Paroled Convicts Gallagher and Labonte Are Captured in Bangor

Andrew Gallagher, 31, of Bangor and Alfred Labonte, 19, of Lewiston, paroled State Prison convicts, were both in custody at Bangor Saturday night.

Gallagher captured late Friday, was arraigned in Bangor Municipal Court on three charges, waived hearing and was bound over to the grand jury. Bail of $100 in each case was not provided and he was committed to jail.

Labonte, who made a getaway when Gallagher was taken into custody, was arrested on Hammond street by Inspector Golden of the Bangor Police after police had been notified that a youth answering his description had been seen in that vicinity. He was arraigned yesterday on charges similar to those against Gallagher and an additional one of carrying concealed weapons.

Gallagher was charged with the theft of an automobile owned by Mrs. Albert E. Bass of Bangor, receiving stolen property, part of the loot stolen several weeks ago from the Milliken-Tomlinson store house at Ellsworth, and breaking, entering and larceny.

Labonte was held on three charges—breaking, entering and larceny, carrying a concealed weapon and larceny of a motor vehicle. He was held in the sum of $3000.

MERRY PLAYDAYS AHEAD

Sandy Beach At Camden To Be Made a Modern Resort With W.P.A. Funds

Community spirit in Camden is off on another tack—development of the public beach and playground.

On Bay View street, situated between Chestnut Hill and Cedar street, on the opposite side of the road, is a two-acre area adjoining Sandy Beach, both of which properties are owned by the town. A few years ago, a bath house was erected, granite steps placed for more convenient descent of a deep bank, running water and drinking fountain installed and a custodian employed to care for the beach and keep a watchful eye on the playing children.

Gradually, but with steady, healthy growth, this easily accessible spot has become increasingly popular. In the sweltering days of midsummer, mothers with young children have found it a boon, offering as it does, comfort and recreation entirely free from expense. Even Nature has had a hand in reinforcing this pleasure tract, for a sand bar midway in the harbor is constantly supplying grains with the tide and providing greater depth and cleaner sand with every wave.

Now a movement is afoot to further expand this section, and a $2000 WPA project with crew of 16 men has been utilized to clear underbrush, remove stumps, widen the road and make such other labor improvements as the federal funds will permit. Here the youngsters will have ample space for playing ball or other games after they have wearied of making sand castles. Though within call, they will be out from under foot for a time, allowing their mothers to enjoy the harbor scene or chat with friends. There has been no waste motion on this job, as a resident in that vicinity will frankly testify, and his word carries substantial weight, inasmuch as his political convictions are of the opposite color. "This is certainly one government project which is getting somewhere," he declared. "I've watched those men and they've worked like Trojans, faithfully and well." The age of chivalry is by no means dead and gone. It still calls unto manhood, and these workers give of their best, knowing that the fruit of their labors will go toward a heaping measure of summer happiness for women and children.

When grading has been completed, the next plan calls for a wide road direct to the beach with a roomy side path on which mothers may wheel their baby carriages or strollers. A parking area for cars has been mapped out and a group of ambitious "good neighbors," called the Beach Club, has tentative views to the erection of swings, saws and picnic tables. Accessories such as these will require individual financing as the federal outlay makes provision for labor costs only.

Quietly, but with gratifying results, a personal solicitation among the well-to-do, has been made and a nucleus gathered for continuance of the humanitarian endeavor. No fanfare of trumpets has been employed in these activities, partly because the townspeople are already moderately supporting it through a tax levy on a small annual appropriation; but largely because it definitely is not a promotional scheme, nor a commercialized "racket."

Citizens who in the mass are already hard pressed to meet daily personal needs will not be approached for contributions, membership fees or any other money output. This is no real estate boom—it is purely and simply a slow, careful effort to improve town property for the use and enjoyment of townspeople. No price tags or admissions can be affixed to hamper and hinder Young America's good times at Sandy Beach—his happiness there is his rightful heritage as an inhabitant of Camden.

Visionary well-wishers who, by the way, are industrious well-workers also, have in mind among other things, a walled pool at the beach where the very young children may go in wading or paddle about when the tide has receded to the mucky clam flats which are the area's only unfortunate feature. In a prosperous year when the strings of those who have purses, are open it may be possible to engage the services of a swimming instructor and life guard. All that, and more, is conceivable because a worthy object designed for the joy of children primarily, is heart touching and those persons of means who respond generously when the occasion is soundly beneficial, will bend an ear to what it is all about and having understood and sympathized, will promptly bend a hand toward the pocket.

A new link in the chain of childhood's merry playdays will be forged when Sandy Beach, fully equipped for safety and health, takes its place in the ranks of noble achievements brought about through the united good will of Camden citizens and summer residents.—By Kay McDonald.

AVOIDED CITY SMELLS

But Just See What Happened To New York Couple At South Cushing

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

(Exclusive to The Courier-Gazette)

Recently, your South Cushing Correspondent has written gracious comments about the acquisition of the charming old District No. 4 Schoolhouse by Mr. and Mrs. Philip F. Broughton of New York, who will use it as a summer refuge from the heat and smells of the hot city.

Last night at 1.30 a. m. the unmistakable presence of a family of skunks under their somewhat porous bedroom floor shattered the peaceful slumbers of these two intrepid pioneers.

The concentrated pungency of the fumes which so potentially advertised the uninvited guests, made imperative immediate and positive action, so, with the characteristic presence of mind inherited from his Pilgrim forefathers Mr. Broughton promptly lit a pipeful of his strongest tobacco, which accomplished no good whatsoever. With indomitable courage, Mr. Broughton now dared the outside blackness and flash-lighted himself up the road to seek the advice of his nearest neighbor, the kindly Herman Killoran.

