TOYOHICO KAGAWA

Long before this article is in print Maine people will have had an opportunity to see and hear one of the great Christians of the ages. His name is on the lips of hundreds of thousands of American Christians today, Toyohiko Kagawa. Last year Baptists met and heard Dr. Benninghoff of Japan; this year all Christians are privileged to greet Dr. Kagawa.
As I have read the life of this man, born out of wedlock, the son of a rich man, thrown by his own choice to work in the worst slums of Japan, his accomplishments seem incredible. He was brought to Christ in an English Bible class. During his theological training he developed tuberculosis, and contact with a miserable wreck of a man caused him to nearly lose his eyesight. Nevertheless he wrote and fought to reach the millions of Japan and this he did, and moreover millions the world over. His book, "Across the Dead Line" sold 300 editions.
Creator of hundreds of millions of dollars he is as penniless and abstemious as Gandhi. I have been able to read a number of his books and hope to see him, face to face. Read his "Love the Law of Life" sold through 200 editions already. "The Religion of Jesus" and others. You may not always agree but he is seeing Jesus through centuries of Oriental background.
Read all you can of him for the impacts he will make on the life of America is bound to be tremendous. Pay scant attention to the small minds that question his orthodoxy. Jesus was not orthodox. A great soul, like Paul, whether in prison or in affliction, and don't forget Mrs. Kagawa who has stood all for Jesus' sake.

TRIES HIS FRENCH

But It's Not a Two-Way Test Friend "Boze" Frankly Admits

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
In regard to "Boze vs La Belle France," when the aforesaid passed out of the old red schoolhouse in the spring of 1882, they were just trying out Al. G. Bray on us kids. Some of the boys spoke two languages—English and profane. None of them spoke French.

Two young men went to France with the A.E.F. and after the War came home and did not meet for several years. During the talk-fest one buddy said "Bill, did your French bother you in France?"

"No," replied Bill, "but it bothered the Frenchmen a whole lot."
I bother the manager of the A. & P. store where we trade. He was born in Quebec but when he was 4 he took his pere and mere by the hand and led them to the good old U. S. A. I get some phrase out of the dictionary and try it out on him, such as, "Comment-vous portez-vous, mon enfant?" and then he opens up in French. I duck; it goes over my head and out of the window.

He attends the French Catholic Church in Newton. He has eight children who attend the Sisters' School (also French) and they learn French so many hours a week at school and at home must speak French.

Try out book French on some guy when you are in Quebec again. What a common word to the motorist is the French word, "detour," and Bob is really the engine driver, chauffeur in French. When I arrive at my "maison de campagne," you and Bob must drop in sometime.
Au revoir.

Death At Night

DARK
21,480
14,620
DAYLIGHT

During the normal hours of daylight last year, from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., according to statistics of the Travelers Insurance Company, there were 14,620 persons killed in automobile accidents, while in the normal hours of darkness, from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m., there were 21,480 deaths. This record raises the question, "Shouldn't drivers and pedestrians be afraid of the dark?"

The exceedingly high rate of death per accident for the normal hours of darkness puts the spotlight on the conditions and conduct of drivers and pedestrians responsible for such a record of fatalities after sun down. At night drivers can't easily avoid what they can't see. This is something that pedestrians need to remember.

HARD HIT BY GRADUATION

Coach Richards Of Camden High Has a Hard Luck Story, Well Justified

Graduation in 1935 raised havoc with the Camden High School baseball squad as but two letter men are left from last year's team. The hitting of Bill Chapin and Roy Weed will be sorely missed, as will the defensive work of those two and F. Bartlett, Payson, Heald and Brown. George Boynton's steady work in the box will not be available this year.

"Brick" McFarland, captain of this year's team, has left school and as yet no one has been chosen to succeed him. This year's outfit will probably be built around Pete Arico at shortstop and Keith Richards who saw service both in the box and outfield last year. Both should be good hitters this season.

Eight freshmen have reported for practice and some of them may break into the regular lineup. We are working to find a capable backstop with Annis, Fairbrother, Trask, Hall, Blackington and Bates fighting it out.

Richards and Dunbar are in the lead for pitching assignments and either or both may be used in the outfield. Belyea, Clegg and Johnson round out the pitching staff. Charlie Wadsworth is showing some nice defensive work at first and is working hard on his hitting. The second base

Cunningham, Virginia Donohue, Virginia Barlow, Beatrice Philbrook, Margaret Kent, Veronica Murphy, Mary Cayton, Barbara Lamb, Barbara Lassell, Virginia Bowley, Eloise Law, Dorothy Kennedy, Edith Rich, Harriett Clark, Gladys Jordan, Eileen Beach, Jane Packard, Madeline Munro, Dorothy Thomas, Pauline Spear, Marie Dodge, Marie Tripp, Carrie Colson, Arthur Sullivan, John O'Sullivan, Roger Harvey, Howard Edwards, William Burns, William Hopkins, William Mack, Leroy Benter, William Young, Kenneth Smith, Perley Bartlett.

Ushers, all selected from Grade VI, McLain School, were: Wednesday, Josephine Grover, Mary Simmons, Helen Ingerson, Priscilla McCaslin, Adelaide Hooper, Barbara McCartney, Evelyn Seavey, Miriam Dorman, Thursday: Elizabeth Clough, Pearl Smith, Blanche Sylvester, Goldie Mason, Frances d'Agostino, Lucille Hupper, Virginia Haskell, Friday: Virginia Jacobs, Leona Grindley, Barbara Hickman, Vivian Falia, Lillian Heino, Norma Richards, Janet Shannon, Barbara Ross, Julia Mealey.

