

When You Visit The Knox County Court House You Encounter A Group Of Officials Who Give Dependable And Courteous Service. Some Call Them The "Court House Ring," But They Ring True, And Your Interests Demand Them There Again

FOR STATE SENATOR

Two years in the lower branch of the Maine Legislature have thoroughly equipped Albert B. Elliot of Thomaston for service in the State Senate. He is prominent in the business affairs of his town and identified with numerous organizations.

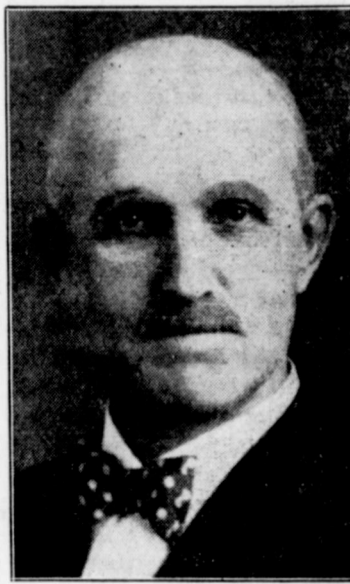

FOR REGISTER OF PROBATE

Taxpayers who have business at the Registry of Probate find there in Charles L. Vezie, a man who has rendered high class service for his home town of Rockport as well as Knox County. He has the confidence of every patron.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER

Having had his residence in Vinal Haven and Rockland and business connections in Camden, County Treasurer I. Lawton Bray is well known to the voters. They know how ably he has served in his present office.

FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS

Fortunate enough to be on both tickets Albert Winslow is "sitting pretty." Voters, regardless of party, recognize his efficiency in this office and his readiness to aid everybody who desires his assistance.

FOR SHERIFF

The two terms which C. Earle Ludwick has served as sheriff of Knox County have convinced the voters that a thoroughly dependable man is serving Knox County in the interests of law and order.

FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

Recognition of his ability as a prosecutor for the State the voters of Knox County have always rallied strongly to the polls in behalf of Jerome C. Burrows, candidate for county attorney.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

When the primary election was held Foy W. Brown received all but one of the Republican votes cast in his native town of North Haven. A fine endorsement of his first term in the office of County Commissioner.

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

How I miss the old county political conventions—far preferable to my mind than the present primary system, which puts the candidate to the expense of two elections, and is apt to bunch the nominees in the city or larger towns. I wonder that the voters in the small towns do not sense this.

I remember one county convention where a well known local orator was presenting the name of a candidate. Speaking of various merits which a candidate ought to possess, the orator said: "The man whose name I am presenting has all of these," and sat down.

"Who is your candidate?" shouted a voice from the rear of the hall.

And then, for the first time the convention learned.

A friend who says he reads The Black Cat column from top to bottom each issue, hands me some old newspapers, to which I shall refer from time to time. One is the New York Herald of April 15, 1865 containing an account of the assassination of President Lincoln. Brevity characterized the news happenings in those days and the Herald contented itself with publishing less than a column about the assassination of the President and a two-column cut. There was a single line heading over the article. Think what the Globe, Herald or Post would have done with that story!—A Courier-Gazette of Dec. 31, 1917 tells the story of the "destructive conflagration at The Brook which caused a loss of nearly $75,000 and which firemen fought in a temperature of 28 degrees below zero." Twenty-one years ago, and to me it seems but yesterday. I watched the fire from the office of the late Judge Frank B. Miller. In the room at the same time was Rodney I. Thompson who witnessed the destruction of his own office in that memorable fire.

Another old paper was the Utica Saturday Globe of Sept. 14, 1901, describing the assassination of President McKinley, by Leon F. Czolgosz, a Cleveland anarchist.

"What's your hurry, Charles?" asked Nathan F. Cobb one day as he and a friend were walking on one of the city streets. Turning to see what occasioned the remark, the friend saw his companion pick up a diamond ring, valued later by a local jeweler at $80.

E. A. Glidden, the well known Wadoboro monument dealer, tells The Black Cat about the joke which somebody once played on a saloon keeper. Over the door was the dealer's name "A. Lane." When he came down to work one morning somebody had painted an addition, to the sign so that it read "A Lane to Ruin."

When one discusses the subject of sunflowers he should not fail to take into account Fred Walsh's sunflower "grove" on South Main street. There are 150 of the plants, set out in rows, and range in height from 9 to 12 feet. The stalks are unusually large and Mr. Walsh has trimmed them to a height of about three feet so that one can walk between the rows.

