From the files of The Courier-Gazette we learn that:

The Baptist Men's League celebrated its 25th anniversary, with its founder Rev. W. J. Day as guest speaker. Herman M. Hart was elected president.

Charles C. Wotton was elected president of the Knox and Lincoln Twilight League.

Charles H. Walker, retired letter carrier, died.

LOCAL GARDEN CLUB

To Have Important Exhibit
At State Flower Show In Scarboro

Much talk is in the air already about the First State of Maine Spring Garden Exhibit and Flower Show to be held at Scarboro, May 30-June 4.

The project is being sponsored by the Federated Garden Clubs of Maine, with Mrs. William Ellery Wing as general chairman, and Mrs. A. R. Benedict of Medomak as vice chairman. Foundation work for the exhibit was begun at the Danish Village last fall with the planting of more than 5000 tulips and more than 150 trees.

All will be in readiness for the pre-showing of the exhibit Tuesday evening, May 29. At this time Gov. and Mrs. Brann, representatives from the National Council Federation of Garden Clubs, exhibition officials, and invited guests will be entertained at dinner. Mrs. Jane S. Whitley will be soloist, and thus inaugurate the week's program of music being sponsored by the State Federation of Music Clubs, expressive of the beauty of flowers and the symbolism of nature.

The exhibit of the local Garden Club will be known as "Lime Loving Plants from the Lime City." Members of the Junior Harmony Club are to present a song and dance number (The Daisy Ring) in the children's day program Saturday, June 2. The program of this day will be known as The Pageant of Youth and promises to be one of the outstanding features of the project.

MR. DAY'S VALEDICTORY

Founder Of Baptist Men's League, Heard In Eloquent Farewell Message

The Baptist Men's League rang down the curtain on another successful season Thursday night, and more than 100 persons—including women and a group from Littlefield Memorial Church—were present to hear Rev. W. J. Day's farewell message. Plenty of delicious strawberry shortcake supplemented the nice supper, and the May meeting, long past the experimental stage, proved the most popular session of the year.

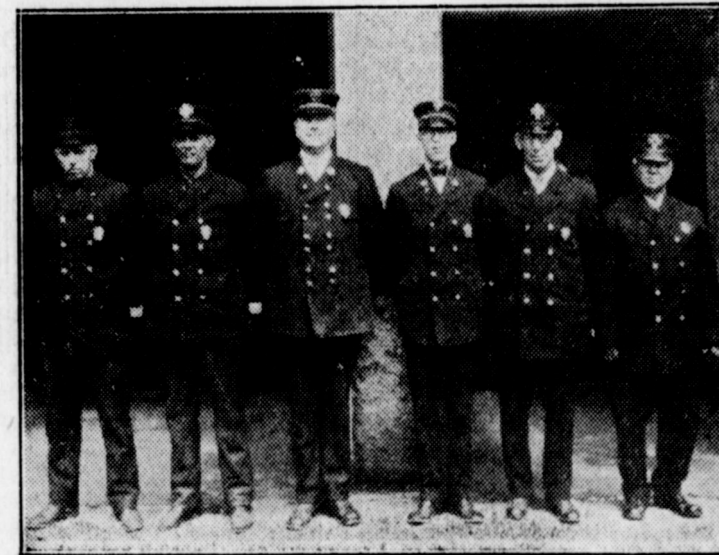

In addition to being Founders' Night it was also Charter Members' Night, and as President Hart called the roll, the following brethren, who were the report of Treasurer Bird showed cash on hand to the amount of $36.94.

Herman Hart was re-elected president and improved the opportunity to express his thanks for the co-operation he has received during his first administration. The other officers elected are: Vice presidents, Vesper L. Packard and Harold W. Look; secretary, Axel E. Brunberg; treasurer, Almon Bird.

Rev. Mr. Day's eyes kindled at the warmth of the reception accorded him. "It will probably be the last time I shall address the Men's League," he said, "because I expect to be in

MADE NEARLY FORTY KNOTS

The U. S. S. Farragut Tried Here Yesterday
Establishes New American Record For Speed

United States Naval speed records were broken yesterday when the new destroyer Farragut raced across the Rockland trial course at the rate of 39.33 knots an hour, and averaged 38.8 knots on her five top speed runs, with and against the tide.

The figures are unofficial as the members of the Trial Board declined to make any statement beyond the fact that the Farragut was above contract speed.

The men from the Fore River yard where the ship was built were in a very jubilant frame of mind, and the fact that the Farragut had made almost 40 knots was an open secret.

Today the ship is at sea having economy tests at 15 and 12 knots, four hours each.

The Farragut will probably be at this port until Monday. The members of the yard crew are meantime having shore leave each night.

Capt. Joe Kemp is the navigating officer.

ANOTHER TRACK RECORD

The trackmen of Rockland High School again gave a good account of themselves at Knox Trotting Park yesterday afternoon defeating Crosby High of Belfast 66 points to 42. Ladd of Rockland was the day's star, capturing first honors in four events, and scoring 20 points. Next in order were Mazzeo, Rockland, 15 points; Caron, Crosby, 10 points; and D. Thomas, Rockland, 9 points.

Coach Bowden is entitled to special credit for turning out a winning track team for a fourth successive year, and the schoolboy athletes attribute much of their success to him.

TO OPEN MAY 30

Montpelier Managers Name Date—Gift Shop To Be Continued

The Board of Management of the Knox Memorial Association, wishing to provide a place where men and women of the community may display and sell hand made articles, have voted to continue the Knox Community Gift Shop at Montpelier through this summer.

Ship models, hand made furniture, rugs, quilts, samplers, china, prints, and other articles, will be on sale. A small commission will be added to the contributor's asking price to cover the necessary expenses of the shop.

All persons interested in helping to promote this project or who have articles they would like to put in the shop are asked to meet at Montpelier next Wednesday afternoon, May 23, at 2:30 o'clock.

Montpelier is to be opened to the public May 30.

The Auxiliary of the Sons of Union Veterans Wednesday evening had supper with Mrs. Grace Keller, Mrs. Amelia Carter and Mrs. Lizzie Simmons in charge. Annual inspection took place, with Mrs. Gertrude Stewart of Bath, past department inspecting officer, in charge. The degree was conferred upon Mrs. Doris Ames and Mrs. Ida Huntley. The program included piano solos by Frances Marsh, vocal solos by Mrs. A. L. Harmon, and readings by several Warren visitors. Mrs. Stewart was presented with a gift, Mrs. Nellie Achorn expressing the good wishes of the Auxiliary in so doing. Remarks were made by Comrades Huntley and Philbrick, and also by Byron Salter of Belfast, senior commander, and Mrs. Salter, and Mrs. Hopkins of Camden. The Auxiliary is to be entertained for sewing Wednesday afternoon and picnic supper at the home of Mrs. Carrie Winchenbaugh, West Meadows.

