Destroyer Here

Sommers To Begin Trials Today — Asst. Secretary of Navy May Be Aboard

Torpedo boat destroyer Sommers, known more specifically as destroyer leader, arrived yesterday and docked at Maine Central wharf. With the arrival of the Trial Board this forenoon the new craft made ready to go on the Rockland course for her standardization test. The usual trials at sea will follow, and the craft will be in this city nearly a week, basing at Maine Central wharf. The Sommers has a displacement of 1850 tons, and on board at various times during the trials will be about 270 men. The craft comes from the Federal yard in Trenton, N. J., and is being handled on the trials by Capt. Gelnard. Among those on board is Commander J. E. Maher who will command the Sommers when it goes into commission.

The Pine Tree Skating Club has been organized at the Spanish Villa, with 12 charter members, who will presently don green and white uniforms and visit other skating clubs in the State. Mrs. Fred Sistaire, proprietor of the Spanish Villa rink, has lately established the Lafayette Sound System, and the patrons are much pleased with the music.

IN MRS. PLUMMER'S HONOR

Reception To Department President, D. U. V., a Notable Event In City's History

A reception for Mrs. Eliza Plummer, department president of the Daughters of Union Veterans was held last night at Grand Army hall with officers and members present from all parts of the State.

With Mrs. Plummer in the receiving line were Mrs. Maude Milan, department senior vice president of Bangor; Mrs. Mae Cross, department secretary of Rockland; Mrs. Eva Mitchell, department patriotic instructor; Miss Marie Patterson, department Council No. 1 of Hallowell; Mrs. Pearl Banks, department council 2; Mrs. Grace Lewis, department guide; Mrs. Genevieve Whitmore, department guard of Bangor; Mrs. Eliza Glidden associate guard; Mrs. Pearl McGraw, color bearer No. 1; Mrs. Carrie Libby, color bearer 3; Mrs. Ada Payson, color bearer 4; Col. E. K. Gould, department judge advocate; Mrs. Iris Weymouth, department press correspondent of Augusta; Mrs. Carrie Doull, national delegate at large of Portland; Mrs. Millie Thomas, past department president of State Relief Corps of Rockland; Mrs. Eva Irving, department president of the Ladies of the G.A.R. of Portland; Mrs. Susie Lamb, department junior vice president of Rockland; Mrs. Emma Torrey of Rockport, representing the National Woman's Relief Corps; I. Leslie Cross, past department commander, representing S.U.V. and S.W.V. of Rockland; Mrs. Adah Roberts, representing Auxiliary to S.W.V. of Rockland; Albert Wallace, representing American Legion; Mrs. Bernice Jackson, representing American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Laura Randlett, representing V.F.W. Post and Auxiliary.

Decorations were in charge of Mrs.

Lina Carroll and consisted of attractive arrangements of greens, flags, red berries and autumn foliage. The anterooms and refreshment room were adorned with crepe streamers.

Mrs. Doris Ames and Mrs. Priscilla Smith presented this program; Welcome to guests and officers, Mrs. Smith; welcome address, Col. E. K. Gould, substituting for Mayor Thurston; greetings from Edwin Libby Post I Leslie Cross substituting for Allen Kelley; dance, Jennie and Lucy Thompson, Marguerite Johnson, accompanist; greetings from National Women's Relief Corps, Mrs. Emma Torrey; greetings from Woman's State Relief Corps, Mrs. Millie Thomas; address, Frank A. Winslow, speaking on "Some War Recollections;" greetings from S.U.V., I. Leslie Cross, who at this time presented Mrs. Plummer with a bouquet of pink roses; vocal solo, Leon White, with Mrs. Lillian S. Copping at the piano; greetings from S.U.V. Auxiliary; Mrs. Mae Cross; history of the patriotic orders, Col. E. K. Gould; greetings from Ladies of G.A.R., Mrs. Eva Irving; greetings from S.W.V., I. Leslie Cross; greetings from S.W.V. Auxiliary, Mrs. Adah Roberts; greetings from American Legion, Albert Wallace; greetings from American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Bernice Jackson.

The program closed with assembly singing of "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again."

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Maude Cables and Mrs. Lizzie French. Mrs. Priscilla Smith was general chairman, presiding over the reception in admirable manner. Mrs. Plummer received gifts from all the orders, and her words of acceptance were most graciously given.

Takes Up Cudgels

Cong. Smith Seeks To Have Cheap Foreign-Made Shoes Kept Out

Leaving his Maine home at short notice Sunday Congressman Clyde H. Smith appeared yesterday before the Tariff Commission in the hope of presenting the importation of cheap shoes into this country. He said in part:

"First may I express thanks for the very cordial reception your commission accorded our Congressional committee when appealing to you for a hearing on the importation of Czechoslovakia shoes. You were very fair and considerate of our request."

"If correctly informed the increase in footwear importations during the present year is about 25 percent as compared with 1936, a condition that is gradually depriving American shoe makers of employment and manufacturers of their business."

"However, the question of whether this influx of cheap shoes is five or ten percent of the total number used is not so important when considered in the terms of dollars and cents of employment. Almost any one of the States manufacturing shoes could absorb last year's foreign trade and still do business. But the offering of shoes that are made at a nine-dollar per week wage and 14-hour work day brings dismay and destruction to the shoe business throughout the country."

"I go a long way with the President's Hour and Wage Bill, but the proposition to compete with foreign made goods will defeat every effort to improve working conditions in this country. If other countries would raise the standard of living by paying better wages and providing shorter work days we could have free trade and reciprocal relations for an equal basis we could take care of ourselves."

"If, as suggested by Secretary Hill, low prices are advantageous to the masses, why not accept foreign goods of every kind and description, thereby extending a permanent vacation to American labor? The answer is obvious. Such a condition would soon find the wearers of shoes unable to buy their shoestings to say nothing

Days Of Prayer

Churches Appoint Women's Committees For Spiritual Recovery Crusade

The women's prayer meeting committee of the Knox County Spiritual Recovery Crusade, which is to be held in Community Building from Nov. 7 to 29, has been appointed. The following compose the general prayer meeting committee:

Methodist Church—Mrs. Grace Lurvey, Mrs. Ivy Chatto, and Mrs. Thelma Stanley.

Littlefield Memorial Church—Mrs. Gene Atherton, Mrs. Ralph Norton and Mrs. Mabel Seavey.

Salvation Army—Mrs. Eva Shaw.

First Baptist Church—Mrs. Frances Hall, Miss Eleanor Griffith and Mrs. Ethelyn Frohock.

These prayer meetings are to be held each day except Saturday, at 2 p. m., and will last but 30 minutes. The prayer meetings for Wednesday and Thursday are:

Wednesday—Mrs. Leroy Chatto, 35 McCloud street, Mrs. Aurella Venner, 27 Fulton street, Mrs. Henry Lurvey, 85 Masonic street, Mrs. E. H. Crie, 16 Summer street, Mrs. Ralph Norton, 170 Camden street, Mrs. Thelma Stanley, 25 James street.

Thursday—Mrs. Eva Shaw, corner South and Pacific streets, Mrs. Hope Brewster, Rankin street, Mrs. Frances Ryder, 36 Masonic street, Mrs. Abbie Richardson, 19 Spruce street, Mrs. Charles Marsteller, 5 Adams street, Mrs. Minnie Miles, 31 Ocean street.

All in the neighborhood of these places are invited to attend.

about purchasing shoes. Without employment at fair wages all buying power disappears.

"It is contrary to sound reasoning that we can maintain fair working conditions in this country and at the same time accept goods from foreign nations that have been produced under sub-standard labor requirements. In my judgment such efforts will be overwhelmingly rebuked."

"By the same token that we allow the importation of shoes from Czechoslovakia, we sell cotton to Japan and take our pay in cotton goods that have been produced at conditions stand by in idleness. reasonably low wages while our

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

"Acting at the request of the Navy League I am calling to the attention of the people of Maine the approach of the annual Navy Day, inaugurated for the purpose of fostering a higher understanding of the Navy and its work, and for the need of an adequate merchant marine."

"Observance of Navy Day which is National, will be marked for Maine people by appropriate programs in Portland and at the Navy Yard, Portsmouth, N. H."

"In recognition of the splendid record of the Navy of the United States and its glorious traditions and in order that the people may learn more intimately of its services, I, Lewis O. Barrows, Governor of Maine, do hereby proclaim Wednesday, Oct. 27, 1937, Navy Day in the State of Maine, and express the hope that our citizens generally will honor the American Navy on that date by display of our flag."

"The date selected is a particularly fitting one as it is the anniversary of the birth of one of the creators of our modern Navy, Theodore Roosevelt."

Lewis O. Barrows,
Governor.

What Bosse Offers

Candidate For Mayor Reaches His Point In Very Unique Manner

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
(The following conversation takes place between a visitor in our city and one of our local citizens.)

Visitor: Yes, it is sort of a hobby with me, to find out in each community I visit just what they spent the monies on granted to use CWA, WPA, and PWA projects.

Citizen: Well, if you have an hour or so I would be glad to show you ours. If I remember right the first project was the widening and deepening of three brooks that run through the city proper. I have forgotten just how much money was spent on this project. Of the main projects, the first was the digging of a sewer on Pleasant St. It is about three blocks long, drains a brook and serves five houses. I have heard it cost anywhere from $35,000 to $40,000.

Visitor: Rather expensive for the service it gives, don't you think?

Citizen: Well, yes, I suppose so. But it gave a lot of men work during a bad winter, when work was sorely needed here. While we are down this way I shall show you another of our main projects, the Public Landing one of the most attractive and finest to be found on the Maine Coast. We are very proud of this project, expect it to bring many yachts into our harbor, which means business for our Main Street stores.

Visitor: Yes, I can justly see why you should feel proud of this project. How much was the cost of this?

Citizen: Well, I don't know the cost, but they have been working off and on for about four years. We expect to make a beautiful park of it. Now I will take you up to see the Community Building a long felt want finally achieved. We are all very proud of this beautiful building. It cost about $40,000.

Visitor: What do you use it for?

Citizen: Basketball, fairs, conventions, dances and there are rooms for club meetings etc.

Visitor: It is a fine looking building. Must cost considerable to heat. Is it self-supporting?

Citizen: We haven't figured out just how to make it self-supporting as yet but that will come in time. The main thing is, we have the building. It should bring considerable business into town when we can get conventions and basketball tournaments. Although I may have left out some the projects that have given work to the needy, I have shown you the most important.

Visitor: This has all been very interesting, and now if you will show me the way to the station, I would be very obliged to you.

Citizen: Certainly, I'll walk over with you.

(Both men start walking along Union Street.)

