WHY WHITE OPPOSED

Senator Wallace H. White opposed the Guffey coal bill in Senate floor debate because, he said, he felt it would result in "unjustifiable profits to the company owning mines advantageously located geographically."

"It will artificially add to consumers' costs," he said "at a time when rising living costs already are sounding alarm to the people of this nation. It is the beginning of the breakdown of the anti-trust statutes of the United States."

KNOX COUNTY'S TAXES

Commissioners Make Their Promised Reduction, Small But Very Welcome

At Tuesday's session of the county commissioners the taxes for the current year were assessed, and true to the promise made in their annual report there is a welcome reduction, in which all of the towns share except Warren, Washington and Matinicus, which have a very slight increase due to higher valuation.

The tax rate this year is .00216422, or 11.3 mills lower than in 1936. The total valuation, including wild lands, is $20,330,655. Follows the tax list:

CAMDEN SENT HELP

Fire of undetermined origin, which started at the lower end of the structure in some sawdust last night destroyed a Lincolnville sawmill owned by Willis J. Munroe, together with a large amount of lumber ready for planing. The loss was estimated at about $10,000. The Camden fire department sent a pumper and took water from a nearby brook to fight the flames.

KELP PLANT NEARLY READY

The Rockland Owners Have Leased Several Square Miles Of Beds

Maine's great kelp beds, veritable "gold mines" of valuable chemical substances, that have just come and gone with the seasons for centuries, will start giving up a part of their wealth in the near future. L. D. Betz of the W. H. and L. D. Betz Co., chemical engineers of Philadelphia, told Commissioner Rodney E. Feyler of the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries yesterday, that his concern would start manufacturing operations at its new Rockland plant "by the middle of April." Using a patented process the company will extract algin and alginic acid from the kelp to be used in a product which they have developed. The concern specializes in treating boilers and industrial water in many of the nation's largest manufacturing plants.

A complicated series of tanks, presses, dryers, steamers and other machinery has been installed in the plant which was formerly a sardine factory. A new wharf has been constructed. About 25 men will be employed when the plant is working at capacity. It is planned to operate 24 hours a day, nine months of the year. The plant is designed to make expansion easy if desired.

The kelp will be obtained from the beds and brought to the plant. Only the part known as the leaf will be used. The process will consist principally of washing in various solutions with the finished product coming from the final liquor. The final stage of the process will be completed at Philadelphia, for awhile, at least.

Several other concerns are conducting experiments on Maine coast kelp.

INTERESTS TWO COUNTIES

Knox and Waldo Vitrally Concerned In Tomorrow Night's One-Act Play Contests

Keen interest is manifested throughout Knox and Waldo counties in the contests to be held tomorrow night in Rockland High School auditorium, when Crosby High of Belfast, Appleton High, Warren High and Rockland will compete in the sectional one-act play tournament. Enthusiasm for this new form of high school competition has swept the State. The public is cordially invited to the contests tomorrow night for which a nominal fee will be charged to cover necessary expenses.

The judges will be Miss Evelyn R. Kelser and Robert M. Crocker of Bates College and Arthur B. Scott of Waldoboro.

Crosby High, which the Belfast Republican Journal feels confident will win the contest, will present "All the Rivers" with a well balanced cast including Dorothy Hayes, James Carter, Margaret Bliss, Lynwood Orchard and Mary Flood. The play, written by Mary Thurman Pyle, is being coached by Mrs. Georgia B. Parker.

Those who have seen Warren High School's carefully prepared "The Rag Doll" have a feeling that the school from the St. Georges River town will take first laurels. In the cast are Janet Wade, Avard Robinson, Helen Thompson and Phyllis Perry. The play was written by Eve Bretherton and Principal Horace Maxcy has personal charge of the coaching.

Appleton High School brings to the contest Frieda Graham Bundy's rollicking comedy "Henry's Mail Order Bride" with the cast including Frank Sukeforth, Donald Calderwood, Philip Keene, Merle Griffin, Genevieve Jameson and Jesse Arrington. Miss Lucy Moody is coach.

Rockland High School's Dorothy Parker is coaching the local play, "Trifles," an intriguingly interesting work from the gifted pen of Susan Gassell. In the cast are Verneley Black, Virginia Wood, Shirley Stanley, Frederick MacDonald and Gordon Richardson.

DR. FARRINGTON

Death of President of Bancroft School of Haddonfield and Owl's Head

Friends of Dr. E. A. Farrington, head of the Bancroft School at Haddonfield, N. J. and Owl's Head, were greatly shocked Tuesday when telegrams were received here announcing his sudden death in Haddonfield. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church at Haddonfield, interment being in the Laurel Hill cemetery, Philadelphia.

The New York Times carried the following: "Dr. Ernest Albert Farrington, psychologist, physician and president of the Bancroft School in Haddonfield, N. J., a private institution for mentally retarded children, died suddenly of a cerebral hemorrhage at his home Monday. His age was 56."

"Dr. Farrington was an authority on specialized education for handicapped children. He wrote pamphlets and syndicated newspaper articles on the subject and also lectured widely before women's clubs and educational organizations.