The sailors who came ashore from the U. S. S. Savannah were a lively crowd, and suggestive in a smaller way, of the bluejackets who thronged Rockland streets years ago when the North Atlantic Coast squadron was having its summer rendezvous in Rockland Harbor. I wonder how many now living took part in that outing on Mt. Battie. One thing I did notice Saturday was that many sailors brought cameras ashore.

One year ago St. George won the championship of both halves of the Twilight League—The Megunticook Lake Anglers Club voted to incorporate, and L. E. Wardwell was elected president—Herbert Carlson, 33 of Vinal Haven, was killed in an automobile accident between Somerville and Southwest Harbor.

John Davidson, first baseman of the championship St. George team, and one of the most popular members of the Knox Twilight League, has been engaged to teach History and Government in the West Boylston High School near Worcester, Mass.

HARRY L. JOHNSTON

The sudden death of Harry L. Johnston in Bangor on Aug. 30 was a shock to his many friends in this community.

Born in Washington in 1869, the son of Isaac W. and Ella Fossett Johnston, he settled in Rockland at an early age, and although in recent years he had spent much of his time in the Bangor section, as a representative of Hammond & Co. of Portland, he still kept his home in this city.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Mary Cavanaugh, to whom he was married in 1895; one daughter born of this union, Mrs. Emilio Hary of Rockland; and a sister, Miss Emma Johnston of Hartford, Conn.

Funeral services were held at the home, 93 Park street, Friday afternoon, Rev. Corwin Olds officiating. Interment was in Mountain View Cemetery, Camden.

The Morton Reunion

Descendants of Friendship Family Have Gathering At the Sweet Shop

Aug. 27, the descendants of James and Hannah Morton of Friendship motored to the Sweet Shop, South Hope, for their annual reunion. Supper was served on one long table for the group. Two birthday cakes, one for each end of the table were presented by Mrs. Georgia Richardson in celebration of the birthday of the reunion.

Mrs. Richardson spoke briefly, telling one of her grandmother's stories. Mrs. Myra Root spoke of a visit to the Plymouth cemetery of visiting the grave of Gov. Bradford and finding the graves of several by the names of Morton.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, Taunton, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Richardson, Jr., of Bridgeport, Conn.; Mrs. Jennie Hall of Friendship and Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Raymond V. Root, Betty, Jean and Douglas Kendall, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith and daughter Eleanor, East Braintree, Mass.; Mrs. Edna Turner, Wadoboro; Mrs. Annie Dorman, Thomaston; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morton, Mrs. Lew Wallace, Miss Irene Morton, Maurice Hall, Mrs. Lena Davis and Miss Nellie Davis, Friendship.

APPOINTED VICE CONSUL

John B. Mattson, Native of Rockport, To Serve the New England District

Attorney John B. Mattson of Winthrop has been appointed vice-consul of Finland to serve the New England district.

Born at Rockport Mattson moved to Ashby, Mass., and attended Pithsburg High School. He graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1921 with a bachelor of science degree and four years later won his law degree at North eastern University.

Mattson now is associated with the law firm of Peters, Clark & Keating. The vice-consulate will be located in Boston.

Walter J. Fernald

Elected Marshal In 1902—In Almost Continuous Service With the Department Since

Deputy Marshall Walter J. Fernald, a member of the Rockland Police Department since 1902, with the exception of his three years' service as a Sturgis deputy and a single term, died at his home on Admontem avenue Saturday night. His health had failed rapidly during the past year, but he remained bravely at the night desk in the police station until his condition became such that he was obliged to take to his bed a week before death came.

The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fernald, and was born March 30, 1868. He received a business education, and for ten years was associated with his father in the boot and shoe business. When the firm went out of existence, W. J. Fernald became proprietor of a bowling alley, and was thus engaged when the writer of this obituary advanced him as a new candidate for the office of city marshal. The idea proved instantly popular and after a brief but effective campaign he was elected from a field of several candidates. This was in 1902. He served four consecutive years, and because of his excellent service was named as one of the Sturgis deputies for the enforcement of the prohibitory law, being stationed in Old Town. The Sturgis movement became very unpopular and was finally removed from the statute books. Mr. Fernald rejoined the police force and in 1915 was again made city marshal. A change of administration led to the selection of another marshal, but in 1920 he became deputy marshal and continued to hold that office to the time of his death, with the exception of the one term above noted. He had the complete endorsement of both political parties, and while his physical activities were greatly handicapped by his ill health his work as desk man was of much value to the force, and every incoming city marshal found in him a most capable advisor. Around the City Building "Walter" is going to be sadly missed.

