APESOLUTEELEE TROO

As I go up and down the County, meeting hundreds of happy users of the Electrolux, the all around household utility, invariably I hear praises for the utility, in so many different ways, that I have been inspired to write the following lines, which can be sung to the tune of "Maryland! My Maryland."

"IN PRAISE"

Electrolux, my only hope,
To clean my home the only dope,
Electrolux, the only treat,
Keeping my carpets ever sweet.

Electrolux, what shall I say!
You keep my hair all free from gray;
Thou hast renewed my youth at last,
And keep me singing with a lust.

The usage of Electrolux
Gives me a feeling of relax,
Disposing dust out of the bag,
The dirt is vanished, and I brag!

Electrolux shall be my song,
Continuous lay all the day long,
Electrolux shall be my cry,
Until its echoes reach the sky.

Electrolux thou shall abide
With me forever as my pride,
I shall endeavor to proclaim
Thy service as supreme domain.

Would this device to all be known,
So every household now may own
"Electrolux," I say at last,
I'll sing thy praises till I burst.

INGRAHAM HILL TRAGEDY

Mrs. George Everett Fatally Injured When Struck By Auto Carrying Dance Orchestra

Crossing the road to her home at Ingraham Hill, with her pet dog in her arms, Saturday night, Mrs. George Everett was struck by an automobile and received injuries from which she died early Sunday night.

The car involved in the tragedy was a convertible truck, driven by Stanley Walsh and occupied also by the other members of his orchestra, bound for Owl's Head to fill a dance engagement.

Mr. Walsh's experience on this occasion was similar to that of many other drivers: He had just met another car, the lights of which had blinded him to objects in the road ahead, and his car was almost upon Mrs. Everett before he saw her. He swerved the car sharply to the right to ditch it rather than strike the pedestrian, and in so doing escaped collision with a telephone pole by inches.

Mrs. Everett who appears to have been crossing the road in the pathway of the southbound motor car, was struck by the left hand headlight and was thrown under the wheel, suffering a broken leg and other severe injuries. Everything possible was done for her.

Fred Harden was in the front seat of the Walsh car, and the other occupants were Sidney Carr, Yale Goldberg and Keith Crockett.

The first officer at the scene of the accident was Deputy Sheriff Harry D. Phillips. Others who investigated were Lieut. A. W. Cushman, and Ray Foley of the State Police and Deputy Sheriff Robert A. Webster.

County Attorney J. C. Burrows informed The Courier-Gazette yesterday that there would be an official inquiry into the accident.

Mrs. Everett was one of Owl's Head's best known and most highly esteemed women. Among the organizations in which she had functioned so efficiently and loyally were Edwin Libby Relief Corps, Fales Circle, Ladies of the G.A.R., the Auxiliary of the Sons of Union Veterans and Miriam Lodge, D. of R. The community knew her as especially kind and sympathetic, ever ready to lend assistance in time of need.

She is survived by her husband, one son—Ralph; one daughter—Mrs. David Knowlton; and a grand-daughter, Gertrude Knowlton. The funeral services will be held at the late residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. C. MacDonald officiating.

Ten Red-Blooded Boxers Going To Show Next Tuesday Night

Another boxing exhibition for the benefit of Winslow-Holbrook Post will be held in Empire Theatre this Tuesday night; topped off with a 6-round main bout between K. O. Dennis of Waterville and Tony Sacco, the latter a former Sanford pugilist who is now stabling in this city. These boys weigh 141 and 145 pounds, respectively, and can they punch?

There will be two five-round semifinals—the first between Young Reynolds of Rockland and K. O. Rupp of Gardiner; and the second between Kid Jordan of Wadoboro vs. Cyclone Hooper of Rockland. Rupp has been credited with knocking his opponent out in 29 of his 50 fights, but Young Reynolds is not going to be No. 30, not if he knows it. That Hooper-Jordan battle will be a 2000-volt affair.

K. O. Keizer will appear in informal dress to meet Young Pooler of Waterville, who recently won an amateur championship. The other prelim will see Cracker Favreau of Rockland trying to extinguish Kid Lamp of Lincoln.

Out of the Distant Past, No. 23

There are doubtless many residents of Rockland, particularly the younger generation who do not know that Middle street hill (upper extremity of Talbot avenue) served as the campground of the Fourth Maine Regiment before it marched away to play its brilliant part in the Civil War. On the crest of this hill there is now a permanent memorial brought about through the initiative of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War.

The land on which Camp Knox was situated was high and dry, and though not level, made a fine parade ground. On the right looking from Middle street and on the southeast side of the encampment, was the quarters of the regimental officers; next beyond these were the tents of the company officers, next the kitchens, and next the company tents, six to each company, in ten parallel rows. In front of these at the northeast side of the camp was the parade ground. The tents were made by Gen. William S. Cochran, and each tent had a flooring of boards raised several inches from the ground. At first the troops were fed by Robert Anderson, but the camp utensils having been made by J. C. Libby & Son of Rockland, and delivered to the companies, rations were issued and cooked in true army style.

The Fourth Maine Regiment was in camp on this hill from May 17 to June 17, 1861, commanded by Col. Hiram G. Berry, who held the rank of Major General when killed at Chancellorsville. The regiment was in battles of Bull Run, Yorktown, Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, Seven Pines, Fortifications of Richmond, Peach Orchard, White Oak Swamp, Glendale, Malvern Hill, Second Bull Run, Chantilly, Monocacy, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Wapping Heights, Brandy Station, Kelley's Ford, Orange Grove, Mine Run, Rappahannock Station, Auburn Mills, Rapidan, Todd's Tavern, Wilderness, Po River, North Anna, Spotsylvania, and Cold Harbor. Col. Elijah Walker in command from March 25, 1862, to July 19, 1864, when the Regiment was mustered out. Companies B, C, D, and H raised in Rockland.

IN CAMDEN TONIGHT

Delegates From Twenty-seven Units Will Attend District Council

The Camden Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will entertain delegates from the 27 Units in the Second District at a Council meeting on the afternoon of Tuesday, May 15. The session will be called to order at 1.30 by Mrs. Blanche M. Swan of Auburn, chairman of the Council.