"Born in Philadelphia on July 25, 1880, Dr. Farrington was the son of Dr. Ernest Albert Farrington, a physician, sician, and Mrs. Elizabeth Aitken Farrington. He received a B. S. degree from Bryn Athyn Academy in 1898 and an M. D. from Dunham Medical College, Chicago, in 1902. He received another M. D. in 1909 from Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia. He practiced medicine in Chicago and Philadelphia until 1907, lectured on chemistry at the Hering Medical College in 1901-04 serving as Assistant Professor of Chemistry and toxicologist there in 1904-05. Dr. Farrington lectured on physiology at the Hahnemann Medical College in 1905-09.

The late Dr. Ernest Albert Farrington

"In 1907 Dr. Farrington became psychologist for the Bancroft School. He was promoted to president in 1912. "He was secretary and treasurer of the Special School Association and a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He belonged to the National Education Association, American Psychiatric Association, American Association for the Study of Internal Secretions, the Camp Directors Association, the Haddonfield Civic Association and the Historical Society of Haddonfield. Dr. Farrington was a Republican and a Presbyterian.

"Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary S. Cooper Farrington, and four children. A funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Presbyterian Church in Haddonfield. Burial will be in Laurel Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia.

The character and importance of Dr. Farrington's work with the Bancroft School was explained at considerable length in the columns of The Courier-Gazette two years ago. His management, with the co-operation of an expert staff, made the institution one of the most successful of its kind in this country. He was greatly devoted to the principles of Rotary and during his summer stays at Owl's Head was a constant attendant at the meetings of the Rockland Club, with whose members he was distinctly popular. He was also an active participant in local social circles.

BLACK FACE LIONS

Camden-Rockport Club Puts Across Fine Show At Lincolnville Center

Tranquility Grange hall at Lincolnville Center was the scene of a most happy gathering of Lions and Lionesses Tuesday night. The Camden-Rockport Club were hosts to the Rockland Club. More than 25 Rockland Lions and their ladies joined 50 Lions and their ladies of the Camden-Rockport Club and a most pleasant evening was enjoyed by those present.

The Lincolnville Church served a delicious chicken dinner. Immediately after which a beautifully decorated birthday cake was presented to F. A. Tirrell, president of the Rockland Club and to Dr. Blake B. Annis, also of the Rockland Club and secretary of the 41st District. Rev. W. E. Berger, president of the

The quartet in action

Camden-Rockport Club presided and introduced first King Lion Frank A. Tirrell and Dr. Blake B. Annis, both of Rockland. Deputy District Governor Dr. S. N. Marsh of Bangor and District Governor George W. Dyer of Camden.

Immediately following the banquet the entire group participated in a beano for half an hour. Following this they retired to the auditorium above for a minstrel show staged by nine members of the Camden-Rockport Club. The program follows: Opening Chorus, "Roar Lions." "A Little Ditty," Nelson Dangremond.

What the Neighbors thought

"Hey, Babe, Hey," Dave Crockett. "Mammy's Little Black Rose," Roland Crockett, assisted by his daughter Priscilla.

Buck and Wing, George Sleeper of Rockland.

"Blow the Man Down," Jim Carswell.

Quartet Selections, Jim Carswell, Nelson Dangremond, William Kelley and Roland Crockett.

"When My Dream Boat Comes Home," Billy Williams.

Interlocutor George W. Dyer engineered the jokes

"Don't You Believe It," Sammy Lankton.

Grand Finale, "Good Night Ladies" by the entire company. The program was liberally inter-persed with "gags," and the guests from Rockland were not overlooked.

District Governor George W. Dyer, sporting a tuxedo officiated as interlocutor in this unusual snappy manner. The ends were in black face, to say nothing of most ridiculous costumes. Members of the chorus wore white flannels and blue coats.

At the close of the entertainment dancing by a five-piece orchestra, furnished by caterers was enjoyed until a late hour. During the dance many novelty dances were introduced and between dances the Lions and Dandy Lions enjoyed two special numbers also furnished by the caterers. They were a trumpet solo by Stanwood Cilley, better known as "Rastus," accompanied by Helen Harvey, both of Lincolnville, and an act entitled "Just an Old Fashioned Girl" with vocal selections by Helen Harvey, accompanied by Emily Johnson, both of Lincolnville.

All voted it a most successful and enjoyable evening and expressed a strong desire for these joint ladies' night meetings to continue.

STATE CAPITOL

Modification of Primary Defeated—Knox County Almost Unit For Change

Proposed modification of the direct primary law was defeated in the House yesterday by a 96 to 42 roll call vote. The bill would have allowed conventions to "propose" candidates for governor, U. S. Senator, and U. S. representative. Non-convention candidates could obtain places on ballots by filing primary nomination papers as is now done.

Representative Bird spoke in favor of the bill. Others voting "for" included Elliot of Thomaston, Ayer of Union, Dwinall of Camden and Sleeper of Rockland; against, Crockett of North Haven.

Debate on a bill to license barbers and barber shops flared again yesterday in the Maine House of Representatives, but the vote on a motion to indefinitely postpone the measure was deferred until today.

