REAL ESTATE MEN

Having Luncheon Meeting At The Samoset Today— Many Present

Members of the recently-appointed State Real Estate Commission are guests of the Maine Real Estate Association at a luncheon meeting at the Samoset today.

The members of the Commission, set up by the last Legislature, are Willard B. Sweetser of Gray, associated with Benjamin Shaw & Company, Portland; former state representative Walter J. Sargent of Brewer and Mrs. Mary L. Kavanagh of Lewiston.

Discussion of the law setting up the commission will comprise the business of the meeting. The licensing of real estate brokers as required by the new law will be explained by the commissioners.

Officers of the association, which has 110 members over the State, are Guy E. Torrey, Bar Harbor, president; E. P. Richards, Farmington, vice president; Mrs. Nelson, recording secretary, Mrs. Kavanagh, corresponding secretary and Simon O'Leary, Bangor, treasurer.

The meeting is open to all interested brokers as well as members of the association.

THE NIAGARA ROLLS ON

Being Also the Story of The Thousand Islands, Where Millionaires Disport

(By The Roving Reporter—Second Installment)

The city of Troy, which we reached in the late afternoon of our first day out had a population of 72,763, according to the last census. It is a busy place but has hardly more than stood still, if one is to compare its population with that of the previous decade.

Crossing a long bridge we were in Albany, the capital of the Empire State, and the goal of such ambitious politicians as Al Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt. The time was too short for anything like an inspection of the city, but we had no idea of leaving it without first having visited the State House, and into it we were piloted by a stranger who was exceedingly helpful with his information.

"I don't suppose Al Smith gets around here much nowadays," I said, for the sake of saying something. "No, but they think a lot of him up this way," was the reply.

Where Grant's Body Lay

With the exception of the ground floor the State House was closed at that hour. We wandered through the long corridor, noting near one end of it the brass tablet which had been set into the tiled floor to commemorate the spot where the body of a former President, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant lay in state.

We looked out into the hollow square, noting that the pigeons were a nuisance there as they have come to be in Rockland and elsewhere.

The State House is imposing but I wonder if its architectural beauty compares with some of the more modern structures which have been erected in other States. Nearby is the large office building—a memorial to the activities of Gov. Alfred E. Smith; and across the way is the Library building and Museum.

We Didn't Find "Hymie"

The woman at the information booth was very kind when we sought information concerning Hyman Alperin, a former Rockland merchant, who went to Albany to take charge of one of the Alperin chain shoe stores. We located the store on South Pearl street, in what appears to be the city's shoe district. Great was my disappointment when the man in charge informed us that Mr. Alperin was now located in Glens Falls, which unfortunately was far from our itinerary. If this article falls under the eyes of my good friends, the Alperin brothers, I hope they will understand that I made an earnest endeavor to find at least one of them.

The population of Albany is 127,412. I hope the city isn't always as hot as it was the day we visited it. I was by no means sorry when Ed. Gonia's car was again in motion—westward ho. The mileage to Albany, by the route we had taken was 316.

The Highest Lift

A six-lane highway was encountered in the course of our ride from Albany to Schenectady, where we paused long enough for supper. We were not long out of the latter city before the skies darkened and frequent flashes of lightning illuminated the sky. We rode directly into the storm which proved to be a mild but wet one.

The rain ceased at Amsterdam, where our attention was directed to a barge canal, and to brilliant lights on the opposite side at Palatine Bridge which blazed forth to passers by the merits of the Beechnut products which, to me, had a surprisingly wide variety.

We passed the lock canal at Little Falls, which has a lift of 47 feet—the highest of any in the United States, according to information vouchsafed by a storekeeper, and later verified by a roadside sign. We saw also the immense plant of the Remington Arms Co. which appeared to be as busy at night as it undoubtedly is by day.

Slept In Utica

It is a considerable ride from Schenectady to Utica, on a hot, stormy night, and over strange roads, especially when the mileage is nearing the 400-mark, so sleep was uppermost in our minds. "Sunnyside," a tourist home at 2711 Genesee street, kept by Mrs. C. A. Hurstall, proved to be a happy selection, despite its proximity to a few hundred railroad trains, and we enjoyed a good sleep, and certainly liked the nice breakfast which the landlady obligingly provided for us at a rather early hour. When we departed at 6.30 Friday morning the speedometer showed that we had made 416 miles on our first day, with plenty of time out for meals and rest.

The low lying regions were half hidden by mists when we reached the outlying districts, but we soon found our interest centering upon a series of orange and black highway signs, appended to iron poles. We discovered that they had been erected by the Interstate Displays Inc., of Buffalo—some kind of an advertising device which we did not fully fathom.

Nothing else to do, I copied some of the signs, and here they are: "What is the shortest day of the year?" "Rayon silk is made from wood."

"Ocean tides are caused by the moon." "Go ye therefore into the highways."

"That Government governs best which governs least." "Who invented the steamboat?" "What is the world's largest river?"

"Which is the largest country in the world?" "Who painted the Sistine Madonna?" "What is the difference between a metal and a mineral?"

"What is the country's most important crop?" "Who said 'all the world's a stage'?"

Carloads Of Cars

Sprinkled in between these questions—which, of course, you can all readily answer—was a list of signs under the heading of "Lost Arts," some very true, and some humorous. Here are a few more of the signs: "Who said 'I regret I have only one life to give for my country'?" "Who said 'young man, go West'?" "People generally despise whom they flatter."

"A church in California is built of one tree." All along the way and it continued while we remained on this side of the Canadian border we had been meeting loads of new automobiles carried by specially designed trucks which would hold four cars. We were told they were made in Detroit, shipped by water to Buffalo, and distributed among the Eastern cities from that point. I suppose we saw more than 1000 cars being conveyed in that manner, and doubtless long awaited by anxious dealers.

Wonderful Farming Country

And here is a quick look at some other things during our advance on Buffalo. Cornfields, large and innumerable; Vernon's elm-shaded Main street; a fine building occupied by Troop D, Division of the New York State Police; a row of apple trees by the wayside, killed presumably by the same cold winter that destroyed so many Knox County trees; frogs' legs for sale; fresh eggs, 35 cents; a wayside inn "Mother Hubbard's Cupboard;" an enormous gravel pit which would be a gold-mine in Maine; "The Chinese Door," sign for an antique shop; "Wayside City;" a house of Spanish design, the owner of which claimed to possess the largest muck farm in America; Cornastota airport; custom hatched baby chickens.

It is a wonderful farming country, with corn apparently the principal product. Peaceful, open country in marked contrast to the hurly burly of the large cities.

The Five Nations

A queer wayside display was a huge image of a duck sitting on a nest which contained artificial eggs of corresponding size. When I was a farmer lad at home I used to wait patiently to see how many eggs of a "setting" would hatch out. Some of them must have been of the artificial type I have here mentioned.

I like to chat with strangers on these trips for I find that the results are broadening, new scenes, new people, new experiences.

So I talked with a man in Chittenango, outside of Syracuse, who told

SALZEDO'S CAMDEN PROGRAM

Noted Harpist-Pianist Will Appear Wednesday Night With Barrere and Britt

Carlos Salzedo, resident of Camden for the past seven years, will bring two of his famous associates to the Camden Opera House next Wednesday evening to present a program of flute, harp, piano, and cello solos and ensemble numbers.

So many inquiries have come in for information about these three, Barrere, Salzedo, and Britt that it seems well to publish a bit of general information about them.

Each of the three has an international reputation as an outstanding leader in his own field of music. Each won the highest honor possible in his own department from the great Paris Conservatory. Each has been interested in developing modern interest in his instrument and in fostering modern composers who would write for the flute, harp and cello.

One seldom thinks of genius as taking part in the everyday life of the world. Yet each of these men has seen war at its worst and has known all the hardships and discomforts of army life in his own land during the World War.

Following the War each eventually turned to the United States and found in this country the security and interest so necessary to the further development of his art. Perhaps no one thing in their lives gives them greater satisfaction and pride than the fact that they are now naturalized citizens of this country.

Salzedo is a Basque, native of that tiny land so recently ravaged by the Spanish rebels. His Basque inheritance is seen in the motif, five, that he uses so frequently in his own compositions.

From the time he gave his first public concert at the age of five until he was graduated from the famous Conservatory at Paris, his record is one of exceptional ability.

His father, head of the department of the Paris Conservatory that covered southeastern France, had to ask for special permission for his young son to enter the parent school in Paris as student in two major instruments—harp and piano.

Such a thing was unheard of—majoring in two major instruments! It required a solemn conclave of the entire board of directors before this permission was granted. And then, it was only with the proviso that young Carlos be carefully examined from time to time to see that such extraordinary work did not injure his health.

That their fears were unfounded was shown when, a few years later, Carlos again broke two records at this school. He took final examinations for both harp and the piano on the same day although an entire day was the usual procedure for each. He did even more—he walked off with highest honors in both departments, the premier prix for piano and also for the harp! This record has never been broken, not even in the years that have since passed.

It is due to Salzedo more than to any other person that world wide interest in the harp has been aroused. The harp he uses, sketched by Salzedo himself was then designed by the great Polish artist, Witold Gordon. Made of polished maple it has raised the harp to the tone dignity of the best Stradivarius. It is a far cry from the tinkle, tinkle of the ornate gold harp of finishing school days.

Salzedo has made Camden the summer harp center of the world. Each summer he has from 30 to 50 harpists in that town. They have come from distant parts of the United States and from foreign lands to spend the summer months studying under "the great maestro." One must not forget that these so-called "students" are really the leading figures in the music world of their own centers.

Next Wednesday's concert will be the first time people of this part of Maine have had a chance to hear him play. He will appear once more in his dual role as Salzedo the harpist and Salzedo the pianist.

A BIG SEASON

Scallop Production On Offshore Banks Reported The Largest In Years

Scallop production on the offshore banks has been the largest in years, Rodney E. Feyler, Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries, said today. All during the season which is drawing to a close for the smaller boats, the catches have eclipsed those of previous years, he said. The bulk of the supply has been taken from Georges Bank and several boats have landed thousands of gallons in Maine ports.

Although the boats and members of their crews have had a good season financially the shares were not as large as might be expected due to low prices caused by the abnormal supply.