Visitor: Is that a school house up there?

Citizen: Yes it is.

Visitor: Must be rather old, isn't it?

Citizen: Yes, I believe almost a hundred years old.

Visitor: Do you mind if we go look at it?

Citizen: No, glad to.

Visitor: What grades do they have here?

Citizen: Primary, I think. Would you like to go inside?

Visitor: Yes, I would. (both enter) Rather narrow steep stairway there. Makes you wonder how the children would manage in case of a—

Citizen: (giving a shudder) Yes, I know what you mean.

Visitor: Smells rather unsanitary too.

Citizen: Yes it does.

Visitor: Have you any children?

Citizen: No.

Visitor: Does the mayor or any of the members of the city government visit this school?

Citizen: I suppose so.

Visitor: How about the children's parents, they must visit this school.

Citizen: All those that vote do. You see the schools are used for polling places during elections.

Visitor: Do you suppose they have the same thought we did, when they look at that stairway?

Citizen: I don't know.

Visitor: Are there other school-houses in the city like this one?

Citizen: Yes there are three others that are about the same age and condition as this one. There are two not quite as old. But we have a nice modern high school building.

Visitor: Sort of too bad your city government didn't expend some of its WPA funds in replacing schools like this with modern fireproof buildings, don't you think?

Citizen: Yes I suppose so. But I don't think anyone thought about it at the time.

Visitor: You would think that the fathers and mothers would be concerned about the health and safety of their children even if the city government were lax, especially when they come into these buildings every year or so.

Citizen: Yes, you would think so.

Visitor: That's what makes it so interesting to me, in my visits to different cities, just to see how all the money that the Federal Government granted to our cities was spent. Yes, it's all very interesting. (The citizen was standing on the station platform when the train pulled out and he didn't see the visitor wave to him. For the citizen was in very deep thought.)

The above conversation is purely imaginative but speaks for itself. If I am elected mayor of this city, I will build sanitary, fireproof schools to replace such buildings as we have on Grace St., Crescent Street, without any added burden to the tax payers.

The P. T. A. Drive

Capable Workers Seek One Thousand Members—Milk Fund Benefits

The membership drive of the Rockland Parent-Teacher Association is now in progress with 1000 as the goal. The gross proceeds of this drive go toward supplying milk to underprivileged pupils in the grade schools.

The drive chairman is Mrs. Clara Kelsey and associated with her are these teams: Ward 1—Mrs. Neil Packard, chairman; Mrs. Donald Cummings, Mrs. Ernest Knight, Mrs. Vincent D'Agostino, Miss Ruth Packard, Mrs. L. E. Jones. Ward 2—Mrs. Willis Anderson, chairman; Mrs. Gladys Mills, Mrs. Henry Jordan, Mrs. Isaac Simmons, Mrs. Elmer Crockett, Mrs. Rhama Philbrick, Miss Caroline Jameson. Ward 3—Mrs. Charles Hewett, chairman; Mrs. Richard Lufkin, Mrs. Wilbur Senter, Mrs. Putnam P. Bicknell, Mrs. Burton Flanders, Mrs. Joseph Blaisdell, Mrs. Eugene Lamb, Mrs. Thomas Chisholm, Mrs. Charles Whitmore, Mrs. Harold Karl, Miss Ellen Daly, Mrs. Archie W. Bowley, Mrs. Martin Graves, Mrs. Carl Libby, Mrs. Walter Ladd.

Ward 4—Mrs. A. P. Richardson, chairman; Mrs. Basil Stinson, Mrs. Elmer Kaler, Mrs. David McCarthy, Miss Lena Miller, Mrs. Ralph Stickney, and Mrs. Henry Lurvey. Ward 6—Mrs. Carl O'Brien, Mrs. C. C. Ames, Mrs. Lloyd Jameson, Mrs. Francis Jenkins, Mrs. Forest Hatch, Mrs. Rupert C. Stratton and Mrs. Ralph Stone. Ward 6—Mrs. Ardrey Orff, chairman; Miss Helen Withee, Miss Muriel Baum, Miss Eileen Cates, Miss Geneva Hooper, and Miss Edith Gray. Ward 7—Mrs. Stanley Walsh, chairman; Mrs. Harry Levensaler, Mrs. George Wood and Mrs. Erwin L. Haskell.

A SKY BIRD ROUNDUP

Commander Staples Is Much Pleased With the Results Of Aerial Drive

The fifth annual aerial membership round-up of the American Legion, Department of Maine, one of the outstanding events held each year by the Legion was successfully completed Sunday. A total of 4086 membership cards for 1938 was collected during the aerial flight around the State, or more than 50 percent of the 1938 quota, 7613 members.

Leaving Augusta at 9 a. m., in the new cabin cruiser 5-passenger plane owned by the Gannett Publishing Co., Inc. Portland Flying Service and piloted by F. Gilbert Bond, Department Commander Hector G. Staples of Rockland, Department president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Adelaide C. Owen of Milo, Department aviation chairman Herbert A. Folsom of Augusta and an official photographer arrived at Farmington about 9.20 a. m., where a large delegation of Franklin County Legionnaires and Auxiliary members were on hand to present their share of membership cards for 1938.

The next stop was Bangor arriving there at 10 a. m., where the representatives of both Piscataquis and Penobscot Counties turned in more than 500 cards.

With Bar Harbor the next scheduled point of contact, Department Vice Commander Lawrence T. Wass and many prominent Legion officials and members greeted the arrival of the Department officers and presented 239 membership cards.

Rockland was the next place to contact but Pilot Bond deemed it advisable not to land on account of the soggy condition of the field owing to the severe rains of the past few days, and after circling the field twice headed for Portland arriving there at noon.

The Portland airport was filled with Legionnaires and Auxiliary members of Cumberland county including the band of the Stewart P. Morrill Post of South Portland and the Drum Corps, Ralph D. Caldwell Post, Woodfords. Headed by County Commander Ronald MacCormack 1075 membership cards were presented, the largest contribution received during the Aerial trip.

Eighteen officials of the Legion and Auxiliary were dinner guests of County Commander MacCormack at the Falmouth Hotel.

Sanford, the next place to visit, County Commander Cecil Siddall of Sanford, and the Drum and Bugle Corps, Thomas W. Cole, Post No. 19, of Sanford together with over 200 Legionnaires and members of the Auxiliary presented 375 cards to help swell the increasing contributions.

The Legionnaires of Androscoggin and Oxford counties were at the Auburn Airport the next place of contact, and added 446 more cards. Leaving Auburn at 3.30 p. m., Augusta was again contacted, and County Commander Walter E. Marsh of Togus, presented 540 cards.

With brief greetings the next stop was Waterville where the day's collections were turned over to Department Adjutant James L. Boyle of Waterville for official recording.

The total of each county far exceeded any previous year and the Department officials were deeply grateful to the fine work accomplished in every section of the State.

Knox County under the direction of Department Executive Committee-man Walter Burgess of Union turned over to the Department officers these memberships: Rockland, 113; Vinalhaven, 35; Camden, 23; Union 49; Thomaston, 25; total 245 members.

The following counties reported as: Arrostook, 108; Androscoggin, 331; Cumberland, 1075; Franklin, 164; Hancock, 230; Kennebec, 540; Knox, 245; Lincoln, 38; Oxford, 115; Penobscot, 380; Piscataquis, 196; Sagadahoc, 6; Somerset, 108; Waldo, 55; Washington, 112; York, 374 total 4086.

Department Commander Staples reported that with the new Legion year of 1938 only four days old, it certainly exemplifies an outstanding endorsement of the Legion's diversified program and an excellent spirit of co-operation and support.

ROBBED ON CAPITOL STEPS

On Thursday last Mrs. Lincoln E. McRae of this city parked her automobile for a few minutes directly in front of the Capitol steps in Washington D. C. Returning after a few minutes, accompanied by Mrs. Ellis Watts of Crescent Beach, she found to her dismay that the car door was open. Investigation disclosed that one of the small ventilating windows had been forced with some sharp instrument, allowing the door to be opened. A suit case and sweater coat, approximating total value of $300, was missing. Other cases in the rear seat were undisturbed.

Above is detailed the one unpleasant feature of a most enjoyable motor trip made by Mrs. McRae and Mrs. Watts as far south as Virginia.

NATIONAL HEARING WEEK

"It's Sound Sense to Conserve Hearing" is the theme of National Hearing Week, which is being observed this week by 166 organizations for the hard of hearing throughout the United States and Canada. National Hearing Week, sponsored annually by the American Society for the Hard of Hearing of which the Rockland Society is Chapter No. 60, is devoted to endeavoring to better educate the public in the problems of the Hard of Hearing.

These philanthropic organizations make a concerted effort to emphasize the aims of the national society which briefly are: Prevention of deafness; conservation of hearing; rehabilitation of those who have lost a part or all of their hearing. Particular stress is placed on the need of the hard of hearing child.

It is estimated that there are at least 1,680,000 school children in the United States with some degree of hearing loss. The detection of impaired hearing in its incipient stage is a challenge to parents, teachers, physicians, nurses and all public minded citizens.

President Roosevelt has endorsed National Hearing Week and Mrs. Roosevelt gave a broadcast this morning. Her subject was the theme of National Hearing Week.

On Wednesday, from 2 to 3 p. m. the American Medical Association and the National Broadcasting Company (Red Network) will present a program under the title "Seeing and Hearing Well." The program will be in dramatic form and will outline the causes of hearing difficulties and problems arising from them, together with illustration of correct procedure in examining hearing, information about hearing aids and also fakes.

Thursday, 145-2 from WNYC,

Mary V. Carney, director of the Nichols School of Lip Reading, of New York, will speak on "Train Your Eye to Help Your Ears."

Friday, 10-10.15 a. m. from WOR, Hazen Chatfield, assistant superintendent of schools of New York will broadcast on the subject, "It's Sound Sense to Conserve Hearing."

The regular meeting of the local society will be held Thursday at 2.30 p. m. at the Central Maine room. All persons interested in this nation-wide movement are invited.

Supt. George J. Cumming, who is now an official observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau was substantially baptized into the job by Saturday's rainstorm which left a deposit of 3.67 inches in the fancy dishes which he maintains for that purpose. If Supt. Cumming had reported 3.67 feet of rain it would have been in accordance with how many persons felt—especially those who attended the college football games and sat through the cloudburst.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

O, LITTLE MOTHER OF MINE

Sometimes in the hush of the evening hour,
When the shadows creep from the west,
I think of the twilight songs you sang
And the boy you lulled to rest;
The wee little boy with the tumbled head
That long, long ago was mine,
I wonder if sometimes you long for that boy,
O little mother of mine!

