From the files of The Courier-Gazette we learn that:—

The destroyer Farragut broke the U. S. Naval speed record on the Rockland course, making a mile at the rate of nearly 40 knots.

Rev. W. J. Day, founder of the Baptist Men's League, addressed its final meeting. Herman Hart was re-elected president.

Rockland High trackmen won from Crosby High in a dual meet, 66 points to 42.

Edgar W. Barter, 61, died at his home.

MORAN'S SUGGESTION

Compilation of vital records of Maine cities and towns was suggested Thursday to Maine Relief Administrator McDonough by Representative Moran as a project under the $300,000,000 allotted by the Work Relief Bill for assistance to white collar persons. The administration is having difficulty in finding work for persons of this type. "This work should be systematized, indexed and supervised by competent persons who understand the value of such records," Moran said. "At least one copy of everything along this line should be placed on file with the State Library."

ANNE LINDBERGH'S BOOK

Anne Morrow Lindbergh has written a book describing the flight to the Orient which she and her husband, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, made in 1931. The book, entitled "North to the Orient," will be published in the fall (by Harcourt, Brace and Company). She wrote it herself, without the aid of any literary "ghost," it was said, and it will be illustrated with maps drawn by Col. Lindbergh.

JUSTICE CHAPMAN SPOKE

Circumstantial Evidence and the Sandford Case —Frank H. Ingraham Again President

In a highly interesting and informal talk before the Baptist Men's League Thursday night Justice Arthur Chapman of Portland disabused the popular belief that circumstantial evidence is not to be relied upon, using as his principal illustration the Hauptmann case which has been the subject of such heated controversies on the two hemispheres.

"Studying the evidence we can see how conviction came," said His Honor. "There is only one answer: Hauptmann was connected with the murder of the Lindbergh child. Some say that there must have been somebody with him, but not one fact was developed that points to such a fact."

Justice Chapman began his illustration of the value of circumstantial evidence by harking back to one of Aesop's Fables—the story of the Lion and the Fox—telling how the Lion in his old age declared for peace and invited all the other animals to call upon him at his home. The Fox declined with the remark that "many tracks lead to your den, but none from it."

Robinson Crusoe was also a believer in circumstantial evidence, for when he found certain tracks on the island he knew there must be another man there, though nobody had told him so.

Another striking demonstration of circumstantial evidence was found in the evidence pertaining to the Pejepscot Mills hold-up in Brunswick, still fresh in the minds of so many Maine people.

Turning his attention to the Hauptmann case, Justice Chapman said: "Hauptmann had the ransom money on his premises and gave an absurd explanation for its presence. The man alleged to have given it to him died in poverty on the other side of the water."

Comparison of the ransom notes with Hauptmann's handwriting shows one to have been almost a photograph of the other. The chisel found under the window of the room from which the child was taken was of the same size and make as those in Hauptmann's tool chest.

Justice Chapman repeated the dramatic story of how the wood used in the kidnap ladder was traced to a mill in the Bronx where Hauptmann had worked—and this before Hauptmann was even mentioned in connection with the case. The board missing from Hauptmann's attic bore a grain identical with that of the piece found on the ladder.

The most interesting feature of Justice Chapman's talk concerned the case of Rev. Frank W. Sandford, the former Bates athlete (and one time Rockland ball player) who served a sentence in the Federal Prison at Atlanta as being responsible for the deaths of members of the crew when Sandford made his expedition to Africa and Greenland. It was Justice Chapman who caused Mr. Sandford's arrest, and his story concerning the eccentric founder of the Holy Ghost and Us Society was listened to with the keenest interest.

"Frank Sandford wanted to be in the limelight," the speaker said. The open forum was devoted wholly to the Sandford case.

The League voted to send a message of sympathy to Rev. W. J. Day on the recent death of his wife.

The annual report of Secretary Brunberg showed that eight meetings have been held the past year, with a supper attendance of 446, the largest attendance being 91. There are 88 paid-up members. Almon Bird, treasurer, reported cash on hand $10.22.

These officers were elected:
President—Frank H. Ingraham.
Vice Presidents—Austin W. Smith and David S. Beach.

Secretary—Axel E. Brunberg.
Treasurer—E. J. Morey.

Auditor—Charles A. Emery.

The Scotch Quartet from St. George sang four selections, new laurels being added to those which have been won by this delightful organization. Edwin Edwards, Jr., figured prominently on the entertainment program, repeating the number with which he won the State speaking contest—"When Men Propose." It earned him many congratulations.

At the end of the summer vacation the Baptist Men's League will reassemble with a view to strengthening its lines and renewing its activities. Frank H. Ingraham, who will be at the head, has previously served the League as president—one of its best—and the organization rests assured of a tireless and energetic leader.

QUODDY PROJECT ASSURED!

Uncle Sam To Spend Many Millions At Eastport, Though Not As Many As Asked

All over Maine yesterday there was a general hurrahing because the Quoddy Project, long regarded with skeptical eyes, has become a certainty.

Late developments of the situation, were told by the Associated Press in last night's papers in this manner:

"A plan for the generation of electric power from the high tides of Passamaquoddy Bay, Maine, differing sharply from that originally submitted by the Public Works Administration was ready today for construction by the Army Engineer Corps.

"The approved plan provides for completion of the program at an estimated cost of $36,284,000, instead of the $47,000,000 its backers originally asked. The advisory committee on allotments, meeting with the President, yesterday approved an allocation from work-relief money of $10,000,000 for the first year's construction.

"The presence of President Roosevelt at the meeting at which the committee recommended the allocation, and his known favorable attitude towards the project, are regarded as assuring the immediate approval of the allotment.

"The committee announcement estimated work might start on the project within five days. Major Philip B. Fleming, who was recently relieved of his duties as acting deputy PWA administrator will go to Eastport when his duties here permit to take active charge of construction. The War Department Engineer Corps will have general charge.

"The complete plans for the project as finally announced, include several changes from the proposal originally brought forward by Dexter Cooper."

HANDLING THE RELIEF FUND

Official Information Comes From Office Of State Director James E. Connellan

From the office of James E. Connellan, State director for Maine of the National Emergency Council, was yesterday issued the following statement as to the manner in which the nation's huge relief fund will be apportioned and expended.

The six fundamental principles to be observed are:

The projects should be of a nature that a considerable proportion of the money spent will go into wages for labor.

Projects which promise ultimate return to the Federal Treasury of a considerable proportion of the costs will be sought.

Funds allotted for each project should be actually and promptly spent and not held over until later years.

In all cases projects must be of a character to give employment to those on the relief rolls.

Projects will be allocated to localities or relief areas in relation to the number of workers on relief rolls in those areas.

The work will be handled thus:

The President
Prescribes such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1935.

He may fix different rates of wages on any project, with certain provisions.

He receives recommendations for approval or rejection of allotments from the Advisory Committee on allotments.

The Division of Applications and Information of the National Emergency Council receives all applications for projects; causes the applications to be examined and reviewed, obtaining, when necessary, the assistance of governmental departments or agencies, and transmits these applications to the Advisory Committee on Allotments; and furnishes information to the public on allotments made and on the progress of all projects as they are initiated and carried forward.

The Advisory Committee on Allotments makes recommendations to the President with respect to the allotments of funds for projects covered by the applications submitted by the Division of Applications and Information, such as will constitute a coordinated and balanced program of work under the act.

The Works Progress Administration is responsible to the President for the honest, efficient, speedy, and coordinated execution of that program as a whole, and for its execution in a manner such as will remove from the relief rolls to work on projects or in private employment the maximum number of persons in the shortest possible time.

THE SUNDAY GAME

Manager Quinn Is Offering
Orono League Team As Tomorrow's Attraction

The Rockland Collegians who dropped the opening game to Vinalhaven last Sunday by a 1 to 0 count will tackle the Orono Club of the Eastern Maine League Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at Community Park. Manager Howard of Orono was so confident that his team can take the Collegians that he has made a good sized side bet that his team will win Orono recently chalked up a 14 to 2 victory over the Trenton Green Moths, last year's pennant winners in the Eastern League.

The Orono Club has an especially strong hurling staff headed by Fern Bagley, former University of Maine great. Cunio, a strong lighthander held the Green Moths in check at Trenton last Sunday and allowed only five scattered bingles. Peanut Furlong, slim southpaw, who hung up a win over the Collegians while pitching for the Brewer club last season will be wearing the spangles of the Orono club this season while the fourth hurler will be a rookie named Haskell.

Chummy Gray will in all probability be the starting hurler for the Collegians with Capt. Sump Archer behind the plate. Sammy Glover who made his debut in a Collegian uniform last week by banging out a lusty double will be at third base and Brewer will be at short. Grafton was unable to play last week but will be at his old post in left field Sunday.

If the lawn has a few small bare spots it may be repaired so that it looks good almost immediately. This is done by digging out the bare spots to a depth of two inches and inserting sod from a vacant lot or pasture. Square the hole and sod to fit closely, tramp the sod down, and water it.

RELIANCE

Not to the swift, the race;
Not to the strong, the fight;
Not to the righteous, perfect grace;
Not to the wise the light.

But often faltering feet
Come surest to the goal;
And they who walk in darkness meet
The sunrise of the soul.

A thousand times by night
The Syrian hosts have died;
A thousand times the vanquished fight
Hath risen, glorified.

The truth the wise man sought
Was spoken by a child;
The alabaster box was brought
In trembling hands defied.

Not from my torch the gleam,
But from the stars above,
Not from my heart life's crystal stream,
But from the depths of Love.

"ANNE" WRITES A BOOK

Whenever the Lindbergh name comes into print, countrywide interest immediately is manifested. This week publicity is given to the fact that Anne Morrow Lindbergh has written a book dealing with the flight to the Orient made by herself and Colonel Lindbergh in 1931, which is to be published next fall. "North to the Orient" is the title of the book and there will be illustration by maps drawn by the Colonel. The announcement emphasizes the fact that the book is the author's own, the product of her pen, with no help of any literary ghost, and naturally upon that account to be the more valued. The public will welcome it for that literary reason, and also because the author shares equally in the hearts of the people the affection felt for her distinguished husband.

OPPOSING THE NEW DEAL

Not all the leaders in the Democratic party are thick and thin endorsers of the presidential program. Prominent in the list of those who have openly refused its blind following appears Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, whose vigorous denunciations of what is going on in Washington have had wide notice in the press. The stalwart Southerner now announces that he plans to take the stump in other parts of the country against the nomination of President Roosevelt next year. As an earnest of his sincerity he purposes, he declares, to have sent to the national convention as opposers of the nomination, the Georgia delegation, the appointment of which lies with the state committee, which the governor controls. Nor are all the perplexing problems of the 1936 campaign going to fall to the Republicans. Our friends of the Democracy will find in the bag a number of worriments that they could wish they didn't have to deal with.