"Lime Loving Plants from the Lime City" is the intriguing title of the exhibit of the Garden Club to be shown at the first annual State Garden Exhibit and Flower Show at Scarborough, May 30-June 4. The exhibit will be taken over on May 29, the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corp. having proffered the use of a truck for the purpose. Accompanying will be Mrs. Ralph Wiggin, Miss Charlotte Buffum and Mrs. Hervey Allen who will superintend the placing of the exhibit and participate in the opening festivities that evening. Hostesses for the remaining days, already named, are: May 30 (evening): Mrs. George Avery; May 31, Mrs. E. F. Glover and Mrs. George W. Smith; June 1, Mrs. E. Stewart Orbeton and Mrs. G. A. Lawrence; June 2, Mrs. William Ellingwood; June 3, Mr. and Mrs. Ensign Otis; June 4, Mrs. Harriet Frost, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Wiggin.

In reply to an inquiry from John Guistin, R. G. Faus, assistant deputy administrator, N.R.A., has made this reply: "No local agreements can be sanctioned until the National Code Authority has appointed the local administrative board for your trade area, and this board has then conducted a public hearing in order to establish minimum prices for that area. These prices must be agreed to by at least 70 percent of the members of the trade in your trade area and be approved by the administrator before the code becomes fully effective in the area."

The body of Rev. M. C. Descatoux, 34, parish priest on the Penobscot Indian Reservation on Indian Island at Oldtown, and at one time attached to St. Bernard's Church in this city, was recovered Thursday. He was drowned May 6 when his motor boat, in which he was crossing to the island, was swept over the dam a short distance below. Conductor H. P. Merry of a Maine Central freight train, who had been watching from his train which runs close to the river, saw the body floating near the shore opposite Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Little Margaret Winslow, whose delightful dancing has pleased many a local audience, is nursing an invalid toe, requiring splints, which is causing her much concern in view of Mrs. Corner's approaching dance recital on May 25. Last year Margaret's face was adorned with patches following an auto accident when the recital took place. The little maid's emphatic comment is—"Don't some people get the breaks! Last year it was patches on my face; this year it is a stick on my toe!"

Spring prices for hard coal are announced by local dealers at $14 per ton. This price will advance June 1 and monthly thereafter. This arrangement is made under the Retail Solid Fuel Industry Divisional Authority.

PLAN IS ENDORSED

For Congregational Ministers' Institute At Camp Medomak Next September

At the business session of the annual Congregational-Christian Conference of Maine at Farmington Tuesday, a strong support was given the 26th Amendment on prohibition in Maine.

It was voted that the conference appoint six laymen, men and women to take part in a united conference on inter-denominational work and report not later than at the next conference; that the clerk notify the clerk of the churches and the scribes of the associations, relative to the attitude of the conference, on ordination and ministerial standing, which emphasizes the duties of the associations in examining candidates and in regard to the qualifications for regular standing in this ministry; and endorsement was given plans for a ministers institute Sept. 4-6 at Camp Medomak in Washington, Knox County.

Rev. G. Elmer Nossman of Scarborough, reporting for the committee on Temperance said that he expected many people who had voted for repeal soon would be revising their opinion, and he cited the W.C.T.U. prediction that in five years, the Prohibition law would be reclaimed.

"With all its weaknesses, Prohibition has given Maine an enviable position in the minds of the best people of the Nation as a leader in the liquor problem. Let us maintain this leadership," he said. He commended to the conference a campaign of education which he said had no limit of possibilities.

Rev. Thompson E. Ashby of Brunswick who presided reported on ministerial standing: Total active pastors, 152; grand total 220; deaths, five; ordinations, 13; licentiates, 17. It was recommended that ministers be circulated concerning the plan for the ministers' institute.

Registrar Roundy reported total church membership as 24,104, of which 7777 are men; total admitted 1194; total loss in members 134, gains in resident members 224.

The total number of churches stands at 273, a gain of one over last year. The United Christian Church of Lincolnville Center and the Dixie Christian Church located in Trescott were added to the roll of churches.

In 1933 the Sunday School enrollment decreased 330, making the total enrollment 23,089.

Membership in Young People's Societies increased 212, making a total of 5537, while the number of Societies reporting was 13 less than last year.

The number of inactive churches is 20 (6 less than in 1932). Home expenses reported in 1933 amounted to $379,482. The average salary for ministers for 1933 was $1624, another decrease of about 6%.

The estimated value of church property is $4,166,950 as against $4,209,650 in 1932. The total of invested funds reported is $856,199.

EDGAR W. BARTER

Edgar W. Barter, died Sunday night, after an illness of a few months.

He was born in St. George May 12, 1873, son of Robert and Emeline Barter. When he was 15 his father was lost at sea. During his early years he was paying cutter.

In 1898 he was married to Mattie H. Gardiner of Tenant's Harbor. The first few years of his married life were spent in Brewer where he was employed by Wood and Bishop Co. He then moved to Rockport where he entered the employ of H. L. Shepherd Co.

The remaining years of life were spent in Rockland. During this time he was employed for 15 years by the Rockland, Thomaston & Camden Street Railway and the last 14 years by the Maine Central Railroad.

Ten years ago his life was saddened by the death of his oldest daughter Leona, leaving one child whom he has since cherished and cared for as tenderly as his own. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Ronald G. Lord of Rockland; one sister, Miss Mabel G. Barter of Tenant's Harbor; and three grand children, Fern L. Britto, Ronald G. and Richard S. Lord, all of Rockland.

He was possessed of a very cheerful disposition, a great lover of his home, and an active church worker all his life. He united with the Littlefield Memorial Free Baptist Church by letter in 1913 and had served as a deacon for some years besides holding many other important offices in the church.

Funeral services were held at the church Wednesday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. L. G. Perry, officiating. The bearers were the deacons Frank Gregory, Jere Farnham, Ralph Conant, Clarence Dorman and Earl Randall. There was a large and beautiful display of flowers, bearing testimony to the place he held in the hearts of his many friends. He will be missed greatly by the church and friends.

Interment was in the family lot at Tenant's Harbor.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

As a part of its regular meeting Monday night Troop 2 incorporated a formal Court of Honor with Dr. H. V. Tweedie as chairman, assisted by Harold J. Philbrook, with the Scoutmaster as Secretary of the Court.

Badges of second class rank were awarded Scouts Russell Hewett, Ernest Johnson, Donald Marriner, Edward Storer, John Mouradian. First Class Scout Vinton Beal was awarded merit badges of Reading, Public

Howard Chase who has made a fine record in the Boy Scout service

Health, First Aid, and advanced to rank of Star Scout. Assistant Scoutmaster Percy L. Young was awarded the cycling merit badge.

