Six months ago we paid them $32,600.00, and six months from now we will be paying them $49,000.00, and this has been going on every six months since our first series matured in 1906. The system under which our business has been conducted for the past forty-six years was established in this country more than a hundred years ago, and has proved the safest and most profitable way for the wage earner or person of limited income to invest his savings, and it doesn't cost much either. Some put in as little as $1.00 or $2.00 per month. A good many put in $5.00 to $10.00 per month, and others larger sums. Sounds attractive doesn't it? If interested come in and ask more about it. You will find it a pleasant place to do business.

THE L. WILBUR MESSER PORTRAIT

Memory Of Distinguished Man Is Honored Upon the Walls Of the Miami Y. M. C. A.

When in this community, as it occasionally does, the subject of the Young Men's Christian Association presents itself for renewed consideration, the thoughts of old-time workers in this field of activity among the youth of the city revert to that prominent figure in the Nation-wide vogue of the Y.M.C.A., the late L. Wilbur Messer, who had been identified with the summer colony here, where he had acquired the fine property at Crescent Beach, upon which he had hoped to enjoy the relaxation and rest won out of his long and arduous years of devoted service.

Mr. Messer's contact with the life of our city was distinguished in particular by the helpfulness he accorded whatever related to the young men and boys. It was one of his fondest ambitions to see renewed here in some form practical to the situation the activities formerly sponsored by the Y.M.C.A., to which he stood ready to lend the help of his experience and his purse. That death should at so early a stage in his retirement have put an end to this assistance which he stood ready to give any such movement continues to find regret expressed by those who knew and valued Mr. Messer's unusual abilities and practical good sense, and sorrow at his untimely decease.

It remains a source of gratification to our people that Mrs. Messer, now a citizen of Auburn, maintains here her summer home; cordially identifies herself with the social and church life; is always ready with open hand to contribute to such objects of worth as are presented for her consideration; and in every possible way continues in many fields to assist in those activities which engaged the attention of her gifted husband, and in all of which she was his able and devoted assistant.

The Messer Portrait

Upon the wall in the secretary's office of the Miami Young Men's Christian Association there hangs the life-sized portrait of Mr. Messer, set in an adequate frame, and carrying a brass plate bearing the inscription:

L. Wilbur Messer; 1856-1923—40 years in the General Secretaryship of the Y.M.C.A. "The noblest work in the world is the building of a Man." Presented to the Miami Y.M.C.A. by Mr. and Mrs. L. Brackett Bishop. Harold Bates, artist.

Mr. Bishop was for ten years a member of Mr. Messer's board of directors of the Chicago Y.M.C.A., assisting him in the memorable work which established Mr. Messer among the foremost figures the world has known in this field of service for boys and young men.

The portrait was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Bishop because of their interest in that institution and the work it carries on in Miami, where they make their winter home. It affords an impressive note of decoration to the building, where it is visited by many Y.M.C.A. people, both laymen and secretaries who knew Mr. Messer intimately and are delighted to view this portrait of him, which they pronounce a very good likeness, surprisingly so considering that it was painted after Mr. Messer's death, from a photograph and a bust. Mr. Bishop paid the artist $1000 for the portrait.

Good Work In Miami

A. Bruce Minear, who is General Secretary of the Miami Y.M.C.A., has been 32 years in the work, 20 years of which was on the National Staff, where he was in close touch with Mr. Messer and had intimate association with his methods. Here in Miami, where he has already served for eight years, he is carrying on with notable success, working under a $100,000 budget, with an average active membership of 1200 and a helping hand from the foremost business men of the city, and in particular from the Rotary Club members. His ambition is to extend the work till it includes the Greater Miami region, along lines similar to those wrought out by Mr. Messer at Chicago, the success of which made of him an international figure.

Visitors in Miami will be cordially welcomed at the desk of Secretary Minear, a desk, he will point out, used by William Jennings Bryan during his political life and donated here because of his love for the Y.M.C.A. of which he was an ardent supporter.

OUT OF THE DISTANT PAST No. 10

This picture takes us back 30 years or more to the days when Rockland had a Y.M.C.A., and the Y.M.C.A. had a Debating Society which could have settled off hand the problems now perplexing the "Brain Trust." No resolve was too intricate for these orators to untangle, and it is not surprising that the Y.M.C.A. Debating Society became an institution which loomed large in the city's civic life. Shown in the back row, left to right, are Frank H. Ingraham, Gen. J. P. Cilley (deceased), Charles D. Jones (deceased), Esten W. Porter, Frank B. Miller (deceased), and Leonard R. Campbell (deceased). The two members seated are A. E. Brunberg, who was also secretary of the Y.M.C.A.; and Frederick A. Shepherd, who, besides being a debater, was the author of the High School "Ki Yippi Ki Yi" yell. The writer of these lines is hoping that this little story will evoke reminiscences from the fertile pens of Messrs. Ingraham, Porter and Brunberg, all three of whom are still ready to charge into any kind of a debate at a moment's notice.

GRATEFUL TO COUSINS

Suzanne Perry Miller, Formerly of Rockland, Remembered Them In Her Will

A United Press despatch from Los Angeles says:

"Maxine Elliott, noted actress, and Lady Forbes-Robertson were included in beneficiaries of the estate of Mrs. Suzanne Perry Miller, prominent actress, who died March 10 in Beverly Hills at the age of 57, according to the will filed for probate there March 31. "Mrs. Miller left $3500 to Miss Elliott and $500 to Lady Forbes-Robertson, widow of the noted English actor. Miss Elliott is a cousin of Mrs. Miller.

"The remaining property was ordered distributed to two brothers and a sister, Howard K. Perry of Jersey City, N. Y., Newton H. Perry and Sadie F. Brewer, Rockland, Me.

"Mrs. Miller noted in the will that the bequests to Miss Elliott and Lady Forbes-Robertson were made because they had advanced money to Mrs. Miller during her lifetime.

Mrs. Miller's early life was spent in Rockland, her native home, and she was employed for a time on the staff of The Courier-Gazette.

CAMDEN BOARD OF TRADE

Will Talk Over Matters Of Live Interest At Turkey Banquet Next Wednesday

Along with the general improvement of business conditions, the Camden Board of Trade is swinging into action next Wednesday evening with a turkey banquet and get together in Masonic hall in that town. The advance sale of tickets indicates a wholesome interest in the revival of one of Camden's oldest and most successful organizations.

The purpose of this meeting is to feel out the pulse of the business houses, and all citizens as to whether this organization shall carry on for the purpose of promoting Camden as a live business center, a good place in which to live, and a recreation resort for tourists and summer residents; or will it rest on its oars and float quietly out of the picture.

The new officers are convinced that this organization has many necessary duties to perform, and they solicit the moral support of every citizen for the good of Camden. New industries are to be solicited, business and citizens problems threshed out, civic interests promoted.

One of the questions upon which the Board is studying is the possibility of a National Park over Camden Hills with roads and trails similar to those in Bar Harbor. The matter has been taken up with the Government, through Congressman Moran, and some data is already available. Among the speakers will be B. L. Hadley of the National Park at Bar Harbor.

It is hoped that every citizen will get behind this movement, speak for a reservation by Saturday April 14 and by their presence let the officers feel their support.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

MAID OF ATHENS, ERE WE PART
Maid of Athens, ere we part,
Give, O, give me back my heart!
Or, since that has left my breast,
Keep it now, and take the rest!
Hear my vow before I go,
My life, I love thee.

By those tresses unconfined,
Wooed by each Aegean wind;
By those lids whose jetty fringe
Kiss thy soft cheeks' blooming tinge;
By those wild eyes like the sea,
My life, I love thee.

By that lip I long to taste;
By that zone-enriched waist;
By all the token-flowers that tell
What words can never speak so well;
By love's alternate joy and woe,
My life, I love thee.

