THE FIRST MEETING

Sons of the American Legion Squadron Make a Most Auspicious Start

The first official meeting of The Sons of American Legion Squadron was held Saturday forenoon at the Legion hall. The very interesting and impressive ritual was carried out by the newly elected officers and the boys were able to get an idea of how the meetings will be conducted. In spite of the bad weather, 41 members attended.

Another donation of $10 was made to the Squadron by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion and three of the Legion members made donations of $5 each to help buy hats for the youngsters.

A history of the Squadron is already started by Clarence Peterson, historian and with the State Convention coming to Rockland this year he will be kept busy attending to the detail of collecting facts.

There are 57 paid up members to date.

Clarkston, Wash., April 8

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Will you please say in the columns of your paper that the writer wishes to locate the address of any descendant of Minna Butler and George Butler, and would request that if there be any of their descendants living in the vicinity that they please correspond with me.

These people lived in that country during the years of 1830 to 1890 or thereabouts.

The writer is a granddaughter of these people and would like to correspond with some of the relatives.

ANOTHER CAMBRIDGE STORY

This One Told By Rufus Condon Of First Craft To Reach the Steamer

Friendship, Maine, April 10

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Whenever I read anything about the wreck of the Cambridge I am not only interested, but I feel like speaking up like an old man I used to know and saying: "Now if you will jess listen to me I'll tell you how it is, and how I happen to know all about it."

How I know so much is because I was with my brother William E. Condon in his lobster smack, the Electric Light, and she was the first vessel to get a line to the Cambridge after she went ashore on "The Old Man" and my brother Willie was the first man to go aboard and offer help.

As I remember the previous day, it was a beautiful winter's day, with a light wind offshore, which left us entirely about sundown.

We were on our way from Friendship to Monhegan to load only with lobsters to sail west, while the Cambridge was in Boston loading with everything you could think of, and some things you ought not to think of—for Bangor I suppose. The next morning found the Steamer Cambridge and the smack Electric Light not as far apart as the east is from the west, but very near the same place and why should the beautiful steamer which came out packed full of costly freight, be ashore; and soon to drift up along the coast in pieces, while the little smack was spared to take Capt. Ingraham the chief engineer and some others to Port Clyde at the close of the first day and after everyone else had left the steamer, with her colors flying, half-mast and union down—at the request of Capt. Ingraham. We were trying to call the help of a little steamer, I think her name was Rockland, anyway that is the name of the place where they wanted to be that night. This little steamer came down after them, but started back when they saw no one on the Cambridge.

We saw considerable of the crew and passengers, and leaving out the ones who handle the freight and dust rags, they were the finest lot of men you could find anywhere. I think they were Maine people from near Rockland and east of there.

Now I will answer, as so many have before me why the Cambridge landed on top of "Old Man Ledge." It was because she was where she ought not to be. If she had been she wouldn't have been anywhere near that ledge.

Of course the next question is, and not one easy to answer, how did she get where she ought not to be? I

OLD AGE PENSION

Monhegan Man Waxes Sarcastic Over Recent Action of Legislature

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

It has been a long time since I have corresponded with your paper, but after carefully considering the action of the Legislature just adjourned, I feel that it calls for a review by someone.

Two of the most important bills before that body, in the dying hours, were indefinitely postponed, in their own language, "for lack of funds," namely, the Old Age Pension bill and the Educational bill.

Can it be possible that a Legislature of this State will try to make the people believe that is true? For three long months these two bills have been before the session while they have been raising fabulous sums for every conceivable purpose, including $350,000 for road work, only to be postponed—as it has been in the past 10 or 12 years—in an attempt to make our roads, as they say, smoother, which means greater speed for cars and a larger death rate. The death toll for 1934 was 31,000 and we may look for 40,000 in 1935. Smoother roads means greater speed and a larger rate of mortality.

Do not understand me, readers, as being opposed to good roads. That is not my meaning. I am trying to show how easy it is for this Legislative body to cast its votes for these large sums of money whenever the question of roads is mentioned when they well know that one-half that vast and extravagant sum is squandered; and a few days later these same men will stand and shed crocodile tears asking taxation if a few thousand dollars are asked for an old age pension to assist the aged through their declining years.

They do not stop to think that these men are the people who have spent their lives in the building of our towns, raised large families to till the soil, man our fishing boats and merchant marine, and who now have but little of the world's goods to tide them over. These old citizens have given the greater part of their life's earnings toward local and State prosperity but are now "the forgotten men," and our Legislature, in the dying hours of this session, has told this class of men, "There is no room in the sun."

The Legislators will be soon knocking at the doors of our State House for admittance again, and if they fail to gain entrance, they should be reminded of their position in the 1935 Legislature on the Educational bill and Old Age Pension.

In the concluding hours of this memorable body there was raised the small item of $45,000 for anticipated overdrafts which will be sure to occur since the money has been appropriated. Where does this large sum of money come from? They could not find any for the Old Age Pension. I find one bill that has passed which will greatly please our shore fishermen. It reads thus: "Increasing the Leg Size of Lobsters." I served 23 years in the Sea and Shore Fisheries Department and have measured lobsters in all forms but have never measured his legs. Perhaps these lobsters are intended for Mr. Crie's double gauge measure.

Before the next Legislature convenes many of our old age people will be in the "happy hunting ground" where they will need no help from an ungrateful State.

MADE A DIRECTOR

Henry E. Edwards Elected To Board of Birmingham (Mich.) National Bank

In the Birmingham (Mich.) Eccentric of April 11 appeared an excellent portrait of Henry E. Edwards, one of our genial summer neighbors, who comes annually to his estate at Ash Point. The occasion of the portrait is thus told by the newspaper:

Election of H. E. Edwards, 520 Aspen road, to the Board of Directors of the Birmingham National Bank, has been announced by Charles E. James, president.

"Mr. Edwards, who has had a wide experience in business and banking, fills the vacancy on the Board left by the resignation of Fred W. Johnson, former president. On Mr. Johnson's resignation, Mr. James was elevated from executive vice president to the presidency, and E. W. Sealhorn, also a director, was named vice president.