KEEPING TABS ON THE STARS

Numbered here and there among the valued readers of this paper are known to be some who are "watchers of the skies." Occasionally such have contributed to its columns matter of interest in that connection. How many of them have had their attention fixed upon the achievements of the new star Neva Herculis, whose discovery last December 13 caused great stir in astronomical circles, in nine days rising to a peak of great brilliance, and then somewhat subsiding, suggesting to astronomers that some internal catastrophe had taken place. Much in the same way, the layman might point out, as with luminaries of our mundane sphere, in which the screen, the opera and the stage have come to figure. The newspaper office has no paraphernalia with which to sweep these overhead regions under which it exists, but it would be glad to know that some of its readers had been keeping an eye upon this new-born Neva Herculis.

THE HOME MERCHANT FIRST

House to house canvassing for the sale of articles covering a wide range is a form of salesmanship activity that always has existed and doubtless will continue. A point in the connection properly to be borne in mind by the person being solicited to purchase relates to the source of the approach. Is it from distant interests which pay here no taxes and lend to the community no hand of co-operation at any time? One may well give careful thought to this phase of the situation, bearing steadfastly in mind the evident fact that our own local shops and merchants should at the hands of the citizens have first consideration in a community matter of so much importance.

THE VOGUE OF THE NICKNAME

In these days of upheaval, whose processes seem to attach to every form of activity, how is it faring with the nickname, that one-time universal feature of the community of moderate size where men and boys had being. Does the nickname continue to enjoy that old-time vogue which attached it to everybody who for one reason or another fell naturally into line for that distinction? The boy in particular was an object of it, the other fellows selecting the name with a point and accuracy that couldn't be denied. Many a boy so selected carried his nickname even so far as into the latest years of his existence. We could find nothing more interesting for these columns than to see recalled some of those picturesque appellations which our readers have known to be worn. Not that the present-day citizens who wore them should be pointed out, though we dare say some of them would be proud to confess to this piece of attention that marked him out from the common run and deemed him worthy of that unique form of recognition.

ARE BOOMING SKELTON

Lewiston Report Hails Ex-Mayor As the Man Who Can Beat Moran

Harold N. Skelton, mayor of Lewiston two terms, prominent in Republican politics, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative to Congress from the Second District in 1936 if some of the more influential workers in the party have their way about it. Mr. Skelton measures up to all of the requirements of the Young Turk group and also, it is said, would be very acceptable to those of the party who were at one time or another classified as members of the Old Guard.

But his support will not be confined to the Guardsmen and the Turks for there are many Democrats in this city who would take off their coats and work for him, say those who have been talking up his candidacy. The Meadowbrook Club, it is understood, will endorse his candidacy and there appears to be little doubt that he will give the opposition something to think about.

Zelma M. Dwinall of Camden, nominee last year, has made it known that he intends to seek the nomination again next year. Also, it is reported that Judge Frank E. Southard of Augusta, intends to be a candidate for the Republican nomination to Congress, this district, in 1936. It is likely others may enter, as there was a field of seven candidates last year.

In this section Mr. Skelton appears to be the favorite, for it is held that an Androscoggin County man would have the advantage over those from other sections, in battling Congressman Moran. Androscoggin County elected Moran. But with Skelton running against him, he wouldn't even carry the county, in the opinion of those familiar with the situation in this county.—Lewiston Sun.

NEW BRANCH STORE

Stonington Furniture Co. Is Welcomed At Boothbay Harbor

A handsome new store was opened Thursday at Boothbay Harbor by Stonington Furniture Co. which operates its main plant at 313-325 Main street in this city. The new store occupies the entire lower floor of the Nevens building, formerly two stores.

The opening proved most auspicious with throngs present all day. The supply of pinks on hand was early exhausted and had to be replenished. Miss Sadie Marcus was in personal charge of the opening and was deeply touched by the influx of old time friends and acquaintances. The new venture is advertised as a homelike, friendly store where everything in home furnishings may be obtained, and the cordiality of the reception Thursday shows it is well received.

The Boothbay Register has this interesting comment in its issue preceding the opening day: "A distinct pleasure awaits the people of this section when they visit the handsome new store of the Stonington Furniture Company which will open Thursday, May 16. It is located in the recently remodelled and renovated Dr. Nevens' building on McKown street and will occupy the whole double store.

The proprietors of this progressive firm are no strangers in this section. Louis Marcus lived here for years and his daughter Sadie, who is associated with him in the big enterprise, had her early education in Boothbay Harbor schools, later graduating with honors from Boston University. Both have been frequent visitors to this section in past years and will be welcomed by a wide circle of friends. The active management of the store will be in the capable hands of Norman Greenleaf, assisted by Mrs. Max Sprague.

More "library laughs"

A good lady hurried in after prayer meeting one night and said that the minister had recommended a book called "Entombed With An Infant" and did they have it? The librarian after due thought produced In Tune With The Infinite to the reader's satisfaction.

Another reader asked for "Jesus on the Warpath," and this was quite a poser for the librarian in charge, but she finally hit on Stanley Jones' "The Christ of the Indian Road" as the key to the mystery.

A third inquiry proved to be for the poems of Woodyard Kindling but this was easily disposed of by bringing forth the poems of Rudyard Kipling. At least one woman reader is getting her kitchen vocabulary confused in mind with her literary for she recently asked for "Goodbye Mr. Chipelo."

I recently saw the New York production of "The Old Maid," Zoe Atkins' adaptation of an Edith Wharton story which this past week was awarded the Pulitzer Prize as the outstanding play of the year. The production well deserves the award. It is the plight of a woman, lonely and growing old, who dares not claim as her own the illegitimate child that she loves. Stewart Chaney's settings, which are lovely for the period, capture the essence of the play's mood. As the old maid Helen Menken gives an excellent performance. The character of her cousin Della, who usurps, without conscious design, the affections of the illegitimate child is portrayed by Judith Anderson, lovely in appearance and manner.

The Pulitzer Prize novel is now in November by Josephine Johnson. Have you read it?

STARTS SUNDAY AT THE STRAND

Clark Gable, Charles Richman, Constance Bennett in "After Office Hours"

In a lusty comedy-drama of New York society, the press and a murder, Gable is cast as Branch, managing editor who always gets his story though it may mean resorting to the methods of the Northwest Mounted. Constance Bennett is Sharon, the publisher's socialite niece and Branch's society reporter. Richman, smart and independent, it is the kind of role on which the star has built her fame.

Alternating between Park Avenue, Park Row and a boathouse on Long Island Sound, where the murder is committed, the story deals with the attempt of the managing editor to uproot an imminent society scandal. He uses his socialite reporter as a wedge to enter forbidden sanctums, until she scents the ruse and rebels. When the scandal turns into a murder story, realistic drama enters. As Mrs. Nancott, Sharon's mother, Billie Burke is given ample opportunity to play the kind of jittery, absent-minded society matron characterization in which she excels. This feature will appear Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

COURT HAS ADJOURNED

Sixteen Divorces Were Decreed—Results On the Criminal Docket—Term Cost $1300

The May term of Knox County Superior Court finally adjourned yesterday afternoon after a session of nine and one-half days. Many matters were disposed of, under the supervision of the presiding justice, Arthur Chapman of Portland. The cost of the term was $1302, of which amount $700 went to the grand and traverse jurors. In paying off the jurors Clerk of Courts Milton M. Griffin followed his traditional custom of presenting carnations and cigars.

Justice Chapman was the recipient of numerous social attentions, and spoke before service clubs and others organizations. In his younger days he was much interested in athletics and back in 1894 came here with the Portland Athletics to play baseball against Rockland. He and Judge Edward C. Payson were fellow students at Westbrook Seminary, and played in the first prep school football team which ever took place in Maine. He recalls those early days of real sport with much satisfaction. The case of Percy A. Clark vs. Philip J. Couture and Armand Dufresne which was on trial when Thursday's issue went to press, reached the jury at 2 o'clock that afternoon. The 11 men who had listened to the evidence deliberated upon the matter several hours, and late in the afternoon returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $303.

The criminal docket was immediately taken up. H. J. Lindgren of Warren who had appealed from the lower court verdict of guilty withdrew his appeal, and pleaded guilty. He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail, the jail sentence being suspended and Lindgren placed on probation for one year.

George Connors, indicted for escaping from State Prison, where his term would have been completed in a few weeks, pleaded guilty and was given a sentence from one to two years in prison.

John J. Blanchard of Bangor, convicted of passing a worthless check for $24.50 on Thomas Economy, pleaded guilty, and admitted a previous conviction. "Are you sure that's all?" asked Justice Chapman. Eventually Blanchard recalled that he had been thrice convicted before the present case. The fact that he had served overseas was given some weight and he was sentenced to four months in jail.

Wilbur Vasso and Eugene Dow, charged with larceny, were placed on probation for two years. Angela Rizzio of Revere, Mass., and Jesse Haveron of Waldoboro, charged with breaking, entering and larceny, pleaded guilty and were placed on probation for two years.

State vs. Wilbur Vasso, Charles Reynolds and Eugene Dow, all of Rockland for larceny. Each respondent was placed on probation to C. Earle Ludwick, special probation officer, for two years.

State vs. Edwin Lofman of Rockport, driving drunk, entered a plea of guilty and was continued for sentence.

State vs. Charles Arthur Bond of Rockland for illegal possession, Plead guilty. Fine of $100 and costs taxed at $15.68 and serve 60 days in jail. Jail sentence suspended placed on probation one year.

State vs. Emma Lane for illegal possession. Plea guilty. Placed on probation for one year.

State vs. Albert Whitten of Rockland, driving drunk. Plea of guilty. Case continued for sentence.

State vs. Robert Esancy of Washington for perjury, tried before a drawn jury. Chester B. Hall, foreman, verdict not guilty. State vs. Robert Esancy of Washington for perjury was not pressed.

State vs. H. K. Lindgren, for leaving the scene of an accident was not pressed.

Sixteen divorce decrees were signed by Justice Chapman. The list follows:

Theresa O. Dow of Rockport from Lora O. Dow of Camden; cruel and abusive treatment. Montgomery and Gilmor for libelant.

William Shields of Rockport from Susan Shields of Leitrim Upper, Killeel, Ireland; desertion. Roberts for libelant.

George E. Redman of Thomaston from Alice L. Redman of Rockland; desertion. Thompson for libelant.