Scout David Curtis, formerly of Troop 3 was given his certificate of registration in Troop 2 and William Cross, formerly of Troop 3 was accepted as a Scout in Troop 2.

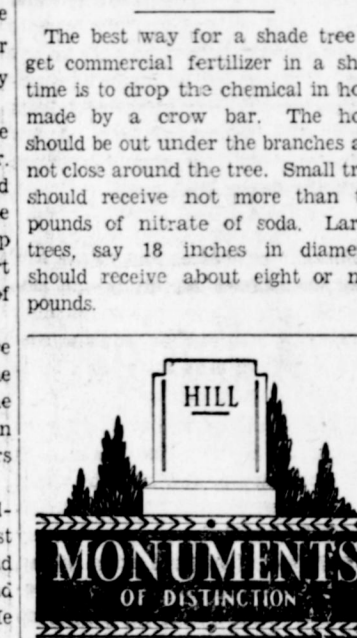

The badge of highest rank awarded at the Court was that of Silver Palm to Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Howard M. Chase who has 48 merit badges, is an Eagle Scout with the bronze, gold, and now silver palm. Scout Chase has been acting as Scoutmaster of the Free Will Baptist Troop of Scouts, but maintains active registration in Troop 2 where he was first made a Tenderfoot Scout and where he worked up through the various Troop offices to his present one. His age and experience now qualify him as eligible to the rank of Assistant Scoutmaster, should he desire it.

If possible, another Court of Honor will be called during June.

Scouts not active in Troop 2 will be suspended after missing three successive meetings, without further notice.

Scoutmaster and Scouts of Troop 2 regret that Scout Gardiner Brown was ill and unable to come before the Court for his second class badge to be awarded him.

The best way for a shade tree to get commercial fertilizer in a short time is to drop the chemical in holes made by a crow bar. The holes should be under the branches and not close around the tree. Small trees should receive not more than two pounds of nitrate of soda. Larger trees, say 18 inches in diameter, should receive about eight or nine pounds.

When did you see your family monument last? How did it look? Did it need cleaning? Is it lettered up-to-date? Does it need retouching?

THE BASEBALL WORD

Orono Orioles Fly Into Town Tomorrow To Tackle The Collegians

Maurice Simmons of St. George, along with Chummy Gray of Rockland, rated as the leading pitcher in Eastern and Central Maine, will take the hill for the Knox County Collegians when they oppose the Orono Orioles of the Eastern Maine League at Community Park Sunday at 2:30 o'clock. Simmons worked the last four innings last week in the game that the Collegians dropped to Brewer by a 5 to 4 score and in the time he was on the mound the tall right hander from St. George allowed one lone bingle. The week Simmy will work the first four frames with Shirley, a promising left hander relieving him. Shirley, who is stationed on the Kickapoo, has played with the Dorchester club in the Greater Boston Twilight League, and has the makings of a fine hurler. In the event that the newcomer runs into difficulty Chummy Gray will be warmed up and ready to take over the hurling duties at a moment's notice.

The Orioles, have the edge over The Collegians. Orono has defeated the Old Town Cassees twice and the Bradley A.A. of Bangor once in three starts. The infield is composed of H. Lancaster at third base, Black at shortstop, Doucette at second and Dick Rice at first. Rice and Lancaster have both played with University of Maine while the other two are veterans from last year's Eastern Maine League campaign. The Orono outfield has R. Willette in right, Cota in center and G. Willette in left. Fern Bagley, former Maine star, and Lefty Meagher will handle the pitching assignment while Spinnery will be behind the plate.

This week's Collegian lineup will be a bit stronger, due to the fact E. Grafton of Thomaston will be back in the fold and playing his old berth in left field. Jeff Mealey, who banged the longest hit of the game last week, will be in center field and Dump Monaghan will move over to right. The infield will have Charlie Wotton at first, Bobby Durrell at second, Juddy Flanagan at third and Gabby Fowler at short. Capt. Archer will be behind the plate. Buck Ogier is still ill and will probably be unable to take over the shortstop berth for two weeks.

Fifteen members of the Thomaston High School baseball squad and Coach John Creighton will be guests of the management.

Sam Szak will umpire at the plate Sunday while Carl Feyer will be on the bases. This week's tilt will start at 2:30, one half hour later than last week.

Rockland 14, Thomaston 10

KNOX-LINCOLN MEET

Takes Place May 26 In Dam- ariscotta — Lincoln Academy Expects To Win

The fourth annual Knox-Lincoln track and field meet is to be held this year at the Lincoln County Fair Grounds Saturday, May 26 and is to be run this year on a much larger scale than formerly. In past years only those teams which are members of the Knox-Lincoln Athletic League have been invited to compete, both boys and girls meets being run off during the afternoon.

This year in addition to these two meets, a third will be in progress, when the smaller schools of Knox and Lincoln counties will vie for honors in a separate meet, the winner to become Knox-Lincoln Class B champions. Trophies are to be given the winning schools in each of the three classes and ribbons will be awarded the first, second, and third place winners in each of the events competed.

Competition has always been very keen in the boys' division and this year should prove no exception. The addition of the boys' Class B meet should add much interest to an already fine program. Rockland High, Camden High and Lincoln Academy are the only teams to compete in Class A. Lincoln Academy after its fine showing against Morse High of Bath last week appears capable of winning the Class A championship, although either Camden or Rockland may upset the dope and go home the winner.

Last year Rockland won the meet, nosing out Lincoln Academy after the Academy team had led until the last two events were run off. Camden finished in third place.

Rockland, minus its stars of last year, does not appear capable of beating a veteran Lincoln team which has shown great improvement during the last few weeks. Camden has two fine track men in Melvin and Carleton and Camden may spring an upset.

Several Lincoln boys appear capable of shattering some of the existing Knox-Lincoln records. The record is almost certain to go in the high jump, and broad jump as Clunie and Simmons have consistently done better all year in these events.

The Class B Division is expected to develop into a very closely contested meet. South Bristol, Bristol, Wiscasset, Bridge Academy, and Union have already sent in their entries and it is expected that one or two other schools will decide to send teams. Present indications seem to give South Bristol the edge, although not much is known about the strength of the other teams. South Bristol has several promising track men in Adams, House, Thompson, Rice and Farrin.

The girls' meet should be very closely contested. Last year Camden won this meet and it would not be surprising to see them repeat.

IN THE CHURCHES

SERMONETTE

Lest We Forget

One of the things that bewilders the Christian and for that matter, those who make no profession of religious faith, is the existence of sin and sorrow, of affliction and poverty, of disease and pain, of degradation and punishment, in a world that otherwise would be so desirable.

Why do these things have to be? An age old question that has had many answers, but it is quite certain no satisfactory explanation for the universal mind.

The rabbi, minister and neighborly priest are often perplexed by it as they mingle with those of their faith; but the success of their ministry is assured, not by discussing, but accepting these troubles as facts of life itself. They exist, and it is for some purpose in the Providence of God.