"Prior to his coming to Birmingham in 1930, Mr. Edwards was a director of the People's National Bank of Jackson. An attorney by profession, he was for many years associated with Charles A. Blair, who later became Chief Justice of the Michigan Supreme Court. Mr. Edwards retired from active practice several years ago.

He served as postmaster of Jackson when William McKinley was President, and was one of the incorporators of the Jackson Cushion Spring Corporation, now the Reynolds Spring Corporation. He was also associated with a number of other manufacturing concerns in Jackson, and is now president of the Gordon Brothers Company, of Philadelphia, Pa., manufacturers of hair cloth.

"We are happy to have associated with us a man with the business and banking experience Mr. Edwards possesses," said Mr. James in commenting on Mr. Edwards' election to the Board of Directors. "We are confident that he will contribute much to the institution, as well as to the financial welfare of the community as a whole."

THIRTY-FIVE BILLS

Returned By Hancock Grand Jury, Some of a Very Serious Nature

An indictment charging George C. McKay, Bar Harbor theatre operator, with attempted arson, one charging arson against Harold and James Thoms, Castine brothers, and one for manslaughter against Albert Dunbar of Orland, son of former State Senator Homer Dunbar, were among the 35 returned Saturday by the grand jury of the Hancock County Superior Court. Two of the bills were secret.

McKay, who operates the Criterion Theatre at Bar Harbor, is charged with attempting to commit arson at the Star Theatre, of which he holds a lease. The Star is owned by Oscar H. Emery, prominent Bar Harbor attorney (formerly of Camden) and his brother, William P. Emery.

The manslaughter charge against Dunbar is the result of a fatal accident at Orland, when Alton Ames, an elderly resident of that town, was struck by a projecting snow removal device on a truck alleged to have been operated by Dunbar and was decapitated. Ames was walking along the highway with his wife at the time of the accident.

The Thoms brothers are charged with having set fire to the four-story Clark Block at Castine.

EXPECT GOOD SHOWING

Thirty Boys Are Out Hoping To Make Camden High School Ball Team

Baseball practice at Camden High began about 10 days ago when the battery candidates reported for work. About 30 boys have been out, practicing daily, and this number will soon be cut to about 18. There are 12 lettermen remaining from last year's squad including Capt. F. Bartlett, Weed, Boynton, Wadsworth, Heald, Fuller, McFarland, Arico, Payson, Chapin, L. Bartlett, and O. Brown. Capt. Fred Bartlett, a veteran of several seasons, will probably play at second base although E. Bartlett, Heald, and Buddy Nash are furnishing plenty of competition. Weed, regular catcher for two years and a good hitter, has the call on Trask and Hall back of the plate.

George Boynton will probably carry most of the pitching burden with E. Wadsworth, K. Richards, and Dunbar being the other aspirants. First base seems to be causing plenty of trouble at present with Doug Fuller and Charlie Wadsworth fighting it out. If either picks up in hitting he will probably get the call. However Brick McFarland may be shifted from shortstop to first in an attempt to gain more hitting strength with Arico filling in at short. E. Payson should be able to hold down third base again and have a good year at bat.

Candidates for the outfield berths are numerous including besides the veteran Bill Chapin, who has played outstanding baseball for three years, the following: L. Bartlett, O. Brown, L. Beveridge, W. Hardy, N. Marriner, T. Dickens, and K. Richards. Of these Brown and Richards seem to be shaping up strongest at present. It is very likely that Boynton may be used in the outfield when not in the box.

All hands are working hard and a feeling of confidence that Camden will make a good showing this year seems to exist among all candidates. From where we stand it looks like a close race with St. George particularly strong.

THE CHEST DRIVE

Will Be Held This Year In July With $3000 As the Goal

The annual meeting of the Rockland Community Chest Association, Inc., was held in the Central Maine rooms with approximately 25 members present.

The treasurer's report given by Chauncey Keene, showed cash available of $330.56, cash impounded $90.61. Supt. E. L. Toner spoke for the American Red Cross, Mrs. J. Lester Sherman for the Home for Aged Women and Mrs. Mae Reed for the Civil War Memorial Association.

A. W. Gregory, chairman of the committee for the drive, said the committee felt that the drive should be held in July, the goal to be $3000 minimum, to be divided thus: Home for Aged Women $1800; Red Cross, $900; Civil War Memorial, $300. It was voted to adopt the report of the committee. As the funds of the Home for Aged Women are low, and approximately $200 is due the Red Cross from Community Chest funds available, it was voted that when consent of the directors of the Red Cross is given, that the Treasurer be instructed to use money available for the Red Cross for the Home for Aged Women, the Red Cross to be reimbursed from the July drive.

These directors were elected: For three years, W. I. Ayer, Charles A. Emery, E. L. Toner; for two years, Allan F. McAlary, Frank H. Ingraham, A. W. Gregory, Walter C. Ladd; for one year (to fill unexpired term of Rev. George H. Welch) Louis A. Walker.

All things work together for good to them that love God.—Romans 8:28.

TALK OF THE TOWN

James O'Hara, organist at the Congregational church in Camden, outlines a full week in that church. At the Holy Thursday service at 7:30 the choir will sing the Gloria from Mozart's 12th Mass. On Good Friday Mr. O'Hara is presenting a recital in conjunction with the service, his numbers to be "O Sacred Head Once Wounded" and "As Jesus Hood Beside the Cross", 15th and 16th century chorale preludes, Good Friday Spell from "Parsifal" by Wagner, and Gethsemane by Otto Malling. The choir will sing Gounod's "Gallia". Mr. O'Hara's postlude will be Processional from Stainer's "Crucifixion". The Easter Sunday morning service will have special features. The church will be open from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m., for individual devotion, with continuous organ music during this period.

The spring meeting of Knox County Chapter, Sons of American Revolution, took place Friday night at the home of the president, Homer E. Robinson, including ladies and several other guests. Rev. Corwin H. Olds of the Congregational church gave a very interesting talk on "Patriotism and Defense". Com-patriot E. K. Gould was designated to formally present the good citizenship medal to the boy selected from Junior High School to receive it.