For the past five years boat skippers have felt themselves fortunate to bring in 1200 to 1500 gallons in a 10 day trip. This year the catches have run from 2300 to 3000 gallons and some have been higher. The price has ranged from as low as 85 cents to $1.10.

No good reason for this big catch was given by Commissioner Feyler. "I am not sure what it is," he said, "so like everything else we might as well give credit to the mild winter."

The offshore season usually lasts from the middle of April to the middle of September, ending early on account of the fall and winter gales. Last winter boats fished on Georges continuously. The Maine season will open in a few weeks.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

ODE TO SOLITUDE

Happy the man, whose wish and care
A few paternal acres bound,
Content to breathe his native air
In his own ground.

Whose herds with milk, whose fields with bread,
Whose flocks supply him with attire;
Whose trees in summer yield him shade,
In winter, fire.

Blest who can unconcern'dly find
Hours, days, and years all slide away
In health of body, peace of mind,
Quiet of day.

Sound sleep by night; study and ease
Together mix'd; sweet recreation;
And innocence, which most does please
With meditation.

Thus let me live, unseen, unknown;
Thus unlamented let me die;
Steal from the world, and not a stone
Tell where I lie.

A PAPER ON "IRIS"

Prepared By Mrs. Ralph L. Wiggins, Was a Feature of Garden Club Meeting

The Rockland Garden Club met at the summer home of Mrs. Joshua Southard, Tuesday, with the president Mrs. Stewart Orbeton presiding. A detailed report of the recent flower show given by Mrs. Donald Hanley, was very gratifying to the club members as the net receipts showed a substantial amount added to the club treasury. A rising vote of thanks was extended to her as general chairman.

A yellow ribbon was awarded to Mrs. Henry Stickney for an artistic flower arrangement for a camp, at the recent Camden Flower Show.

It was voted to donate $50 toward the foundation planning around the Community Building, to be expended under the direction of the Rockland Garden Club.

The Club has a paid up membership of 143. Its object is the advancement of an interest in gardening and allied interests and activities. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. W. O. Fuller, instead of with Mrs. Talbot, as stated on the program. The date is Sept. 28.

A paper on "Iris" was given by Mrs. Ralph L. Wiggins, horticultural chairman. She said in part: That prior to 1910 there was little or no hybridizing done by man; there were only a few species of iris which had been grown for centuries in Europe. No improvement had been made since they were first established thousands of years before. Today there are thousands of amateur and professional hybridizers who grow seedling each year; only the most extraordinary are introduced on the market. She mentioned the most common types, the "bearded" commonly called the German Iris, which includes the "intermediate" (not so tall) and the dwarf pumilas, which are low-growing and bloom early in the spring. The Siberian, Japanese and Water Irises, the Dutch and Spanish types. There are other species, the most valuable being the dwarf eye, especially suited to rock gardens, such as Cristata and Gracilipes. She spoke of Iris reticulata for forcing at Christmas time, and said: "read the catalogs and you will long to try them."

One suggestion made was not to cut the foliage during the growing season; the only time to do this is when preparing Iris for transportation or transplanting. Cutting is done to lessen the evaporation which takes place if leaves are left on too long and the plant cannot well establish new roots and maintain long foliage at the same time. Lime and wood-ashes are valuable ingredients in the soil.

Mention was made of the famous Dyke awards given to three countries each year, England, France and America, and of the Christie Miller Cup prize.

Mrs. Wiggins concluded her very informative paper with these words: "Make the selection of Iris you most admire, plant with care, water until roots are well established, mulch the first winter, let them alone and you will have increasing annual beauty."

Some 20 members of the Club have signified their interest in cultivating Iris as a project this coming year. The Club is invited to hear Mrs. Bryant, a summer resident of Camden, speak on this subject at the summer home of Mrs. Hervey Allen, Megunticook Lake, next Tuesday at 2.30.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to Stewart Orbeton for the splendid work which he did for the Club in making the bird nook, an outstanding exhibit at the Flower Show. After the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Bennett Spear, and granddaughter, Miss "Bud" Spear, of New York, and Miss Betty Beech of Rockland.

Members are urged to visit the Public Landing and see the garden there, also the triangular plot on North Main street and the Hospital garden.

Present was a four generation group including Mrs. Eretta Annaton, Mrs. Mary Southard, Mrs. Bennett R. Spear and Miss Dorothy Spear, all first daughters.

MATTER OF A FLAG

Hon. Justice Riddell Defines Himself As American But Not An American

An American visiting Toronto wrote to a home paper in Brooklyn, praising the great beauty of the Canadian City. Hon. Justice Riddell, who neglects no opportunity to promote the harmony of the two peoples, sent a copy to the Toronto Globe and Mail which published the communication.

The American mentioned the strong attachment of the people of Toronto to the mother country and the Union Jack of old England.

A prominent medical man in Toronto, of Scottish origin, wrote the Globe and Mail, finding fault with this description of the flag, and pointing out that it was the Union Jack, the Union Flag of the Union of the three Kingdoms of England, Scotland and Ireland. It was not the flag of England. Scotland and Ireland had equal claims to it.

This being brought to the attention of Hon. Justice Riddell, he wrote the following letter which appeared in the Globe and Mail of Aug. 23 and is by permission reprinted in The Courier-Gazette:

"I was much interested in the short letter to the Globe and Mail criticising the use by an American writer of the expression, 'The Union Jack of Old England.' My friend, Dr. John Ferguson knows that I would not employ this terminology; but he should know that the ordinary American never speaks of 'Britain' or uses the adjective 'British'—he knows only 'England' and 'English.' Perhaps this is due to the fact that the Thirteen Colonies which revolted in 1776 were in their origin English—and not British. It is of record in State papers that when the Scottish ship-owners asked to be allowed to share in the colonial trade reserved for English ships, they were told in plain language that the colonies were English and not British and their request was flatly refused.

"However that may be, the American sticks to 'England' and 'English.' In fact with a wide acquaintance with the people of this country from President down, I have known only one, my late very dear friend George W. Wickham, use the correct terminology—but he had been Attorney-General of the United States.

"If my friend Dr. John Ferguson is not the author of the letter referred to, I apologize to him and the actual writer. I trust that I will not incur the displeasure of my countrymen by employing the terminology 'American' usus norma loquendi, and I am accustomed to say that I am 'American,' but not 'An American.'"

To understand the concluding paragraph of this letter, it should be mentioned that there is a section—small, indeed—of the Canadian people who resent the appropriation by the people of the United States of the designation, "American," and claim to be as much entitled as they to the name, having as their own as large a part of the continent as those who call themselves "Americans."

HAPPY OCCASION

Chamber of Commerce and Guests Entertained at "The Ledges"

One of the most delightful social events of the season took place Tuesday evening when the members of the Chamber of Commerce, with guests, were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Hocking at their summer home, "The Ledges," Wallston.

A shore dinner was first enjoyed at the Wiley's Corner Grange hall, St. George, under the efficient management of Mrs. Geneva Hall. From there the party motored to Wallston. The evening passed all too quickly, with games, group singing, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lundell and daughter Gloria, gave several charming selections combining piano, accordion and mandolin with songs. Light refreshments were served.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John M. Pomeroy and daughter Laura, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sonntag, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Crockett and guests Dr. and Mrs. Harold Pillsbury of Baltimore. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chisholm, Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Flanders and guest Mrs. Haskell. Mr. and Mrs. Kelley B. Crie and guest Mrs. Carrie Soper, Mr. and Mrs. E. Stewart Orbeton, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jameson and guest, Mrs. Charlotte B. Kallach of Taunton, Mass., Almond Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lundell and daughter Gloria, Mayor and Mrs. Leforest A. Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chisholm, Mr. and Mrs. Chester T. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Emery and guest Mrs. Lucretia Thayer and daughter Lucretia of St. Petersburg, Fla., Earle R. Gowell, Albert Elliot, Lenore W. Benner, Harold B. Savage, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rawley, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hocking.

Mrs. George Westerfield, New York entertained Thursday afternoon at bridge Mrs. Deane Osborne, Mrs. Theodore Frohne, Mrs. James Fawcett, Miss Florence Logan, Brooklyn; Mrs. George Montgomery, Philadelphia; Miss Blanche Spadone and Mrs. Frederick Ballard, New York.

Dana Jackson and Christopher Jackson of Brooklyn, gave a beach supper for the youngest colonists Wednesday evening. Their guests included Deborah, Joseph and Donald Beardwood, Jane and Shirley Scott, Susan and Bill Anderson, Bobby Stanger, John and Bill Riegel.

Sailing aboard the Three Crows were Miss Jane Scudder, Mrs. Sheridan Scott, Miss Mary Ann Riegel, Messrs. Robert Matthews, Robert Federer, Sheffield Paulkner.

Winners in last Wednesday evening's bridge were Mrs. W. R. Riddell, Mrs. J. W. Ruefer, Miss Letitia Pearson, Miss Blanche Spadone, Vincent Schenck, N. J. Beisel.

The annual water carnival featuring a pajama race, tub race, in addition to the regular swimming events was held Thursday.

SUCCEEDS DWYER

In Coaching Duties At Hebron—Dwyer Will Direct All Athletics

Wade E. Mariette, who for 12 years has been very successful in High Point High School, High Point, N. C., has accepted Hebron Academy's invitation to become coach at Hebron Academy, and will succeed Charles C. Dwyer of St. George, who after being active at the Academy for more than 30 years, asked to be relieved of some of his coaching duties. Accordingly, he becomes director of all athletics and the responsibility of coaching under him will be assigned to other coaches.

Mariette is a graduate of Elon College, N. C., securing his A. B. degree in 1923. In 1928 he earned his degree of Bachelor of Physical Education at the University of Michigan. He secured his Bachelor's degree in Physical Education from Harvard University in 1930. He was with the Pittsburg Pirates in the summer of 1923. He has taught and coached in Elkins, N. C. and at High Point, N. C. He has taken coaching courses at the University of North Carolina, Harvard, University of Michigan, University of Southern California, Northwestern, Duke University, and again at North Carolina in the summer of 1933 and 1934.

It is quite apparent from his fine record at High Point that he will continue the coaching standards established at Hebron Academy under Coach Dwyer.

ROCKPORT UPSETS CAMDEN

And Rockland Goes Into First Place Tie—Monday Night's Game Crucial

The Remaining Games

Sunday—Waldoboro at Thomaston. Monday—Rockland at St. George. Tuesday—Waldoboro at Camden.