For it is indeed true "now we see through a glass, darkly; but later face to face." "We know now in part" but "when the time when that which is perfect is come," then we shall know, why these things had to be.

"Blessed be God, the Father of Mercies, and the God of all comfort; who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God."

William A. Holman.

"MAINE"

[For The Courier-Gazette]
Maine, I hear you calling me—
The land of my father's birth.
Where the pine trees are the greenest
And the soil the best on earth.

Whose sons are the strongest,
Whose girls are pretty and sweet;
Whose old folks live the longest—
For health they cannot be beat.

Our forefathers who bore us,
We still preserve their name—
Who made an honest struggle,
And died with wealth and fame.

Maine, I hear you calling me,
Calling, but not in vain;
I'll be with you in the springtime
When it's blossom time in Maine.

ROCKPORT 6, LIBERTY 5

Rockport won a tight game from Liberty mainly through strength with the willow. They outthrew Liberty 12 to 6, with Moon, Payson, and Annis doing the heavy slugging. Each hit for two bases while Moon had two other singles in his four trips to the plate for the best average for the day. Rockport took three runs on three hits and two errors in the first inning, scoring another run in the third on Annis' fine double and Moon's single. In the sixth, after one down and with the score 4-5 against them, Payson hit a single, stole second and third, and came in on a single by Annis. Annis stole second and third and scored on the catcher's error thus giving Rockport the lead again. In the first inning with one down Payson hit a double, clearing the racetrack, Annis was safe on K. Priest's error and Payson went to third. Then Moon placed another double across the race-track in nearly the same place as Payson's and drove in two runs. Payson and Annis scored as Annis had stolen second base. Moon scored on Turner's single through the box. The score:

Now we ask you to

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Kneec-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes. And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. They know it—thousands of owners know it—and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car. CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY, DETROIT, MICH. The Nurse's Association entertainment by children of the public schools, assisted by an orchestra with Miss Alameda Hall director, was greeted with a full house. The children made a fine display and were freely applauded. The recital of Vachel Lindsay's "The Congo" by Miss Elizabeth Brown was a pleasing feature in the program. The stage settings and costumes were very attractive, notably the Elizabethan England street scene which formed the background for the operetta "Sally In Our Alley," the quaint half-timbered and gabled houses with their casement windows being cleverly designed by Miss Nanina Comstock, using the backs of the old scenery. As the correspondents watched the children perform their parts he recalled a remark made to him several years ago by a spectator from out of town who had witnessed a children's performance "You certainly have some smart children in Thomaston."

THREE KNOCKOUTS

Lots of Real Action At New Athletic Club—Jovin Out-points Audette

There was only one fly in the New Athletic Club's ointment last night, and that was the failure of Flash Wise to put in appearance. He was booked to meet Young Cochran, the up and coming Thomaston boy, and the scrapper who was sent in as a substitute for him made a sorry showing. Cochran knocked him out in 25 seconds. Flash Wise is a colored boy, and it was rather a coincidence that the substitute was a white lad, named Red Brown. A colorful affair, so to speak.

Battling Jones was the name assigned to a diminutive Camden kid who crept through the ropes to face Slugger Frank, another Camden boy about double his size, with Camara feet. It looked like first degree murder, but it was only in fun and furnished lots of it.

Dusty Peters of Rockland and Kid Arthur of Waterville fought a now-you-see-it-now-you-don't battle, taking turns at almost knocking each other out. It was a spectacular scrap.

Battling Coby of Thomaston allowed himself to be counted out early in the second round of his bout with Kid Favreau of Rockland, and was certainly in for a beating. Young Favreau looks to be the real goods.

The next event nearly broke the record Pine Tree Reynolds knocking out Pee-wee Sharkey of Waterville in 22 seconds. A powerful right to the jaw ended the ambitions of the lad from the Kennebec.

The main bout between Young Jovin of Bangor and Young Audette of Waterville was a ring-tailed peeler, and had the big crowd on edge every minute. String Bean Jovin left no doubt in the minds of the fans as to his superiority, and once it seemed that the bell alone saved Audette from being knocked out, for he was very groggy and didn't know the exact location of his corner. But he is a very game fighter and was going stronger in the last round than he was the first.

'Nother scrap next Friday night.

YOUNG HASTINGS K. O'D.

Young Hastings, the promising young Rockland boxer, found himself in fast company at Bangor last night when Tony Valenta knocked him out in the second round. ## THEIR BUSY DAY

Methodists Have Rummage Sale, Supper, Missionary Meeting and Lecture

Wednesday was a busy day for the Methodist women. A rummage sale was conducted with a very satisfactory sum being realized. The monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid was held, with Mrs. Ruth Ellingwood in charge. Reports showed that the organization is functioning 100 per cent.

Circle supper was in charge of Mrs. Vincie Clark, whose helpers were Mrs. Lena Stevens, Mrs. Shirley Rollins, Mrs. Eunice Winslow, Mrs. Susie Karl and Mrs. Margaret Philbrook. Wild cherry blossoms lent a festive air to the tables. Mrs. Kathleen Marston, program chairman, presented this music program which found high favor: Piano, The Fauns by Chaminade and Prelude by Ljadov, Miss Alcada Hall of Thomaston; soprano, Sing Me To Sleep, by Edwin Greene, and The Rosary, by Nevin, Mrs. Luda Mitchell; baritone, Sunrise and Yoda, by Penn, and Smile Through Your Tears, by Hamblen, Charles Wilson of Warren; vocal duet, O That We Two Were Maying by Nevin, Mrs. Helen Wentworth and Mrs. Marston; contralto, I Love a Lassie by Walt, and Home on the Range by David Guion, Mrs. Gladys Morgan; baritone, Song of Thanksgiving by Allitson, Sylvia by Oley Speaks, and Lonesome by Roberts, Mr. Wilson. Mrs. Wentworth and Miss Hall accompanied at the piano.

The highlight of the evening was the informal talk given by Dr. Ellingwood on his recent 5000 mile trip with the Floating Congress of the Pan-American Medical Association, which took him into South American and other southern ports. The Pan-American Association formed about ten years ago had Dr. William Sharp as its first president—Dr. Sharp through his marriage to a Rockland girl being well known here, and the second president was Dr. Fred Albee of New York, a native of Waldoboro. In previous years the association has had meetings in various parts of the country, but this was its first Floating Congress and was a huge success in every respect.

There were 500 passengers aboard. Dr. Ellingwood said he had no opportunity to be homesick as Poland Spring water was on the tables, Lady Pepperli Sheets were on his bed, and the leader of the orchestra was "Buddy" Fog who was located at Rockland for some time while with his orchestra at Oakland a few years ago.