The boys taking tickets were James Thomas, Keith Allen, William McCauley, and Robert Childs, also from Grade VI, McLain School.

Mrs. Esther Rogers, music supervisor, who acted as director of the entire undertaking for the three nights, wishes to express her sincere appreciation and thanks to all who helped in any way, particularly to the teachers who gave so generously of their time and effort in drilling and preparing the children, to the mothers who gave just as generously in the making of costumes and accessories, to Miss Margaret Dunton who was such an efficient accompanist and who was presented with a compact as an appreciation gift on Friday night, and to the boys who acted as stage hands so willingly and expertly.

While the net figure has not yet been arrived at, it is not amiss to say that about $325 was taken in, and the expectation is that the expenses will represent a fairly small figure. A tidy sum to be added to the PTA association to carry on their notably good work of providing milk to undernourished school children as well as other necessities.

WILL SEE AD ZACHOW
New England Middleweight Champion Fighting Here Friday Night

The middleweight boxing champion of New England, Ad Zachow, staging a comeback, will meet K. O. La Mouché of Waterville at the Rockland Athletic Club Friday night. Extra incentive for La Mouché to win is seen in this battle, as the Waterville boxer would be able to go places if he could emerge victorious.

The semi-final is in reality a main bout, as it will bring together Ken Pease of Warren, who outclassed Young Jack; and K. O. Dennis of Waterville, who says that Ken is what the doctor ordered for him. There is a belief among the fans that Pease has never been seen at his best here. Perhaps he will open up Friday night.

The preliminaries are: Popeye Manter of Owl's Head vs. John Boardman of Rockland, and K. O. Wooster of Owl's Head vs. K. O. Katy of Augusta.

Tickets may be obtained from Miss Winifred Coughlin and Miss Margaret Adams who head the ticket committee. Seats will not be checked.

WALDOBORO'S NEW THEATRE

Isaac Reed Mansion Being Razed To Accommodate It—Mr. Cooney's Plans

Demolition of the Isaac Reed mansion on Main street, Waldoboro, built many years ago by a wealthy ship-builder, loses to that ancient town one of its best known landmarks, but finds its recompense in the fact that a new and modern motion picture theatre is to occupy the site.

The new place of amusement, which will appropriately bear the name of Waldo Theatre, will owe its creation to Carroll Trowbridge Cooney, whose place of business is in New York, but whose summer home is on the Friendship road in Waldoboro, the town where his forebears made their residence over a long period of years, and which possesses for the wealthy lumber magnate a lure that no urban community could offer.

The Reed mansion, now in the last processes of dismantling, was better known to hundreds of visitors as the Warren Weston Creamer antique shop. Its treasures have either been sold, or removed to other locations, and the establishment will soon become only a memory.

The new theatre will occupy a site containing 30,000 square feet of surface, adjoining the federal building, on one side and Stahl's Tavern on the other. Its designer is Benjamin Schlanger of New York, regarded as the foremost architect for motion picture theatres in the country, and who is now completing a million-dollar structure in New Jersey.

In point of architecture Waldo Theatre will be of the Georgia Colonial type, fireproof construction, and modern in every detail. The auditorium will seat 300 persons and the stadium 200. The foundation will be built of concrete and the superstructure of brick.

The various contracts pertaining to the proposed structure have been sublet, the carpenter and joiner work to be done by Clyde Winchenbach and the masonry and stone work by Myron Neal.
The theatre will have a stage sufficiently large for amateur theatrical performances or other occasions.
"Waldo Theatre is in no sense an 'investment' as viewed from the standpoint of financial gain. 'I am building it,' Mr. Cooney told a Courier-Gazette reporter, 'because of my fondness for the town where my mother was born and for the pleasure of Waldoboro citizens, many of whom do not find it convenient to attend the theatres in Rockland or Bath. We will welcome Knox County patrons, just as we are glad to patronize the theatres in that county.'
Almost everybody in Lincoln County knows Carroll Trowbridge Cooney, but for the benefit of those who do not have the pleasure of his acquaintance a word of introduction will not come amiss.
A quarter century ago, 1910 to be exact, Mr. Cooney was completing his course at Yale University and the world was thrilling to his athletic prowess. For three seasons he had been the all-America selection as football guard and center, and was holding the record for throwing the hammer. The passing years have accorded to him more weight than in the strenuous days when he was on the training table, but the physique of the born athlete is still there.
It is hoped to have the new theatre ready for occupancy by July Fourth.

MURDER, A JOKE

So Evidently Thought Belfast Boys Going To State Prison For Life

Laughing, joking and kicking up their heels, two Belfast youths were taken to State Prison Saturday, for life.

They were Freeman T. Roberts, 16, and Frederick A. Nash, 17, convicted by a Waldo County Superior Court jury of the murder of Augustine Colburn of Belfast, who died at a local hospital as the result of wounds received when he was brutally beaten in his little office on the second floor of the Opera House block.

The boys, who had been handcuffed throughout the day in the cell at the county jail which they jointly occupied, were taken to Thomaston by Sheriff Burgess.

Two other persons taken to prison Saturday were Norman R. McKenzie of Swanville and George Henry Gardner of Washington, each of whom had been given a sentence of one to two years by Justice Murray on the charge of bigamy.

Bravado has characterized Roberts and Nash ever since their arrest for the attack on Colburn.

County officials said they laughed as they gave their alleged confession of how they beat and robbed the aged man, they were laughing again a few days later, as they were arraigned on a charge of murder and on Friday when they were sentenced to life imprisonment they grinned broadly.

