STRAND THEATRE

Fifi Dorsay is the one girl in all the world who can even approach Will Rogers at his own game, wisecracking.

Their first day together on the set during the filming of "Young As You Feel," Rogers' latest starring success which comes for Wednesday and Thursday was filled with a constant exchange of cracks until they had reestablished their old friendship started during their work in "They Had To See Paris," the picture in which they both scored their first talking screen triumphs.

"I can keep up with her as long as she talks straight American," Rogers explained to the amused cast, "but when she starts slipping in them French phrases on me I sometimes have to stop a minute to figure out just what she means. No sir, I got to take my French like I take a wild cayuse, slow and easy."

In the picture, also, Rogers, as Lem Morehouse, dyspeptic old widower, has to stop many times to catch his second wind, as Fifi in her portrayal of Fleurette leads him along the fast road that makes young people old and old people young—adv.

The Rural Child

Financial help is desired for the carrying on in Knox County the religious training of unchurched boys and girls of the neglected rural districts. The work is well organized, under a trained leader. It calls for financial support. Contributions sent to this paper will be promptly acknowledged and passed on to the treasurer of the Knox County Association for rural religious education. J. W. Robinson, to whom checks should be made payable.

From Grant's Kennebago Camps
Vesper A. Leach writes:
"Although away from the city for a brief period of rest and recreation, the always welcome Courier-Gazette has just reached me and I have read with much interest your editorial on the splendid work now under way in the Knox County Association for religious education in the rural sections. This seems to me a most worthy cause and without doubt it will have the hearty support of our citizens in general. Enclosed please find check for $25 for the work."

A CALL FROM MR. HATTON

Los Angeles Man, Summering At Port Clyde, Brings Interesting News Out of the West

The Courier-Gazette was much pleased yesterday to receive a call from one of its versatile Western correspondents, W. J. Hatton of Los Angeles, who, with his wife, is making an extended visit at the home of George Brown in Port Clyde. Bill and George are getting along in years, somewhat, but they are still boyhood cronies, enjoying every moment of these nice summer days.

Mr. Hatton, who is a retired building contractor reports, regretfully, that the real estate market in California is still dull; the industries are doing quite well, however, and as to crops—there'll be an abundance of everything. The cotton crops have done so well in the West and South that the Farm Board is seriously recommending the plowing under of one row in three in order that the market will not be ruined.

That tremendous Western project the Boulder dam, or Hoover dam, as it is to be known, will be an extraordinary undertaking, one of the first steps of which will be tunneling through a mountain to carry water from the river. The dam, itself, will be 750 feet high, the largest in the world. The construction of a city and a railroad were merely incidental.

Mr. Hatton foresees immense benefit to the Imperial Valley from this dam, bestowing upon it such fertility that this wonderfully productive tract can almost feed the world. Out of this valley this season were shipped 300,000,000 cantaloupes said to have no superiors anywhere grown.

Knox County farmers who are meeting with tolerably good success in the raising of alfalfa will be interested to know that it grows so rapidly in California that a ton to an acre is produced each month of the growing season.

The cost of living is very much cheaper in the West than it is in the East, according to Mr. Hatton. Turning to the political situation this well posted Westerner said:

"Some of the California Democrats are still indicating a preference for William G. McAdoo. California is strongly behind President Hoover, feeling that he has been beset by handicaps but that his firmness has kept the situation from becoming even more critical."

Asked as to the recent intimation that ex-President Coolidge might consider running again next year, Mr. Hatton said:

"Once before Calvin Coolidge said: 'I don't choose to run.' I think he will repeat that sentiment this year."

Mr. and Mrs. Hatton came East by the way of Houston, Texas; New Orleans and Washington. When he passed through Yuma, Arizona, the temperature was 114 in the shade. "I never got cooled off until I reached Thomaston," Mr. Hatton told a Courier-Gazette reporter.

Small wonder that he goes down onto the shore at Port Clyde, sniffs the briny air and the fragrant seaweed, and agrees that there are other Edens than those found in the Imperial Valley.

He will prolong his stay until November, and might stay all winter if it wasn't for the cold and stormy weather; although he is obliged to admit that the weather maps which he saw out in Los Angeles last winter showed the Rockland section to have been used with comparative gentleness.

THE THOMASTON PARADE

The big parade in connection with the American Legion fair at Thomaston tomorrow will start from the State Prison at 1 p. m., proceeding down Main street to Pine, down Pine to Gleason, over Gleason to Knox, up Knox to Main, disbanding at the Mall. The features will be 12 handsome floats, a division of horribles and the band. If stormy, then the next fair day.

AYRESHIRE OWNERS

Have Interesting Day In North Bath — Rockport Boy Prizewinner

More than 50 persons attended the meeting of the Maine Ayreshire Club at the farm of David and Elmer J. Rich at North Bath Wednesday. Even the rain failed to interfere with the gathering, the meeting being held indoors and proved of great interest. Picnic lunches were served at noon with Mr. Rich's family supplying the coffee.

Among the speakers were Elmer J. Rich who delivered the address of welcome and was followed by C. T. Conklin of Brandon, Vt., national secretary of the National Ayreshire Association; Prof. Corbett and Howe W. Hall of the University of Maine and others. A demonstration of judging dairy stock was given by the 4-H Club of Camden and was won by Howard Buzzell of Rockport.

The election of officers resulted as follows: A. F. Dean, Woodford, president; J. E. Purington, Litchfield, vice president; Dr. John A. Ness, Auburn, secretary and treasurer; Walter J. Rich, Camden; S. E. Moore, Skowhegan, N. A. Martin, Gorham, executive committee.

The guests enjoyed inspecting Mr. Rich's fine herd and complimented him upon having such excellent and well kept stock, some of which he will take to the State Fair at Lewiston.

THE NEW CHAPLAIN

Rev. Fr. Peter P. B. Franklin Already Making His Impression on Prison Affairs

The resumption of chaplain's services at the State Prison after an absence of several years is hailed with satisfaction by the officials and prisoners, alike, and the beneficial effects are already recognized.

Rev. Fr. Peter P. B. Franklin, who is a native of Derby, Vt., and a Disciparian, is the new incumbent in the office of chaplain. He is 38, married, and has one son, a boy of 6. Fr. Franklin attended Hillsdale College in Wisconsin and St. Stephen's College in New York specializing in prison welfare work. This is his first assignment and he counts himself fortunate that it brings him into association with Warden Charles E. Linscott, who has had an especially valuable training with penal institutions.

In his college days, Fr. Franklin was an active participant in football and baseball. He understands the needs of men, and those who are unfortunate enough to be behind the bars will find in him a faithful counselor.

WE WANTERKNOW!

More About That Coin

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
The coin mentioned by "A. Quire" of Washington is a civil war token. These were issued mainly in 1863-4 by private parties to relieve the scarcity of small change in that period. There are at least ten thousand varieties listed in catalogues of coin dealers. Some bear the names of merchants. Inscriptions such as "Our Country," "Army and Navy," "Our Army," "The Flag of Our Country," are among the commoner examples. One in particular is almost a facsimile of the small Indian head cent of the period, but the reverse side reads "Not one cent." Dealers sell them in lots of 100, all different, at five cents each. They pay much less. I have one of the Lincoln O. K. pieces and sixty others.

Those Black Raspberries

In response to the query of Wilbur P. Strong of Thomaston about black raspberries, Mrs. Helen Paladino comes forward and states that for many years her family has raised black raspberries, black currants, white currants and white strawberries. These small fruits grow in ordinary Rockland soil, and flourish from year to year. They were originally raised by Mrs. Paladino's grandmother and were quite common in those days. R. L. Jones of the Highlands used to raise black raspberries, although the vines died out a few years ago. Frank D. Healey has had a yard full of black raspberries during the season.

NO INTENTION OF RUNNING

E. C. Moran, Jr., Makes His Position Plain In Regard To 1932—Would Welcome Primary Contest

"I have no intention of being a candidate for any political office in 1932."

In this definite and decisive manner Edward C. Moran Jr., yesterday answered the question as to whether added interest it would create in the Democratic campaign.

"Thousands of Democrats now enrolled as Republicans, whereas if there was a live contest in their own party they would return to their own ranks."

E. C. Moran, Jr., Who Declares That He Has No Intention of Being a Political Candidate in 1932

he would accept a third nomination as the Democratic candidate for governor.

Mr. Moran who polled 65,000 votes when he went into the contest of 1928 untied and unknown; and who polled 67,000 votes in 1930 when the strength of both parties suffered the usual off-year decline; had already been quoted in the newspapers as declaring that he did not wish to be "a William Jennings Bryan," but yesterday for the first time he placed his position squarely on record, and the statement was made with a degree of finality which did not admit of doubt.

"The Democrats have an abundance of excellent material for a gubernatorial candidate," said Mr. Moran, "and I for one would welcome a primary contest, because of the

It is an unhealthy condition for Democrats to participate in Republican primaries and to actually exercise a considerable influence in determining who the candidate shall be in case the contest is close. I have in mind the City of Portland where there are only a few hundred enrolled as Democrats, yet in the State election for the past two times more than 6000 votes have been cast for the Democratic candidate for governor."

Mr. Moran tells of an interesting rumor which is in circulation in Bangor—namely that former governors Baxter and Brewster have patched up their differences, and that Brewster will support Baxter for governor, while Baxter will reciprocate by supporting Brewster for the Congressional nomination in that district.

MANK PLEADS NOT GUILTY

And Hearing Is Continued For Ten Days—Prisoner Is Brought To Knox County Jail

Arraigned before Judge Harold R. Smith in Lincoln County Municipal Court at Wiscasset yesterday William G. Mank of Waldoboro pleaded not guilty to the slaying of Redington Genthner of that town on July 13. The case was continued for 10 days and Mank was brought to Knox County Jail where he will remain until the final disposition of the case.

It was 6:30 p. m. when he arrived in Rockland, and he had already appeared in good spirits. He occupies a cell apart from the others and will be closely guarded.

Mank, who attempted suicide in Albany, was brought to Maine by Sheriff Greenleaf and spent Saturday and Sunday at the Cumberland County Jail.

The scene in the grand jury room when Mank met his wife and youngest child and his mother was pathetic. His family had arranged for Frank A. Tirrell Jr., of Rockland, to represent the accused man, who State authorities claim made a complete confession to them while in an Albany hospital.

This continuance of the hearing was at the request of Attorney Tirrell but County Attorney Hilton agreed to it and stated to the court that unless he received some definite information of the intentions of the defense before the time for the hearing he might on behalf of the State be obliged to ask another continuance.