Membership in the fourteen county farm bureaus of Maine is now 13,030, an increase of 1,524 over the corresponding date a year ago.

I would not even ask my heart to say If I could love some other land as well As thee, my country, had I felt the spell Of Italy at birth, or learned to obey The charm of France, or England's mighty sway. THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

Make confession unto the Lord God of your fathers, and do his pleasure. —Ezra 10: 11.

A "State Chat" item in the Lewiston Journal will interest Knox County's many cribbage fans (and probably Clint Stahl, the champion of Lincoln County.) It reads: "I. N. Stanley claims four sevens and an ace at cribbage, makes a count of 24. (The explanation was printed April first.) But here it is: 'Place two of the four sevens on a table, side by side; place two remaining sevens under two top sevens, and proceed to count as follows: Place ace across two top sevens and you have fifteen-two; across two bottom sevens and you have fifteen-four; across top left and bottom right seven and you have fifteen-six; across top right and bottom left seven and you have fifteen-eight; across top left and bottom left seven and you have fifteen-ten; across top right and bottom right seven and you have fifteen-twelve. As the four sevens count twelve you have a total of twenty-four. Many cribbage players get a count of only 20 out of such a hand as they fail to count the top and bottom left and top and bottom right sevens. Four sixes and a trey, four fours and a seven, and four treys and a nine will produce the same result.'"

J. N. Southard who recently went to Washington in the interest of harbor improvement was in receipt of a personal letter from Congressman Smith, yesterday, in the course of which the latter wrote: "When you get a true report you will find that the ice-breaking situation has been taken care of very satisfactorily. The Travis cruiser is to remain there during the summer months to be performed by the Kiekapoo, which is being returned for minor repairs and held in readiness for ice breaking on the Maine coast, especially Penobscot Bay."

To the southward, in Somerville, Mass., where Nature Club Crank 2 has his observatory, welcome spring-time has been checked in officially by the sight of a "turdus migratorius" (whatever that is). Reporting joyfully on new seasonal findings, Boze writes: "All things come to him who waits, if he waits long enough. After waiting all my life to see a woodcock, one came to me the other day and lit under the syringe bush outside my window. I am now awaiting a pheasant." Wouldn't a two-pound lobster, captured off Port Clyde, suit epicurean taste a little better?

Rockland Lions who did not have the good fortune to attend the ladies' night of the Camden-Rockport Club at Lincolnville Center Tuesday night, had a make-up meeting at The Thorndike Hotel yesterday noon. Eleven were present including Rev. William E. Berger and Arthur Huse of Camden and former District Governor Maurice C. Orbeton of Bangor. Readings from a treatise on Communism and Bolshevism by Rev. Ernest O. Kenyon, found highly interested listeners, and Mr. Kenyon will read further excerpts at an early meeting.

Among the representatives at the coronation of King George VI at Westminster Abbey May 12, according to announcement made by the State Department at Washington, will be Curtis Bok of Philadelphia as secretary of the mission. The mission itself embraces such eminent figures as James W. Gerard, as Special Ambassador, and Gen. John J. Pershing and Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired, as United States representatives.

Those handsome posters advertising tomorrow night's boxing exhibition at the Spanish Villa Rink ought to draw a crowd, even if Matchmaker Hamlin was not fortified with the strongest list of attractions he has yet offered to the fight fans. The poster, by the way, was the product of The Courier-Gazette job printing plant of which Neil S. Perry is the highly efficient foreman.

The county commissioners have thrown up new breastworks south of the Court House, possibly to prevent a surprise attack by the Universalist Church forces. The breastworks consist of 25 cords of hard wood which will be manufactured by the callisthenics class of the County Jail. The class consists of 16 men.

The City Government Monday night voted to take down the dilapidated building at 16 Sea street place and a similar fate will await the structure at 3 Achorn street if the owners do not make immediate repairs.

Mirror Lake is full to the running over point, there being 15 feet of water over the intake. Various water mains will be flushed while this state of affluence exists.

TERRIFIC FIG'RING

Star Alleys Reporter Turns Statistician and Wears Out Many Pencils

Rockland, April 7
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

In reference to the recent bowling duel between Vinalhaven and Rockland, let it be said that in winning the rubber match on the Haven's home alleys, Rockland accomplished something which very few teams have the pleasure of doing. Interesting totals and stronger facts were discovered, after terrific figuring. Here they are:

High man for the stretch was, of course, "Smiles" Rackliff, with a pinfall of 1544, an average of 102 14-15. Low man was also of Rockland, "Kid" Dudley, with 1346, average, 89 11-15. Rockland won nine of the 15 team singles and of course two out of three for the championship.

Vinalhaven had the high pinfall and average, but titles are not won in this way. Every man on the Haven team bowled over 91—a good average. Drew says, "Look out, Camden."

Total pinfall was 14,402; average of both teams, 96 2-150. Here were the individual averages: Rockland: McKinney, 90 14-15; Roes, 99 2-15; Dudley, 89 11-15; Rackliff, 102 14-15; Thomas, 95 12-15. Vinalhaven: Poole, 91 13-15; Mulise, 97 11-15; Calder, 96; Claytor, 99 2-3; Arey, 96 1-3.