Mr. Killoran proved very helpful. He not only broke the news that the wood-choppers who lived in the

AMAZING ARRAY OF GIFTS

Rockland's Great Dollar Days, Aug. 19-20, Will Combine Super Values and Free Prizes

Dollar Days in Rockland take on new meaning this year as local merchants combine forces for the two great value giving days, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 19-20. Practically every store in the city is included in the list of Dollar Days stores, all united to make 1938 the outstanding marker of the highly successful series of merchants' days.

Two chief points are depended upon to make this an epoch-making event. First, naturally splendid dollar values, when your dollar will buy more than at any other time in the year, a super-sale with every store participating. The second effort will be the presentation of splendid gifts through the medium of tickets given with each 50 cent purchase at Dollar Days stores. Among these gifts will be a beautiful 1938 console radio, a five-piece breakfast set, (table and four chairs) a 36-piece luncheon set and many smaller but valuable prizes such as hosiery, men's wear, etc.

Every courtesy will be extended to all visitors in Rockland during Friday-Saturday, all stores extending full facilities and the comfortable, cool Community Building and Chamber of Commerce uniting to say "All welcome, come up and rest." Merchants are pricing quality goods so low that none can resist—see the stores, visit around, and buy at the very attractive prices. All are welcome to Rockland on these big Dollar Days.

Special interest is manifested in the notable free Dollar Days gifts, some 30 in all including the console radio and breakfast set mentioned above, also an electric toaster, a 32-piece set of dishes, electric table lamps and floor lamps refreshment sets and many smaller prizes. All Dollar Days stores give tickets with 50 cent purchases.

WELCH "THE MAN BEHIND"

Prison Warden Credited With Bringing Carroll To Justice Through Statement of Paul Dwyer

Francis M. Carroll, 43, convicted strangler of Dr. James G. Littlefield, arrived at the State prison Saturday to begin serving a life sentence for murder.

Composed but pale, the deposed Oxford county deputy sheriff entered a side door of the penitentiary at 1.38 p. m., after a motor trip from South Paris, his home town, where a jury found him guilty Friday night after an 11-day trial.

Within the prison was 19-year-old Paul N. Dwyer, serving a similar sentence for the same crime.

The slender youth, one-time sweetheart of Carroll's 18-year-old daughter, Barbara, was sentenced from the same court last December for the brutal garroting in the Dwyer home at Paris Hill 10 months ago.

Deputy Warden Stanley A. MacGowan met Carroll on the walk leading to the side entrance and conducted him to the guardroom to go through the usual formalities of admission.

After a 10-day quarantine, in which the prisoner would be permitted no visitors, Carroll probably would go to work in the quarry, pending decision as to what type of prison labor he is best fitted.

Warden Welch Interviewed

Warden James H. Welch of the Maine State Prison, is fundamentally credited with being "the man behind the gun" in the now famous Dwyer-Carroll-Littlefield case, according to the Bangor Commercial.

Warden Welch was in that city Saturday, and the Commercial prints the following interesting story:

He spoke of the day, several months ago, when he went to South Paris to take Dwyer to the prison at Thomaston.

"He is just a boy," said Welch, "and during the entire ride I talked with him only about those subjects which normally interest one of his years."

"Dwyer had been at the prison for some two or three days," Warden Welch continued, "when he asked to see me—which is not at all unusual for new prisoners, especially."

"He came into my office and, following some preliminary conversation, said he desired to tell me the true story concerning the Littlefield murders."

"You have already told two stories and I am not interested in hearing any others," the prison head said he told the youth at South Paris.

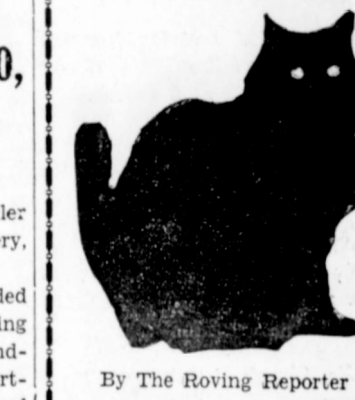

"But Dwyer persisted, and even though I thought it a lot of 'baloney' at the time, I felt duty-bound to listen . . . and do so."

The Warden was not at all impressed then with Dwyer's account and very frankly admitted such. But, nevertheless he felt duty-bound again to act and went to Augusta to pass the boy's story on to the Attorney General. Apparently it made little impression there.

A few weeks later Dwyer returned to the Warden's office, seeking permission to talk again.

"I told Dwyer that if he desired

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

On the threshold of the 20th century when there appeared before the public the directory which is now being republished in The Courier-Gazette, Knox County was in the hands of the following officials: Clerk of Courts, Thaddeus R. Simonton of Rockland; county attorney, Merritt A. Johnson of Rockland; judge of probate, Charles E. Meserve of South Thomaston; register of probate, Edward K. Gould of Rockland; register of deeds, Frank B. Miller of Rockland; county treasurer, M. B. Cook of Friendship; county commissioners, S. W. Jones of Union, Thomas S. Bowden of Washington and E. M. O'Brien of Thomaston; sheriff, W. U. Ulmer of Rockland. The sole survivor of that list is Edward K. Gould.

John Lovejoy was postmaster, and K. K. Rankin was assistant postmaster. John H. Flanagan, Frank J. Magee and George T. Stewart were clerks, Oliver B. Lovejoy, John E. Hanrahan, Samuel W. Lawry John A. Burpee and Henry C. Chatto were the regular carriers, and Maurice O. Wilson and Alvah Babbidge were sub-carriers. The janitor of the Federal building was Allison Shuman.

Old checker players, I can see them now, gathered around the tables in the Y.M.C.A. rooms or in various stores along the street. It would be a long list, for in those days there were many experts at "draughts." Here are a few I recall offhand: G. K. Merrill, whom I always considered the best player in Rockland; Andrew Allen ("The Old Fourteenth"), Charles W. Lee, Henry A. Howard, Philip Howard, Esten W. Porter, Charles A. Rose, Eugene H. Rose, Frank Maloney of South Thomaston, Emmet Rose, Irving Edweller, George T. Stewart, Frank Gardner—I might go on indefinitely. But I would be pleased to have some remind me of stars of other days whom I have neglected to mention.