Charles E. Hendricks, Jr. of North Haven from Lenora Hendricks of Thomaston; cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of Charles E. Hendricks, 3d, minor child, granted to the libelant until the further order of court; mother to have the right to see the child at all reasonable times. Perry for libelant.

William H. Walker of Vinalhaven from Iva May Walker of Portland; desertion. Roberts for libelant.

Margaret A. Spillane of Rockland from John J. Spillane of Brooklyn, N. Y.; extreme cruelty. Custody of John D. minor child, is granted to Margaret A. Spillane until further order of court. Libelee to pay to libelant the sum of $6 a week for support of said child. Smalley for libelant.

Helen G. Carver of Rockland from Guy P. Carver of Lincolnville; cruel and abusive treatment. Libelant is permitted to resume her former name, Helen G. Perry. Perry for libelant.

Annie L. Dickinson of Rockland from Albra H. Dickinson of Portland; cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of Regina Dickinson, minor child, granted to Annie L. Dickinson until further order of court. Libelee to pay to libelant the sum of $4 a week. Smalley for libelant.

Amy F. Piner of Vinalhaven from George G. Piner of parts unknown; cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of Ellen, minor child, is granted to Amy F. Piner until the further order of court. Smalley for libelant.

Sunshine Society will meet Monday afternoon at the Central Maine rooms.

The Courier-Gazette had a welcome call Thursday from L. E. Rolfe of Hope, well known to readers as "The Colonel."

Rockland Lodge, F.A.M., will have a special communication next Tuesday night for work on the Master Mason degree. Supper at 6:30.

The Ramsdell Packing Co. has recently bought two Fairbanks-Morse engines, one installed on the Barbara E. and the other on the Watawah.

E. C. Ingraham has again been engaged as special officer for the summer at Oakland Park. The resort will be under the same management as last season.

Mrs. C. E. Rollins, Albert Dodge, and Lloyd Daniels are members of the cast for "The Bat" which is to be staged by the Penobscot Players in Belfast the latter part of the month.

"We have had a good winter on the coast, after the fall gales were over," writes Frank L. Brown from Coos Bay, Oregon. Mr. Brown is master of U. S. S. Michie, but has been on a sick leave while the ship was in Honolulu. Knox County friends are always interested in hearing from him.

The second play to be given by the Penobscot Players will be "The Bat," by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood. There will be two casts and the play will be given on two nights in Belfast Opera House, the dates to be announced. Miss Adelyn Bushnell and Marshall Bradford will have leads, with Bangor, Rockland, Camden, Bucksport represented in the cast.

The regular meeting of Anderson Camp, Sons of Union Veterans, scheduled for next Wednesday night, will be deferred to Friday night in order that the members may attend the Legion banquet at the Perry store Wednesday evening. It had been announced that the Camp's social activities had closed for the season with the last regular meeting, but there has been such an insistent demand that these meetings will continue.

Workmen are laboring about 20 hours per day getting Perry's Park Street Market in shape for the grand opening Wednesday night. Winslow-Holbrook Post, American Legion, is acting as host for the occasion, and Levi B. Flint is chairman of the committee. Col. Basil H. Stinson, Charles Morton, Oscar Wiseman and Dr. Neil Fogg are to be the committee for receiving and welcoming the distinguished guests. Mayor Thurston has been invited to welcome the Governor and other notables upon their arrival. Supper will be served from 6 to 8, and a ball will follow at Temple hall. Tickets may be obtained from all Legionnaires.

Many times buyers have gone from this city to the New York markets, but seldom has such an experience befell any group as that enjoyed by the quintet which just completed an extended trip in the interest of Fuller-Cobb Inc. In the first place they were buying an all new stock for an all new store, and in addition they were free from the press of time which harrasses the usual buyer. They had time to make an intensive study of style trends and market conditions and to buy to the best possible advantage. They have returned highly pleased with the result, satisfied that they have fulfilled the tradition of the fine old Fuller-Cobb ideal, "the best merchandise, distinctively right."

Ralph Foote of Mystic, Conn., will again be employed at The Samoset for the summer.

Ruth Mayhew Tent D.U.V. meets Monday night, with Mrs. Belle Bowley and Mrs. May Cross in charge of 6 o'clock supper.

Forthcoming flower shows include the Garden Club of Mt. Desert at Bar Harbor, June 18; the Old York Garden Club in York Village, Aug. 7.

The council of administration of the Department of Maine, U.S.W.V. Auxiliary will meet in Legion hall Sunday at 2 p. m. An open department meeting will follow.

Miriam Rebekah Lodge meets Tuesday, with a card party in the afternoon, at 2, with Mrs. Flora Post in charge, supper at 6:15 and the usual evening business session.

Ex-mayor Charles M. Richardson who has been residing at 39 Union street is again occupying his old home on Broadway. Ray Parker who has been occupying the Richardson house is now at 25 Linden street.

The annual State convention of the Maine Federation of Music Clubs is scheduled for June 6-7-8 at the Lafayette Hotel, Portland. On Friday evening there will be an artist recital, by Miss Ruth Posselt, of Medford, Mass., a young violinist. This will be her first Maine appearance.

J. A. Burpee, retired letter carrier, harks back now and then to the old el grass days around the Southend wharves at the Head of the Bay. Days when lobsters and mussels could be picked up along shore by the cartload. Remembers, too, that old stove down on the waterfront where he and Myron Hahn used to bake lobsters and mussels.

It is believed that G. Carl Cassens is the only local winner in the recent Listerine opera contest, which has finally closed after long deliberation over the hundreds of thousands of suggested names which were sent in a deluge of names far exceeding the wildest dreams of the sponsors. Mr. Cassens sent as a suggested name "The Lifted Heart with Hope Restored."

The May Festival given by grade pupils of the local schools Thursday and Friday nights at the High School auditorium for the benefit of the Parent-Teacher Association was pronounced as one of the nicest affairs ever put on by school children. A full house each night indicated that the undertaking was a financial success. A detailed report will appear in a later issue.

Mothers Day was a day of unusual interest in connection with the services of the First Baptist Church; 962 persons attended the several sessions. Charles Wilson of Warren assisted the choir in the special music. He will also be with this church Sunday, being heard in choir and solo numbers. Sunday night special recognition is to be given to the family with the most generations present, child, parent, grandparent, great grandparent, etc. The proud grandparents will be guests. Deep interest has been shown in this special recognition of the different members of the family who have been our special guests during the past four Sunday evenings.

At the meeting of Anderson Camp Auxiliary, Wednesday night an invitation was received from H. G. Staples Auxiliary of Augusta, to both Auxiliary and Camp, to be their guests Saturday night for the 25th anniversary of that body and a reception for Charles Tibbatts, senior vice commander of the Grand Army Republic, Marion McCurdy, chief of staff, and all charter members of the auxiliary. It was voted to hold a public card party May 28, with Mrs. Nellie Achorn in charge. Mrs. Alvena Thompson, Mrs. Doris Ames, and Mrs. Ella Fyfe were named housekeepers for the next meeting. An impressive memorial service was conducted for the deceased sisters and brothers during the past year. There was work on quilts in the afternoon and Mrs. Velma Marsh and Mrs. Mary Jordan were in charge of circle supper.

May 25 the High Schools Girls Glee Club, the High School Orchestra and the School Band go to Bar Harbor to participate in the annual Eastern Maine School Music Festival, in which the club and band won distinctive ratings last year. Confidence is running high that all three organizations, will rank equally as high this year. To make the trip means that around 100 youngsters will have to have transportation. The most expedient way to send them seems to be by bus and to defray the necessary expense a Tag Day will be held this afternoon, accompanied by parades and concerts by the three organizations. The Forty Club has already made a contribution, and the other service clubs and American Legion have signified their intention to assist in some way. So, when approached this afternoon by a bright-eyed lad, or lassie, buy a tag and get behind what are probably the finest musical organizations our schools have had in many years.

Officials of the State Liquor Commission in the city Thursday pronounced the Rockland store the best they had seen.

Winslow-Holbrook Post has elected Col. Basil H. Stinson, Charles W. Schofield, Charles W. Morton and Hector G. Staples as delegates to the State convention, with Howard E. Dunbar, Levi Flint, Austin Brewer and Gerald Margeson as alternates.

At the meeting of Edwin Libby Relief Corps Thursday night plans were made for the annual children's party to take place next Thursday afternoon after school. Each member may invite one child in addition to her own. The patriotic questions were answered by Mrs. Margaret Rackliffe and Mrs. Elizabeth Barton. Anderson Camp, S.U.V. have issued an invitation to the Corps to attend supper and meeting on Friday, May 24. Mrs. Velma Marsh was supper chairman.

The combined chorus of Northfield Seminary and Mount Hermon School students will be heard over the radio Sunday afternoon between 4 and 4:30 in the annual sacred concert of The Northfield Schools. More than 1000 voices will be heard in the larger chorus numbers and the musical program will be introduced with an interpretive reading by President Barbour of Brown University. Among the members of the chorus will be Philip M. Creighton and Robert C. Farris, Jr., of Union, who are students at Mount Hermon School.

The members of the local James W. Williams Post, American Legion and Auxiliary are keenly anticipating the sessions of the annual convention of the Maine Department of the veterans' service organization which will be held June 17, 18 and 19 in Rockland under the auspices of the Winslow-Holbrook Post as host unit. It is probable that practically all Bangor Legionnaires and their wives will be in attendance at the convention and the many enjoyable festivities that will take place in connection with it. Consequently high interest centers locally as well as throughout the State in the extensive plans that have been announced for the great gathering in the seaside community.—Bangor Commercial.

The high ears of Houlton residents would have burned yesterday if they had heard the remarks of Rev. C. E. Brooks with reference to the splendid co-operation and hospitality shown on the occasion of the Maine Methodist Conference held there last week. The streets were gay with illuminations; almost every store displayed some form of greeting and the delegates received splendid entertainments in the homes. The list of appointments shows no changes for Knox County, but Rev. Jesse Kenderdine, formerly of the Rockland church was transferred to Westbrook from Fort Fairfield where he has been the past four years. Rev. Mr. Brooks and party made visits to the Red Apple Camps at Macwahoc, going and coming and were recipients of the well known hospitality of the McGraths.