AT GREAT EXPENSE

Matchmaker Hamlin Will Present Colorful Boxing Show Tomorrow Night

Matchmaker Hamlin announces one of the most sensational main bouts that has ever been offered the boxing patrons of Eastern Maine, at the Spanish Villa Rink Friday night, bringing together Sylvester Davis, colored, of Worcester, the boy who beat Pancho Villa with ease last winter and Art Steeves of St. John, N. B., one of Canada's best fighters. Every middleweight in Maine of prominence has been contacted to fight Davis here without success. Matchmaker Hamlin was forced to go out of the State to get a man to meet Davis. This match is worthy of big league promotion, and will be a ten round bout, double five.

Another main bout of six rounds will show Rockland's up and coming heavyweight Butch Wooster fighting the best man of his career when he meets Val Lauritzen, of Calais, a veteran of 50 fights in New Brunswick rings and has a list of 32 knockouts to his credit. Wooster beat the best that Bangor could offer when he flattened Carol Mullins and beat the clever Tommy Burns in his last fight, and is now ready for all comers.

Rookie Wright of Belfast will meet a tough boy in Tony Tamero of St. Stephens. In Tamero he will meet his match. A real slugging bee is guaranteed.

Knockout Briley of Belfast will come to Rockland again to do battle with Johnny Skinner of Calais. Briley is two shades tougher than an owl, while Skinner has the same qualities.

Without doubt this is the most colorful boxing show that has been held in Rockland in years. Best

A FITTING CLIMAX

Story of Shakespeare Society's Annual Dinner Meeting Told In Detail

The annual dinner-meeting of the Shakespeare Society, at The Thorndike Hotel Monday night, was a delightful affair and served as a fitting climax to a successful year. Spring flowers in yellow and orchid formed decorative features on the tables, and at each plate was a clever place card, a pen and ink sketch of the Bard of Avon, accompanied by verses from "Hamlet" and "The Tempest," these cards being the handiwork of Miss Winifred Coughlin. Seated at the head table were the officers and the guest of honor, Mrs. Maude Andrews Lincoln of Augusta, also Mrs. Nina G. Beverage of Augusta, an alumnae member. The excellent menu and efficient service evoked expressions of approval.

The business meeting opened with announcement of next season's study subjects which will be "Richard II" and "As You Like It," also modern drama. These were selections of the program committee of which Miss Winifred Coughlin is chairman.

Mrs. Maude Blodgett, retiring secretary, gave the annual report, stating that 13 meetings had been held for the season. "The Tempest" and "Hamlet" were the Shakespearean plays studied, and "Victoria Regina" the modern. Two of the meetings were devoted to presentation of scenes from the Shakespearean plays, notably well done. At the annual open meeting great pleasure was given by Miss Caroline I. Jamieson in a travel talk on the Scandinavian countries she visited last summer. Mrs. Eva Hellier presented the annual treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. Edith Bird, treasurer. The president appointed this picnic committee: Mrs. Dora Bird, Mrs. Katherine Derry, and Mrs. Jane Beach.

These officers were elected: President, Mrs. Maude Comins; vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Otis; secretary, Mrs. Eva Hellier; treasurer, Mrs. Edith Bird; program committee, Mrs. Edith Blaney, Mrs. Grace Lawrence, Mrs. Marie Emery, Mrs. Comins and Mrs. Bird were re-elections.

Mrs. Nettie Bird Frost sang "Love Song" and "Shoes," her fine contralto voice appealing to her hearers. Mrs. Frost's mother, Mrs. Dora Bird, was at the piano.

The welcome of an old friend was extended to Mrs. Lincoln when introduced as the speaker of the evening, for there were many in the audience who had heard her on several previous occasions and retained enthusiastic regard for her talent and friendly charm. Mrs. Lincoln in her inimitable manner reviewed the sparkling comedy "First Lady" by Katherine Dayton and George Kaufman. A story of the inner circles of Washington's political life, it contains many subtleties and witticisms which were brought out to perfection in Mrs. Lincoln's review. Interesting bits were interspersed with regard to stage settings, action and other points of the play as presented on the stage. Mrs. Lincoln wore a handsome embroidered black dinner dress, with corsage of roses tied with blue.