And now he has come to man's estate,
Grown stalwart in body and strong,
And you'd hardly know that he was the lad
Whom you lulled with your slumber song.
The years have altered the form and the life,
But his heart is unchanged by time,
And still he is only the boy as of old,
O little mother of mine!

Giant Elm Falls

Smashing Hole In Roof of Mrs. Redman's House At The Highlands

Mrs. Alice Redman of the Old County road didn't exactly think the world had come to end Saturday forenoon, but the terrific crash on the roof of her house was enough to frighten the playthings out of most folks.

The easterly gale had proven too many guns for the century old elm which stood alongside the building, and the big tree snapped off, close to the roots. The impact on the roof of the house smashed a hole five feet long and about two feet wide, and the rain, which was coming in torrents, found free access to the upper story until temporary repairs were made.

Hundreds viewed the scene of the accident before the tree was cut away, and at last accounts Mrs. Redman had been compelled to rehearse the story 65 times.

G Man To Speak

Will Address Maine Teachers' Association In Portland Friday Night

L. B. Nichols, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, D. C. known as a "G Man," will be the speaker at the general session of the Maine Teachers' Association at Portland Friday night. His subject will be "Crusading Against Crime."

The 35th annual meeting will open at Portland Wednesday night and will continue through the afternoon and evening.

The Friday night program will also feature a demonstration of physical education activities. Through the cooperation of the Portland and South Portland school officials, the grade material will be demonstrated by children from the grades in which the activities are actually used in school life. There will be three distinct parts arranged so as to maintain throughout, the idea of progression. The first part will present classroom teaching activities including health examinations. The second part will be built around the rural school. The final part will show how to set up teaching situations in different skills and the boys and girls will be organized in separate classes.

The speakers at the general session Thursday night will be Dr. Howard W. Haggard, associate professor of applied Physiology, Yale University, New Haven, Conn., who will speak on the subject, "The Value of Medical History in Education" and Dr. Joseph M. M. Gray, Chancellor of the American University, Washington, D. C. Dr. Gray will take for his subject, "New Horizons in Education."

The officers of the association for 1937 are, Benjamin H. Varney, Jonesboro, president; Frank O. Stone, Dover-Foxcroft, first vice president; Everett V. Perkins, Augusta, second vice president; Adelbert W. Gordon, Augusta, secretary; Joseph E. Blaisdell, Rockland, treasurer.

In Old New York

Jim Farley Swings Into Line For Tammany—La Guardia's Chances Good

The New York mayoral fight entered a last bitter phase yesterday with the Democratic organization taking the extraordinary step of calling the party's national leader, James A. Farley, to the firing line.

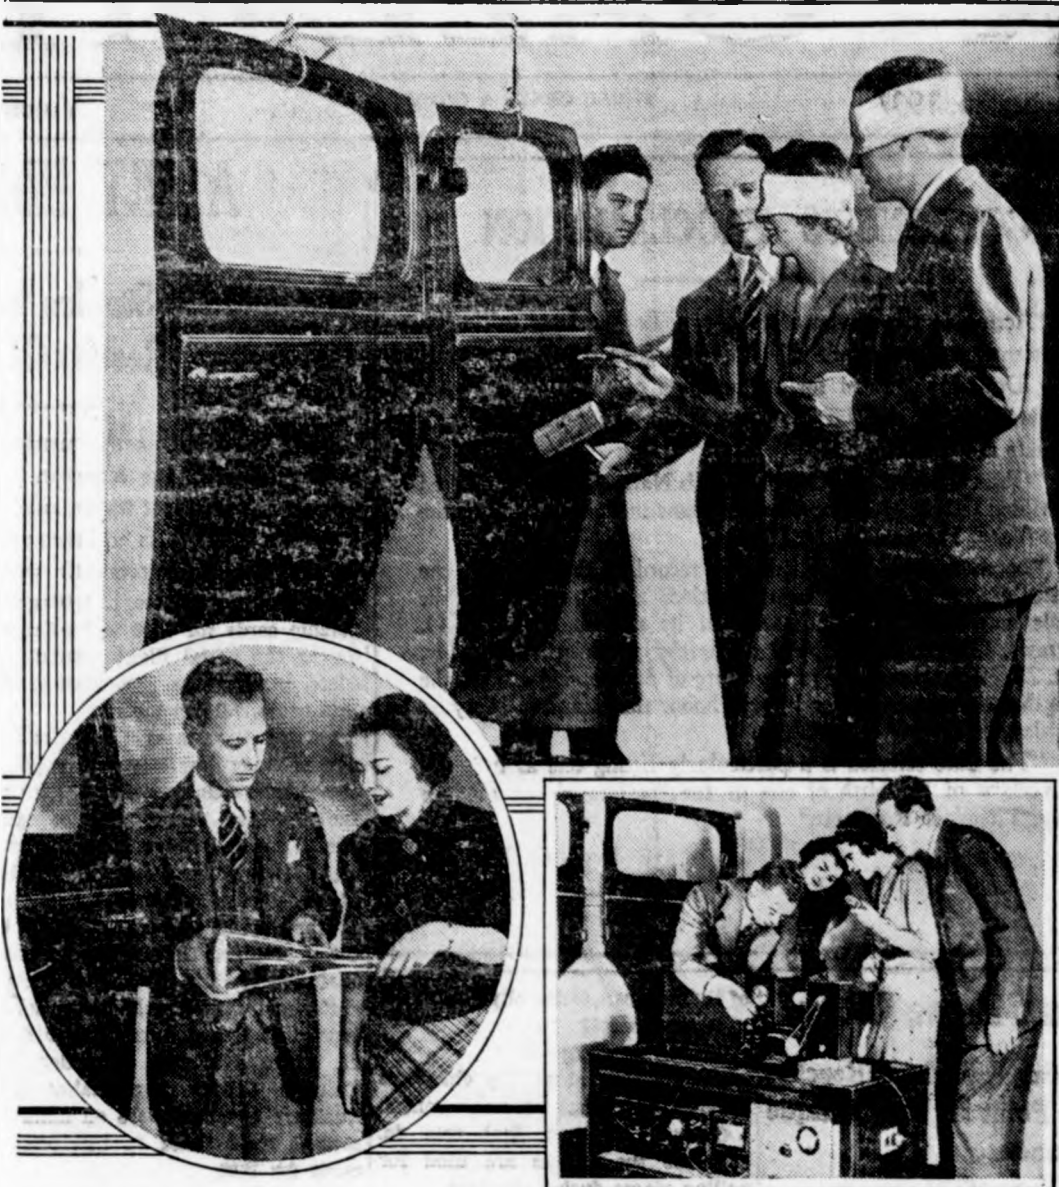

Farley, who took a hand first only in a position more nominal than active, now proposes to go on the stump against the most serious second-term challenge to the New York City Democratic organization in the century and a half of its existence.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, candidate of a powerful fusion group including Republicans, American Labor, Communist and Socialist party members, as well as dissident Democrats, threatens to do what no man has done before—break the Democratic machine's control twice in succession.

The Postmaster General will make a campaign speech—a rare thing for him—Tuesday night for Jeremiah T. Mahoney, the Democratic candidate.

Nothing, however, has come from the White House to indicate a preference. Mahoney is making his race mainly upon the claim that La Guardia is the "red front" candidate—this because the mayor has the official support of the Communist Party—and is accusing the Mayor of benefiting from the support of "Godless groups."

"Blind-Fold" Tests Prove Effectiveness of Car Sound-Proofing

"Blind-Fold" tests, conducted in a sound-proofed room, proved the amazing effectiveness of a newly-developed spray-on insulation used on the door and rear deck panels of one of the new cars for 1938.

De Soto engineers hung two doors of exactly the same construction from the ceiling of the room—side by side. One was treated with ordinary type of sound-proofing material. The other was deadened with a new asphalt spray. When the doors were struck with a heavy hammer, tabulated results show that every "blind-folded" person questioned pointed to the door treated with the new insulant as the least resonant of the two.

These tests proved the new type spray-on insulation 15 per cent more effective than specially treated padding used before and almost three times as efficient as spray-on materials developed heretofore.

In all, six different types of insulation, in addition to rubber, are used on the new De Soto for 1938 to seal out noise, heat and cold, making it possible to carry on conversation inside the car in normal tones, even when the car is traveling over the rough and bumpy country roads.

"I Voted For Him"

Former Rockland Man Writes Timely Letter For Leading New York Paper

To the New York Herald Tribune:

Many of the letters of lament appearing in the press these "happy days" are introduced by the words: "I Voted for him." Apparently the writers think that fact places them in a preferred class, entitled to special sympathy.

Well, what did they expect? All of the signs of the previous four years indicated clearly what might result in case of the re-election of the New Deal candidate: His frequent venomous blasts at all who were giving employment—the economic royalists and princes of privilege—his Madison Square Garden speech, three days before election, in which he declared that what he already had done to those business men was but a small sample of what he proposed to do in the future.

To any thinking person these things should have clearly pointed to the present deplorable state of affairs. They should have had some weight even with this bewailing "I voted for him" class.

In spite of all this they thought that Roosevelt, on his re-election would reverse himself, turn to the right and let constitutional government resume its normal course in this country.

Unfortunately they guessed wrong and have only themselves to blame for their present sorrow. It is safe to say that had this "I voted for him" contingent voted against him we would be well on our way to recovery and the form of government which made America the most prosperous country on the face of the earth would once more be functioning and we could say with him of old, "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives."

WALDOBORO

Parent-Teacher Ass'n Meets

The welfare of children at school is receiving more attention from parents than hitherto, according to A. D. Gray, superintendent of schools, who spoke Friday night at a meeting of the Waldoboro Center Parent-Teacher Association.

People realize that the children are their most priceless possession and the nation's richest resource. He called attention to the absurdity of conserving the nation's natural and economic resources while neglecting the human and intellectual resources which they are designed to serve. The survival of our democracy, he said, will depend upon the degree of development of the thinking power of the people who compose it.

IN THE WAKE OF FLOOD

This scene was enacted many times in refugee centers established by the Red Cross during the Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood. Inevitably floods bring the danger of disease as drinking sources become contaminated and large groups of people are thrown together. The medical-health service of the Red Cross serves thousands each year, and is maintained by membership funds contributed to the organization at the time of its annual Roll Call from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving.

FACE PROSECUTION

Bogus Collectors of Social Security Funds Will Meet Up With the Law

Criminal prosecution by the Department of Justice of bogus collectors of funds in connection with the Social Security Act's old-age insurance program has been requested by the Social Security Board, it was announced today.