Mr. Fernald is survived by his wife, formerly Clara M. Fiske; one daughter, Mrs. Hector G. Staples; and a brother, George W. Fernald who is proprietor of a summer hotel in Hampton, N. H.

Charles M. Harrington

Death of Former Mayor, Who Was 41 Years In the Express Business

Ex-Mayor Charles M. Harrington, who at the time of his retirement as agent of the American Express Company, was the oldest New England official in the employ of that corporation, died Saturday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. H. Britt, Talbot avenue, aged 81 years. Funeral services will be held at the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In the winter of 1879, Mr. Harrington was working in Job Ingraham's market. His employer was keen to recognize ability in young men, and quick to encourage it. Learning that there was to be a vacancy in the clerkship of the Eastern Express Co., he recommended Mr. Harrington. And it came to pass that the young man doffed his market apron, and March 1, 1879 entered upon his long service in the express company. Bernard I. Weeks was agent and Andrew Hawthorn was driver.

It was "light express" then—no heavy stuff; principally merchandise. Col. S. H. Osgood was superintendent of the New England division, with headquarters in Portland.

The Eastern sold to the American Express Co. Jan. 1, 1880, and four years later the office was removed to Singhi block where the Leighton jewelry store is now located.

Mr. Harrington became the company's agent, April 1, 1881, at which time F. W. Carr succeeded Col. Osgood as superintendent of the division and Mr. Weeks was made route agent. Messrs. Carr and Weeks had their headquarters in Bangor. Mr. Carr was subsequently succeeded by D. Webster.

The shipment of lobsters destined to revolutionize the express business in Rockland had its beginning in 1892 when the crustaceans were shipped from Johnson & Young's pound in Vinal Haven to Boston. It was a humble beginning—1000 packages, that entire year and a marked contrast to what the books were destined to show, that number of packages in a week, going all over the United States and into Mexico. The express company in the early days also handled the mails, which were carried by the steamboats to eastern points. Atlantic wharf was the landing place for the Machiasport route, while the steamship Richmond, which made trips up river, landed at the old Commercial wharf—a long pier which ran south ward from Tillson wharf and had a building on the end of it.

The American Express Co. moved to its location in Spear block 33 years ago.

The evolution of the express business in Rockland was interesting. The Eastern Express Co. was taken over by the American Express Co., which in turn absorbed the International Express Co., the Boston & Bangor Express Co., and the New England Despatch. During the World War four of the country's largest corporations consolidated under the name of the American Railway Express.

How busy a man Mr. Harrington has been is best known to his office, and to those who have been close to him. Before the parcel post came into competition with the express companies Mr. Harrington and his men used to work from 16 to 18 hours a day during Christmas week, and long hours on many other days. Eight hours, later became the limit of the expressman's work. Mr. Harrington's close application to work, was well known. He was never away from it, except on his annual vacations, and during occasional periods, of sickness. What his employees thought of him was eloquently shown at the banquet which they tendered him at Hotel Rockland on the 40th anniversary of his connection with the company.

Mr. Harrington served as mayor of Rockland in 1915 following an election which was so close that an inspection of the ballots was necessary to determine the winner. Always a close observer of municipal affairs he put into practice some reforms which he had long desired to see, and the result was a business administration to the liking of those who wanted good government but viewed adversely by some whose toes had been trod upon.

"Charlie" Harrington in his daily life made friends everywhere. Genial, alert and aggressive, he was a prominent Rockland figure in his day.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. H. H. Randall of Portland, and Mrs. R. H. Britt of Rockland, and one son Francis E. Havener of Hartford, Conn.

Many Rockland readers will be interested to know that on board the U.S.S. Savannah is a former Rockland boy, Neal Chapin; son of the late, Rev. E. H. Chapin, who was pastor of the Church of Immanuel Universalist. Mr. Chapin now ranks as a lieutenant commander, and aboard the new crack cruiser is gunnery officer and head of ordnance and fire control.

NEW CIGARET SLOGAN

"Let Up. Light a Camel!"—Tends To Offset Nervous Strain

These statements are substantiated by testimonials of well-known people, who lead active, healthy lives and who have found the advantages in following the slogan, "Let up. Light a Camel!" at frequent intervals.

The new advertisements acquaint the public with interesting facts regarding the tobacco industry. "Did you know," one advertisement asks, "that over a billion pounds of leaf tobacco will move to market this season? That there are 26 different types of American-grown tobacco, by U. S. Government standards, and of course, great variations in quality and grades? That from the time the tobacco seedlings are first planted, Camel buyers study soil conditions, weather and local curing methods? They know where the choice grades are—the high-quality grades, delicately mild in flavor and fragrance. Camel experts buy accordingly. Over the years, it has come to be a recognized fact in the tobacco trade that Camels are a matchless blend of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic."