These members were present: Mrs. Maria Emery, Mrs. Katherine Derry, Mrs. Alice Jamieson, Mrs. Harriet Frost, Mrs. Ethel Lovejoy, Mrs. Harriette Levensaler, Mrs. Helen Orne, Mrs. Ruth Ellingwood, Miss Josephine Thorndike, Mrs. Louise Duff, Mrs. Maude Blodgett, Mrs. Eva Hellier, Miss Winifred Coughlin, Mrs. Maude Comins, Mrs. Jane Beach, Mrs. Ella Buffum, Miss Helen York, Mrs. Aldana Spear, Mrs. Evelyn Hix, Miss Alice Erskine, Miss Ellen J. ## A CONTINUED STORY

Final Action On Deer Island-Sedgwick Bridge Deferred To Monday

Final action on a $488,000 substructure bid for the Deer Island-Sedgwick Bridge is deferred to next Monday. The bid made by Coleman Brothers Corporation of Boston, together with a recent superstructure bid of $318,624 made several weeks ago, by the Phoenix Construction Company of Phoenixville, Penna., would bring the contractual cost of the bridge to $806,624. Highway Commissioner Thurston said that "adjustments of approximately $60,000" were necessary to bring the contractual cost within the scope of "available funds." The estimated cost of the proposed bridge was $750,000. Of this amount, 45 percent would be a WPA grant. The balance would be provided by a bond issue, guaranteed by the State. An additional $100,000 WPA grant for bridge approaches and land damages has been allocated.

WPA officials have set April 15 as the date on which actual construction must start on the project. The final date for starting construction on the bridge has been placed by Works Progress Administration officials as April 15.

MEN'S NIGHT

Dave Morey and Barney Marcus Here For P. T. A. Session Monday

A rip-snorting time for the men and, of course, for the women too, presents itself on Monday night April 12. The Rockland Parent-Teacher Association is having its annual "men's night" and hopes to pack it with sports loving men and women of Rockland and others in the outlying towns who are interested.

Dave Morey of Bates College, one of the shrewdest football mentors in New England, is to be the guest speaker of the occasion and he is to bring with him his famous Barney Marcus, All-New England halfback. Morey's prowess in the field of sports needs no explaining to the sports minded people of Rockland, for the type of teams that he turns out at Bates has caused many headaches for the other coaches against whom he has pitted his teams. Marcus is that agreeable fellow who watched his chance with glee to take the heart out of the opposition in his defensive play and when he carried the ball! Oh Man. There will be motion pictures on this program and to top it off there will be refreshments that will hit the right spot. For additional fun a good old fashioned community sing will be held.

It is hoped that this meeting will top in numbers the gathering that was had last year. The time for the occasion will be at 7:45 p. m. in the High School Auditorium.

At 6:15 at the Copper Kettle Morey and Marcus will attend the Kiwanis Club meeting and all are invited to attend, especially the Bates graduates who live in this vicinity. The charge for the dinner will be 65c and those who plan to attend are asked to notify the Copper Kettle so that adequate arrangements may be made.

No pains are being spared to make the evening P.T.A. session the hit of the year. The public is most cordially urged to attend, meet these two fine sportsmen and see again in motion pictures the high lights of recent games. Men and women, regardless of P.T.A. membership are invited to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Ruth Mayhew Tent, D.U.V., met in Grand Army hall on Monday afternoon for sewing. The regular supper was served with Mrs. Ada Payson

Mrs. Carrie House and Josephine Lothrop entertained with readings. Mae Cross, D.P.C., spoke briefly of changes to be made under the National President's orders. Mrs. Susie Karl invited members and friends to a beano party to be held at her home April 13. ## CASCADE ALLEYS

Where Bowling Seems To Be Largely a Question Of Good Bookkeeping

(By O. V. D.)

In one of the gosh darnedest, ding bustedest, slam banginest bowling matches ever pulled off in the old Cascade Alleys, the Ganders and Skippers fought it out, tooth, nail and chewing tobacco Monday night, and when the result was announced it was declared a tie. But mindful of the time once before, when they were in the same fix and had bowled off a tie only to find on a re-check that they had been beaten anyway and they had had all their extra work for nothing, the boys became a little cagey and did their checking first. And it proved to be good policy for an error of one pin in the scoring was found and that one pin gave the Ganders the right to crow and the Skippers the privilege of eating it.

Owing to illness in his family the ol' Goose was not present and so that rising young bowler, "Hebo" Claytor was impressed into service, and a tough customer he proved to be, for his total of 315 was a big factor in keeping the Ganders on their feet, and going. His efforts were just offset by those of the P. M., however, for ol' man Drew shook a few kinks out of his system and gave some of the youngsters a big run for their money. His 120 in the first string was the best single effort for the evening. Hebo said that it looked to him as if the house did a big business during the evening and both won and lost.

Struggling against the P. M. was Old Timer Sanborn who had a very harrowing time indeed, but at that fell only a few pins short of his well known average of 85. Young Vic Shields again nosed into second place and had his opposition, Barney Erickson on the spot all the evening. "Der Captain" Grimes won a few and lost a few and if he had only kept up the gait he started he would have been a nine days wonder. But the real hero of the evening was anchor man Gene Hall, who in the dark and dangerous hour of the last roundup, flicked two pins from Scottie Littlefield, which were just enough to get the Skippers out from under. Gene won his battle with Scottie by just a single thin stick and due to that he is going to let Scottie in on a 50-50 basis this week on the business done by Hall & Littlefield.

BACKWARD TURN

Our North Haven Friend Indulges In Reverie and Recalls a Poem

North Haven, April 5

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—"Backward, turn backward, oh time in your flight. Make me a child again just for tonight." As we grow old our minds turn back to our childhood days, the days when everything was on ahead of us, and we were building air castles and thinking what great things we would accomplish in life. It is right we should do so.