Motorists who sometimes say unkind words about truck drivers who are tardy in allowing them to pass should know that their horns are not always heard aboard the noisy trucks. In the night-time the motorists should blink their lights and there will be no trouble.

William K. Clinton was among those who called my attention to the fact that it is the Charles Richardson house which stands on the site of the Park Street Episcopal church which was destroyed by fire many years ago. This was Bill's old stamping ground and he is familiar with the history of that locality for a period of more than 40 years. Remembers when grave stones marked the lots near the Augustus Ulmer tomb, which was recently dismantled.

A former Rockland woman who has been a reader of The Courier-Gazette continuously for more than 50 years, and absent from her home city most of that time, sometimes reads an issue of the paper which does not contain a name she recognizes. She confessed to a thrill when she read Saturday's issue and found the family name under the G's. And most of us are following those reproduced names with similar interest.

In course of time we are going to become accustomed to the remodeled Woolworth block, but it does open up vistas which are almost startling to lifelong residents.

Whatever else we may say about this summer's weather it must be admitted that it has been conducive to some wonderful gardens. Never in history have there been such weeds! Such mosquitoes!

Most of us are very careful about removing that black streak which runs along the lobster's spine, and many doubtless consider it deadly poison. "There's no part of a lobster which is poison, so far as I know," said J. Fred Knight Saturday. And it will be conceded that Fred has had a somewhat intimate acquaintance with those crustaceans.

STUMBLING BLOCK OR STEPPING STONE?

Isn't it strange
That prices and kings,
And clouds that caper
In sawdust rings,
And common people
Like you and me
Are builders for eternity?

And each must make—

Ingraham Family

Reunion at Penobscot View
Grange Hall Had Much
Of Interest

About 40 descendants of Job, Josiah and Nancy Ingraham held their 58th reunion at Penobscot View Grange hall. The day proved to be ideal for traveling so that members living afar were privileged to enjoy the bountiful laden tables and congenial atmosphere with the local families.

The Ingraham family tree was the center of interest, as usual, and many old letters and documents were perused and commented upon. In the afternoon the assembly was called to order by the president, Frank Ingraham, and all joined in singing "America," after which they paid tribute to the memory of the late Isaac H. Ingraham of Knox, Me., who died March 13, and to Elford Hubbard Richardson, Jr., great-great-great-great grandson of Joseph Ingraham.

The youngest member present was Enos Ingraham Jr. four months old, August 9 was introduced and acknowledged by a round of applause. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Enos Ingraham of Rockport, were also given an ovation for having 19 grandchildren, and wonder was expressed that time has touched them so lightly. The oldest member was Mrs. Nancy J. Triboi, 82, of Rockport and the long-distance traveled to reach the reunion was by Mrs. Nellie Everett of Waltham, Mass., and Mrs. Mary Orbeton of Manchester, N. H. Edwin Ingraham of Augusta, Miss Louise Butler of South Thomaston, and Miss Jennie E. Crockett of Chelsea, Mass., who comprised the nominating committee made the following report which was accepted.

President—Frank H. Ingraham.

Vice President—Enos Ingraham. Secretary—Kathleen O'Hara. Treasurer—Mrs. Susie Snow. Historian—Miss Ellen Tolman. Committee of arrangements, Gilford Butler; entertainment, Mrs. Lorna Pendleton; obituary, Mrs. Louise Ingraham.

Remarks were made by John Deane of Warren, who confessed to attending an Ingraham reunion in 1879; and Mrs. Rollins who reported on cemetery conditions at Ingraham Hill.

This program was presented: Vocal solo, Elden Vose, Knox, Me.; original Bible story, Florence Ingram; genealogy of Job Ingraham of Thordike, Maine, read by Mrs. Zaida Winslow, one of his descendants; vocal solo, Raymond Pendleton; anecdotes of Josiah Ingraham; read by Frank H. Ingraham; vocal solo, Porter Ingraham Halliwell.

Prof. Edwin B. Rollins of West Somerville gave an interesting demonstration on lighting a candle with a spark obtained by striking metal and rock together.

Miss Jennie Crockett of Chelsea, Mass., gave a brief talk on the Nancy Ingraham line.

After the assembly sang "America the Beautiful," the meeting was adjourned until the first Thursday in August, 1939 when the reunion will be held at the same place.—By K. O'H.

Twilight League

Only Two More Weeks, and the Rush Is On—
Waldoboro Still In

This Week's Games

Tuesday night—Rockland at St. George; Thomaston at Waldoboro. Wednesday night—St. George at Thomaston.

Thursday night—Rockland at Camden; Waldoboro at St. George (postponed from first half).

Friday night—Waldoboro at Rockland; Thomaston at St. George. Saturday afternoon—Waldoboro at St. George.

Last night's game between Camden and Waldoboro, which was to have been played at Camden was postponed. This led to a report that Waldoboro had withdrawn from the League. This was promptly denied at Manager Boggs' home in Waldoboro this morning.

Camden won a double header in Waldoboro Sunday.

The Knox Twilight League schedule closes Aug. 28 but will be followed by play-off series lasting over Labor Day. There will be some scurrying for the big money prize in these last two weeks.

St. George 24, Rockland 18. No children, this was not a soft ball game. It didn't have even that excuse. It was a game decidedly creditable to the Knox Twilight League in which there have been some really fine contests this season.

The Pirates had a 13 to 5 lead when St. George went to bat in the fifth inning, and it didn't seem possible that they could be dislodged, but the Pirates began throwing the ball around, and St.

George picked up four disgracefully easy runs. In the last three innings St. George scored five at a lick.

