so sweet,
Voices of the crawling creatures
That creep upon under feet.

Voices of the winds that rustle,
Making music 'mid the leaves,
As they dance in rhythmic measure
On the branches of the trees.

Voices of the saw and hammer,
Of the mower on the grass,
Telling each of work-day labor
And results each brings to pass.

Voices of the airplanes flying
Like the birds high up in air,
Telling of the march of progress
And of glorious visions fair.

Sitting by the open window,
Falls upon the listening ear
Subtle music, sweetly wafted,
Music of the earthly sphere.

Elizabeth O. Marsh.

Mrs. Maude Peaslee entertained the Needlecraft Club Wednesday evening, featuring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. H. W. Fifield.

Dr. R. H. Thompson has returned to Forrest Hills, Mass.

Mrs. F. E. Small and Mrs. Agnes Blanchard and son Richard, who have been recent guests at the Ames Farm, have returned to Rochester, N. H.

Wednesday of last week was an ideal day for an auto ride so Mrs. Mary Leadbetter, Mrs. Ruth Beverage, Mrs. Lucy Poole and Mrs. Harriet Duncan with Eleanor Thornton as chauffeur crossed the ferry from North Haven to the shores of Vinalhaven, there to spend the day in sight seeing. The party arrived at the Ames Farm in time to be dinner guests of Mrs. Ella E. Ames, and a very pleasant time was enjoyed. The remainder of the day was spent among relatives and friends, and in visiting various points of interest over the island. It is worthy of note that Aunt Mary Leadbetter is one of those spry old New Englanders who will celebrate her 90th birthday very soon, and she is still able to take auto trips and enjoy picnics as well as those many years younger. Friends at the Ames Farm are hoping and expecting to see her many more years and to have her come and enjoy a dinner with them.

NORTH HAVEN

Monday morning in the fog the Merle Mills boat carried quite a party across the bay to Rockland. Leon Stone, Herman Crockett, Foy Brown are away on town business; Principal Danforth and assistants, Miss Buzzell, Miss Nettie Beverage and Miss Nye attended the teachers' convention in Rockland. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bunker are on a trip to New York, where they will meet Mr. and Mrs. Duncan, and return to North Haven with them in the Duncan car. Others in Rockland are Leslie Dickie and Parker Stone.

Miss Postle Duncan has been confined to the house several days with a severe cold.

Members of De Valois Commandery, K.T., of Vinalhaven numbering 20 or more visited North Haven Sunday. They were the guests at Haven's Inn and thoroughly enjoyed the splendid dinner served by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Crockett.

With the Girls' Choir numbering 11, and the duets Sunday night by Barbara Stone and Margaret Butler, the church services had fine music.

WALDOBORO

Mr. and Mrs. John Hayes and chauffeur, Jimmy Sterns of Quincy, Mass., have been guests of Mrs. Hayes' brothers, John and Nelson Shuman at Feyler's Corner and Suitsus Camp, Back Cove.

The officers of Good Luck Rebekah Lodge for the ensuing year are: Noble grand, Mrs. Muriel Lermond; vice grand, Mrs. Bertha Moody; financial secretary, Mrs. Luella Mason; recording secretary, Mrs. Maude Coffin; treasurer, Mrs. Ethel Benner.

A moose was seen swimming across the river near the Cooney summer residences and on reaching shore, proceeded leisurely across the fields and into the woods. A deer wrecked a sedan and met its own death in the road leading through the Waldoboro woods last week. The accident resulted in serious injuries to William Prentiss, driver of the sedan, and to his young son Donald, who suffered a broken leg. They both were taken to Memorial Hospital, Damariscotta.

EAST UNION

Robbins Family

A pleasant gathering of the Robbins family was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryant in Union, Sept. 19, a month later than its usual custom owing to the illness of the president, H. L. Robbins. There were not as many in attendance as hoped for, but the occasion proved a pleasant one. The honor of being the oldest member present was accorded to Jeruel Hart of Warren, and the youngest was Dorothy Elaine four weeks old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Robbins, and the little seven months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clarke and grandson of the president also made his first appearance, both little ones helping to enliven the occasion.