The Mission Circle of the First Baptist church met Wednesday night with the young women of the church as special guests. Mite boxes were opened. Mrs. Margery Glidden and Miss Margaret Rogers sang vocal solos, and Mrs. H. W. Frohock told a missionary story in her inimitable way. Ices and cake were served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Clara Gregory, assisted by Mesdames Mattatal, Williamson, Hall, and Sherman.

Rev. John Smith Lowe D. D. will conduct a Holy Thursday service at the Universalist church Thursday at 7:45. It will be a candlelight service, with reception of members and holy communion, and will be held in the auditorium. There will be special music by the quartet. All interested friends are invited to attend, whether associated with the parish or not. The service will be one of beauty and simplicity, as preparation for Easter.

The Eastern Maine School Music Festival takes place this year on May 25 at Bar Harbor. That of the Western Maine Festival at Lewiston on May 13. In the former will be entered from Rockland the High School Girls Glee Club directed by Mrs. Esther Rogers, the High School Orchestra directed by Harold Libby, and the School Band, directed by H. E. Kirkpatrick.

Cards from Mrs. John Newman who is spending several weeks at St. Petersburg with her aunt, Mrs. Charles H. Ames, of Concord, N. H., tell of the beauty of Florida at this time of the year, mentioning particularly the poinciana trees which are now in full bloom. Miss Adelaide Holmes was a recent day guest of Mrs. Newman and Mrs. Ames.

Golden Rod Chapter O.E.S. will hold a rummage sale Saturday in the vacant store of the Masonic block. Mrs. Grace Rollins and Mrs. Carolyn Stewart are acting as co-chairmen, and articles may be left with either. In conjunction with the sale there will be a public dinner, 11 to 1, held in the banquet hall of Masonic Temple.

Those who tuned in on the Thirteen Class broadcast from Portland Sunday forenoon learned that there were 2176 men and 49 women present. An address by Gov. Branah was a feature. In his preliminary remarks Henry F. Merrill advised churchgoers to attend their own church Easter Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Philbrook of Brookline, Mass., granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Fuller of this city, is a member of the staff of The Maine Campus, student undergraduate publication at University of Maine. Miss Philbrook is women's news editor.

The meeting of Fales Circle, Ladies of the G.A.R., at the home of Mrs. Mary Rogers was devoted to business matters. Mrs. Susie Newbert of Thomaston won the mystery package. The meeting April 24 will also be with Mrs. Rogers.

Golden Rod Chapter met Friday night, with Mrs. Florence Young in charge of supper. Mrs. Hazel Atwood sang, and Mrs. Florence Young and Mrs. Bertha Borgerson read. Mrs. Helen Chapman will be supper chairman for the meeting April 26.

WOULD HEAD LEGION

Frank E. Southard of Augusta Candidate For the Dept. Commandership

Frank E. Southard, judge of the Augusta Municipal Court and former State Senator and Kennebec county attorney, will be a candidate for Maine Department Commander of the American Legion when the State convention meets in Rockland in June.

Judge Southard said that he has been approached by Legionnaires from Knox, Waldo, York, Cumberland, Oxford, Franklin and Somerset Counties and urged to declare himself as a candidate for the highest office in the gift of the Maine Department. It is in response to this insistent demand that he will enter the contest.

A charter member of the James Fitzgerald Post of Augusta, Judge Southard served as Post Commander in 1920-21. He has been active in Legion affairs since the institution of the Maine Department and drafted the first copy of the department constitution. He was Kennebec County Commander in 1923-24.

Enlisting as a private in the 1st Heavy Field Artillery (Milliken Regiment) on June 9, 1917, he was commissioned a 1st Lieutenant on Aug. 5 with which rank he served with that organization when it became the 56th Pioneer Infantry. Lieut. Southard served overseas for 18 months. He was in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, and with the Army of Occupation in Germany, as Judge Advocate General for six months.

While overseas following the Armistice, Lieut. Southard augmented his academic and law training received at the University of Maine, by attending the University of Paris for three months. He had received his A. B. from Maine in 1910 and his LL.B. in 1914.

Judge Southard was Kennebec County Attorney for six years and served in the Senate of the 35th Maine Legislature, resigning to accept appointment as judge of the Augusta Municipal Court. His fraternities are Kappa Sigma and Phi Alpha Delta. He is a Mason and the present Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Maine.

THE STORY

CHAPTER I—Ruined, financially, by the stock market crash, James Nelson, Boston merchant, breaks the news to his household. Nance is on the verge of her introduction to society, the date of her debut having been set. A short time before, an elderly cousin of Nelson's, Columbine, had written suggesting that Nance come to her at Pine Ridge, Colo., as a paid companion. The offer had been regarded by the family as a joke.

CHAPTER II—Jack urges Nance to accept Cousin Columbine's proposition, thus relieving their father of a certain financial burden, and offering to go with her so that she will not feel too lonely. The girl is at first appalled by the idea, but when Jack writes to Cousin Columbine and they wait for her answer, Columbine writes welcome to both of them, and despite their parents' apprehension of Nance's reaction to the situation they know she must face it is arranged that the two shall go.

CHAPTER III—At the railroad station the youngsters are welcomed by Cousin Columbine. They are somewhat dismayed by her unconventional attire and mannerisms, but realize she has character and a certain charm. The driver of the car is a young man, Mark Adam, son of a close friend of the old lady. The desolation (to Nance's city ideas) of Pine Ridge appalls the girl.

CHAPTER IV—The newcomers meet Aurora Tubbs, Cousin Columbine's cook and housekeeper, and Matthew Adam, Mark's older brother. The old-fashioned furnishings of her bedroom further depress Nance. Cousin Columbine explains her reasons for desiring Nance to come to her, and tells some experiences of her 15 years of life on the plains.

CHAPTER V—Nance gets better acquainted with Matthew Adam, and is impressed, despite the handicap of his bashfulness, by his evident good sense and his good looks. Jack finds a temporary job.