Steamer Southport, last of the one-time extensive local fleet of Eastern Steamship Co. blew her last doleful farewells shortly after 6 o'clock this morning and plowed her way past Owl's Head for the last time, headed for points south her new home port being Washington, D. C. Charles Lewis went with her as chief engineer and Pearl Warren as mate, positions they will retain during the summer. The final melodious note of the Southport's whistle left a keen pang of nostalgia in many a salty heart, for now all that remains of the once proud fleet, are memories, the handsome Westport, twin of the Southport, the unlucky J. T. Morse, the tall stacked Boothbay, the Catherine and Juliet, the loud voiced Brandon, the Monhegan and the Mineola of tragic memory; all of comparatively recent date. An authentic yarn of these boats and their associations would be joyously welcomed by many readers of this newspaper.

The Grand Army cannon and cannon balls have been dolled up in anticipation of Memorial Day. Now if there should be any outbreak on the Children's Playground it will receive prompt attention.

All roads lead to Grange hall at Glencove Monday evening when the Penobscot Radio Club will hold its benefit radio ball. Woodcock's orchestra will furnish the music. Beano will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded during the dance.

The American Advent Mission Gospel Team will be at the Advent Christian Church, Friendship, May 21-26, with services week nights at 7:30 and Sunday at 10:30 and 7:30, daylight time. Rev. D. L. Campbell is the evangelist and Mrs. Florence Campbell the soloist.

The Mission boat Sunbeam will make a special trip to Cribhaven Sunday forenoon conveying the body of Herman E. Simpson who died in Bangor, and any relatives who may wish to attend. The services will be held at 3 o'clock daylight time.

There will be a special assembly at the High School Wednesday morning at 8:30, the program to feature the High School Girls' Glee Club, the High School Orchestra, and the School Band, in the selections which they will present in the Eastern Maine Music Festival at Bar Harbor on Saturday, May 25. The public is invited.

The best thing Rockland folks have heard over the radio this week is the announcement that Howell Cullinan, former Globe announcer will be back on the air commencing next Monday morning with news bulletins over WEEI at 8:05 a. m., 12:15, 5:55, 6:25 and 11:05 p. m., with emergency bulletins between whites. The news will come from the United Press and Boston Traveler.

Clark Gable and Constance Bennett make a team strong enough to draw any sized motion picture audience. They appear at Strand Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in "After Office Hours." Other feature attractions next week will be: Wednesday and Thursday, Marlene Dietrich in "The Devil is a Woman;" Friday, Richard Barthelmess in "Four Hours to Kill;" Saturday, Ralph Bellamy in "Air Hawks."

The five American Legion Posts in Knox County—Winslow-Holbrook of Rockland, Storers-Collins of Union, Arrey-Heal of Camden, Williams-Brazier of Thomaston and Woodcock-Cassie-Coombs of Vinalhaven—will have a joint meeting in this city next Thursday night to discuss convention plans. The Legionnaires will be addressed by Judge Frank E. Southard of James Fitzgerald Post, Augusta, one of the candidates for department commander.

The Rockland High School four-man golf team defeated Cony High School of Augusta Wednesday by the score of 6 to 0. Young Dicky Harden, R.H.S. golfer, with a snappy 85 for a medal score was low for the day. Dick beat his man 9 up. This boy will be worth watching in future years, if he continues to play the great game. Jim Accardi, Jim Grover and V. Raye also had an easy time putting their man away, before they could make out what was all about. This makes two wins for the boys of the orange and black, and today they are taking on Brunswick at the Rockland Club.

SERMONETTE

The Book We Call Holy

We owe a debt of gratitude to the Semitic races that can never be repaid. For to them mankind owes its knowledge of ancient places and recorded history of the earth's early days. Not only were they keen observers and students but they enriched humanity with the recorded facts. Science by expeditions, digging in the ruins of cities long buried in the dust, is finding how truthful were these first historians. Take the almost universal story of the Flood. At Ur these men of science have found in huge deposits of clay evidence of two civilizations, one superimposed upon the other; one which was wiped out by the flood, and the other which succeeded it in the same spot after the waters receded.

Relics exceeding in artistry the work of the Egyptians lay under this clay deposit; a tablet showing that the list of Sumerian kings in the Bible is correct. Vists have been made to every spot mentioned in the books of Joshua and Judges, and have shown each existed as stated. Data exhumed proves that the date of the destruction of Jericho as told in the Bible stories is correct.

Further, we owe our first knowledge of a true God to these primitive people. Hitler cannot make men forget this debt.

William A. Holman.

Rev. John Smith Lowe, D.D., at the Universalist Church, at 10:45 Sunday will have as the subject of his sermon "Living By Rule and By Rote." The quartet will sing two anthems. Church school meets at noon and Y.P.C.U. at 6:30.

At First Church of Christ, Scientist, corner of Cedar and Brewster streets, Sunday services are at 10:30 and the subject of the Lesson-Sermon tomorrow will be "Mortals and Immortals." Sunday School is at 11:45. Wednesday evening testimony meeting is at 7:30. The reading room is located at 400 Main street, and is open week days from 2 until 5 p. m.

At St. Peter's Church (Episcopal), Rev. E. O. Kenyon, rector, the services for tomorrow will be appropriate for the Fourth Sunday after Easter: Holy Communion at 7:30; church school at 9:30; Choral Eucharist and sermon at 10:30; vespers at 5 p. m. Week day services. Daily vespers at 5 p. m. except Saturday at 7:30. Holy Communion at 7 a. m. Wednesday and Friday.

The Congregational Church begins the day's program with the Sunday school at 9:30 under the direction of Joseph E. Blaisdell. Public worship begins at 10:30 and the sermon by the pastor will be on "The Image of God." The Berean Class of adults studying systematic religious belief will meet at 11:45. Comrades of the Way will meet at 7:30 and the discussion of Christian attitudes toward young people's problems will be on "Liquor in the State of Maine."

At the Littlefield Memorial Church at 10:30 Rev. John L. Quigg's subject will be "Solution for Present Day Needs" and the music will include a solo by Mrs. Christine Dornan and a duet by Norman Crockett and Frank Gregory. There will be a sermonette for the children. Church school will meet at 11:45; intermediate Christian Endeavor at 5:15, leaders, Jane Sawyer and Lunetta Gray; senior Christian Endeavor at 6:15, leader, Miss Vivian Chaples; praise and preaching service at 7:15, the subject of the sermon will be "Considering Your Life." There will be selections by the orchestra of the Rockport Baptist Church. Prayer meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30. The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. Maggie Farnham Wednesday evening.

Services at the Pratt Memorial Methodist Church on Sunday will be as follows: 9:30 a. m., the Friendly Men's Bible Class; 10:30, morning worship with reception of members and Lord's Supper, the pastor, Rev. Charles E. Brooks, who has been re-assigned to this church for another year, will be in charge; 12, church school; 6:30, Epworth League devotional service; 7:30, evening worship featuring a special Mothers Day program held over from a week ago. ## "TIME OUT OF MIND"

A Saga of Maine As Narrated By Popular Story Writer, Rachel Field

An inquiry comes from Interlachen, Fla.: "Will you tell in your book column what you know of Rachel Field and her 'Time Out of Mind'?" To Macmillan Company we are indebted to much information concerning this gifted writer whom Maine claims although she was born in New York.

RACHEL FIELD
author of "Time Out of Mind"

Miss Field for many years was known as one of the most popular American story writers for young people of many ages. Her prose stories have always been enjoyed by a double audience. The morals humorously implied in "Eliza and the Elves"; the sedate and sagacious side of "Hitty"; the historic detail of "Calico Bush"; the emotional analysis of "Hepatica Hawks"; the old English background of "Little Dog Tobey"; the New York atmosphere of "Just Across the Street"; all these drew praise from adults, while younger readers loved their adventurous pages.

Her poetry, however, has been more sharply divided. "The Pointed People" was the children's own, and "Points East", a kind of story telling in poetry definitely for those at least over fifteen. "Branches Green" struck a new note. It contained poetry written not for the purpose of pleasing young people, and therefore has found for itself a double audience of older children who are appreciative of poetry and adults. Not so long ago Miss Field proved her versatility in the direction of writing, by producing an adult novel, "God's Pocket," as fascinating a piece of biography as has ever come out of the Maine background.

Rachel Field was born in New York. Her family moved to Springfield, Mass., where she attended the public schools, later going to Radcliffe College for special courses in literature and composition. During the last two years there she became a member of Prof. Baker's "47 Workshop," a playwriting course where the students wrote and produced their own plays. That marked the beginning of her play writing career. After that she tried her hand at poetry, "The Pointed People" being the first published venture and everything else followed in due course.

Miss Field says of herself: "From the year I was 15, I have been going each summer to a small beautiful wooded island off the coast of Maine, and I suppose that it, more than any one thing in my life has helped me with my writing. For it means roots and background to me. It creeps into nearly everything I write and I never want to be anywhere else when summer comes around. Many of my verses in 'The Pointed People' were written there; and much of 'Hitty' and all of 'Calico Bush' has that coast of Maine setting."

Miss Field spends her summers in Maine and her winters in New York and Connecticut. Trotty, her dog, is one of her constant, worthy companions.

Referring to "Time Out of Mind", here is what Miss Field herself has to say:

"In thinking over what I could say of myself and why and how 'Time Out of Mind' came to be written, I was surprised to discover a series of queer paradoxes. I wish I could say that I had been born on a sailing vessel on a voyage round the Horn instead of in a brownstone-front within two blocks of the Grand Central station. I would like to think that my infant eyes saw salt water and the bristling spruces of the Maine coast, but it must be admitted that they peered from a carriage trundled in the brown square of Bryant Park.

"The coast of Maine did not burst upon me till I was 15. I often wonder if that may not be the reason its dark, jagged shores and wooded islands made such lasting impressions on my adolescent emotions.

"The big white houses that prosperous captains and shipbuilders set up to overlook Penobscot Bay and the harbors always stirred me to wonder at the lost era they represented. And so I suppose I was bound some day to do a book about just such a house and the people who lived in it. It must have been more than a dozen years ago that the characters of Kate and Nat and Rissa came into my mind, and they stayed there in the back of it all through the time I was trying to write other things, plays which never reached Broadway (a far cry from the coast of Maine!), verse, and later the books for children.

"Ironically enough, I wrote the New York chapters of 'Time Out of Mind' last September under Maine spruces within sound of the sea and the Line Storm beating on the roof, and many of the parts that had most to do with sea and woods were written here in New York, with the clock in the Gas Company's tower telling me the hours. It was no more difficult to write of berries and moss and apples here than there.

"I never went to a ship launching. The echo of hammers on wooden timber has come to me second-hand, through the words of older people whose ears have actually heard them. I cannot boast sea-captain ancestors, yet here I am writing of the passing of those days of prosperity. One never knows how it will be, especially if one happens to be merely a 'poor ignorant author' to borrow a pet phrase from 'Copey' of Harvard."