The League Standing

The Knox Twilight League is going down the home stretch with a smashing finish. Camden and Rockland being tied for first place and St. George not out of the running. The Rockland-St. George game at St. George Monday night will decide Rockland's chances. The standing:

Camden 6 3 666

Rockland 6 3 666

St. George 5 3 625

Thomaston 4 5 444

Waldoboro 3 6 333

Rockport 3 7 300

Rockland 8, Thomaston 4

Manager Winchenbach's Pirates spotted Thomaston four runs in the first two innings at Community Park Thursday night, and then spanked that team to the tune of 8 to 4. The contest was marked by 11 errors, but nevertheless had its interesting points.

Four of Rockland's six errors were made in those first two innings when Thomaston scored and their conversion into runs was made possible by the singles of Gay and Bucklin and the triple by Jealous.

Thomaston's exultation was short-lived, however, for Rockland tied the score in the third on hits by Ellis, Lord and Thomas, a base on balls and an infield error. Thomaston never scored again, while Rockland added two in the fourth and two in the seventh.

The victory was a distinct triumph for pitcher Stahl, who yielded only two hits after Thomaston had scored its runs in the first two innings. Bucklin had 15 chances in the seven-inning game, accepting 14 of them.

Rockport 7, Camden 1

In the biggest upset of the Knox Twilight League season, an inspired Rockport team last night defeated the league-leading Camden Shells 7 to 1. It was not only a totally unexpected defeat, but put Camden down on an even basis with the Rockland Pirates, and will necessitate a playoff of that tie game between St. George and Camden.

Camden's solitary score last night came in a rather peculiar manner. Wadsworth, the first batter, singled and Richards fanned. Joe Leonard hit a dinky one on the third base line, for what many supposed to be a foul. Taking no chances, catcher Turner threw to second to head off Wadsworth, but the ball was high and went half way to Appleton. Wadsworth scoring. Camden never scored again, and did not even look dangerous, except in the sixth inning when Wadsworth doubled. K. Crockett took care of the next batter, with a nice catch.

Rockport tied the score in the third on singles by Starr and Dondis and a miscue by Plaisted. Bohndell opened Rockport's half of the seventh by pedestrianizing. And then things happened in rapid succession. Turner singled, H. Grafham went to first on an error, E. Crockett singled Merrill doubled. Sandblom was patched, Starr singled, and when all was said and done Rockport had scored half a dozen runs.

Aside from that inning, in which he was hit hard and often, Bennett pitched one of his best games of the season, fanning 13. Merrill was in dandy form, allowing only five hits, no two of which were made in one inning. Wadsworth turned in two single and a double, making six hits in his last eight times at bat.

Bohndell and the Crockett brothers did splendid work in the outfield.

THE CLOSING DAY

A Southern Horse Won the Classified Trot At the Damariscotta Fair

Fifi Hanover, bay mare from the W. H. Smith Stables of Greenville, North Carolina, took a hard fought classified trot from Calumet Evert, Massachusetts gelding, in the closing day races at Lincoln County Fair Thursday.

The Southern horse took the first and third heats with Evert trotting off with the second. Governor Alex from the John Queen Stables of Hanover, Mass., romped off with a classified trot in straight heats and Napoleon Hal owned and driven by William Carney of Topsfield, Mass., was straight heat winner of a classified trot and pace.

Favorites took most of the races and kept the payoffs low. The daily double combination of Governor Alex and Fifi Hanover paid backers $6.50.

Miss Katherine Veazie has entered upon her duties as secretary to Mayor Leforest A. Thurston, succeeding Lawrence Barbour who has a position in Washington, D. C.

The parish supper held Thursday night at St. Peter's Episcopal Church was served on the lawn. A very interesting lecture on China and Japan was delivered by Rev. Herbert W. Van Couenhoven of Hallowell.

Jeannette Oliver of Thomaston was sentenced to the Woman's Reformatory in Skowhegan Thursday after being found guilty of felonious assault upon Grace Magune of Thomaston.

Miss Olive Bragg on a vacation from Dorman's Shoe Store is attending the Advent campmeeting in Washington. With her are her mother, Mrs. Mary Bragg, and her two nieces.

A 30-day jail sentence was suspended in the case of Clifton Lewis of Lincolnville who was found guilty in Rockland Municipal Court of larceny of articles from the Camden Hills CCC Camp.

Representative Albert B. Elliot of Thomaston has been designated by Gov. Barrows as a member of the special Legislative committee to consider the advisability of having a State fund for occupational diseases.

Donald Merriam went Tuesday to Squirrel Island, Boothbay Harbor, where on the following day he was one of the ushers at the wedding of Malcolm D. Daggett of Topsham and Miss Frances Lintner of Rochester, N. Y.

A new Sea Gull will take to the water in Lermond's Cove at high tide today. This sea gull is a handsome centerboard craft, built by J. A. Perry, and designed by Crosby. It has an oak frame and pine planking and is equipped with a cuddy. The boat is Marconi rigged, and has an outboard motor.

At the Congregational Church Sunday the guest preacher will be Rev. Benjamin F. Farber, D. D., who is minister of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of New York City. Dr. Farber is summing up his cottage at Cooper's Beach, and many will look forward to hearing him preach on Sunday in the absence of Mr. Odds.

There was something missing at the corner of Main and Oak streets yesterday, and investigation revealed that it was the mortar and pestle sign which had hung over the entrance of the Moor drug store for more than 40 years. Erosion had weakened its solidity and there was danger that it might fall upon the head of some passer-by. So the new proprietor, Charles Cuthbertson had it taken down, and will substitute a light for it.

Opportunity Class of the First Baptist Church of Rockland enjoyed its annual picnic at the old Rowell homestead in South Thomaston Wednesday. Mrs. Marion Lindsey, chairman of the White Cross work of the club, was hostess. The sunset supper was partaken by a goodly number, after which games were played in the house. Miss Alice Kaler, president of the class, had charge of the entertainment, assisted by Miss Bernice Newborg of Arlington, Mass., sister of Mrs. Lindsey.

Phil Thomas' garage on Park street was burglarized Thursday night and a new Packard 6-cylinder car was stolen. It was a black four-door trunk sedan, and at the time of the theft had been driven less than 10 miles. The burglar gained access by mounting a shed roof, kicking in the window and opening the main door for the car's exit. On the same night the Dodge Garage on Park street was also broken into, but so far as learned nothing was disturbed. The Packard was found abandoned near Bath and taken in charge by the Sagadahoc sheriff's department. Fingerprints have been made by Sheriff Ludwick and State Patrolman George I. Shaw.

Mrs. Dorothy Simpson, who underwent an operation for appendicitis is resting comfortably.

The first meeting of Edwin Libby Relief Corps will be held Thursday night at Grand Army hall.

The band concerts at the Public Landing continue Sunday night at 7 o'clock. The Rockland City Band provides a very pleasant evening for you.

Former Congressman Donald B. Partridge of Norway has been appointed a member of the Industrial Accident Commission. It's an excellent selection.

L. P. Kittredge, manager of the Old Age Benefits office in Augusta was a caller at The Courier-Gazette office Thursday. He handles the central Maine territory.

Stuart Anderson of Gray is a new member of the State Police in this district, replacing Foster King, who has been promoted to sergeant and transferred to Wells.

Millard F. Hoyt, 56, died in the Bath Memorial Hospital Tuesday. Among the surviving relatives are two Rockland brothers, Earl Grant and Percy Grant.

Garden Club members and others interested in the growing of iris are urged to meet Tuesday at 2.30 at Megunticook Lake, Mrs. Hervey Allen's cottage. This is a State-wide program among Garden Clubs and it is hoped many members will be interested. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Ralph Wiggin.

Mrs. Jane White has sold her residence on Maple street to W. A. Babcock, a former New York newspaper man, who has been making his home in California for some years, and spending his summers at Glen Cove. He will take possession next week. Mrs. White will have apartments with Mrs. Leola Rose.

"Broadway Melody of 1938" is coming to Strand Theatre as the feature attraction for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Eleanor Powell and Robert Taylor are starring. For Wednesday and Thursday Loretta Young and Don Ameche in "Love Under Fire," a story of turbulent Spain. The week ends with "New Faces of 1937." Joe Penner heads the cast.

The blind musicians who have been coming here for several years, visited Rockland yesterday, exciting the usual amount of attention and sympathy. Rumor says that they belong to a regular organization, which sends similar musicians all over the country. Be that as it may they furnish excellent vocal and instrumental music.

Stanley Gay spent Thursday at his home in this city, coming from New Gloucester, where he has a position as boys' director at Opportunity Farm. Mr. Gay, who graduated from Gorham Normal School last June, is in charge of 32 boys, and busily engaged at the present time in preparing groups in chorus and harmonica band for appearance at the Maine State Fair at Lewiston.

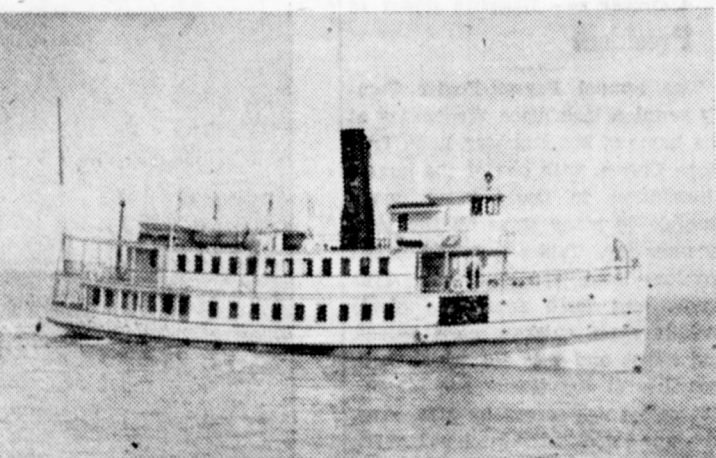

The Maine State Highway Commission announces that a hearing on the request of delegates from Eastern and Northeastern Maine on the condition of U. S. Highway No. 1 from Bangor to Rockland, would be deferred until Sept. 1. Hearing was originally scheduled for today in the House of Representatives. Chairman Stillman C. Woodman of the Commission said that arrangements were made to set the time "ahead to September 1."