As we grow older, and perhaps have been able to achieve some of the things we had in mind, but are still reaching out for something higher and better until we finally have to stop and our life may seem almost a failure, it is then we turn back to our childhood days. Again we are a child at home and in fancy we can see the family surroundings and the young folks we used to mingle with so long ago. But if in our struggle to achieve we have found God, and have tried to make our life what he would have us, it may have been a success and we have fulfilled in a small way the mission of man.

The late Foster B. Snow has given us some fine thoughts on turning back to our childhood.

"BY THE OPEN FIREPLACE"

"While setting by the fire on a bleak November day,
My thoughts begin to wander, slowly drifting far away.
In the glowing tongues are pictures dim at first then flaming bright.
Pictures that we ever treasure never driven from our sight.
I can see a field of daisies round my old home by the sea.
I can see my childhood playmates, as they gather there with me.
Oh how clearly are they pictured, each familiar line I trace.
As I gaze at memory's picture in that open fire place
In those days we all were happy, never had a thought of care.
Though today were separated many scattered here and there.
Yet in fancy still I see them there's a smile on every face.
As they come to me in fancy round this lighted fire place.
I have crossed the rolling prairie, I have seen the great divide.
I have listened to the murmur of the Mississippi's tide.
I have stood at old Niagara, seen its falls and misty spray.
None of them can match the picture, I have witnessed here today."

Woman's Club Presents Skit

In spite of the storm Tuesday an appreciative audience assembled in the Grange hall for the presentation of the entertainment given by the Woman's Club. The one-act sketch, "The Conquering of Old Iron Clad" with its entire feminine cast was well received. The scene was laid in a country farm house in the year 1910 and the audience was amazed at the different view point of the characters from those of today.

Sace K. Weston in the role of Susan Benedict, called "Old Iron Clad" because she never broke a promise, depicted the stern woman with the hidden tender heart to the life. She also assumed a comedy role made vacant through illness and the contrast of the two displayed her unusual ability along these lines.

Rena Crowell as the uncompromising New England spinster "hard as nails" did a fine bit of acting and Ida C. Stahl as the sweet sister of the doctor, who through her quick wit and loving understanding "did the conquering," rose to real dramatic heights. M. Louise Miller as Ruby Benedict was a picture in the gown and hat of another day and her superb portrayal of the unhappy little actress will long be remembered.

The reconciliation scene at the close when Ruby sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" to her aunt brought tears to the eyes of the audience. Mrs. Miller was accompanied effectively on the piano by Mrs. Eva L. Sheaff.

One of the features of the afternoon was the exquisite performance on the piano accordion of Miss Aune Miete of Wiscasset. Miss Miete's attractive personality combined with her musical ability made a distinct appeal to the audience and she responded to several encores. Miss Betty Stahl was awarded the door prize.

A successful food sale was held in connection with the entertainment and the proceeds were $22. The affair was under the auspices of the Ways and Means Committee. ## DAYSON BEDDING COMPANY BANGOR • AUBURN • MAINE

"Ye Olde Wood Sawmill"

Built in 1879—At Day's Hill—Wesley, Maine
By HERBERT L. DAY
Founder of Dayson Bedding Company

In the early days men were pioneers and individuals. They had to be. Herbert L. Day, founder of Dayson Bedding Company, lived in a community needing a sawmill and so he built one. With a small water supply, it was necessary to build a huge 30-foot over-shot wheel. The shaft and gears leading to the saw were all hewn from native timber shaped and hand fitted to do their appointed task. Mr. Day, an expert blacksmith, hammered out at his rude forge the necessary bolts and ironwork.

It was during these early days that his ingenious disposition turned to the manufacture of bed springs and with a hand coiling machine he turned what are believed to be the first coil springs for use in a bed spring and held numerous basic patents on many different types known to early day bed-spring manufacturers.

While Herbert L. Day realized the importance of gaining new customers he felt it equally important to retain that customer as a satisfied friend. He manufactured bedding and kindred products with these basic principles—

To make honestly with the best materials—to last for years.
To give the utmost in comfort and yet be modernly styled.
To use Maine materials as far as possible and to employ Maine men and women.

To always give the most possible dollar value.

CLAMS AND FUNDS

Latter Appears To Be Necessary For a Continuance Of the Former

Commissioner Rodney E. Fevier of the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries has suggested to members of the Maine Congressional delegation that they assist him in endeavoring to obtain Federal funds for the propagation of clams along our coast. Pointing out that Massachusetts had been given such support for the past two years and expected more this year, Fevier outlined the seriousness of the clam situation and stated that activity similar to that of the Bay State would be of great economic value. He suggested that $5000 be provided for each of the eight propagating counties.

In explaining the possibilities of clam culture he gave one example in which a group of communities in Massachusetts expended $25,000 two years ago and this year expects to take $250,000 worth of clams from the seeded flats. Experts in clam culture say that a properly cultivated area of flats will yield as high as $750 an acre.