At the noon hour the table was spread in Mrs. Bryant's dining room with a bountiful repast of good things which found ready favor with the entire company. A business meeting followed and after reading of the records, the obituary committee, Mrs. Doris Robbins spoke very feelingly upon the loss of loved ones from the association since the last meeting. Names of those who have entered the great beyond included Mrs. Geneva Robbins of Appleton, Orrin Woodcock of Cushing, and Miss Hazel Robbins of Lowell, Mass.

These officers were elected: President, H. L. Robbins; vice presidents, Miss Clemmie Robbins, Jeruel Hart and W. J. Robbins; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. May Robbins; obituary, Mrs. Doris Robbins; entertainment, Clemmie Robbins, Marcia Robbins, Mrs. Bryant; committee on location and arrangements, Mrs. Gertrude Clarke, Mrs. Alice Robbins. A brief literary program was presented with violin music interspersed by Mr. Hart; Mrs. Bertha Bryant read "Oh Give Me a House by the Sea," and "The Old Home Folks;" Clemmie Robbins also furnished an original selection; Gertrude Clarke, a humorous reading, "Try To Be the Fellow Your Mother Thinks You Are." All joined in singing familiar hymns, Mrs. Bryant at the piano. An original poem was also read by Mrs. May Robbins, "The Swiftly Passing Years," at the close.

A vote of thanks was extended Mr. and Mrs. Bryant for their kind hospitality. The reunion proved a success and was greatly added to by the president Hampton Robbins being able to be present.

TELLS HOW SHE TOOK 4 INS. OFF HIPS 7 INS. OFF WAIST

In 40 days by taking Kruschen Salts, Mrs. Helga Blough of New York City reduced 26½ lbs.—took 4 inches off hips, 3 inches off bust and 7½ inches off waist. She writes: "I haven't gone hungry a moment—I feel fine and look 10 yrs. younger."

To get rid of double chin, bulging hips, ugly rolls of fat on waist and upper arms SAFELY and without discomfort—at the same time build up glorious health and acquire a clear skin, bright eyes, energy and vivaciousness—to look younger and feel it—take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

One jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle at any drug store the world over. Make sure you get Kruschen because it's SAFE. Money back if not joyfully satisfied.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO DIVE TO THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA

FRANK CRILLEY, champion deep-sea diver of the world, retired naval diver, holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, the Navy Cross and other decorations, about to go over the side in a nerve-racking, deep-sea descent. Crilley says: "I smoke Camels and have smoked them for years. They are a milder cigarette and they taste better. But more important than that to me—they never upset my nervous system."

DIVING FOR FUN calls for healthy nerves, too! You can smoke all you want and never have jangled nerves, if you switch to Camels. The costlier tobaccos in Camels are milder, and they taste better, too!

A MATCHLESS BLEND

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

FRANK CRILLEY says: "Deep down under 300 feet of water, working feverishly under terrific pressure—no place for a nervous man! That's why a diver's nerves must always be in perfect condition. And that's why I smoke Camels and have smoked them for years. They are a milder cigarette and they taste better. But more important than that to me—they never upset my nervous system." His heroic feats prove his statement.

Camel's costlier tobaccos are milder, do taste better. They never get on the nerves. Men and women whose very lives depend on healthy nerves have discovered this. Your nerves will confirm it. Start smoking Camels today and learn the difference.

CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS

NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES... NEVER TIRE YOUR TASTE

"EASY TO SAVE MONEY WITH A DODGE!" say owners

FROM all over the country come these enthusiastic reports. "Amazing how far it goes on a single filling of gas and oil!" says a doctor down in West Virginia. "Surprising gasoline mileage" writes a Pennsylvania man.

"36,000 miles without having valves ground!" ... "More than 10,000 miles without brake adjustments!" ... "Had my Dodge 8 months and never have had springs oiled, but they don't squeak." These are just a few of the economy advantages Dodge owners stress.