BUBAR WITHDRAWS

Rev. Benjamin C. Bubar of Blaine, announced candidate for the Maine Republican gubernatorial nomination, dropped out of that contest with a declaration he would petition himself onto State election ballots in September as a "Townsend Plan Governor" candidate. His withdrawal from the June primary election race on the final day for the filing of nomination papers, left Secretary of State Lewis O. Barrows of Newport and former State Senator Blin W. Page of Skowhegan the only candidates for the normally majority party's gubernatorial nomination.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

ODE ON THE PLEASURE ARISING FROM VICISSITUDE
Now the golden Morn aloft
Waves her dew-bespangled wing;
Wilt thou the music of the air
Shee the music of the Spring?
Till April starts, and calls aloud
The sleeping fragrance from the ground,
And lightly o'er the living scene
Scatters his freshest, tenderest green.

New-born flocks, in rustic dance,
Frisking ply their feeble feet;
Forgetful of their wintry trance
The birds their presence greet:
But chief the sky-lark warbles high
His trembling thrilling ecstasy.
And lessening from the dazzled sight
Melts into air and liquid light.

Yesterday the sudden year
Saw the snowy whirlwind fly;
Mute was the music of the air,
The herd stood drooping by
Their raptures now that wildly flow
No yesterday nor tomorrow know.
'Tis Man alone that joy describes
With forward and reverted eyes
Smiles on past misfortune's brow
Soft reflection's hand can trace.
And o'er the cheek of sorrow throw
While hope prolongs our happier hour,
Or deepest shades, that dimly pour
And blacken round our weary way,
Glides with a gleam of distant day.

Still, where rosy pleasure leads,
See a kindred grief pursue;
Behind the steps that misery treads
Approaching comfort view:
The hues of bliss more brightly glow
Chastised by sadder tints of woe.
And blended form with artful strife
The strength and harmony of life.

See the wretch that long has tost
On the thorny bed of pain,
At length repair his vigor lost
And breathe and walk again:
The mearest floweret of the vale,
The simplest note that swells the gale,
The common sun, the air, the skies,
To him are opening Paradise.

HOME LOOKS GOOD

So Writes Charlie Lawry, Who Spent the Winter In San Francisco

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:

Here are a few of the highlights of my trip home from the West. Leaving Oakland pier I passed through Arizona and New Mexico, in the latter State spending one-half hour in Albuquerque. This was once an old Indian settlement and there remain many of the old type abodes.

I was in Kansas last Tuesday and there it was very hot. The mercury reached the high 90's. A stop at Dodge City, Kan., was cut short because of the heat. Here I set my watches ahead an hour for the second time, the first having been in Seligman, Ariz., and once again the hands changed, this time to Eastern Standard time when I arrived in Toledo.

The first frost I saw on the homeward trip was in Chillicothe Ill. From that point on, it grew steadily colder until I reached New York State which was decidedly frigid. New England also turned a cold shoulder to me, and I was on the verge of going back when at Newton, Mass., the sun came out and I was cheered by the warmth.

It is very dry throughout the West where all the rivers seem to be nothing but a bed of sand. Arriving in Chicago and having time on my hands, I took advantage of the offer of an acquaintance I had made on the trip, to see the Windy City. He was a representative of a large oil concern in Fresno, Cal., and took me first to the vast plant of Sears, Roebuck & Co., which interested him quite as much as it did me. Next we viewed the Chicago Cubs baseball park at Wrigley Field and later passed Comiskey Park where the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns were in practice.

The giant Memorial Tomb which faces an artificial lake came in for its share of admiration. I found Chicago a busy active city and there Eastern Standard time is in effect although the trains are on Central Standard. During the trip home, cigar smoking was discussed and the general opinion of the West and Mid-west was that in less than five years there will be very few men smoking cigars. It will be called effeminate.

President Roosevelt will be re-elected largely through the women's votes is the consensus of opinion in California. The Townsend movement has a strong hold in San Francisco and in that city there are 15 clubs with a membership of over 50,000.

Snowqualls greeted me in Rochester and Schenectady, and again in Pittsfield and Springfield. I met a salesman for a large stationery concern in Springfield who told me many interesting stories of the flood and also described the points visited by the high waters. Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians were guests at Hotel Touraine while I was there. Members of his orchestra, 30 in all, were a lively bunch of young fellows. WHDH has a branch studio in this hotel which I found very interesting.

I had hoped to meet my old friend, Roscoe Larrabee, in Boston. Mr. Larrabee was formerly chief radio operator of the U.S.S. Kickapoo, but unfortunately he was unable to call on me during my stay in the Hub. Boston seemed very quiet after San Francisco and one would hardly know he was in a large city.

Rockland surely looked good and I'm enjoying a thorough rest after 7,544 strenuous train miles.

INCREASE in New Deal Jobholders.. AND THEIR COST TO TAXPAYERS

THIS DATA is from official Civil Service reports. It does not contain hidden Government employees, possibly 300 thousand or more, nor their cost of a possible 300 million dollars or more. Hidden payroll additions include foreman, assistant foreman and "straw bosses" charged to WPA projects; HOLC, AAA, CCC and other alphabetical per diem workers. Senator Rush D. Holt, New Deal Senator from West Virginia, showed that in one district in his state, administrative employees and hidden employees were consuming more than one-third of the relief funds, and numbered more than one to each 12 relief workers, whom they supervised. He said in a speech on the Senate floor: "Approximately $1,000,000 of the two and three-fourth million dollars are going to a few political henchmen instead of going to the people who need relief in that district."

The Coming Congressional Elections Deserve Special Attention Whether a Republican or a Democrat is Named President

By Nicholas Roosevelt
For the National Republican Builders, Inc.