Fred M. Eugley, a former Rockland theatrical manager, was a visitor in the city Thursday, after a long absence, and was warmly greeted by the old friends he chanced to meet. With the exception of a short stay in Waterville, Mr. Eugley has been down with the Star Theatre in Westbrook, ever since leaving Rockland. He is still wedded to the theatrical game, but commented Thursday on the radical changes which have occurred in it since the old Farwell Opera House days. Manager Eugley was accompanied on the Rockland trip by his wife.

The Rockland Rotarians went adventuring last night and found a hearty welcome at Raymond E. Thurston's home in Union. Dinner was served on the lawn, where lobster stew of delicious vintage was laded in chefmanlike manner by Col. Basil H. Stinson. A motion picture reel showed how a brand of whiskey was manufactured, but no samples were forthcoming. Barnyard golf was one of the diversions. Forty-two Rotarians were present, including Willard Sprague of Cambridge, Mass. and Delbert O. Fuller of Tarrytown, N. Y. One of Mr. Thurston's brother members of the State Liquor Commission was present—Commissioner Locke. Illness prevented Dr. Boardman from attending.

SERMONETTE

John the Baptist
Foreword

When a man is overshadowed by one greater than himself, it is important to study his life carefully, if we would understand him.

The name of the town where John was born is not given but we know that it was in the hill country of Judaea. John was a pioneer. In that lay much of his greatness. He blazed the way and had in marked degree the power of self effacement. He did not know the yearning of God to love and save men. Isaiah apprehended this far better than John, who thundered his "repent ye" as from Sinai, but John prepared the people for the coming of Jesus, who was to declare God's love for men.

There will be nine articles if any care to save the series—1. The Coming of a Great Man. 2. John the Baptist, Preacher. 3. The Forerunner's Mission. 4. John Baptized the Son of God. 5. John's Flaming Sermon on Herod's Adultery. 6. How truly Great was John the Baptist? 7. "Notwithstanding"—Said Jesus. 8. Was John a member of a Secret Society? 9. Herod, Herodias, Salome and John the Baptist.
William A. Holman.

Lt. Hollings of the Salvation Army will be speaker at Ingraham Hill Chapel Sunday at 3 o'clock.

Rev. Helen H. Carlson will preach in the Owl's Head Baptist Church, Sunday at 2.30 p. m., her topic "Why Fear?"

At St. Peter's Church (Episcopal) services for tomorrow will be: Matins at 7.30, Holy Communion at 7.30, Holy Eucharist and sermon at 10.30, Vespers at 7.30.

Earle Achorn of Rockport will supply the pulpit of the Littlefield Memorial Church Sunday morning and evening with morning worship at 10.30. School is at 11.45 and praise service and sermon at 7.15 p. m. Prayer meeting Tuesday evening at 7.30.

Rev. H. A. Welch of Warren will preach at the Pratt Memorial Methodist Church on Sunday morning. Mrs. Lydia Storer will be the soloist and Miss Carol Gardner will play the organ. Church school at the noon hour. There will be no evening service. Prayer meeting on Tuesday evening at 7.30.

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, tomorrow. The Golden Text is, "The Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son: that all men should honor the Son, even as they honor the Father." The citations from the Bible include the following passages: "The God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob, the God of our fathers, hath glorified his Son Jesus; and he shall send Jesus Christ which before was preached unto you: For Moses truly said unto the fathers, a prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren, like unto me; he shall ye hear in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you."

JEREMIAH CLARK

Jeremiah Nelson Clark who died at Sailors' Snug Harbor, Wednesday, was born in North Haven, son of David and Susan Young Clark. He was one of the few remaining real grandsons of the Revolutionary War, his grandfather, Belcher Clark of Hanover, Mass., having served in that war.

He became blind 13 years ago, and during that time had lived at the Harbor, and had the best of medical advice, and received the best of care. He joined the church soon after going to the Harbor, and was very happy in his belief. He leaves one sister, Belle V. Corbelle of this city. Burial at the Harbor.

Mark Initial Experience of Maritime Commissioner E. C. Moran, Jr.

Maritime Commissioner Edward C. Moran, Jr., told Ira A. Campbell, general counsel for the American Steamship Owners' Association Tuesday that it is one of the functions of the Maritime Commission to provide for the welfare of American seamen on subsidized American merchant ships.

In reply to a question from Commissioner E. M. Land on what working standards should prevail on the ships, Campbell said he would be satisfied with those set up by the Department of Commerce, in the marine inspection and navigation service. Asked why there should be two government agencies for the same purpose, Campbell indicated he thought it unnecessary.

Moran pointed out that those regulations dealt with the safety and adequacy of ship operation, but that the Maritime Commission had an added duty under the Merchant Marine Act. Under Section 301 of the Merchant Marine Act, the Commission is directed to promulgate minimum wages, maximum hours and reasonable working conditions for crews of ships to which the government pays subsidies.

In the division of duties among the five commissioners, Moran has charge of labor and operations. He has just returned from a six weeks' series of hearings on the Pacific Coast to ascertain working conditions, and the full commission is now hearing oral argument on proposed labor standards of the Commission. Witnesses for seamen and for operators have appeared in steady procession, each advocating his own side. Out of the hearings Moran has emerged as a defender of the highest possible standard for labor, compatible with practical operating costs. This has resulted in several sharp set-backs with witnesses, especially those who have already faced Moran in the West Coast hearings, since the worst ship labor troubles have been occurring there.

Moran also had a mild set-back with Ernest M. Bull of the Bull Steamship Company, who was speaking for the Atlantic Coastwise Association, when Bull defended a 60-hour work week for men at sea. Bull objected to payment of overtime at sea, and an eight-hour day. Moran added up the hours Bull advocated to 60 and asked if that were a good labor practice.

"It's not bad," said Bull. Bull said men would rather have time off in port, Moran asked if that were the option of the men or the owner. Bull said of the owner. Moran asked why, if Bull were so sure the men preferred time off in port, to shorter hours at sea, the men were not given the option and Bull said "you couldn't have two systems on ships."

"Broadway Melody 1938"

Eleanor Powell and Robert Taylor in "Broadway Melody of 1938"

Hollywood's newest stars, Robert Taylor and Eleanor Powell, are teamed again in the musical extravaganza, "Broadway Melody of 1938." When the two players were teamed for the first time last year in the 1936 "Melody," they were both newcomers to the screen, but each in record time reached stardom.

Both sing and dance as well as act in the new musical which is said to surpass both "Born to Dance" and "The Great Ziegfeld."

The supporting cast gathered from stage, screen and radio, includes Geo. Murphy, Binnie Barnes, Buddy Ebsen, Sophie Tucker, Judy Garland, Charles Igor Gorn, Raymond Washburn—adv.

THE SAUNTERER

A. B. Crocker

One night in mid-August I was looking through Dad's diary of half a century ago and I came across two items which may be of interest to the sailors. Sept. 29, 1887: Yacht Volunteer beat the Scotch Yacht Thistle on a 38-mile course, 19 minutes, 23 seconds. Sept. 30, 1887: The Scotch Thistle got badly beaten today by the Volunteer by 10 minutes. They will have to go home without the cup this time.

How history repeated itself Aug. 5, 1937. Four straight, and the cup is still ours. The race week closed at Marblehead Aug. 14 with a total of 284 boats sailing. Boat: Any craft with sail, from a pea pod to a M class boat.

My friend who packs two cameras, one a movie, came in recently and said, "What do you say to going to Marblehead tomorrow and getting some pictures?" The answer to that was "I'll go."

Next morning was "brite'n fare," wind nor west, so we got underway in good season and took our departure by bus from Haymarket Square; time of run, 55 minutes. Like Kipling's "Recessional," "The tumult and the shouting dies—the Captains and the Kings depart;" but there is still plenty of life at Marblehead Harbor and will be until after Labor Day.

What a change in the scene since Longfellow, nearly a century ago wrote the famous poem, "The Fire of Drift Wood." Devereaux Farm, near Marblehead, "Not far away we saw the port, the strange, old fashioned silent town; the lighthouse, the dismantled fort, the wooden houses, guain and brown." This town, settled in 1639 by fishermen from the Island of Jersey, in 1930 had a population of 8688 and is one of the most famous sea ports on the Atlantic seaboard. People by the thousands come here from all over the world in the summer-time, and it is anything but silent, with honking autos by the hundreds on the streets.

Nowhere else in the U.S.A. can one find the old and the new so intermingled as in Marblehead. "The Neck" is new, with two large yacht club houses on the harbor front, and fine estates on both the harbor and ocean sides.

We went on location on Light-house Point on the Neck for pictures. We got 'em, big and little. The last shot, which used up the reel, was of the power yacht, Oytheria, probably of 750 tons, and a beautiful sight she was coming in. No, I did not envy the owner of her—too big, but I did envy the owners of some of the others, both sail and power.

Aug. 28—"Big Day." Five "J" boats, Endeavor I and II, Yankee, Rainbow and Ranger. The marine expert, the Roving Reporter, please take notice.

PAYSON-FOGLER

Annual Reunion At Hope Corner — Illinois Man Is President

The annual Payson-Fogler Family reunion took place Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. True Hope Corner, with one of the largest attendances in many years, made possible in many ways by the ideal summer day. Tables were laid on the spacious lawn fronting the True home, and forth from the picnic baskets came chicken, corn, salads, and cakes and pies for which both branches of the family are famous. Hot coffee was served by Mrs. True, who was aided in the kitchen by Mrs. Elmer True, Mrs. G. L. St. Clair and Mrs. H. O. Heistad.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Elmer True, and the secretary-treasurer's report read by Mrs. Heistad. A nominating committee was named, composed of Henry H. Payson, William Fogler and Miss Mary Fogler, and later in the meeting this roster of officers was elected: President, Raymond Fogler of Hinsdale, Ill.; vice president, Elmer True of Hope; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Gladys Heistad of Rockport; committee on arrangements, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hobbs of Hope; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. St. Clair of Rockland and Mr. and Mrs. Heistad; obituary committee, Henry H. Payson, chairman.

The matter of revising the membership list was discussed, and it was voted to have the secretary make typed lists to be sent to a few representatives of each branch for checking purposes. Any member is invited to send names to Mrs. Heistad in the meantime as every effort is to be made to make the list complete and authentic as possible.