The chief speakers will be the State Legion Auxiliary president, Mrs. Emily A. Dexter of Lewiston who will tell of plans for the State convention to be held in June in Bangor, and Mrs. Anne F. Snow of Rockland whose subject will be "Poppies."

Mrs. Snow is well qualified to speak upon this subject so dear to the heart of the Legion and Auxiliary as in 1929 during her presidency was started the Poppy Work-Shop at Togus, where for several weeks each year, disabled World War veterans make red paper Legion poppies for sale. Since then, each year, Mrs. Snow has served on the poppy committee, either State or National, and is a frequent visitor at the Poppy Shop.

The commander of the Camden Post of the American Legion will extend a welcome to the guests, Mrs. Hattie Cole of Camden will have charge of the refreshments to be served at the close of the business session. A brief musical program will be given, arranged by Mrs. Edna Dearborn of the hostess Unit.

The Legion rooms where the meeting will be held are on Mechanic street, directly opposite the Conique Theatre.

An interesting feature of the program will be singing of the Legion song, composed by Miss Antoinette Dumas, president of Lisbon Falls Unit and dedicated to Nelson-Conley Post of Lisbon Falls.

The annual meeting of the Maine State Hand Engine League was held in Topsham Saturday night with 50 members present. An excellent banquet was served by the Topsham boys. It was voted to sell the iron pipe and play through rubber hose at future musters. The election of officers resulted thus:

President, Thomas L. Beaty, Westbrook; vice president, Noah D. Gauthier, Westbrook; and Ivory C. Strout, Topsham; secretary, William Hennessy, Brunswick; treasurer, Charles M. Lawry, Rockland (elected for 11th term); judges, Joseph H. Peters, Rockland; Frank H. Turner Bath; George Hunt, Randolph; Henry Boucher, Topsham; Charles M. The only contest was for second vice president Ivory Strout beating out J. H. Treacartin by three votes. The league extended a vote of thanks to the Androscoggin Engine Co. boys for the fine banquet served and for the use of the hall. The next meeting will be held in Saco the second Saturday in October.

Musters were discussed but no bids have been received.

SPELLING CHAMPION

Sarah Wilson, Daughter of Former Thomaston Couple Goes To National Capital

Miss Sarah Adelaide Wilson, 12, pupil of Gray Junior High School, ably defended her title of spelling champion of Cumberland County Saturday evening at Portland High School, when she again won the spelling contest sponsored by the Evening Express. The 10 contestants entered in the finals represented the several school districts of the county. The winner will be sent to the Capital to represent her school, town, county, and the Evening Express in the National spelling contest to be held May 29 when pupils from many States compete for the title of champion speller of the United States.

The words were supplied by Miss Virginia A. Porter, head of department, Farmington Normal School. The pronouncer was Herbert Ross Brown, associate professor of English, Bowdoin College and the judges were: Francis W. Sullivan, Attorney at Law, Rev. W. Nevill Elliot, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church and Mrs. Richard B. Wilkes.

The 700 spectators were treated to a hard fought contest as the 10 contestants battled for the championship and the trip to Washington.

It was not until the 69th round that the contest was reduced to two. Before the winner was finally determined, the list of 600 words had been nearly exhausted.

Miss Wilson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wilson of Gray, formerly of Thomaston and Sarah loves nothing better than coming to Thomaston to spend her school vacations with relatives. She will be accompanied on her trip to Washington by Miss Kerr of the Evening Express.

DAYBREAK

A wind came up out of the sea,
And said, "O mists, make room for me!"
It halted the ships, and cried, "Sail on,
Ye mariners, the night is gone!"

And hurried landward far away,
Crying, "Awake! it is the day!"
It said unto the forest, "Shout!
Hang all your leafy banners out!"

It touched the wood-bird's folded wing,
And said, "O bird, awake and sing!"
And o'er the farms, "O chanticleer,
Your clarion blow; the day is near!"

It whispered to the fields of corn,
"Bow down, and hail the coming morn!"
It shouted through the beirfy tower,
"Awake, O bell! proclaim the hour."

It crossed the churchyard with a sigh,
And said, "Not yet! in quiet lie."
—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

COLLEGIANS DROP FIRST

Defect In Right Field Spoils Their Chance—The School Games

This Week's School Games

Wednesday—Rockland at Thomaston; Camden at Newcastle; Vinalhaven at St. George.

Friday—Thomaston at Newcastle; Vinalhaven at Camden.

Saturday—St. George at Rockland.

The Collegians, independent team, which is to represent Knox County this season, made their debut at Community Park Sunday afternoon, and lost the game because of the error of omission which was made on right field under the CWA project. The Collegians were leading 2 to 0 when the second inning opened. Brown flied to right field for what would have been an easy out, but Ayotte in backing up for it fell into the depression which served during the winter as a skating rink, and the ball was knocked from his hands. Wiles scored on the bases and Brown later scored on Brown's hit, although three men would have been out without a score had right field been in its original condition.

The fans gave free vent to their dissatisfaction, which seems to be thoroughly justified in view of the fact that Community Park was built originally as a baseball field. There were two of these mishaps in the first game, the visitors having one of them, but without cost.

The local committee which had charge of the Community Park improvements offers two defenses against criticism—one being that the CWA project was not completed, and the other that the southern limit of the skating rink is beyond the official home run limit of 235 feet.

But the fact remains that something must be done to protect the right fielders from the possibility of physical harm, and this is to be done by grading backward about 15 feet.

The Collegians rallied in the sixth when Simmons started off with a double, Mealey followed with a triple and Archer singled. With one score needed to tie, a man on third and none down, it looked as though the Collegians were coming through, but Wotton, who had made a peach of a double in his first trip to the plate, hit to pitcher and was an easy out at first; Durrell drew his second pass of the game; Monaghan grounded to Brown, and Planagan's fly to left was easily cared for by Wiles.

Neither side scored after that.

Gray pitched the first five innings and was touched up for nine hits. Simmons completed the game and held the visitors to a solitary single.