Despite Maine's 2500 mile expanse of coastline an expenditure of $40,000 would do much to revive the declining clam industry, it is believed. Massachusetts with a 2300 mile coastline has increased its supply many times during the past few years.

"Clam culture is entirely practical," said Fevier. "If Federal funds could be obtained, I could put a large number of men at work on this activity. The President's recent statement that projects in the nature of conservation of our natural resources would be favored in future relief expenditures should make our request a timely and sensible one."

Dudley M. Holman Makes Interesting Suggestion and Backs Them Up

Quincy, Mass., March 31
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

I was surprised in taking up yesterday's Courier-Gazette to see that there is being torn down in Thomaston one of the famous landmarks, the house built for and under the supervision of Gen. Henry Knox. I will not reiterate the statements made in the paper but it seems to me that there should be some organization in the State of Maine to protect such landmarks, which are becoming fewer and fewer as the years go by.

The State of Maine let the original Montpelier be destroyed and had it rebuilt on a different site, to be sure, at a very heavy expense.

Now here is another of the houses of that period built for and under the direction of Gen. Henry Knox, one of the most wonderful houses in the entire New England States, being torn down because no one was sufficiently interested in it to see if some effort could not be made to save it.

I am wondering if there is no organization which has the power and the money to save such landmarks, whether there could not be a society organized for their protection with a capital to start with, at any rate, of $25,000, membership in the society being unlimited and membership being sold to people interested on the basis of $5 annual fee and $5 for a certificate of membership, with life membership at $50.

With the money thus raised as a nucleus, there are a number of men who have been engaged by colleges and other organizations to raise funds for them among the wealthy people in the eastern part of the United States and these men are paid on a commission basis. I should imagine that among the different historical societies sufficient names could be obtained of well to do people interested in preserving these specimens of early Americana to raise a fund of $50,000 which would be ample for the preservation of such historical places as the Knox Mansion, now being razed in Thomaston.

I presume it is too late to stop this destruction of this beautiful home but if not, and it could be purchased at a reasonable figure and restored, I would be willing to be one of a hundred to contribute $100 towards it.

Another matter—the most famous ship built in Rockland was the Red Jacket, one of the most famous clipper ships ever built. I understand that Captain F. W. Rossiter of Vinalhaven has made a most wonderful model of the Red Jacket being towed into Rockland Harbor by a tug. The New Haven Railroad has a train known as the "Flying Clipper" and one of the cars in that train is the "Red Jacket" and the New Haven Railroad has been distributing among its patrons a beautiful engraving of the "Red Jacket."

I suggested to my friend, Arthur P. Russell, executive vice president, that it would be a good idea for the North Haven Railroad to purchase this model and have it placed in the main compartment of the car "Red Jacket." As I understand it, these models of the ship and tug are enclosed in a glass case with a background of a full view of the southern side of Rockland Harbor beginning at Owls Head and running, so far as I could judge from the little sketch sent to me, to Ingraham Hill and around the shore to the Atlantic wharf. Mr. Russell wrote to me that he would have liked to have had it but financial considerations forbade the purchase of it, the price being $500 and, as you know, the New Haven Road is in voluntary bankruptcy at the present time and I presume would not be allowed to spend money in that way.

My suggestion, therefore is that the citizens of Rockland buy this and have it placed in the new Community Building as a reminder of the days when one of Rockland's chief industries was shipbuilding. I know there are also a number of ship models of Rockland built vessels made by one of the Snow boys of the South Marine Railway, some of which I feel confident could be bought very reasonably and those added to the collection.

One of the famous old steamships and one of the earliest that plied the waters of Rockland Harbor and Penobscot Bay is the City of Bangor. This steamship is now going to pieces at a wharf in East Boston. I think perhaps the ship's wheel and other interesting portions of the ship could be purchased at a very nominal figure to be added to this collection. And I have no doubt there are many pictures of the old steamers which formerly plied the waters of Penobscot Bay and Rockland Harbor which could be added so that coming generations will know something about the maritime history of the City of Rockland and the boats which so largely contributed to its upbuilding. Surely, some part of the new Community Building would well be devoted to such a collection.

You remember, as I do, days when square riggers, two masted, three masted and five masted schooners would lie at anchor in Rockland Harbor, when dozens of snub nosed Nova Scotian wood carrying schooners which brought wood to the lime kilns were anchored in the Harbor awaiting a chance to unload at the various kilns. A miniature lime kiln of the old type and a wharf could be easily made thus perpetuating the big industries which made Rockland one of the busiest ports on the Atlantic Coast.

All these things are passing or have passed. Rockland is no longer a seaport; it no longer has any real connection with the outside world by the sea and it seems to me that now, if ever, is the time to start a collection as I have outlined. So far as the model of the Red Jacket is concerned, Capt. Rossiter, who is asking $500 for it, would undoubtedly shade the price if it could be placed as a permanent memorial in the new Community Building. I will be one of 20 men to contribute $25 toward the purchase of this ship model provided it can be housed in the new Community Building.