The interest which naturally centers about the selection of a Republican candidate for the Presidency should not be permitted to obscure the importance of the coming Congressional elections. Whoever is elected President, it is of utmost importance that as many Republicans as possible be sent to Congress.

If a Republican is named President it is obvious that he should have as large a supporting group in Congress as possible. He cannot in any event, have a majority in the Senate as the elections fall in such a manner that even if all the Democratic seats vacant this year were to go to the Democrats there would still be a Democratic majority.

If Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected the only possible check on his extravagance will be through a large Republican contingent in Congress.

Any candid observer of political conditions recognizes that the American political system functions at its best when neither party has an overwhelming majority in both houses. In theory the party to which the President belongs should have at the same time a modest majority in both houses. In practice a majority in one or both houses opposed to the President can be distinctly obstructive.

But such vast favorable majorities as exist today are a danger to the country. They make it possible for the executive to force the passage of legislation without adequate study. Much of it would, if more carefully and impartially—or even bi-partisanly—considered be drastically changed or never passed.

The truth is that Congress has largely abandoned its duties as prescribed in the Constitution.

The first and most elemental duty is to propose and discuss laws. Under the Roosevelt regime many laws have been drafted by the Executive branch and submitted to the legislature with the indication that they must be passed at once, the less discussion the better.

It is now clearer than ever that had Congress not accepted this dictation from the President, and had it exercised its constitutional duties, many of the New Deal measures which the Supreme Court has declared unconstitutional would either never have been passed or would have been so drawn up as to be constitutional.

There are plenty of good lawyers and students of the Constitution in both houses. A few of them protested that the New Deal legislation—or much of it—was unconstitutional. But these protesters were overridden by those politicians who sought to carry favor with the executive in hopes of getting a larger share of the patronage.

political machinery is so intimately bound up with the party system that it is easier to check the excesses of one party when representation of the other party is almost as large. In both houses today, however, the excess of Democrats is enormous. There are 69 Democratic Senators and 23 Republicans. In the House there are 318 Democrats and 104 Republicans. If these numbers were more evenly balanced there would be much less careless legislation.

So important are the issues this year that it is essential not only to elect as many Republicans as possible, but to take particular pains to see that Republican candidates are chosen from the best available material.

Too often the nomination of candidates for Congress is left to the party leaders, who are more interested in paying—or incurring—political debts than in choosing the best men for the positions. This year, when the Republican party is so much on trial, the likelihood of general success throughout the ticket will be greatly enhanced if, in addition to a good candidate for President, the candidates for Congress are men of genuine ability, integrity and character.

Already we have many such men in politics. But a special drive should be made this year to mobilize the best of them so that the ticket will be as strong as possible and so that, whether or not the Republicans win the Presidency, there will be in Congress a large body of able citizens. If Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected this body will stand alone between the New Deal extravagances and the great mass of the nation's taxpayers.

LIQUOR ADVERTISING

Chicago Daily Newspaper Which Refuses It, Leads All Rivals

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—One daily newspaper, the Chicago Daily News, has found that it pays to be square with the American Public. Jan. 13, 1935, it published the following full page announcement:

"In 1935 the Chicago Daily News printed over a million lines more total display advertising than any other Chicago newspaper, morning, evening or Sunday."

"The Chicago Daily News does not accept liquor advertising or objectionable medical or financial copy. During 1935 the other Chicago newspapers printed over one million, nine hundred thousand lines of advertising not acceptable to this newspaper." Chicago Daily News, Chicago's Home Newspaper.

And here's another—"The Edgefield Advertiser," the only newspaper in South Carolina which has published continuously for 100 years, celebrated its centenary anniversary Feb. 14, 1936. The Advertiser has not published liquor advertisements for 35 years and does not advertise tobacco.

When a man's ways please the Lord, He maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him." Prov. 16-7. A man is known by the company he keeps. A paper is judged by its advertising. E. M. Studley. Medomak, April 18.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN

Vinalhaven Man Sees Some Of the Opposing Arguments As Preposterous

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

The controversy over the Townsend Plan reminds one of the prohibition issue, when the rum element was trying to down law and order and fix things so the Bartenders Guide, would take the place of decency laws. Today the rum seller may break as many license laws as he chooses. His offense is simply ignored.

The Townsend Plan is assailed in much the same manner as prohibition was. All kind of trumped up charges are spoken and printed against the project. One preposterous argument is the cost. How any thinking person can believe these stories is surprising. They figure every one over 60 years as a charge. Stop and think of the vast numbers of old people that have to apply for help and think of the millions of people that have money enough.

Teachers that are now pensioned, hundreds of thousands of them, railroad men, policemen, soldiers, sailors, ministers, judges, thousands who have purchased annuities, more who have endowment policies coming due.

So in summing up the cost and eliminating these possibilities and a fair estimate given, it makes a very different looking proposition. Of course $200 per month, is big money but when one considers the real object of the plan is to get money into circulation, to promote business, create jobs, pay old bills, fix up homes, every business will be benefited, then when times get normal the pension can be reduced to suit the times.

It is also said that all commodities will increase in price if all this easy money is allowed to circulate. Do you think prices will increase more from a pension than from good time business? F. H. Winslow Vinalhaven, April 20.

For thank-you notes and short letters, we suggest a box of Rytek Notes. Choice of six different shades of paper with tiny colored borders on both sheets and envelopes, and printed with your name to match. Fifty Note Sheets and 50 envelopes for $1.50. Used by well known screen stars, authors and artists. See samples at The Courier-Gazette office. Postage 10 cents extra.

When he likes something, he speaks up!