Brewer used three relievers, White being the best of the trio. It was a game well worth watching, with both teams turning in some very fine plays. It was the same old Charlie Wotton at first base, his ability to make marvelous stops apparently not handicapped by his year's holiday. Fowler made a sensational assist, and there were other good plays by Durrell, Planagan and Winchester. The score:

Gave Good Battle

Lincoln Academy defeated St. George at Newcastle last Wednesday, 9-8. The game was close all the way through, excepting the fourth inning, when St. George scored five runs, on three hits, two errors, and a base on balls. A very determined Lincoln team kept fighting to overcome the four-run lead and finally did, to win the game.

St. George's first run came on probably the longest hit ever seen at the Academy field. With one man out, in the third, Anderson hit a terrific smash which hit high up on the roof of the building in the extreme right field. He got three bases on the hit. A few minutes later (after fouling a dozen or so) Kulju drove him home with a nice single.

Features were very evenly divided. Polky and Simmons both pitched good ball, considering the support they received. The fact that Simmons could bear down in the pinches, kept St. George from scoring more.

"I know how Steel Protects You -in a Warship or a Car"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH M. E. MERRITT, NAVY YARD, CHARLESTON, S. C.

"I bought a Plymouth for its Safety-Steel Body... Lucky for me that I did!"

YOU'VE SEEN the steel armor on warships. It's Merritt's job to help make it. He knows how strong it is. Small wonder that when he wanted a car, he picked Plymouth for its Safety-Steel Body. But he never thought that this precaution would one day save his life!

The drawing shows what happened. A foggy night. A sudden stop. Rammied by a truck from behind... catapulted into the air. Smashing down! Turning over and over!

"The Safety-Steel Body was all that saved me!" he told us.

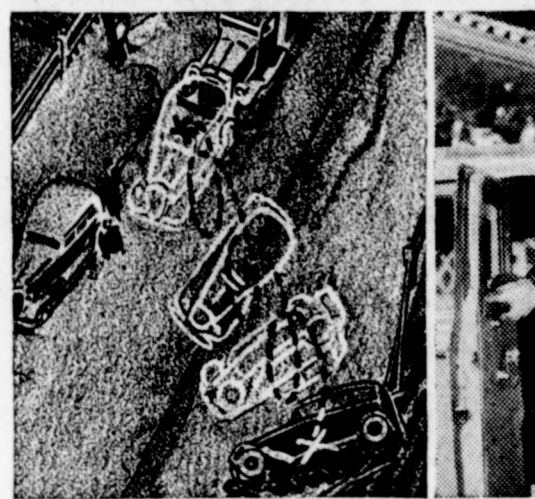

Experiences like this aren't common, but they do happen. That's why our engineers gave Plymouth a Safety-Steel Body and Hydraulic Brakes... the safest brakes made.

THEN, they made Plymouth more comfortable, with patented Floating Power engine mountings to keep all motor vibration away from the passengers... and Individual Wheel Springs to end all jouncing.

Any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer will gladly give you a Plymouth demonstration—any time.

2. "There's nothing but steel plates on today's warships. And steel is what I wanted in the body of my car, though I never thought, at the time, I'd be in a serious accident."

3. "One night it happened! I'd pulled up behind a parked car. A truck tore up in back and sent me sailing. But I lived to tell it!"

4. "My Plymouth saves my money, too. It gets me by on a tankful of gas each week. And no extra oil between drainings!"

5. DeLuxe Plymouth Sedan. Plymouth prices from $530 at the factory, Detroit, subject to change without notice. Time payments on Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Plan.

"Red Riding Hood" First Out With Other Stories

It is said that the story of Red Riding Hood is a solar myth, following the path of the red sun from its home in the east, across the sky, to the dark cottage of the west, where it is devoured by the wolf of night, says Tit-Bits Magazine.

However that may be, nobody seems to have known much of the tale until it appeared in a book having the strange title: Histoires ou Contes du temps passe, avec des Moralites, and bearing on the back of the cover another title: "Contes de ma mere L'Oye," which may be translated: "Stories or fables of olden times, with a moral," and "Stories of Mother Goose."

The book was published in the time of Louis XIV, and was written by one of his most distinguished subjects, an old member of the French academy, who thought little of it. In this book, besides "Little Red Riding Hood," appeared such well-known stories as "Cinderella," "Bluebeard," "Puss-in-Boots," "Tom Thumb," and "The Sleeping Beauty." The author's name was Charles Perrault, but the book was published under the name of his ten-year-old son, and it may be that some old villager or nurse had actually related these stories to the child, and that they had been taken down by the father in their original simple form and language. No one will ever know how much was original and how much was folk lore.

Three Pillars in Lee's Home From Constitution

"Leeland," the ancestral home of one branch of the famous Lee family of Virginia was built at Shepherdstown in 1829 by Edmund Jennings Lee, a grandson of Richard Henry Lee, signer of the Declaration of Independence and a first cousin of Robert E. Lee, the Confederate chieftain. At the time the mansion was built, observes a writer in the Kansas City Times, Shepherdstown was within the boundaries of old Virginia. Aside from the many historic traditions that are associated with "Leeland," this old mansion is noted for the fact that the three pillars in front were the original masts of the famous old flagship, the frigate Constitution, embalmed in American memories as "Old Ironsides."

The masts were obtained during the War of the Revolution when the old ship was dismantled and rebuilt. The old masts were selected for use in "Leeland" house, which was destroyed by fire a short time before the Civil war. "Old Ironsides" acquired other masts in other days. One of the later ones is now the property of the Topeka high school, the gift of former Vice President Charles Curtis.

Mozart's Useful Nose

Mozart had, according to all accounts, an exceedingly well developed nasal protuberance, and used it to advantage in a challenge to Haydn, so the story goes. Mozart was Haydn's pupil and Haydn challenged him to produce a composition of his own which he (Haydn) could not play at sight, and Mozart wrote a little piece, and Haydn sat down to play. Presently he came to a passage which required the hands to be stretched out to the extreme top and bottom keys of the instrument, while there was a note to be played in the center. He was unable to play it, but Mozart sat down, and on reaching the passage stretched out his hands, bent forward, and struck the middle note with his nose.