It was also voted to extend greetings through the secretary to Misses Helen and Gertrude Fogler, 31 Wyoming avenue, Melrose, Mass. Expressions of regret were made that Miss Helen Fogler still remains seriously ill. The obituary committee reported these deaths: Elmer Grafman, Mrs. Gertrude Payson, Nathan Barrett, Miss Mary Barrett, Mrs. Adriana Payson Bills and Mrs. G. D. Gould.

One family group attracted unusual attention—these were five sisters and brothers whose ages aggregated 442 years. These were Mrs. Rose Wilder who will attain her 99th birthday on Oct. 25 of this year, Mrs. Elizabeth Spear, 91, L. P. True, 87; George True, 85; Miss Frances True, 81. Another brother, 78 absent due to illness, sent greetings through his son, Payson True. Added to this group were three of Mrs. Wilder's sons—Willoughby, Edward and Harold, and a great grandson, Mrs. Wilder had the distinction of being the oldest member present, and Joy True, aged seven the youngest. Another oldest present was Major John Fogler of Skowhegan, who wears his 91 years lightly. William Fogler of Philadelphia won honors for coming the longest distance, having traveled some 500 miles to be present for the occasion.

Willoughby Wilder read a most interesting account of "My Payson Ancestry" traced from the pioneer from whom many of those assembled at the reunion are descended, Edward Payson, born in England, Oct. 13, 1613, and his wife Ann (Parke) Payson, of Roxbury, up to the present time. It started a train of thought in many present, and doubtless several family accounts will be prepared for future reunions. Such accounts are to be incorporated in the secretary's records as a permanent record. A family account prepared by the late Freeman W. Smith many years ago was presented by Henry H. Payson, and this as well as Mr. Wilder's account, is to be made a permanent record. Mrs. Mary Payson Robbins of Union read an original poem about the Payson-Fogler families which she had written two years ago.

Remarks were made by Payson True, Henry Payson, John Starrett, Major John Fogler, George True, Harold Wilder, Crosby Hobbs, William Fogler, these remarks enriched by reminiscences of former days and many witticisms.

The meeting adjourned after extending an expression of appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. True for their splendid hospitality. The next reunion will be the fourth Wednesday in August, 1938 at the Rockport home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Heistad.

Among those present were: Major and Mrs. John Fogler and chauffeur of Skowhegan; Mrs. Mary A. Fogler and Miss Mary L. Fogler of West Rockport; Mr. and Mrs. William Fogler and son Eugene of Philadelphia; Mrs. May Payson Spear and sister, Miss Lula E. Payson of Rockport; Mrs. Effie Twitchell; John Starrett of Somerville, Mass., and Warren; Mrs. Mary Payson Robbins of Union; G. D. Gould of Camden; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Taylor of South Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Albion Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hobbs, daughter Harish, son Wilfred of Hope; Henry H. Payson and daughter Miss Edna Payson of Rockland; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer St. Clair, Mrs. Cora

THE HILLS REUNION

The 54th annual reunion of the Hills family was held Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Lenfest of Union, with about 60 present. Luncheon was enjoyed, after which the usual business meeting and election of officers was conducted.

A short program followed with a soprano solo by Mrs. Arthur Grinnell of Camden, accompanied by Mrs. Maud Young, also of Camden, and a piano solo by Mrs. Young. The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to beano.

A merry time was passed and a rising vote of thanks extended to the Lenfest family for their kind hospitality.

SMALLEY REUNION

Family To Meet Next Year With New President Thaddeus Maxwell

The annual reunion of the Smalley family was held with Mrs. Georgia Robinson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smalley in Tenant's Harbor. About 50 were served with a delicious fish chowder.

After dinner Daniel Munro played the accordion and Raymond Jacobson played the guitar, and sang most pleasingly. General singing was led by Dr. Cornelius Greenway of New York and Eugene Smalley.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Eugene Smalley and these officers were elected: President, Thaddeus Maxwell; vice president, Lewis Taylor; secretary, P. H. Pierson; treasurer, Mildred Pierson.

It was voted to accept the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Taylor to meet with them next year in remembrance of Mrs. Amelia Taylor.

A letter was read from Attorney Charles T. Smalley of Rockland expressing his regrets.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Smalley.

Don't take candles, lamps or open flames into the basement. The menace of sewer gas explosion is always present if you don't maintain a fresh water seal on your basement drain trap. Six children were burned and two killed in Missouri recently while looking for a kitten with matches in the basement.

WARREN

A fire which started Wednesday noon on the Thomas J. Carroll wood-lot in East Warren, by unknown parties who had a corn roast in the center of a soft wood grove, was put out with difficulty early Thursday morning after a hard fight. Although only about a third of an acre was burning, the fact there was no wind probably saved the fanning of a more serious fire. The local fire department fought the blaze which burned into the ground deeply. Wednesday afternoon, and all that night. The Bisbee Brook near by, was drained, a dozen of the night crew from the C.C.C. Camp at Jefferson, and Waldo Clark, of Jefferson, the firewarden, plus the local department, dug a trench about the area, three feet wide and a foot and a half in depth, dammed the Bisbee Brook with sandbags, and drenched the area before it was safe to leave the territory.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Barrows of Wilmington, Mass., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Barrows.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Butler and children, Richard and Joyce, accompanied by Mrs. Evelyn Robinson and Mrs. Robert Walker, enjoyed a motor trip Wednesday to Bar Harbor.

Mrs. Lawrence Leach of Rockland and Mrs. Ronald Messer entertained recently at the home of the latter, at a dinner party. Mrs. Jessie Walker, Mrs. Evelyn Robinson, Miss Mary Wylie of this place, Mrs. Grace Andrews of Thomaston and Mrs. Lester Sherman of Rockland.

Miss Pauline Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Young in Pleasantville, sustained a badly burned right palm, Wednesday night, when she slipped and accidentally placed her right hand upon the hot stove cover.

Mrs. Wesley Jameson and daughter, Miss Alice Jameson, of St. Paul, Minn., guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Jameson, accompanied by Mrs. Edwin Emerson and Raychel Emerson, attended the boat races last Saturday in Boothbay Harbor. They were supper guests of the Emersons. Mrs. Jameson is an honorary State Regent of the Minnesota D.A.R., an honorary president of the Minnesota Chapter, Daughters of the Founders and Patriots of America; a past counselor of the National Society of New England Women, and is socially prominent in her home city. Mrs. Jameson and daughter recently motored to Maine from California where they spent four months.

A Religious Presentation

The impressive pageant-pantomime "The Way of the Cross" was presented Wednesday night by the young people of the community. The service was opened by the singing of the 24th Psalm by eight young women. It was harmoniously rendered and the young voices with the sweetness of youth sang out the question, "Who is the King of Glory?" and received the answer "The Lord of Hosts, He is the King of Glory."

Misses Gladys Tolman, Auni Hill, Mary Tolman and Irji Hill made the query and the response came from Misses Doris Hall, Lili Hill, Josephine Tolman and Ethel Hall.

Following this exercise Miss Margaret McKnight gave a stirring and helpful talk concerning the subject matter. The pageant was ably and beautifully done by Misses Auni, Lili and Irji Hill, Doris and Ethel Hall, Josephine and Mary Tolman, Helen Hall, Evans Tolman and Harold Hall. The young women robed in flowing white carrying lighted candles made a beautiful sight. The readings were given by Miss McKnight and her sister Mrs. Brown. It was a picture and story that will linger long in memory.

The collection for the Rural Religious Education work to which Miss McKnight is devoting her time and for which she is so well fitted, exceeded $10.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

In the Statistics Made Public By American Automobile Association

The American Automobile Association has just issued a publication, "Americans on the Highways" which shows interesting trends of tourist travel and tourist business competition.

Replies to questionnaires sent out by them show that in 1936 money spent by tourists is established at $267,111,638 in California and $315,000,000 in Michigan, $198,000,000 in New York State, $150,000,000 in Virginia, $200,000,000 in Wisconsin, $90,539,000 in Minnesota, and $100,000,000 in Maine.

In reply to "What is your favorite section in the United States for motoring," the "Northwestern States, New England and New York," lead with 34.4%; all territory west of the Rocky Mountains, 19.1%; southern states 13.7%; Middle Atlantic States 12.9% and the balance made up of the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley; North Central States, and South Central States.

The influence for selection of vacation trips is shown as 39.8% previous visits (showing the value of continuous advertising); 26% recommended by friends; 9.3% advertising; and the balance made up of travel urge, visiting relatives, business, travel stories, conventions, climate 1.4% and health 1.3%.

"Where did you stay?" shows 60.9% at hotels; 20.4% at tourist homes; 12.5% at tourist camps; 6.2% at camps and homes.

Forty-seven cities are shown receiving favorable mention with Portland as number 41.

The average daily expenditure is $8.43 and the average length of trip is three weeks, showing the vacation budget close to $175.

Out of each dollar spent, approximately 20c goes to transportation, 20c to accommodations, 25c for retail expenditures, 21c for food, 80c for amusements, and 60c for refreshments.

Twenty-Eight Thousand Miles of Bumps

Day and night, this Oldsmobile Six had traveled a rough road since January 22 until recently when it was stopped for inspection by Harold T. Youngren, Oldsmobile's chief engineer (left), and J. F. Wolfram, experimental engineer. The rear wheels rested on heavy steel rollers carrying wooden cross blocks of one-inch material. The car was operated at the speed which created maximum disturbance in the spring, frame and stabilizer units. Said by engineers to be one of the most grueling tests given a rear axle, the severe punishment disclosed how effectively various mechanical parts could withstand jolts and jars more exaggerated than those offered by the roughest of roads. Such tests are of great value in the development of new models and in checking the performance of current models. Similar tests of every part used by Oldsmobile insure quality and dependability unsurpassed in the industry.

GOOD WILL GRANGE FAIR
Dialect Becomes Stylish In Line of Advertising—"Uncle Si" Writes His Bit

To the Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Long about this time year we're allus interested in readin' what Aunt Hetty has ter say 'bout the Legion Fair in Thomaston an' this year her cousin bobs up and down ter South Thomaston and we're interested in readin' what they're doin' down there. So Uncle Si's cousin (by marriage) over to South Warren thought the public might like ter know about the affair or fair Good Will Grange members are goin' to have at their hall next week.