Maid of Athens! I am gone,
Think of me, sweet! when alone,
Though I fly to Istanbul,
Athens holds my heart and soul:
Can I cease to love thee? No!
My life, I love thee.

NOTICING

Have any of this paper's readers, gifted with the noticing faculty noticed—

THAT the Southern vacation regions give us of the North a profitable hint by indulging no jealousies one of another, but joining hands in loyal support of whatever contributes to the general prosperity of the great winter play-ground.

THAT the letter from back home so stirs you with pleasurable emotions that you harbor no regrets over the postage due legend stamped on the outside of it.

THAT as the doors clanked behind the fugitive Insull his mind may have been working along those lines of Byron's Maid of Athens—"Though I fly to Istanbul, Turkey holds me, heart and soul."

THAT there is no inconsiderable body of men registered among the discriminatory whose idea of perfect joy is the having served to them while yet abed the steaming and maternal cup of coffee.

THAT there are yet happily to be encountered in these Southland restaurants which cater to the whole duty of man a dish of wooden toothpicks with which the fed patron may embellish his countenance as he passes out into the open air.

THAT when you meet in the crowded street this satisfied person your memory reverts to those days when the toothpick, fashioned of gold and worn at the end of the watch-chain, was a favorite gift at Christmas time by wife or sweetheart, and made of its recipient a man much envied by his less fortunate fellow-citizens.

THAT you never have been able quite to dispossess yourself of the heated sense of embarrassment which followed the tribute of applause that you began to pay the artist some measures before she had arrived at her final note.

THAT the stately movement of the buzzard across the Southern skies does not conceal from you the fact that the ends of his circling flight are those of the scavenger, about which unpleasant piece of business he goes with steady purpose, making a good job of it and keeping the world cleaner for mankind.

THAT with the brass rail increasingly asserting itself in the field of putative restoration of human liberty you wonder if the Bouncer, that heroic accessory of the poet's flowing bowl, is not also to be returned to the sphere of muscular activity to which he was essential and which he indubitably adorned.

THAT the enthusiastic manner in which the Rotarians of Miami are thus early going about the business of bringing to their city the 1936 convention of Rotary International makes it difficult to conceive how any other city can possibly expect to capture that world-wide honor. Your Rotary member of the South is that sort.

THAT travel and much contact with the served tables of many public refectories bears in upon you the regretted conclusion that the science of soup, if it ever existed, has largely withdrawn itself from human knowledge, leaving the real Souper, as Artemus Ward would call him, a creature of painful infrequency.

THAT the prudent man who every time he consults his watch throughout the day gives a little twist to the winder will tell you that by so doing he avoids at bedtime any lengthened performance or omission of the task of winding, and so by that much time conserved gets with the greater immediacy to his pillow.

THAT the welcome announcement coming out of Hollywood that "Treasure Island" is under way, with real actors in the cast, stirs anew the world-wide love for Robert Louis Stevenson and is certain to be followed with packed houses to view this presentation of his famous classic.

THAT retiring from vacation contact with the fashionable cafeteria you find it necessary to the preservation of the romance of its familiar atmosphere of mealtime to turn the home radio to its morning greeting of uncensored jazz, while the maid in a series of sweeping gestures ornaments the table with a clash of breakfast crockery and leaves open upon retiring any doors that should conspire to eliminate the conflicting fragrance of the kitchen.

Miami, April 11.

"ON MY SET"

Here's how Lawrence Tibbett turns himself upside down to keep his "golden" voice in shape. He is doing his bit of exercising in Central Park, New York, in the above picture, but he frequently does the same stunt in his dressing room—says it clears his throat and head.

Tibbett turns the old order of things upside down frequently, to thing the kind of songs enjoyed by everyone, although not expected from an opera star.

His program with "A Song for Everybody" for Monday, April 16, at 8:30 P.M., over the N.B.C.—WEAF network includes:

"Retreat" by Frank LaForge, his famous teacher.

"Lord I Want to Be Like Jesus" by Stewart Willie, his accompanist.

"Lonesome Cowboy."

"Credo," from Verdi's opera "Otello."

The orchestra, conducted by William Daly, will play "Caricosa" from "Flying Down to Rio."

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr. will give another of his brief talks on "The Story of Transportation."

CONSERVATION WEEK

To Be Observed Next Week—Proclamation By Governor—Thursday Bird Day

Consideration of the importance of the state's wild life, its forests and flowers, is stressed by Gov. Brann in a proclamation designating the week of April 22 as Conservation Week and one day of that week, Thursday, as Bird Day. The Chief Executive especially commended his proclamation to the youth in the public schools. The proclamation follows:

"The pine-clad hills of Maine, her wealth of fish and game, her panorama of colorful wild flowers and the manifold forms of bird life within her borders challenge us at this season of the year and beckon us to the great out-of-doors. The automobile and increased leisure have made it possible for everyone to fare forth in search of health, beauty and recreation. But may we go with intelligent appreciation of the worth of all nature's bountiful gifts and with determination to preserve them from waste and despoliation. Fires that burn over large forest areas are largely the result of carelessness. Many of our rare ferns, flowers and shrubs are fast becoming entirely lost to future generations through ruthless picking and uprooting.

"And so, in the interests of conservation and in line with the great national movement of the present day, I commend to every citizen of the State of Maine and particularly to the youth in our public schools, a consideration of the importance of our forests, our flowers and our wild life, together with the responsibility of each individual toward their preservation.

"Therefore, I, Louis J. Brann, Governor of the State of Maine, do proclaim the week of April 22-28 as Conservation Week, one day of which, Thursday, April 26, I particularly designate as Bird Day. This day marks the birthday of that great American scientist and friend of birds, John James Audubon."

ROCKVILLE

Brainerd Thurston took part in the entertainment and social held in Rockport town hall Friday of last week to earn money toward the R.H.S. seniors' Washington trip. Brainerd performed a mock marriage ceremony and also gave a comic reading which was well received.

Mrs. Annie B. Thurston has been appointed reporter for the New England Homestead for this section of Maine.

STILL IN THE AIR

Double Gauge Lobster Bill Not Yet Settled—Down In the Maritimes

Gov. Brann said Thursday that he wanted it made plain he is not "recommending" that opponents of the "double-gauge" lobster bill withdraw the referendum petitions they have filed against the measure.

He said that at a meeting with the opponents he merely explained the situation that would prevail if the present 10 1/2 minimum length state law is retained and the "double-gauge" measurements of nine to 13 1/2 inches are incorporated in the NRA code for the lobster industry.

"The meeting was held for the purpose of discussing the effect of the Federal code upon the Maine lobster industry and I expressly stated to those present that I made no recommendation, but that I desired them to know the situation so that they might determine what action should be taken. They were entirely qualified without any suggestion of mine to work out their own problems," he said.

The double gauge opponents conferred among themselves in the Governor's private office for two hours and then left with the announcement that they would "canvass" the rest of the opponents and report as soon as possible.

Meanwhile the Governor does not intend to decide whether the petitions, apparently bearing 10,862 signatures, actually have the required 10,000 names of legal voters properly verified and certified.

Proponents of the measure argue that more than 3,000 names should be stricken out as invalid.

If opponents decide to withdraw the petitions, that ends the matter and the double gauge bill becomes law.

Otherwise it will be up to the Governor to rule on the validity of the petitions. Should he find they have sufficient legal signatures he must set a date for the people to vote on the measure.

Trouble In The Provinces

Changes in the lobster fishery regulations for Quebec and the Maritime provinces to prevent renewal of territorial wars among the fishermen have been announced.

Seasons vary at different sections along the coast, and several times during the last few years fishermen of certain sections have invaded neighboring sections after their own seasons closed.

Open warfare in Prince Edward Island, where local lobstermen destroyed gear and traps brought in by invaders, moved the department to change the regulations to prove that a fisherman may not fish in more than one district a year.