Mohammed's Hegira

Hegira is the word used commonly to mean an emigration of large bodies of population, originally designated a single emigration, which led to the establishment of the Mohammedan religion. Mohammed, threatened with death at the hands of his jealous kinfolks, left Mecca in 622, seeking refuge in Medina, where he found the people more hospitable to his religious doctrines and he soon developed a large following which pledged him every support, military and otherwise. The successful battles waged against his adversaries soon brought Mohammedanism to supremacy.

Battle of Jutland

In the Battle of Jutland in the World war the British fleet consisted of 37 capital ships, eight armored cruisers, 26 light cruisers and 80 flotilla leaders and destroyers. The German fleet consisted of 27 capital ships, 11 light cruisers, 63 flotilla leaders and destroyers, three cruisers and eight torpedo craft. Germany lost one battleship, one battle cruiser, four light cruisers and five torpedo craft.

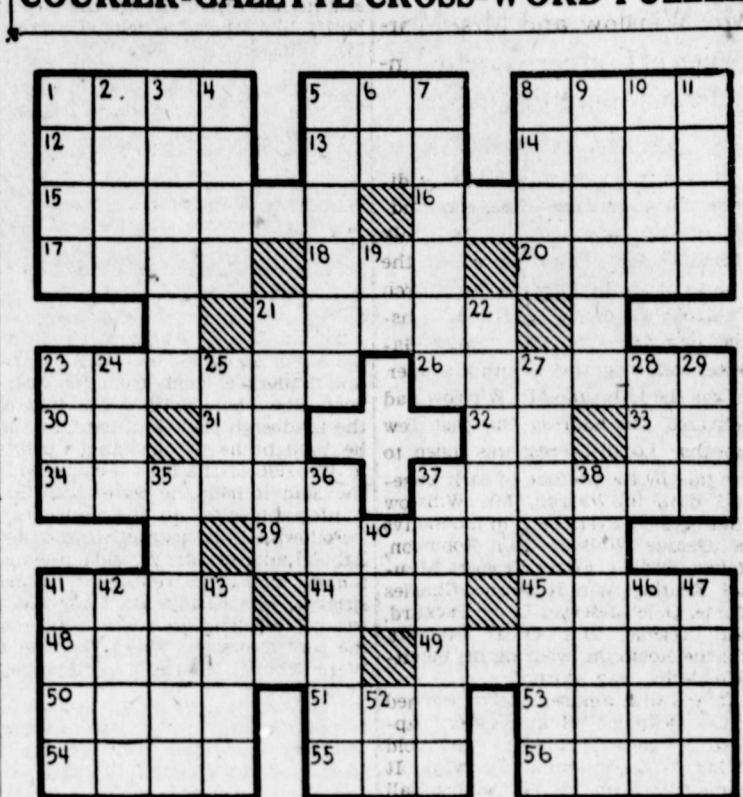

Diamond Still a Mystery

The exact conditions under which diamonds are formed in the earth have not yet been discovered, but scientists have found that by heating pure prepared carbon and iron to intense heat by electricity, very small diamonds are formed at the center of the lump. This would seem to indicate the process of diamond formation—carbon subjected to great heat and the tremendous pressure of cooling.

OWL'S HEAD

A Democratic meeting was held at the home of Charles Willis May 9, with a very able speaker in Mr. Connelan. Following the speaking this committee was chosen: Charles Willis, chairman; Florence McConchie, vice chairman; John Whalen, treasurer; Eleanor Fredette, secretary; Ella Hare, reporter. Mr. Montgomery of Camden will be the speaker at the next meeting Wednesday evening, May 16, at the same place.

NORTH HAVEN

Passengers on the Vinalhaven Thursday had a somewhat rough trip. Upon getting outside the breakwater the sea became what one might call tumultuous. Captain Kent is a man who knows his job and takes no chances. On one bell the steamer took its course leisurely and after two hours by way of the inside channel docked at Vinalhaven. There was an amount of freight. One serious mishap was averted when Mrs. Lottie Dyer, a passenger was thrown violently from one side of the ship to the other without suffering injury. One passenger saw the air-craft carrier, the 22-million dollar boat, anchored away outside, and it loomed up like an island in the mist. Other North Haven passengers aboard were H. F. Huse and Federal Warden Bertram Smith.

Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Greenlaw a bouquet of lovely jonquils lent their color and cheer to the church services Sunday. Now is the time to plan, plow and plant a garden. Last year the fruits of gardens carried many a home through the winter.

Horace M. Nowes underwent a surgical operation at the Garfield Hospital in Washington, D. C. Wednesday of last week. Word received states that he is getting along splendidly. He has been all faith and courage and expects soon to be able to come North for the summer as usual at North Haven. His address is Garfield Hospital, Florida avenue, Washington, D. C.

Selections by the church choir Sunday were especially fine.

John Edwards who for so many years has been in the employ of the Weld estate came to North Haven Saturday morning for the summer. A crew of six men accompanied Mr. Edwards to paint the Weld houses. Norman and Mrs. Morrison also arrived at North Haven Saturday for the summer.

Austin Webster of Camden is a visitor at the home of Frank Beyer for a few days.

It looks as though most of the roses on the island had become winter killed. The same report comes from Boston and other places. Roses were so beautiful a year ago, not to see them this year will be a disappointment. But with time and patience roses will grow and bloom again.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Lewis will occupy the bungalow of their brother James this summer.

Mrs. Freeman Howard and daughters Treva and Norma are home at North Haven after spending the winter in Medford, Mass. Wendell continues at the C. C. C. at Princeton.

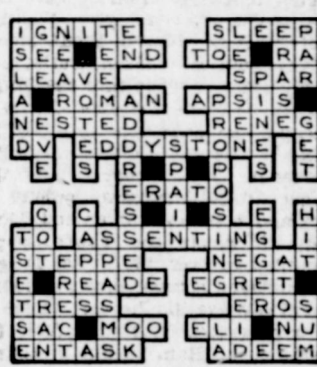

The high school group report a good time at Vinalhaven Saturday. Their play was well given and well received.