These affairs or fairs, was started 30 years ago and with only one or two exceptions (didn't have any in 1918 when a body couldn't get sugar to cook for their own family, let alone their public) have been an annual event, but always in the month of October until this year when the date is Sept. 1.

Fancy work, rugs, quilts, aprons, candy and ice cream will be on sale and a baked bean and cold meat supper served at 6 p. m. daylight, with a dance in the evening.

So long, everybody, see yer next Wednesday.

From Uncle Si's cousin over ter South Warren.

P. S. Yer can walk across the old bridge but yer can't drive across it cause there's a fence up at both ends.—adv.

ROCKPORT'S NOTABLE CONCERT

Given In Town Hall Under Auspices Of the Rockport Garden Club

One of the high spots of the summer music season was the concert at Rockport Town Hall Wednesday night, under the auspices of the Rockport Garden Club, with Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok heading the committee in charge. A capacity audience paid warm tribute to the artists—Ezra Rachlin, pianist; Trio Classique, composed of Eudice Shapiro, violin, Ardelle Hookins, flute and Virginia Majewski, viola; Margaret Whitcroft, lyric soprano; Edward Rhein baritone; and Edith Evans Braun, pianist. The program:

Choral Prelude in F minor, Bach-Busoni Etude in G flat major, Op. 10, No. 5 (Black Key) Chopin Etude in F minor (without opus number) Chopin Etude C minor, Op. 25, No. 12 Chopin Ballade F major, Chopin

Alleluia, Du bist die Ruh, Schubert Daisies, Richard Strauss Serenade, Richard Strauss

Adagio and Fugato, Beethoven Andante, Taniey Sacm Trio in D major, De Wally Aubade, Trio Classique Widmung, Schumann Verborgeneit, Hugo Wolf Wie soliten wir geheim sie haben, Richard Strauss Waterbury, arr. by Robinson Love Went Arising, Frank Bridge Islamey, Mr. Rhein Balakireff

While Mr. Rachlin has been a member of the music colony for some time, it was the first time he had been presented in a local concert. Hailed as one of the most gifted pianists from the Curtis Institute of Music, there had been much eager anticipation of his appearance, an anticipation which in no way was dimmed. His quiet dignity and effortless playing in which he seems enraptured made a strong appeal to his audience. His pianistic ability covers a tremendous scope—dramatic color, thundering power, sensitive touch, delicacy in lighter work. He has a thorough grasp of tone building, singing tone, and contrast. Mr. Rachlin made his Chopin a bit more dramatic than is usual, although there was not lacking that poesy and ethereal quality so oft associated with the great Polish master. The Balakireff number gave Mr. Rachlin opportunity to display his equipment of technique. It was an amazing performance—in tonal effects, rich color, and rapidity, and justified to the full all that had been heralded of the pianist's talent. Recalled many times, Mr. Rachlin first played a composition of his own, "The Music Box," a charming tinkly burry affair exquisitely done, and the C sharp minor Etude, Opus 10, No. 4, of Chopin.

The Trio scored a triumph in their second Rockport appearance. Here are three charming young women highly endowed with artistry. Maine has perhaps a claim to a certain share of proprietary pride in the trio, since for two summers they have kept house together in a cottage at Rockport. All come of musical families and are American-born, and all are graduates of The Curtis Institute of Music. Miss Shapiro, who has appeared with many of the leading orchestras of the country as soloist during the past three years, is a graduate under Effert Zimbalist; she also has had a Town Hall, New York, recital. Miss Majewski, previously graduated from the Eastman school of Music and a student at the Curtis Institute with Dr. Louis Bailly, is a member of the Marianne Kneisel Quartet of New York. Miss Hookins, star pupil of the Philadelphia Orchestra, is on the Curtis faculty. The Trio was organized about five years ago, and already it is becoming well known in the field of chamber music and so far as known they are the only organization of their type in America. Beauty of tone, and phrasing, and absolute precision characterize their work. Their unaffected charm of manner and their becoming attire—gowns of yellow made alike—also have their appeal. Their numbers were so uniformly well done that to choose a high light is impossible—they were skillfully selected as to contrast and served to display the individual talent of each member of the Trio. They were also recalled many times, and their encore, a clever arrangement of the old round tune "Three Blind Mice" more than delighted their hearers.

Mrs. Whitcroft, a newcomer to Rockport's music colony, is an artist-pupil with Mr. and Mrs. John Braun. Those who had met her personally had been charmed by her lovely manner, and in her work at Wednesday's concert she literally walked into everyone's heart through her exquisite singing. It is a voice of pure lyric type, effortless, fresh, clear. While yet it lacks power, there is indication of future development in this direction. It is of wide range and is handled with rare control. Particularly commendable is Mrs. Whitcroft's command of pianissimo effect and the simplicity with which she projects her work. The Schubert number was outstanding in its quiet beauty. Mrs. Whitcroft gave as encore "Annie Laurie," beautifully done. The singer was a lovely picture in a stunning rose taffeta gown with pastel sash.

Mr. Rhein in making his second Rockport appearance was greeted with warm applause. His song group showed to splendid advantage his fine voice, the Strauss number magnificently sung "Waterboy" was extremely well done, also, in this Mr. Rhein displaying his excellent control of pianissimo work. He, too, is an artist-pupil of Mr. and Mrs. Braun. For encores Mr. Rhein gave two requests "Old Mother Hubbard" and "I Got Plenty of Nutter" from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," numbers which scored a hit in last summer's concert.

Mrs. Braun at the piano for Mrs. Whitcroft and Mr. Rhein gave impeccable accompaniments, her exquisite playing always expertly supporting, never obtruding. Mrs. Braun for three years was accompanist for Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink. She was a former pupil of Josef Hofmann and of Stojowski. Mrs. Braun, one of the most beloved members of the summer colony, was a very handsome figure in gray chiffon. Much of the applause bestowed on Mrs. Whitcroft and Mr. Rhein was shared with Mrs. Braun and Mrs. Bok who turned the music.

Gorgeous bouquets of gladioli were presented Mrs. Whitcroft, Mrs. Braun and members of the Trio. The tidy sum netted from the concert will be turned into the Christ's Welfare Fund for Rockport Children, a most worthy cause, as was illustrated in the brief talk given by Arthur Walker, first selectman of the town, who outlined the good work done last Christmas time from the proceeds of last summer's concert. This fund is one of Mrs. Bok's dearest projects and no one of the committee worked more tirelessly to make the concert a financial success, as well as an artistic one, than did she.

CENTRAL MAINE POWER COMPANY

ROLLINS-GREGORY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Gregory, Center street, was the scene of a charming late summer wedding Friday at 8 p. m., when Mr. Gregory's daughter, Edna Mabel, was united in marriage to Howard E. Rollins, also of this city. There were 50 bidden guests. The attractive home was simply but effectively decorated in vari-colored garden flowers and greens.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Gladys Grant, contralto, sang with expression Cadman's "At Dawning," "O Perfect Love" and to strains of the Bridal March from "Lohegrin" played by Miss Glenice Keller of Milton, Mass., cousin of the bride, the bridal party entered—the two ring bearers, Warren and Arthur Perry, nephews of the bride, bearing the rings on tiny baskets, the bride on the arm of her father who gave her away, and her attendant, Miss Ruth Gregory, a sister. In front of the fireplace they joined Rev. Benjamin P. Browne of Holyoke, Mass., a former pastor of the Rockland First Baptist Church, the groom and his brother, Oliver Rollins of Watertown, Mass., as groomsmen. The double ring service was used.

The bride wore her mother's graduation gown—a lovely thing of ivory laces, worn with fingertip ivory tulle veil, and she carried sweet peas in pastel shades. Miss Gregory's gown was of orchid mousseline de soie and she carried yellow snapdragons. The small ring bearers wore white suits with navy blue shirts and hose.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held, with Mrs. Alden Perry, sister of the bride, in charge of refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Bert Gregory of Glen Cove and Miss Louise Anderson of New York City. The bride cut and served the bridal cake. Ushers for the wedding and reception were Earle, Luther and Burton Bickmore.

The bride presented rings to the ring bearers and a pearl to her bridesmaid. The groom's gift to his best man was a cigarette case. The bridesmaid was in charge of the guest book.

Amid the usual merriment the newlyweds made their escape, bound for a motor trip through Maine and Canada. The bride wore for traveling a brown redingote dress with balsam green coat and brown accessories. On their return they will be at home at 33 Elm street, Camden, where a newly furnished apartment awaits them. The wealth of wedding gifts, including silver, china, money, household furnishings, electrical appliances, etc., testified to the popularity and esteem held for both bride and groom.

The bride is a graduate of Rockland High School and of the Paellen Pianoforte School of Boston. She is an accomplished pianist, and has met with no small success as instructor, particularly with small children. THE KALLOCH FAMILY

The 68th annual reunion of the Kallach family was held at St. George Grange hall, Wednesday, with 26 in attendance. The business meeting was called to order by the president, E. K. Gould of Rockland, by uniting in singing "America," after which E. J. Kallach, honorary president, of Warren, presided over the meeting.

Election of officers resulted thus: President, E. K. Gould of Rockland; vice presidents, Daniel Keller of Rockport, Everett Kallach of South Thomaston, James Kellogg of Cambridge, Mass., Mrs. Lillian Joyce and Robert Simmons of Rockland; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kallach, Hatfield, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Rollins, Somerville, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Gould and Miss Marguerite Gould, Rockland; Mary E. Reilly and Walter Strong, all of Kallach, and E. J. Kallach, Warren; Thomaston.

Remarks were made on the genealogy of the family by E. J. Kallach, E. K. Gould, Miss Mary Kallach, Mrs. Mabel Rollins, and Miss Marguerite Gould. Comments were also made by Prof. E. J. Rollins, and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kallach.

The oldest person present was E. J. Kallach, 88; and the youngest, Donald Reilly of Thomaston, nine.

It was voted to hold the reunion next year at the residence of Arthur D. Kallach, Thomaston, the last Wednesday in August.

Those attending were Nettie S.