Maurice Simmons had meantime given away to Mackie, who celebrated his advent in the box by fanning the first six batters. The Pirates could do nothing with him until the last inning, and the dying gasp came too late.

It was a free wheeling day for the batters, the procession being led by Perry and Mr. Simmons with four each. Hard telling how many McBride would have made if he had not been removed for a pinch hitter. The score:

The McLoon Outing

A Great Time From Start
To Finish, If Boss Did
Get Lost

The colony which makes McLoon's wharf a busy place by day—and part of the night—took time out Sunday for an outing at Hewett's Island. The 60 happy persons who assembled there ran the gamut of sports from soft ball to hanky-pank, but were not guilty of beans.

Bert McLoon's team won the soft ball game 4 to 3, but his chagrined opponents point out that the ex-mayor was allowed six strikes each time at bat.

The deep sea fishing brought embarrassment to the salt water sharps, for the pool went to a rank inlander from Houlton, who landed the largest sculpin ever seen within a 50-mile radius of Hewett's Island.

McLoon and two friends elected to return home in the boat which Bert recently bought at the Rockport fair, but something went amiss and it was 1.30 next morning before he sighted birds from the mainland and made a regular Columbus land. Meantime the Coast Guard and other agencies were invoked to find the befogged mariner. Admiral McLoon heard the sirens, and lighted more matches than the average man strikes in lighting a cigaret, but the missing trio had to effect their own rescue.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Meat
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or flat foods or when you are nervous, hurried or sleep poorly—your stomach pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel out, sick and upset all over.
Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-e-ne for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Bell-e-ne is so quick it is amazing and one box proves it. Ask for Bell-e-ne for indigestion.

ROCKLAND'S BIGGEST DOLLAR DAYS

FRIDAY-SATURDAY, AUG. 19-20

The merchants are determined to make these two Dollar Days the most successful ever held. A perusal of this advertisement will prove to you that Gregory's will go the limit to sweep clean all summer merchandise.

If you've got every dollar nailed down
These are the days your dollar does tricks
Lower than a diver's costume the prices of sport clothes hit bottom

Most men are acting as though the dollars they have will be the last they'll ever handle and even though you're in no mood for spending money, we want you to do yourself a favor by doing us one.
See these suits at these low prices . . . and then if they don't impress you as the finest values you ever saw . . . simply tell us that you're only looking around and we'll understand.

Now is the time to take your suffering body on a cruise at excursion rates.

The Maine Elks are to have their annual field at Old Orchard Beach Sunday, Aug. 28. Gov Barrows and ex-Gov. Brann are to be special guests.

Many from this vicinity are planning to go to Waterville Saturday to attend public exercises on Colby's new campus and see this model of the future college buildings.

Earle C. Dow, camera carrier and pencil pusher for the Press Herald and allied newspapers, is having his annual vacation. This week he is visiting his sisters, Mrs. Harvey Reed and Mrs. Fred Estabook in Bangor.

George Gow, Jr., who has been working here the past six weeks in the interest of a new city directory, left Saturday for Haverhill, Mass., where he will be engaged in similar work for a few weeks before going to Lewiston. Mr. Gow has been coming to Rockland for a number of years and has made a very large circle of friends, particularly among the baseball fans of Knox and Lincoln Counties.

Patrons of Husbandry are reminded to be present at Community Building, Friday night at 7.30 when State Grange Officers will be present and introduce Charles M. Gardner, "High Priest of Demeter," who will speak at the special assembly of fourth degree patrons. Every member is urged to attend to represent his Grange. Pleasant Valley members will meet in the lobby and attend in a body.

Much to the disappointment of Rockland people Perley Bartlett, local soap-box derby champion, failed to get into the winning class at Akron Ohio Sunday. The Press Herald, calmly appropriating him as a Portland Boy said: "Among those eliminated today was Perley A. Bartlett, of Rockland, Me.; Press-Herald-Express Representative, who finished third in his preliminary heat won by Melvin Paisley, of Portland, Ore. The Portland (Rockland) champion got away to a slow start and was further hampered by poor control of his car. His little black and white racer wavered fully half the distance of the course before he could gain control and pull up even with George Abel of New Haven, Conn., five yards back of the flying Oregon car. However, a second later Perley again lost control of his speedster and it wavered to within 15 yards of the finish line, ten yards behind Paisley and inches in back of the New Haven entrant. It was one of the ten fastest heats of the day."

Lawn mowers sharpened. Called for and delivered. John L. Beaton, 65 Oliver St., Tel. 421-W. 98-100

When Charles Willis fell between the bed logs of the South Railway the other day he did not realize that he had fractured three ribs. The realization came when he consulted a physician.

Donald Peters, Woodrow Cayton and Russell Snowdell were before Judge Dwinall yesterday charged with breaking, entering and larceny at the store of William Gray. Each was sentenced to six months in jail, and was committed. Sheriff Ludwick, who solved the burglary in a remarkable short time, recovering most of the cigarettes which had been stolen, said he had written confessions from the three boys. He conducted the case for the State yesterday.

The great fields of uncut hay found in all parts of this area constitute a serious fire menace if left standing until dry in the fall according to Chief Van Russell who asks all property owners to cut this tall grass. If this is not done a grave and constant fire menace will be faced this fall and next spring.

Beano Friday night at G.A.R. hall, by Ruth Mayhew Tent. Play starts at 7.30, prizes at every game and special prizes.—adv. 98-99

Tex Rider and his Texas Rangers will present their show at Community Building Thursday night with an amateur hour for cash prizes.

There was shown in this office yesterday an excellent model of a cabin cruiser made by Henry Moorlan, 14, son of Frank E. Moorlan of 5 Temple street. The boy was asked to contribute something to the forthcoming Matinicus fair, and for three weeks his jack-knife was busy fashioning the cabin cruiser model, which is very faithful in all its details. The model is painted in red and white with the exception of the cabin which is done in imitation mahogany. Inspired by his success, the young model-maker will continue his work for commercial purposes. The Moorlans are former Matinicus residents.