Each advertisement includes the challenge "Smoke six packs of Camels and find out why they are the Largest-Selling Cigarette in America."

"Let up. Light a Camel!" to offset the nervous strain caused by the fast pace of modern living, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company advises in a new advertising campaign.

The newspaper and magazine copy contrasts the health nerves of a dog with the often upset nerves of man. A headline "Don't Let Tension Get Your Nerves!" is followed in the first of a new series of advertisements by the illustration of a Collie and accompanied by the text!

MAINE WILL FIGURE

Will Have a Fine Showing At the Eastern States' Exposition

Maine is preparing to go to the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., with one of its best shows this year. Commissioner Washburn, who acts as secretary for the Maine Building, said that practically all exhibit space had been taken and that the show would be an entirely new one.

Both ends and sides of the building will be devoted to State exhibits prepared by the Departments of Agriculture, Sea and Shore Fisheries and Inland Fish and Game. Center booths will be taken by commercial firms.

The Maine building dedicated in 1924 has long been considered a feature attraction of the avenue of States. Last year approximately 300,000 persons viewed the exhibits. Commissioner Washburn said that some of the new attractions planned for this year would be outstanding. The Exposition will be held Sept. 17-24.

What You Don't Know CAN Hurt You

REALIZING that laws are far too complicated for the average person to understand, the editors of Good Housekeeping Magazine have prepared a list of little-known ways that the average person may get into trouble with his finances and contracts.

Don't Lend Your Car

Would you be surprised to find yourself held financially responsible for damages done by your car when you were a hundred miles away the day the accident happened? According to the magazine, many states have laws declaring that the owner of an automobile is responsible for any damage it may do if it is being operated with the consent of the owner, even though that owner may be far away.

Things You Didn't Order

Very likely you are bothered occasionally by receiving unordered handkerchiefs, flower bulbs, hosiery, and such through the mail. So long as you don't use them, you owe the senders nothing, not even the bother of returning them at their expense.

Installment Buying

Probably no one thing has caused as much bitter feeling as the installment contract. Do you realize that, even though an article so purchased is taken back for nonpayment, you remain responsible for the full amount? That is down in the contract; and, though you may not have noticed it, there it nestles, and there it remains. It's in there as a matter of agreement, and there is nothing you can do about it, since you agreed to it.

Finally, Good Housekeeping sets forth seven good points to remember if you want to keep out of trouble.

1. A hospital can't hold your baby if you are unable to pay the hospital bill incurred in connection with its birth.
2. You may use a fictitious name and address whenever you wish, provided you don't try to impersonate someone else or attempt to perpetrate a fraud.
3. Be sure to be in the mental and physical "pink" the day you make your will. Witnesses have memories.
4. Funeral expenses come first in the settling of an estate.
5. That play you are writing—it isn't necessary to see a lawyer about getting a copyright on it. Full instructions can be obtained by addressing the Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.
6. If you endorse a note, you are responsible, even if the signer becomes a bankrupt.
7. When you buy a car, or anything else, don't assume that the seller has title to the article. Make certain of it.

EAST LIBERTY

Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert of Pittsfield, Mass., were callers at the home of her sister Mrs. Kervin Rogers, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Fleetwood Pride were weekend guests at George McLain's. On their return home to Abbot they were accompanied by their two sons, Fleetwood and Waldon who have been at the McLain home for a two week's visit. Recent callers at George McLain's are Chester Howes of Tryon, N. C., Herbert Howes and Mr. Lee of Rehoboth, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Martin and daughter, Martha of Beverly, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Fickett of Rockland and Karl Ambs and family of China. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reynolds and family of Beverly, Mass., are spending a two week's vacation in the Hall and Reynolds camp on Stevens pond. The South Montville Sunday school held their annual picnic at Belfast City Park on Wednesday.

Mrs. F. J. Hooper is visiting with relatives at Ward Hill, Mass. Mrs. Hubbard of Lebanon, N. H. is a two weeks guest of her cousins, Hattie Adams and Etta Gilman.

Howes Reunion

The annual reunion of the descendants of Robert E. and Martha Sukeforth Howes was held on Saturday, Aug. 27 at the home of R. E. Howes in Searsmont. Sixty-eight were present when they sat down to a picnic lunch on the lawn. Seven of the children were present as follows: Chester M. Howes of Tryon, N. C., Herbert G. Howes, Rehoboth, Mass., Robert E. Howes, Searsmont, Dr. Leroy M. Howes, Enfield, Maine and Florida, Mattie R. Overlock, Rehoboth, Mass., Forrest E. Howes, Milton, Mass., and Addie M. Storer of Washington. Silas B. Howes of Everett, Mass., was unable to be present on account of ill-health.