Dr. Ellingwood did not attempt to go into the medical and scholastic aspects of the trip, confining himself to historic, scenic and social sides. A very interesting description was given of the trip through the Panama Canal.

Vivid pictures of South American cities were given, portraying conditions of the poor class and the well-to-do class, telling of the beautiful women, the gorgeous music and the charming hospitality shown. In San Juan, Porto Rico, Dr. Ellingwood attended Rotary Club.

The trip home and the storm encountered at sea were also vividly told.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Teel entertained at their home at West Meadows, in honor of the birthdays of Miss Susan Spear and Arthur Bowley. Prizes in bridge were won by Arthur Bowley, Mrs. Harry Levensaler and Edward Baxter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Walker, Miss Molly Rhodes, and Mrs. Lucia Burpee, of Portland, were night guests Tuesday of Miss Caroline Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry White, Mrs. Lawrence Trumbull and daughter, Miss Virginia Trumbull, and Robert White Jr., of Farmington arrive today to weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Thurston. Mrs. White will remain for a week's visit.

A birthday party was given for Marilyn Dudley Friday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Charles McMahon. Three little guests were entertained: Dawn Low, 2½, Virginia Manning, 2½, Barbara Anne Woodward, 3. Cake and ice cream were served from a table daintily decorated in pink and yellow. The children were accompanied by their mothers.

Capt. and Mrs. A. W. Hutchinson of Providence were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gardner, Rankin street.

Burdell Strout leaves today for the New York market in the interest of her shop.

THE FORTY CLUB

Dr Popplestone Tells Members About High Cost of Medical Care

At this week's meeting of the Forty Club Dr. Weisman and Dr. Dana Newman were guests. The speaker was Dr. C. B. Popplestone and his subject was "The Cost of Medical Care in the United States." As a basis for his talk Dr. Popplestone took the report of a commission that was put into operation by President Hoover some time ago. This, which covered a period of years on the cost of medical care throughout the United States, made these statements:

That the cost of medical care in the United States was far too high; that as a committee they had no solution of the problem to offer, that a majority report recommended that all cities have a hospital center so operated that the cost would be such that all could share and a minority report, disagreeing with the majority, that such a system would destroy all personal contacts, for doctors and that the family doctor, as such, would become a person of the past.

While admitting that group cost would give all members better service, the personal touch of the family doctor at the present time seems to be necessary in a great many cases. Dr. Popplestone said that about 80 per cent of illness will take care of itself, and the doctor's chief source of income comes from this type of illness. Of the other 20 per cent 10 per cent will probably die, which leaves only about 10 per cent where the skill of the doctor is necessary for recovery.

One of the big factors in the cost of medical care is the fact that general public is divided into three groups. First, are those who can pay for service, and who pay their doctors bills promptly. These receive good medical care. The next are those who are very poor and cannot pay, and those who are not averse to taking charity. This group also receives good medical care due to public money paying their bills.

But the biggest group is the general run of our population, that is, the average man. This group while not being rich enough to pay for proper medical investigation, is still not poor enough to beg. It is this group that receives the poorest medical care. Due to lack of money they do not call the doctor unless there is pressing need for his services. To overcome this condition in the West an organization has been set up for group practice and group medical care. This system calls for the most modern business methods for lower costs. Within the group are doctors who are specialists in one branch of the medical profession, that is, surgeons—ear, eye, nose and throat specialists—medical specialists, etc. The result has been better doctors for their particular line and of course better service for the patients. The personal contact however is destroyed by this system.

Another method in use is that of State medicine. Under this scheme the practice of medicine is under the State for the public good. All pay alike, and medical service is received from the State, and the doctors are hired by the State. It allots doctors to cities and towns, or to groups of towns, and each is a specialist for a particular branch of the profession. The money for the payment of this service would come from taxes. The doctors object to this on the ground that such a system would soon become political and the doctors with the greatest pull would make the most out of it at the expense of the sick.

In England there is a panel system where a group hire and pay a panel of doctors to take care of the group. Such a system reduces the cost of the group but for the entire nation does not reduce the cost of medical care.

The medical profession is the only profession, according to Dr. Popplestone, which is not paid an income adequate to the cost of the doctor's education. It costs $28,000 to give the doctor his education. This includes his college, his medical school, his hospital training, and his free services while in training. The American Medical Association states that for every doctor in the United States with an income of $10,000 a year there are two with an income of less than $2,000. The average is $5,000. This includes all doctors, experts, specialist and general medical service.

Applying all this to Rockland, Dr. Popplestone says the average income of the family here is less than $2,000. For a family to have an operation means that most of its savings would be required to cover its cost. Most operations average around $400 or $500, including hospital expenses, doctors fees, nurse, etc. Two such operations for the family would wipe out the income for the year. To overcome this Dr. Popplestone recommends some sort of health insurance which would be paid in advance the same as other types of insurance.

At The High School

(By the Pupils)

With Atwood Levensaler in charge, the first rounds of the boys' tennis tournament, singles and doubles, is being played this weekend. Ted Ladd, Dick French and Burton Bickmore are the favorites, but there are plenty of dark horses among the 20 entries.

Students of Senior High were given a rare treat Friday when, at a special afternoon assembly, they were addressed by Dr. Alexander E. Strath-Gordon, a well known Scotch astronomer, archaeologist and brain surgeon. Dr. Strath-Gordon, who has been lecturing at Camden on the results of his work on the scientific proof of the religious beliefs of various races, has followed a career which in the wideness of its scope seems almost incredible. Since his retirement from active medical work in 1930 he has been engaged in research centered about the legendary continent of Atlantis and in the gathering of facts in support of his original and highly interesting metaphysical theories.

In his talk before the school he soundly denounced the present trend toward materialism and in a simple and logical way set forth his reasons for the propounding of his unusual theories. His belief is that the underlying principle of the universe is found in "mind" and that the present uncertainty of the physical sciences is due to the action of an unknown power or "controlling intelligence." His address was greatly enjoyed, and created so much discussion and interest that many of the students attended his lecture at the Camden Opera House Monday evening.

There was a large crowd on hand to hear the band concert given by the High School Band, directed by H. E. Kirkpatrick, at Postoffice Square Thursday night. The musicianship displayed was a gratification to the parents and friends gathered about, and each number received hearty applause from the bystanders. Two of the selections given in this concert are being played today by the same group in Belfast.

Mr. Stepha, naturalist from Acadia National Park, spoke on "Wild Life of the Park" at a special assembly of Junior High Thursday. Beautifully colored slides portraying the many charms and beauties of Acadia and its flora and fauna were shown during the lecture. Mr. Stepha closed by reminding his audience that Rockland is only 85 miles from Acadia, the most easterly of the national parks, and urged all to visit this ideal spot, not for just a day, but for a week if possible.