THIS IS HARRY BARTH, with his favorite cornob loaded with mild, mellow Prince Albert. He says: "When I like something, I speak up! I'm putting all my friends on to Prince Albert. P. A.'s 'no late' process takes out all harshness—preserves the full flavor."

"THOSE BIG RED 2-OUNCE TINS sure save money," Harry says, as he sits in his easy chair. "They hold around 50 pipefuls of a well smoking. For sheer pleasure, try P. A.—a princely smoke. We've arranged a no-risk offer. P. A. is grand for 'makin's' cigarettes too."

Mr. Barth hasn't told the half of it! Try P.A. on this no-risk offer:

Smoke 20 fragrant pipefuls of Prince Albert. If you don't find it the mellowest, tastiest pipe tobacco you ever smoked, return the pocket tin with the rest of the tobacco in it to us at any time within a month from this date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage. Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS
Director Hotpoint Electric Cookery Institute

Wouldn't it be fun to be able to toss a whole armload of vegetables in the kettle and, after so long a time, to "get" soup? Well, vegetable soup "making" may be almost as frivolous a task as this; at least no longer need we eavesdrop; no longer need we worry about adverse "goings-on" in the kitchen; no longer need we stand over the old cooking top of the electric range. Because of its excellent design and construction, it can maintain boiling or below-boiling temperatures, consuming only a small quantity of electric heat units. Even after the current has been shut off, cooking continues for 10 to 15 minutes. In addition to making soup, whole meals, consisting of meat, vegesoup kettle with a restless spoon. Well, now that frequent cold snaps and soup sipping pretty well go together, there's something new in soup making which we think you ought to know. Soup days are no longer "watch days" in the kitchen. Just as we said, you toss a whole armload of vegetables (and we like a soup bone in ours, too, don't you?) in the Thrift Cooker of the new electric range; and after so long a time—time spent in any way that you please, reading, knitting, "outing," or sleeping—the Thrift Cooker produces delicious vegetable soup.

A Perfect Blend

Thrift Cooker vegetable soup isn't just ordinary soup, either. When making soup in this large economy cooking unit of the modern electric range, there is a perfect blend and extraction of the succulent vegetable and meat flavors without the vegetables being cooked to a pulp. The low-controlled heat of the Thrift Cooker is perfect for making soup; the soup is cooked to a just right degree, and the work associated with making it is kept at a minimum.

Now, just a word about the Thrift Cooker, which is installed in the tables and dessert, may be steamed in the Thrift Cooker at one time without any exchange of flavors; inexpensive cuts of meat may be cooked to a delectable doneness via slow, moist heat, and dried vegetables and fruits may be cooked without any preliminary soaking. Here is our favorite recipe for making vegetable soup the Thrift Cooker way.

Thrift Cooker Vegetable Soup
1 soup bone
3/4 cup carrots
3/4 cup turnips
1/2 cup celery leaves and diced celery
1 1/2 cups potatoes (cut in cubes)
1 small onion
1 teaspoon salt
3 quarts cold water

Place soup bone, with water, seasonings and vegetables, in the Thrift Cooker kettle of electric range. Cover. Cook on Low heat for 6 to 8 hours. Soup may be cooked 10 to 12 hours, or overnight, if desired.

This is the kind of soup which, when the proverbial "soup's on" is announced, brings the family scurrying and smiling to the table—this is the kind of soup that's so good none will be left.

WALDOBORO

High School Musicals

The concert given in the High School auditorium Friday night was a notable success. The large chorus of senior and junior students had been carefully trained for months by Guy I. Waltz and his daughter, Mrs. Gretchen W. Simmons, and the results were flattering to coaches and students. Assisting the students were Mrs. Nettie B. Nicholson, Mrs. Forrest Eaton, Carlton Porter, Miss Geraldyn Porter, Herbert Maxey and John Newburn, soloists and Mrs. Maude Clark Gay, reader. Those having solo parts on the program were Miss Kathleen Higgins, Miss Mary Stafford, Miss Phyllis Mank and Miss Orville Winchenbach, Marshall Bradford of Thomaston accompanied Mrs. Eaton, his pupil; Mrs. Leland Winchenbach was at the piano during her daughter's violin solo and Mrs. Simmons was accompanist for the remainder of the program.

The piano solos by Mrs. Simmons were rich in tone and beauty and her interesting explanation of the compositions made word pictures, bringing them vividly before the audience. Receiving instruction in the schools of Massachusetts and afterward a pupil of Ruth Titecomb, Mrs. Simmons is an example of what early training will do to develop a natural musical ability. All who heard her realized the importance of having music taught in the schools. Mr. Waltz conducted the chorus with remarkable ability and he was amply rewarded by the fine response to the long hours he has given without remuneration to the preparation for the concert.

It is hoped that through this concert an effort will once more be made to introduce music into the school curriculum. Earle Spear, principal of the High School, made the opening speech and Enoch B. Robertson introduced those taking part in the program.

At the close, Mr. Waltz and Mrs. Simmons were presented with a gift of money in appreciation of their work in behalf of the High School.

Maine farmers raised 770,822 tons of hay in 1934 on 995,111 acres, an average of .77 tons per acre, according to the United States census. Seventy-two percent of all crop land harvested in Maine was hay land. Only Vermont, New Hampshire and Nevada have a higher percentage of their farm land in hay. In many of the Southern States, less than 10 percent of the crop land is in hay.

Why Doesn't Crime Pay?
—$1,800 For The Answers

WHY doesn't crime pay? Is it just because a criminal is sure to be caught, or sure to be a social outcast if he isn't caught, or because we all have a conscience? Or are there a thousand other reasons?

Phillips Lord

Lord is willing to pay to learn all the reasons why a criminal life is an unprofitable one.