The selection of Mr. Tirrell in this important case is another tribute to his known ability as one of the best criminal lawyers in the State.

Capt. Herbert A. Philbrook of the Eastern Steamship Lines underwent an operation at Knox Hospital Sunday, and is at his home recuperating.

BRANCH IS CLOSED

And Banking Affairs At Rockport Will Be Transferred To Camden Branch

Because business doesn't warrant it the Security Trust Company has decided to close its Rockport branch, the affairs of which will be transferred to Camden.

In yesterday's mail customers of the Rockport branch received this letter from the Security Trust Company:

"In August, 1927, the Security Trust Company purchased the assets of the Camden Savings & Trust Company, and since that time has operated a branch office there hoping that sufficient business might be developed in that locality to warrant its continuance as a permanent branch."

"We have, however, been unable to obtain enough business to put the branch on a paying basis, and as the prospects for future business do not warrant continuing to operate the branch at a loss, the stockholders upon recommendation of the directors voted to transfer the business to our Camden office, and discontinue the Rockport office as of Sept. 1, 1931."

"We have tried to conduct your business in a satisfactory manner, and hope you will continue as a customer of ours at the office most convenient for you, either at Camden or Rockland."

"Harold Davis who has been manager at our Rockport office since it was opened will be connected with our Camden office after Sept. 1."

MUSTER AT BATH

Seventeen Entries Have Already Been Made For the Labor Day Event

The fourth annual meeting of the State Firemen's association will be held in Bath, Monday, Sept. 7, at 9 a. m. The convention will be held in the auditorium at City Hall, and will be adjourned at 9:30 for the annual parade. The business of the association will follow.

The Maine Hand Engine League will hold its annual muster and playout the same day and place.

Both organizations will participate in the parade. As an incentive to a large and attractive parade, the State Firemen's association will give a valuable silver cup to the department making the best appearance in the parade. The only condition in making the award is that every member participating shall be a member of the association.

In the afternoon a playout of handbills will be held. At this date there are 17 tubs entered and more are expected.

STATE POLICE ACTIVITIES

Guardians of Maine's Welfare Made 260 Arrests During Month of July

State Highway policemen made 260 arrests in July, according to the department's monthly report.

Reckless driving arrests totaled 71 and driving while intoxicated 32. One hitch hiker was apprehended. Speeders caught numbered 17. Seventeen persons were arrested for operating unregistered automobiles and 30 for driving without operators' licenses. Twenty arrests were made for improper registration of cars.

Other arrests were made for failure to obey stop signs, eight; hit-and-run, 11; improper brakes, three; manslaughter, two; car theft, five; forgery, two; overloaded trucks, four; larceny, three; intoxication, 15; assault and battery, two; and one each for violation grade crossing law, runaway, parking, no lights, improper lights, obstructing traffic, resisting arrest, unlawful possession liquor and disregarding traffic signal.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

THIS, TOO, SHALL PASS AWAY
A mighty monarch in the days of old
Made offer of high honor, wealth and gold.
To one who should produce in form confession.
A motto for his guidance, terse, yet wise:
A precept soothing in his hours forlorn.
Yet one that in his prosperous days should warn
Of shadows near.
Many the maxims sent the king, men say:
The one he chose, "This, too, shall pass away."

Oh, jewel sentence from the mind of truth.
What riches it contains for age and youth!
No stately epic, measured and sublime,
So comforts and consoles for all time.
As these few words, go write them in your heart,
And make them of your daily life a part.

Has some misfortune fallen to your lot?
This, too, will pass away; absorb the thought!
And wait—your waiting will not be in vain.
Time glides with gold the iron links of pain.
The dark today leads into light tomorrow.
There is no endless joy, no endless sorrow.

Are you upon earth's heights, no cloud in view?
Go read your motto once again, "This, too, shall pass away." Fame, glory, and power.
They are but little bubbles of the hour,
Flung by the ruthless waves down in the dust.
Take warning and be worthy of God's trust.

Use well your prowess while it lasts; leave bloom.
Not blight, to mark your footprints to the tomb.
The truest greatness lies in being kind.
The truest wisdom is a happy mind.
He who despends, his Maker's judgment mocks.
The gloomy Christian is a paradox.

Only the sunny soul respects its God.
Since life is brief, we need to make it broad.
Since life is short, we need to make it bright.
Then keep the old king's motto well in sight.
And let its meaning permeate each day.
Whatever comes—"This, too, shall pass away."

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

The Courier-Gazette

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Me., Aug. 18, 1931.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydte, who on oath declared that he is the publisher of the Rockland Courier-Gazette, and that the issue of this paper of Aug. 15, 1931, there was printed a total of 6182 copies.

Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God.—Matt. 5:8.

FAMILY ECONOMIZING

Los Angeles, community profile in the vagaries of divorce, presents this week in the news despatches a feature suggesting the unique. It reads:

Although divorced from her husband, Albert A. Bennett, Mrs. Agnes E. Bennett will remain in his home as housekeeper. She was housekeeper for her former husband before their divorce. "As a wife she disappointed me," Bennett told the divorce judge, "but I like her cooking." Mrs. Bennett will draw alimony of $50 a month while working for her former husband.

Here is a convenience in the arrangement of household affairs which we have heard matched in only one instance. That was when a Rockland man—no longer with us, but in his lifetime known to all—took in marriage the lady who was filling the responsible position of housekeeper in his widowed home. One day, a clever thought came to him. "Why, at your time of life," he asked him, "did you go into matrimony?" "Well, it was this way," he candidly made reply. "You see, I was paying her wages of three dollars and a half a week, so I married her. Three dollars and a half a week is worth saving."

THESE EATING-PLACES

A pleasing feature is contributed to the summer vacation season in Knox County by the attractive eating places set up for public service. By the easy roadside, planted high up among picturesque folds of the hills, or set at the edges of the ocean where the tang of the sea adds zest to the ceremonies of the table, they are to be encountered, ready with quick response to provide the visitor with what shall yield to the eager vacation appetite a proper measure of delight. There is an inviting sense of hospitality in the quaintness of the names these places bear, which receives confirmation when one sits down to the table spread with seasonable foods, so intelligently provided by our clever down-east cooks. And what a boon to the housewife, who in the midst of hot and busy days can with their service solve the problems created by visiting friends and so be spared that nightmare burden of serving meals at home. We hope these places enjoy a handsome financial return. They surely deserve it.

BLAINE STORY NEEDED

We are far enough removed from the period in which James G. Blaine was so striking a figure to expect from Mr. Russell's "Blaine of Maine" a well balanced presentation of the character and achievements of that great political leader. Apart from the writings put forth in connection with his presidential campaign, and Gail Hamilton's not very comprehensive story, the reviews of his relations with that period in the country's affairs with which the Maine statesman was so intimately associated, and in many instances took a dominant part, have had no special value. Mr. Russell's book will be welcomed. Noting that the publishers in gathering illustrations for the volume have after long search come upon a stereoscopic picture of Blaine's birthplace, we are curious to know if they are aware of the existence of a bust of the statesman, only one copy of which we have ever seen, and that is in possession of the editor of this paper. We have been told that only two copies were made.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

Tomorrow sees staged in Thomaston another of those public occasions which the people of the old town so well know how to crown with victory. This time it is the American Legion that takes the stage, with its annual fair, a recurrent event that has each year been visited with a success that is not likely now to be with-held. We know of no community whose people better illustrate the potency of the spirit of get-together than these citizen, young and old, of Thomaston. When they unite upon a purpose, "Ca ira" is the French of the Revolution used to cry. "It will go on."

RECALLING THE PAST

Writing from her home in Stamford, Conn., Mrs. W. P. Huxford says: "I have read with much pleasure The Courier-Gazette's story of the dedication of the new Montpelier. When a child of 10 years or younger (now 86) I used to visit Thomaston and have never lost my interest in the town. The Rev. Mr. Woodhull was pastor of the Congregational Church there. My father (Rev. Samuel C. Fessenden) was pastor of the church of the same denomination in East Thomaston (Rockland now) so the two families were frequently thrown together. Mrs. Lucy Woodhull Hazlett, later residing in Bangor, was State Regent for several years of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Her daughter, Mrs. Porbes Rickard, lives in Denver and I would like her to see the story of the dedication."

NOTABLE PICTURES COMING

Manager Dondis Gives Results of Recent Conference With Paramount-Public Managers

Characterizing the new product of the motion picture industry which is to be released here, beginning at once, as the "greatest move forward in the history of the show world," Manager Dondis of Strand Theatre, returned from a conference in Boston with General Manager Mullin and Assistant General Managers Branton and Cuddy. At this conference with the heads of the Paramount-Public industry in New England, an industry which, by the way, has $40,000,000 invested in New England, Manager Dondis secured an unqualified promise that the entire product of the new show season will be shown here.

"I am so enthusiastic," said he to a Courier-Gazette reporter, "that I am at a loss for adjectives with which to describe my delight. The new pictures about to be released for Public Theatres for the coming season are actually a revelation. I am so enthused with the new product—a great part of which I viewed in Boston—that I have not the slightest hesitancy in placing my personal guarantee on every one of these new pictures. The theatre-going public has never before had offered for its entertainment anything approaching this new product. The new releases are so far superior to what has gone before that there can be no basis of comparison."

Bearing out his enthusiasm, Manager Dondis briefly commented on some of the starting new hits to be shown here in rapid succession. "The Smiling Lieutenant" is outstanding in its entertainment value. "An American Tragedy," from the famous novel by Theodore Dreiser, is the most thought-giving, interesting picture one could imagine. "Huckleberry Finn," immortal classic, is actually better than "Tom Sawyer" and everyone knows how good that was. Besides these there is "Silence" with a great role for Olive Brook, and a better one for Peggy Shannon. There is "Secrets of a Secretary," which Paramount will release in September and which brings Claudette Colbert again. "I might go on indefinitely," said Manager Dondis, "but let me add only a few more. 'Daughter of the Dragon,' with Warner Oland, Anna May Wong and Sessue Hayakawa; 'The Road to Reno,' with nine stars, 'Monkey Business' with the Four Marx Brothers, 'My Sin' with Tallulah Bankhead and Frederic March. 'From the other companies we are to receive also the cream of their offerings. Fox will give us such mighty entertainment values as 'Young As You Feel,' with Will Rogers; 'Merely Mary Ann' with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell again over-starring; 'Transatlantic' with a list of stars so great as to almost overwhelm; 'Bad Girl' a flashing winner, and others.