The Board advised the Department of Justice that it has received information of several instances where money has been collected through such misrepresentation, and requested the Department to investigate them and institute criminal proceedings. In announcing its action, the Board stated: "The Social Security Board has no 'old-age benefits collectors,' 'old-age insurance collectors,' or any other kind of collectors or financial agents. It has authorized no one to collect any fees from participants in the old-age insurance program. We wish to caution everyone against making any payments whatever to persons representing themselves as agents of the Board and who guarantee the payment of old-age insurance."

Enrollment in the University of Maine College of Agriculture is now 615, an increase of 87 percent over 1933 and of 11 percent over 1936.

Mrs. Madeline Fisher, who spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Rubenstein found the pleasure of that visit sadly marred by the discovery that somebody had stolen her automobile which had been left parked on Talbot avenue along side the Rubenstein residence.

Members of the First Baptist Girls' Guild will have an all-day meeting Friday with a Halloween dinner at 12:30 for their families. There will be a surprise following the dinner, and relief sewing in the afternoon. Members are asked to take question for Round Table discussion.

Raphael S. Sherman, local correspondent for the Bangor Daily News, is confined to his home on Talbot avenue with a severe case of grippe, his temperature having reached 103 at one time. He is reported somewhat improved this morning.

A lively discussion took place Sunday night when 33 comrades of the Way had for their topic five problems of school life. Russell Hewett led the forum and all comrades participated. The next discussion will be on the five greatest temptations of school life.

John May, former Rockland boy, has been transferred from Worcester, Mass., to Cleveland, Ohio, sent to a larger field of operations by the American Steel & Wire Co., which he has served in prominent positions for some years. Mrs. May and daughter John him in Cleveland.

A group of Rockland people visited the Augusta Hobby Show last night and returned with high enthusiasm for the forthcoming hobby show in Rockland. In fact, they gained the impression that an even larger show can be staged in Rockland with the excellent facilities of the Community Building at hand. Exhibits of hobbies of every kind will be solicited; better start getting yours ready now. Announcement of the general committee will be made in Thursday's Courier-Gazette.

Gerald Black was taken to Knox Hospital Sunday suffering from an acute attack of appendicitis. An emergency operation was performed in the nick of time and the patient is reported as doing well.

A local sportsman who deplores the large number of hunting tragedies each fall believes most of them could be averted if the hunters went into the woods clad in red suits. Not merely red caps, but red coats and red pantaloons.

A new front is soon to be installed in the building on Main street occupied for some years by the Karl painters. The new owner of the building, Steve Alex, will then move his pool room and shoeshining parlor thither.

Pressing irons will be temporarily detracked in neighbor Cross' cleaning establishment tomorrow night, in favor of the beano party to be given by Mrs. I. Leslie Cross. The statement has been made, incorrectly, that the party was to be tonight.

Golden Rod Chapter, O.E.S., met Friday night, having as guests members of Seaside Chapter of Camden and Beach Chapter of Lincolnville. An excellent supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Ivy Chatto, the tables being festive in Halloween decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Leland Drinkwater received the degrees.

Dr. H. J. Weisman witnessed the Harvard-Dartmouth football game Saturday but didn't derive much comfort out of it, between the licking his college received, and the steady downpour of rain in which the spectators sat. To make matters worse he was unable to fly back, as he had expected. Accompanying him on the motor journey home was Robert Allen.

Miss Margaret Rogers, a freshman at Eastern State Normal School, Castine, together with Lillian Moore of Brewer, a junior and Catherine Dobins of Stockton Springs, a senior have been elected by student vote to represent their school at the annual fall conference of teacher-training institutions of New England at the Hotel Statler, Boston, Nov. 5 and 6. Principal William D. Hall will accompany them.

In view of the fact that the annual meeting of the Knox and Lincoln Farm Bureau brought approximately 600 visitors to Rockland Thursday, something should have been done besides a mere display of curbstones. If a convention comes with 75 or 100 delegates we plume ourselves that Rockland is having a big affair, and we fall over one another to see that it is given a good send-off which is perfectly proper. But here we had 600 of the substantial men and women of Knox and Lincoln Counties—not "rah-rah's" but men and women who come here to see our city, and doubtless to spend considerable money here. Let's make a pledge to do it right, next time.

Undiscouraged by the downpour Rockland sent a delegation to the Bowdoin-Colby football game Saturday. In the party were Fred C. Black, Gerald Black, William J. Sullivan, E. R. Veazie, Milton M. Griffin, Ensign Otis and W. W. Spear. Three of the above fans were no strangers on Whittier Field. Messrs. Spear, Otis and Black having starred in football track and tennis, respectively. The several entrances to the football field were a sea of mud and water, and the customers had to literally "walk the plank" in order to reach their seats. The playing surface, greensward, was in very fair condition, however.

A headline in one of the daily papers says: "Lady Nancy Astor, Virginia-born First Woman Member of the British Parliament Sees the Marriage of Wallis Warfield and the Duke of Windsor as Less a Romance Than a Tragedy. Lady Astor is Visiting Relatives in the United States." Lady Astor is a sister-in-law of the famous artist, Charles Dana Gibson, and is a frequent visitor at his summer home, Seven Hundred Acre Island.

During the past few months under the direction of the Ladies' Aid of the Littlefield Memorial Church the church kitchen has been thoroughly renovated and enlarged, a new cement sill has been put in, new curtains and shelves built, two new windows put in, new lights installed, a linoleum laid on the floor and the walls and woodwork painted in shades of green and ivory. The enlarged quarters will aid greatly in the serving of church suppers.

The annual fall call and supper of the Littlefield Memorial Church will be held in the vestry Friday evening. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Lord, the speaker of the evening will be Rev. John S. Pendleton, State Executive Secretary of Waterbury. During the evening there will be special musical selections under the direction of Miss Olive Bragg and a special offering will be taken toward the installation of the new heater.

Almon Young of the Central Maine Power Company was the speaker at the Kiwanis meeting last night with "First Aid" as his subject. Some of the stories proved to be very interesting as well as instructive to the members. Some of the stories of the way First Aid knowledge had saved lives hours after death had been pronounced were thrilling. There is talk of starting a first aid class in the club. Bob Hutchinson of Augusta, was a visiting Kiwanian and Ben Pierce of Lexington, Mass., was a guest. The school children's dinner project is to start within two weeks. There will be a meeting of the underprivileged child committee this week to finalize plans for the winter.

Rockland was in the limelight in the rich northern New York section last week when the Buffalo Courier-Express, Sunday Edition, a paper with a circulation of several hundred thousand copies carried a full page photograph of the Ramsdell plant. The various processes were graphically shown and many local people figured prominently in the pictures. The photograph was the work of Walter Chappelle Jr., of the paper's staff who came here last summer through the efforts of Representative Albert Elliot of Thomaston and Dick Reed of the Maine Development Commission. Mr. Chappelle "shot" over a thousand pictures in the Penobscot Bay section and it is understood that several other pages showing various phases of the fishing and recreational industries are planned by the paper.

A Camden Concert

Joint Recital By Muriel Gould and Walter Mills
Thursday Night

Outstanding in the autumn musical activities is the joint recital which Muriel Gould, dramatic soprano, and Walter Mills, baritone, which takes place in Camden Thursday night, at 8:15, at the Congregational Parish House. Mr. Mills, first brought to Maine as a soloist by the late William Rogers Chapman, has been heard in recital several times in this section of the State, and the opportunity to hear his fine voice and to delight in his exceptional artistry and charming stage presence is always hailed with pleasure. Miss Gould, though a newcomer to musical circles in this vicinity, possesses a voice of great beauty, used with admirable style. The program:

Ye Verdant Hills (from "Sunnyside") Handel
Arm. Arm. Ye Brave! Handel
from "Judas Macabaeus"
The Bitterness of Love, Dunn
Kuhle, Meine Seele, Strauss
Die Mainacht, Miss Gould, Brahms
Der Gang zum Tische, Brahms
In the Silence of the Night, Rachmaninoff
O Thou Billowy Harvest-Field, Mr. Mills, Rachmaninoff
Teens, Mr. Mills, Olmstead
Aria—O Mio Babbino Caro (from "Gianni Schicchi") Puccini, Miss Gould
From the Hills of Dream, Cecil Forsyth
Drink to me Only With Thine, Old English
Shortening Bread, Wolfe
Time, You Old Cyprian Man, Elmer Rinkley Warren, Mr. Mills
Duet, Ah, Love But a Day, Beach
The Keys of Heaven, Creacher
Mr. Mills, Miss Gould

Owing to the limited seating space it is advisable to procure tickets in advance. Such tickets which are priced at a ridiculously low figure, may be purchased from Mrs. Winfield Witham, who heads the committee in charge, or from members of her general committee. In Rockland, tickets are on sale at Maine Music store.

W. C. Howe

Willard Chamberlain Howe, 83, died suddenly Sunday night at his home on Free street. Mr. Howe was born in this town, son of Abner and Relief (Mansfield) Howe and always lived here. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ella Overlock of Rockport and Miss Mabel Howe of this place. He was a member of the First Congregational Church, Mt. Battle Lodge of Odd Fellows, a charter member of Maiden Cliff Rebekah Lodge, Amity Lodge, F.A.M. Keystone Chapter, R.A.M. and Camden Commandery, Knights Templar.

Deceased was a machinist by trade and when a young man was employed in Knowlton Brothers foundry. In 1892 he opened a machine shop on Mechanic street and with the advent of the automobile, enlarged the building and added the Camden garage, which business he was conducting at the time of his death.

The funeral will be held from 1 Free street Wednesday at 10 o'clock. Rev. Horace I. Holt of Rockport officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Mountain cemetery.

Joseph Bracey

The funeral of Joseph Bracey, 89, who died Sunday at Bar Harbor, will be held Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock from Good's funeral home.

Deceased leaves one son, Eugene Bracey of this place; and three daughters, Mrs. Willis Pitcher of Camden, Mrs. Flora Weaver of Salisbury Cove, Bar Harbor, and Mrs. Josie Randall of Warren. Mr. Bracey was born in Seal Harbor and the old home was later sold to John D. Rockefeller for a summer estate. He was a stone mason by trade and was for many years a resident of this community.

Asiatic Elephant Intelligent

Many naturalists rank the elephant, particularly the Asiatic variety, as the most intelligent of all animals. And a good memory is one of the evidences of intelligence. In nearly all instances of elephants' memories, however, fear is the reason. There is the old, old story of the man who was supposed to have fed tobacco to a circus elephant and five years later the elephant showered him with water in retaliation. But zoologists scoff at this, saying Mr. Elephant has been known to relish a quid every now and then.