The Chiefs Bow

Gallant Vinal Haven Team Fails To Score On Livermore Falls

The Vinal Haven Chiefs bowed to the Livermore Falls Barkers at Vinal Haven Sunday in a pitchers' battle. Philoon of the visitors shutting them out 3 to 0. Brown kept the visitors from scoring for four innings, running his record of not having been scored upon to 50 consecutive innings.

The streak was broken in the fifth when the visitors scored three runs. Berube fled out to left. Fournier reached on Woodcock's error. Stevens popped out to short. Simoneau singled to center and Philoon walked filling the bases. J. Drott who had dropped a double just inside the foul-line in right field the inning before lifted another high fly to right which also fell about a foot inside the line for a double all three runs scoring.

Philoon had little difficulty in holding the Chiefs at bay as he appeared to have excellent control and a good fast ball. The visitors played an errorless game afield and shaped up in general as the best team to appear at Vinal Haven this year.

Ed White leading hitter of the Chiefs, was unable to start due to a sprained ankle but got into the game in the ninth as a pinch-hitter.

The Chiefs tackle the fast North Vassalboro Envees at Vinal Haven Sunday. Last year these teams battled for 13 innings and three years ago 17 innings.

"There are mountain lodges in the Canadian Rockies where you ride, hike, climb, fish, explore and study wildflowers and fossils, breathe the clean mountain air and eat the good camp food of the cook who says 'Come and get it!' or the chalet food of the chef who sends word that 'dinner is served.' Near Field, B. C. is famous Emerald Lake Chalet on Emerald Lake, outstanding jade-green rival of even Lake Louise. Nearby are bungalow camps at Yoho Valley where the roar of lofty Takakkaw Falls lulls one to sleep; Lake Wapta overlooking its namesake and majestic mountains; Lake O'Hara, whose beauty John Singer Sargent painted for a week; and Radium Hot Springs, noted for curative waters and scenic charm.

"Over pony trail from Banff is Mount Assiniboine Lodge, near Mount Assiniboine, Matterhorn of the Canadian Rockies, which wears a gigantic glacier round its neck as a lovely woman wears a white fox fur. Near each camp are picturesque trails, Alpine-flowered meadows, towering peaks challenging the mountain climber, and in streams or lakes fishing for brook-trout, cut-throat trout, steelheads or perhaps a big Dolly Varden! As the camp cook says: 'Come and get it!' Why not?"

The Last Word In Comfort—"Mystery Control" Operates Radio By Remote Control Without Wires

LIKE to hear your favorite programs on the radio while lying in bed at night? If so, it no longer is necessary to clamber from your snug retreat beneath the covers to trot downstairs to change stations and adjust volume, and then back again to turn it off. In this Summer weather when heat drives you outdoors to enjoy the cooling breezes, you no longer need disturb yourself to go indoors to manipulate the radio. Or, if you are preparing the meal you need no longer rush into another part of the house to change a program. Philco has made all this easy with the new and amazing Mystery Control, a little device about as big as a cigar box, as shown in the pictures above. This Philco Mystery Control box can be carried about the house and out onto the grounds at a considerable distance. A flick of the finger on the dial of the Mystery Control and your favorite station is tuned. Stations can be changed at will, volume of the program adjusted high or low, and the radio turned off when desired. All this is accomplished without wires. Engineers have called this new device the most amazing and revolutionary invention since radio itself came into being.

Sewer Project Favored
An open meeting of the Board of Trade was held Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. to ascertain the feeling of the townspeople towards a P.W.A. project and to learn what sort of project was desired.

H. S. Yergey, P.W.A. engineer from the Bangor district explained the nature of P.W.A. and that under it Public Works are built by private contract, the federal government furnishing 45 percent of the money and the town raising the balance.

Several projects were discussed. It was the opinion of the gathering that the greatest need at present is a sewer project. This would do away with the present unsatisfactory conditions and also would stop harbor pollution.

Saguenay Settlers Observe Centenary

Beside the old landau of the late Cardinal Taschereau (directly above), pose three little misses in their centennial celebration costumes. Dressed as a child of a century ago, the little lady at the upper right is hesitatingly ready for the historical pageants of the Chicoutimi centennial celebrations. From an out-of-door oven of 1838 (lower right), the children of 1938 exhibit bread that is yet an epicurean delight.

CHICOUTIMI, Quebec—Beginning in July and continuing at intervals throughout July and August, the residents of the Saguenay district, one of the most picturesque and popular areas of Quebec, will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the settlement of the district.

A country circled by mountains, bordered by the famous Saguenay River and embracing the great Lake St. John, district, containing such famous summer resorts as Murray Bay, Tadoussac and Ha Ha Bay, the Saguenay area is known intimately to thousands of Americans. Farming, lumbering and manufacturing are among its industrial assets; all the facilities of life summer resorts and fishing for speckled trout and oysters are among its pleasures.

The history which the pageantry of the many celebrations will portray is among the most colorful in Canada Under Louis XIV it was held as a reserve for the Kings of France and was known as the Realm of the Saguenay. Warfare with the Indians; extension of fur trading empires; adventures of voyageurs and missionaries are part of its early story and the tale of colonization which began a century ago is just as colorful.

Behind the white facade of almost every farmhouse there lies a story of romance and adventure which won the lands from the forest and transformed them into one of the most fertile and attractive sections of eastern Canada.

These phases of the district's history will be portrayed by the settlers themselves during the next two months in many celebrations in which by costume and action the development of the area through the century will be faithfully delineated.