STRAND THEATRE

The "ton of temperament" involved in the making of "Wonder Bar," now showing today and tomorrow, got along fairly well, thank you. The very fact that so many high strung, artistic-type players were included in one cast has helped Director Lloyd Bacon guide the progress of this picture with less than the usual amount of temperamental delays. Bacon played with the temperaments of the many stars under his guidance in "Wonder Bar" as a lion tamer might with his high powered performers. He licked one outburst by encouraging an even hotter explosion on the part of someone else. After a few days of this no one of these human volcanoes dared blow up for fear of setting all the others off—and, so defeating his own purpose. The "ton of temperament" includes many justly famous names and plenty of high spirited ability.

The feature for Thursday is "Lazy River," with Jean Parker and Robert Young, a picture of the Sunny South.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. BELLAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

The After-School Luncheon

The "after-school snack" for which most children plead is not difficult to justify. At the same time it calls for a word of caution. In support of "just a bite" we have the probable presence of hunger, especially if a light luncheon at noon is the rule. The school child is in the growing stage. His body literally demands food, for such is the meaning of appetite. He is usually active and food is the source of energy for all activity, whether mental such as school studies, or physical such as play.

For the snack, a glass of milk is ideal. A slice of buttered bread, an orange, an apple, or a simple sandwich are also good. The cautions are these. Sweets in any form, even the hallowed jam, are taboo. They spoil the appetite too readily. The time and nature of the evening meal must be taken into account. If it is dinner, at an early hour, probably the "snack" should be overruled. If it is a light supper or a late dinner, let the child have his mid-afternoon lunch. But watch his appetite to see what the effect is. Let experience guide you.

Finally, if the child is overweight and not inclined to active play, the "snack" is probably a bad habit that should be corrected. The humble tomato and its values will be described in Dr. Ireland's next article.

SEALS!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, April 24, (via Mackay Radio). We are like an army, digging in and getting everything ready for the big battle to come. The long Antarctic night has descended upon us all day and night we are in a deep gray shadow. Sometimes, when the sky is overcast or a storm is raging, we are in inky blackness. Most of the time, however, it is a thick, heavy gray which lets us see a dozen or so feet away. Some days and nights we have moonlight and that helps a lot. This absence of daylight is so new to me that it gives me the old-timers tell me I'll get used to it. We'll make up for it next summer when we have sunlight for months, 24 hours a day. The sun is due to pay us its next visit August 22 and will give it a cheer!

Commander Hjalmar Gjertsen I don't like to Expedition see seals killed Commodore but down here it is very necessary, to preserve health for us and our dogs. We have 500 seals, all frozen, some in our storehouses, the rest out on the ice several miles away—in Nature's biggest icebox. You know, we have two kinds of seals down here, the Crab-eaters and the Weddell seals, and two kinds of penguins, the little Adelle and the Emperors. The Crab-Eater seals weigh about 200 pounds when fully grown and are courageous fighters, with sharp teeth, although they can't open their mouths very wide when gobbling crustaceans and small fish. They are a neutral gray and travel over the ice like serpents. They are arrogant, active, interesting and delicious to eat, although their flesh, under the coating of fat or blubber, is very black, like all the birds and animals down here, including whales, on account of the richness of their blood. They make a funny, indescribable noise, half grunt, half moo like a cow.

The Weddell seals are much bigger, weighing 25 to 35 pounds when born, growing 50 pounds a week for the first two or three weeks, then more slowly until they reach around 800 pounds. They have no teeth but find no difficulty eating crabs and other crustaceans and fish by crushing them. They travel by wiggling along, very different from the Crab-Eaters. They are dark brown or black with bright gray spots, hair instead of fur, and make the darndest noise I ever heard—a cross between the trill of a canary and a faint moo. None of the seals down here bark like the northern seals. The Weddell seals can open their mouths prodigiously—150 degrees. And are they lazy! A few days before the sun and the seals (and all other creatures including the whales) disappeared, I ran at two seals on the bay ice, to scare them. You know the animals down here have no fear of humans, because they haven't been hunted with guns—only clubs. Well, the Crab-Eater snaked over the ice and popped in to the water of an open lead. The Weddell opened one eye, looked at me scornfully, and closed it again.

I've talked with the tractor crews and the dog team men who set up our southern bases for the explorations were going to start next spring—in October. Both groups did a marvelous job and had a horrible time doing it. Captain Innes-Taylor, William Palne, Finn Ronne and Dick Black, with their dog teams, established a big food and supply base for us 180 miles south of here. You might mark that trip on your club maps, using the proper legend for the dog teams—to Latitude 81.2 South Longitude 160.50 West.

We've got a big thrill coming later this month—if we're not beset by too many storms and blizzards. The scientists have told us there will be a lot of vivid meteor showers and they have built an observatory. So now we are all waiting to observe this show to be put on by the heavenly bodies. I'll tell you all about it.

Have you and your friends joined our club yet? Why don't you get your school teachers to enroll their entire classes, as 142 other teachers have done! The club is open to everybody interested in aviation, exploration and adventure and there are no expenses whatever to members. Simply send stamped, clearly self-addressed envelope, or, in case of school teachers, the names and home addresses of self and pupils, with stamp for each, to A. C. Able, Jr., President, Little America Aviation & Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York City and our big free working map of the South Pole region and membership card will be sent immediately.

HEARD IN WARREN

Mr. Winslow and Mrs. Morgan of Courier-Gazette Entertain Congreg'l Circle

(By Alena L. Starrett)

It was truly an enthusiastic audience which applauded long and loudly at the conclusion of the talk "Flirting With Fame" given at the Chapel of the Congregational Church Thursday evening by Frank A. Winslow, city editor of The Courier-Gazette, following the monthly supper. It was the 13th time Mr. Winslow had delivered the address the past few months. Local interest was added to the talk by the preface of early baseball days in Warren, Mr. Winslow naming the players back in those days as George Walker, Bill Robinson, Hovey Newbert, Fitzer Newbert, Maurice Keating, Win Robinson, Charles Morse, Olie Meserve, Leslie Packard, Will Teeague, and Oscar Starrett. Charlie Robinson, wearing his inevitable derby, was scorer.