See for yourself how you can save money with the new Dodge Six! Ask your dealer to show you the startling comparison between Dodge and other cars on the "Show-Down" Plan basis. "A SAFETY-STEEL BODY SAVED MY LIFE!"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH FRED C. NOBLE, PLYMOUTH SALESMAN, STAMFORD, CONN.

"Ten tons landed on my Plymouth... and I lived to tell the tale!"

FRED C. NOBLE is a Plymouth salesman. But Fred Noble isn't giving you sales talk when he tells you you're safer in a Plymouth.

Fred Noble is alive today because Plymouth has a safety-steel body!

The pictures tell the story. How a three and a half ton truck with a six and a half ton load crashed over on top of Noble's car.

They don't show the terrific impact of those ten tons traveling at 40 miles an hour! They don't show how the force of the crash drove the wheels four and five inches into the solid earth!

But Plymouth is built of steel, reinforced with steel. Fred Noble came out with only one slight scratch!

For your own sake—for your family's sake—travel safely in a modern car. Let the nearest Plymouth dealer show you what safety-steel construction is. You'll never rely on any other kind!

AN HISTORIC ESTATE

Sale of the historic Eugene Hale mansion and 600-acre estate, transferred by U. S. Senator Frederick Hale to Myron L. Carlisle of Ellsworth marks the passing of the property in the Hale family since the house was built in 1896. The new owner plans to occupy the property as a residence and will breed Holstein cattle. The house has been vacant for some time. Distinguished personages were entertained there—Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, James G. Blaine, Vice President Fairbanks, Vice President Hannibal Hamlin, besides scores of others, senators, ambassadors. It was one of the most beautiful estates in eastern Maine. The present house is the second on the site, built in 1896, after a previous residence was burned. Senator Eugene Hale died in 1918.

SEVEN SINS OF ENGLISH

The seven deadly sins of "business English" were named recently by Mrs. Katharine M. Gibbs, president of the Katherine Gibbs School, who listed trite and outmoded expressions which the average business man is all too likely to employ in his letters.

The list follows: "As per your instructions." "Permit us to advise you." "Please find enclosed." "Thanking you in advance." "We beg to acknowledge." "We wish to state." "Your favor of the 12th instant" (or "ultimatum").

After good that a man does lives after him—if he does it.

"ON MY SET"

Well, the summer vacation is over and I will endeavor to publish a few points of radio interest now and then. And in this connection please remember that this department welcomes contributions and queries.

"Broadcasting the News," a talk in which the audience is taken behind the scenes in radio for a glimpse at some of the amusing situations which arise, will be given by Howell Cullinan of the Boston Globe in each section of Eastern Massachusetts and Southern New Hampshire this fall and winter. The other night Mr. Cullinan told anecdotes of a news announcer in the Town Hall in Southboro. Do I need to tell any reader of "On My Set" that Mr. Cullinan is the popular news announcer over WEEI at 8:05 a. m. and 12:15 p. m.

Give your sets a thorough going over before the World Series broadcasts begin, which, as every baseball fan knows, is next Tuesday. You will not want to miss a word that Fred Hoey says.

Mrs. William McAuley has returned home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Stonie Jamison in Boston.

Miss Flora Mae Fernald died Tuesday at her home on Main street. Miss Fernald was a former resident of Portland. The funeral was held here Thursday morning and committal services at 3 p. m. at Forest City cemetery, Portland.

Mrs. Orrington Cross entertained the ladies of the Methodist society Wednesday at her home on Washington street.

There will be a dance in the opera house Friday night under the management of Joseph A. Brewster, and each Friday night throughout the winter. Excellent music will be furnished.

Miss Mary C. Davis will return to her home in Portland next week after spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fish, Pearl street.

The fire department was called out early Wednesday afternoon for a grass fire on Chestnut Hill. It was near the summer residences but was quickly extinguished.

News was received here Tuesday afternoon of the death of Mr. Malden Mass of about C. Gill, 48, following an appendicitis operation. Mr. Gill was born in Charlestown, Mass., but the greater part of his life was spent in Camden. He leaves his wife, his mother Mrs. W. F. Gill of this place one brother William E. Gill of Cambridge, Mass., now abroad on a business trip, and three sisters, Miss Harriet L. Gill of Camden, Mrs. Helen Gill Perry of Rockland and Mrs. Guy Blood of Roslindale, Mass.