Primary nomination papers for Maurice A. Bowers as a candidate for the Republican nomination for a legislative seat from Portland are in circulation. Bowers served in the House in 1931. He is a native of Camden but has resided for many years in Portland where he is a dealer in investment securities. He was a member of the committee on State Prison.

At the organization meeting of the Republican State Committee in Augusta Thursday A. Eugene Sewall of York was elected chairman over J. Fred O'Connell of Bangor by a vote of 19 to 11. Mrs. Lena M. Day of Gorham was elected vice chairman by acclamation. Mrs. Alice Plummer of Lisbon Falls was chosen secretary after two ballots had been taken. Mr. Sewall, the new chairman, is a former trial justice of the York County Municipal Court and conducts a law practice at Portsmouth, N. H., although he makes his home at York, where he was born, March 14, 1882. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College in the Class of 1904, attended Harvard Law School and was admitted to the Maine bar in 1907. He is a member of the York County and Maine State Bar Associations. He was the first president of the Portsmouth Kiwanis Club.

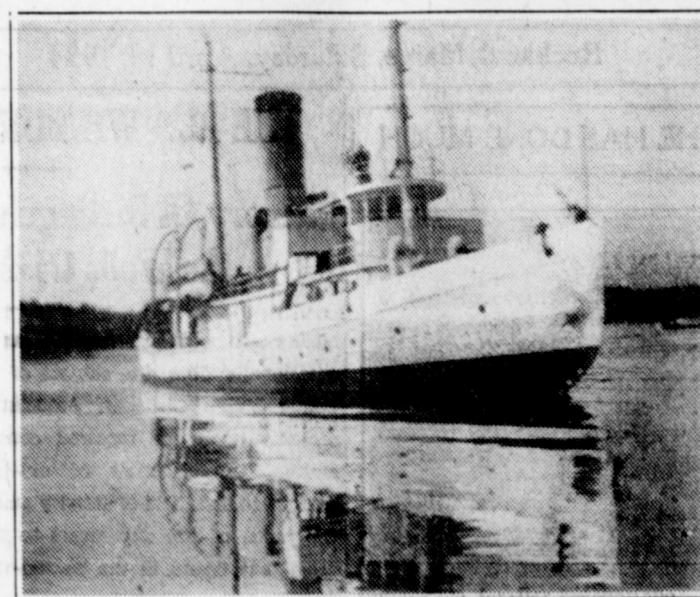

Another Democrat wants the sheriff nomination in Lincoln County—J. Burton Reed of Boothbay Harbor. In the Wiscasset district, Burton Haggart, candidate for Representative to the Legislature, has withdrawn, and Alden J. Silphen of Dresden has entered. Daniel Carleton of Alma will contest with John M. Booker of Somerville in the Waldoboro class.

D. Robert McCarthy, Democratic candidate for the representative nomination in Rockland, has filed his primary papers.

C. Earle Ludwig, who seeks the Republican nomination for sheriff has filed his primary petitions with the Secretary of State. His total number of signers is said to have been one of the largest ever secured in Knox County.

"KICK" PLEASES BATH FOLKS

Had it not been for the visit of the ice cutter Kikapoo to break the ice fields in the Kennebec above Bath, it is possible the river would not have cleared to navigation until the latter part of the month. The ice was of such thickness that a general fear was expressed up river that if the ice did begin to break up on the freshet tides due to Spring rains, extensive damage might be done not only to shore property but to the piers of the Richmond-Dresden bridge. In many places the ice was reported of exceptional thickness, in some places going to 11 feet.

In answer to appeals for relief from possible damage by ice the Coast Guard cutter Ossipee came to the Kennebec and forced her way through the ice fields nearly to the Richmond bridge, but a heavy ice bar made it impossible for her to continue. She was followed by the ice cutter Kikapoo, which, because of a shallow bow, was able to ride up on the ice fields and break them down. She proceeded to South Gardiner.

The combined work of the cutters was reflected for a few days when the Kennebec river opposite this city was choked with drifting ice as it came from as far as Augusta on its way to the sea. The scene was unusual, for the oldest inhabitant fails to remember a time when there was more drift ice in the river than on Saturday and Sunday. This was also the first time that cutters were ever employed to break up the ice above Bath and send it to the sea in the Spring of the year. The river is now open from the head of navigation to the sea.—Bath Times.

HAS HAD GOOD SEASON

Eastern Division Rifle Club Stands Near Top Of the List In Maine

The Eastern Division Rifle Club has completed a very satisfactory season of indoor or gallery shooting at its indoor range, located at 487 1/2 Main street.

This Rifle Club, starting April 17, 1930, has grown steadily stronger and more efficient until it now stands well at the top of the list in this State. The club's membership list includes men from Rockland and surrounding towns and a wide diversity of trade is represented. Nineteen separate trades are actually listed among 25 shooters.

The club was organized as a Central Maine Power Company employee organization and functioned as such for some time, hence the name "Eastern Division," this part of the State served by the Central Maine Power Company being known in company circles as the Eastern Division.

The club now has grown to include The Forty Club Rifle Team and the Thomaston Rifle Club which joined forces late in 1933, making an aggregation of rifle men who can and do give a good account of themselves in any style of match shooting.

Through the kindness of H. P. Blodgett, division manager of the Central Maine club has the use of the third floor in the block occupied by the company store and offices at 487 1/2 Main street and has converted it into one of the finest 50-foot indoor ranges in the State. This factor alone has a great deal to do with the success of the club.

Shooting 20-10 man teams each week over a period of 10 weeks the club has just completed the series of postal matches sponsored and run by the Maine State Rifle and Pistol Association, placing the B Division team at top place in that division, and thereby winning a State trophy in the form of a silver cup. This team was usually made up of these men: C.

Marshall, A. McFarland, K. Spear, H. Stanley, R. Messer, E. Orie, P. Pierpont, C. Cross, A. Turcotte and others.

The team shooting in the A. division finished in second place, being excelled only by the strong Kennebec Rifle Club Team, which is by far the hardest shooting club in the State, and whose scores challenge all New England. Indeed Kendall Cross, executive officer of the Kennebec R. C., set some sort of record in one of the last matches shot, piling up a score of 199 over a prone-standing course, or to speak more plainly making ten bulls-eyes shooting from the prone position—and following by shooting nine more bulls-eyes and a nine that barely missed being a bull in the standing position.

Shoulder to shoulder contests are being shot with the Lincoln County Rifle Club of Damariscotta and the Hiramdale Rifle Club of Belfast. The club shot at Damariscotta last Monday night, 16 men shooting fine scores but being nosed out by three points by Lincoln in the five high scores shot.

Some time in the near future a "novelty night" will be held with three clubs competing in a "last man" match—shot as an elimination affair—using candy wafers as targets. These events bring out plenty of shooters and plenty of fun and the public is cordially invited to attend. Watch for announcement of date in this paper.

Murray Whalen, secretary.

COMING TO THE STRAND

Eddie Cantor, Edward Arnold, Alan Mowbray and Veree Teasdale in "Roman Scandals"

Eddie Cantor, elfin comedian, has new complications to make his banjo pop in "Roman Scandals," his fourth annual screen musical comedy for Samuel Goldwyn. With Ruth Etting, Gloria Stuart, David Minners, and this year's prize collection of Goldwyn beauties, the picture comes Monday and Tuesday.

The season's fastest stepping and merriest tunes are promised in a rollicking yarn of adventure among the beautiful slave girls of ancient Rome, the Caesars and their ferocious lions, which winds up in a chariot race as breath-takingly funny as the bullfight in "The Kid From Spain." Eddie has a lively and gay song in "Keep Young and Beautiful." The dancing feet of a hundred of Goldwyn's ace beauties pound out the fast and happy rhythm of Eddie's ditty, and in the spectacular Slave Market scene they chant a refrain to the heart throbs of Ruth Etting's lament, "No More Love." The shimmering costumes of silver mesh in the dramatic dance interlude in which Busby Berkeley has set Miss Etting's song make for an effect that has never before been seen on the screen.—adv.