CHAPTER VI—The fascination of a new country wears off, and time begins to hang heavily on Nance's hands. An absence of interesting reading, both in the house and in the community, gives her an inspiration.

CHAPTER VII—Writing home to Massachusetts, Nance comes up with the idea for a public library at Pine Ridge (on a small scale, of course), with a foundation of contributed books. The family greets the idea with enthusiasm and makes plans to comply with her wish. One afternoon of Christmas shopping with Matthew Adam Nance arrives home to find the house brilliantly illuminated. Evidently something out of the ordinary is at hand.

CHAPTER VIII—Nance finds the occasion is the celebration of her debut. She has been invited to Cousin Columbine something of her disappointment at having to forego that. In the one who she has brought she has a delightful evening, and goes to bed with a feeling of greater contentment with Pine Ridge.

CHAPTER IX—Nance and Jack start back to their eastern home, leaving a void in the small community of Pine Ridge. Miss Columbine, in whose heart Nance has found a permanent place, is greatly cheered at the moment of the girl's departure. The somewhat cryptic assurance of Matthew Adam, who seems to regard the parting in a highly philosophical manner, that Nance is coming back, adds, "and, next time, Miss Columbine, she'll come to stay."

CHAPTER X

The ride to Prairie ranch had been a jolly one, and a new experience to the young Nelsons. "Uncle Tom and Aunt Emily" welcomed them warmly, and even suggested that they stay a day or two, so Mark would be able to accompany them home; but Jack demurred. "With both Matt and Mark away, Mr. Adam needs me," he explained, "and what's more, I think we'd better start right back if we're to go alone. Soon as Mark's better we'll be glad of the chance to come and get him; but really, I'd feel easier to go back today."

"He's right, Matthew," commended Uncle Tom. "It's not quite fair for me to steal two of your father's sons and his 'lured man' as well! And as Jack says, it's better for them to start soon and take their time. Run up and say a word to Mark, you two, while Aunt Em gets you a good lunch. You won't mind eating early after the long ride."

"I never saw my sister refuse food, early or late, ride or no ride," grinned Jack as they went upstairs. They were away by noon, regretful not to stay longer with this hospitable family, but glad to think they would return so soon.

"These plains are such surprising things," said Nancy, when Prairie ranch and its big cottonwoods were miles behind them. "From a distance they look flat as a huge billiard table. Who would believe that there are mesas and hills out here?"

"I like the prairies better from a distance," confessed her brother. "They're so desolate and lonely when you're on 'em, Sis."

The boy paused, brushing one hand against his cheek.

"Queer, but I'd swear a snowflake hit me! Why, there's another! Strange to see snow drift down this way while the sun's shining. Maybe Cousin Columbine was right, and we're in for a storm."

Nancy laughed. "Lost on the prairie in a blizzard on the twenty-sixth of March! It would be some story to tell the folks back home!"

Jack said, his eyes following the cloud: "Don't tempt Providence, Sis. That cloud is turning inky; and blizzards on these plains are something awful, they come so suddenly. Mr. Adam told me about a time—" balls of tumbleweed scurried across the prairie; and clouds of dust obliterated the road.

"Perhaps we'd better turn and go back," suggested Nance, ducking her head against the particles of dust. "Cousin Columbine insisted we mustn't start in any sort of storm, you know, and—"

"and it's really snowing. It's beginning to snow hard!" The boy leaned forward, scanning a sky that grew darker with incredible rapidity.

"How far back did we pass that schoolhouse?" His voice, Nance noticed, was tense, unnatural. "I don't want to scare you, Sis, but this looks bad to me. If we could reach the school I'd take a chance at waiting there until the worst is over. What do you say?"

"I say we keep right on to the first ranch. That school was six or eight miles back; and when we passed I noticed particularly that the bus had left. Perhaps they closed at noon today."

A stinging flurry of snow was on them now, cutting across their faces like a whip. For a moment it took Jack's breath away; then he replied: "I guess you're right. There was a ranch somewhere along here. I remember seeing the gate and mail box. Help me into this jacket, will you? I don't want to stop the car. Gosh! Nancy, we're headed straight into this storm. That's it!"

(as she struggled to get his arm into a sleeve), "don't bother about the other. Get into your own coat quick—or wrap it round you. Look at this snow! The windshield's covered already. I'll have to get out and wipe it off."

"Are there any side curtains in this old car?" cried Nancy as they started on after a short delay. Jack shook his head as he bent tensely above the wheel.

"Darned if I know; and you couldn't put 'em on in this wind anyway. Keep your eyes peeled for that mail box, Nance. We mustn't miss it. We—we can't miss it. Do you understand?"

Nance understood only too well. There followed a mile or so when neither spoke. Twice Jack got out to wipe the glass, while his sister, staring into the wind-swept space, fought terror. Snow was descending fast and furiously now. Indeed, as they kept on doggedly it seemed incredible that this was the same bare road they had traversed so short a time before with friendly sunlight dappling the plains on every side. It might, thought Nancy, have been snowing here for hours and hours. Could it be possible that they were off the road? Straining her eyes into the drifting white, watching in desperation for the wayside mail box, visions of frozen cattle rose up before her, and the girl's heart thudded.

At last Jack said, not looking at his sister: "We've missed that ranch, Nance. It can't have been as far as this. What say we turn back now and try to reach the schoolhouse? The wind would be behind us anyway; and as it is I can't see four feet ahead. It looks to me as if our best chance was to—"

The words were silenced by a cry from Nancy, a cry of warning that came too late. Jack jammed on the brakes so suddenly that his sister was thrown forward against the windshield just as the car collided with the engine of a big school bus, which stood, its back wheels resting in a snow-filled gully as it extended crazily across the road.

As Nancy righted herself again, her eyes met Jack's, a glance of stark despair passing between them.

OUR PRESIDENT IN SUGAR—This sweet California lassie is no sweeter than the picture you see here of our President. It is a candied affair drawn with chocolate on a sugar base.

"I'm afraid that crash has nished this old car," he told her; then added: "Why, Nance, I think that bus is full of children!"