This week completes meetings in

Mrs. Charles Hendrickson of West Alna was the first solicitor to send in membership cards. She reported 13 members, obtained in two days following the committee meeting. Mrs. Hendrickson has always been one of the first to report on the campaign. She is very active in Farm Bureau work and attributes much of her success in the poultry business to the help which has been given her through the Farm Bureau by the Extension Service.

Eldon C. Hunt of Damariscotta Mills has completed an addition to his hen house to accommodate 300 pullets this fall. He also feels that the Farm Bureau has been a help to him for he writes "I am sending $1 for membership to the Farm Bureau for next year."

4-H Club Notes

Friendship Sunshine Workers held their local contest recently at the home of Mrs. Florence Hahn. Many mothers and friends attended this last club meeting for the year. All 25 club members were present and some very nice exhibits were on display. Phyllis Felker, secretary of the Sunshine Workers gave a demonstration on making a holder. Six of the club members read stories which they had written on their club work and activities for the year. Blue, red and white ribbons were awarded to the members receiving first, second and third honors. The following girls received first honors: On muffins—Mary Packard, Grace Benner, Louise Burns, Madeline Burns and Madeline Bradford; sewing, Annie Wallace and Ava Wallace.

Donald Calderwood, Doward Smith, Henry Robbins, Richard Linscott and Robert Luce, members of the Jolly Husters 4-H Club of Burketville entertained their parents at their final meeting Sept. 20. Doward Smith, gave a demonstration on Selection of Vegetables for an exhibit and each member read his story on his year's work. Potatoes, beans and pop corn were exhibited by the club members. Doward Smith, Richard Linscott and Donald Calderwood received first honor ribbons and Henry Robbins and Roland Luce received second honor ribbons. After the program the boys presented a box of stationery to their local leader, Mrs. Florence Calderwood. The boys took part in several stunts and then served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Orla Johnston announce the engagement of their daughter Marion, to Edward Sheldon Wright, formerly of Whitefield, N. H. Miss Johnston, while at Lincoln Academy, from which she graduated in 1931, achieved high honors in both scholarship and 4-H Club activities. She enrolled in club work in 1928 and received first honors in sewing her first year. In 1929 she received first honors and was county champion both in canning and sewing and attended Maine 4-H camp in Springfield. In 1930 she received first honors in the cooking and housekeeping project and state championship in sewing. Mr. Wright, class of 1928, Dartmouth College, is teaching Latin and Science at Lincoln Academy. He now resides in Newcastle.

With the Homes

As result of the first week of the membership campaign for Knox-Lincoln Counties the women have 60 members in the Farm Bureau office. Solicitors appointed for the different communities: Boothbay, Mrs. Lottie Butler, Mrs. Margaret Boyd, Mrs. Victoria Adams, Mrs. Agnes Hardwick; Bristol, Mrs. Mary Crocker, Mrs. Jennie Benner, Mrs. Annie Winslow; Damariscotta, Mrs. Lily Waltz, Mrs. Mae Lucier; Dresden, Mrs. Vesta Meserve, Mrs. June Sargent; Edgecomb, Mrs. Elizabeth Caswell, Mrs. Rena Dodge, Mrs. Inez Sherman; Friendship, Mrs. Susan Wotton, Mrs. Kenneth Thompson;

Montsweag, Mrs. Ethelyn Shea, Mrs. Nellie Dowling, Mrs. Anna Soule, Mrs. Mary Hunnewell, Mrs. Gertrude Munsey; Nobleboro, Mrs. S. T. Creamer, Mrs. Mildred Ricker, Mrs. Wesley Nichols; Orr's Corner, Mrs. Lida Creamer, Mrs. Fannie Weaver, Mrs. Amber Childs; Rockland, Mrs. Mattie Gardner, Mrs. Alice Wyllie, Mrs. Eunice Morse, Mrs. Florence Ames; South Thomaston, Mrs. Carolyn Davis, Mrs. Annie Dennison; Sheepscot, Mrs. eba Carney, Mrs. Ruth Carney; South Bristol, Mrs. Doris Clifford, Mrs. Maude Tibbets; Whitefield, Mrs. Minnie Fowles, Mrs. Florence Haggood, Mrs. Hattie Heusen.