WAS A HE-MAN SHOW

Bill Provided By New Rockland Athletic Club a Decided Winner

The sparring exhibition at the new Rockland Athletic Club was late in getting underway last night through circumstances beyond the control of the management, and several substitutions were necessary, but it was the unanimous verdict of the fans that no better boxing show has been given in Rockland during recent years.

A couple of 13-year-olds, Barney and Harold Campbell of Bangor started the program, and showed extreme cleverness, considering their youth.

Young Keizer of Thomaston, again in informal dress, was put on as a substitute against Red Smith of Owl's Head, and though the latter is a much rangier boxer, and in the pink of condition, he was kept busy evading the Keizer onslaughts.

Jack Carter of Bangor lasted not quite one round against Young Green of Gardiner. A heavy right to the jaw ended his aspirations, although he made a gallant attempt to continue.

Honolulu Kid's somewhat flattened proboscis proved a fair mark for Young Jovin's busy left, which met the target with amazing regularity, causing the claret to run as freely as sap does in spring. But the gentleman from Hawaii was a regular bear for punishment, and the bout went the advertised limit. Jovin, who is built on the same general dimensions as a string bean, and a pole bean, at that, is undeniably clever, and his announced willingness to meet any man of his weight (135) in this State, was hailed with respect.

The fans were curious to see how Young Pietroski would shape up, and they were given a happy surprise for he is one of the best looking novices that has climbed through the local ropes in many a day. His opponent, Young Gagnon of Gardiner, is an experienced boxer, but the manner in which Pietroski drove him around the ring was a source of much satisfaction to the Rockland boys' admirers. It was Pietroski's fight all the way.

The main bout saw a rugged battle between Al Parent and Young Sylvio. The crowd had already seen Parent in action and was sold on his skill, but Sylvio proved to be a tiger, whose ring tactics drew expressions of disapproval from Parent as well as the fans. The early stages of the battle furnished little choice, but the last two rounds were plainly Parent's.

The third man in the ring was Oliver Hamlin, and for a time it looked as though he, too, needed gloves.

THE NEXT SHOW

Matchmaker Hamlin was prompt to take advantage of conditions, and for next Friday night's bout will bring together Young Sylvio and Young Jack; Young Jovin and Young Greene, and Pietroski and Young Carter.

AND IT SHOULD

(From Lewiston Journal)

If the overseer of the poor at Rockland did not sign his name to it, who would believe that inmates of the almshouse lack underclothing so that newspapers are worn by the men and "lack of a change of underclothing discourages the good American custom of bathing!" Rockland probably is hiding its face, until this is remedied.

The annual meeting of the University of Maine alumni members in this section will take place at the Copper Kettle, April 26, with dinner at 6:30. Reservations must be arranged with Miss Katherine Veazie not later than April 24. Dr. James Mullenberg, dean of the Arts College, will be the principal speaker. Charles Crossland, general secretary of the Alumni Association, will be present.

Miss Irene Weymouth who went to Washington, D. C., to work in the Agricultural Department, has been promoted to senior stenographer with an increase in salary of $300. Her promotion is particularly gratifying, since she entered upon her position for a probation period of six months. She had been there but a short time when she was hired as a permanent employee, and after only a month in Washington she has been selected for this signal promotion. She is the daughter of Mrs. Emma Weymouth, Lake avenue.

They call the new Leonard "The Complete Refrigerator" because it has every convenience feature a woman could possibly ask for. Many of these are exclusive with Leonard and no other electric refrigerator offers them all. For example, the Len-A-Dor that opens the door at a touch of the toe, the dairy basket for butter, eggs and bottles, the service tray to set things on while you rearrange your shelves, sliding and folding shelves, 12 freezing speeds, a cold chest for storing meat and ice cubes. These are only a few of many features you should see for yourself.—adv.

A survey made of the merchants in Rockland, revealed that the majority wished to close on certain holidays in Rockland, and it was voted by the merchants' committee of the Chamber of Commerce that these be observed: New Years, Jan. 1; Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22; Patriot's Day, April 19; Memorial Day, May 30; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day; Armistice Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving Day; Christmas, Dec. 25.

A section of the CWA sewer excavation on Pleasant street caved in Thursday night at the height of the storm, breaking off 30 feet of six inch watermain and creating some excitement until the flood was turned off. The damaged pipe will be abandoned for the present as no houses are deprived of service. The deep trench has been open all winter and frost action coupled with the downpour caused the wall to collapse. Much additional work will result from the incident. A plate glass window was blown in at Munsey's Garage and trees lost weak branches but little other damage is noted.

Motorist homeward, near the cement plant the other night Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Chukey had an interesting experience when a moose leaped out of the woods and proceeded to trot along beside the automobile. Mr. Chukey, who would leave his dinner to see any animal trot, kept pace with the moose until the latter began to make hostile demonstrations, and then stepped on the gas. It was an exciting race for a time but the monarch of the forest finally quit.

An interestingly "different" travel story was told the Rotarians yesterday by Dr. William Ellingwood, recently returned from a three weeks' cruise to South American ports with the Pan American Medical Congress. Possessor of a keenly observant eye and a decidedly special personality, the speaker got more of general interest from the trip than many of his contemporaries. His story of strange scenes, interesting customs and the many courtesies accorded the party by distinguished men at every port of call was much enjoyed. Dr. C. H. Jameson and Judge Z. M. Dwinall of Camden were visiting Rotarians. Hiram H. Crie was a guest.

SERMONETTE

His Mission and Its Mission

You will seek in vain through the realm of human knowledge to find a greater declaration of God's purposes toward men than in the simple heart breaking words in Jesus' prayer: "Father, the hour is come, glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee; as thou hast given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to as many as thou has given him."

"And this is eternal life, that they might know thee the only true God and Jesus Christ whom thou has sent. I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do."

"I have manifested thy name unto these men, thine they were and thou gavest them me. I have given them the words which thou gavest me and they received them, and have known surely that I came out from thee, and they have believed that thou didst send me. "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word."

His earthly mission done, his followers to carry on. That is the reason for the Church of God, and there is no other.

William A. Holman.

GUARDIANS OF OUR COAST

What our lightkeepers and coast guardsmen are doing to protect coastwise shipping by day and by night. The day's news from many lonely outposts along Maine's waterfront.

Mount Desert Rock

First Asst. and Mrs. Quinn are leaving for 15 days' shore leave.

The ice at Vinalhaven still hinders Mrs. Day and son from returning to this station.

We had a good northeast storm Easter Sunday. The seas gave the rock a good washing.

The radios are all having their bad days. Everybody has had to have theirs repaired on this station.

Our rooster which just got through this severe winter, is picking up these lovely spring days.

We have our spring sewing all done. We are anxiously waiting the ball games, both over the radio, and our own games. School will soon close, and Flavia Lambie will be here, to spend her vacation.

News is scarce. We like to read the lighthouse news.

Pond Island

Well, it is nice and springy on the hill here, but when one takes a look down on the beach and slip and sees the ice piled high, that has come out of the Kennebec, well, it looks like winter.

We thank Editor Fuller for the card from Miami. We miss the Boston Globe news flashes, and also miss the announcer's voice that gave the morning news.

Keeper Fickett went to Bath on the mail boat and came back on the Coast Guard truck, the roads through Parker's Head are very bad. The mail boat ran onto a cake of ice and broke her shaft so is laid up for repairs. Mrs. Fickett is planning to go to Portland soon. She has not been off the island all winter.

Bluehill Bay

March 20 our new superintendent, Charles Brush and assistant Mr. Sampson called at our station.

We were glad to see news from so many lights in the paper last week. Keep on folks, I am sure all the lightkeepers enjoy them.