Vesuvius Grows

Red Hot Lava of Restless Volcano Again Illumines the Sky

Mount Vesuvius has been in eruption again, and although the outburst did no damage to the surrounding countryside, its red-hot lava and illumination of the sky served as a reminder that the volcano is still a potential menace. It may yet undo all the work of archeologists at Pompeii.

"Destroyed by Vesuvius on August 24, 79 A. D., and covered more deeply by subsequent eruptions, Pompeii remained buried and forgotten for centuries," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "Its ruins were discovered by accident in 1584 during the tunneling for an aqueduct."

Picture of Life of 1900 Years Ago
"Extensive digging was begun in 1748, but chiefly to recover and sell art objects. Not until 1880 was any attempt made to preserve for the future the city's valuable revelations of life in the first century. In the newer excavations, pieces of furniture, sculpture, and household utensils are being left for exhibition in the houses where they were found."

"Formerly, such treasures were carried off to the National Museum in Naples. This museum furnishes an excellent pre-view for the excavations themselves. It presents a fascinating picture of the daily life of Pompeii nearly 1900 years ago—a city destroyed but at the same time preserved by ashes and cinders from flaming Vesuvius. On display are charred loaves of bread, wine and oil jars, and surgical instruments in use among Pompeians when the eruption stopped them in their tracks."

"Fifteen miles from Naples, Pompeii lies about a mile from the foot of the smoking, saddle-shaped volcano. Visitors usually receive two surprises. Expecting to see only a few ruined houses, they are unprepared for the many buildings which are closely built for block after city block. Pompeii is almost two miles in circumference. At the time of its burial, it was not only a flourishing commercial center, but a fashionable resort for wealthy Romans. Cicero had a villa there. It had a population of between twenty and thirty thousand. Approximately 2,000 Pompeians perished in the catastrophe. Pompeians Lived Much in Public

"Most of the houses are roofless, their roofs having been crushed in by the weight of the volcanic stones, or having been salvaged as building material by returning survivors soon after the eruption of 79 A. D. Many of the walls are still standing, however. Frescoes on some of them are almost as fresh as if painted yesterday instead of nineteen centuries ago."

"The second surprise one receives is that the houses seem so small. That is because Pompeians lived the greater part of their lives in public: out of doors in gardens and open air theatres, indoors in temples and baths. Preferring the public baths, few people had private ones in their homes."

"A typical home had only one story, or rarely, a low second story in which slaves slept. Its small bedrooms, store rooms, and larger reception rooms opened from a central hall, which provided light and air through an opening in its roof. At the back of the house colonnaded rooms enclosed a garden. One of the best preserved Pompeian homes is the House of the Vettii. Its red and black frescoes include the famous cupids at work and play, reproduced on the postcards usually sent from Pompeii."

"The building may soon be thronged with visitors at night as well as by day. Experiments in floodlighting the ruins are in progress. This illumination is part of Italy's program for bringing the 'dead city' to life."

QUOTA IS EXCEEDED

Consequently Enrollment For Maine C.C. Camps, Has Ceased

Charles S. Brown, State supervisor of C.C.C. enrollment, announced Saturday that enrollment has been suspended by order of the first corps area headquarters in Boston.

Brown said that the reason for the suspension is that the national quota "is being exceeded." He added that with the State quota set at 648, a total of 751 have already been selected.

Brown said he has notified 118 boys who had been ordered to report to C.C.C. camps in Maine to "await further instructions."

There were 850 young men in Maine C.C.C. camps the first of Oct. when fall enrollment opened.

Seven Bewitchers For Hallowe'en!

DATE yourself up for Hallowe'en with any of these lucky seven "bewitchers," made with the fresh pack of dates, pitted for ease and pasteurized for purity, which are arriving daily in local markets; you can serve them right out of the package, or stuff them with fondant, nuts or candied fruit. Or how about: Hobgoblin Sandwiches, made with dates and cheese; Orange Jack o' Lanterns, stuffed with a whipped cream-datum mixture, date bars and cookies for that older punch; and Clumsy Cats with pipe cleaner bodies and date feet (for favors)?

Let owls hoot and ghosts stalk, bring out the candles and cracked mirrors and have a party for your self or the young ones. All of these refreshment-suggestions are appropriate for the children if you remember to ask for pasteurized dates; recipes follow.

HALLOWE'EEN RECIPES
Hobgoblin Sandwiches: Use thin slices of brown bread, butter bottom rounds and spread with a mixture of mild yellow cheese and chopped pasteurized dates; cut eyes, nose and mouth from top rounds with sharp knife and place on bottom slices so cheese shows through.
Witching Moons: Cut date bread into semi-circular slices, spread with softened cream cheese.
Jack O' Lanterns: Cut a good sized hole in top of large orange; remove pulp. Cut eyes, nose and mouth in orange shell with pointed knife.

Whip cream until stiff, fold in orange sections, nutmeats and sliced pasteurized dates. Eat with spoon from hole in top.
Hallowe'en Dates: Use pitted dates and be sure they are the pasteurized variety, which are clean and fresh and require no washing. Serve plain, removing as a whole from package, or stuff with nutmeats, candied fruit or orange fondant, and roll in granulated sugar.
Clumsy Cats: Use three pipe cleaners for body and large pasteurized dates (pitted) for feet and head. Bend pipe cleaner to make body and tail, bend the other two over and twist around "body" for legs. Stick pumkin dates on for feet and head; make eyes with "dabs" of fondant, ears of short sections of pipe cleaner, and whiskers of broom straws.
Date and Nut Bars: Mix and sift 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and 3/4 cup flour. Mix 1/2 package pasteurized dates (sliced), and 1/2 cup chopped nutmeats through flour with finger tips. Beat 2 eggs until light; beat in 1 cup brown sugar gradually. Stir in dry ingredients, nuts and dates. Spread mixture evenly over oiled shallow pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes, or until surface will spring back when pressed lightly with the forefinger. When cool, cut into strips four inches long by one inch wide.

January Floods Reveal Strength of Red Cross

Aid Given 1,062,000 Persons Through Set-Up By Agency

The elasticity and scope of Red Cross disaster work is shown in a recent report on Red Cross relief measures during the unparalleled Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood of this year.

At the height of the emergency Red Cross relief offices were established in 182 inundated counties and in 146 counties where refugees were cared for, the report stated. Eight regional headquarters offices controlled the 328 county offices, and were in turn supervised by the National Red Cross in Washington, D. C.

A statistical summary of persons aided by the organization indicates that the floods constituted the greatest peace-time emergency ever faced by the nation. The Red Cross gave some form of assistance to 1,062,000 men, women and children. From January to August hundreds of trained workers helped by thousands of volunteers administered to the sufferers.

A Red Cross rescue fleet of 5400 boats was organized, according to the report. Emergency hospitals established totaled 300 and 3600 nurses were assigned to flood duty. In more than 1,000 refugee centers the victims of the flood were sheltered, clothed and fed. Through the Red Cross medical-health program and the work of public health agencies sickness was kept to normal for the time of year in all inundated areas.

Because of its disaster experience the Red Cross was directed by the President of the United States, who is also president of the Red Cross, to coordinate the effort of all federal flood relief groups. Government and Red Cross officials met daily at the Red Cross headquarters building in Washington to plan relief measures and prevent duplication of effort.

"We were fortunate in having 66 years of disaster relief experience to call upon in meeting the emergency," Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the Red Cross, said.

It was found that 97,000 families composed of 436,000 persons had to have their resources supplemented or an entirely new start provided by the Red Cross, the report stated. Red Cross emergency aid and rehabilitation assistance was as follows: rescue, transportation and shelter for 62,000 families; food, clothing and other maintenance for 193,000 families; building and repair for 27,000 families; household goods for 90,000 families; medical, nursing and sanitation help for 15,000 families; agricultural rehabilitation for 10,000 families; other occupational aid for 3,000 families and other types of relief for 4,000 families.

"Credit for this largest peace-time relief operation in the history of the nation must go to the American people who contributed a Red Cross relief fund of more than $25,000,000," Admiral Grayson said.

During the year the Red Cross gave aid to the victims of 105 other disasters in 36 states, Alaska and the District of Columbia. The Red Cross financed the majority of these relief operations from money contributed through memberships during the annual Roll Call last November, since it is only in case of large-scale disasters that a national drive for relief funds is made.

This year the Roll Call is from November 11th to the 25th. The Red Cross seeks a greater membership to meet its disaster relief and other service obligations during 1938.

Last year Red Cross Chapters gave vital help to 120,000 needy families.

Red Cross Replaces Farm Family Losses

The Red Cross gave agricultural rehabilitation to 10,116 farm families following the severe eastern floods of last winter. Types of aid included feed, seed, livestock, farm tools and machinery and other items essential to agricultural productivity. More than $599,000 was expended by the organization to meet these requirements.

In addition to occupational assistance, rural families hard hit by the flood waters were rescued, clothed, fed and sheltered by the Red Cross. Where it was necessary the Red Cross repaired and rebuilt out-buildings, barns and other structures. Medical and nursing care were provided and homes refurbished.

Red Cross agricultural rehabilitation benefited nearly three times as many families as received all other types of Red Cross occupational rehabilitation combined.

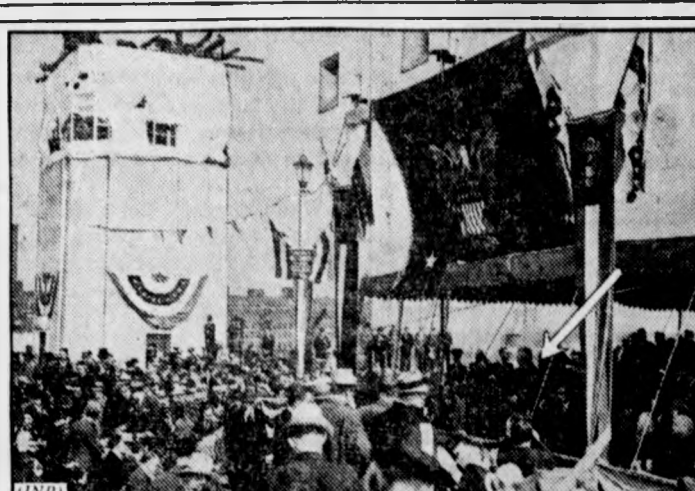

Last year the Red Cross introduced an accident check list to 7,600,000 American homes. The list told how hazards in the home might be eliminated and the work of inspection was done by householders themselves. A like program of home accident prevention is being conducted this year.

The Maine committee of the New England Conference on the Rural Church has asked the University of Maine College of Agriculture to help in planning the conference program, to be held April 18-21 at Durham, N. H.

Daffodils Find Many New Friends

Daffodils for Garden, Rockery and as House Plants.