In the April 7th New York Herald Tribune "Books" "Time Out of Mind" was reviewed by Robert P. Tristram Coffin, whose "Portrait of an American" and "Lost Paradise" belong to the saga of which he speaks. It is grandly written and if only space permitted entire re-print! Dr. Coffin says, in part:

"It is refreshing to read a book in the year 1935 that leaves one vibrating as one vibrates after reading a saga. It is an event that a sage can happen this late in the form of a novel. Rachel Field's 'Time Out of Mind' is such an event. This story of Maine is full of the ancient literary absolutes. Though we are a young nation, we have been having a feast lately of books built out of our national past which have the primitive and fundamental designs that would look well in an epic.

No Flies On These Circus Performers

"Don't bother to scratch my back," says the camel. And his sentiments are echoed by the zebras, polar bears, and other animal stars of Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus. For they all get regular treatments with Gulf Livestock Spray. Animal trainers connected with "the greatest show on earth" are so delighted with the spray as a killer and repellent of insects that they are using it for their own comfort in their dining quarters.

NORTH HAVEN

This town salutes the Steamer W. S. White and wishes for it a long career of safety and prosperity as it plies its course among the islands of Penobscot Bay. The steamer made a fine appearance when it steamed into the Thoroughfare on its initial trip Monday afternoon. Flugs were flying and on everyone's lips were exclamations of pleasure as under the skilful guidance of Capt. Roscoe Kent the "W. S. White" glided gracefully to the wharf. The name "W. S. White" could not have been better chosen, for the man who did so much to maintain this steamer service deserves a memorial honor. The old sails unite in saying "She's the appearance of a good boat." For this steamer, and a service that promises to supply the loss of the Eastern Steamship trips this town joins with other island communities in appreciation and heartfelt congratulations to Col. Basil H. Stinson.

Two items in last Saturday's issue of a Portland paper were of special interest to this community. They were the announcement of scholastic honors to two local boys, Rev. John A. Alexander who is completing this year a graduate course at Yale Divinity School of New Haven has been awarded a Sterling fellowship one of the leading awards. Gerald G. Beverage, a junior at the U. of M., is one of 12 to be elected to Tau Beta Pi, the national honorary engineering fraternity. The award is made on the basis of scholarship, breadth of interest, and unselfish activity. Election in one's junior year is of special merit. Congratulations are extended these men, their friends and the high school where they received their secondary training.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beverage with their children Arthur and Grace spent the weekend at Dover-Foxcroft. Mrs. Beverage's home town. Bion Anderson accompanied them. They returned home Monday with the distinction of being among those to cross the bay in the new steamer, on its initial trip.

Friends of Carl Thurston are glad to learn of his transfer from East St. Louis to Wilmington, Del., and his promotion to foreman in the General Chemical Company.

Harland Gregory recently made a trip to Dover-Foxcroft.

Raymond Morrison, with sons Foster and Harold and daughter Greta, left Tuesday for Calais. During the winter Mr. Morrison's mother died at an advanced age and the remains are being taken to Calais for burial.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mills and family have moved to their summer home at Crabtree Point. Mrs. Mills' mother, Mrs. Gowell, will pass the season with them.

Church services Sunday are: Worship with sermon by the pastor at 11 o'clock, "The Reed that became a Rock," Sunday school at 10; Young people meet at 6:30; evening service of song and brief address by the pastor at 7:30. It is hoped attendance may be increased during the spring season.

Mr. and Mrs. George Beverage are occupying the Mills' residence at the village for the summer.

Mrs. Ella Waterman and daughter Mrs. Carl Lamson and Mr. Lamson were visitors in town Sunday afternoon. This community is very dear to Mrs. Waterman as her birthplace was at "Iron Point," which was also the childhood home of her daughter Mrs. Lamson. Before taking the plane for Rockland Sunday they were guests of Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Huse, and visited several places on the island, renewing old associations and meeting many friends. Their present home is in Norwood, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Lamson have travelled extensively in Europe, South America, Mexico, Cuba, and all over this country. They arrived in Vinalhaven last week to attend the funeral of Fred A. Young, brother of Mrs. Waterman.

MEET THE NEW CHAMPIONS

FEMCO JOHANNA BESS FAYNE of Femco Farms at Breckenridge, Minn., is the new champion butter producing cow of the United States and the only cow in the world that ever made two one-year records of more than 1500 pounds of butter. This nine-year-old pure bred Holstein, an aristocrat of the dairy world, has just completed a record of 1,525.5 pounds of butter and 32,721.1 pounds of milk in 365 days. Two years ago, she made a record of 1,510.6 pounds of butter and 33,649.8 of milk. Bess Fayne thus has twice won a place in the small group of famous cows that have produced over 1500 pounds. Femco Farms is owned by Frederick E. Murphy, publisher of The Minneapolis Tribune.

PRINCE OF HOLSTEIN WORLD—Femco Royal, one-year-old son of Femco Johanna Bess Fayne, the new champion butter producing cow, is a Femco Farms Holstein that is royal in blood as well as in name. He is the only Holstein bull whose two nearest dams have 1500 pound records, meaning that both his mother and his sire's dam have produced more than three-fourths of a ton of butter each in 365 days. Femco Royal is the son of Sir Inka May, one of the greatest Holstein bulls of all time and himself the son of the famous May Walker Ollie Homestead, former United States champion butter cow, with a record of 1,523.2 pounds. May Walker was another Femco Farms Holstein.

LINCOLN BAPTISTS

Addresses By Revs. MacDonald and Cassens Featured Annual Session

About 100 delegates assembled at the 131st annual session of Lincoln Baptist Association at Appleton.

The missionary guest speaker, Rev. J. A. Cope of Burmah, was especially interesting, and presented the results of working among the Chin Hills in such a manner as to make one see the worth-whileness of our sacrificial missionary efforts and to spur us on to greater zeal in the future.

A visiting clergyman, Rev. Franklin Keelwetter of Princeton, Me., led the morning devotions, and Mr. Keelwetter, Chester Wyllie and Kenneth H. Cassens of Monticello, sang solos during the day, while Mr. Cassens presided at the organ.

The work of the State was presented by the Executive Secretary, Rev. J. S. Pendleton, who said that the present year was, on the whole, one of encouragement, and we are looking forward with hope and faith.

Rev. F. K. Knollin gave an interesting address on "Adult Religious Education," stressing the conditions and needs of the three stages of adult life. Those just entering adult life, whose problems are those of the hard lean years of getting started, need all the help the church can give. And for those of later years, and those approaching old age the only antidote is the Christian religion.

Rev. J. C. MacDonald brought a stirring message based on the text "For they lived the praise of men more than the praise of God." This is one of the most dangerous tendencies of today, said the speaker. The spirit of advertising is today so prominent that we find ourselves more often thinking of the applause of men than of the Father's business. The church, if it is to do God's work, must rid itself of this tendency. Self, the world, and the devil will tell us it pays to get the praise of men, but many have proved that fame is a bubble soon burst. It is up to the preachers to bring men back to consciousness of God, so they will listen to God's voice.

This love of the praise of men is not only a dangerous tendency in the political and church life, but in the home life. Satan often uses the pride of parents to pervert children spiritually. The broad road is crowded, but it does not lead to God.

Often a minister has a great desire to be popular with a certain group of people than to be popular with God, and is afraid to preach what he believes. Many Christians are afraid to stand out for God. Worldliness has come into the church, until the church is helpless and useless. The place of the church is in the world, but the place of the world is not in the church. It is for us Christians to so live and proclaim, that men will see "the Lamb of God who taketh away the sin of the world."

Many are not Christians because they are afraid of what their associates will say. Some day we must meet God, and then what He thinks about us will count, not what the crowd thinks.

Rev. K. H. Cassens, speaking of the two brothers, John and James, and their Lord, said: These men were capable of assimilating new ideas. They had a duty to their father, yet recognized the superior opportunity in the call of Jesus, and followed him in deepest intimacy. The Christian education of these two men followed the same course, and we would naturally think they would do the same work, but James was cut off, slain by Herod, while John went on to long service for His Lord.

We are not told much about James; he wrote no word of Scripture. In character, both were zealous, even to the destruction of those who opposed; John wanted to overcome enemies with fire. Later in life he wrote of overcoming with love. They were anxious their Lord should be exalted, as long as they too were exalted. They were ambitious, asked to share their Lord's glory; and He promised them tribulation and distress, but not despair. What changed this man John from an over zealous, over ambitious apostle, to an apostle of love?

We ask the question—did John think more of his brother James than of any other except Jesus? Was his heart filled with a desire of revenge against Herod, who had killed this loved brother? It may have been so, and perhaps in the death of James, God showed him that he must go on to do the work of both, that God's purpose must be fulfilled. Perhaps John would not have learned the great lesson of the love of God, had not the Father taken James. So may he have learned that love is stronger than revenge, and we have his wonderful letter on Christian love. One brother slain for the glory of God, that the other might do great things for his Lord. May we so follow our Lord, guided by the Holy Spirit, and learn the lesson that God sometimes wounds in love, to lead us on to greater things for Him.

These officers were elected: Moderator, Rev. H. A. Welch, Warren; vice moderator, Rev. Louis E. Watson,

Modern Machines Fill and Cap A Hundred Bottles a Minute

ABOVE: These machines can fill and cap 200,000 milk bottles a day, but their working "day" is at night—so the milk will be fresh on the city's doorsteps each morning. LEFT: Sanitary hood cap ready for automatic wire fastener. These large scale operations reduce unit costs and make possible a supply of fresh bottled milk for millions of city consumers.

Appleton; clerk and treasurer, Mrs. Lois P. Cassens, Rockland; auditor, E. J. Morey, Rockland.

These resolutions were adopted:

"That we urge the churches of our Association to emphasize the importance of a soul winning campaign during the coming year, and that we accept the challenge of the sermon preached by Brother MacDonald at this session of the association, and seek to be approved by God, instead of by man."

"That we commend the work of Miss Margaret McKnight being done in the Knox County Rural Religious Education Association, and we recommend that similar work be extended into the remotest sections of our association."

"That we continue to uphold the principle of legal prohibition of the liquor traffic in nation, State and community, and stand for the earnest teaching of temperance principles in our Sunday schools."

"That we extend our thanks to the entertaining church, and to the Odd Fellows for the use of their hall, and for the janitor service, and to Kenneth H. Cassens, who has kindly presided at the organ during the entire session."

Lois P. Cassens, Clerk.