Mrs. Anderson and I have been watching the cars go along on the mainland evenings during the good weather.

Mrs. Anderson spent the weekend of March 31 at her home in Brooklin, returning Monday.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Foss is spending a week with Mr. Foss at his new light The Cuckolds, and hope they get all settled straight away.

We have seen many large flocks of geese, and there are also two large eagles flying around the station almost every day.

The ice has nearly all left the shore now except for two or three large ice cakes that we think the spring sun will have to melt. The ice took Keeper Foss' boat mooring which he labored long to make.

We are glad to hear that Mr. Ford and Mr. Holden are going to start building their weir on Flye Island Bar some time soon, and occupy their camp on Flye Island. People so near will be welcome.

The green grass is coming up all over the island. It looks good and we wish we were going to be here long enough to see the pretty rose bushes bloom that Mr. Foss set out last year.

Mrs. Anderson's brother Justin Foss Jr. spent the weekend of March 31 with Mr. Anderson at the station. He said he had a grand time, and took back five quarts of nice large clams.

April came in, in a hard way, it being a heavy fog and rainy. It was very rough and the wind blew hard. It washed a big piece of spile up on the shore, so I am certain this ice took somebody's wharf.

Well so long folks, and good luck to you.

Thursday's storm was made up of the following ingredients, rain, fog, wind and high seas. We watched the pilot boat go out in the forenoon and kept eyes watching for the return, and were rewarded when it passed in by with the S.S. Georgia, a large boat with a full cargo. Watching the boats coming in it seemed at times the pilot boat went way down to China, as they say, and all we could see were the sails, then it would bob up and ride over the high seas. The steamer sailed along with not much bob but we were all satisfied to remain on land.

SCIENCE WONDER STORIES

Real Camphor Made By Science

Science marks up new victories each year in making synthetic products. Take camphor, for instance. Camphor in its natural form is the crystallized and volatilized sap of a tree, originally procurable from China and the islands nearby. It used to be not uncommon for a family of 2,000 Chinese to hold ownership equity in one camphor tree. Most of the natural camphor now comes from Japan.

Pharmacists use it for over thirty preparations, it keeps out moths and it is a general household remedy. But the largest amount is used as an indispensable raw material in the pyroxylin plastic industry where cellulose is the basis for those useful plastics that are seen as toilet articles, toothbrush handles and the like, as well as for photographic film.

The World War was really what made it necessary for the chemists to work hard at the problem of camphor and they succeeded in duplicating the natural product. The chemical camphor is not really synthetic, but starts with a complex organic structure which is rearranged and changed to form the camphor. There is one plant in New Jersey that could, if necessary, take care of a considerable part of the nation's camphor needs.

The cold winter has had a very harmful effect on apple trees. This is especially true of Baldwin, Kings, Gravenstein and Arctic. Red Delicious in some places were hit. McIntosh and Northern Spy came through in fairly good condition. Orchardists should examine their trees for loose bark and cutting through the bark the condition of the cambium layer can be determined.

A very good meeting was held this week in Wiscasset on improved home grounds by A. D. Nutting, Extension Service forestry specialist. Demonstration plots were arranged. Calls will be made by County Agent Wentworth on anyone interested in improving plantings about the home.

The seniors and juniors in the high school are submitting their papers on the subject chosen by the Auxiliary of the American Legion, "Privileges and Obligations of American Citizenship." The movement was started three years ago. A large number of papers have been passed in.

A call on Alphonso Hathorn at his home on Wadsworth street found him looking well and in good spirits. He came through the winter very well, but pronounced it one of the coldest in his experience. He had greatly enjoyed a sun porch which Hiram Labe of Waldoboro built for him in the fall, on the southern side of the house, and had spent much time basking in the sun. An active man throughout his life until his 84 years caused him to retire, he had many things to tell. His experience on the Knox Trotting Park track is fresh in his mind. The correspondent was highly entertained on his visit.

School closed yesterday for a week's vacation.

Thirty-two members of the junior and senior classes left on this morning's train for the annual educational tour to the nation's capital, accompanied by Miss Parker, and Principal and Mrs. Joseph Blaisdell. Many interesting features are scheduled in the week's itinerary which are bound to make the trip a memorable one. The party will leave Boston this afternoon via Eastern Steamship Lines for New York, arriving there Sunday morning. Here, after seeing the famous skyline and visiting the Battery, they will leave by train for Philadelphia. In this city a motor trip will be taken during the afternoon, after which the party will continue to Washington, arriving there Sunday evening. Headquarters, while at the capital, will be at the New Colonial Hotel. Monday and Tuesday trips will be made to the National Museum, Smithsonian Institute, Washington Monument, the White House, Capitol, and other public buildings, with motor trips to Arlington, Alexandria, Mt. Using word lists compiled from business material, a spelling bee was conducted Thursday in the junior business training classes. A new rule adopted by the Boston public high schools in their recent spelling matches was used, i. e. "Any speller failing to spell a word at the first trial shall drop out of the contest and the word missed will not be given to the next in order; a new word will be given to the next pupil in order." With this rule, each pupil is given an even chance. Champions in this bee were Helvi Rivers, Samuel Curtis, Barbara Perry and Adelbert Newbert.

An opportunity to learn about one of the three junior colleges in Maine was given the senior girls Wednesday morning, when Dr. Milton D. Proctor, president of Westbrook Junior College for Girls, outlined the programs which have recently been developed at that school. He discussed with clarity the several courses offered, placing special emphasis on the two-year terminal curricula which provide adequate preparation for semi-professional occupations. The girls showed especial interest in those courses fitting one for secretarial service, medical secretaryship, and recreational leadership.

Geneva Hooper took first prize with an original pen drawing, and a novel poster by Margaret Dunton was a close second.

Shirley Blackington has been assisting with clerical duties in the office this week.

As a result everyone is singing lustily these days.

An original sketch "Why Insurance?" was presented in junior business training Wednesday by Ruth Rogers and Evangeline Murray. As "Mrs. Smith" and "Mrs. Jones," they conclusively demonstrated that insurance is important in the lives of the average individual as well as in business enterprises.

The student body was privileged to hear, at Tuesday's assembly, Maurice D. Jones, professor of Agriculture and Economics at the University of Maine, who in company with Dean Hart, is touring this section of the state on admission work. In his talk he showed how a graduate of the agricultural course would not only be fitted for farming but for dairy technology, extension work, teaching of sciences, and several other vocations, while the home economics field embraced about as many lucrative and desirable occupations. "In these two fields," he said, "there are courses to fit almost any personality." At the conclusion of his remarks appreciation was expressed by Edward Hillier, chairman of the assembly, for this enlightening and interesting talk.

The program also included a toe dance charmingly done by five-year-old Sonia Corner, costumed in blue, which was followed by a Dutch dance, with a complete Dutch costume even to the wooden shoes and a very tiny white apron. Mrs. Elise Allen Corner gave a Russian peasant dance which was enthusiastically received. "Havana Nights," a piano solo, was rendered by Margaret Dunton. Devotional exercises were in charge of Marion Ginn.

In connection with the work done by the School Finance Commission staff, measurements of the school building have been taken this week by Edward Heller, Edwin Edwards and Howard Crockett. This project necessitated the rearing of blueprints, coupled with quite a little measuring and figuring.

MY GARDEN

A garden is a loveliness thing. God wot! Rose plot. Fringed pool. Ferned grove. The veriest school Of peace, and yet the fool Contents that God is not— Not God in gardens when the eve is cool? Nay, but I have a sign: 'Tis very sure God walks in mine. Thomas E. Brown.

Be an early bird! Plan your garden now! The following will help you in making plans. American Home Book of Gardening, Leonard Barron; Garden Bluebook, Leicester Holland; Spring in the Little Garden, Frances McIlvaine; Adventures in flower gardening, Sydney Mitchell; Garden Maintenance; Annuals in the Garden, Henry Orloff; Adventures in my garden and rock garden, Louise Wilder; My Garden Helper, Better Homes and Gardens.