"Hi, there!" came a voice almost at his elbow. "Had a smash up, didn't you? Did you meet Clem?" Jack turned to see a boy of perhaps eleven standing amid the swirling snow.

"Skip back into that bus, kid," he shouted, "we're coming, too." He was already out, stretching a helping hand to Nancy, and together they fought their way to the door of the stalled bus. As the door flew open to admit them, Nancy, exhausted, sank into the nearest seat, he continued with a captivated grin: "We got company, kids. These folks is changing cars at this station. Say" (turning to Jack), "did Clem Johnson send you after us?"

Jack shook his head, and glancing about the bus, inquired: "Is he your driver?"

"Just for today. Our regular driver's sick," explained the boy. "Come down with an awful pain when he was sweepin' out the bus this morning, and his wife got Clem to drive us. Teacher closed school early because there's some sort of convention in Denver tomorrow, and she wanted to take a train this afternoon. The storm came awful sudden, after we left; and when we got this far Clem said we'd better get back to Bartlett's ranch as fast as we could. 'Tisn't more'n a few miles east of us; but when he tried to turn, the wheels went into that gully and somethin' broke. Clem worked for a long time and couldn't fix it."

"So he went for help?"

"That's it. He thought he'd get there easy; but the wind got somethin' fierce after he left. We told him not to go, but he said we'd freeze to death out here and 'twas up to him to get us somewhere safe. He's been gone a terrible long time though. Say, what's your name?"

"Jack Nelson; and this is my sister, Nancy. What's yours?"

"Tom Osgood. I'm the oldest feller here; but two of the girls are older'n me. What do you s'pose became of Clem? He ought to be here."

At the front of the bus two children began to cry; and looking about at all those helpless youngsters, Nancy forgot herself. There must be fifteen of them; and two lovely little girls, obviously twins of seven or eight, were only sweaters over summer dresses. How could they be here?

"Look here," she said, rising to speak quietly, "these poor kiddies are getting frightened. We must divert them, Jack—play games of some sort—keep them moving as much as possible in this crowded place. Why, I'm cold already even with this coat, and not one of those children is dressed as warmly! Let's start romping soon as I put my sweater on one of those little girls."

This worked for a time, and the smallest children, not realizing their plight, laughed with delight at the games Nancy invented. The older ones, however, grew notice-

A Dinner for Easter Sunday

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON
Director, Heinz Food Institute

THE CELEBRATION of Easter Sunday is one of the most ancient traditions of Christendom. Every age and country has its own customs on this church holiday, but it is the same spirit of quiet joy and welcome to the new life of spring in any land or language. In our own country, this day is often set aside for family reunions and the gathering together of old friends. And dinner, of course, is an important part of such a celebration. This dinner is a timely moment to introduce some of the spring foods that are beginning to appear in the markets. Spring lamb, crisp new vegetables and a light fluffy dessert—such a dinner is a delightful background for the friendly pleasures of the family reunion.

Ingredients for Salad. Mash 3 ripe bananas to a smooth pulp. Combine bananas, 1 cup diced canned pineapple, 1 cup diced canned pears and 1 dozen thinly sliced Maraschino cherries, and add to Cooked Fruit Salad Dressing. Easter Basket Salad—Cut celery into pieces about an inch and a half long, and then into fine shreds. Place a mound of these in a bed of lettuce to resemble a nest. In the nest place several small balls rolled from pimiento cheese. Serve with French Dressing.

LET'S GO, AMERICA!

Surveys show that America is "getting behind the wheel" in greater numbers this Spring than at any time for the past four years. And as a "Spring tonic" for motor cars, a revolutionary refining process is now being used to make a new kind of summer oil, it was announced here today.

A GAS turned into liquid under pressures of from 200 to 250 pounds per square inch plays a vital part in the revolutionary process perfected by the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company to provide motorists with a new kind of summer motor oil announced today. The new oil will be available this week throughout the country.

The gas transformed into liquid as a step in the new refining process is known as propane. Stored in two huge cylindrical tanks, it is powerful enough to blow up an entire town, yet it performs a most revolutionary development in the history of the petroleum industry.

The propane is liquefied by subjecting it to high pressures and then acts as a solvent which collects all of the valuable parts of the crude oil. Meanwhile, another solvent known as cresylic acid dissolves and settles the natural impurities present in even the finest crude petroleum, ridding it of carbon and gum forming elements. After the impurities have been carried away, the propane-oil mixture is permitted to reach room temperature and the propane, once more a gas, bubbles away.

The process insures for the first time an oil free from weak and unstable elements which burn up with engine heat. Motorists using the new summer Mobiloil will be able to drive farther this season and spend less in oil purchases. The new summer Mobiloil has the highest resistance to gumming of any oil yet developed. After 100 hours of engine operation with old-type oils the engine valve chamber is coated with gum formed by impurities which the old chemical refining processes failed to remove from the crude oil. Gum causes higher repair and overhaul expenses for the motorist.

Road tests from Canada to Mexico in more than 100,000 miles of driving have given the new summer oil thorough practical tryouts. Such a hard-driving cross-country test as that staged by Harry Hartz, race driver, testifies to the high quality of the new oil, automotive engineers point out.

Two huge plants at Paulsboro, N. J., and Beaumont, Texas, were built especially to provide full production facilities for the revolutionary process perfected by Socony-Vacuum engineers after years of research and study on the new refining method. Chemists describe the new process as a physical one as contrasted with the chemical refining methods of filtration and acid treatment previously used. The new physical process separates the impurities from the rich lubricating oil without any chemical change in the oil at all.

THORNDIKEVILLE

Mrs. Eleanor Ingraham has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lamson of West Rockport.

Myrven Merrill and George Davis visited relatives in Bluehill recently. Abbie Merrill is spending the month of April as guest of her brothers in Bluehill.

Mrs. Hazel Campbell of Liberty was recent guest at Mrs. John Pushaw's. Russell Upham is improving after his recent accident.

Burning blueberry land, cleaning house, hatching chicks and manufacturing the various wood piles are the local topics of the day.