SPRUCE HEAD

Mrs. Millicent Randall gave a delightful party Thursday afternoon for her young daughter, Mildred, in observance of her third birthday. Pink streamers from the ceiling to a favor at each place formed the decorative scheme. The birthday cake, a most attractive creation, was a major feature of the pleasant afternoon. Miss Thelma Freeman assisted Mrs. Randall.

Walter Drinkwater, Jr. entertained several young friends on his sixth birthday, May 10, with a party given at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Raymond Rackliff. The decorations were green and pink, and the table was attractively arranged with a huge May-basket as centerpiece from which favors were drawn by means of streamers. A daintily adorned birthday cake made by Mrs. Ruth Randall was the center of attraction, with ice cream its welcome counterpart. Walter received a variety of presents, among them a large toy motor boat that goes under its own power. Games during the afternoon amused the young guests who were Kenneth Drinkwater, Irene Barnes, Irene Rackliff, Jackie Kelley, Margaret, Jean and Cecil Elwell, June Mann, Norman Drinkwater, Jr., Donald Bend, Billy Batty and Elbert Burton. Mrs. Jasper Rackliff was assisted by Mrs. Jasper Drinkwater and Mrs. Norman Drinkwater.

ROCKLAND PASTOR SPOKE

Rev. J. C. MacDonald Takes Part In the 75th Anniversary of Lewiston Church

The Court Street Baptist Church in Lewiston has been celebrating its 75th anniversary, and among the speakers was Rev. J. C. MacDonald of Rockland, who was a former pastor of the Lewiston church.

Mr. MacDonald took for his theme, "What Is Better Than Happiness?" Happiness, he said, is certainly not to be found in pleasure, position, or prosperity, where many people look for it.

He believed the answer to the question is to be found in the writings of Paul, while in prison, to the churches in Philippi and Corinth, wherein is described the joy of the martyrs even while enduring persecution and torture. It transcended the fleeting pleasure found in earthly possessions, and Mr. MacDonald believes it possible, to acquire today something of the spirit which lighted the faithful souls, facing death in the Roman arena, until their persecutors thought they saw the faces of angels.

UNIFORM CLOSING HOURS

Must Be Observed By Establishments Which Hold Liquor Licenses

Uniform closing hours for the serving of beer and spirituous liquors by the 1,800 retail beer licensees in Maine and the 28 hotels and clubs holding licenses to serve liquor is announced by John P. Carey of Bath, attorney for the commission. The new regulation went into effect today for the duration of daylight saving time.

They were adopted by the commission as the result of requests by town and city officials for a uniform closing hour. Mr. Carey said.

In municipalities observing daylight saving time restaurant proprietors must cease dispensing beer at midnight, hotels must stop selling liquors at 11:30 o'clock and clubs can sell no spirituous drinks after midnight. In municipalities where standard time is observed, beer cannot be sold after 11 p. m. Hotels selling spirituous drinks all are located in towns and cities which are on daylight time.

TENANT'S HARBOR

A one dollar bill has been received at this newspaper office by mail from Tenant's Harbor in payment of subscription, with name of sender not given. Will sender please write the office.

Mrs. Clarence Freeman has returned home after spending a few days with her daughter Mrs. Charles Stackpole in Bath.

Mrs. Albion Wotton and son of Friendship were callers Sunday on Mrs. Clarence Freeman.

SOUTH HOPE

Funeral services for Delmar Howland were held at his home at South Hope Thursday at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Holman officiating. Bearers were Wilbert Taylor, Ralph Robbins, Will Wellman, Charles Childs. Interment was in East Union cemetery.

GEORGIA DRY

Dry 27 years, Georgia voted down the return of liquor by the slim margin of 90 votes, on the basis of unofficial returns from Wednesday's referendum. It was indicated, however, an official tabulation will be necessary before the question can be settled.

Tanning his hide daily is good for the child if done by the sun, not father; and if the tan is applied very gradually. Severe sunburns are dangerous to health.

Stomach worms and other internal parasites of domestic animals may be controlled and serious trouble may be prevented through pasture rotation and medicinal treatment.

MAINE SCHOOL OF COMMERCE

(By Jon Forbes)

Director Lena K. Sargent and Principal Caston attended the superintendent's and principal's conference at the State House.

Wonder of wonders! Forbes passed in his shorthand transcription! Some have applied the "heat" to arouse him.

Mrs. Georgia Lincoln of the accounting department entertained Mrs. Sargent at her home in Readfield Sunday.

Betting! Yes, on races but not on horses maybe. Upon their lowly cousin, anyway the "critter," stumbled over a hurdle obstacle or what have you about the middle of the race and according to reports he is still in that vicinity. The Jockey did her best to urge him on but to no avail. So she lost.

Principal Caston made a good-will tour of high schools in the vicinity of Portland. Among the schools visited were: Westbrook, Gorham, Standish, Cornish, Kezar Falls, Parsonsfield Seminary, Waterboro, Alfred, Falmouth, Yarmouth, Lime-riek, Freeport, Buxton, Bar Mills, Brunswick, Bowdoinham, Richmond and Gardiner.

Only four weeks of school left, for the students of this school. To some it will be a relief to be free from the studies and cares that go with school life, but to others it will be a sorrow not to continue the studies. I am sure that all of us will miss the familiar faces that adorn the rooms and voices that ring merrily throughout the school.

The students of the accounting and finance department took their Civil Service exam Wednesday. Two of the "victims" were suffering from loss of sleep which didn't make the questions any softer. Although the results are known by the individuals no authentic knowledge will be given out for at least 60 days. We are all praying for miracles.

GARDEN LOVERS AH-OY!

Attractive Spring Plant Sale Is To Take Place the Following Week

The spring Plant Sale sponsored by a committee from the Rockland Garden Club will be held at the Hospital Gardens on Limerock street Thursday, May 23, or if stormy, then the next day. The time is 1:30 p. m., sale continuing through the afternoon. All members of the club, and others who will be so kind, are urged to donate plants from their gardens for this worthy cause. Telephone Mrs. George W. Smith (487-J) before 10 a. m. Thursday, if the plants are to be called for. The attractive garden to which the ladies have donated their time and plants to produce, is a great improvement to that part of the city and in particular a delight to Knox Hospital patients.

ROBERT R. LUDWICK

Failing health, which had been coming on apace, terminated this morning in the death of Robert R. Ludwick, a well known resident of Oliver street. The end came at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ariel Linscott, in Washington.

The deceased was born in Liberty, Sept. 6, 1849. He attended school at Liberty Academy and taught school several terms after his graduation. He then went to Massachusetts and learned the carpenter's trade, at which he worked during the last 30 years of his active career for the W. H. Glover Co., retiring about six years ago. He became an expert at his vocation and had been in charge of numerous jobs for which the Glovers contracted, here and in neighboring towns. The most important task in which he was engaged was the construction of Syndicate block, now being remodeled by its new owners, R. Anson Crie and Kelley B. Crie.

Mr. Ludwick was much interested in the development of his home city and its civic welfare, and had served one term (1911) in the Common Council. He had also been a trustee of Pratt Memorial M. E. Church, Genial, painstaking and efficient, he won everybody's esteem.

Mr. Ludwick is survived by his wife, who was formerly Annie A. Leighton of Southwest Harbor; and four of their five children—Mrs. Ariel Linscott of Washington; Mrs. F. E. Poland of Malden, Mass.; Mrs. H. L. Dow of Rockland, and Sheriff C. Earle Ludwick of Rockland.

Private funeral services will be held at 61 Oliver street Monday at 1 p. m., Rev. C. E. Brooks officiating. Interment will be in Achorn cemetery.

S.S.S. Club met Wednesday evening with Miss Victoria Curry. The meeting of last week was a belated birthday party for Miss Evelyn Morse, given by Mrs. Alton Brown.

Mrs. Joseph Blaisdell's Sunday School class will meet tonight at the home of Miss Dorothy Frost.

Mrs. Everett Munsey who has been a patient at Knox Hospital has returned home.

Junior Harmony Club will meet Wednesday at 7 at the home of Mrs. Faith G. Berry. The club has been invited to give the address of response at the Maine Federation of Music Clubs' convention, Junior Day, in Portland, on June 8. Miss Dorothy Frost, president, will make the address.

Mrs. Ella P. Grimes who has been in New York and Boston since her winter sojourn in St. Petersburg returned home Wednesday, and is preparing her cottage at Crescent Beach for the season.

Mrs. Walter Spear who has been a patient at Knox Hospital has returned to her home on Rankin street.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Thrift of Winchester, Mass., announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Margaret Leonore Thrift to Hall Benton Gamage. Miss Thrift is a graduate of Lasell Seminary. Mr. Gamage, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Gamage of 7 Beacon street, Winchester, attended the Huntington School, and is associated in business with his father in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Smalley entertained Justice Arthur Chapman and Court Stenographer Fred Hayden at their new cottage, Ginn's Point.

Mrs. Helen Curtis went to Portland Friday, where she will spend a few days with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maurer who have been spending the winter in Appleton, have returned home.

Mrs. Agnes Collett is sponsoring a public beano party for the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars next Tuesday at V.F.W. hall. Play will start at 7:30. Refreshments.

Foresters say, "before selling, consult neighbors who have sold timber and benefit from their experience. Get a reliable estimate of the amount and value of the timber you have for sale."

At The High School

(By the Pupils)

Not allowing the Alumni to carry off all the honors which they did last week when presenting the National Music Week program, the four classes combined their talents in this week's assembly, Tuesday, and put on a miscellaneous stunt program, under the direction of Mrs. Hopkins. Mr. McCarty and Miss deRochemont. The seniors presented Rose Flanagan and Howard Crockett in a duet, "Silent as Night," with Mrs. Hopkins accompanying. Both artists have contributed generously of time and talent during their four years and hold an enviable position in the school. The blending of their voices and the sympathy with which they sang promise much for their future.

The second number, a reading, "Why Men Propose," by Edwin Edwards, youngest member of the senior class, was of special interest, since it was with this selection he won first place in the recent statewide Spear Speaking Contest.

Dorothy Brewer and Helen Whitmore represented the freshman class, the former with a clever tap dance and the latter in a Polish folk dance.

An original amateur radio program, heard in the living room of Priscilla Robinson and Edward Peaselee, was the contribution of the sophomores. In it appeared Marion Harvey with a trumpet solo, "Fantasie Brillante," several poems by Eleanor Look who took the part of a "tearful child atired in pink," a song by Mary Havener and chorus, and even the reading of recipes. The witty remarks and introductions of the announcer kept the student body in laughter, for no point of a real broadcast was left untouched.