"From Warner Brothers comes John Barrymore in stories brimful of romance and action; Marian Marsh, over whom Hollywood is now raving; William Powell, Kay Francis, George Arliss, and scores of other great stars in such pictures as only these stars could produce. 'United Artists will give us 'Unholy Garden' with Ronald Colman and 'Palmy Days' with Eddie Cantor. Columbia is to offer us such marvelous pictures as 'Dirigible,' and many others. From First National we shall receive such pictures as 'Five Star Final' with Edward Robinson, a story which was the biggest hit of the last season on the Broadway stage; 'The Star Witness' with Chic Sales, and others of this type.

"Messrs. Mullin, Branton and Cuddy share my enthusiasm and they have promised me most emphatically that theatre goes here shall have everyone of these new products as rapidly as released. We actually take our stand right beside Hollywood, and Broadway, and become a theatre centre of note. That is not merely a figure of speech. By showing in our theatres such pictures as these we rob Broadway of its lure and bring to our own people an opportunity of seeing at first hand the very best pictures ever offered the public.

"It is the actual dawn of a new era for motion pictures and over the horizon the sun which heralds the advent of a new day for the amusement world is already casting its light."

LEADERS WELL BUNCHED

Thomaston Will Make Bid For Second Place In the Game At St. George Tonight

This Week's Games
Today—Thomaston at St. George.
Wednesday—Camden at Rockland.
Friday—Rockland vs. Thomaston at Rockland.
Saturday—St. George at Camden.

The League Standing
Thomaston regained some of its lost ground Saturday but is still half a game behind St. George and two full games behind Rockland. The standing:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Rockland	10	6	.625
St. George	8	7	.533
Thomaston	8	8	.500
Camden	6	11	.353

Thomaston 2, Camden 1
Nine innings of baseball were played in a constant drizzle at Community Park Saturday afternoon, yet the spectators saw one of the best games yet played in the Twilight League.

They saw Kirkland, the auburn haired lad from Wapello Camp hold the mighty Camden sluggers to two hits, one of which did not come until the last inning, when Camden scored its only run. They saw Bennett pitch a game which would ordinarily have been won by the only Thomastonians who were really successful with him being that Tippy Feehan lad, who has come to be one of the top-notch batters in the league; and "Eb" Grafton, who can always be counted upon to be a dangerous man with the stick when hits are needed. Thomaston had the bases full in the second inning with only one down, but King Spruce handled Lawrence Sawyer's grounder very nicely, and Bennett fanned Burns, to the infinite disgust of the smiling and smiling Thomaston backstop.

Thomaston had the bases full in the second inning with only one down, but King Spruce handled Lawrence Sawyer's grounder very nicely, and Bennett fanned Burns, to the infinite disgust of the smiling and smiling Thomaston backstop.

The fans were leaving the ground when Camden opened the ninth, but the exodus was halted when Thomas hit L. Sawyer, and the latter fumbled. At this juncture George Boynton hit the ball a tremendous clout, and as it bounded far into center field the fleetfooted Thomas scored from first. With nobody out, a man on second and only one run needed to tie, a tense situation suddenly developed. Thomaston's anxiety was relieved slightly when Spruce fanned. Then came that double play—Bennett to Feehan and Feehan back to Bennett—and the game was over.

The spotlight shone on Boggs when he made a one-hand and backhand catch of Boynton's fly into short center; and again when he laid down that pretty bunt in the fourth. Grafton, Dally, and Boynton pulled some nice ones out of the outfield skies.

FREE WHEELING SLOGAN

Recent Contest Had 60,000 Entries—Winners Are Announced

The Free Wheeling Patents Corporation through Rockland Garage Co., local Studebaker dealer, announces the winners of the $10,000 Free Wheeling Slogan contest: First, Mrs. C. L. Isley, Jr., of Memphis, Tenn.; second, H. B. Grimm of Chicago.

"The Free Wheeling Slogan Contest demonstrated conclusively that America is entirely conscious of the numerous outstanding virtues of this new principle of motoring," according to the management of the Rockland Garage Co. "Every aspect of free wheeling—safety, thrill, thrust and handling ease—came in for its share of attention from the contestants. Men seemed to react most enthusiastically to the thrill and thrust which free wheeling provides. Women, on the other hand, seemed to be most favorably impressed by the new degree of motoring safety and increased ease of handling."

"Many of the contestants in the contest presented their slogans in extremely novel forms. Some carved images in soap to illustrate their slogans. One slogan was printed on a miniature signboard, illuminated by tiny electric lights. Another was elaborately worked out in gold leaf on a chromium background and included a photograph of the author also worked into the metal. Others were tooled in leather and artistically worked out on parchment scrolls. Elaborateness of detail, however, was not considered in judging the slogans. The only consideration was the descriptive virtue of the slogan itself."

MRS. HOWARD E. PERKINS

The death of Mrs. Howard E. Perkins, 53, of Sanford, formerly Eva Minot Kalkoff of Thomaston occurred Aug. 8, following an illness of only two weeks, and came as a shock to her many friends in this vicinity. She was born in Thomaston, daughter of the late Judson and Medora (Burton) Kalkoff and spent her girlhood in the family home on Thatcher street. She graduated from Thomaston High School in 1895 and her schoolmates still remember her reputation as a brilliant student. Following graduation she entered the employ of the Thomaston Herald as typesetter and remained with that paper until it was discontinued some years later, at the last being assistant manager in charge of the office. She was also in the employ of the Rockland Daily Star during a temporary suspension of the Herald. She was of unusual ability in business affairs, public-spirited and progressive, and worked eagerly in many good causes. She was active in the Episcopal Church, and was very popular in the town's social life, her kind and generous disposition winning her a host of friends.

During visits to relatives in Sanford she became acquainted with Howard E. Perkins of that place, and their marriage took place 22 years ago. Since then she was able to make only infrequent visits to her old home, being first detained by business cares and later by a long period of ill health. However she never lost her interest in Thomaston and Rockland and kept in constant touch with her friends and relatives here. She was manager of the Sanford Postal Telegraph office for several years and was associated with her husband in the Sanford Insurance Agency, having full charge of the latter office while Mr. Perkins was the Sanford postmaster.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Perkins' nearest surviving relatives are two aunts, Mrs. Annie Burton of Reading, Mass., and Mrs. Sadie Taggett of Sanford; and three cousins, Miss Jennie Moody of Waban, Mass., Miss Charles Kalkoff of Pawtucket, R. I., and Mrs. Edgar Newhall of Rockland. Her only brother, Merrill Kalkoff died a few years ago, and her mother died a year ago, after making her home with the Perkins for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins were in Thomaston as recently as last Memorial Day, when in company with her cousin, Miss Moody, Mrs. Perkins took great pleasure in renewing old friendships.

Funeral services were held Aug. 10 from the late home, 14 Emery street, Sanford, Rev. Chester P. Butterfield, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church officiating. Interment was in the Perkins family lot of the Oakdale cemetery and Mr. Perkins' six brothers acted as bearers.

FRANCES (HAYDEN) ROUNDY

J. Frances (Hayden) Roundy, the daughter of Charles M. and Jessie B. Hayden was born at the home of her grandfather William H. Banton at La Grange, Aug. 24, 1883. She spent most of her early life in South Thomaston. She graduated from Kents Hill Seminary in 1904, taught school various parts of Maine and then in 1908 entered the government service, working in the Pension Bureau at Washington.

Dec. 14, 1914, she was married to Paul V. Roundy, a geologist in the U. S. Geological Survey. She was a charter member of Captain Wendell Wolf Chapter, D.A.R., of the District of Columbia. Its first secretary, 21 years ago, and at the time of her death had just completed a three year term. She was an active worker in the Sons and Daughters of the American Republic and held the position of State vice chairman. She was a member of the Metropolitan Memorial M. E. Church of Washington, where she taught Sunday School for many years.

Funeral services were held in the church Aug. 12 and interment was in the cemetery of South Thomaston beside her mother. She is survived by her husband, two sons—Paul Vere Jr., and Willard H.—her father, Charles M. Hayden; and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Woodhead of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Mrs. Samuel Norwood were recently guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ludwig at Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Waltz, who have been living in Cambridge for six weeks during the time that Mr. Waltz was attending Harvard summer school, returned to Warren Sunday and will spend the vacation with Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Rokes.

The Baptist ladies circle will serve supper next Thursday at 5.30 standard. The following committee will be in charge: Mrs. Emma Wyllie and Mrs. Carrie Butler. At 7.30 a good program will be presented in the church as follows: Piano duet, "Invitation a la Danse-Weber," Mrs. Irene Young and Mrs. Louise Dewart; vocal selections, Miss Helen Thompson; piano solos, Cadiz and Albeniz, Mazurka Op. 50, No. 2, Chopin, by Miss Irene Young; vocal, "There's a Rainbow Shining Somewhere," and "The Little Old Church in the Valley" by the boys' trio; quartet selections, Mrs. Carrie Butler, Mrs. Virginia Thompson, Chester Wyllie and Charles Wilson; piano solo, Miss Helen Thompson; readings by Miss Tena McCallum; vocal selections, Charles Wilson; piano solo, Mrs. Louise Dewart; quartet selections, Miss Helen Thompson, Mrs. Virginia Thompson, Chester Wyllie and Charles Wilson; piano duet, "Qui Vive," Gans, Miss Irene Young and Mrs. Louise Dewart. An unusually promising program and everyone is welcome to attend.

Miss Marion Mahoney of Lowell, Mass., is visiting her aunt Mrs. Lucy Taylor.

Crowded schools such as have not been known in recent time Warren will have the coming year. Hinckley Corner primary school which has between 20 and 30 pupils would have had 40 this year and Malcolm Corner Primary nearly as many, but various plans were considered to relieve this situation, and finally Mrs. Mathews, who has so faithfully and efficiently taught our grammar school for some years, was asked to try having an extra grade in her room. This will make the grammar school very much crowded, as there will be nearly 50 pupils and three grades instead of two. This arrangement will leave the first three grades at the primary schools, the fourth and fifth grades at the intermediate, and the sixth, seventh and eighth grades at the grammar. All schools will open for the fall term, Sept. 8.