Perennials

IF YOU find that any of your perennials have been lifted out of the ground by the frost, they should be pressed back with the feet or lifted entirely and replanted.

VERBENAS are coming back again into popular favor. While strictly it is a perennial, it is mostly planted as an annual. It grows well in most locations and requires little water.

IF ANY of your hardy vines have been winter killed, use annuals for this summer while the replacements are growing through their first year.

FOR a perennial background there is nothing more attractive than Delphinium. Their tall graceful spikes and exquisite color add charm and delicacy to any garden. If seed is planted it should be put in the ground early as it germinates best in a ground temperature of forty-five to fifty-five degrees.

LONG narrow border hedges can be made very attractive by a mixing of perennials and annuals giving special attention to the time of flowering so as to have continuous bloom.

IF YOU want the very large-sized dahlias only allow one stalk to develop. Do not plant dahlias too close to shrubbery and fertilizer well.

IN TRANSPLANTING seedlings, move the stronger plants first so as to give better opportunity for the weaker one to come through. An old kitchen fork is an excellent tool for this purpose.

FREQUENT picking of the flowers of pansies prolongs their period of bloom. Although the pansy is a perennial it is better to set out young plants each Spring.

A GOOD RULE to follow in planting perennials is to place them a little closer than half their own height. Plants growing two feet or so high, should be a foot apart.

PAY $9,500,000,000 ANNUALLY IN TAXES

Study Shows They Are Fifth of Nation's Income.

New York.—The taxes paid annually in the United States now amount to $9,500,000,000, or one-fifth of the national income, it was estimated by the national industrial conference board in a study of the cost of government.

"Federal, state and local government expenditures, exclusive of debt retirements, are about $15,500,000,000. In the last four years the public debt is in excess of $47,000,000,000. In the last four years the public debt has been increased at a more rapid rate than at any other time in history except 1918 and 1919."

Lower Than 1930.

The board pointed out, however, that collections, despite the numerous taxes added in recent years to federal, state and local systems, are at a lower level now than in 1930 when they amounted to $10,300,000,000.

"The enormous decline in the yield of the federal taxes and property tax delinquencies were the principal reasons for the decline after 1930," the board explained. "Federal income taxes declined from $2,411,000,000 in 1930 to $818,000,000 in 1934. Of the total collections for 1934, estimated at $9,500,000,000, federal tax collections were $2,892,000,000."

The normally large margin between tax collections and expenditures has been greatly widened by the federal deficits and now averages about $6,000,000,000, the board asserted.

"Of this amount," continued its report, "roughly $2,000,000,000 is covered by non-tax receipts, such as earnings of general departments and public service enterprises, special assessments, fines, rents, and interest. The balance of about $4,000,000,000 has been reflected in increased indebtedness."

Debt Increases.

"The depression will have the effect of making governmental expenditures of the future more inflexible. The debt of the federal government is approaching and may soon reach a level twice as high as in 1930, and state and local debt also has increased in lesser degrees."

"Debt service requirements are the most inflexible of all expenditures. Their rigidity, more than any other factor, detracted from the effectiveness of retrenchment as a means of solving state and local fiscal problems during the depression. For 1932, the latest year for which complete data are available, debt service—interest and retirements—for all governments combined was equivalent to 16.5 per cent of gross expenditures and 29.2 per cent of tax collections."

FASHION FLASHES

By MARY LOUISE KENT

By Bouslogue

This is the first installment of a series of models, I shall design and select, for the approval of those women who are interested in following the fickle trend of fashion, enough to be intelligently well dressed when occasion demands.

All women owe it to themselves to be well gowned, and all may be with little effort, through an understanding of just what "well gowned" implies. Your dress need not be expensive but it must not only fit your body, almost more important, it must fit the occasion and your environment.

It is not only bad taste but questionable economy, to wear out your silk party dress while going about the household chores. Smart, appropriate and inexpensive house frocks may be yours in exchange for a little time and a very small amount of money then you need never be embarrassed by that unexpected visitor. Make your dress gown or costume fit the occasion and you will come well within my definition of a well dressed woman and all this with a surprisingly limited wardrobe.

In the future these articles will be regularly edited by Miss Kent, but I shall return to you now and again with items I believe may be of special interest. The style suggestions for this week are simple, inexpensive, easily made and fashionably correct. They will also permit the exercise of a bit of your own designing ability without altering the basic lines.

The Charm of Simplicity

3410—The attractiveness of this model lies largely in its simplicity of line—made in plain silk crepe, with contrasting collar and belt, or one of the many delightful prints available this season, it provides a lovely dress for town and casual daytime occasions. This 3410 pattern is designed in sizes 14—16 years and 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2½ yards of 54-inch material and ¾ yard contrasting material.

Your Blouse, An Ornamental Necessity

3104—This model has line enough to lend character and at the same time it is soft enough to harmonize with your several old skirts, without too much thought as to color combination. Sizes are 14—16 years and 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 2½ yards material and ¾ yard contrasting material.

Personality Hat

3379—This clever hat design may be manipulated both in crown and brim; and in the choice of material you may give full scope to your artistic imagination. You will enjoy making it and it is indeed a really useful hat.

LOST FAT BECAUSE SHE HEDED DOCTOR'S ADVICE

And Didn't Listen To Gossiping Neighbors!

Mrs. H. H. Long of Clarinda, Iowa writes: "Kruschen was recommended to me by my doctor. Weight when starting was 226. Weight now after 3 jars is 208. Doctor says I'm doing fine."

When Kruschen Salts is prescribed by reputable physicians to safely take off fat and greatly improve health—why listen to gossipers who don't want you to be slender? Envious! Have a mind of your own—get a jar of Kruschen today (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle). Take a half teaspoonful in a cup of hot water every morning—tastes fine with juice of half lemon added. If you don't lose 12 lbs. and feel years younger—money back.

Sissy

Only one who has been called "sissy" in real earnest can describe the full horror of what is implied.

Our mistake is to say "Oh, it's just a kid's fun, it doesn't mean anything." And it's a particularly sad mistake when spoken by one who is the parent or teacher of a child so tagged by his playmates. Because it means that a real opportunity for service is being overlooked. It's a challenge.