For the best letters on "Why Crime Doesn't Pay," Lord is going to award $1,800.

He is going to keep the offer open until mid-May 1, and by that time he hopes to have the answer.

The unique offer is the latest step in Lord's plan to learn all about the sources and results of crime in order to map an effective campaign for public cooperation with the police in wiping out the underworld.

Returning a year ago from a trip around the world, during which he made a study of crime in foreign countries, Lord had an idea. He was convinced that the mounting wave of crime in America could be curbed, if the public could be stimulated to proper cooperation with its police departments.

Since then Lord has been using newspapers, the radio and the speaking platform to that end. Police chiefs throughout the nation have pledged him their support. Club women have endorsed his program. Boys clubs have joined his crusade against crime.

Facts, statistics and public opinion are the weapons he uses to combat gangdom. And it is in order to gather more ammunition that he is asking Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen to tell him just why they believe crime does not pay.

For the winning letter Lord will pay $250, and for the third best $50. Writers of the next 25 best letters will receive $10 each, and writers of the next fifty best letters $5 each.

So if any reader thinks he knows why crime doesn't pay, it will pay him to pass the information along to Phillips Lord. Details are being announced at the Gang Busters radio programs over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

He first gave some facts about pigeons in general, the kinds, their habits, and their training, pointing out that the birds are monogamous, and share the labors of nest building, incubating, and caring for the young. The several Modernas which he exhibited were of graceful form and finely colored plumage, and have been champions at shows held throughout the country. In closing, Mr. Tirrell extended a cordial invitation to those interested to visit his loft, and thereby see for themselves how they may become pigeon fanciers. Ruth Rhodes was leader of devotions and Bernard Thompson was chairman of the assembly.

You need good digestion to face the nervous strain of modern living!

Smoking Camels Assists Digestion and Promotes Well-Being

When people are tired, worried, or nervous, the flow of digestive fluids slows up.

Science now recognizes that smoking Camels has a favorable influence in increasing the flow of these digestive fluids. Thus, there are sound, definite reasons why Camels add to the enjoyment of your meals.

Camels are supremely mild—never get on the nerves or tire your taste. Enjoy Camels as much as you like... for their good cheer and "lift"... for their rare flavor! Camels set you right!

"I HAVE TO EAT in 30 minutes," says Harry Fisher, steel worker. "Smoking Camels helps my digestion, gives me a swell 'lift.' And they've got real flavor!"

FEEDS THOUSANDS daily, Miss Lenora Finn, dietitian, says: "With me, it's always Camels! Smoking Camels stimulates digestion, causing increased flow of digestive fluids."

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

QUARTER CENTURY OF AUTOMOBILE SAFETY

A score of major improvements in motor car design reveal the progress made in safety by automobile manufacturers during the last 25 years. D. E. Kallstrom, Oldsmobile vice president and general sales manager, points out. Fifteen of the more important changes made in the interests of safety are illustrated in the above comparison of 1911 and 1936 Oldsmobiles.

- 1—The solid-steel Turret-Top has replaced the fabric top.
- 2—Windshield wipers, unknown in 1911.
- 3—Greater acceleration has given the 1936 Oldsmobile the additional flexibility needed to master modern emergencies.
- 4—The positive shift starter has replaced the hand crank, eliminating that hazardous task.
- 5—Closed car bodies of steel, giving protection all around to modern motorists, were undreamed of in 1911.
- 6—The ride stabilizer has minimized body roll, improved ease of handling and increased safety.
- 7—The turning radius has been greatly decreased.
- 8—Knee-Action wheels, with heavy coil springs, have replaced the flat, leaf type, front springs, and have vastly improved comfort and ease of control.
- 9—Sixteen inch safety-steel wheels provide safety impossible with the early forty two inch wooden ones.
- 10—Low pressure tires, with safety-tread design, replacing the high pressure type, minimize skidding and blow-out dangers.
- 11—Lower center of gravity results in greater roadability and riding comfort.
- 12—Four wheel Super-Hydraulic brakes have supplanted the uncertain two wheel mechanical brakes.
- 13—Safety Glass all around has replaced ordinary glass.
- 14—Multi-beam lighting provides maximum illumination for every driving condition, in contrast to the inadequate acetylene gas lamps of 1911.
- 15—Four wheel Super-Hydraulic brakes have supplanted the uncertain two wheel mechanical brakes.

Elmer Rising's Four Months' Stay In Globe Begins Auspiciously

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

After a 10-day trip cross country I am located in Globe, Ariz. Mrs. Rising and I started March 25 from Cambridge and stayed on Route 1 to Washington from which point the trip became more interesting. Virginia was our next port of call and then up into the Blue Ridge Mountains. A new road there is called the "Sky-line drive" on which one rides 18 miles at an elevation of 5,000 feet along the tops of the mountains. It is a sight worth seeing.

In the Shenandoah Valley we saw floods damages and there everyone was engaged in cleaning up after the waters' ravages, but the roads were passable and we encountered no difficulty. Continuing our journey, we passed through Knoxville, Nashville, Memphis, then to Little Rock, Ark. and on through a long flat drive across Texas. The last part of Texas gave us the toughest part of the trip, for the wind blew a steady gale and when we reached El Paso the dust was so thick it was worse than a good old Rockland fog and much more uncomfortable. No one else seemed to mind it so we kept going.

At one place we saw men shoveling sand off the railroad tracks to keep them open. A happy sight was the appearance of hills, and again we rejoiced when we arrived in New Mexico. Upon leaving the Big Bend the wind died down altogether.

Duncan, Ariz., furnished different scenery than any we had seen. I never knew there were so many mountains in this country!