Thomaston's Famous Legion Fair comes Aug. 19. Grand Parade at 1 o'clock. If stormy, next fair day. Be on hand. 96-99

WEATHER
This is another beautiful summer morning, with clear blue skies and wind northwest. Temperature at 7:30 was only 62 but there is power in the sun these days and it will soon be much warmer. Noon temperature yesterday was 80, strong northwest breeze. It was a nearly perfect day and the sunshine was welcomed by farmers with late hay standing and by housewives who enjoyed the first good Monday washday in several weeks. Rockland's weekend weather was not much to cheer about until Sunday afternoon when the sun broke through the clouds; Saturday being cloudy with late afternoon showers and Sunday also dubious in the forenoon. A growing moon is now adding its charm to the early evening skies, and visitors are rioting in the vacation joys of this admirable summer.

Miriam Rebekah Lodge meets tonight, when nomination of officers will take place.

The Auxiliary of Sons of Union Veterans is to have a bridge party this evening at Grand Army hall.

The date of the joint meeting of Knox and Lincoln Pomona at Whitefield, has been changed to Aug. 21.

Miss Edna Watts of the Burpee Furniture Co.'s clerical staff retired upon her annual vacation yesterday.

The John A. Carl Co. has had a crew at North Haven the past 10 days painting the C. G. Weld and the Pingree cottages.

The concluding appearance of the Summer School Players at Bates College last week was in James M. Barrie's fascinating three-act play "Dear Brutus." In the cast of this play was Richard Hodson of Reeds Ferry, N. H. and South Thomaston.

Portland will have spoken drama at the Jefferson this winter as arrangements have been made to present road shows. Michael T. Garrity, manager has been in conference with a theatrical chain and a meeting in connection with the "Save Our Stage" campaign was held the past week.

Camp Laughing Loon at East Waterboro which has Viola and Maizie Joy and Betty McAlary among its girls was made possible through the beneficence of Mrs. Frank E. Hobbs of South Waterboro, president of the board of directors of the York County Y.W.C.A. The girls' camp is of great value to health, ideals and spirit, and with the companionship of other girls, they have opportunity to enjoy land and water sports, nature study and craftwork. The girls range in years from 9 to 16. The camp is situated on the shores of Little Ossipee Lake.

The public is invited to attend the first flower exhibit of the Rockland Garden Club to be held tomorrow at the Country Club at 3:30 p. m. The admission will be 10 cents. Efforts are being made to have this first exhibit a huge success, and many novel and interesting features are being arranged, among which will be the display of ancient and modern tea tables. Mrs. E. F. Glover will have charge of the former which will be laid with beautiful china and silver of olden days; Mrs. Glover herself will be garbed to fit into the picture. Mrs. Arthur P. Lamb will arrange the modern tea table, which promises to be the last word in present day ideas. Anyone may exhibit flowers whether member of the club or not.

Charlotte Alley, proprietor of Lady Knox Beauty Shop, 328 Main street, wishes to announce that Mildred May has joined the busy staff. Mrs. May specializes in hair cutting. Call 780 for appointments.—adv.

Thomaston's Famous Legion Fair comes Aug. 19. Grand Parade at 1 o'clock. If stormy, next fair day. Be on hand. 96-99

Don't miss any of this week's ball games. The season is rapidly narrowing.
Robert Foster, who has been at a training camp in New York for two weeks, returned home Sunday.
There is to be a meeting of the "Fairless Fair" committee of St. Peter's Church Thursday at 7:30 at the rectory.
The light signal which summons the police has been transferred from Oliver block to the front of the Burpee Furniture Store.

Mr. Sherman and Mr. House of House-Sherman Inc., are in Bangor attending a two-day convention of the Majestic radio.
The Knox County General Hospital Nurses' Alumni Association meets Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Matters of importance to be discussed.

Letter Carrier Carlyle U. Brown is having his annual vacation part of which is being devoted to teaching trips to the new arrival.
Everett L. Spear has bought the John Simpson house on Rankin street, and it will be occupied by his son Erwin after extensive improvements have been made.

Mrs. Nellie Bean, Elm street, Thomaston, is to entertain Edwin Libby Relief Corps at picnic supper Thursday night at 6 o'clock. Take treats and dishes. A jolly time is planned.
Austin Sherman, not to be out-classed by others of House-Sherman, is wearing white flannel pants. "Don't wipe your hands on them, Austin," is the injunction of his fellow workers.

Automobile drivers note with approval the work underway at Orr's Corner whereby probably the worst curve on the Augusta road will be removed as well as the sharp curve half a mile beyond.

The highway department has done a most commendable job in cutting the bushes on the street side of Chickawaukie Lake as far as the Rockport line. Now if that section of the highway only matched Rockport's.

Mrs. Carrie K. House is driving a new Chevrolet special sedan. Mr. House says he is putting in the first good Monday washday in several weeks. Rockland's weekend weather was not much to cheer about until Sunday afternoon when the sun broke through the clouds; Saturday being cloudy with late afternoon showers and Sunday also dubious in the forenoon. A growing moon is now adding its charm to the early evening skies, and visitors are rioting in the vacation joys of this admirable summer.

An Educational Club executive board meeting is called for noon Thursday at Knox Arboretum in connection with the club's picnic. Reports are urged from ward workers and the nine vice presidents who constitute the 1000 members drive committee.

Alderman Ralph P. Conant, who returned the last of the week from a vacation trip to Springfield, tells of a fine stretch of new cement highways across New Hampshire. Their value is due in part, of course, to the fact that Thomaston made cement is being used.

With four passengers from North Haven aboard, John F. Sullivan left this city last Wednesday, bound for Old Forge in the Adirondack Mountains. It continued to rain until next day, and there were hours on a stretch when the fog was so dense that Mr. Sullivan could scarcely see ahead of the car. He spent Thursday night in Milford, N. H. and was back home Friday with the speedometer recording 1000 miles.

Free tickets to Park Theatre, ten of them are being given Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, with the first classified ads received at the Courier-Gazette office after 8 o'clock. That means that with any ticket for sale to let or other classified ad running the regular three insertions, you receive free a ticket good for any performance of the current shows at the Park, afternoon or evening Saturday is excepted. Charles S. Hall, acting in behalf of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce, kept a check for five hours Saturday of out of State cars passing through Main street and recorded 813. The States having the largest representation were: Massachusetts, 355; New York, 135; New Jersey, 78; Connecticut, 70; Pennsylvania, 42; Rhode Island, 18; Illinois, 15; Florida, 20; New Hampshire, 13; District of Columbia, 8. Other States represented were Ohio, Texas, Michigan, Maryland, Vermont, Virginia, Missouri, Arizona, Nebraska, Kansas, Indiana, California, Nevada, North Carolina, South Carolina. Other license plates noted were Nova Scotia, Porto Rico, Ontario and Territory of Panama. The last named car is owned by Murray Wright of Balboa, Canal Zone, and bears on the front the Territory of Panama license on the rear the Canal Zone license.

Rev. Harry C. Leach, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Hacksawack N. J., who is summing at Pleasant Beach, preached at the First Baptist Church Sunday, giving his many friends in this vicinity opportunity once more to hear him in live and helpful messages. Mr. Leach expressed his pleasure at once more speaking in the church in which he was converted, becoming a member by baptism, and in which he received his call to the ministry. While he came here for the first time, last year for the summer season, he declared it probable that he may never go elsewhere for his vacation, so favorably impressed is he with the scenic beauties and grandeur of the Maine coast. He wondered if people hereabouts appreciate the wonderful scenery and charm of this Maine coast section. Mr. Leach was particularly happy in his morning illustration of the palm tree, using the first four verses of Psalm 92 as his text, because he has lived in lands where palm trees are abundant. In the evening his topic was "The Living Christ."

The Methebesee Club is to have an outing tomorrow at the Crescent Beach cottage of Mrs. Suella Sheldon. Transportation may be arranged with Mrs. Thelma Snow, telephone 1039.
The summer meeting of the Knox County Fish and Game Association will be held at the Camden Yacht Club Wednesday night Aug. 26. It is expected that Dr. Codman will be the guest of honor.

A cat which had evidently been run over by an automobile dragged itself into the brook yesterday forenoon and its agonized condition led neighbors to notify the police. Patrolman Ingraham put the feline out of its misery.

The public must not expect too much of the city dump if the public is not willing to do its share toward keeping it as clean as possible. Recently somebody drowned a dog there at high tide, using a 50-pound rock. At low tide the dog was left exposed to the elements on the flats and at last accounts had bloated to abnormal size and was rotting.

In answer to many questions it is stated that the annual game between the Rockland Old Timers and Vinalhaven Old Timers will be played at Community Park Thursday of next week. Under the arrangement now planned the game is to be called at 1 o'clock in order that the players may be through and have had their supper in time to see the Twilight League game scheduled for that night. All members who have participated in these games in the past, and those who have been recipients of Vinalhaven's hospitality are asked to report to Willis I. Ayer or Milton M. Griffin what they plan to do this year. The time is short and the committee wishes to complete arrangements as speedily as possible.

There are at present a few vacancies for the Ordnance Specialists' School, Baritan Arsenal, N. J. The courses are of nine months' duration. After graduation the men will be sent to ordnance companies overseas. The following courses are taught, and the man may select whichever one he desires: Armorer, blacksmith, equipment repairer, machinist, artillery mechanic, munitions worker, auto mechanic, sheet metal worker, welder, carpenter and clerk. To be eligible for one of these assignments, a man must have had at least two years High School, must be over 21 years of age, and preferably under 25. He must also pass the physical examination that exists for applicants entering the U. S. Army. For further information call or write U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Postoffice building, Rockland.

A REBELLIOUS TRUCK

Ran Amuck On Main Street This Morning and Smashes Berman's Window—Kenneth Wiggin Injured

The heart of Rockland's business district was furnished with a bit of excitement this forenoon when the Thurlow ice cream truck shot across from the foot of Limerock street and crashed into the southern window of Berman's Clothing store.
One of the plate glass windows was smashed and the woodwork beneath it was damaged.
Kenneth Wiggin, former High School athletic star was the driver of the truck and left it for a moment to deliver a consignment of ice cream. While he was thus occupied somebody moved the car ahead and left it in gear. It was in this condition when Wiggin undertook to crank it, and to the amazement of the driver started across the street on a bee line. Wiggin jumped onto the running board in a gallant attempt to stop the car, but an ice cream container had jammed the brakes and it took the whole block to stop it.
Wiggin received severe bruises to one side and leg, but no bones appeared to have been broken.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT HERE

Passed Through Rockland Yesterday In Boston Bound Plane—Gov. Gardiner Also Takes a Flight

Yesterday witnessed the restoration of Rockland as a link in the air transportation chain between Bangor and Boston, and when the big Sikorsky eight-place plane dropped down at the seabase of the Maine Air Transport, Inc., in the forenoon it had on board a passenger who is just now in the national spotlight.
The visitor was Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York, who very likely will be the Democratic candidate for the Presidency next year. Gov. Roosevelt has a summer home at Campbell, New Brunswick, and was heading back to New York to prepare for the special session of Legislature which he has just called.
Other passengers out of Bangor on this plane were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hopkins and G. McDonald. Out of Rockland, on the flight to Boston were L. S. Lewis, Nona Shute, Daniel Goldberg and Phil Delaney, traffic manager of the Pan-American Airways.