The concluding number was given by the juniors with Margaret Duntun as soloist, followed by a singing and dancing chorus, a number which called for an encore. Nancy Snow led the devotional exercises and Donald Marriner was chairman of this assembly.

The baseball team is playing at Vinhaven today.

The Junior High tracksters are out to take on the freshmen in a dual meet Saturday morning. The intense rivalry between these two classes has been carried over from last winter's basketball season. The events to be run at Community Park and the high school grounds are 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard run, broad jump, high jump, pole vault, discus throw, javelin and hammer throw.

Hola! Spanish notebook which would interest any reader of art, travel, history, or geography have been made by Mrs. Hopkins' first year Spanish class. These books, either hand written or typewritten, have interesting accounts of the cities of Spain, the castles, beaches, harbors, recreations, government, and customs, with highly colored illustrations of the cathedrals, the gypsy dancers, the senoritas, and of course Gibraltar. Outstanding work has been done by Albert Graves, Ruth Rogers, Elmer Newman, Winifred Stanley, Bryan Roy, Dominic Cuccinello, Dorothy Munro, Shirley Stickney, Margaret Ellis, Marjorie Sleeper, Helen Winch- enbaugh, and Flora Hooper.

A parade of the band, glee club, and orchestra members who plan to represent this school at the Eastern Maine Music Festival at Bar Harbor on May 25 will start this afternoon at 1:45, and in this way they hope to solicit prompt and generous cooperation in the matter of transportation about which there is now some question. They bespeak the valuable assistance of friends having private cars who are willing to take a group of boys and girls on this trip and by so doing help greatly in maintaining and extending the music education program offered by this school.

Harold Higgins, instructor of commercial subjects at Thomaston High, visited in the commercial department Tuesday.

A class in soft ball instruction was held Monday, with Mr. Sezak instructing, with a large group of enthusiastic girls attending. The dates for the tournament are: Seniors vs. sophomores, May 27; juniors vs. freshmen, May 28; finals, Wednesday, May 29.

A demonstration and talk on typewriting was given in the advanced typewriting class Thursday morning by L. C. Cummins, manager of Boston office of the Gregg Publishing Company. Having had over 20 years of experience in teaching this subject, Mr. Cummins was able to touch upon some very practical and salient points regarding incorrect habits, rhythm and the importance of accuracy. Mr. Cummins, in his demonstration, wrote with apparent ease at the rate of 120 words a minute.

Although the Spring Festival was given by the grade pupils, the High School has been able to cooperate in this worthwhile project in several ways. During the week, study halls have been conducted in the gym, and the Junior High assembly was postponed so that rehearsals for the festival might take place in the auditorium. Tickets for the affair have been in charge of Miss deRochemont, with student assistants, and the programs used both evenings were made by the commercial department.

Margaret Pendleton, salutatorian of the graduating class, has been secretary to Principal Blaisdell this week.

Handbills were designed by Howard Crockett Wednesday for the Rockland Camden baseball game that afternoon, which fact probably accounted for the close but satisfactory score of 3-2.

In one of the 39 superb national color photographs of "Pine-Scented Harbor-Dented Maine" by A. Anthony Stewart and Robert F. Maxey which picture the natural beauties and everyday life of Maine, in the May issue of the National Geographic magazine, may be seen five familiar figures—Margaret Duntun, Rose Flanagan, Virginia Leach, Ted Ladd, and Constance Knickerbocker. The picture is titled "Camden's charm begins at its inner harbor," and carries these descriptions: "The old town, on the inlet of Penobscot Bay, was one of the first to register dissatisfaction with England's policies, and took its name from Lord Camden, who in Parliament vigorously defended the Colonies." The photograph, taken at the Bok Amphitheatre last August shows the group in the foreground, and the inner harbor in the distance, and is one of the many that well illustrates a 10,000-word narrative, "Maine, The Outpost State," by George Otis Smith.

Also included in a folder, "Maine," published by the Maine Development Commission at Augusta, there appears two more pictures of this group, including Marion Ginn, Donna deRochemont, and Mr. Sezak. These photographs are entitled "Amphitheatre at the Camden Library," and "Camden Harbor from the Library Grounds." So it would seem that the High School is well represented in the new pictorial survey of the State.

A parade of the band, glee club, and orchestra members who plan to represent this school at the Eastern Maine Music Festival at Bar Harbor on May 25 will start this afternoon at 1:45, and in this way they hope to solicit prompt and generous cooperation in the matter of transportation about which there is now some question. They bespeak the valuable assistance of friends having private cars who are willing to take a group of boys and girls on this trip and by so doing help greatly in maintaining and extending the music education program offered by this school.

Members of the Caesar class have turned "cartographers" this week, and have drawn maps of modern Europe, in colors, with which they are comparing maps of the same continent at time of Caesar. They have mapped the recent significant changes in national boundaries and sovereignties, and no less than 80 cities. These maps, made with the idea of better understanding the affairs of Caesar, also have helped to bring up-to-date the knowledge of European geography.

The Senior High assembly will be held Wednesday next week instead of Tuesday, as usual. A program will be presented by the three musical units who are going to the Music Festival two weeks from today. Parents and friends are cordially invited to hear this program under the direction of Mrs. Rogers, Mr. Libby, and Mr. Kirkpatrick.

CAMDEN

Miss Doris Sylvester is a surgical patient at Knox Hospital.

Eugene Shaw is on a vacation from duties as clerk at the Boynton-McKay Pharmacy and with Mrs. Shaw and child, is visiting relatives in Pittsfield.

The Woman's Baptist Mission Circle will meet next Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. C. Fish, Pearl street.

Regular meeting of Malden Cliff Rebekah Lodge will be Wednesday evening and the degree conferred on a class of candidates.

A special delivery letter received Friday morning announced that Mrs. Eva Briand had arrived safely in Boston. Search had been in progress for Mrs. Briand since Wednesday afternoon when she suddenly left the home of Ralph Merrill of New York city where she had been employed as a cook. It was feared she had met with an accident, as it was thought she had gone in search of Mayflowers. A crew of firemen and volunteers under the direction of Chief Allen Payson had searched day and night and the letter brought relief to the tired workers.

A. T. Newhall, Charles Nash and Frank Nash were in an auto accident in Rockland, Thursday night. All were quite badly shaken up and Mr. Newhall sustained several cuts. The auto was a wreck.

The Philathea Class held a covered dish supper at the church parlors Friday evening. This was the last meeting before the summer recess. Mrs. Arlette Good gave an account of her recent Mediterranean trip.

Regular meeting of Amity Lodge, F.&A.M., was held last evening. There will be a public whist party at Megunticook Grange hall this evening, with refreshments and prizes.

Mrs. W. F. Winslow, Megunticook street, entertained the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society Friday afternoon.

Mrs. A. T. Newhall is in Portland where she will visit Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pooler. She was accompanied by Dicky Pooler who has been her guest for a few weeks.

Comique Theatre attractions: Monday and Tuesday, "Gold Diggers of 1935;" Wednesday and Thursday, "Ruggles of Red Gap;" Saturday, May 25, "The Bride of Frankenstein."

An important meeting under the direction of the Auxiliary of the Sons of Union Veterans will be held at Megunticook Grange Hall next Friday night in honor of Civil War veterans. Public exercises will be held after the business meeting, starting at near 8:15 daylight time, as possible. Grangers and school pupils are invited, with their friends.

Civic League Seeks Abolition Of "Existing Conditions Throughout State"

An attack on Maine's present liquor set-up was launched Tuesday by Rev. Frederick W. Smith, superintendent of the Maine Christian Civic League. He told the Maine Methodist Conference, in session at Houlton, that the league would seek abolition of existing conditions through the local option clause to be voted on in the September, 1936, elections. He said a drive will be concentrated in areas now supporting state liquor stores and later it would be extended into every town which licensed beer establishments.

OTHER REASONS

For several weeks we have been telling you why this is a good place for your savings. Here are other reasons:

SIXTH Our system of monthly payments makes you punctual and thrifty. You soon get used to the monthly call and your interest in the matter increases with the growing of your savings.

SEVENTH The business is co-operative. There are no bonds or preferred stock. At the end of each six months, after paying necessary running expenses, and providing for a Guaranty Fund, the balance is credited as dividends to the shareholders.

EIGHTH Dividends are generous and are compounded semi-annually. We have been in business forty-five years and they have never been less than 4 per cent.

Realm of Music

By Gladys St. Clair Morgan

SHE SINGS AT AUGUSTA MONDAY NIGHT

An announcement carrying high interest to local music lovers is that, petite Helen Yorke, "The Maine Song Bird," fresh from a long series of Italian operatic triumphs, is soon to make a concert tour of the principal cities of her native State for the benefit of various charities. By "local interest" is meant those who have heard Miss Yorke in Maine Music Festivals in the past when she was in her very early youth, and who have followed her career with the peculiar pride which Maine people take in the achievements of their own. Her first appearance will be in Augusta, Monday night, May 20. She will be assisted by the great Scotch baritone, Robert Kelso-Campbell of the London Royal Opera, and the eminent pianist, Maurice LaFarge of the National Conservatory of Music. Their program will be made up of selections from grand opera and the lighter classics.

Before going to Italy, Miss Yorke created high favor throughout this section of the country as a recital artist. In Italy she acquired such popularity that she was engaged to sing 122 performances in Naples, Palermo, Bari and other Southern Italian cities, in three seasons. She scored a particular success singing "Rosina" in "The Barber of Seville," giving 50 performances of that opera alone during her last two years abroad. Between the Italian seasons she made two extensive concert and operatic tours of Cuba where she was co-starred with the far famed Spanish tenor Pleta.

She is said to have a voice of crystalline charm. She is pretty, spirited, very winning, and has marked individuality. Her native State can well feel proud of her.

Among the many replies to my query "When did Nyiregyhazi play in Rockland?" comes a letter from Sophie G. Greenblatt of Bath, reading:

"Nyiregyhazi was heard in Bath April 28, 1924. I am sending you the leaflet appearing in my scrapbook. I heard the Hungarian pianist when he was in Bath, going with my music teacher, the late Miss Julia H. Jackson. His recital was the first important one I'd gone to, and Miss Jackson pointed out innumerable things to help a little beginner. I hope the date of his Bath appearance will help you to learn the date of the pianist's appearance in Rockland."

It was kind of Miss Greenblatt to send the information and I appreciate her kindly word for the Realm of Music.