It may appear, that I am sentimental in regard to these suggestions for perpetuating the memory of the days which contributed so much to the welfare of the City of Rockland but I knew that there must be enough men, either native born or long time residents, who would be glad to contribute to the establishment of such a collection. I can think of half a dozen men now who were either in the shipbuilding industry or in the ship supply business, any one of whom could afford and undoubtedly would be willing to pay the entire sum to make a start on this particular collection that I have outlined above.

Those of us who remember that Rockland's only contact with the outside world, so far as transportation facilities were concerned, was the old Sanford line of steamers running from Boston down to Bangor or by stage from Augusta, when there was no railroad connecting it with the outside world but when her sons were covering the seven seas in the big ships built in Rockland, Thomaston or other Maine ports, surely they or their descendants would gladly help, even if only by small amounts, to secure and maintain such a collection. And I have no doubt that there are many people amongst the older inhabitants of their descendants who have in their homes many objects and pictures that could be added to this collection.

I well remember as a very, very small boy seeing surveyors surveying the Knox & Lincoln Railroad to connect with the Railroad wharf. I don't know how many others who have such recollections but I dare say there are still quite a number left.

WE WANTERKNOW!

Clariba or Cloelia?

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
In reading the list of vessels built at the Keag and published in last Saturday's issue, I would like to know if the bark built by J. Sweetland in 1848 was named Clariba or should it be Cloelia?

My grandfather, James Sweetland, built a bark named Cloelia for his youngest daughter. The name Clariba is not familiar to me. My mother's name was Cloelia Sweetland. Dow, but I do not know in what year the bark Cloelia was built. Possibly Aiden Hayden can inform me.

HAD REAL DINNER

New York "Gourmets" Revel In Our Seafoods and Other Maine Goodies

Members of the New York Gourmet Society Sunday sat down to what their president called a "conglomeration of delicacies" from the State of Maine, and arose staggering, but beaming.

With Gov. Barrows of Maine as their guest of honor, the Gourmets devoted most of the afternoon to the first of a series of "American States dinners," at which they will daily with the gustatory delights peculiar to the various provincial areas.

Beginning with Maine sea food platter Casino, consisting of clams, deep sea scallops and crabs "delicately seasoned to bring out their pristine Maine sea coast flavor," the knife and fork artists drove their way steadily through a succession of courses that reached a peak with the arrival of the ruddy broiled live lobsters.

The lobsters—"succulent and satiating," Gov. Barrows described them—were selected personally by Rodney E. Feyler, Maine's commissioner of fisheries, and were broiled "A La Gourmet Society," brushed with melted butter and basted with a prepared sauce.

Commissioner Feyler, incidentally, was represented as being considerably perturbed by the sale of African lobsters masquerading as the Maine product. Said Governor Barrows:

"The fame of our Maine coast lobsters is world-wide and we fear no competition. More than five

GET UP NIGHTS DUE TO BLADDER IRRITATION?

It's not normal. It's nature's "Danger Signal." Make this 25c test. Use buchu leaves, juniper oil, and 6 other drugs, made into little green tablets called Bukets. Flush out excess acids and impurities. Excess acids can cause irritation resulting in getting up nights, scanty flow, frequent desire, burning, backache, and leg pains. Just say Bukets to your druggist. In four days if not pleased your 25c will be refunded. C. H. Moor & Co., Charles W. Sheldon, druggist.

million pounds will be caught this year and grace dinner tables in all the states. Our Maine product stands at the top, our waters and climate being peculiarly fitted for lobster culture and growth. We must compete with crawfish masquerading as lobster, with the so-called African lobster, and with spiny lobster, but we welcome any test."

With the exception of the wine, everything served at the dinner came from Maine, including the bottled spring water, and was prepared under the direction of a hotel chef. After the sea food platter Casino came shrimp soup, followed by rose fish fillets (a new product), with the celebrated Maine baked potato and green peas.

Then came the lobster, accompanied by corn-stuffed tomatoes "A La Gertrude Lawrence" and Maine beach plum jelly. For dessert there was apple pan-dowdy and blueberry pie.

"We just couldn't resist," said the society, "providing the blueberry pie for those who lean a little on the gourmand side."

As relishes there were pickled crab apples and green tomato pickle. The salad was spiced sickle-pear.

J. George Frederick, president of the society, founded four years ago to "encourage greater esthetic sensitivity of the palate," said:

"Only those States noted for their foodstuffs or cookery will be included in our series of dinners to glorify provincial American foods. Other commonwealths likely to participate include Texas, Louisiana, Michigan, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Among the guests who came from Maine were Wingate F. Cram of Bangor, president of the Bangor and Aroostook railroad; Robert Tristram Coffin of Brunswick, famous Maine poet, and Bernard E. Esters of Houlton, president of the Maine Press Association.

Plumbing Announcement

We understand that many Knox County residents are under the impression that our Edgar L. Newhall, formerly of Sleeper Brothers, is doing heating work only in his new capacity with our firm.

We wish to advise through this medium that we are definitely in the plumbing as well as heating business; have a modern bathroom display on our floor; carry a stock of fixtures and fittings at all times; and "Ed" Newhall is our Master Plumber.

We will welcome the patronage of Mr. Newhall's many friends as well as our own and any new customers.