Few know that Rudyard Kipling once lived in the United States. In 1892 he married the daughter of H. Wolcott Balestier of New York. He settled in Brattleboro Vt. from August of that year until September, 1896. During this time he wrote Barrack Room Ballads, The Seven Seas (poems), and the stories Life's Handicap, The Light That Failed, The Naulahka (written in collaboration with his brother-in-law Wolcott Balestier), Many Inventions, and the two Jungle Books. Their children were born in this home which overlooks the Connecticut River.

Until 10 months ago, the traditions which created that magnificent figure the robust hero seemed to have passed forever but the publication of Anthony Adverse ten months ago marked the triumphant return of tradition. That 395,000 copies of Hervey Allen's modern world classic have been bought in America alone is testimony to how parched readers had been for news about this kind of hero. Have you read it?

The library wishes to extend a word of appreciation and thanks for the kind donation of books given by Dr. F. B. Adams in memory of Mrs. Adams.

Recent additions are: Long Remember by MacKinlay Kantor is the Literary Guild selection for May. A magnificent novel of the men and women living in the little village that woke up to find itself America's greatest battlefield—Gettysburg.

Another of Miss Sayers' admirable detective stories. Rainbow Cottage, Grace L. Hill. (Standard) A typical Hill romance. Family Cruise, Helen Ashton. Marine comedy, by the author of Dr. Serochild. Feather In Her Hat, I.A.R. Wylie. Romance and adventure, fascinating people. Life at 33, Eva LaGallienne. At 33 Miss Le Gallienne pauses and looks back over her life so far. The first part of the book tells charmingly of early childhood years in England, of girlhood and school days in Paris and the first years of struggle for success in America. The last half of the book is the story of her career as actress and director manager, and of her great venture as head of the Civic Repertory Theatre in New York. Nest of Simple Folk, Sean O'Faolain. Relates the story of three generations of simple Irish folk living. "Sean O'Faolain pronounced Shawn O'Phelan, whose first novel this is, has of the poet's vision and the realist's eye. It is in books like A Nest of Simple Folk, for they are few, that one takes new courage for the future of the novel." The Native's Return, Louis Adamie. The author tells of his return, after nineteen years, to his boyhood home in Slovenia, now a part of the new kingdom of Yugoslavia. A travel book rich in the information that really counts.

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

The Eastern School Music Festival takes place this year Saturday May 19, in Belfast, through the efforts of Mrs. Ethel Lee Wardwell, president of the Maine Music Supervisors' Association, which sponsors these festivals, and a resident of Belfast and instructor of music in the schools.

Instead of the usual contest, unit performances will be given before competent judges, and ratings will be awarded, each of these performances to take place in three separate buildings. All of the groups participating in the music festival will take part in the parade, and 28 groups of at least 30 members have signified their intention of coming to Belfast, so that a thousand or more visitors are expected for that day, with the students parents and friends. Massed band and massed chorus numbers will appear on the program which will be open to the public at a very small charge. The affair will begin early in the morning and run possibly into the evening.

On the general committee appear Edridge S. Pitcher of Pittsfield, Adelbert Wells Sprague and Alton Robinson, of Bangor, Mrs. Mary Berry Manter of Waterville, Lloyd D. McKen of Belfast, and Miss Hilda Donovan of Bangor.

Mrs. Esther Rogers, supervisor of music in the Rockland public schools, plans to present her High School Girls Glee Club, and it is possible there will be other entries from this city.

One of the most delightful times a person could ever have was experienced by Mrs. Lydia Storer, Mrs. Helen Wentworth, Miss Edna Gregory, and the writer of this column Tuesday, when we were personal guests of Allan H. Ramsay, president of Les Camarades Musiciens, in Bath. We were accompanied by Mrs. Marjorie Glidden who was guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred Sturtevant.

Arriving in Bath we went to Mr. Ramsay's home where we had a happy hour getting acquainted with his mother, a former singer of exceptional talent, now a semi-invalid, talking music, and inspecting the many tokens of a busy musical life which fill the rooms and bring to mind many vivid scenes. A bit later with Mr. Ramsay in the party we called on Miss Alice Magoun, a charming woman who has had wide experience in the teaching field (languages and music) and whose life has been enriched by contact with many noted people. She lives in a spacious house surrounded by beautiful old furniture. Francis McPherson and George Field joined the group and we all went out to Riverside Farm, Brunswick, where a marvelous chicken dinner was served by the proprietor, Mrs. H. E. Peterson. Mrs. Peterson caters only to private parties at this time of the year, and it was a real home dinner. The table was beautifully appointed in amber glass and spring flowers, with gay place cards at each plate. Shallow bowls of olives, small platters of celery and dainty dishes of mints added further color. It was all so happy we lingered as long as possible, then we had to dash back into town, get into evening clothes and attend the concert given by Les Camarades, in the Winter Street Chapel. It brought out a splendid audience, which was most appreciative of the program. In exchange programs between Les Camarades and the Rubinstein Club members of the two clubs have become quite well acquainted, so it seemed like being among old friends.

Mrs. Weston Holman opened the program with a paper on "The Ballet, Its Music and Its Dancers." Beginning with dances of Bible times, Mrs. Holman covered her subject in each progressive step up to the Ballet Russe, which is now winning acclaim in its American tour. Mr. McPherson at the piano illustrated the various periods, his numbers being Dance of the Moorish Slaves from "Aida" by Verdi; Hebrew Melody by Dahan; Pan by Godard; Tambourin by Rameau; Minuet by Beethoven; Pas des Fleurs "La Source Nallia," and Doll Waltz "Coppelia," by Delibes, and Sheherazade by Rimsky-Korsakoff. All magnificently played, particularly the Godard number in which the "piping" effects were exquisitely brought out. The Delibes numbers and the Sheherazade were also beautifully played. Mr. McPherson is not only a pianist of exceptional skill but plays the harp and sings. Mrs. Carl Albee and Mr. McPherson played as a duet the Dance of the Hours from "La Gioconda" by Ponchielli, their finished performance evoking warm applause. Then followed the remainder of the program, one that offers a challenge to any club, no matter how large. One has to remember that Les Camarades number only sixteen.

Accompaniments were divided between Mr. McPherson and Mrs. Albee, each exceedingly efficient. I wish there could be space to tell you about every number—I know it would be of particular interest to members of the Rubinstein Club—but that cannot be done, so a few passing comments will have to suffice. The ensemble numbers were splendidly given—such clean attacks, so much spirit and brilliance. Mr. Norton who is studying in Boston shows much improvement since Rockland heard him. His voice has steadied and gained more poise, there is more color. His diction is excellent. His first two songs were among the most beautiful I have ever heard. I long to own them just for the sheer pleasure of having them near me. The young violinist attracted much attention. This lad is only 16, small and slender, with an appealing expression in his face. Mr. Ramsay discovered Merton, saw that he was extremely musical and laboring under handicaps, and immediately took the youth under his wing and is endeavoring to put greater advantages his way.

Mr. Field scored a real hit, and it came as a surprise to the Rockland visitors who did not realize this young man had become a soloist of so much ability. His voice is a tenor of exquisite quality—musical, well colored, and handled with great intelligence. His phrasing and breath control, his perfect diction, and the projection of his song matter thrilled his hearers, and he was given a tremendous encore hand. Mr. Field is a student with Mr. Ramsay and in an almost incredibly short time has advanced to a point many a singer of years' study and experience might well envy. It is a demonstration of a natural musical talent and musical intelligence combined under right instruction.