TODAY DICK FORAN in "DEVIL'S SADDLE LEGION"

REALM OF MUSIC

by Gladys St. Clair Heistad

Four public concerts, featuring vocal and instrumental artists of note in the modern musical world, this week commemorated the 25th anniversary of the Kotschmar Memorial Organ in City Hall, Portland, gift of the late Cyrus H. K. Curtis to his native city, and one of the truly magnificent organs of the world. Four eminent organists participated—Homer C. Dunphy, professor at the New England Conservatory of Music and organist of Second Church, Boston; Dr. Francis W. Snow of Trinity Church, Boston; Raymond C. Robinson of King's Chapel, Boston and of Boston University; and William E. Zeuch, organist of First Church, Boston, who is famed throughout the country for his organ recitals. Through the generous co-operation of Mr. Curtis' daughter, Mary Louise Curtis Bok, famous assisting artists took part in this notable anniversary, and included: Edward Rhein, baritone; The Curtis String Quartet; Ezra Rachlin, pianist; and Trio Classique.

The dedicatory recital of the Kotschmar Organ was held Aug. 22, 1912, following Mayor Oakley C. Curtis' formal speech of acceptance on behalf of the City of Portland. The first municipal organist, the first strictly municipal organist in the United States, was Dr. Will C. Macfarlane, Mr. Macfarlane, whose initial term as organist from 1912 to 1919, was followed by Irving Morgan, 1919-21; Edwin H. Lemare, 1921-24; Charles R. Cronham 1924-32. Again the city appointed Dr. Macfarlane, the last so formally designated. Since 1933 the summer organ concerts have been sponsored by the American Guild of Organists Alfred Brinkler, Howard W. Clark, John E. Fay, Fred Lincoln Hill, and various well-known organists providing the programs.

The story of Portland's organ never loses its interest. Cyrus H. K. Curtis, who spent his struggling boyhood in that city and left it to become one of the greatest publishers and philanthropists in the United States, deeply loved music. Among the keenest pleasures of his youth, were hearing Herman Kotschmar, then organist at the First Parish Church, play for its services, and the singing of hymns on Sunday afternoons. This happiness in music he wished others to share, and as a fitting memorial to the family friend whose name he bore as his own middle name, and whose genius as a musician he admired, Mr. Curtis determined to give the citizens of Portland an organ which should rank among the most splendid instruments of the world. This he did. The organ was constructed by the Austin Organ Company of Hartford, Conn. In 1927 Mr. Curtis had it enlarged and a new console substituted for the original. The latter, with its 75 feet of attached flexible cable, is movable and can be placed anywhere on the State. It contains four manuals and pedals, and there are 177 stop keys and couplers.

In appearance the organ is a wonderful looking structure, impressive with its facade of massive gilded pipes in domed groups, and the bronze bust of Kotschmar, so long Portland's first musician, looking out from its central niche over stage and audience. Actually it consists of eight separate organs—great, swell, orchestral, solo, antiphonal, echo, percussion and pedal; and it possesses in all 6,518 pipes. The action is entirely electric, the concealed mechanism with its intricate system of pneumatic engines, switches, cables, air chests and pipes being motivated through about 100 miles of wire. The complete instrument weighs approximately 50 tons and the main instrument is 60 feet wide, 15 feet deep and 40 feet high. The organ is renowned for its beauty of tone.

A lovely bit of life was given to me last Monday morning when I was invited with a few others to hear a rehearsal of Brahms' Quintet in F minor by the Curtis String Quartet and Edith Evans Braun, pianist, at the Captain Eells' Boat Barn. Beautiful music, even if only in rehearsal, heard under the ideal conditions which a small intimate group affords. And tremendously interesting in its informality—the Quartet boys in sports clothes puffing away at cigarettes between times, exchanging banter in a spare moment; the guests sitting where they best pleased, listening with heart and soul, chatting and moving about in a delightful friendly manner during "lulls in the music." One guest had even brought a lawn mower. One saw the Elliott Cabots of Boston, "patron saints" of the Quartet, Margaret Whitcroft and Edward Rhein whose fine voices charmed in Rockport's concert of last Wednesday. Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Chatfield, Mrs. Pender, Mr. and Mrs. Griffith whose generosity makes possible the use of the Barn for these notable musical things, Mrs. Scott, and others of the summer colony, about twenty in all.

What a magnificent composition that Quintet is—dramatic, exciting, vibrant with color! The Quartet play it with so much understanding, aided by the noble work of Mrs. Braun at the piano. The Quintet is to be played a bit later in the season at the summer home of Mary Roberts Rinehart, author, at Bar Harbor.

And then another lovely moment was when, one early evening last week Mrs. Braun came to my home and with Mrs. Whitcroft gave the songs, which the sweet singer used in last Wednesday's concert, for the members of my household. What a memory to cherish—Mrs. Whitcroft's beautiful voice thrilling through the softly lighted room and Mrs. Braun's gracious figure at the piano which she plays with so much love and understanding.

Frederic Tillotson, professor of music at Bowdoin College, has accepted the position of conductor of the Portland Men's Singing Club and will take up his new duties with the organization in the fall. Many in this section remember Prof. Tillotson when he gave a piano-lecture recital at a convention of the Maine Federation of Music Clubs in Rockland some years ago.

At last Wednesday's concert when an usher directly after Edward Rhein's song group brought down the aisle a gorgeous bouquet of gladioli, the thought flashed through some minds—"Are they for Mr. Rhein?" Of course, they were—they were for Mrs. Braun—but listen to this from Mephisto's Musings in Musical America of August:

"Scandinavians love flowers so much that even the most stalwart among the gentlemen singers think about being presented with a bouquet or two after a concert. In fact, they'd be chagrined if somebody didn't say it with posies. I remember Lauritz Mechior bemoaning the fact that in this country it was considered 'sissy' for a man to receive floral tributes and I wondered how Lawrence Tibbett would feel about it when I heard he was going to give a Stockholm concert. So I asked one of my imps to find out.

"It seems that Tibbett hadn't been warned about the blossom business, and looked a little startled when an usher advanced down to the platform of the open-air concert grounds, bearing roses. But he took it like a man, and leaned over to accept the bouquet. It must have been still more puzzling to him when they wouldn't give it to him right away, but motioned Tibbett to move over on the stage a few inches. I'm told that they won't present the flowers unless the artist is standing in one particular spot in front of the piano—don't ask me why. Anyway, Tibbett sort of liked the custom and got used to having flowers thrown at him, heaped in his arms and stuck in his buttonhole. I hear he's going to make an effort to introduce it over here. Why not? I'd like a posy or two myself, sometimes, says your Mephisto."

FLIES PESTER DEER

And Deer Pester Blueberry Growers—We'll Swap Gulls For Them

Deer are so numerous about the blueberry heaths in Washington County that guards are employed to traverse a given area in order to prevent the animals from destroying the berries and vines. They may be seen singly or in pairs and groups, and are boldest in the early morning or near sundown. A constant vigil is necessary in order that the blueberry crop may not be destroyed by being trampled and eaten by the animals.

The section about Dennys River and the ridges of Plantation Fourteen, Cooper and Marion, are said to harbor scores of the timid creatures, although at the present time, deer seem to know that they are protected and are not averse to advancing into open country.

It is at this season of the year that deer are annoyed by flies and the animals follow rivers and streams in order to rid themselves of the pests. Deer will wade into a stream, and stand in the cool shade of overhanging trees and shrubbery, overlooking the bothersome flies. As the hunting season approaches, they leave the rivers and retreat into the deep woods and thickets.

IS IT VANDENBERG?

He Seems the Most Likely Prospect In the Next Presidential Race

Unofficial nominations to the presidency are common enough. One politician or another everlastingly is suggesting someone as his party's best candidate for the next campaign. But generally it is for his own party only that he undertakes to speak.

It remained for Postmaster General James A. Farley, as chairman of the Democratic national committee, to give a word of advice to the Republicans.

Farley pointed to Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan as the G.O.P.'s natural 1940 selection. He did not express it, indeed, exactly as a compliment to Vandenberg. What he said was that the Republicans haven't anyone else to nominate. It wasn't better than a qualified compliment, anyway.

But what kind of a candidate would Vandenberg make, at that? He is an extremely high class senator. Of the few Republicans in the upper congressional chamber, since the last two or three overwhelming Democratic victories at the polls, he has shown fighting quality.

Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon is the nominal leader of the G.O.P. in the Senate, but McNary is a politician rather than a statesman; nobody hints at him presidentially. Senators William E. Borah of Idaho and Hiram W. Johnson of California are in the statesman class. But they are doubtful Republicans; Independents, rather. Too old, likewise unsuitable.

No representative is even mentioned.

Congressman Bertrand H. Snell is the Republican representatives' leader. Do I hear any second to his G.O.P. presidential nomination? No? I thought not. Once, possibly, in the hard-boiled olden days. Not in these times.

Any governor? There are eight Republicans in gubernatorial seats:

Merriam, California; Barrows, Maine; Nice, Maryland; Murphy, New Hampshire (not Michigan); Hoffman, New Jersey; Langer, North Dakota; Jensen, South Dakota; Aiken, Vermont.

Who is there in that list who sounds presidential? Maybe, at one time, Hoffman so rated himself, but he knows better now. As to the remaining seven—no.

Looking around elsewhere: Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota? Nye is almost a slight possibility, but not quite.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana? True, he is a Democrat, but, at this juncture, there is no reason why a Democrat should not accept a Republican presidential nomination. Still, he seems unlikely.

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York? Sometimes he is a Republican. However, at present, he is more a Democrat (if the New Deal is Democratic) than he is a Republican. So he would not do.

The "young La Follette"? But they are New Dealers; no longer Republicans.

No one would propose running Alf M. Landon again.

The next Republican presidential nominee obviously has got to be a mild liberal.

A liberal—but Mild.

Vandenberg is "it."

It looks to me as if Farley might be right unless conditions change meanwhile, in some unforeseen way. They have a trick of doing that.

LOBSTERS POPULAR

Many More Licenses Are Already Issued Than Were In 1936

With less than two months of its fiscal year passed the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries has issued over 200 more licenses than the 1936 total. Commissioner Rodney E. Feyler, said today. The 3881 permits include those for fishermen, dealers, shippers, markets, restaurants, hotels, and all who handle lobsters and he expresses the opinion that this number will be greatly increased.

"There has never been more interest in this famed seafood," said the Commissioner who gives much credit to advertising and publicity for the increased activity. He states that more people are handling lobsters as a business and that out of State visitors are eating and asking about them often.