The hardy narcissus naturalizes best of the larger fall bulbs. This means that it establishes itself as a permanent occupant of the border and comes each spring without being lifted and coddled.

The narcissi are classified by clans, in which the relationship is the same as in human clans. The Barri were developed from certain parents; they have a common ancestry and their name comes from the fancier who started the line, Peter Barr, The Leeds. Poetaz and Incomparabilis classes are similar clans.

The Poetaz and Leeds types are perhaps the most successfully naturalized. Under favorable conditions they will multiply if left undisturbed for several years. It is the best practice not to move narcissus bulbs of any type every year. Even in growing for commerce many growers leave the bulbs in the ground two years without lifting. But when they become crowded they should be lifted and given more room.

GOD IS LOVE

(For The Courier-Gazette)
God is love; joy and gladness
Fill my life from day to day
And I praise Him for the blessings
That He showers on my way
Grief and sadness do not linger
When God's love says, "Peace be still;"
Clouds may gather but will scatter
At the bidding of His will.
He alone can still the tempest.
Let the sunshine through the gloom;
And the weary, broken-hearted,
In His love may find their home.
God is love; no one can doubt it.
It is God who blesses the world;
And allow their thoughts expression.
They will find our loving Lord.
Fled Him in the trees and flowers.
Find Him in the birds that sing.
In the moonlight in the starlight,
God is love in everything.

HOME

(For The Courier-Gazette)

The checked pattern on the kitchen floor.

The cat that purrs contentedly before the fire.

The comfort that can bring a heart's desire—

Is Home.

A mother waiting at the garden gate to greet her children tripping back from school.

The half forgotten knitting on the nearby stool—

That's Home.

Though fate may lead us far from strand to strand,

And show us much of what the world holds best,

The haven where the heart finds perfect rest—

Is Home.

The smoke that tells of hearth fires ruddy glow,

The smile of a half forgotten song,

The joy of knowing love that lasteth long—

That's Home.

The clear tone die away,

The song is gone,

It stirs our hearts no more,

And yet we know that sometime

Somewhere, someone thought of home

And wrote this melody divine

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

CAMPFIRES

Campfire pictures are easy to take with any camera. Try it!

WITH the arrival of cooler days and nights just about everybody, it seems, wants to take advantage of every opportunity to get out in the country, the lake or seashore for marshmallows, fish, fries, corn roasts, clam bakes, and what have you.

Taking pictures at night around the campfire is a lot of fun and the results very pleasing and out of the ordinary. Since the introduction of the photoflash lamp there has been a tremendous interest in campfire pictures for this lamp is so simple to operate. The photoflash lamp is similar in appearance to a common electric bulb and can be screwed into a special holder resembling an ordinary hand flashlight tube. These holders are very inexpensive and can be purchased at almost any store selling photographic supplies. The flash is set off by pressing a button, as on an ordinary flashlight, and it gives an intense light without any noise or smoke.

This is how you take a campfire picture. The people should be grouped as close to the fire as comfort will permit. The arrangement of the group can be viewed in the finder of the camera by having someone hold a pocket flashlight or firebrands at each side of the scene. This will indicate just what and who is included in the picture.

And let me warn you—be sure you

Maine Potato

These words tell the whole story of State of Maine potatoes. Nowhere else in America does this same combination of potato producing factors occur; in no other section can potatoes reach the same peak of flavor, texture and nutritive qualities as in Maine.

Maine's volcanic soil is perfect for potato culture, loose, mellow; moisture retaining and bountifully supplied with the organic substances that produce potatoes rich in health giving proteins but low in fattening starches.

Maine's climate, with its short growing season, its warm days and cool nights, brings the potatoes to their maturity at just the right speed to retain, in maximum quantity, the health values and flavor that make the potato man's greatest food.

Maine's potato growers are the most experienced in the world. Their average yield per acre is the largest in America. From the potato growing districts of the State comes 18% of the nation's total crop.

The State of Maine takes pride in the fact that Maine grown potatoes are so much finer in flavor and texture and health giving properties—that they are so much richer in iron, calcium and in vitamins A, B, C, and G than ordinary potatoes.

This year's splendid crop of State of Maine potatoes is now moving to market. Begin now, to ask your grocer for Maine grown potatoes.

Long Island Church Built In 1729
Has Latest Comforts of Modern Day

"HERE am I preaching the blessed Gospel to you and there are your damned redcoats stealing my potatoes!" cried an Episcopal preacher at Setauket, L. I., to a group of British officers in the course of a Revolutionary days sermon.

Today, Caroline church has the appearance it bore when the man of God, a loyalist, nevertheless, defied the marauders. False walls and ceilings, ornamentation of later times, all recently were torn away and the building again looks as it did when it was erected in 1729. Setauket then was a village of ship builders, and their handicraft can be plainly seen in the restored church. The original beams are placed like ship timbers. The slaves' gallery, added in 1734, is curved like the camber of a ship deck.

Amid all the careful restoration, however, an important modern feature was deliberately added. Worshippers in the two-centuries-old church now enjoy the comfort and advantage of air conditioning, which, peculiarly, also has served to improve the appearance of the beautiful edifice. Radiators could be banished when air conditioning was installed. Now the beautiful details of the interior can be viewed without interference.

First known as Christ church, the name was changed in honor of Wilhelmina, Karoline, Queen of George II, who gave the congregation a silver communion service still in use.

Vaughns Surprised

Lake Ave. Couple Have Unexpected Callers On 50th Wedding Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vaughan, Lake avenue, was the scene of a happy gathering Friday night when 15 relatives suddenly invaded their quiet evening to help them celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. After an impromptu reception when the couple received the congratulations and best wishes of their uninvited guests everyone settled down to a social evening exchanging reminiscences of the past.

Again the couple was pleasantly surprised by the presentation of a floor lamp as a memento of the occasion. Still another surprise was awaiting them when later in the evening they were invited into the dining room which in a short time had assumed a very festive air with bouquets of yellow flowers and yellow candles around the room. The supper table had a centerpiece of golden calendulas flanked on each side by candles.

At one end of the table was a huge anniversary cake beautifully decorated in white and gold. At the other end were two cakes prettily decorated and bearing miniature figures representing the wedding of 50 years ago. After the supper the remainder of the evening was spent in singing old-time songs and the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan many more happy anniversaries. Those present were: Miss Lottie Ewell, Mrs. Ida Barrows, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hunter and son Vernon of Rockville; Mr. and Mrs. Leman Oxtom of West Rockport; Mrs. Lella Tolman of Vinalhaven, Mrs. Ardie Thomas and Mrs. Henry Ewell of St. George; Mrs. Rinnia Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Simmons and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rose of Tenants Harbor.

Mr. Vaughan was born in Union, son of William and Abigail Vaughan while Mrs. Vaughan is a native of Rockland the daughter of Susan Thorndike Ewell and Henry Ewell, who lost his life in the Civil War. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan were married Oct. 22, 1887, by Rev. Mr. Hanscom, pastor of the Methodist Church, Rockland. After their marriage they lived for a short time in Westboro Mass., moving from there to Milwaukee where they lived for six years. The remainder of their married life has been spent in the girlhood home of Mrs. Vaughan's mother on Lake avenue. Mr. Vaughan was engaged in the ice business in Rockland for a number of years retiring from this in 1911.

Many relatives and friends who were unable to be present sent beautiful cards expressing their congratulations and good wishes.

Kents Hill Club

The Knox and Lincoln Kents Hill Club will meet Friday night, Oct. 29, at Hotel Rockland for a banquet and business session. Manager Donohue is promising the same service and courtesies that have always prevailed at these get-togethers. Now is the time for the old crowd to rally once again, meet old friends and new and talk over old days. Oh, yes! There will be beans, of course, and many will return home with white elephant prizes. There are some pleasant surprises in store for those attending, but they cannot be told here. Come and find out for yourselves! Friends from the school are expected who will tell about the activities on the hill-top. You folks in Union, Camden and surrounding towns meet the rest of the crowd Friday night at Hotel Rockland. Banquet at 7 o'clock at $1 per plate.

Lizzette Green Emery.

MURPHY-SCHERER

White chrysanthemums and taper candles decorated the altar of St. John's Catholic Church Saturday morning for the wedding at 7:45 o'clock of Miss Katherine Elizabeth Scherer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Scherer and James Tyler Murphy, son of Mrs. Katherine Murphy and the late Capt. Albert Murphy of Rockland. Rev. J. W. McFarlane officiated.

The bride chose for her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. Thomas Gillespie, and Mrs. John B. Lynch and Miss Lillian Mackie were bridesmaids. Royce L. Murphy of Rockland, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were John Shea and Raymond Babineau.

Miss Ella Conner, church organist, furnished incidental music prior to the ceremony and played as the professional Wagner's "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin." Philip Vellesaux sang, during the ceremony, Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Pans Angelicus" by Cesar Franck.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Ralph A. Scherer, was beautifully gowned in white cut chiffon velvet, en train, and her dress was fashioned with a high neckline finished with a tiny band of orange blossoms. Her long veil of bridal illusion fell from a coronet of twisted velvet and seed pearls and she carried a prayer book, the gift of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Katherine Murphy. From the markers of the prayer book fell orchids and streamers of valley lilies.

Mrs. Gillespie was attractive in a Colonial gown of dusky pink moire taffeta. She wore a matching bandeau of flowers and maline and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. Lynch and Miss Mackie wore matching gowns cut along period lines in American Beauty taffeta. Both wore flower and maline bandeaux to match their gowns and carried Colonial bouquets of pink and red roses with sweet peas and yellow baby poms.

Mrs. Katherine Murphy, mother of the bridegroom, was charming in wine colored crepe with matching accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. W. C. Priester, aunt of the bride, was lovely in black crepe, and she also wore a shoulder bouquet of gardenias.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Tarratine Club, where covers were laid for 85 relatives and friends of the young couple. The bride's table was attractively appointed with chrysanthemums and tapers, and late fall flowers were used effectively about the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy left by motor for a wedding trip to New York and will be at home to friends after Nov. 15 at 603 Main street. The bride chose for her traveling ensemble a smart fall suit of dark brown wool, with a vestee of leopard, her accessories were in harmonizing tones.

The bride graduated from Bangor High School and is employed in the offices of the American Gear Company. During the past few weeks she has been honor guest at a series of pre-nuptial parties and showers.

Mr. Murphy graduated from Rockland High School and is employed by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. Out of town guests attending the wedding included Robert Packard, Rockland; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Eunker, Paul Marous, Portland; Mrs. H. E. Ryan, Stamford, Conn.; Herbert Faxon, Gardiner; Albert Hastings, Bar Harbor; and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Frister, Manchester, N. H.—From the Bangor News.