During the afternoon sports were enjoyed under the directions of Murial Choate and all present did justice to the bunch of bananas which is donated by Herbert G. Howes each year. In spite of their efforts to clean them up some were still hanging to the bunch when the party departed for their homes. Clarence M. Howes was re-elected president. The next reunion will be held at the same place on the last Saturday in August 1939.

GEORGES RIVER ROAD

A social gathering will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Mrs. Anderson will serve refreshments. All are welcome.

Blueberry Growers 5, St. George 3
Blueberry Growers 10, Pirates 5

The Maine Blueberry Growers' Associates took two of the leading Twilight League teams into camp over the weekend. The Berry Growers' Association took St. George Saturday afternoon 5 to 3 at St. George and came back to beat Rockland Pirates 10 to 8 in a ten inning thriller at Rockland Sunday.

Saturday the Berry Growers bunched nine hits in the first five innings for five runs and played a brilliant defensive game to hold St. George scoreless after the third inning. The game was featured by Woodcock's pitching and Monaghan's classy fielding.

Sunday was marked by hard hitting as the Berry Growers made nine hits for 25 bases, to come from behind to tie in the ninth and win in the tenth.

Warren 5, Camden 5

The Warren Tigers won their second game in the Knox Twilight League Sunday afternoon, defeating the Camden Shells 9 to 5. White was wilder than the proverbial hawk, giving nine bases on balls, but when he was good he was so good that Camden could make no headway with him. Warren collected 15 hits off three Camden pitchers, catcher Newbert leading the barrage with three doubles and a single.

Waldoboro 6, Wiscasset 3

Vic Burnheimer's Waldoboro club took over the tough Wiscasset A. C. in Waldoboro Sunday. Ted Rice outpitched the southpaw artist Jim Hilton. Ted was never in trouble until the last inning when Wiscasset bunched three hits, and were aided by an error to score two runs.

Waldoboro made good use of the sacrifice hit, and squeeze play. Many of the runs marked up were due to the ability to lay them down and heads-up base running, although they banged Hilton for ten solid bingles.

MacDougal and Coombs hit well for Waldoboro. Rowe and Sherman did the heavy hitting for Wiscasset. Hall had 16 chances without an error. Crowell and Burnheimer looked good defensively for Waldoboro.

An unusual feature of the game was the fact that both outfielders were credited with one putout each. Also that Hilton, Wiscasset hurler, had eight assists.

Camden 12, Brunswick 7

Brunswick 10, Camden 5

The Brunswick town team didn't look like a bona fide contender in the first game at Camden yesterday, and the Shells toyed their way to an easy win. The home team scored seven runs in the first inning. Brunswick turned the tables in the second game, making seven runs in the fourth inning.

Labor Day in this city was a very quiet affair for everybody except the firemen who responded to three alarms. One was for a blaze in the residence of Mrs. Jennie Wilson, Weeks street, caused by defective stovepipe between the kitchen and the main body of the house. The damage was not more than $50. At the residence of Neil S. Perry on Summer street, arrangements were being made to tar the roof of the garage. The kids built too strenuous a fire, and the pot boiled over, to create an alarming degree of black smoke. No damage. On Thomaston street a chimney fire added variety at the home of John Burgess.

Witham's Lobster Pound will be open until further notice.—adv.

Application For Student Aid

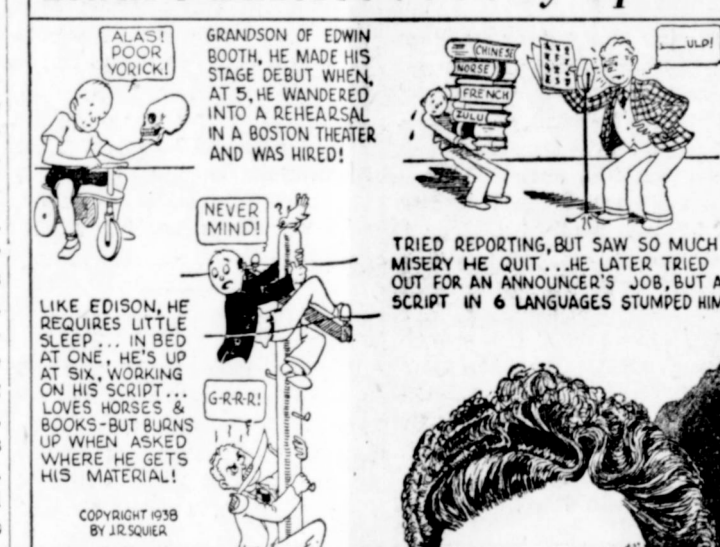

High School has applied to the National Youth Administration for funds to be made available for student aid. The money can be earned through part time work on projects within the school.