It was with amusement we learned of the nickname "Hoky Newbert" applied to George Newbert, and told in Mr. Winslow's humorous way. It seems that when the Warren baseball team assembled for a game at Rockland back in the gay 90s, only eight were on the field and a search began for Newbert who was found in front of a hoky rokey cart. The name given then has stuck firmly. Robert Walker often served as umpire and Mr. Winslow remarked on the long and heated arguments they used to have. In those days the teams used to travel in buckboards and several members of the team were musical. He told of the jinx in meeting a hand organ man, a sure thing a game would be lost; and of a group gathering about a baker's cart and the doubt whether the man who ran it received all the pay he had coming to him.

One thing of particular interest was the marking of the fact that there were three generations of ball players in the Walker family. George Walker, his son Lee W. Walker, and the grandson Douglas Walker who is pitching so ably for Bowdoin in the State series.

In 1895 Warren had its best team, several of the players making the big league following their engagement here. The players were Webster, Popkey, Black, Burton, Stout, Moore, Powers, Socklexis, Jason, Curley and Nason. Powers went into the Philadelphia Athletic Association, Curley to Chicago, and Socklexis, the splendid Indian thrower to Cleveland. The speaker recalled a Labor Day double-header at the Broadway ground in Rockland, between Warren and Rockland, at which the gate receipts amounted to over $600. Ed Teeague was manager in those days and many an anxious eye did he cast to see if the weather was to be favorable for their games. Rain meant of course a loss and the players had to be paid. "I remember another game" went on Mr. Winslow, "between Rockland and Warren when the former team brought a band and many of the business places closed. In spite of my pitching, Rockland won the game. Warren was host to a dinner at Crescent Beach which followed."

Players in 1908 and 1909 included, Brown, Kerr, Ladd, Thomas, Stickney, Lockie, Moody, Fowler, Harold Ladd, and Ralph Stickney—considered the best local players in the county.

Mr. Winslow said in conclusion that such good times were had he could even forgive the moving 51 years ago of the shoe factory from Rockland to Warren.

Next was the real theme of his talk, "Flirting With Fame" in which he told of contacts, both by correspondence and by personal interview, with celebrities past and present.

That list included John Kendrick Bangs, President William H. Taft, who visited Rockland on the presidential yacht, Mary Pickford, and spoke in front of the public library, and who looked down into the innermost quarries in spite of the strenuous objections of the secret service men accompanying him; Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge, as vice president in 1922 and who later spoke at the Children's Playground with a temperature of 102 degrees; William Jennings Bryan, Charles Evans Hughes, Alton R. Parker, John E. Davis, Champ Clark, Senator James B. Watson, William E. Borah, Speaker Cannon, Attorney-General W. H. Moody, Secretary of the Treasury, Leslie M. Shaw, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, who although exceedingly democratic did not wish to have much about himself in the papers, "Mark Twain," very sympathetic of a cub reporter which Mr. Winslow was then; William K. Vanderbilt Jr. who came into Rockland Harbor with his yacht, the Albatross, and Thomas A. Edison with whom an interview was most difficult because of Mr. Edison's deafness; Rear Admiral Bob Evans, General Pershing, Edwards, and Lord; "Roxey" Hobbie Stevens and St. Parker, Carrie Nation, Ellen Stone who was kidnapped and held in 1901 by Turkish bandits; the explorers Robert E. Peary, Donald B. MacMillan, Frank W. Sandford, founder of the "Holy Ghost and Us," and who was difficult to secure interviews with although he seemed to take a liking for Mr. Winslow having him as luncheon guest at South Freeport and Shiloh. Mr. Winslow described him as a perfect host one minute and in the next flying off on a religious tangent.

Among his souvenirs Mr. Winslow treasures letters from Edward W. Bok; Congressman W. D. Upshaw; Christy Mathewson, Sir Auckland Geddes, Kenneth Roberts, author of "Arundel"; Nellie Tayloe Ross, governor of Wyoming; the Austrian minister of war, Rear Admiral E. W. Eberle, in charge of aeronautics at the time the Shenandoah flew to Bar Harbor; a message sent through the Boston consulate by President von Hindenburg to whom Mr. Winslow had sent a letter via the Graf Zeppelin; and a letter from Charles A. Lindbergh.

Mr. Winslow has met Col. Lindbergh twice, once under most amusing circumstances. It seems he had received the tip that Lindbergh was to stop at the Rockland airport for gas and he had requested that the airport notify him when the colonel arrived. Mr. Winslow went to a barber shop and had one side of his face shaved when a boy rushed in with the message that the Lindbergh plane was at the airport. Mr. Winslow took himself to the airport, and had the desired interview. According to Mr. Winslow the only question he would not answer was whether he would care to make the trans-Atlantic flight again.

The second time he met the Lindberghs was at South Pond when they were lost to the newspapers and the public for about 14 hours. Mr. Winslow brought a laugh from his audience when he described his trip to the Lindbergh plane in a punt, saying he thought he left his finger prints in the side of the boat because with the load it had, the water was uncomfortably close to the gunwales.

Following this instructive and delightful address, Mr. Winslow proving himself an easy as well as interesting speaker, Mrs. Gladys St. Clair Morgan of Rockland graciously rendered the contralto solo, "When You and I Were Young Maggie," accompanied by Mrs. Nettie Vinal.

Community Club Meeting

The 15th regular meeting of the Woman's Community Club was held at the new school building May 8. Mrs. Lizzie Hawes presiding. The program preceded the business portion, and opened with the singing of several songs by the grade classes of the schools under the direction of Miss Lawrence, supervisor. Mrs. Bessie Stephenson chairman of the program presented the speaker of the afternoon, John Tewksbury of Camden, who gave a very thorough and enlightening talk on the subject assigned to him, "Russia." After the business of the club was transacted refreshments were served by Mrs. Charlotte Hawes, Mrs. Lizzie Hawes, and Mrs. George Hills.

Much praise is due the children for the enthusiastic manner in which they sang their songs and careful training was evident and the club extends thanks to them and to Miss Lawrence for their contribution to the entertainment. A rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Tewksbury by the members in grateful appreciation of his coming to speak to them.

"SHOPPING...THERE'S A REAL TEST OF NERVES, TOO, MR. BUCK!"