When the kids tag on that label "sissy" don't think it's their mistake. They're seldom wrong. They know all the signs. If you can, consult a good psychologist or psychiatrist. "Sissy" needs the best treatment. If you can't, steel yourself to keep hand's off. Let him fight his own battles. Let him taste defeat. Withhold your too ready sympathy, but show interest in his every effort to make good. Encourage self-confidence, and for each success have a simple word of praise.

Encourage hobbies, is Dr. Ireland's advice to the school. He tells why in his next article.

More About The Candid Camera

In "candid" photography you must shoot with conditions "as is." That's what makes it fascinating.

LAST week we talked about candid photography in general so now let's discuss the personal and mechanical equipment necessary to take candid camera pictures.

First, you must be equipped with a disposition to overcome a few obstacles, for you are going to have them if you are determined to get real candid camera shots. As was pointed out last week, in candid photography you take your pictures "as is."

In candid photography your picture possibilities are limited—or unlimited, as the case may be—by the versatility of your camera, but for the average amateur a small camera with an f/3.5 lens will give all the speed necessary. A fast lens plus super sensitive panchromatic film is essential if you are to make your candid camera shots under adverse lighting conditions, in or outdoors. Next in importance is your shutter speed. No, an extremely fast shutter speed is not all-important for candid shots, but obviously it has many advantages.

An ideal combination for your miniature candid camera is an f/3.5 lens for your largest diaphragm opening with shutter speeds ranging from one to 1/300 of a second. With such a shutter you will also find it equipped for "time" and "bulb" exposures.

Slow shutter speeds are important, for there are occasions when you will find it quite necessary to make your candid shot with the lens wide open and then, to get taken to South Warren for funeral services and interment.

These officers were elected: President, Mrs. Lydia Storer; vice president, Mrs. Vivian Hewett; secretary, Mrs. Margery Glidden; treasurer, Miss Katherine Keating; directors, Mrs. Lilian S. Copping, Mrs. Ruth E. Sanborn, Mrs. Grace Crie Mrs. Edith Blaney, Mrs. Edna French, Mrs. Doris Scarlett; publicity, Mrs. Gladys Morgan; decorations, Mrs. French; choral director and custodian, Mrs. Faith G. Berry; accompanist, Mrs. Nettie B. Averill. Delegates to the State convention will be appointed later. In place of the year books, it was voted to make the following donations: $5 each to the High School Girls' Glee Club, High School Orchestra, and School Band, for new music; $5 to enable the Girls' Glee Club to join the State Federation of Music Clubs; and $5 to the Public Library for subscriptions to music magazines.

The club closes its season in good standing, all bills paid and a tidy nest egg to begin the new season. Mrs. Copping, retiring president, leaves her office with an unique record—a charter member, serving a second two-year term after a long period of years, and leaving the club with no unpaid membership fees. To the club in these most recent years as president she has brought tireless energy, enthusiasm, and vision. Too much cannot be said of the splendid service she has given.

The banquet held at 6 o'clock brought out 75 members and guests who gathered at the tables in delightful companionship. Pink carnations and maidenhair fern formed decorations of charming simplicity. The menu featured lobster salad. Mrs. Grace Crie, as chairman was assisted by Mrs. Irene Walker, Mrs. Vivian Hewett, Mrs. Evelyn White, Miss Fern Brown, Mrs. Dorothy Crie, Mrs. Margery Glidden, Miss Katherine Keating, Mrs. Lydia Storer, and Mrs. Edna French. A happy feature was the presentation of a corsage to Mrs. Copping at the conclusion of the reading of jingles by Mrs. Gladys Morgan, written for the occasion. Mrs. Copping, handsomely gowned in green lace and seated at the head

NEW SHADES FOR EASTER

It's really marvelous what a lot of good wear even the sheerest of Rollins Chiffons give. One of the reasons for this is the Runstop—that positive garter run protection at the hem which says "Stop" to every runner starting above it. This extra wear certainly cuts down the cost per pair for you. And it's such a satisfaction to have stockings that can take it.

Tyler School, Grade 5:

A new term starts for us with 47 pupils present.

March first, Temperance Day, a lecture was given to the class by Mr. Flanders. Milton Roberts conducted experiments with his chemistry set. Posters were painted for the W.C.T.U. Miss Mabel Seavey and Miss Alena Young were visitors. Remarks were made by Miss Young.

Pupils came to school all shined up and looking pretty to have our pictures "taken" the first week of school.

A new pupil is Albert Mills. Albert was once a pupil in the First Grade here but the Hebron Sanatorium has been his home for about three years. His classmates are very happy at his return in such good health.

Constance Robertson brought the first pussy-willows.

It has been great fun to see ourselves as the camera sees us. Quite a "shock" sometimes.

For a language lesson in "Good Citizenship," we "made believe" we were little foreign children coming to this country from our native land. Our experiences were many and varied. One "mother" wrote her experience telling us it required 17 years to learn to eat sweet corn.

The adventures of Tom Sawyer are entertaining us every morning and looked forward to with interest.

Robins and bluebirds have been seen by Mary Cayton and Pearl Smith. Pearl saw a flock of 26.

The "Tyler Braves" held their first meeting and elected officers: Manager, Edwin Raye; captain, Myron Cummings. Games are being arranged with other grades. But the "Braves" are prepared to beat all comers.

Miss Harriette Trask of Gorham Normal School Faculty was a visit this week.

Miss Abbie Buck of the Child Welfare Department urged all children to visit their dentist, in readiness for the seven-point pins.

We have bought a microscope. After school hours the wonders of nature are viewed and another world opened to us. At present our chief concern is where to get another flea.

Those not absent for the term: Perley Bartlett, Barbara Black, Harriette Clark, Elizabeth Clough, Marie Dodge, Virginia Donohue, Howard Edwards, Arnold Fernald, Harold Gerrish, Evelyn Gray, Charles Huntley, John Knight, Jane Packard, Norma Philbrick, Pearl Smith, George Staples, Richard Young, James York, Earl Lyburner, Myron Cummings, Frances D'Agostino, Harold Lewis, Goldie Mason, Cynthia McAlman, Knott Sammie Rankin, Milton Roberts.