Students to qualify for this aid must be 16 years of age and also need the assistance for clothes, transportation or some expense incidental to attendance at school.

All boys or girls who are eligible and wish to participate in the program should secure an application blank from Mr. Spear at the High School building as soon as possible. If it is inconvenient to go to the building an application blank may be secured by making a request by letter or telephone.

Principal Earl Spear has called for a meeting of the High School teachers Saturday at 2. Mr. Spear will be in his office at the High School building from 2 to 5 o'clock Thursday and Friday to meet pupils and parents and to discuss school problems for the coming year.

THE AVERAGE MOVIE-GOER SPEAKS HIS MIND...

IT'S HARD for a fellow like me who thinks apple pie is one of nature's greatest gifts to man to believe that there are folks who honestly don't like it at all.

On the other hand, I can't abide liver and bacon — though I know it's highly regarded by many.

We all have our likes and our dislikes. We're all different — thanks be! A dull world it would be if we weren't.

That's why I say that the most remarkable thing about motion pictures is that they hit such a high average of pleasure-giving.

Take any individual picture and you'll find that most people who see it will get a lot of enjoyment out of it.

Not all, naturally. For example, I think a certain star is tops — while, to hear the way my next-door neighbor goes on about her, you'd think she wasn't good enough to be an "extra".

Or my wife sees a picture during the afternoon and raves about it at dinner. Maybe son and I take it in that evening — and come home feeling that Mother is losing her judgment. And there you are. It's the apple pie situation all over again.

But, taking them all together, I figure that the "movies" give more pleasure to more people at a lot less cost than most anything the mind of man was ever responsible for — and have done the human race more downright good than all the medicines concocted since creation.

And I'll say this: The times when I've been disappointed in a picture have been a lot fewer than the other times when I've gone to see one I wasn't especially excited about in advance and been mighty glad I did.

Sure, I criticize the pictures. I pay my money and that's my right. As a matter of fact, I kind of figure that it's the criticism of average folks like me that's largely responsible for the pictures getting better and better all the time.

Through the years the motion picture has given its public countless hours of entertainment, countless hours of escape from harsh reality. It has taken millions away from trouble and sorrow, lightening their burdens and brightening their lives ... making the world a better, happier place to live in.

It has grown — from "cowboys and Indians" to dramatizations of the works of the world's greatest authors ... from temperamental flickers to technical perfection ... from infancy to an intelligent maturity.

Jimmie Frew, who is singing daily at 2:15 over Station WHDH, is a nephew of Mrs. James Carney of this town. During a former radio engagement he made many friends who will be glad to hear him again.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Smith of North Attleboro, Mass., were weekend guests of his brother William T. Smith and Mrs. Smith at their cottage at Crescent Beach.

Miss Katherine Creighton came home from Brunswick for the weekend and Labor Day, returning this morning.

Miss Marion Starrett and Richard Starrett spent Monday in Bangor.

The Friendly Club will have picnic supper Wednesday at Mrs. Miles Watts' home on Main street. Please take dishes and if not asked for something special take sandwiches or cake. The supper hour is 6:15.

Mrs. Grace Baker of Farmington Falls has gone to South Hope to visit her son, Hartley M. Watts, for a few days, and will return here for another visit with her niece, Mrs. Luther Clark.

Walter Bowe came from Belmont, Mass., and spent the weekend and holiday here with Mrs. Bowe.

Fred Hewett of New Britain, Conn., with his son James and Mrs. Hewett came Saturday for the weekend with his sister, Mrs. John Creighton, and brother John and Mrs. Hewett. Mr. and Mrs. James Hewett returned Monday, but he is remaining, staying at the Knox Hotel and looking up friends.

Mrs. Margaret Wickens and daughter Barbara of Lawrence, Mass., with a party of friends called yesterday on Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Biggers, enroute home from Prince Edward Island.

Howard Swift of New York will be the speaker at the Garden Club meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 at Mrs. H. Nelson Keene's home. His subject will be "Annals" in which he has specialized the past year at the New York Botanical Gardens since returning from his exchange studentship at Kew Gardens in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Cunningham returned Sunday from a visit with her brother Charles King and Mrs. King at Camden.

Mrs. Leslie G. Poland of Chelsea, Mass., was here for the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Clifford A. Clark, and returned yesterday.