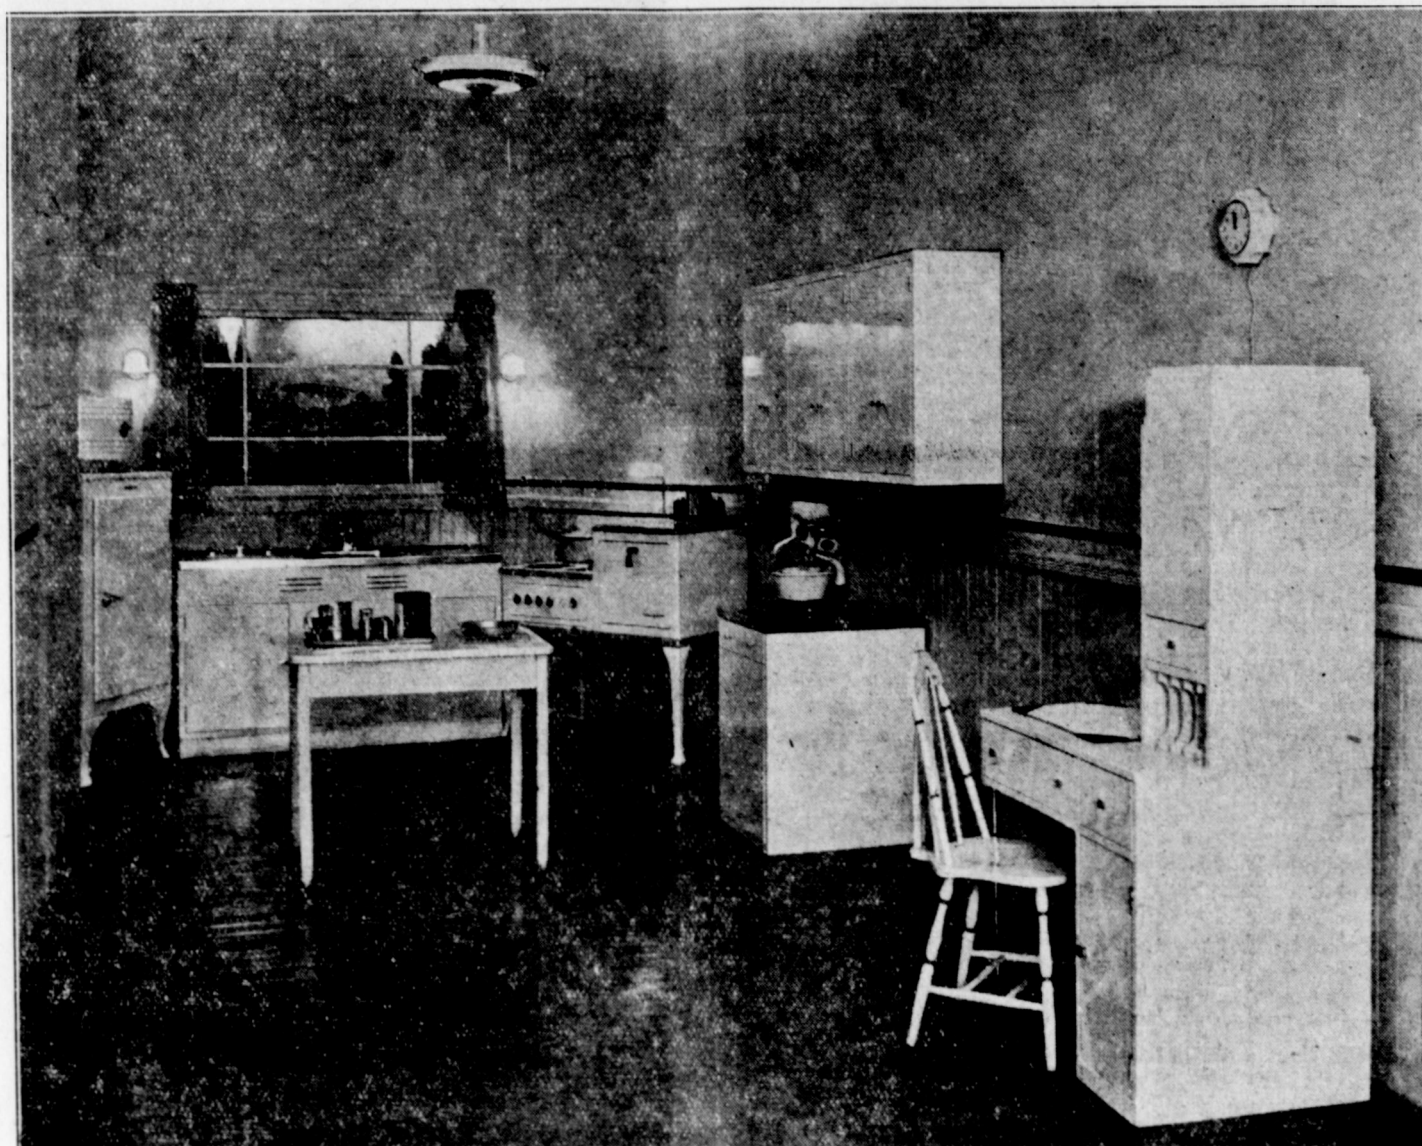

Mrs. Sturtevant was heard with particular interest, as she has been a Rockland soloist on two occasions. Her voice is a beautiful one—a lyric and coloratura welded into one. She sings with great expression and is very very lovely when she sings. The lullaby number was exquisitely interpreted, and many would like to have had a repetition. Mr. Ramsay's great musical gift has poured out into fertile composition which he uses largely in his club work. His work shows rich imagination, sensitive feeling, and colorful accompaniments embellish his vocal numbers. It was a very great privilege and pleasure to hear some of his works.

After the concert we had a happy social hour with the club members, then turned our faces homeward with that lovely warm feeling around our hearts that only true hospitality and cordial friendliness can give. It was an occasion that will linger in our memories for many months to come.

In one of the Portland papers appeared this article which will interest local friends of Dr. and Mrs. Chapman:

"Dr. William Rogers Chapman, of Bethel, Maine, is in St. Petersburg for the remainder of the winter season and in an interview with a newspaper representative gave an interesting account of his trip here and of meeting many Maine people en route. Dr. Chapman, Mrs. Chapman and their daughter, Cornelia, are now

New Electric Kitchen Opens Tuesday

An all-electric kitchen—latest contribution of science to the welfare of America's housewives—will be opened for public inspection on Tuesday, April 17, in the Central Maine Power Company's Rockland store, 447 Main street.

The company extends a cordial invitation to citizens of Rockland to visit the kitchen any time between 10 a. m. and 9.30 p. m. on Tuesday and inspect the collection of ingenious devices which actually turn drudgery into pleasure.

Workmen have spent weeks in decorating the room and installing the various appliances and the result is attractive enough to make the average woman gasp. An old store room, which adjoins the power company's establishment, has been completely transformed. Dainty walls now glow with color and the electrical appliances in their shining white armor glitter invitingly against an immaculate background.

at the Vinoy Park Hotel in this city (St. Petersburg), having come here from Daytona Beach where they spent several weeks.

"Enroute from Daytona, the Chapmans stopped at the Bok Sanctuary and inspected the famous Singing Tower erected by Edward W. Bok near Lake Wales. Through the courtesy of Maj. H. M. Normbell, Dr. Chapman and his family were taken into the Bok Sanctuary and were conducted on a special tour of inspection. The singing tower is certainly a creation of beauty," Mrs. Chapman said "and it may interest many Maine people to know a bit about the structure that was built by the man who also, through Mrs. Bok, has done so much to make Maine beautiful—especially near Camden."

"The Chapmans listened to a program played on the great carillon by Anton Brees, with whom they conversed and gained some interesting first hand information regarding the huge instrument. 'We did not know that the Bok carillon was the largest in the world,' continued Mrs. Chapman, 'until we were given many facts regarding its size and construction. There are 71 bells in the instrument, the largest of which weighs 11 tons.'"