Recently was noted the announcement of the engagement of Katherine A. Hatch to Clinton W. Graffam, son of Mrs. Eleanor L. Graffam and the late Clinton W. Graffam who for so many years presided over the music department of Cressey & Allen. The father, a skilled musician, lived long enough to see his son following in his musical footsteps, for young Graffam is a member of the Portland Symphony Orchestra and 240th Coast Artillery Band. He taught at the summer camp at Castine and I think I am correct in saying that he is rated as one of the most expert oboists in the State. His bride-to-be is also an accomplished musician, having studied in Boston with leading cellists and now teaching that instrument in her home city. She is a member of the Portland Rossini Club, and the Marston and MacDowell Clubs.

I am not surprised to learn that Jane Welch is winning laurels with her voice in Guilford where her home now is. It is a voice to attract attention for few 14-year old singers possess a vocal instrument of such beauty. It already has richness of quality, truthfulness of pitch, and thrilling placement, all a veritable gift from God, it may be said. Jane's ambition is to become a great singer. We hope that she will cling to this ambition, have the benefit of wise teachers, and always hold fast to the thought that music is the divine art.

In a recent New York letter there was delightful mention of the premier performance of the new opera "Maria Malibran," the music by Robert Bennett and the book by Robert Simon, the music critic on the New Yorker. This New York friend writes:

"It was given a remarkable performance by the Juilliard School. All of the critics on the New York papers seemed to have liked it very much. Of course it is modern music to a great degree and yet very melodic, reminding me much of Peter Ibbetson. It was a big event because nearly everyone of the music world was present, including Witherspoon, Farrar, Tibbett, and a hundred and one others. From rather reliable sources I hear that there is a great possibility of its being performed at the Metropolitan next year. The settings are very lovely and the costumes most beautiful. It is the most pretentious thing the Juilliard has ever done."

I was interested to note in the May 11 Musical Courier that an article on "Malibran in America" has been begun, Part 1 in that issue. Maria Felicitas Garcia (Madame Malibran) was one of the most brilliant artists of the operatic world of the early 19th century. While numerous volumes have been devoted to her life, few make but scant mention of a period which was most important in the artistic development of the great singer, the two eventful years which she spent in America. The recent New York production of the opera above mentioned covers this period of her life, and is therefore of particular interest at the present time.

GETS TWO LETTERS

Were From Widely Divergent Points But Related To the Same Subject

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:

In my mail of May 13 I received two letters widely divided as to source but still intimately connected. One was partly expected; the other a total surprise. One came from the U. S. Postoffice Department at Washington, D. C., the other bore a San Diego, Calif., postmark. The first letter, interesting to me called attention to a special commemorative stamp to be issued for the California Pacific International Exposition which opens in San Diego, Calif., May 29, on which date first day covers bearing this stamp will be mailed to stamp collectors making arrangement for this service with the Postmaster at San Diego.

The other letter was indeed a surprise. I have not seen the writer for 20 years. When I last saw him he was a mere boy and lived with his grandparents on the farm joining my own. Eighteen years ago this coming Sept. 30 I received my last news from him in a letter postmarked U. S. S. Georgia (Passed by the Censor). His name is Sumner N. Farrar, now married, with a daughter six years old. He writes that he is now and has been since the war a chief photographer in the Naval Aviation Service and will retire in another year. He plans to make his permanent home in San Diego.

I quote the two closing paragraphs of his letter which will probably interest his many friends in Union and vicinity.

"It would be fine if you should take a year to visit us and the Exposition. It is going to be some Exposition. Incidentally the U. S. Postage stamp commemorating this event was and is, from an aerial picture by yours truly, made from an altitude of 17,000 feet. You will doubtless run into some."

"Would like to hear from you and wish you would tell me the local history of the last 20 years."

A strange coincidence that these two letters so closely related should come in the same mail. Mr. Farrar's address is 3695 Alabama street, San Diego, Calif. A Jay See Union, May 13.

COLBY COLLEGE

(By J. Warren Bishop)

Class day exercises this year will see the revival of a custom that was observed annually at Colby many years ago, the smoking of the pipe of friendship. This is a survival of the Indian peace pipe.

Ruth C. Keller of Camden was the guest Friday evening of Paul F. Evers at the annual spring dance of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

The College will be host today to editors from all over the United States. The occasion is a convocation in memory of Elijah Parish Lovejoy of the class of 1826 and his martyrdom for the cause of the freedom of the press. This is an especially fitting time for such a gathering in view of the desire which the government now has of controlling the press. As part of the exercises, honorary degrees will be awarded to Col. Robert McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, and Howard Davis, business manager of the New York Herald Tribune.

A plan has finally been adopted by the fraternities whereby the ill effects of the uncontrolled rushing system will be eliminated. Freshmen will not be pledged from now on until after they have been in college for three weeks.

Helen K. deRochemont of Rockland was an interested member of the audience at the recent Maine Intercollegiate Music Festival and dance held at the Alumnæ Building.

the composition of the score of Missa Solemnis; how they heard him, behind his locked door, singing, howling, stamping, as the music was torn from him in his anguish—how, as the door was flung open at their indiscreet demand, Beethoven stood before them with distorted features, exciting fear.

It is remembered that those who were about the great master at the time have said that he seemed to be transfused with it. For almost five years he dwelt with the words that he was setting, filled with the anguish of parturition, but also with the ecstasy that must have sustained him as sheet after sheet of the wonderful score passed across his desk; and then one day he set down the last note and on the manuscript of the "Kyrie" he wrote the simple and characteristic words: "From the heart, may it go to the heart."

GUARDIANS OF OUR COAST

What our lightkeepers and coast guardsmen are doing to protect coastwise shipping by day and by night. The day's news from many lonely outposts along Maine's waterfront.

"Helmsman! for the love of heaven, Teach me, too, that wondrous song!" "Wouldst thou," so the helmsman answered. "Learn the secrets of the sea? Only those who brave its dangers Comprehend its mystery!" —Henry W. Longfellow.

Burnt Coat Harbor

We are back on the air again and wish to say "Hello" to all our friends. Mrs. Chandler has returned home after visiting her daughter Mrs. Kelley in Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Kelley are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Joseph.

Miss Hulda Smith was a dinner guest Sunday at the station.

Charles Burns, Jr. was a recent caller here.

The new steamer W. S. White arrived in the harbor Monday night and was welcomed by an enthusiastic crowd at the wharf.

The tender Ilex was anchored in the harbor Monday night.

Miss Hulda Smith and Roland Chandler were callers Sunday on friends in Brooklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Kelley and son Joseph, recently arrived at the station for a visit. After a brief stay, Mr. Kelley left for Brooks on business. We were sorry to have him leave so soon but hope it will be convenient for him to return at an early date.

We enjoy all the lighthouse news and shall try to be more newsy ourselves.

Portland Head

Keeper Elliott of Cape Elizabeth Light was a caller here last Saturday morning.

Robert T. Sterling, Jr., motored to Brunswick Wednesday.

Myrtland Robinson of East Rochester, N. H., and sister, Miss Faustina W. Robinson, R. N., of East Pepperell, Mass., visited F. O. Hilt and family Tuesday.

Mrs. Martha Sterling was guest of her sister Mrs. Charles Sterling of Peaks Island last Saturday. Mrs. Grace Dow of Portland joined the party in the evening when two tables of bridge were entertained. They returned to Portland on the last boat and were met at that point by Mr. Dow, arriving here at the "mug up" hour when coffee and doughnuts were in order.

Good Timers met Wednesday with Mrs. Martha Sterling. The day, just a bit cool, was one of the best thus far this month, clear weather giving a grand view over land or ocean. As conversation advanced, it drifted to the weather and they forecasted a heavy frost for Wednesday night. There were 12 present, honor guest being Mrs. Burrell of Falmouth Gardens. A perfect and busy day ended too quickly.

Fort Popham

Keeper Osgood attended the special meeting of Spanish War Veterans in Bath Sunday afternoon, while Mrs. Osgood was present at the session of the Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Auxiliary served a fine supper at which Keeper Osgood was guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Luke and daughter Barbara spent Sunday afternoon with Virginia Oliver in Bath. Rev. Mr. Guphill made a short call at the station Tuesday morning. We are always glad to see him.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Oliver are receiving congratulations on the birth of twins, a son Robert Leslie, and a daughter, Roberta Claire.

Fred Osgood attended the opening dance at Parker Head last Saturday night. A large crowd attended and everyone had a fine time.

Ralph Morong recently motored to Lisbon Falls for his mother who has come to Popham for the summer.

Mrs. Osgood and son Fred rowed up to Perkins Island Monday night to get slips of shrubbery which we were unable to bring when we came.

We are always glad to see the East Boothbay and New Harbor news among others and wish they might appear more often.

Mrs. Pauline Morong and son Ralph recently visited Mrs. Ralph Morong and young son born May 7.

A NATIONAL DIET

Low Prices Of Fish Abundance and Quality Stressed By Congressman Brewster

Fish and sea food as a national diet, full of health and free from budget worry, and as one method of meeting rising costs of living and beating the depression, was urged by Congressman Brewster meeting with other members of the newly constituted Fisheries Advisory Committee for the first time at the Department of Commerce.

"Let fish relieve the depression," said Congressman Brewster, who represents more miles of sea coast than any other member of Congress. A wider use of the proverbial brain food is the intelligent way of meeting the effects of the depression on budgets, he declared, calling attention to the unparalleled abundance and the moderate costs of fish and sea food, in contrast to other protein foods. He pointed out that the cost of fish today is only 50% of what it was in 1928.

As yet there have been no reports of drought in the ocean or of crop reductions of fish, according to Mr. Brewster. "Fish is the cheapest and most delectable of foods," he asserted. "There are today too few Americans who realize the important food value of fish, notwithstanding that fish is one of the largest industries in America. Fish and sea food is rich in iodine, calcium, and lime, whether deep sea or inland fresh water fish. Keep fit with fish," he concluded.

BELFAST JAIL LONESOME

Sheriff Burgess and his turnkey at the Waldo county jail can sleep soundly on nights with no worrying about any of the prisoners breaking out. There isn't any. The jail has been empty for a week when the last prisoner checked-out. Now there's no one but the lonesome sheriff and the turnkey to do the chores and keep fixed up 'round.

IT WAS HIGH TIME

That Somebody Should Take a Hand In Stopping This Nuisance

New regulations regarding the amount and type of advertising in radio programs by the Columbia Broadcasting System become effective July 30.

After 6 p. m., only 10 per cent of the broadcasting period may be devoted to the sponsor's commercial announcement; during the day 15 per cent will be the maximum. An additional 40 seconds will be permitted, however, for commercial announcements on 15-minute programs.

Programs advertising laxatives as such or laxative properties in any other product will be banned. Discussion also will be forbidden of deodorants, deodorants and other advertising presenting questions of good taste.