Virginia and Gardiner of Marlboro, Mass., on their way home from a trip to Nova Scotia, and Clarence Foushee, chief boatswain on board the U. S. S. Philadelphia, which has been in Rockland for a few days.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Iceberg Lettuce is Ruined—Meat Prices To Drop—Berries Are Going

Maine's spell of wet and hot weather was "ruinous" to iceberg lettuce. "Much of this product was spoiled," marketing chief Charles M. White said.

The department said it had received reports from meat dealers that "pork prices are due for a fall very soon."

"This will be due to the fact there is so much cheap corn in the West that larger and fatter hogs are being raised—a situation which will reflect itself in the eastern markets," the department said.

The department reported the blueberry and raspberry season "is going by fast."

REMEMBERS "RED LION"

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Well do I remember when what is the "Red Lion" at Vinal Haven was a boarding house owned by the late Mr. and Mrs. Wintrop Roberts. Weekly dances were held in the barn during the summer. Du-shane Brothers furnished the music with violins. The walls were decorated with spruce boughs, and kerosene lamps hung along the walls. That was 1891 or '92; does anyone remember?

Sewall Smith used to call off the quadrilles and what a happy group of young and old used to gather there! Yours truly danced every number from March and Circle to the Good-Night Waltz.

KEIL-MUNSON

The Ingraham Hill summer colony was treated to an interesting social event Sunday forenoon in the form of a midseason wedding, the principals in which were Maximilian Keil and Miss Alice Hastings Munson, both of Brooklyn. The ceremony took place at 10 o'clock and the officiating clergyman was Rev. Ralph Read of Milburn. N. J. Rudolph Keil of Teaneck, N. Mr. Keil is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kiel of Brooklyn. He graduated from the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and has a position with the government as engineer. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Munson of Brooklyn. She graduated from Adelphi College, New York, and has been employed at the Pratt Institute Library School in New York.

Post Office Clerks Picnic In Mystic Maze At Cam- den Hills Park

Toward the close of that perfect day on Aug. 10, a caravan of Vx prairie-schooners loaded with 31 pioneers from the Rockland Post Office trailed out on a trek to the wonderlands in the C. C. Park at Camden. This get-together party of clerks and carriers with their wives and a few other friends had disappeared over the trail when the reporting hound of the outfit followed behind in his Twenty Mule Team. We had been cautioned to follow all of the "go right" signs until we reached the last "water hole" and after we had circled "go right" signs around hairpin curves until we felt like a dog chasing his tail, someone said, "Suppose we are going right?" "Why, of course we are going right. All of the left turns in this Alice land go right." But we must have overdone this "go right" business for when we reached the last "water hole" we found ourselves "way over here" when we should have been "way over there." But there was nothing to it but to unhitch our mule team and shoulder our pots and spoons.

We left the trail by rock slab steps down into gravelled paths that wound everywhere through an open forest. On and on we turned through a wonderful temple of trees under lofty arches of green. After a time, we saw an open glade where some wandering tribe had gathered about the rising smoke of its glowing fires. We bawled at them: "Hallo! Are you us or are we someone else? This tribe proved to be from the People's Laundry wigwam. They were tired of washing shirts and had come out to smoke them up. They hollered back. "No you are not us. Your postoffice tribe is way over there." So the spirits of the good fairies who ruled this region had guided our lost feet and we took up the trail again. When we arrived "way over there" we found ourselves perched on the brink of a rocky cliff where we looked through an open grove over the broad blue of Penobscot Bay.

TO VIEW A COLLEGE MODEL

The names of several Knox and Lincoln County residents appear on the membership of the Maine Million Committee of Colby College, composed of about 200 leading citizens and summer residents of Maine who have endorsed the undertaking of this college to raise funds for a new campus on Mayflower Hill, two miles distant from its present 120-year-old site in the heart of Waterville.

While still incomplete, the committee roster includes the following:

Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok, Camden; Mrs. A. J. Elliot, Thomaston; W. O. Fuller, Rockland; Mrs. Maude Clark Gay, Waldoboro; Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Gray, Pleasant Point; Frank H. Ingraham, Rockland; Job H. Montgomery, Camden; Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, North Haven; M. B. Perry, Rockland; Mrs. E. A. Robbins, Camden, and Charles F. T. Seaverns, Camden.

This committee is sponsoring a "pilgrimage to Mayflower Hill" Saturday by all who wish to inspect the progress being made by Colby in developing this functionallyplanned campus. Dr. James R. Angell, former president of Yale University, will be the principal speaker at exercises on the new campus beginning at 3.30. His topic will be "The College of Tomorrow."

Of special interest to the visitors will be the remarkable new model of the future college, showing all of the buildings and landscape features, complete to the smallest detail, at about 1-400th actual size. More than 3000 people from 18 states have viewed this model since it was opened to the public in June.

grew poetic as he watched the radiance of the full moon rise into a dapple of fleecy clouds and lay its path of gold across the blue tones of the calm bay. He wanted to smear his idea of it over canvases. And music floated its cadence into the glamour of the scene.

A full orchestra—that is full of Ned's melody—in the form of a bandomandolino enchanted by the fingers of Maestro Signor Edmond Di Sansonetti supplied the musical atmosphere that completed the harmony of the scene. He was sympathetically assisted by a chorus of helpers whose delightful effects were hardly marred by the occasional weird note of some human bull-frog.

This enjoyable gathering which had for its purpose also a get-together movement of post office workers like all gatherings of pleasant confab and serene enjoyment had to come to an end as we finally gathered up our cups and spoons and filed away through the paths of the forest to find our lost cars.

Those present: Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Karl, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Averill and niece Mrs. Beulah Babcock of Bangor; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur S. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Martin S. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Chatto, Mr. and Mrs. Earle J. Alden, Mr. and Mrs. David S. Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Ansel C. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer A. Maine Turkey Day

Growers Will Meet In Manchester Tomorrow—Governor To Be Present

Maine turkey growers will convene at the Jacques Ranch in Manchester tomorrow to discuss their problems and to witness demonstrations in the most modern methods of producing profitable flocks. It will be the first field day of the Maine Turkey Growers Association and president E. C. Jacques said that more than 500 invitations had been sent out.