Monday morning saw Charles Hayvener back from a week's trip to Topeka, Kansas, where he went to take part in a National Speech Tournament sponsored by the National Forensic League. In this contest, the first national contest in which Rockland High has ever participated, Charles entered in the extemporaneous division, having placed second in the State contest at Orono previously. He passed three rounds in the preliminaries, winning over 17 other State winners, one of whom was the boy who took first at University of Maine. Charles drew three interesting topics, "Is Japan Justified in Establishing a Monroe Doctrine for the Far East," "How Can America Protect Herself From Kidnappers?" and "Roosevelt, the Man of Action." Regarding the trip, he says it was "O. K.," but as for the temperature, that was 94 in the shade! Charles' work in public speaking has been outstanding and by it he has often brought distinction to his school.

High School golfers are practicing three nights a week at the Rockland Country Club. Members of the team are Harvey Allen, James Accardi, manager, Jimmy Pellicane, Richard Harden, Burno Mazzeo, Clifford Carroll, and Edward Peaslee. Low scores this week were 45 by Accardi and 41 by Harden. James Flanagan, the local pro, is showing the boys some of the finer points of the game and they should be in good shape for their coming match with Morse High School, May 29.

A variety program under the direction of Miss Nichols was presented Wednesday morning at Junior High assembly, with Stirling Morse as conductor of devotional exercises and announcer of the following program: "The Drummer Boy," orchestra; "Readings from 'Little Otis,'" Ibra Ripley; vocal solo, "Pretty Polly Perkins," Dorothy Frost; recitation, "A Query," Robert Spear; violin solo, "Fairy Tale," Richard Marsh; recitation, "The Dentist," Ione Louraine; vocal duet, "Smiles," Norma and Bernice Havenner; vocal solo, "An Old Lullaby," Cleopatra Tibbetts; guitar.

Such a plan would reduce the cost without destroying the personal contact which our present system has built up.

solo, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," Leona Hickman; "Medley of National Airs," orchestra.

Mrs. Gladys Morgan was a visitor in Junior High music classes Wednesday.

In an abbreviated dual meet consisting of only ten events, the R.H.S. track team defeated Camden High at the Trotting Park last Friday. Camden was pinch hitting for Morse High of Bath, which cancelled the annual set-to, scheduled this year at Rockland. Dick Thomas was the high point man for the wearers of the orange and black, accounting for 13½ points, only one-half point behind Carleton of Camden, high scoring man of the meet. The Camden team was few in numbers, but made up in quality what it lacked in quantity. Bickmore had little trouble in winning the pole vault, while "Nurmi" Mazzeo picked up both distance events in far better than average time.

In connection with the study of "occupations" which is a part of the junior business training course, a survey was made Monday of the occupations carried on over last weekend by members of the classes. This survey revealed a diversified and rather startling list of gainful activities which included the delivery of daily and Sunday papers, doing errands, beating rugs (thereby incurring nine blisters), washing windows, caddying at the Country Club, mending lobster traps at Witham's, knitting pothoods, selling popples, mowing lawns, grading eggs at Little's, cleaning house, digging dandelion greens for the island trade, clerking at Newberry's polishing floors, taking Larkin orders, ploughing, gardening for Miss Coughlin, driving truck, gathering 1000 eggs in two hours at Waterman's, clerking in father's store, caring for neighbor's children, and taxiding on a motor cycle. Who says that youth has not learned the wise use of "leisure" time?

Members of the biology classes have submitted to Mr. Sezak for approval some excellent reports. Judged on the basis of information given, legibility of handwriting, completeness of bibliography, and design of covers, two reports were outstanding: "The Life History of the Butterfly" by William Anderson, and "Tuberculosis and the Life of Robert Koch" by Marjorie Richardson. Others to receive honorable mention were "Charles Robert Darwin and his Contributions," Vernet Morgan; "The Human Nervous System," Dorothy Thomas; "Edward Jenner and his Contributions to Biology," Margaret Danton; and "Contributions to Biology by Harvey, Metchnikoff and Leewenhoeck," Laura Kangas.

7-2 and 7-3 English classes have been turned into newspaper offices, with Co-editors D'Agostino and Cook in charge of operations. Their paper will be published May 21.

Senior and junior high pupils were treated to a delightful assembly Tuesday afternoon when the musical program which is being presented today at the Eastern Maine Musical Festival was given both for the entertainment of the student body as well as for a dress rehearsal for the musical units. The Girls' Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Rogers, gave splendid interpretations of "Wake, Miss Lindy," and "My Songs." The work of the band in playing "Bliss Eternal" and "The Scout" reflected very favorably upon the instruction which Mr. Kirkpatrick has been giving this organization. The high school orchestra, under Mrs. Harvey, gave spirited renditions of "High School Capers." The performance of each one of these musical groups indicated that Rockland would be well represented at the festival at Belfast.

The freshman civics class held an interesting debate Tuesday in Miss Coughlin's room on the question, "Resolved: That a high protective tariff is for the best interests of the American people" with Edith Dondis and Russell Nash speaking for the affirmative and Ruth Pike and Lawrence Crockett for the negative.

Beautiful bouquets of flowers, having the simple nomenclature of "wild pomegranate" have been adding a "spring touch" in the class room this week.

University of Maine comprehensive tests were given Tuesday and Wednesday. Seniors were examined in English, mathematics, social studies, and science. Other examinations given throughout the school were on general science, French, algebra, biology, chemistry and geometry.

Ruth Rackliff, assisted by Camilla Emery, junior, has competently handled the secretarial duties for Principal Blaisdell this week.

STRAND THEATRE

Singing more songs than he has in any other motion picture, Bing Crosby comes Monday and Tuesday in "We're Not Dressing."

It is a breezy, romantic song-fest, played against the background of a deserted South Sea Island.

Aboard a palatial yacht, Carole Lombard, a wealthy heiress, is touring the South Pacific with her two rich suitors and her goofy uncle, Leon Errol. Bored with life in general, the young girl gets quite a kick out of watching the antics of one of her sailors, Bing Crosby, to whom she has entrusted the care of her pet bear, Droopy. In his drunken moments one foggy night, Errol stumbles into the wheelhouse, opens a door through which all the charts are blown, breaks the compass, and they all wake up, wrecked on a deserted isle.

Now, with loads of work to do, the sailor takes matters into his hands, and to the annoyance of everyone.

WALDO REPUBLICANS ALERT

At a meeting of over 100 Republicans of Waldo County, in Belfast Wednesday night and attended by the State Committee chairman and vice chairman, the Waldo County Republican Club was organized and Frank L. Smith of Belfast was elected president. ## THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

The coolheadedness of the modern youngster was demonstrated at the recent meeting of the Camden Parent-Teacher Association. The Girls' Glee Club was singing under the direction of Mrs. Esther Rogers when a member fainted. When she fell, the girls standing nearest caught her and bore her from the stage. The others made an unbroken line and the singing continued without any interruption. If one had been listening with closed eyes, he would never have known any disturbing factor had occurred. It was splendidly done and aroused no end of favorable comment.