Listen to what Mrs. Abbot J. Copeland has to say on shopping—and nerves:

"There's no doubt in the world that healthy nerves are vital to a man who goes out and catches wild animals alive. But take it from a busy wife and mother who spends many hours each week searching through the stores—anxious to make the family budget reach as far as possible—you need healthy nerves to be a shopper, too! Tramping through miles and miles of aisles...pricing, comparing, judging quality and values...well, that's a test of anyone's nerves. 'Nerves' don't ever bother me, though. As for cigarettes, I smoke Camels. They don't upset my nerves. And I have never tasted such flavor and mildness."

Frank Buck, who has brought back many tons of wild cargo from the jungles of Asia, says:

"It takes healthy nerves to bring 'em back alive. It's a job packed with thrills, excitement and real danger. I never would have been able to populate half the zoos in this country, cross the Pacific 20 times with tons of savage live cargo, and save my own life a half dozen times by quick action if I didn't have healthy nerves. I am a heavy smoker. I prefer Camels, knowing that I can safely smoke all I want without upsetting my nerves."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Jangled nerves are apt to visit us all. You know the signs—telephone slamming, frowning, hot words that wound others, worrying and fuming over trifles.

If you are inclined toward jumpy nerves check up now—on your eating and sleeping, your habits of work and play. Make Camels your cigarette. They never get on your nerves.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.

If you have experienced the aftertaste often associated with flat-tasting cigarettes, or the "sweet" type, you will appreciate the mildness and rich flavor of Camels. And you can smoke them all you want. For Camel's costlier tobaccos never jangle your nerves.

Just A Spot of Ancient India In The Heart of "Old" New York

THE above pictured diorama of a northern India tea estate is now being exhibited in New York City. (Incidentally, cross-word puzzle creators have so far overlooked that word, "diorama"). The original of this diorama is on display at the Imperial Institute, London. The background, showing the Himalayan Mountains, is painted in oils by the noted London artist, Jane Jackson. In the middle foreground are graphically natural figures of tea-pluckers and foreman. The diorama is enclosed in a case 7 feet wide, 5 feet high and 3 feet deep. Under electric illumination, it is a splendid visualization of a tea garden of India, whence comes most of the world's tea.

NORTH HAVEN

Charles S. Parsons

After weeks of illness and suffering Charles S. Parsons passed peacefully away at his home early last Thursday evening. It was in March that Mr. Parsons went to Knox Hospital for an operation. The malady however had become so far advanced that it was impossible for the operation to effect a cure.

Mr. Parsons was born in Stockton Springs, April 14, 1877. Earlier in his life was an engineer on the boat Loon owned by C. S. Norton; for 10 years he was captain of the Trivia owned by E. B. Alford and the past five years he had been caretaker and boatman for Mrs. Olivia James. With all these employments, as well as others who have known him, he won respect and esteem for his friendship, his loyalty and his ability. During his illness Mrs. James came from Boston to see Mr. Parsons, and throughout the entire time all these have been very thoughtful and kind to him.

Mr. Parsons is survived by his wife Carrie A. Parsons, and daughter Emma, a teacher in the schools at Plainville, Conn., who for the past three weeks has been at home to assist in every way in the care of her father. Solomon Parsons, the father, is now 88 years of age and the oldest man in North Haven. In the care of his aged father the son had been all that thoughtful devotion could be. Besides those mentioned there are two brothers, Walter of Newton Centre, Mass., and Herbert of North Haven, also three sisters, Mrs. Roscoe Cooper of Camden, Mrs. Katherine Duncan and Mrs. F. Calderwood of North Haven. Sympathy is deep and widespread for all these in their bereavement and sorrow.

Funeral services were held in the Pulpit Harbor Church Sunday afternoon conducted by Rev. Henry F. Huse. Interment was in Sea View cemetery, the bearers, Chester Dyer, Ned Dyer, Herman Cooper and Zenas Burgess, being brother members from the order of Knights of Pythias. There were a great many beautiful flowers. Members of the Knights and Sisterhood attended in a body.

At The High School

(By the Pupils)

A visit to the Latin room discloses several new posters which testify to the fact that English words, artists, and Latin words, together with their derivatives can be combined into an educational and decorative picture. These posters showing special ability were made by Russell Hickman, Wilis Anderson, Jane Welch, John Blithen, Betty McAlary, Barbara Orff, Edith Dondis, David Hyler, Irma Morse, Eleanor Look, and Vieno Kangas.

On Wednesday morning as a special feature of National Music Week, the junior high orchestra, under the direction of Miss Hagar, presented the following excellent program: devotional exercises, chairman Richard Marsh; "The Meaning of National Music Week," Ethel Hayes; "Ambition Overture" and "Indian Boy," orchestra; piano solo, "Eude," Marion Ludwig; trumpet duet, "Love Song," Charles Toner and Gordon Richardson; "Heart Tones," orchestra; vocal solo, "Lullaby," Bernice Havener; violin solo, "Fairy Tales," Richard Marsh; "Drummer Boy," and "Medley of National Airs," orchestra.

Members of this orchestra are: violins, Richard Marsh, Richard Karl, Harold Dondis, Henry Dodge, Bernice Havener, clarinet, Edward Storer, saxophone, Stirling Morse; trumpets, Charles Toner and Gordon Richardson; alto horns, Ethel Hayes and Virginia Wood; tuba, Bernard Thompson; drums, Richard Havener; piano, Ernest Johnson and Marion Ludwig.

Attention has been focused the past week in the public speaking classes on that necessary qualification, "good manners." The duties of hosts and hostesses, stage manners, and table manners have been stressed, the latter being learned while imaginary dinners were eaten at perfectly appointed tables. Posters bearing on this subject have been made with these inscriptions: "Eventually good manners, why not now?" by Winifred Pinkham; "The voice with a smile wins," Edward Hayes; "Eat and drink as friends," William Anderson; "Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy," Grace Clancy; "Eat and drink and be merry," Helen Withee; and "Mend your manners" by Miriam Wiggins and Vera Thompson.

Ruth Dondis was secretary to Principal Blaisdell last week.