About 1250 groundfishing licenses have been issued. This is the first year that commercial fishermen have been forced to obtain permits. This is the result of a law passed at the last session of Legislature.

Commissioner Feyler believes that the groundfishing license plan is working out well. "It helps us to enforce the several new laws passed and to keep accurate statistics on the catch and supply," he said. When filing application for a permit all fishermen must state the value of equipment and the previous years catch of the various species.

Motor Fuels change, too!

TODAY, tomorrow and the next day, thousands of motorists will join the millions who have bought their last drop of gasoline.

They will experience the new thrill and permanent economy of GAS OIL INE... the modern motor fuel that replaces old-fashioned gas and saves the extra expense of top-cylinder lubrication. For GAS OIL INE is more than just GAS... more than just OIL... It is a blend of BOTH at their best.

The GAS in GAS OIL INE is Tydol... the finest ever produced.

The OIL is heat-resistant and penetrating. The GAS constantly sprays the OIL over the hot, fast-moving upper motor parts. This protective lubrication eases valves and pistons into silken-smooth action... and the motor constantly responds with its best power and longest mileage.

So stop for GAS OIL INE today at any Tydol dealer. While there, your tires, lights and battery will be checked... You'll get maps and road information... Your car will be in A-1 shape for one swell week-end.

GUARDIANS OF OUR COAST

What our lightkeepers and coast guardsmen are doing to protect coastwise shipping by day and by night. The day's news from many lonely outposts along Maine's waterfront.

Squat ferries, nondescript in gray and brown.

Or any breezy little river skiff. When twisted wreaths of moonlight tumble down.

In blossom cascades along the cliff. Can charm the mind with funnels and with spars.

Until it slides prow-deep among the stars.

—Dorothy Hope McCroden.

Squirrel Point

The fire which raged for more than a week at Morse's Neck has been brought under control much to the relief of everyone as the smoke was very disagreeable. At one time the fire threatened the Morse estate valued at $3,000. The Bath Fire Department pumped water from the river at two different times.

Keeper and Mrs. Seavey and daughters Juanita and Pauline and son James called on Keeper and Mrs. Powers at Perkins' Island recently.

The portulaca bed remains beautiful in spite of the dry weather.

Upon investigating, recent should for help were found to be coming from a disabled motor boat, containing four women and eight men. At 1 o'clock Sunday morning the Keeper brought them ashore where they were made comfortable until the Popham Beach Coastguard boat arrived and towed them to Bath.

Former Keeper Smith came for his dog Rudy the first of the month.

Pond Island

We have returned to our post after 11 days' leave of absence during which we motored to Vermont where Mr. Fickett called on Dr. Gartland. After visiting Mrs. Watson in Hanover N. H., we started for Maine by the way of the White Mountains and called at the Mt. Crescent House in Randolph, N. H.; then motored to Portland and stopped at the home of Mrs. Fickett's brother, Levi Hooper.

In company with us the Hoopers visited Mrs. Fickett's other brother Charles Hooper in South Portland, after which the party motored to Portland Head Light and called on Keeper and Mrs. F. O. Hilt.

We next paid a visit to Mrs. Fickett's sister Mrs. C. D. Strout in Portland and then with Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Strout motored to Mr. Strout's cottage at the Bay of Naples, taking a sail down the Songo River as far as the locks and return in Mr. Strout's speed boat the Llewswan. We also enjoyed fishing and swimming.

We were sorry to leave when our time was up, but hope to go again in the near future.

Alva Light substituted for Keeper Fickett. Mrs. Light was with him and they took very good care of Ardo the dog.

Saddleback Ledge

After a long silence I am writing a few lines which have been delayed owing to a busy summer.

Pollock have been plentiful, such as they were—small and poor. We sold most of them but have hopes of catching a finer store for winter.

I went on leave of absence July 23 and returned to the Light, July 26 that Mr. Mathie might attend his mother's funeral.

Mrs. Wells accompanied me on my leave and we called on my cousins, Mr. and Mrs. James Cates of Rockland, where we left our car after a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Cates took us to the Vinalhaven boat and on arrival we found rain and thick fog. Thomas Floyd took us to Saddleback. Mrs. Wells going out in the "bo'sun chair."

Benjamin E. Stewart, our new second assistant keeper, arrived here July 27. Mr. Mathie having been transferred to Egg Rock. Mrs. Wells and I stayed until Mr. Stewart was acquainted with his new duties. Mr. Stewart comes from the U. S. Public Health Service and at the time of his transfer to the lighthouse, was stationed at Washington, D. C., in connection with the National Institute of Health. He likes his new work very much.

Mrs. Wells and I rowed ashore to the Vinalhaven Camp. Enroute home, we stayed the night with Mrs. Vern Gross, leaving in the morning for Rockland and Lubec.

A charming young lady met us at the wharf with Mr. Cates' car. We made a short call, then started for Lubec. While there I spent most of my liberty doing carpentry at home and picking and canning blueberries.

I made one of two trips to Calais but unfortunately did not meet Keeper Ingalls as I had on two previous visits.

Visitors this summer have totaled 122 so far.

Fishing at present is at the zero mark. There are a few lobsters which bring 12 cents a pound but they taste just as good here as though they were 40 cents. We have only one trap now.

Mr. Alley, our first assistant keeper, is home on leave. Mr. Stewart goes next.

I saw Mr. Ashbury and Mr. Marston, keepers of Channel Light, also Mr. Larabee of West Quoddy Head during my recent jaunt to the mainland.

Happy anchorages, Keepers and Coast Guardsmen!

Portland Head

The Portland Yacht Club's race held annually from Portland to Monhegan Island is an event we look forward to. Last year the weather, as we remember, was not so favorable but we hope to see a clear sky and enough breeze to make it exciting as the 23 yachts entered for the race today sail out to sea.

This race is a large ocean parade and we hear the Algonquin is to act as convoy from start to finish.

Usually large crowds watch from points along the water front. Many come to Fort Williams and Portland Head, the latter to be the starting point this year.

We would have welcomed an ice cake last Saturday but Monday we had to start up our fires to quell the shivers.

Robert Toothaker and Miss Mary Toothaker of Brunswick were guests Tuesday of Mrs. R. T. Sterling.

Miss Kathryn Riley and Miss Gertrude Rockwood of Somerville, Mass., and Ocean Park visited Friday with F. O. Hilt and family.

John Stadig, recent guest of Robert T. Sterling, Jr., started Tuesday on the trip to his home in Panama.

Mrs. R. T. Sterling, Mrs. F. O. Hilt and Mrs. W. C. Dow walked in on Mrs. Charles Sterling of Peak's Island, Wednesday evening, remembering an anniversary event on that date. Mrs. Sterling is a charming hostess even when surprised, and time passes all too quickly. The first thing one knows it is time to head for the return boat to Portland.

WHITE HEAD

Jack Pendell of Portland, former keeper at Two-bush Light has been at Mrs. J. K. Lowe's at Rackliff's Island the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Feyler of Rockland and two children were guests Sunday of his uncle at Rackliff's Island.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of Clark Island are moving to their new home at Rackliff's Island.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kelley and two sons of Cape Cod, who have been visiting Mrs. Kelley's parents at Norton's Island, made the return trip Friday by motor.

H. H. Andrews and son Bruce were at H. Andrews' home Sunday. Mr. Andrews came for Mrs. Andrews who has been spending a vacation at her home on Cribhaven. They motored back Tuesday to Portland.

The new fog whistle which was recently installed at Two Bush Light has been having the 56-hour test the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Stover, son Robert and daughter Patricia of Baltimore, who spent a vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Andrews, Norton's Island, have returned home.

Joseph Heynen and Alan Caler, telephone men of the U.S.C.G. who worked on the line at White Head and Norton's Island the past fortnight, have retired to Portland.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

West Penobscot Bay Entrance—Two Bush Island Light Station—Improvements made on Aug. 25.

White light increased to 120,000 candlepower and the red light to 36,000 candlepower.

Fog signal changed to an air diaphragm horn sounding a blast every 20 seconds, blast 2 seconds, silent 18 seconds. Bell, hand, will answer signals, if horn is disabled.

SOUTH WARREN

A. G. Bucklin of Malden, Mass., called Thursday on friends here. Mr. Bucklin and family are spending a vacation in Southport.

Mrs. Emma Gueist of North Anson has been recent guest of relatives here and in Thomaston.

Good Will Grange Fair will be held the afternoon and evening of Sept. 1. Mr. and Mrs. John Leavitt of Marblehead, Mass., are guests for two weeks at W. C. Leavitt's. Mr. Leavitt is employed in the office of Sparkman and Stephens, naval architects, in Boston.

A POTATO EMPIRE

Story of "Aroostook: Our Last Frontier," Soon To Be Published

A complete story of Maine's great Aroostook County Potato Empire has been prepared by Charles Morrow Wilson, nationally known writer and will be published in book form, in the near future. Mr. Wilson, whose assignments have covered many subjects of all parts of the world spent several weeks in the spud country this summer and has gathered a wealth of interesting material.

He traces the history of Aroostook from the first settlers to the present time and the evolution of a few small gardens to an enormous acreage that yields over 50,000,000 bushels or 16% of the nation's potato harvest yearly.

Mr. Wilson states that this is one of the most fascinating stories he has ever undertaken to write. He expresses great faith in the future of Aroostook where as veteran grower Charles Fisher told him, "It is mainly all potatoes. We eat potatoes, work potatoes, thrive and flourish and stave on 'em." "I'm telling you," said Charlie, "that Maine's Aroostook County is the best and the worst farm country in North America and it gets that way by potatoes."

The book will be titled "Aroostook: Our Last Frontier." It will run several hundred pages and will be published by the Stephen Daye Press, Brattleboro, Vermont. It will be profusely illustrated.

A FAVORABLE REPORT

On Cong. Oliver's Bill Seeking To Have Lobsters Legally Defined

Aides of Representative Oliver said Tuesday the Fisheries Bureau and Agriculture Department had reported, favorably on his bill defining a lobster.

Oliver had introduced a bill placing a technical definition on the species to limit the work, in interstate commerce, to the lobster of the New England and New Jersey coasts. He hoped to prevent its confusion with the spiny lobster or crayfish marketed in Florida and imported from South Africa.

The Interstate Commerce committee is expected to consider the favorable reports next season.