Although the general public has been invited Jacques said that the event was primarily for those definitely interested in the turkey business. That there is a growing interest is proven by the fact that approximately 70,000 birds will be hatched this year as against a total of 45,000 last year.

The Jacques Ranch, the largest in the State, is considered an ideal location for the event. Not only will there be 4000 live birds on display, ranging from one day to three years old, but every type of the latest turkey producing equipment.

Various feed and equipment companies will have exhibits and the new types of wood burning brooders and all-electric batteries will be shown in operation. Prize birds from various sections will be on exhibition.

Speakers will include Gov. Barrows, Drs. J. F. Witten, animal pathologist of the University of Maine and Dr. D. R. Marble, teacher and research worker of the poultry department of the Pennsylvania State College.

FRIED PUMPKIN BLOSSOM

Seed Experts Tell Us It makes a Very Tasty Dish

That old garden favorite, the pumpkin, is providing epicures with a new vegetable delicacy. The fried pumpkin blossom, according to reports from the Ferry-Morse Seed Breeding Institute, makes a very tasty dish.

Great care in picking a mess of blossoms is advised, however, lest the gardener beat himself out of his pumpkin crop. Female blossoms, those with the little node on the stem which develops into the pumpkin proper, must not be disturbed. The other blossoms, the male, mature no fruit. In the normal course of events they just shrivel and die and may as well be plucked and fried.

To prepare blossoms for eating, the epicures dip them in a batter such as is used for frying egg plant or squash. They may be fried in rich fat in a skillet, or better, French fried in deep fat. Many pumpkin blossom fans insist on having them served with maple syrup.

King of the "Kingdom of the Saguenay"

Roberval, Lake St. John, Quebec—Indians called it "ouananiche" (wanna-nish) 400 years ago when they told Explorer Cartier about the fabulous wealth of the mysterious "Kingdom of the Saguenay". It is caught in the great lake and in the hundred swirling white rivers that feed it from all compass points.

Scientists say that ouananiche is a variety of land-locked salmon that is just content to "stay put" in the area even though its path to the sea 1,000 miles distant, via the Saguenay and St. Lawrence rivers, lies open before it.

But on one point all hands agree, that one of these speckled beauties with the great dorsal fin line is piscatorial dynamite once the hook hits home. Four foot leaps clear of the water, tail dancing, sudden dives, lunges and exhausting runs are all part of his repertoire.

Even "blase" Indian and French-Canadian trappers accustomed as they are to the wonders of the wilderness come to attention when this game fish is mentioned. These fellows each year have first crack at the fighter on their trips from trap lines to trading posts with their winter's haul of valuable pelts. And sportsmen who go for thrills and suspense follow along as soon as they can.

According to native experienced guides, no ouananiche ever quit fighting until he was dead. Ten pounders battle a half hour or more and during that period try the wrists and wiles of the strongest man and the canniest sportsmen.

Motor roads to the ouananiche region from Quebec city about 200 miles to the south (Routes 54 and 55) as marked on the accompanying map, are now free of drift snow. The ice has gone from the rivers ahead of schedule, due to an early Spring. Railroad snow plows that do yeoman duty six months of the year have been sidetracked for the season. Steamer service recently began from Montreal and Quebec to Chicoutimi on the Saguenay, a few miles from the lake.

Spring has at last come to the "Kingdom" and lucky indeed the sportsman who can follow the sun to its pleasures.

A Formidable Sum

Federal Old Age Insurance Protection In Maine Has Reached $4,325,300

Federal old-age insurance protection amounting to at least $4,325,300 has already been accumulated by Maine wage earners, it is announced by L. F. Kittredge, manager of the Social Security Board's Augusta field office.

This sum represents three and one-half percent of wages reported for Maine employees covered by Federal old-age insurance during the first 16 months of the program's operation. In no case, under these provisions of the Social Security Act, will the benefit payable be less than three and one-half percent of the employee's total wages, according to Mr. Kittredge.

Highlights of old-age insurance were summarized as follows in connection with the third anniversary of the Act, signed by President Roosevelt Aug. 14, 1935:

All payments are based on wages for work after 1936, by persons under age 65, in jobs covered by old-age insurance.

Monthly benefits will be payable to retired employees at or after age 65, beginning in 1942.

A lump-sum is payable now to employee reaching 65 and employee does not have to quit job in order to collect this type of payment.

Death payment provided for close relatives when employee dies before reaching 65.

A NORTHEAST SIGN

Or the Difference That a Comma Makes—Tall Sunflowers

Editor of The Black Cat:

Continuing the reference to queer signs, certain of the "old timers" at the Northeast might remember this one: "Pigs Killed Ean Morton." Moral: Watch your punctuation—even a comma may mean the difference between life and death!

The Black Cat mentions a sunflower which boasts nine feet plus in height. The owner of that posy will have to give it more nourishment if he wishes it to compete with mine, which is 12 feet high and looking up to see if there is more room left before it hits the sky.

Who, knows—someone may yet grow one equal to that placed last year at The Courier-Gazette entrance.

RIGHT OUT OF THE AIR

By EARLE FERRIS

So rushed is Dorothy Lamour, shown above, with picture work and being Charlie McCarthy's girl friend Sunday nights that she had to sign her singing teacher to an "exclusive" contract. Now she's able to take a lesson whenever she has a free moment!