Miss Therese Wood, State Foods Specialist, is to hold a meeting on "Know Your Groceries II" at Montsweag Grange Hall next Monday. Information will be given on purchasing of coffee, tea, chocolate, cocoa, rice, other cereals, sugar, fats, baking powder, flavoring extracts, dried fruit, fresh fruit and fresh vegetables. Other meetings to be held on this subject by Miss Lawrence, home demonstration agent, are: Wednesday, Oct. 4, Rockland; Thursday, Oct. 5, Orr's Corner; Friday, Camden.

Miss Helen Spaulding, state clothing specialist, is to attend the coat making meeting at Sheepscot Tuesday, Oct. 10. The meeting is to be held at the Methodist Church vestry. Miss Spaulding will give a demonstration on correct methods of putting a coat together, finishing, interlining, lining and making of buttonholes and pockets. Women who want to start their coats that day need to bring the material. If it is to be made over the material should be ripped apart, washed and pressed.

After every Farm Bureau meeting many members pass on to those who are not Farm Bureau members practices and methods in efficiency which they have learned and which they feel will be helpful to their relatives and friends. The list increases from year to year. The figures show on Aug. 31, 1933, compared to Oct. 31, 1932.

In 1932, homemakers taught 154; practices adopted, 196; in 1933, homemakers taught, 234; practices adopted, 286.

This is a decided increase over last year and there are still two months' reports to be turned in for 1933. This can be a very valuable way of extending Extension work and a way each Farm Bureau member does Extension teaching herself. The Farm Bureau members report this information to their chairwoman.

THE LEGION SMOKER

edLighted Fans See Some Red Blooded Boxing and Wrestling Bouts

The Legion smoker was all the talk on the street yesterday and the chief item under discussion was the sanguinary wrestling bout between Harry Spencer of Belfast and Rough House Phillips of Boston. Most of those at the ringside had heard about the gory encounters in Boston but the one they saw Tuesday night was fairly cannibalistic in its character, and set the fans wild with excitement. Spencer won the first fall in 23 minutes, 34 seconds and the next was won by Rough House in 34 minutes. A vigorous attempt on the part of each combatant to get the rubber proved futile. The fans loudly acclaimed their desire to see a return match, and Oliver Hamlin the Legion's matchmaker is going to accommodate them when the next smoker is held, one week from next Tuesday night.

The preliminary wrestling bout was between Young Ripley and Battling Pith, two Washington youths who were discovered by Hamlin, recently, itching for a scrap. "Hold on a bit," he told them, "and I will get you a chance in the ring down in Rockland." The boys wrestled 15 minutes without a fall, but showed unexpected cleverness.

The main boxing bout was between Young Corcoran of Thomaston and Al Wilson of Rockland, and was purely an exhibition, as Young Corcoran had been substituted for the scheduled boxer at the last moment.

Young Jack Bonney of Liberty and Young Freeman of Rockland staged a three round bout which proved a corker. The youngster from the sticks had not had much experience but he was there with both fists and outpointed the local lad. They will give a return bout at the next smoker.

Artie Gray of Belfast fought three rounds with Young Philbrook of Searsport and wants to take on Al Wilson at the next smoker.

Oliver's kids—Oliver and Richard went a three-round draw, the latter bothered a bit by a sore hand.

The girls—Mary Valenta and Betty Moon—were a bit bashful before such a crowd, but got a good hand for their exhibition.

Oliver Hamlin refereed the boxing bouts and Vito Mamone handled the wrestling.

TAXPAYERS FIGHT THE SCHOOLS

work. Education is the nation's biggest business. The young people of today are the finest we have ever had, and our investment in educating them is the best possible investment there is, for it pays dividends for time and eternity.