The Gila Pueblo is about three miles from Globe. This is an archeological research museum built on an old Indian site, each room made on the walls of the original building, with 30 additional rooms which have not as yet been excavated. A mountain 7,500 feet high is located about two miles from where we live. On a recent trip we drove to about one-quarter mile from the top where we were obliged to stop because of snow drifts in the road. We walked the remainder of the distance and from the summit could see 100 miles in all directions—the most beautiful sight I ever saw or ever expect to see.

I shall be here about four months and engaged in illustrating a book on a large site which has been excavated about 90 miles from here. The sun is rather hot during mid-day but Globe is 3,500 feet above sea level, so the nights are cool. I'm so enthused over my first glimpse of Arizona that I'm afraid I must stop rambling before I bore you too much. One must see it to appreciate it fully—words cannot do it justice.

My Courier-Gazettes which give me much enjoyment make the 2,800 miles between here and Rockland seem much shorter.

Night Automobile Accidents Serious

Transfers Ins. Co. Safety Service.

Last year during daylight there were 14,000 fatal automobile accidents as against more than 19,000 during dusk and darkness. But total accidents in daylight exceeded the number during dusk and darkness by more than 130,000.

The fatal accident record during dusk and darkness, in proportion to all accidents in such periods, was 92 per cent greater than the daytime experience. The tremendous loss of life during hours of darkness constitutes one of the strongest arguments against the present-day practice of driving too fast. There is no way to explain the high rate of death per accident at night except by the fact that many operate cars at speeds during darkness which do not permit them to stop within the range of the illumination provided by headlights. Under such conditions lives are crushed out whenever the unexpected happens. Either highways must be illuminated and the lighting of streets improved, or drivers must remember and act on the warning: WHEN THE SUN GOES DOWN, SLOW DOWN.

THE HOME GARDEN

Timely Information For Home Gardeners Prepared By Members Of The Faculty Of The University Of Maine—No. 1

Plants take their food from the soil and from the air, and need certain food elements in varying proportions for best growth, writes Mrs. Iva M. Burgess of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station.

While most elements are available in sufficient amounts for healthy and productive growth, a few must be added in the form of fertilizers of some sort. The most notable of the lacking food elements are nitrogen (N), phosphorus (P) and potassium (K). In fertilizer formulas they are always given in this order. Thus, a 100 pound bag of 4-8-7 fertilizer contains 4 pounds of nitrogen, 8 pounds of phosphoric acid and 7 pounds of potash available for plant use.

Phosphorus aids in the development of seeds and fruits. Crops such as tomatoes, peas, beans, corn, cucumbers, melons, etc., from which the seeds or fruits are eaten need fertilizers high in phosphorus. Heading plants such as head lettuce and cabbages also need this type of fertilizer. Formulas containing two to three times as much phosphoric acid as nitrogen or potash are desirable for such crops. Examples are 5-15-5, 5-10-5, and 4-8-4.

The amounts to use vary with the fertility of the soil, the strength of the fertilizer, and the method of application. For small crops when rows are spaced closely, probably the best method is to broadcast the fertilizer and spade or harrow it into the first four inches of the soil. One pound of fertilizer can be used for 25 to 40 square feet.

For larger plants, where rows are two feet or more apart, fertilizer is used more economically if applied in the row. In this way one pound will be sufficient for 25 to 40 feet of row. Care must be taken that the seeds or sprouting roots do not come in contact with a mass of fertilizer. One way to avoid this is to place the fertilizer in bands two inches to either side of where the seed will be placed and at a level one to two inches below that of the seed. A method less efficient but more commonly used is to open a fairly deep furrow, put in the fertilizer, mix it with soil, and cover with soil on which seeds will be planted and covered.

Nitrogen aids in making vigorous growth of leaves and stems such as is desired in spinach and other greens. Potash is necessary for the development of underground parts of the plant's such as the roots of carrots, beets, etc., and the tubers of potatoes. All of these crops respond well to a 4-8-7 fertilizer.

Waldoboro Truck Piled Into the Ditch—Winchenbachs Escape Bad Injuries

Jesse Trynor, 22, of Eastport, died at the Marine Hospital, Portland Sunday, six hours after a coach in which he and Fred R. Cheverie, also of Eastport, were riding collided with a truck near the Portland end of Martin's Point Bridge near the hospital. Cheverie was injured, but not seriously.

Thomas Winchenbach of Waldoboro, driver of the truck and his daughters, Phyllis, 13, and Hazel, 11, escaped with minor cuts and bruises as the impact hurled the ton-and-a-half vehicle off the road and onto its side. Winchenbach climbed out of the cab and hauled his two daughters out. He suffered several minor cuts and bruises and the girls escaped with a severe shaking up.

Police said the car Trynor was driving was a U. S. Government car, one of several being transferred from the Quoddy project to Boston. Both men had been employed at Quoddy.

Winchenbach told police he was returning home after having delivered a load of clams at Scarborough when the car Trynor was driving swept around the sloped curve at a fast clip and failed to make the turn. He said he was well on his own side of the road when he was hit.

Clippings From Old Papers Tell Of Big Flood and Bad Storm

I am sending a few notes taken from a copy of The Dover Gazette and Advertiser of April 24, 1852, printed in Dover, N. H., which I thought might be of interest to "Boze" and maybe others who live near the sea in Knox County. The storm which is referred to, occurred April 18, 20 or 21st, and to quote:

"The northeast storm which has raged since Sunday has been accompanied by several marine disasters though with no loss of life as yet. Schooner Franklin of Rockland, Maine, ashore at Hampton, high and dry. Crew saved, vessel not damaged. In the country the continued fall of rain has completely flooded the low lands, and the cellars of houses are filled. The Franklin went to pieces. Her cargo was corn and flour, part of which was saved. Another ship believed to be the Patriarch of Bath, Me., was also reported to be ashore on the beach near Emerson Rocks. Plum Island with the sea making a complete breach over her. The pilot boat Mary Taylor returned to New York from a cruise yesterday and reports having seen a brig hailing from Thomaston which had been wrecked the day previous. Made sail in direction of the hull, as directed by the captain of a brig, but dense fog soon after prevailed, so did not find her."