Leo Terletzky was pilot of this plane and Radio Operator Moon was on the job.
General Traffic Manager J. E. Thomas is in the city on business connected with the Bangor-Boston airline, patrons of which will find a very courteous field manager at this port in the person of Kermit R. White.
Another Governor Flies
Roosevelt of New York was not the only governor aloft yesterday, Gov. Wm. Tudor Gardiner of Maine made his debut as an air passenger, flying from Bangor to Fryeburg with Pilot William H. Winocapaw.
The flight of 60 miles was made in 35 minutes, and a nice landing was made on Lowell's Pond. Gov. Gardiner proved just as good a sport in the air as he is on land or sea, and was delighted with his experience.
He delivered an address at Fryeburg Academy.

The paved area on the western side of the federal building looks today as though a cyclone had struck it. The concrete surface has been torn up and new paving will be laid, the city bearing its proportional part of the expense. One of the most interested spectators yesterday was Patrolman Ingraham, who recalls that he did pick and shovel out at that job when Contractor Howard laid the concrete many years ago.

The police hall at Oakland Park last night was patronized by 500 persons who danced until midnight to the strains of Leo Doucette's best music. Patrolman E. C. Ingraham was floor manager, but all of "The Finest" had a share in making the affair such a complete success that it earned the compliments of all who attended. Because of the heavy expenses the net receipts will unfortunately not be nearly as large as at the annual police ball a year ago.

Freeman Perry, Allen Perry, Arnold Allen and Anson Pryor have returned from North Haven where they have been painting the past ten days.

JOHN A. NUTT

The death of John A. Nutt which occurred at his home on Pine street Aug. 6 brought sadness to the neighbors and friends who had held in high esteem for many years the fine example set by his industry and integrity. While he had been in poor health for some years, his death came suddenly and painlessly.

Mr. Nutt was born in Rockport on Jan. 21, 1856, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nutt. His marriage to Mattie Greenlaw of Oceanville took place about 45 years ago, and of the union were born six children, all of whom survive: Mrs. Ralph Harrington of Brewer, Ralph Nutt of Glen Cove, Miss Margaret Nutt, Mrs. Herbert Curtis, and Misses Susan and Alma Nutt, of Rockland. Other survivors are three grandchildren, one great grandchild, a brother, Reuben of South Portland, and a sister, Fanny of Boston.

Mr. Nutt with his family came to Rockland about 17 years ago, during which time he has been an upright citizen, kind friend and neighbor. He was devoted to his family, especially to his grandchildren and the little great grandson. He was particularly devoted to his little granddaughter, Diane Curtis, who was born in his home and has always lived nearby so they could become "pals."

Funeral services were held Saturday morning from the late residence, with Rev. J. Charles MacDonald, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Bearers were William Sullivan, William Grafton of Thomaston, Herbert Curtis, Herbert Brazier of Glen Cove, Foster Fifield and Ralph Harrington of Brewer. The floral tributes were very pretty. Interment was made in the family lot at Rockport.

MRS. SYDNEY F. SNOW

Word comes of the death at Providence on Aug. 11 of Helen W. (Hayden) wife of Sydney F. Snow of 297 New York avenue, where the funeral services were held the following Thursday. The deceased, who was in her 27th year, was the daughter-in-law of Capt. and Mrs. Frank H. Snow, who are related to the Rockland family of that name, Rear Admiral A. S. Snow being Capt. Snow's uncle. The two families, who live together, including a three-year-old child, started Monday for a ten-day motor trip through Maine, but a sudden ill attack compelled return to Providence and a hospital operation, from which the young mother was unable to rally.

MRS. GEORGIA MANSON

Georgia A. (Gibson) widow of William F. Manson, late of Rockland, died last night in Bangor, where she had made her home the past three years with her daughter, Mrs. Carus T. Spear. Funeral services will be held at 208 Norfolk street, Bangor, at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The remains will be brought to Rockland, and her prayers will be offered at Achorn cemetery at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

The deceased was a native of Gardiner and 69 years of age. During her residence in Rockland she was especially prominent in fraternal affairs, having been a charter member of Golden Rod Chapter, O.E.S., a member of Pleasant Valley Grange and the Golden Cross. She belonged to St. Peter's Church and Auxiliary. She was a faithful attendant and devoted worker in all of these organizations.

She is survived by one daughter, Bessie M. wife of Carus T. Spear, a granddaughter, Dorothy F. Spear, and leaves two brothers, James T. and John H. Gibson of Gardiner.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father and the Great Master of our Being in His continuous search among His children here on earth to find those most qualified to enter that Great Paradise above not made with hands eternal in the heavens, there to receive eternal peace and rest in that great haven of God, has passed at the doors of Pleasant River Grange, No. 492, to take from our midst one of our members most worthy of this great honor, but one who can least be spared from our home circle, in the person of our beloved Sister Juliette E. Burgess; therefore be it
Resolved, that Pleasant River Grange, No. 492, has at this time met with the severest loss during its period of existence, but however heavy our loss may be, we realize the loss of the bereaved family is far greater, and we commend them to the keeping of Almighty God who in His wisdom doeth all things for the best, and extend to them at this time, their first great sorrow, our sincere and heartfelt sympathy.
Resolved, that as a mark of respect for our departed Sister, and to the bereaved family, all of whom are valued members of our Institution, we adopt a charter in mourning and wear our badges in Memoriam for a period not less than thirty days; and be it
Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, a copy be spread on our records, and a copy be sent to The Courier-Gazette for publication.
Respectfully submitted,
Daniel A. Gross, P. M., Addie M. Bucklin, C. G. W. Ames, Sec., Committee on Resolutions.

The Tea that comes to you
"Fresh from the Gardens"

SUMMER SWALLOWS

By Jane Rogers

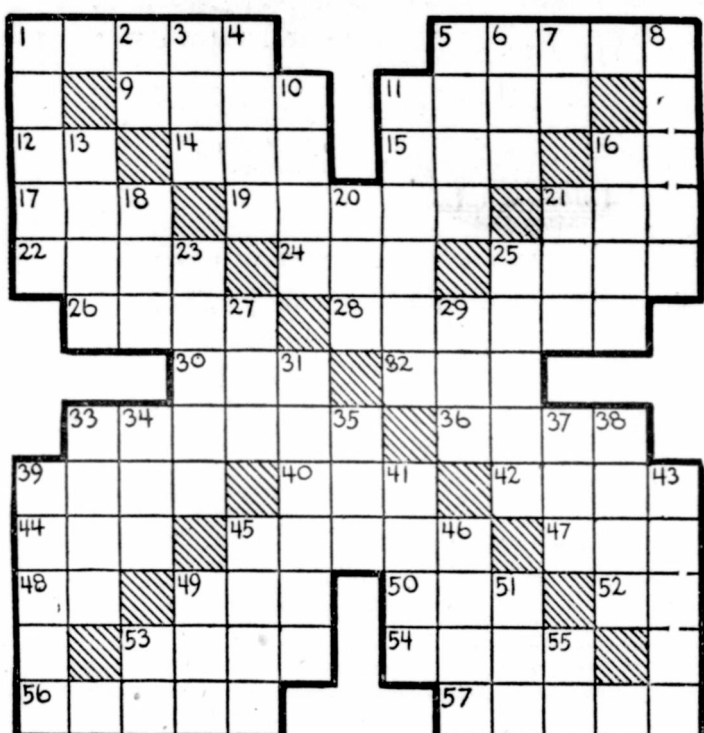

WHEN the "Mother, what can we do now?" stage comes on some blistering afternoon, let the children help you make an iced beverage for the family. Helping mother will prove a fascinating occupation with the reward of a delicious cold drink in view, and science tells us that the sugar used for sweetening is the best possible driver away of the afternoon fatigue that visits children as well as adults during the dog days.

Florida Special
Mix the juice of six oranges, three lemons and one grapefruit. Dissolve one cup of sugar in three cups of hot tea and add to the cups. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving add one pint of ginger ale. Put cracked ice or ice cubes and a maraschino cherry in each glass.

TWINS' AGES DIFFER

The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dana E. Achorn of Morrill, Roberta Annie and Alberta Marie, born Friday, Aug. 7, and Sunday, Aug. 9, have the distinction of having 36 hours difference in their ages.

Roberta Annie was born at 11:55 o'clock, Friday, Aug. 7, and Alberta Marie, at 1:20 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 9. The former weighed 6½ pounds and the latter 7½ pounds. Roberta always will be able to boast of being the elder and Alberta must ever pose as little sister.

EAST WALDOBORO

Miss Winnie Morrison, who has been spending the summer with Mrs. G. J. Mank has returned to Newport. Miss Arlene Jones of Unity is now with her aunt Mrs. Mank.

Mrs. Lucretia Kaler spent Wednesday with Mrs. N. S. Reeve.

Fern Winchenbaugh and family of Massachusetts who are passing their vacation at Friendship were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Mank.

Charles Flanders of North Waldoboro recently visited his brother John Flanders.

Harold Merriam and son Harold of Boston are visitors at James Mank's.

Miss Marian Flanders gave a party Wednesday afternoon to six of her girl friends in observance of her 11th birthday anniversary. Miss Marian received several pretty gifts. Games were on the program and refreshments served. Those present were Dorothy Orff, Arlene Jones, Winnie Morrison, Madeline Rines, Vera Jameson and Margaret Mank. Four others were bidden but owing to the inclement weather were unable to be present.

DANGER OF REVOLUTIONS IN EUROPE, SAYS EXPERT

Simonds Fears World Economic Crisis May Cause Civil Strife Within Nations.

New York.—There is no chance of a new war in Europe for some years to come. But there is danger of a revolution.

So declares Frank H. Simonds, leading American authority on foreign affairs. Mr. Simonds spent the winter in Germany and Poland; recently he went to Geneva and France.

War is now out of the question, Mr. Simonds writes in the Review of Reviews, because all Europe, with the possible exception of France, is too poor. Moreover, no people, beginning with the French, desires war or could be depended upon to march to battle.