Katherine Brown of Camden and Charles Simpson have completed the Red Cross senior course in life saving and water safety under the direction of the instructor, Miss Jane Miller, and have passed the tests.

Howard Swift arrived Sunday from New York for a two weeks' vacation at his home on the East Warren road. With his father he goes Friday to Princeton where his brother Ralph lives, and from there they go on a camping trip.

Mrs. A. H. Pillsbury returned to Portland last week after a short

At Maiden's Cliff

The above picture was made of a happy picnic party at the base of the original Maiden's Cliff Cross on Mt. Megunticook. This memorial was destroyed by the tornado which moved houses from their foundation at Searsport. A collection was taken in Camden for a cross to replace the one destroyed, and it was carried to the summit with much difficulty by John E. Leach, one of Camden's best known mountain climbers. Shown in the above group are Miss Lois Ross, Mrs. Mabel Bowley, Mr. and Mrs. R. Francis Saville, and Carl Ross. The picture was taken in 1919.

Reports from Ocean Park

Sunday evening in the Baptist vestry delegates from this Church to the Ocean Park School of Methods presented an account of their two weeks' course this summer. Miss Gwendolyn Barlow was not able to be present. Miss Marie Clark as leader introduced the speakers and announced their subjects, and also told of the usual events of a day. Miss Kathleen Anderson spoke on the several courses of study, and Miss Esther Achorn on the evening worship hours.

Howard Miller presented a sketch plan of the grounds on the blackboard and pointed out the places of special interest to them, and Maynard Linscott, Jr., told of the recreation hours and activities. Upon request, the candle-lighting service as conducted by the girls was described by Miss Clark, and the like ceremony of the boys by Mr. Linscott.

The group sang the school's favorite hymn, Whittier's "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind," and another "I Would be True," the congregation joining with them.

Responding to questions asked, they added further details of their daily work. They brought back reports that showed the value of the course; and Miss Clark expressed their thanks to all who had made it possible for them to go.

Mrs. Kilborn accompanied the songs at the piano, and the service

IMPORTANT TO VOTERS

DO YOU REALIZE

THAT—beer parlors and liquor stores exist in any Maine town only by the express permission of the voters of that town?

THAT—this permission must be renewed or denied every two years?

THAT—you can stop the sale of hard liquor or beer in your town by voting NO in the September election?

THAT—only if the majority of the votes are NO can you protect your town from the nuisance and danger of liquor sales?

The Law Gives You This Opportunity

Read these provisions of the law of 1935 and take advantage of them.

Be careful not to spoil your ballot; simply place an X in the No square. At the September 12th election you will be given a ballot with the following three questions upon it:

- (1)—Shall State stores for the sale of liquor be operated by permission of the State Liquor Commission in this city or town?
- (2)—Shall licenses be granted in this city or town under regulation of the State Liquor Commission for the sale therein of wine and spirits to be consumed on the premises?
- (3)—Shall licenses be granted in this city or town for the sale therein of malt liquors?

The Local Option Law

"If a majority of the votes cast in a city or town in answer to question (1) are in the affirmative, the commission may operate therein a State store for the sale of liquor subject to all provisions of the law.

If a majority of the votes cast in a city or town in answer to question (2) are in the affirmative, the commission may issue licenses for the sale therein of wine and spirits for consumption on the premises, subject to all provisions of law.

If a majority of the votes cast in a city or town in answer to question (3) are in the affirmative, the commission may issue licenses for the sale of malt liquor therein, subject to all provisions of law.

If a majority of the votes cast on question (1) are in the negative, the operation of State stores in that city or town for a period of two calendar years next following shall be unlawful.

If a majority of the votes cast on question (2) are in the negative, licenses shall not be issued for the sale of wine and spirits for consumption on the premises, in that city or town, for the two calendar years next following.

If a majority of the votes cast on question (3) are in the negative, licenses for the sale of malt liquor in that city or town shall not be issued, for the two calendar years next following." App. April 6, 1935.

Miss Bertha Van Dyke and Francis Jackson of Whitinsville, Mass., have returned home after spending the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Jackson of Camden street.

Mrs. Claude U. Bishop and daughter Theresa have returned from a visit with relatives in Somerville, Mass.

The Thursday Club was entertained by Mrs. Arthur P. Haines at Holiday Beach.

The family of Joseph E. Blaisdell has returned from Sidney where the summer was spent. His house has been occupied meantime by Mrs. Harriet Levensaler and son Atwood.