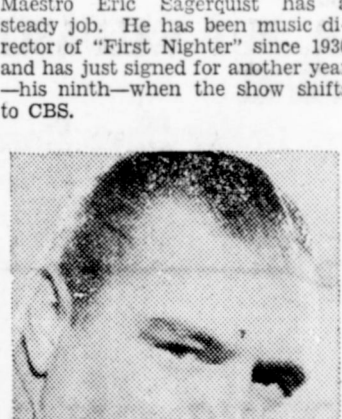

Stella Unger, "Hollywood News Girl," who is battling for the Voice of Experience this summer, in addition to being a songwriter, was once production manager for a New York radio station.

Latest of the Continental maestra to be brought to America is Julian Fuchs, above, the man who introduced the first American jazz band to Europe. In 1927, he met Paul Whiteman in Berlin and it is under the wing of "Pops" Whiteman that Fuchs has made his debut on the NBC network.

Andre Kostelanetz planned to make three broadcasts from South America when he went there but has been so busy that he was able to schedule only one program, from Buenos Aires.

Author of "One Man's Family," Carlton Morse, has written more than 2,400,000 words of script for the serial—enough to fill 30 full-length books!

Maestro Eric Sagerquist has a steady job. He has been music director of "First Nighter" since 1930 and has just signed for another year—his ninth—when the show shifts to CBS.

Brilliant example of a guest star who made so good that he was given a permanent spot on the show is Colonel Q. Stoopnagle, above. "Stoop" appeared as Guest Wizard on the "Town Hall Tonight" summer show early in the series. So enthusiastic was his reception that he was awarded a regular job. He's now heard with Harry von Zell Wednesday nights over the NBC-Red network.

Alice Hill, star of "Betty and Bob," has been accorded an unusual honor by the Columbia Yacht Club, Chicago. She's the first feminine member in the club's history.

Many of radio's loveliest actresses drop into the kitchen where "Aunt Jenny's Real-Life Stories" are broadcast over CBS Mondays through Fridays. One of the most frequent visitors is attractive Rosaline Greene, above.

Aunt Jenny says: "Why is it that a man who wouldn't get up at 7 to meet an emperor will leap up at 5 a. m. to go out fishin' with the boys?"

LIFE AND LOVES OF BEETHOVEN

Maine Premiere Of Great Feature Will Be Aug. 16-17 At Waldo Theatre

Harry Bauer, one of the world's greatest character actors, from a scene of "Life and Loves of Beethoven"—adv.

Following the successful showing of "Moonlight Sonata" Waldo Theatre is presenting a Maine premiere showing of another film that should be of deep interest to music lovers and those whose genuine appreciations direct them to the higher forms of art as interpreted by the cinema.

This production is The Life and Loves of Beethoven, heralded as one of the grandest and one of the most profoundly moving sound films ever produced. Harry Bauer, as Beethoven, the master, lives marvelously through the title role and has won unrestrained praise for his great characterization from every famous New York critic and newspaper when the picture ran week after week in New York's fine arts theatre.

The Life and Loves of Beethoven is a French film, but even the English titles interspersing the French dialogue are unnecessary, so lucidly and smoothly do the pictures tell the story.

The film is enriched and vitalized by a continuous stream of Beethoven's music superbly played by famed L'Orchestra de la Societe des Concerts du Conservatoire de Paris. Among the selections that form a beautiful background for this dramatization of the life of a man believed by many to have been the greatest living human being are several movements from the piano sonatas (including Moonlight Sonata) the symphonies (including the third, fifth, sixth and ninth) and numerous themes from his other works. Were one unable to see the marvelous performance by Mr. Bauer, the musical scoring alone should be sufficient.

In his own words Bauer declares: "Beethoven is a master whom I love fervently above all others. Both for Gance and for myself this film is the joy of our careers. Since the death of my son Jacques, I hadn't touched my piano. I returned to it again for 'Beethoven,' and never have I felt more keenly the rich solace which this incomparable music provides. If I have retained the habit of searching my conscience daily, I no longer pray ever day—not because I have lost faith, but because it is something too precious to be taken lightly. I keep this privilege, this power for great occasions, and so I made my prayer before starting work on 'Beethoven.' In order to accomplish something great, something above one's self, one must believe in something superior, something spiritual. In God, if one is fortunate enough—or in the prodigious power of music or poetry."

"If you've ever owned one of those Beethoven paintings showing the rugged, stooped, broad-backed Titan trudging through the fields or deep in musical thought over the keyboard, you'll see it come to life in this film. It's a monument to the popular conception of the great master, and as far as the common fancies surrounding the romantically entitled sonatas are concerned it's the sort of wistful thinking we're all guilty of."

The Life and Loves of Beethoven will show two days only Aug. 16-17.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "rain" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

LOST HER HEAD

But Drusilla Came Back With It, and Three Kittens

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— I have read some pretty good cat stories in your paper, not forgetting The Black Cat. Now I once had a cat which I bragged about until all my friends and neighbors turned their backs and shrugged their shoulders whenever I cut loose with the exploits of my pet feline. Such actions hurt my feelings, as I have always been a stickler for the truth, and I never question the veracity of others concerning cat stories.

One exploit of my cat, (yclept Drusilla), I have never had the courage to spring orally, fearing, reprisals, but I feel I have nothing to fear from the Fourth Estate, which handles tall stories of every description. Here goes, and be charitable.

At one time we resided in close proximity to the railroad, and Drusilla (the cat) in spite of repeated warnings, would venture on the right of way. The expected always happens, and one day Drusilla misjudged her dodging ability and took the count, in other words, lost her head, was decapitated.

Such an accident would have been a squelcher for most cats, but to Drusilla it was a mere incident. Here is what happened, as anyone can testify who saw it. Drusilla got up, shook herself and seeing her head lying between the rails, grabbed it in her mouth and beat it for regions beneath the barn.

I shed a tear for Drusilla, and reconciled myself to the loss. But lo! About three weeks later, I heard a noise outside the kitchen door. Casting wide the portal, I saw before my astonished eyes, Drusilla, her head back in place, accompanied by three kittens.

This can be vouched for by anyone who saw it.