Not war, but internal revolution as a result of the economic depression is the fear which besets European leaders, Mr. Simonds says. "When I left America months ago," he writes, "opinion was dominated by the impression created by the various explosions of nationalism, of which the most typical were Mussolini's speeches and Hitler's program. On the basis of these symptoms there was a growing fear that Europe was on the threshold of a new war, which would again be general rather than local. Even when I came to Berlin and Warsaw I found not a few evidences of the universal adherence to purposes which could hardly fail in the end to lead to collision."

"Nevertheless, once one comes in touch with a wider and more general European opinion, it is clear that while many peoples are indulging in national trades which seem to forecast international conflict, the real shadow which is darkening the minds of the wisest and most reasonable Europeans is the fear not of foreign, but of domestic strife. Foreign ministers, prime ministers, public orators and newspaper editors are warning and threatening their opposite numbers across frontiers, but they are looking with grave attention to dangers at home."

"The campaigns of various nationalisms designed to make Germans hate Poles, Poles fear French, and Frenchmen multiply their defenses to guard against a new 1914, cover a far more profound phenomenon. This more deadly danger is that Germans will hate Germans; Italians detest Italians; workingmen abominate employers; labor league against capital—all to the point where, instead of imaginary international conflicts, Europe in general will be faced with civil strife."

Koo Asks China to Give Back His Residence

Peiping.—Dr. Wellington Koo, who was Chinese minister to Washington in the earlier days of the republic and served the government in Peiping several terms as minister of foreign affairs, has formally asked the government in Nanking for the return to him of his private residence in Peiping in which Dr. Sun Yat Sen died March 12, 1925.

Since the death of the Nationalist leader Doctor Koo's residence has been retained by the Nanking government, and early this year he renewed his request for the return of his home, which he desires to occupy. The government is said to have replied that the residence is being permanently used by the Kuomintang as a memorial hall and cannot be restored to the man who so cheerfully placed his home at the disposal of the Nationalist leader, but if Doctor Koo will set a reasonable price the Nationalists are willing to buy it and maintain it as a memorial hall. Doctor Koo is said to desire his home more than the money, no matter how much may be offered.

Four Accused Murderers Locked Up in Same Jail

Toronto.—Four accused murderers are imprisoned in the York county jail here for the first time in the jail's history.

One has been convicted of murder, another allegedly has confessed and two are awaiting trial.

David Steinberg, tombstone maker, convicted of having shot his nephew and business associate to death, and then having set fire to his office, where the body lay sprawled over a desk, has an appeal pending.

John Brockshire and Harry Clarkson, alleged slayers of Police Constable Roy Quillan, are being held until Brockshire, wounded by policemen, gains sufficient strength to appear in court.

The fourth man charged with murder is Ambrose D. Greenhill, twenty-nine-year-old engraver, who, police say, confessed to having shot to death Montague Jack Hamilton, his "boss," for reasons which he refused to divulge.

Youth Blinds Shark

When It Attacks Him

Brisbane.—Sharks aren't so much, according to Stanley Roser, eighteen, who recently staged a quiet but with one of the men-eating fish. While swimming the shark attacked him, sweeping up from beneath with a furious rush. Just as the shark closed in on him, Roser extended one of his fingers and pushed it directly into the shark's eyes, ending the struggle.

THE gingerbread house was a delightful place. You could walk right up to the cinnamon door and bite into the spicy lintel, as Hansel and Gretel found out. The succulent delights of that gingerbread childhood mansion are still possible through a simple culinary magic in the gingerbread dessert which is for all the world like an edible cornucopia from that fairy-tale structure.

Gingerbread cup cakes, warm and brown, split in the middle, spread with smooth "Philadelphia" Cream Cheese, topped with an architectural triumph in cream cheese squeezed from a pastry tube or paper cornucopia, and set in a foundation of the same melting lusciousness, makes a holiday dessert out of everyday elements.

Vacation Meals

DURING the summer months is the time when everybody should take a few hours away from the grindstone. The house mother needs a vacation as much as any worker, but usually, a picnic is but an added burden unless everybody takes a hand in planning and preparing the food. Have everything simple, easy to prepare and then let the young folks do the work; it will be good experience and give mother a rest, if it is possible for her to give up the idea that no one but herself can pack a lunch.

With the frying pan, take along some eggs and bacon. Scramble the eggs, add the crisp bacon which has been fried and kept hot, serve as a sandwich filling, on well buttered bread. Young green onions or a simple salad, or a cucumber and radishes, go well with such sandwiches. For the youngsters, take milk, lemonade, or cocoa, which may be carried in a thermos bottle. Coffee, too, may be prepared at home, but one of the pleasures of an outing meal is cooking it. Coffee never tastes better than when cooked in a tin pot or pail on a campfire.

French fried toast goes very nicely for a camp hot dish. This is easy to prepare by beating an egg, adding a little milk and a pinch of salt and sugar. Fry in a little hot bacon fat or the slices may be fried on the sheet-iron stove, where all may be cooked at once.

Tomato and Egg Sandwich.—Fry an egg on both sides, not too hard. Put between slices of bread with sliced tomato and onion. This makes a good meal with a cup of hot coffee.

NEW YORK'S "RADIO CITY" MINATURE "FUTURE CITY"

Sacrifice Air and Street Rights Worth Millions for Spaciousness and Light.

New York.—New York's busiest midtown zone will soon be the scene of the greatest adventure in city rebuilding ever attempted in America. Three great rectangular blocks, the equivalent in area of eight or ten ordinary city blocks, are now being cleared, and on this plot will rise the $250,000,000 "Radio City," a monumental group of ten buildings designed to be the future entertainment capital of the nation.

Due to the extent of the operation, the builders will, for the first time, have the opportunity to plan the proper spacing of buildings and streets so as to provide maximum light, air and convenience of traffic, the American Architect points out. The result will give the nation of today a miniature preview of the city of 50 years hence.

The project, backed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the radio interests, will include three great theaters for opera, dramatic and musical productions, and sound motion pictures, with provisions made in the latter for presenting television reproductions of different events when television is sufficiently developed to permit of its commercial application.

Twenty-seven radio and television studios, ranging from theater size to intimate rooms, will be incorporated in a single building. The most interesting building from a visual point, however, will be oval in shape and 15 stories in height, facing Fifth avenue in the heart of its smartest shopping zone. The tallest building in the group will rise 68 stories in the rear center of the plot and will be flanked by two other towers of fifty-four floors.

The allowance for light, air and spaciousness—an important factor usually ignored through necessity in smaller building operations—is very interesting to city planners. Two of the buildings facing Fifth avenue will rise only eight stories. These will flank the oval building of 15 stories, thus providing a wide open vista from the taller buildings behind. The two streets now running through the plot will be widened to provide additional spaciousness, and a new street running north and south will be cut through the center of the three blocks. In the heart of the center block will be a spacious and ornamental plaza.

An underground shopping center will take in the entire area at a level 17 feet below the street, while below this will be an extensive parking space which also will provide entrances to each building for freight deliveries.

Beauty Queens Fly From Mice and Stink Bombs

Berlin.—Three hundred white mice and a quantity of stink bombs have been used by 500 National Socialists to stop a revue of "beauty queens" at the Palais theater, Nuremberg.

"Miss France," who entered to the music of "The Marseillaise," had already been banished by the management on account of an earlier protest.

But it had not occurred to them that "Miss Germany," being dressed in tatters to suggest that Germany is very poor, would cause offense. The protesters took the view that it was unpatriotic to present a shabby "Miss Germany" among smartly dressed young women representing other countries.

The beauties of the stage ran in terror for the doors when the white mice scurried out of the open boxes which had been thrown among them, and the nauseating smell of the stink bombs made the women in the audience flee into the corridors.

Czechs May Lay Claim to Island of Jan Mayen

Paris.—The foreign office at Prague has sounded out the other governments of Europe to learn whether there would be any objections to Czechoslovakia laying claim to the island of Jan Mayen, an island north of the sea of Long Island, lying north of Iceland and west of Greenland at 90 W. 71 N.

The island is rich in coal and iron and would make an excellent air base for flights over the North pole. Since the war Norway has looked after the island, but has never proved its claim.

Proof Found That Dawn Age Man Lived in U. S.

Washington.—Proof that the Dawn age man existed in the United States is said to have been found by Dr. James A. R. Scherer, director of the Southwest museum. It is said that the discovery has been made in Gypsum cave, Nevada, of bones believed to be more than 20,000 years old, in a strata bearing stone refuse.

Mediterranean Heat Oven

Nice.—The mystery of the warmth of the Mediterranean has been solved. Scientists find that the sea acts like a great oven which absorbs the heat from the cloudless skies and retains it. It is a great bottle, whose outlet at Gibraltar is a shallow strait but 670 feet deep shutting out the cold waters of the Atlantic.

NORTH CUSHING

Bad Night for Traveling

By C. E. MCORMACK

THE night was cold, bleak, and dark. "Ugh! what a beastly night to start on a long journey!" said a traveler, "but it cannot be postponed. The business in hand will brook no delay."

He shivered in his fur coat as the high wind sent him scudding along at a rapid pace to the railway station, a miserable little place, as cold and cheerless as the night. One passenger, a pretty, young woman, sat on a dilapidated bench and looked about her in fear and trepidation, as though she feared some monster would pounce upon her and devour her. Apparently she had never traveled alone before. When the traveler came in, her face brightened up for a moment, then looked fearful again. He watched her furtively. "What brought her out on such a night?" he muttered.

In about ten minutes the train pulled into the station and both travelers got on and went into the same car. The woman sat in front of the man. He gazed at her for a moment, then forgot all about her, so absorbed was he in thinking of "the business in hand." Presently, however, he became painfully conscious that something was wrong when he heard a half stifled cry, and looking at the woman, saw that she was sobbing.

He hesitated to speak to her, thinking she might resent what she considered impertinence. As he sat pondering the matter, wondering what to do, the train suddenly stopped with a great jolt and the woman, frightened, jumped up and screamed, "There! I knew it would happen. We've jumped the track!" And she continued to scream and scream.

The few other passengers in the car, mostly men, looked at her and one of them laughed.

"Stop that laughing," commanded another one, jumping up, "or I'll break every bone in your whole body."

"Oh, you will, will you?" snarled the laughing one. "Well, come on, just you try."

During this melee the woman kept screaming, "O, I knew it would happen. I knew it. Why did they insist upon my taking this journey?"