Dr. Bryan announced his topic, "The Riches of the World in the Caption—'The Meaning of Youth.'" To illustrate the generally indifferent attitude of the public toward the subject of education, he cited an example holding true in the 36 States into which he has gone as a lecturer on education, of being met by a well-meaning committee who made it their duty to take him on an auto ride through the respective city, pointing out various public buildings such as the jail, postoffice, court house, factories, prominent residences, etc., but never once by a school building or a playground to which they might point with pride and say "Here is where we take care of our boys and girls in school and at play. We know this is what you are most interested in and we want you to see how well we provide for our youth." This indifferent attitude explains the present educational difficulty in a large degree.

"We have the longest period of childhood and youth of any living thing. A human being is young while he has hope, bounce in his blood, and the power between his ears to give and get ideas. By this token, some people never grow old and there are those who are never young. A child when born is the most poverty stricken thing upon the earth—he has no sight, no hearing, and is entirely helpless. He has to have stimulus from the outside to set things going.

"Youth is the period when the most important work of the human life is done. Youth is the time when three great fundamental, towering and dominating choices of his life are made: 1. What shall I do? 2. With whom shall I mate? 3. Whom shall I serve?"

Features of the morning session were an address by Edward E. Roderick, deputy commissioner of education for Maine, and the report of the New England Association meeting by Supt. Frank D. Rowe of Warren, who was a delegate. At the business session these officers were elected:

President—Supt. F. L. S. Morse of St. George.
Vice President—Principal John Creighton of Thomaston.
Secretary-Treasurer—Miss Katherine Veazie of Rockland.

Delegate to the National Education Association—Supt. Morse.

Alternate—Mrs. Charlotte Jackson. Delegates to the Maine Teachers' Association—Supt. Morse, Clayton Hunnewell of St. George; Miss Sarah Young of Camden, Miss Ellen J. Cochran of Rockland, Miss Doris Ballard of Rockport, Miss Rita Smith of Thomaston, Horace Maxcy of Warren and Smith Hopkins of Vinalhaven. Alternates: Prin. John Creighton, Mrs. Myra Scammon of Owl's Head, Mrs. Rose LeBlanc of Camden, Supt. E. L. Toner of Rockland, Prin. Sydney Snow of Rockport, Prin. William Thomas of Union.

Mrs. Inez Matthews of Camden, and Miss Margaret Heller of Rockland. Bertram A. Packard, commissioner of education, gave a brief address in the afternoon.

Speakers for the secondary schools session were Mrs. Mary A. Carrillo "In the Hands of Our Friends," Principal John Creighton "Human Relationships Between Pupil and Teacher," and Harrison C. Lyseth, State Agent for Secondary Education, who talked along general lines. An interesting discussion on "Assignment and Study Period" was conducted by Principal Joseph E. Blaisdell of Rockland High School. John Durrell presided.

In the elementary schools session, Miss Mary Taylor of Camden presided and gave a talk on "The Physical Book and Its Care." Mrs. Nellie H. Hall presented "The Study Period in Elementary Schools," and Miss Mabel Stover and pupils gave a demonstration entitled "Our Books." Miss Relief Nichols, teacher of literature in the Junior High, conducted a discussion on "Human Relationships in Elementary Schools" which was exceptionally worth while.

In the rural schools session, presided over by Supt. Rowe, Mrs. Myra Scammon gave "The Study Period in Rural Schools," Supt. T. A. DeCosta of Phillips "The Teaching of Drawing in the Rural Schools," and Edward E. Roderick, deputy commissioner of education, Augusta, "Human Relationships in Rural Schools."

An outstanding event of the convention was the presentation of a gift by Supt. Toner on behalf of the association to Miss Anna Coughlin, retiring president, who is rounding out 50 years of teaching and who will retire at the end of the school year. The ovation tendered Miss Coughlin testified to the love held for this teacher whose place will never be adequately filled. While too much moved for speech, her manner conveyed her appreciation.

"BOOSTERS' NIGHT"