Leonard Liebbling in Musical America has a very fine editorial in tribute to William H. Woodin, former Secretary of the Treasury.

"A versatile figure in arts, business and statesmanship is lost in the death of William H. Woodin. It is not necessary to dwell here on his achievements as director or head of various corporations, or in his capacity as a public servant. What is significant to the musician in America is the practical demonstration, in the life of this energetic and cheerful little man, that a malignant country (artistically) does have its share of talents that are somehow submerged in the urgent demands of industrial life.

"Like Gen. Dawes, Mr. Woodin might have been a composer by profession instead of avocation if his course through life had been otherwise directed. His ability to produce attractive tunes and even compositions of extended scope was evidently an outlet for a nature that had to some degree been thwarted by his environment in practical America. A brief period of music study in his youth during a visit to Europe showed that he had his heart in artistic matters. Although Mr. Woodin relied on the skill of arrangers to give the final form to his orchestral works, he was not in that respect less equipped than a number of well-known magnates of Tin Pan Alley, and even more eminent composers for our stage.

"The significant thing about his versatility is the light it throws on the hidden talent undoubtedly existing in this country which is never developed to the full. Perhaps the moral contained in the careers of industrial and financial leaders who strum the banjo, devise tunes, collect prints and other objects of art in leisure time, is that under another system of education stressing creative activity, the United States might rival older nations who lay more stress on these matters, in producing a school of composers instead of a race of commercial giants."

He wrote music under the name of Will Woodin and his works were played by orchestras in America and Europe. They included Norwegian Rhapsody, Chinese Magic, The Unknown Soldier, Tartar Dance, and the Franklin Delano Roosevelt March which was played for the President's inauguration. He wrote musical scores for Raggedy Ann's Sunny Songs and several orchestral suites. In 1933 Syracuse (N. Y.) University conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Music.

I have the Raggedy Ann songs—a group of charming songs for children, and was particularly interested to hear Alice Bradlee Pooler sing "Raggedy Ann" (the first one in the book) at her recent costume recital. It was an unconscious tribute, as Mr. Woodin died on that same date—May 3.

The 53d season of the Boston Symphony Orchestra closed with a Tchaikovsky Festival with five concerts. The Russian composer's name was a singularly appropriate addition to the select company of Bach, Beethoven and Brahms, for Dr. Koussevitzky surely has no superior as an interpreter of the orchestral scores of his great compatriot.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, through these trying times, has continued with its artistic standards unlowered. The concerts have been given according to schedule, there has been the usual proportion of novelties, and the quality of performance has been unwaveringly maintained. Dr. Koussevitzky continues, while striking a balance between classics and modern pieces, to give liberal representation to the American composer. Three composers were represented this season for the first time on Boston Symphony programs all three Americans—Randall Thompson, Roy Harris and Emerson Whithorne. Other Americans represented were Walter Piston, Bloch, Hill, and Loeffler. Ten works were played for the first time at these concerts. These included, oddly enough, Arnold Schonberg's "Pelleas und Melisande". The composer as guest conductor directed this.

Dr. Koussevitzky returns next season, and the personnel of the orchestra remains virtually unchanged.

"Tipperary", the song which poured from the lips of the "Old Contemptibles" when they first trudged gaily and light of heart through the elm-bordered lanes of Flanders in August, 1914, was written by Jack Judge, the music-hall singer, two years prior to that. And for 21 years Jack has been drawing royalties on the sale of copies. He never sold Tipperary out-right to any publisher. The only person who had firm faith in Jack and his musical effort was his mother. Later, when Jack full of enthusiasm for Tipperary, told the old lady that some day he would fill her apron with money from the song, the woman smiled and said:

"God give ye sense, my boy!"

Musical organizations of Bangor and Brewer were heard last Sunday in Dubois' famous oratorio "Seven Last Words of Christ." Adelbert Wells Sprague, conductor of the Bangor Symphony Orchestra, directed.

Perhaps no wife so carefully guards her husband as does Mme. Toscanini the famous conductor, so O. O. McIntyre tells us. And he is one of life's most oscillating paradoxes. A kindly, sensitive fellow, he vents his furies of rage by breaking his spectacles into bits. She always has a few extra pairs safely cached. An exquisite, he affects tiny George White bow ties, stiffly pleated shirts and patent leather shoes that must not bear a single scratch. He professes to despise the uproar of a city, yet will not live anywhere save the Astor in the midst of greatest clamor. A bristle of contradiction, he comes toward the art he loves humbly and with open hands. Then is he the great and lovable Toscanini.

Recalling the items we have had about Stephen Foster's "Old Folks at Home" or "Swanee River", the following article will be of interest:

"The story has been told of how Stephen Collins Foster wrote Old Folks at Home and how he had a time finding a two-syllable river to use in its context, and had to use Swanee, contracted to 'Swanee', but it is not so well known that the song first appeared under another name. This is revealed by the gift to the Kansas City Musical Club of a number of early songs, among which is a Foster piece accredited to E. P. Christy. Morrison Foster, the famous song writer's brother, reveals how it happened in his biography of the author of My Old Kentucky Home.

"E. P. Christy was the founder of the famous Christy Minstrels, and in the '50s was packing music halls with his singing of Negro melodies. Christy asked Foster to write for him a song that he could sing before it was published. Stephen showed his brother the letter, and Morrison writes that he cautioned Stephen not to send Christy a song unless he was paid. Foster drew up an agreement to write a song for which Christy agreed to pay $500 when he used it. Christy returned the agreement signed.

"Christy got the song and sang it, and then Foster sent it to his publishers. On the front page was the inscription: 'Words and music by E. P. Christy,' but the publishers, says Morrison Foster, paid Stephen and his heirs the royalty. This is the true story of Foster as a 'ghost writer' and clears up the mystery for those who have seen copies of Old Folks at Home, or Swanee River, as it is commonly called, with Christy's name appearing as the author."

BIG FIVE LEAGUE

Three Games Slated For Sunday — Six Teams Are Entered This Year

Six teams will swing into action tomorrow to start the Big Five League on its fourth successive year. And the way things are shaping up it will be the most successful season the league has had. According to pre-season dope the Dragons, South Thomaston and the champion Rockport Club are the teams to beat. And as usual, each team thinks it can do just that. The Dragon-South Thomaston clash will probably hold the most interest tomorrow.

The Dragons, after giving the 'Keag such a fight for the cup two years ago, are entering a team again after a year's absence, and appear to be every bit as strong as before. The likely pitchers are Blin Hunt for the Dragons and Art Makinen for the 'Keag. The Pirates will travel to Rockport to take on the champions. The Pirates have added three or four new faces this year and are going to make plenty of trouble for any team in the league.