The traveler, hoping to quell what promised to be a riot, cried out, "Silence, gentlemen, I beg of you, until we find out what is the matter with this lady."

"Mind your own business," they shouted, "the lady, doubtless, is capable of minding hers. And, anyway, if she wanted to scream she had a perfect right to, since the train apparently stopped where it shouldn't."

And they continued to argue. The battle of words was distracting. "This noise must be stopped," cried the traveler. At that moment the lights went out. This had the contrary effect to what he expected. The lady stopped screaming and the men stopped talking.

After a few moments of intense silence the lights flashed on again and the train started. The traveler looked at the lady. Now she was composed and tranquil. The men likewise.

"What a curious psychological problem has presented itself for my observation tonight," was the thought that flashed through his mind.

For the moment this problem drove all thought of his business out of his mind, and in trying to solve it he sat deep in thought. Then, "Eureka! I have it. The lady, no doubt, has been reading something that made so deep an impression on her mind that it became an obsession, causing much mental anxiety. The thought of the possible danger if the train did jump the track assumed such gigantic proportions in her mind that all other matters were relegated to a second place. So, naturally, when she was obliged to set out alone on a journey she immediately began to conjure up all sorts of dire happenings. That was why she cried. And when the train stopped suddenly with a jolt, which is a common occurrence when traveling, her mind was so overwrought she immediately imagined the worst and began to scream. But when the lights went out, which was an occurrence that might, justifiably, have caused fearful forebodings, she became calm again. When the real cause for mental anxiety presented itself, the unreal cause became apparent at once, and she saw how irrational she had been."

At this moment the lady was making desperate efforts to control her mirth. But to no avail. After a short struggle it had its way and a merry laugh rang out in which everybody joined. "Whereupon she said," "Fellow passengers, I owe you an apology for causing so much disturbance. I am glad it had no unfortunate or lasting effect. But I wish to sound this note of warning. Don't ever read a book like this," and she held it up, "before starting on a long journey. If you are sensitive it may have the same effect on you that it had on me. It is responsible for what might have been a great misfortune, but, happily, turned out all right."

All the passengers crowded around her to see the book. It was entitled "The Railway Wreck." Again the car resounded with hearty laughter.

And now comes the most interesting part of this story. As a result of that chance encounter the lady and the traveler, Matthew Blake, Esq., came to the wise conclusion that this world would be a dreary old place to live in if they did not share one another's joys and sorrows.

AT LAKEWOOD

Margaret Wycherly, star of "The Royal Family"

When "The Royal Family" is presented at Lakewood, starting Monday night, Aug. 24, the theatregoers will have an opportunity to watch one of the most successful plays of the last few years. "The Royal Family" ran for an entire season in New York and it has been praised by everyone as one of the wisest and most delightful of comedy-dramas. It shows the home life of a famous theatrical household. Whether or not the story is based on the Barrymore family is a matter of debate despite the authors' strenuous denials. The Cavendishes live in a duplex apartment in the East Fifties and they stand together, united against the world although they have their own internal dissensions.

Following "The Royal Family," Edith Barrett comes for a special week in "Michael and Mary."

Saturday afternoon, Aug. 22, at 2:30 daylight, a performance by Paul's Puppets will be presented at the Lakewood theatre. This troupe of Marionettes has won much praise throughout the south and the matinee has been arranged at the request of hundreds of patrons who have requested an afternoon performance at Lakewood. Four plays will be presented by the puppets, "Cinderella," "Red Riding Hood," "Jack and the Beanstalk" and "Undersea Fantasy."

EAGLE

On the evening of Aug. 13 Miss Marjorie Stinson of Sunset, who is employed at Eagle, gave a birthday and engagement party at the Community house. She was the recipient of many useful, ornamental, and a few joke presents. Ice cream and cake were served and there was also a handsome birthday cake with 19 candles. The summer residents joined with the natives in games, and all enjoyed the occasion. Music was furnished by phonograph and organ.

WOMAN CLAIMS WENDEL WEALTH

Based on Ancient Document Proving Secret Marriage of Grandmother.

New York.—While the machinery of the law is going ahead with the task of dividing up among many far-flung charities the vast Wendel fortune, a middle-aged woman in Wickford, R. I., whose adult life has been spent in washing dishes and cleaning house for others is hoping that the lawyers will be able to get a slice of several millions for her.

She is Mrs. Charles E. L. Hayward and she is pinning those hopes on a certificate yellow with age that she says proves her grandmother was the secret bride of John Gottlieb Wendel, Jr.

It was John, incidentally, who insisted that his sisters never hearken to the voice of Cupid, then if Mrs. Hayward's story is correct—stole away one day in answer to that same voice to become a husband and, eventually, a father.

Last of Family Dead.

Mrs. Hayward's claim is one of the few that seem to have any basis among the hundreds that have poured in to administrators of the fortune since the last of the rich and aristocratic Wendels passed away the other day in the person of aged Miss Ella.

Here, according to Mrs. Hayward and her friends, is the story of John Gottlieb Wendel's secret romance:

He was still a young man, and John Gottlieb, Sr., still was living when, it is said, he met pretty, black-eyed Hannah Holt, from Alton, N. H.

Young Wendell was just out of Columbia university. His father was strict—as strict as he himself was to become in later years, but he and Hannah found ways and means of avoiding the parental eye.

On July 10, 1855, it is claimed, John Gottlieb Wendel, Jr., and Hannah Holt eloped and were married in East Greenwich, N. Y., by a justice of the peace named Stewart.

At that time, young Wendel was in business in Albany.

Daughter Is Born.

In September, 1856, it is claimed, a daughter, Bertha, was born. Up to this time John Gottlieb Wendel, Sr., had not learned of his son's marriage, but shortly thereafter, it is stated, he did hear of it.

Young Wendel, so the story goes, was given his choice between the Wendel fortune and his wife and child—and chose the fortune.

Bertha Wendel, it is stated, when she grew to womanhood, was married to Edward Davis, a sailor. That was in 1884.

The following year, their daughter—said to be the present Mrs. Hayward—was born.

Whether John Gottlieb Wendel, Jr.'s sisters ever knew of this supposed branch of the family is not known. If they did, they did not recognize it. Bertha Davis, it is stated, died in the Rhode Island Home for the Poor at Cranston in 1912.

Traffic Ticket Fixing

Taboo in San Francisco

San Francisco.—Prominent citizens, or those with "a friend on the force," are finding it hard sledding when it comes to squaring a traffic tag.

The traffic law enforcement board of San Francisco has decided on 52 weeks of rigid adherence to the statutes, with special emphasis on the rule that no department of the city government shall "fix tickets."

"There are too many temporary safety drives and other spasmodic efforts at enforcement," one board member said. "People get the idea form safety weeks that they can violate the law at other times. The campaign of education is over and it's time we made the streets safe every day in the week."

Thieves Chloroform

Blind Man and Dog

Toledo, Ohio.—A penny and a few stamps rewarded robbers who held up blind Max Rader and chloroformed him and his dog, Duke. Max gets around well for his seventy-two years, but while the aged man and his dog were returning home two bandits pressed chloroform bags against their noses and left them unconscious.

Max awoke first, and revived Duke with water he always carried for him, and the two staggered into the Lincoln hotel.

Washington.—The Washington monument is perfectly sound, and will remain so for ages.

Engineers of the department of public buildings and parks so declared in commenting on reports that the 555-foot shaft is crumbling away in ten-pound chunks.

The part that crumbles occasionally is a marble facing that covers the granite blocks, and these blocks are 15 feet thick at the base, it was pointed out.

Lanny Ross Would Give Up Radio Stardom for the Law

Lanny Ross

If you were a young man—And were a radio star—And sang to millions of women every day—

And received hundreds of letters telling you how good you were—

And had every prospect of your name becoming as well known as that of the President—

Would you even be tempted to give it all up?

In the old days most people had a hankering to go on the stage. Nowadays most everyone wants to be a radio performer. But Lanny Ross, who, as the Hellmann Troubadour, sings every day over the WEAF chain, plans to become a lawyer.

Singing to him is a hobby, and work before the microphone a means of making money to pay for his law courses. Since his graduation from Yale in 1928 he has been studying at Columbia University, and within a short time this young man whose mail already is among the largest in the N. B. C. studios hopes to be a full-fledged barrister.

Whether Lanny Ross will give up his radio work not even he, perhaps, knows. It is just another decision in a career which offered several paths. He was a star track performer at Yale—he was A. A. U. champion in the 300-yard indoor race for two years—and he might have become a coach or the director of some athletic club. He is a skillful painter, and he might have elected to develop this talent.

But he inherited a splendid voice from his parents, who were vaudeville performers, so eventually he found himself in the limelight—although he was already working towards the law.

Before General Foods Corporation, maker of Hellmann's Mayonnaise, signed him up for the present series of mid-day programs, he sang as the Troubadour of the Moon on Saturday nights, so late that most people had gone to bed, but not so late but that thousands of listeners heard him, became Lanny Ross fans, and began to make a habit of staying up.

His present program is modeled on the pattern of his earlier one; it is a series of mid-day programs, he sings in what many of his listeners have called his "golden, God-given voice."

The idea of love songs at mid-day—or even earlier in the West—has been in radio, and one which the makers of Hellmann's Mayonnaise have found is extremely popular with the women listeners.

Fewer, Well-Seasoned Vegetable Dishes Replace Quantity Offerings of Grandmother's Day

THERE was a time, not so long ago at that, when the housewife felt it necessary that the principal meal of the day should always include three or four, or on special occasions even five, vegetable dishes.

Tables groaned under the weight of vegetables—potatoes, corn, beets, tomatoes and carrots—and the strange part is that everyone accepted this as a matter of course.

Today, the housewife with one eye cocked toward the family budget and a wealth of dietetic and culinary advice at her fingertips, has learned how to limit the vegetable courses to two or possibly three dishes, and still meet all the demands of health and appetite.

Science has taught her that it is possible to provide all the vitamins, calories and other food elements needed by active people without stuffing them until they resemble the proverbial Thanksgiving turkey.

But along with the reduction in the quantity of foods served has come an added responsibility for the quality of the dishes. The few vegetables should be served more attractively and with flavor more in mind, than were the four or five dishes of grandmother's day.

In France, methods of seasoning that give added zest to vegetable dishes have long been familiar to all experienced cooks and one of the seasoning agents most frequently used for this purpose is sugar. A small amount—just a dash—helps to restore the natural sweetness which the vegetables lose after being picked, and when two or more vegetables are cooked together it tends to blend their contrasting flavors.