The Hartford Times of April 29 says: "The rainstorm for two days past has further raised the water in the Connecticut river, and it is now 15 feet above low water mark, and rising between one and two inches per hour, with prospect of a smart freshet." Another news item from the Portland Argus, reprinted in Dover Gazette: Arrived at this port Monday, Schooner Mt. Hope, port New York for Rockland. Same day near Boon Island fell in with wreck of schooner, foremast gone, mainmast started. Boarded her and found her full of water. Name so far under water could not see it. Was of about 70 or 80 tons. Hatches washed off and has been boarded before as she was stripped of chains, anchors, etc.

From the same paper comes this report of the storm in Dover. Quoted: The severe northeast storm which set in on Sunday last continued up to Thursday noon with great violence. On Monday the wind blew almost a hurricane and continued until Wednesday morning equalling the heavy gale of the 16th and 17th of April last year (1851) the time when the Light House on Minot's Ledge was destroyed.

The above items seem to show that the flood which has done so much damage this spring is but a repetition of flood conditions in past years. The main difference being there was less to be destroyed, in 1852, outside of shipping, than in 1936.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas floats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink. Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel 'up and up.' Harmonious, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else, etc.

Tenants Harbor Days!

From the record, April 13, 1886:

"Foggy this morning and tonight. White Head fog whistle is booming at 11 p. m., sounds easterly." By actual measurement White Head fog whistle has been heard at a distance of 15 miles. Chateau Crocker was situated about four miles to the south and west of it. My bed room was one flight up, on the eastern side and the windows looked out upon the harbor and over Hart's neck to the Atlantic Ocean.

When we had an easterly spell of about six weeks' duration and White Head fog whistle was blowing day and night, well—along about that end of the period somehow one took a dislike to the sound. To "They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters," when groping around in a dense fog or a blinding snow storm, the boom of that fog whistle must have seemed like angel's music.

Good, old Rock of Ages Light is likely to remain on the same site as long as they gave use for light-houses, while Cape Hatteras Light is to be given up, the sea having so encroached upon the sand.

This is an old one, but as Ye Editor puts it, "choicely good." Two men are talking about their respective birthplaces. Says one, "I was born on Cape Cod where sand underlies all the sod."

Says the other, "I was born in Maine where the Lord carried rocks in his hod."

LINCOLN COUNTY W. C. T. U.

Annual Convention Is To Be Held In Damariscotta April 29

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Lincoln County will hold its 47th annual convention at the Baptist Church, Damariscotta, Wednesday, April 29. An all day session, 10 a. m., 2 and 7:30 p. m. Rev. Ruth E. Walsh, who has been a student at the First Seminar of Alcohol Education recently held at Evanston, Ill., will bring a scholarly, interesting message concerning this work. A sweet singer (State Director of Music for Maine W.C.T.U.) her message in song will be a joy to all.

Every White Ribboner and all who are interested in the dethronement of John Barleycorn from the seat of honor in our State and Nation are invited to attend these services. Basket lunch.

Ex-Gov. Joseph W. Folk of Missouri said truly, "It is one thing to be against wrong; it is quite another thing to fight wrong. The one is a non-combatant that never won a battle. The other is a soldier in the fight."

The W.C.T.U. will not quit till the liquor traffic quails.

Mrs. Evie Morelen Studley,

Metropolitan Opera's Two Newest Members

Surrounded by officials of the Metropolitan Opera Association, who welcomed them as two of the newest members of the association, Anna Kaskas, Connecticut contralto, and Arthur Carron, tenor of London, England, celebrate their victory after the final broadcast of the "Met" Auditions, March 29. Left to right, are Earle R. Lewis, Mr. Carron, Edward Johnson, Miss Kaskas, and Wilfred Pelletier. Inset shows Miss Kaskas and Carron in jovial mood.

NO greater triumph ever reaches the heart of an opera singer than the moment when they are chosen as members of that musical citadel, the Metropolitan Opera Association.

On Sunday, March 29, the final program of a series of broadcasts, The Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air, two young operatic singers were chosen from some hundred singers which were auditioned for the popular program by the Metropolitan Opera committee on auditions.

Anna Kaskas, a young contralto from Hartford, Connecticut, and Arthur Carron, tenor of London, England, whose American debut was his appearance on the Metropolitan Auditions program, had reached their goals in a musical career.

Of Lithuanian parentage, Miss Kaskas studied at the Hartford Conservatory of Music, where she received two scholarships which enabled her to study in Lithuania. Making her debut at the Lithuanian Government Opera House, she received another scholarship which sent her to Milan to continue her study of voice culture.

Mr. Carron gave up an established career in England to come to the United States to study languages. At old Vic, on Waterloo Road in London, he was singing opera in English as his countryman, Charles Laughton, was making appearances in Shakespearean drama.

The Auditions committee, who made the selections, consisted of Edward Johnson, Managing Director of the Metropolitan Opera Association; Earle R. Lewis, Treasurer; Edward Ziegler, Assistant General Manager; John Erskine, Chairman of the Management Committee, and Wilfred Pelletier, Conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra.