The bridegroom was a resident of Rockland during his early life, and figured prominently in the athletic affairs of Rockland High School. Entering the employ of the telephone company his rise has been very rapid. Friends here extend heartiest congratulations.

GREGORY'S

Have you WAFFLE FANS?

So, and Sunday Night Is Waffle Time, Spring a Surprise

Have you waffle fans in your home? Almost every family has. If Sunday night supper is waffle-time with you, spring this surprise waffle on the family the next time you bring the waffle iron out. Make them with delicately fine cake flour so they will be feathery light and an unqualified success.

Orange Waffles

Two cups sifted cake flour, two teaspoons double-acting baking powder, one half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons sugar, two egg yolks well beaten, one and one-half teaspoon grated orange rind, two-thirds cup milk, six tablespoons melted butter, two egg whites, stiffly beaten, orange marmalade.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg yolks, orange rind, and milk; add to flour mixture, beating until smooth. Add butter. Fold in egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve hot with butter and orange marmalade or orange sauce. Makes four 4-section waffles.

Arthur Gupitill of Malden is guest of his mother, Mrs. Clara Gupitill and of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Simmons.

RACKLIFF-RICHARDS

The wedding of Miss Elaine Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richards of Franklin street, and Charles Rackliff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Rackliff, of South Thomaston, was solemnized Saturday evening in Belfast at 8 o'clock at the home of Rev. William Vaughn. The single ring service was used.

The bride was gowned in black taffeta and velvet with black accessories, and wore a shoulder corsage of bride's roses. The couple were attended by the bride's parents.

Mrs. Rackliff graduated from Rockland High School in 1935, and from Ballard Business College, 37, and is employed at the office of Dr. Charles Popplestone. Mr. Rackliff graduated from Camden High School in 1929 and is in a lobster business of his own.

Mr. and Mrs. Rackliff will live on Franklin street and are receiving many nice gifts and best wishes from friends and relatives.

Hungary Will Revive Sport of Bear Hunting

Budapest, Hungary.—The ancient sport of bear hunting is to be revived in Hungary under government supervision. For centuries the bear chase was the favorite sport of noblemen, especially in the vast forests of Transylvania. Since the World War, bears virtually have disappeared. To restore the historic sport, the forestry department of the ministry of agriculture will import bears, turning them loose in the royal forest of Szini, where they will be allowed to breed under strict government protection.

Grange Head Speaks

Advocates State Income Tax, Opposes Luxury Tax and State Lottery

Speaking to North Franklin Po-mona Grange, F. Ardine Richardson, master of the State Grange, outlined the Grange attitude towards old age assistance and educational aid. He said:

"The Grange has always stressed economies in our State governmental expenditures, and at this coming special session of the Legislature, when necessarily must be of comparatively short duration, it would gladly accept any reasonable economies that could be then and thus made: economies which would not seriously curtail necessary activities.

"And the Grange would urge that some commission be appointed and financed, to the end that an exhaustive study should be made of the receipts and expenditures of our several departments—made by qualified experts under proper supervision, and covering in detail our departmental affairs:—and their report be ready for the next regular session of our Legislature, at which time intelligent and definite information should be available:—to the end that further economies may be made.

Liquor Taxation

"The Grange would be reluctant to concern itself with alcoholic beverages and their taxation, or the methods of expending the funds thereby derived. It is interested more in sobriety among the people of our State.

Oppose State Lottery

"We have opposed, and I am satisfied that we shall continue to oppose, a State lottery. The opening wedge to throw the State wide open to gambling was the law to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races. Dog racing and a State lottery are now proposed to solve our economic problems. They are no solution, and inevitably lent to conditions similar to those in the State of Rhode Island. We can hardly afford to answer the indictment involved in this form of legislation, when we face the apparent need of sound measures.

Approve Luxury Tax

The Grange would approve of such reasonable taxes as may be assessed upon luxuries, but does not approve of Sales taxes which bear upon the necessities of life.

State Income Tax

"But above all else, the Grange advocates the adoption of a State income tax to broaden our tax base, and to more equitably distribute the burden as between real and intangible property:—an Income Tax to relieve the real property tax.

"If monies are needed from such income tax to pay for old age assistance and school equalization, the Grange would yield to a temporary apportionment of the receipts, in whole or in part—but always with the fundamental idea that the tax burden on real property shall shortly be relieved.

"And if the Legislature shall find sufficient money for old age assistance and schools, through economies and some minor or temporary tax measures:—the Grange would still insist that a State income tax should be enacted now, if only, and wholly, to reduce the real property levels.

"The Grange has advocated for a long time a State income tax to equalize the tax burden and to relieve the oppressive load of taxation now carried by real and tangible property in the State of Maine. This must eventually come. Temporary use of the revenue derived from a State income tax for other purposes should contemplate its early use to relieve real property.

"One year ago, the delegate body of the Maine State Grange believed it possible and necessary to provide substantial new sources of revenue for the expanding activities of the State and welcomed a State income tax and a selective sales tax for this purpose. The Grange's approval of a selective sales tax, at that time, was based also on representations of State officials that from five to seven million dollars in new money was needed to meet new expenditures.

"The picture is materially different today, when radical curtailment is in order, and since, at the last legislative session, it was decided that two million dollars for each of two ensuing fiscal years, would provide a large part of the new money needed, therefore a sales tax upon the necessities of life was unnecessary and unjust.

"A State income tax, however, is as necessary today as it has been for the last decade, to distribute the burden of taxation according to the ability to pay, which is the primary and fundamental principle of all fair taxes.

"It has been most gratifying to me to find that the labor organizations of Maine are in practical agreement with the Grange on tax questions and the many other civic bodies and civic-minded citizens. We welcome their co-operation in the endeavor to build a better State."

Maine Stressed

At Annual Convention of Audubon Societies in New York City

Maine is in the limelight at the 33d annual convention of the National Association of Audubon Societies, which opened in New York Friday for a five day program.

The reason for Maine's prominence is the Audubon Nature Camp, located at the Todd Wildlife Sanctuary on Hog Island in Muscongus Bay. The camp, which recently completed its second year and is the only one of its kind in existence and is rapidly becoming well known among nature students and wildlife lovers and is receiving considerable praise here.

A reunion dinner of camp students and instructors occupied a conspicuous place on the convention program and the project was expected to be given prominence in other ways during the five day session.

Made possible through the generosity of Dr. Millicent Todd Bingham of Medomak and Dr. James M. Todd of Boothbay Harbor, who donated the land and buildings for the camp and the project has been successful from the start.

Many prominent naturalists have served as instructors and co-workers with the students, the majority of whom are teachers seeking knowledge of wildlife to fit themselves for instructing their pupils in this important subject.

Camp construction combines first hand study of the many kinds of plant and bird life with which the 350 acre island abounds, moving picture lectures and round table discussions on these subjects.

Stress is laid on species that are believed to be in danger of extermination and remedies necessary to protect them. At the completion of the short course each student is equipped with a definite teaching program that may be applied to his or her needs during the next year.

An indication of the value of the camp from the standpoint of plant life study is the announcement of the discovery of a very unusual kind of moss on the mainland near the island during the past summer.

Authenticated as the rare luminous moss, schistotegia osmundacea, it is found in caves and other dark places in the woods and gives off a golden green glow by reflecting light from a flashlight or even the moon. If one attempts to gather the moss, however, he will find nothing but dirt and stones, so tiny is the plant itself.

The importance of the discovery is seen in the request made by the National Museum for specimens.

Camp sessions during the coming year were announced here at the convention. They will consist of five two-week periods beginning June 10 and ending Aug. 25, each session limited to 55 enrollees. Reservations are already being made at the headquarters of the National Association of Audubon Societies, 1775 Broadway.

The success of the Maine camp let John H. Baker, executive director of the association to predict that other similar camps will be established in the near future.

ODD FELLOWS' MEMORIAL

Gen. Brief of Kentucky To Speak at Acadia National Park Service

Grand Sire Thomas G. Andrews of Oklahoma City, conferring with Wyman P. Wadleigh of Bar Harbor, Past Grand Representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows on Cadillac Mountain, Acadia National Park Thursday said that for the Odd Fellows Memorial program in the park June 12, 1938, he would have Gen. Brief of Kentucky come to Bar Harbor to be the principal speaker.

In the party which motored to Bar Harbor from Bangor Thursday were, besides the Grand Sire, who has the Odd Fellows of the World in his jurisdiction, Mrs. Andrews, and Ellery P. Bowden, Grand Representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge and Mrs. Bowden of Winterport. Archie R. Lovett of Bangor, grand treasurer and past grand representative to the Sovereign Lodge, and Mrs. Lovett; W. C. Miller of Augusta, Grand Representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge and Mrs. Miller.

A Complete and Concise Report of the State W.C.T.U. Convention

The 63d annual convention of the Maine W.C.T.U. opened its three-day session in the Bethany Baptist Church in Skowhegan, Wednesday morning Oct. 20, with Mrs. Althea G. Quimby presiding. Greetings were extended to the convention by Mrs. Dora Nye on behalf of Skowhegan W.C.T.U. and Miss Dorothy Elliot, for the Somerset County W.C.T.U. and Rev. George Merriam, pastor of the entertaining church. Response to roll call was made by a majority of county presidents, directors and general officers.

Report of the corresponding secretary showed a good gain in membership, and an encouraging advance in educational work. In the two projects of the year, Knox County was a gainer, Rockland, Camden, Appleton and Friendship honor unions, having raised their quotas for the National Temperance Educational fund. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Vina L. Johnson, showed affairs of the organization in most satisfactory condition, with all bills paid and a balance on hand.

Greetings from the Massachusetts president of W.C.T.U., Mrs. Alice Ropes, was read and return greetings were sent. Rev. Ruth E. Walsh of Allegash, director of evangelistic department, gave her report in the form of an acrostic on the word "evangelistic." Dr. Redding of Ohio gave greetings from the Crusade State. He said Prohibition at its worst is better than anything we have had since. Maine W.C.T.U. sent back the greeting, "We are holding the banner."

Mrs. French, reporting for the International Relations department, said a great impetus had been given this department of Peace by the World's Convention in Washington, D. C., and the fact that the President found our work in peace worthy of his commendation.

Mrs. Mildred S. Washburn, director of Y.T.C., said "Speeding Forward" is one slogan. We have carried the message of the Y.T.C. to more young people in Maine than ever before, resulting not only in membership gain, but in a new enthusiasm for streamlined aviation program.

Rev. Ruth Walsh conducted the Memorial service in her most sympathetic manner. An unusually long list of names of members and honorary members who had gone to their heavenly home during the past year was read, each county delegate standing in recognition as the names from their county were read.