For our W.C.T.U. posters sketches of episodes from the lives of "Huck Finn" and "Beautiful Joe" (a dog). Both victims of the drink habit.

All our attention just now is centered on learning the songs for the May Parent-Teachers' meeting.

MRS. ABRAM FISH

Mrs. Abram Fish of 42 Glen street, died at her home Tuesday after a week's illness of pneumonia and other complications.

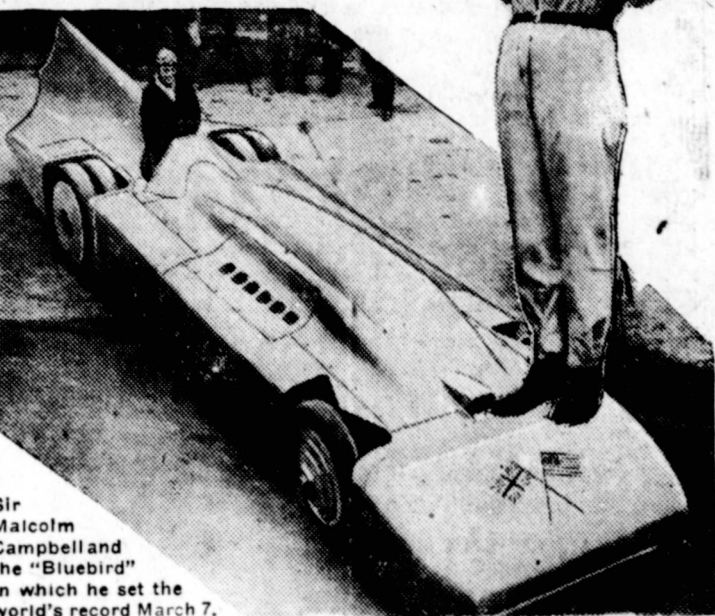

She was born in Lancaster, Penn., April 4, 1863, and before her marriage to Mr. Fish, was Miss Alice Evans. She had been a resident of Rockland many years.

Besides her husband she leaves a foster son, Stanley, and a nephew and nieces in Pennsylvania.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Burpee undertaking parlors, Rev. John Quigg of the Littlefield Memorial Church officiating. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment was in Appleton.

BEHIND CAMPBELL—NERVE PLUS SCIENCE

Streamlining, Silk Tires, Benzol Gas, Latest Engine Design. All Helped Make "Bluebird's" World Automobile Speed Record Possible.

Sir Malcolm Campbell and the "Bluebird" in which he set the world's record March 7.

THE world's record automobile speed of 276.816 miles an hour, made by Sir Malcolm Campbell at Daytona Beach on March 7th, had nerve behind it and science. The giant "Bluebird," as it thundered down the Florida sands over four and a half miles per hour, was a masterpiece of engineering. Since the speeds set by Sir Malcolm this year and in 1933 stand so close together, it is indicated that an entirely new type of car will have to be designed before an appreciable gain in speed can be made.

LOTS OF FUN

"Until last summer, my friends hardly ever invited me to their parties," Elsie R. told her cousin. "But then Dad put in our telephone and it's been wonderful ever since. I'm not left out any more."

"Most of these parties, I've learned, are got together in a hurry, and so they rely on the telephone. It's lots of fun... I don't know how we ever got along without a telephone." And the whole family enjoys it.

This is only one of the many reasons why people value their telephones. A telephone offers you protection, security, convenience, and peace of mind, as well as friendships... and often it helps to hold jobs or to get work.

To share these benefits, call your local business office, New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

MORE TOURISTS NOW TAKE CARS ABROAD

'Ferrying' of Autos Increases 22 1/2 Per Cent.

Washington.—Prosperity is returning—at least to the American tourists.

The foreign travel division of the American Automobile association has reported that 23 1/2 per cent more cars were shipped abroad in the ten month period from January 1 to October 31 than in the corresponding period of 1933.

Likewise travelers from 42 states had their cars "ferried" across the ocean to 52 ports in Europe, Asia and Africa.

Political uncertainties or currency fluctuations apparently interfered not in the least with the pleasure and comfort of motor travel abroad in 1934, Thomas P. Henry, Detroit, president of the association, said. Facilities and ease of motor travel were more favorable than ever before, he added.

Most American cars shipped abroad were light-weight and low-priced, indicating a desire to economize on gas and oil. The average duration of tours this year was 60 days, compared with 80 days in former years.

Reduced cost of transportation, coupled with more efficient handling of automobiles by steamship companies, the association said, made up for the increased cost of gasoline and oil in foreign countries.

Old People Thrive in Small Missouri Town

Oregon, Mo.—People grow old in this town of only 900. There are more than 50 persons whose ages range from eighty to one hundred and two. Almost without exception they go about their business without assistance from anyone. Some drive their own cars, set out orchards, split wood, bake bread, can, quilt, go to church regularly and do a thousand and one things that younger persons do.

Then there is a younger generation, youngsters of sixty to eighty, who also uphold the reputation of the town for longevity. One of these, a woman of seventy-five, recently learned to use a typewriter so that she could correspond more easily with a son in New York.

The oldest of the village is Mrs. Maria Whitmer, who will be one hundred and two years old in May. Next is Charles Ruley, ninety-five.

Rev. T. D. Roberts and his wife have been married 63 years. On his ninetieth birthday he preached a long sermon. His wife is ninety.

Several of the group are Civil war veterans.

The Accumulative Effect of Good Advertising Cannot Be Overestimated

TENANT'S HARBOR

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Davis of New Hampshire are staying at their cottage for a few weeks, while Mr. Davis is waiting for work.

A card party will be held in Odd Fellows hall Thursday evening. The public is invited. Mary Monaghan, Marion Wallace and Myron Wiley are on the committee. Capt. Frank Hunter is driving a new automobile. Arthur Hunter is critically ill. Raymond N. Cameron is visiting relatives in Boothbay Harbor.