Bob Gardner will try to start the Pirates off in the winning column, while his opponent is most apt to be Hamalainen. The last game on the card calls for Battery F to take on Firpo Frye's newly entered Camden team. Don Robbins, in all probability will pitch for the Battery, while we can't get a word out of Firpo about the pitcher or any of the lineup.

As usual, there will be no admission charge to any of these games, but a hat will be passed around to garner a few coins with which to purchase the material. Each manager is hoping to give their fans a good, clean brand of baseball during the summer, and don't think they're not out there playing to win. There is decidedly more rivalry than used to be in the twilight league, and there will be plenty of hot arguments before the curtain falls in August. Go to it, boys, and give 'em the works.

Tomorrow's Games—Dragons at South Thomaston, Pirates at Rockport and Battery F at Camden.

The season's schedule will appear in Tuesday's issue.

IN THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

C. WINNIFRED COUGHLIN, Librarian

Every week-day: 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Rockland Public Library offers the best recreation yet invented—reading. Child or adult may find in its varied resources a constantly replenished supply of what he most prefers.

The library welcomes the opportunity of displaying the work of one of Rockland's young and coming artists, Edwin Witham, a graduate of the Boston School of Art. The title now on display is a square rigger in full sail. Several of the scenes have been taken from about town.

Mark Twain received today belated credit for the authorship of the expression "The New Deal," the slogan of the Roosevelt Administration. President Roosevelt vividly recalled the use of the phrase in The Connecticut Yankee, by Mark Twain, when he received the gold medal awarded him by the International Mark Twain Society. It was given in recognition of the President's campaign speeches.

Friday of last week the children enjoyed the last in the series of story hour activities conducted by Miss Edith N. C. Wolf of Thomaston who leaves shortly for Winsted, Conn. to continue her summer playground work with children. The library was indeed fortunate in procuring the services of such an experienced and valued worker during the winter months.

To celebrate the 25th anniversary of Clifford Beer's remarkable study of the recovery of a diseased mind, The Mind That Found Itself, Doubleday, Doran will issue a new edition of this perennially selling title—a book that is very popular at the library.

Forthcoming additions are: "Ginger Griffin" Ann Bridge. The new novel by the author of the Atlantic $10,000 Prize Novel "Peking Picnic." It deals as the predecessor did, with life in and out of diplomatic circles in Peking. "Man Without Nerves," E. P. Oppenheim.

Another Oppenheim mystery thriller.

"The Life of Our Lord" Charles Dickens. Probably the most discussed book of the moment. The publishers plan a first edition of 40,000 copies. "Unfinished Cathedral" T. S. Stripling.

The third and completing novel in Mr. Stripling's trilogy of the south, which began with "The Forge", and next "The Store" which was a Literary Guild selection and Pulitzer Prize of 1932. The story is still that of Colonel Valden. Literary Guild selection for June.

"God's Pocket", Rachel Field.

A romantic biography, with a Maine sea captain of old days for hero.

"How to Lead and Play" Ely Culbertson.

Self-instructor on the play of the hand.

"James Shore's Daughter" Stephen Vincent Benet, author of that great poem "John Brown's Body" now pictures for us the American generations that have come since the Civil War.

"Tender is the Night," F. Scott Fitzgerald. His first novel since the glittering and famous "Great Gatsby." The story is principally that of a young psychiatrist.

Boys and girls will want to read the story of "Scamper." The Bunny who went to the White House by Anna Roosevelt Dall. He goes all the way from his own back yard to the President's home in Washington: Quite a jump for a bunny!

There was nothing in the Constitution which prohibited a woman from becoming President because of her sex, even before the adoption of the 19th amendment.

MRS. HELEN (THOMAS) LUNT

Sorrow was brought to a large circle of friends in this vicinity by the sudden death on May 12, of Mrs. Helen Lunt, at Portland, where she had gone for surgical treatment.

Mrs. Lunt was born in Rockland on Nov. 7, 1886, daughter of the late Charles N. and Sadie (Lane) Thomas. She graduated from high school in 1904. She always maintained much interest in her classmates, and among the happiest times of her life were the "get-togethers" of a few of the "girls" at the different homes and the class reunion held last summer. She was a member of the clerical staff of the Maine State Prison at Thomaston for 28 years, her efficient services held in high esteem and reluctantly parted with when the pension term of service had been reached.

Her marriage to Frank Lunt of Thomaston took place in December, 1922. The marriage was a particularly happy one. Mrs. Lunt finding her greatest interests and devotion in the attractive home and the companionship of her husband. She endeavored herself to everyone who knew her.

She was a member of Grace Chapter, O.E.S., Thomaston and had been a member for 25 years of Miriam Rebekah Lodge of Rockland. She is survived by the husband, a step-son, Clarence Lunt; and an aunt, Mrs. Elsie Quear.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence Wednesday, Rev. Hubert Leach of the Thomaston federated churches officiating. Miriam Rebekah Lodge also participated. The bearers were George Britto, Ferdie and Roy Thomas and George Bulloch of Northport. The floral tributes contained many beautiful set pieces and were of great profusion and beauty. Burial was made in the Thomas family lot at Rockland.

Bootleggers—Non-Alcoholic

Gasoline Pirates Form Syndicates in Biggest Racket Since Booze—Gyp Public with Bad Gas, Evade $200,000,000 Taxes.

Non-alcoholic bootleggers are picking the nation's pockets and billion dollars a year. They purloin motor vehicles, tamper with gas tanks, dodge taxes, sell the shoddy in guise of the genuine. They peddle candy, jewelry, art, food, medicines, watches, fashions, etc. Finding officialdom slow to process, private enterprise has formed its own vigilante organizations. It's war. This situation is described in a series of articles, of which this is the second.

By LOU WEDEMAR, World-Telegram Staff Writer.

A CONVOY of motor trucks, under cover of darkness, whirled through the back streets of a New Jersey city. Ahead ran a curtained limousine, in which men sat with guns in their hands, ready for attack by police or hijackers.

The trucks split up and into side streets, each accompanied by one escorting limousine. A taxicab containing no passengers other than the driver followed one truck and its escort. Several miles away, they stopped. The guards descended. The bootleggers? Yes—but the 1934 variety. This convoy was sent out by one of the big gasoline syndicates which cost the public millions of dollars. Experts estimate that taxes of $100,000,000 are evaded by Pennsylvania State police of the Schuylkill and Delaware rivers patrol search every suspected tank barge and float for booting gasoline. They have had many breaches.

the original gas, but not on the product. They sell this stuff sometimes as "ethy"—much to the motorists' discomfort. A dangerous booting gas ring is now operating in Manhattan. Hoodlums are persuading dealers to take their product, which analysis has shown to be of low grade. Intimidation is to be of low grade intimidation.