Although an account of the senior high assembly given Tuesday morning under the direction of Mrs. Jackson has already appeared in a recent issue of this paper, special mention might well be made of the beautiful rendition of Debussy's "Nocturne" by Ruth Dondis, whose musical ability is well known to Rockland audiences. It was a privilege, also, to hear a number "Beau of Bath" read by Florence Dean, and accompanied by Marion, Dudley and Dorothy Harvey, which was presented in a Mother's Day program at Keith's Theatre in Portland Sunday. The "close harmony" of Richard French, Wilbur Coppon, Howard Crockett, and Edward Ladd in their two numbers also played a great part in making this program one of the most pleasurable of the school year.

The senior French class commemorated the birthday of Jeanne d'Arc, beloved heroine of France, Friday, giving the following program: "rumpet so," "La Marseillaise," Marion Harvey; "Significance of the birth of Jeanne d'Arc in France," Thelma Day; "Life of Jeanne d'Arc," Constance Snow; so, "Jeanne d'Arc," Dorothy Harvey. A play "Jeanne d'Arc" was presented with this cast: Jeanne, Eleanor Tibbets; King Charles, Russell; Battle of Reims, Bernard Cohen; Court, Harvey Allen; Captain, Vincent Pellicane; Knight, Vernard Crockett.

In the attendance contest sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association in which all schools in the city have been participating this year, junior high tops the list with 36.15% while senior high is second with 29.47%.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Adin Hopkins, former instructor in drawing, posters are being made for the flower and art exhibit to be held at the Danish Village near Portland, May 30-June 4. Outstanding work is being done in this line by Dorothy Thomas, Stanley Farnham, Neil Little, Edwin Edwards, Ariene Havener, Vernon Raye, Bernice Havener, and Beulah Callahan.

Traveling Around America

One of the magnificent views enjoyed on a trip through the Yosemite in California.

Two attractive Indian girls of Guatemala.

THE LAND-SEA WAY

THESE "Three Brothers" of the Yosemite and the little sisters of Guatemala are fascinating flashes from the passing show enjoyed by travelers taking the land-sea way 'round America. So varied are the attractions of our own continent that globe trotters who have been sailing the seven seas in search of new travel thrills are turning, to the Americas in ever increasing numbers, and are discovering that they offer mountain scenery as magnificent, peoples as interesting and ruins as ancient as any the Old World shelters.

The superb natural beauties of our National Parks like the Yosemite, the Grand Canyon, Yellowstone, Zion and others, and the Spanish-Americans with their mysterious buried cities and intriguing native villages, lie on the route of the weekly rail-water circle tours between New York and California which cover the trip between our two coasts, one by rail and the other by sea—through the Panama Canal and the Central Americas. The Yosemite, one of the most beautiful of our national parks, presents scenery as spectacular as can be found anywhere on the globe. There are hoary-headed mountains and sheer cliffs that sit the sky five thousand feet overhead; colorful crags cut into all sorts of grotesque shapes by glaciers which swept over our continent thousands of years ago; great groves of giant trees so huge that a roadway has been tunneled through one of them—so ringed with years that they are the world's oldest living things.

Here also in our so-called New World are Indian tribes of Guatemala and Mexico whose ancestors, the Mayas, dwelt on our continent hundreds of years before the white man's arrival; and relics of cities so ancient their origin is still shrouded in mystery.

MOTHER

(For The Courier-Gazette)
A mother always helps you.
When life's problems overwhelm you
Mother's love is comfort you.
Mother's way may seem old fashioned.
But your welfare is her life.
And she tries to help you onward
Through the struggle and the strife.
When you're ill your nurse is mother.
When you're well you are her joy;
She can think of nothing better
Than to serve her girl or boy.
When all other friends forsake you
When the world seems dark and drear,
There to comfort and support you
Will be your mother dear.

MISS JAMESON'S PAPER

Featured An Interesting Meeting of the Universalist Mission Circle

The Universalist Mission Circle met at the home of Mrs. Lillian McRae with Mrs. E. W. Pike, Mrs. E. L. Hewitt and Mrs. W. R. Stewart as assisting hostesses. Box luncheon had 13 present, and others attended the afternoon sewing and devotional period. The Circle's newest member, Mrs. May Barker Holt, was greeted. It was voted to aid Hannah Powell in her work in the mountain schools of the South. Miss Margaret G. Stahl, Mrs. Ambrose Mills and Miss Myrtle Herrick were named a nominating committee to report at the annual meeting in June. For the all-day State meeting Thursday, Mrs. George Palmer, Mrs. W. E. Morgan, Mrs. E. R. Veazie and Mrs. G. L. St. Clair were named a committee in charge of luncheon, and Mrs. E. F. Glover, Mrs. G. H. Welch and Mrs. Robert N. Messer as a reception committee.

Miss Caroline Jameson's paper on Owen D. Young, in the series of "Well Known Men of Our Church", was unusually fine, and of timely interest, in view of Mr. Young's importance in world affairs at the present time. Miss Jameson gave a brief sketch of his boyhood days where his first task was the striking a happy balance between work and play in a home of humble conditions, with duties too numerous to mention, all preceded over by a pale, thin, tired, discouraged mother bearing all the burdens. This mother mortgaged the farm to send her boy to an academy, and from this preliminary schooling Miss Jameson told of his brilliant record at St. Lawrence University where he worked his way through. His background of ancestry was told, and also his affection for the little village of Van Hornesville, N. Y., a hamlet of about 200 people, where he was born. Mr. Young always registers himself, not from Park Avenue, New York, though his apartment there houses priceless treasures, not from Connecticut where his summer home is located on Long Island Sound, but from Van Hornesville, N. Y. This tiny town has been practically re-built by Mr. Young, yet there he is not revered for his liberal expenditures of wealth, but as a valuable citizen of the community.

Miss Jameson's paper embodied many pertinent facts regarding this man who is a world power in politics and big business, citing many of the positions he holds, both in this country and in Europe. Her conclusion was a summary of his life from a late edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, the estimation of an English critic, and giving a list of the many medals of honor and decorations which have been conferred on him both in this country and Europe.

The annual meeting takes place June 13 at the cottage of Mrs. St. Clair, Crescent Beach. Assisting hostesses will be Miss Alice Fuller, Mrs. J. A. Pease, Mrs. W. L. Benner and Mrs. G. L. Stewart.