The worship service was changed from the first period in the morning as had been the custom, to the noon-time period. The feature of the afternoon was the presentation of the "World's Convention Revue" by delegates and visitors to that convention. Those representing the nations were dressed in costume and carried the national flag.

Following the revue, Mrs. Annie Barnes, director of department child welfare and white ribbon recruits, presented three babies, with their mothers. Mrs. Quimby tied the white ribbon on the babies' wrists as they were made recruits.

A membership banquet was served in the Federated Church, with "envoys" and "ambassadors" as honor guests. Those from Knox County so honored were Miss Margaret Cranford, Mrs. Hope Brewster, and Mrs. Clara Emery. About 100 congenial white ribbon comrades gathered about the tables. Mrs. Augusta Christie of Presque Isle assistant corresponding secretary, on behalf of the membership committee, presented Mrs. Quimby with a pine tree silver teapoon, duplicate of those presented to Miss Astwood of Bermuda at the Washington convention banquet.

The evening program opened with that old but ever thrilling service, the processional of general officers with guest speakers. County presidents, gowned in white and bearing their banners to the grand old march "Onward Christian Soldiers." A fine chorus group of young people under leadership of Mrs. Fred Nye, rendered several lively selections. Special music was a solo number "When the Heart is Young" charmingly rendered by Miss Pearl Pomeroy of Skowhegan.

Rev. Thomas S. Cleaves, pastor of the Federated Church in expressing greetings from the church, said that among the articles that came to his desk, he noted that the W.C.T.U. had searched out the scientific fact and accepted by the highest authorities as being correct. If they could be applied would be the certain cure for all the ills of intemperance.

Representative Clyde H. Smith expressed greetings from the town and said this group of distinctive citizens

The Resolutions Report

Greetings from Skowhegan's superintendent of schools Mr. Woodbury said he welcomed any help the W.C.T.U. could give in the educational and moral upbuilding of our youth. Mrs. Jennie Price White of Machias replied with feeling to the kind, sincere welcomes from the homes, churches and schools of Skowhegan. She said in part the W.C.T.U. has an educational program with which we hope to reach every boy and girl in the schools of America, teaching them something of the nature and dangers that are in alcohol.

Following the addresses, the W.C.T.U. movie film "A Magnificent Reprobate" was shown by Rev. J. A. Cony.

Miss Margaret Sargent, reporting for the membership campaign, said there were 169 active unions in the State. New members numbered 832, 219 over all losses and two new Youth Temperance Councils. Plans for the new membership campaign center around the symbol of a bridge, heading up towards the national convention in San Francisco August 1938, and the golden gate bridge.

Report of Mrs. Clara S. Emery on work done in medal contest department was well received and invoked many inquiries for the plan of work for this line of educational work among the young people. The report of Mrs. Augusta Christie, new director of social morality, was commended by Mrs. Quimby as being the most satisfactory and effective report of this department given in years. All officers were re-elected.

At the afternoon session a resolution of appreciation was adopted, thanking the Rev. James A. Cony for the inestimable value of his service in showing the movie film "Magnificent Reprobate" in the schools.

Resolved: That we declare on conviction that total abstinence is the only safe and sane practice regarding the use of alcoholics.

Resolved: That we will continue to work for the total abolition of the liquor traffic. We believe that a national law to effect this abolition is the only reasonable way to deal with the liquor traffic and its attendant evils.

We regret the necessity of working back to prohibition by the slow process of local option provisions, but as these seem the method now available, we will do our utmost to secure local dry territory, never losing sight of our goal of complete prohibition of the sale and manufacture of strong drink.

Resolved: That we will use all proper means to present to our young people a high standard of purity and total abstinence. To this end we recommend the film "The Beneficial Reprobate" and the use of our educational literature including the "Syllabus" prepared by Bertha R. Palmer.

Resolved: That since the aim of all departments of W.C.T.U. work is the betterment of humanity, we will earnestly seek the best possible development of these departments thereby increasing their efficiency and advancing the interests of our cause.

Resolved: That with war and unrest in many parts of the world, we reiterate our belief in the principals of peace and pledge ourselves to work for friendliness between nations.

Resolved: That we the Maine Woman's Christian Temperance Union are strenuously opposed to any action by the Special Session of the Legislature allocating the use of funds from the liquor revenue for education or old age pension.

Herring Gulls Marked With Highly Colored Bands For Study Purposes

Five thousand herring gulls, commonly known as "sea gulls," have been marked with brightly colored bands by the U.S. Biological Survey in furthering a co-operative study of the migration and other habits of the birds. Young birds not yet able to fly were banded at 10 key banding stations along the Atlantic coast from Labrador to New York State.

Protected under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of 1918, herring gulls have greatly increased in numbers. Those that breed commonly along the New England coast to Labrador winter farther south along the Atlantic coast to the Gulf of Mexico. Information on their fall and winter distribution, however, is rather limited and data obtained in recent years has been based largely on gulls marked with the survey's aluminum bands. This information has been slow to accumulate because in most cases the recovery of bands had to wait the death or injury of the gulls.

Use of colored bands in checking the habits of the birds is expected to speed up tracing their first season movements from the colonies where they were hatched. So far as known, this is the first time colored bands have been used on a large scale in studying bird migration. Their use by the survey, thus far has been confined mainly to migration studies of smaller birds in local areas.

Bird students, fishermen, seamen, coast guardsmen and others can assist in the study by reporting birds wearing colored bands to the Gull Survey, American Museum of Natural History, New York City, or the U. S. Biological Survey, Washington, D. C. Reports should include accurate descriptions of the position and color of the bands on the legs, and information where the birds were seen and on what date.

Red, blue and yellow bands were used along with the biological survey aluminum bands at the 10 banding stations, each station having its own color combination. Some stations were assigned a single color, others a combination of two. In reporting observations of these birds it is important, therefore, to note the relative position of the bands—whether the yellow band, for example, is above or below a blue band, and whether the metal band is above or below the colored bands. A few adult birds—those in nearly white plumage—carry a black band on one leg and one or more colored bands on the other.

The Lohon Plant

Scientists Solve a Mystery With Expedition In Remote China

Collection of the first leaves, blossoms and fresh fruits of a plant which has been "just over the horizon" from science for years was announced here today, at the headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The plant, the Lohon, was found in its restricted native habitat in the mountain fastnesses of north-eastern Kwangsi Province, China, where it is grown by primitive, aboriginal tribes. The discovery was made by Dr. G. Weidman Groff, leader of the National Geographic Society—Lingnan University Expedition which has just returned to Canton after several months spent in outlying portions of Kwangsi. Dr. Groff found that he was the first white man ever to be seen by the Lohon growers whom he visited.

The Lohon fruit, in dried form only, is an important household remedy among Chinese, and is sold in Chinese herb and medical shops throughout the world. But botanists have been unable to identify the fruit scientifically, or to learn anything about its appearance in the fresh state or even of the nature of the plant on which it grows.

Information Sought for Decades

The late Dr. Frederick V. Coville, botanist of the United States Department of Agriculture, spent twenty years vainly trying to obtain herbarium specimens that would make it possible to classify the Lohon plant. As chairman of the Research Committee of the National Geographic Society, he was instrumental, shortly before his death last January, in arranging the expedition which finally obtained specimens now in the hands of scientists.

The Lohon plant, Dr. Groff reports, is a vine with leaves and tendrils somewhat like those of a grape, but more delicate. It is grown in small patches on steep mountain slopes under semi-tropical conditions, never much less than 2,000 feet above sea level, and is trained on rough arbors of saplings, about six feet high. The fruits, of several varieties, vary from the size of an egg to that of a tennis ball. Some are roughly egg-shaped and others nearly round. When ripe one variety is greenish yellow, another a beautiful dark red. The shell is brittle; inside is succulent flesh fiber, and flat seeds somewhat like those of a watermelon, but larger.

Grown by Aboriginal Tribes

Dr. Groff was impressed by the fact that although the Lohon fruit is grown by shy, superstitious aboriginal tribes, in a region isolated from civilization, they make use of a highly developed horticultural technique. In addition to training the vines on arbors in such a way as to avoid too much shade for the fruits, they propagate the plants by a vegetative process, and most surprising of all, they fertilize the flowers of the bearing plants by hand pollination.

The fruits are not eaten as such but are steeped in broth or tea. Dr. Groff tested the fruit, however, and found it exceedingly sweet and somewhat irritating to lips and tongue. Chinese use Lohon in combating congestion of the lungs resulting from colds. They also believe that it contributes to virility. Its value medicinally has not been determined by science.

Processing the Lohon fruits, is an important industry in market towns just inside the mountain region, and in Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi, the National Geographic—Lingnan University Expedition reports. The fruits are first partially dried naturally. Later more than 80 per cent of the moisture is driven off by drying the fruits over charcoal ovens. Traders consulted by expedition members estimated that more than 140,000 pounds of the dried fruit entered trade channels in 1936. So highly is the product prized that in shops in the coast cities of China a single dried fruit brings about 20 cents in Canton silver.

Because of a lack of sufficient comparative herbarium specimens and botanical records in China, it will probably be impossible to determine the scientific niche into which the Lohon plant should fall until the specimens are shipped to the United States for examination by botanists in reach of the necessary data. Dr. Groff is of the opinion that the plant definitely does not belong to the Passifloraceae (the passion flower family) as many botanists had suggested after examining the dried fruits.

In collecting the Lohon material, it was necessary for the expedition members to exercise the greatest patience, because of the fear and superstition of the aboriginal mountain people. Dr. Groff reports. Their success, he feels was largely owing to the personal assistance extended to the party by Marshal Li Tsung-jen, military leader of Kwangsi.

This young lady is matching a sample of material to the color on the Studebaker color wheel. But it doesn't match, you say? No, you're right. It is three colors instead of one, but when the wheel rotates at high speed they will fuse into one shade—the exact color of the article she holds.

The disk is marked off in degrees, and the colors on it are standard, so that the amount of each color can be measured, and reproduced with scientific exactitude at any time, or place.

This device, widely used by style scouts to radio home the exact shades of the new colors in the openings of Parisian couturiers, has been developed by Edgar Teeter, Studebaker engineer, to meet the needs of the automobile industry, and is an exclusive Studebaker innovation. The shades chosen for fabric and body colors for the new cars can be wired to paint and upholstery firms and reproduced on their color wheel in the identical shade. To this shade, they can do their matching of paint and cloth.

It also enables Studebaker engineers to keep a complete and lasting record of all the delicate shades that have been used on Studebaker automobiles, and to reproduce them instantly whenever, and wherever they are wanted.