A few housewives have long used a little sugar in cooking certain vegetables, but not until recently vegetables as a whole.

The sugar has another value recognized by science, but not so widely known to housewives. It is a quickly assimilated energy food which becomes available for muscular use within a short time after it is eaten.

Thus, with this new trick of seasoning, not only is the flavor enhanced, but the food value of the dish as well.

Among the outstanding events was the concert given Aug. 8 in the church by members of the Harvard University Double Quartet. The concert in North Haven was the 20th one of the series, and in some seven or eight instances requests for a repetition of the concert this year. The leader of the quartet is Douglas MacKinnon, and a North Haven young man, Norwood Beverage, who graduated from Harvard in 1932, is one of the singers.

Friday there was held in Library hall a sale under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary Dept. of Massachusetts, for the benefit of disabled ex-service men. The articles on sale were those that have been made by these men in different states. Those in charge were three ex-service men. On the executive committee of the auxiliary is Mrs. George A. Agassiz. The men report a generous patronage.

Seldom has the fog seemed thicker than it was Sunday morning when the Morse came in. It was extremely low tide and it is surely a good pilot who can bring that boat up to the wharf on time in such a fog without bumping something.

There was a good attendance at the church services Sunday. In the morning Mrs. Lester Stone and Miss Albra sang; also Mrs. Bogie of Fall River contributed for the third time a beautiful violin selection. At night Ernest Jones, student at the Gordon Bible College was the speaker. The address was an excellent one, "Workmen Approved of God." Next Sunday the former pastor, Rev. Milton G. Perry, now assistant pastor of the Dudley St. Baptist Church, Boston, will preach. The flowers each Sunday furnished by Miss Blanche Cushing have been very beautiful and greatly appreciated.

Friday afternoon upon the parsonage lawn takes place the annual church fair under auspices of the Ladies' Guild, from 2 to 5, daylight saving. There will be fancy articles for sale, cake, candy and grabs, and with a good day a fine attendance is expected.

SAN ANTONIO ON THIRD CENTURY

Texas City Claims Municipal Existence Equaled in Length by Few.

Washington.—San Antonio, Texas, city of 230,000 population, has just celebrated the passage of 200 years since it was founded with a handful of colonists as a "villa" or civil settlement of King Ferdinand III of Spain. Only seven cities of the United States that have reached the 200,000 population mark can claim such a long period of municipal existence, according to a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

"The little Spanish and Mexican town was so remote from the American communities along the Atlantic coast and their extensions into the Mississippi Valley," says the bulletin, "that it has existed under its alcade and council for three-quarters of a century almost unknown to people of the United States before the forts that grew into Buffalo and Chicago were established. The Texas municipality had approximately half a century of history behind it when the first settlements were made at San Francisco and Los Angeles."

"The settlement at the site of San Antonio really came into being 13 years before the municipality was established, so that the community has existed for 213 years. The first white men came to live there in 1718, the same year in which New Orleans was born. These pioneers were Frenchmen, who had traveled overland across deserts and wilderness for 900 miles from settled communities in Mexico. They established their mission on the banks of what is now the San Antonio river, and some years later built on the spot the mission church of San Antonio de Valero. By a strange fate this church lost its name and became the historic 'Alamo.' But its name, on the other hand, was passed on to the river city of today."

Alamo Is Shrine.
"The Alamo still stands in San Antonio, facing its palm-shaded plaza. It is owned by the state government and is a shrine to Texans because, during the War of Texas Independence Against Mexico, its entire garrison of 188 Texan soldiers, refusing to surrender, were annihilated."

"Differing from most American communities, the settlement that became San Antonio had, in its early days, a threefold aspect—religious, military, and civil. The settlements were actually separate, although within a few thousand yards of each other; the Mission of San Antonio de Valero, the Presidio (or fort) of San Antonio de Bexar, and the Villa (or town) of San Fernando. Eventually the three settlements were merged. All three names are preserved today. San Antonio in the city and river, Bexar in the county, and San Fernando in the beautiful twin-towered cathedral of Spanish architecture that rises above the Plaza."

"For the first century and a quarter of its existence, San Antonio was almost wholly a Spanish and Mexican town. Its better buildings were low, flat-roofed, mud-brick (adobe) structures; and its poorer ones were 'jacals,' the humble stick and mud straw shelters of the poorer Mexicans. Immigration set in after Texas joined the United States in 1845, and by the outbreak of the Civil war the population was approximately one-third Mexican, one-third American, and one-third German."

"At this time San Antonio had been on the frontier; beyond was a wilderness of mesquite bushes. After the Civil war this wilderness was opened up by ranchers for great herds of cattle."

"With the arrival of railways in the late seventies and early eighties of the past century, the city became a rapid growth that has eradicated most of the marks of Mexican village and 'cow town,' and has transformed it into a modern American city. Where one-story adobe stood the city now has its hundreds of eight and ten story buildings, and a few number of structures that tower thirty odd stories above the adobe level."

Form Link With Past.
"Strung out to the south down the San Antonio river valley for nine miles is a series of four mission churches, partly ruined, that were built about the time of the erection of the Alamo. About each of these dingy legends of the days when Spanish padres dreamed of Christianizing the savage Indians of Texas and making them into communities of agriculturists."

"The San Antonio river, meandering through the heart of the city, gives to San Antonio a flavor that no other city has. It is a river that flows from the mountains of the Spanish range, and its waters flow along it, crossed by more than four score bridges. Traversing the busiest streets the pedestrian will find many times an unexpected glimpse to the right or left of lush lawns set with trailing willows sloping down to a narrow ribbon of water. The San Antonio river springs full grown from great springs within the city limits. It is a small stream and has been supplied with a cement bed and banks throughout most of the business district. Local drainage is carefully conducted from it, and its little valley, shaded by semitropical foliage and brightened by beds of flowers, forms a continuous park."

At the Baptist Church Thursday evening there was a good sized audience to view the work and listen to the exercises of the children of the daily vacation Bible school. The results were very satisfactory and showed plainly that much good is being accomplished by these schools. The children have been very enthusiastic. The display was from the two schools, one in Burketville and the one in this place. Elizabeth Meservy received the award for being the first to commit the memory work, followed by several others who later accomplished the same. Many thanks are due all who helped in any way. The two schools were under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. Louis E. Watson of the Baptist Church.

Got Into Wrong Green Overcoat

By ROSE BENTLEY

ELEANOR saw the broken chain of her bag dangling from the pocket of a snarling green overcoat. Buttoned inside the topcoat was a tall man, who seemed in a hurry.

She did not cry out—that was not the Bradley way. She simply left the crowded car and followed the man in the green coat. Eleanor's quick, pattering feet stopped short as the man suddenly paused under a lamppost and whirled about. His right hand thrust into his pocket as if in search of a weapon, and then remained there. His other hand awkwardly went up to remove his hat at sight of the girl lingering timidly near by.

"You were following me?" he asked shortly.

"What have I got to do with it?" "You should be ashamed of yourself!" she cried in sudden indignation. "You know it is in your coat pocket this very moment."

Then his right hand came out of his pocket and with it came Eleanor's pretty beaded bag with the cut and broken chain dangling. His face was a study in angry astonishment. She saw that his gray eyes flashed like steel as he faced her.

"I don't know who you are, madam," he said slowly, "but from what you say you seem to be the owner of this bag. Have you formed any idea of how it came to be in my pocket?"

Eleanor laughed sarcastically. "The car was crowded," she murmured reminiscently, "and it was easy for anyone who wanted to— a pickpocket, I mean—to cut the handle of the bag and put it into the side pocket of my overcoat. And when the owner discovered the loss of the bag, the car was stopping and she saw a man in a green overcoat alighting, and she saw the handle of her bag hanging from his pocket—that is all."

"That is only the beginning," he laughed shortly, "for I did not know the bag was in my pocket until I heard footsteps behind me and turned to see who it was—putting my hand in my pocket as I did so—and voila! The bag!" He put it in her outstretched hand with a little bow. "I hope you will believe me."

"Thank you," murmured Eleanor, longing to flee and very much afraid to in the presence of this cool young criminal.

He stood aside so that she could pass on. They were near the corner, and just around the corner was the pretty row of bungalows where her brother lived, if she could only reach there in safety.

"I am afraid you did not believe my story, after all."

"It was a very—very nice story, indeed," she assured him, as she hurried away. She did not go far. Before she reached the corner there was the sound of running feet.

The man in the green overcoat was still standing under the lamppost, and coming swiftly upon him from the rear was another man, also in an overcoat that looked green. This was seen by the man in the overcoat that he pointed at the first man, as he cried hoarsely:

"Give me that bag, see?" "What bag?" asked the first youth.

"The dinky handbag—it's mine—I wasn't meant to have it and I'm foolin'!" The hand that held the weapon descended upon the head of the victim.

Eleanor remembered that there was a police whistle in the pretty bag in her hand, and she blew it shrilly.

The man bending over the prostrate form of the other man and dashed across the street and straight into the arms of a policeman, who carried him away to jail. Eleanor told her story in a shaky tone, but she did not mention the matter of the beaded bag, and the prisoner was haled into court on a charge of assault.

The police whistle had summoned all the residents of Green Terrace, and among the foremost was Eleanor's brother. He went into the crowd gathered about the unknown man. He helped bring him to consciousness, and when he was once more on his feet, the man in the green overcoat suddenly gripped John Bradley's arm.

"Hello, John Bradley! I was on my way to see you!"

"The dickens you were—Is it Roger Lewis? Here, Nellie, this is Captain Lewis. You remember how he saved my life in France? Nellie is my sister." Doctor John hustled his belated and elegantly dressed guest toward home, and Eleanor hovered demurely near by. Her thoughts were chaotic. That heroic friend of John's—and she had insulted him—called him a pickpocket!

In the living room Eleanor told her story, and Captain Lewis grinned foolishly as he described his feelings upon finding the strange bag in his pocket. Later in the evening he murmured to Eleanor, "What do you think of my story, Miss Bradley?"

"I still think it was a very good story—a true story, after all."

"Some day—but never mind—that is another story," he muttered, and it was another story indeed—the sweetest story ever told—and she believed that, too!

Mother Kiwi and Her Eggs

While clearing some brush in a secluded part of New Zealand some men came upon a mother kiwi sitting on two eggs which weighed over thirteen ounces each. Happily they did not harm it. The kiwi was once plentiful in New Zealand, but is now only seen in the unfrequented bush-covered hills. It has small wings, but has lost the power of flight through not using them.