"In a beautiful spot at the base of the tower, covered by violas in full bloom, Edward Bok's grave is situated. Birds are everywhere around the tower and the air is sweet with the scent of hundreds of blossoms while in a moat around the tower itself thousands of gold fish glisten in the bright Florida sunshine. No spot on earth could have been more fitting for the last resting place of a man like Edward W. Bok who loved God and nature as few men have."

While in Lake Wales Dr. Chapman and his family called upon Mrs. Bok. They are delighted with the Vinoy Park Hotel, situated on Tampa Bay. Dr. Chapman's hundreds of Maine friends will be pleased to know that he is gaining rapidly under the constant care of a prominent Boston specialist. He is well on the way to the best of health and hopes to return to Maine after first going to New York to direct rehearsals and conduct the 47th annual spring concert of the Rubinstein Club at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. He praises the Florida sunshine and the south, but "After all there is no place like Maine, for it is home!" is a fervent declaration of his.

Included in the equipment are a refrigerator, dishwasher, range, mixer and attractive cabinets, showing how conveniently and compactly the new electric apparatus can be installed.

The new kitchen is complete in every detail; even to its shining white desk, with compartments for recipes and grocery orders. An unusually attractive array of colors confronts the visitor in the electric kitchen.

On the left is the refrigerator, with its compartments for fresh vegetables, its trays of refreshing ice cubes and its sanitary interior. Next to this is the modern Monel metal sink, with a special garbage straining stopper.

A window above the sink, appropriately curtained, looks out upon a vista of sunken gardens and far off mountains. In reality it is an oil painting. Electric fixtures offer illumination by night. Adjacent to the sink is the electric dishwasher, where one merely pushes the soiled dishes in special rubber-covered wire racks, lets down the shining metal lid, and turns a button to wash and rinse the dishes with an effectively moving spray of hot water.

The electric range with all conveniences for rapid and efficient cooking, is attractive to the eye as well as being insurance to the housewife of even, easily controlled, preparation of cooked foods.

Along the right hand wall, opposite the refrigerator, is a modernistic secretary where one can sit to plan menus or phone the grocer.

The color scheme includes dull blue linoleum with a "tangerine" colored border and cream colored walls. A stripe of the same tangerine color runs around the walls about five feet from the floor.

Gleaming white cabinets along one side of the wall provide space sufficient for dishes, food supplies and any other needs of the modern American kitchen.

Special lighting fixtures of aluminum hang from the ceiling and flood the whole room with a soft glow like sunlight. There is an electric clock on the range and another on the wall. A work table with porcelain top provides a convenient place for the housewife's pre-meal activity.

Mrs. Florence Ellis, Home Service Director for the power company, will be present at the opening Tuesday and Miss Carrie Williams, local home service worker, will act as hostess.

Miss Williams plans to conduct a cooking school in the new kitchen during the months to come and will also instruct salesmen in the best methods of operating the various appliances.

It is planned eventually to provide seats for 65 people at one end of the room so that demonstrations can be conducted and kitchen clinics held in a comfortable atmosphere.

The entire working of the electric appliances will be explained in detail on Tuesday and housewives will have an opportunity of learning just how simple and easy science has made the business of keeping house.

AIR CONDITIONED TRAINS

Our Railroads Are Providing De-Luxe Equipment For Their Patrons

Maine residents and summer visitors will have air-conditioned trains this summer. Contracts for equipment for all deluxe day coaches on the Maine Central and Boston and Maine Railroads and for similar equipment for dining cars of the Boston and Maine Railroad which are used on through trains operating between Bangor and Boston were let by the two roads today.

The combination baggage and de-luxe smoking cars and the deluxe coaches of the Maine Central Railroad will be equipped with the air-conditioning apparatus at the Waterville shops, Vice President Douglass said.

The air-conditioning apparatus will make possible the operation of the trains, even in the hottest weather.

TO MRS. ROOSEVELT

Poem Composed By Mrs. Irene Moran

Read At the Congressional Club Meeting

Tribute was paid to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt Thursday in a poem written by Irene S. Moran, wife of Representative Moran, and read at the breakfast given for Mrs. Roosevelt by the Congressional Club.

The club membership is restricted to wives and daughters of Senators and Representatives, and the poem written especially for the occasion, was read by Mrs. Clarence C. Dill, wife of Senator Dill of Washington, president of the club. It read as follows:

"May we pay tribute to the one Who dares the roadways of the sky, And who has bared life to fly.

"We honor this intrepid soul, Who has not feared to point the way Of women to a higher goal Than they have dared yet to essay.

"May peace and health and joy abide With Mrs. Roosevelt, our guest, In whom we take an honest pride, And cheer from north, south, east and west."

FOR FISHERMEN'S RELIEF

Representative Moran has obtained approval of an amendment to the fishermen's relief bill to permit loans to be made for losses resulting from storms or ice as well as from hurricanes, cyclones, tornadoes, and floods. The bill, which has been voted a favorable report by the Committee on Merchant Marine, Fisheries and Radio, authorizes loans up to $2,000,000 for the relief of fishermen who have suffered losses to their equipment from such disasters.

THE WATER HEARING

Petition For Lower Rental Results In Prolonged Hearing Before Commission

The city of Rockland and towns of Camden and Thomaston, represented by City Solicitor E. W. Pike, and Z. M. Dwinall as counsel, appeared before the Public Utilities Commission in the Superior Court room Thursday and yesterday, asking that there be a review of rates as relating to individuals, manufacturing and commercial plants, and municipal water takers; and that the net earnings above 6 percent should be applied to a reduction in the rates.

President William T. Cobb, Attorney Alan L. Bird and Supt. A. F. McAlary appeared in behalf of the Camden & Rockland Water Co.

The Commission was represented by its full membership, with A. J. Stearns (chairman) Mr. Trafton, and the new member, E. E. Chase, who sat with the board for the first time. The proceedings were reported by the assistant clerk, Mr. Hanks.

Mr. Dwinall stated the purpose of the hearing in behalf of the petitioners, the evidence being furnished by Charles C. Hopkins of Rochester, N. Y. as engineer; Harry E. Greene of Waterville, a building contractor; and L. W. Benner, a real estate dealer. The trend of their testimony, which was largely of a technical nature, was to show a smaller valuation of the plant than that which is claimed by the water company as the basis of net earnings.

Mr. Bird said that the matter of rate base had been thoroughly entered into at a hearing before the Commission in 1929, and that an increase in those rates had subsequently been requested by the company, solely to pick up the increase in expenses which had been necessitated by a large increase in taxes.

The Water Company maintained in brief, that construction costs today were at least as high as they were when the Utilities Commission granted the company's request five years ago.

A decision on this week's hearing will be rendered in due season.

THE SAUNTERER

A. B. Crocker

It is a wise Saunterer that knows his Ictodes Faetidus, which will soon be brightening the landscape, and which cannot only be seen, but its odoriferousness permeates the atmosphere so that it can be smelled, as well. I refer to our dear old friend.

THE SKUNK CABBAGE
"Then let me say you are the first Respondent to the sun; You are the first to hear the brook Shout joyfully at spring. And first to see the alder buds And hear the bullfrogs sing."

With the Indians, March was the "Wakening Moon," when the flowers, trees, and animals awoke from their winter's sleep. They will be a trifle late this year. I haven't seen or heard my boyhood friend, the Turdus migratorius, yet and here it is the last week of March.

And I would alight somewhere amid the trees and flowers, and hear the birds sing, where the sun was nice and warm, and one could shed his winter raiment and not be frozen all the time.

Wait a minute! I've got to go down and put some coal on the fire under the boiler to keep up steam. What a rude awakening from the dream.

The Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley, well expresses our feelings in his poem:

"March ain't never nothin' new! April's altogether too Brash fer me! and May—I jes' Bonitate its promise— A few promises, and a few Chip-birds, and a sprout or two,— Drap asleep, and it turns in 'Fore daylight and snows agin!"