Charlie, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Perry, entertained several young friends at Crawford's Lake, Friday afternoon, to celebrate his eighth birthday. Fun in the water, swimming, diving and boating, occupied the greater part of the time, until the dinner bell announced "eat." A mad scramble, and the children were soon seated at the picnic table under the trees. Maurice Perry, the best natured "major-domo" ever seen, served hot dogs, pop, ice cream and two decorated cakes, the latter a gift from Mrs. Earl Perry. Bottles popped, and the question, "mustard or piccalilli" kept the crowd in a gale of laughter. As the youngsters scattered, seeking different diversions, cries of "Cracker Jack," "suckers," "tootsie-rolls" or "gum" as the case might be, brought them back from all directions and kept them racing up the hill all afternoon. Dick Marsh, who drove one of the cars, had a nap in the hammock, and awoke to find himself bound securely with a rope. Charlie was the recipient of many nice gifts. Those present were Earlene Perry, June Stiles, Hennella Stiles, Diane Cameron, Janey and Toby Perry, Marilyn Spear, Carolyn Howard, Anna Bullard, Lulu Nystrom, Carol Ann Walcott, Clifford Cameron, Richard Freeman, Walter Spear Jr., Sidney Kaler, Tony Perry, Roland Hayes and Donald Marsh. Betty Staples and Richard Senter were unable to attend.

REPUBLICANS WHO WOULD SERVE KNOX IN STATE LEGISLATURE

One of the best known candidates on the Republican ticket is Cleveland Sleeper, Jr., who, if re-elected for a third term, may seek the speakership. In Legislature he has been independent and aggressive, always looking after his constituents.

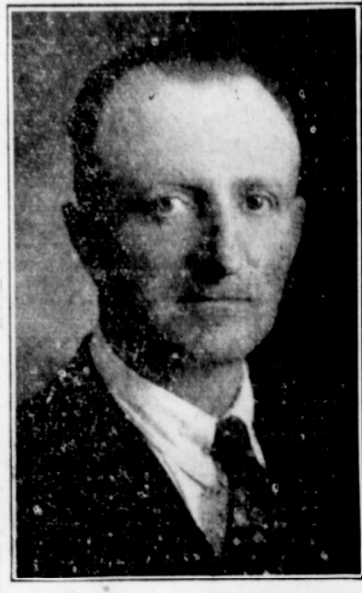

Alan L. Bird of Rockland has served one term in the Legislature and his re-election is asked by voters who know of the fine record there, working for all constituents regardless of race, color, creed or party.

Voters in the North Haven representative district have found an able champion in Lloyd F. Crockett, and plan to send him back for his second term. Insurance business and farming keep him busy when Legislature isn't sitting.

Charles F. Dwinall of Camden was among the popular and active members of the last Legislature and if re-elected is assured of advanced committee positions. A former school teacher he is now a successful lawyer.

A newcomer in the Representative race is one of Warren's fine, upstanding farmers, Elbert L. Starr. He has served as selectman tax collector and road commissioner always giving efficient service. He is a Granger and Past Patron of the Eastern Star.

William T. Smith who seeks to represent the Thomaston district in the next Legislature, is a heating and plumbing contractor, who has long been a resident of Rockland and Thomaston, and served the latter town as chairman of the board of selectmen. A pleasant smile and kind word for everybody.

REALM OF MUSIC

by Gladys St. Clair Heistad

Twenty-three members of the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus were badly hurt on Aug. 20 when a bus in which 40 singers of the organization were traveling crashed into a tree. Fifteen were injured severely. Many music lovers in this section have heard the Don Cossacks who have sung in this country every season for many years. The group made its concert debut in Vienna in 1923.

A pleasant greeting from Mrs. Harry A. Buffum from Paris. The card bore a picture of the Paris Conservatory and Mrs. Buffum asked me to find us in the group singing toward the doors—alas and alack, I could not find me at least!

Heljo Sepp, 15-year-old Estonian pianist, won the award of the British Council scholarship at the examination for that distinction held recently in London. Her performance of a Liszt rhapsody was considered extraordinary by the judges—all the more so since she is not the product of a conservatory but had only one lesson a week, for which she had to travel for two hours by train from her native town. Dr. George Dyson who conducted the examination, played numerous progressions which she reproduced accurately on another piano. After she had improvised on a theme submitted by Dr. Dyson, the judges were convinced that she must be the winner.

To celebrate the return to Caracas of the ashes of the internationally renowned pianist, Teresa Carreno (who died in New York in 1927), the Government of Venezuela has placed in circulation a postage stamp bearing the portrait of this artist.

The house at Grampa, near Pirna, Saxony, in which Wagner wrote the greater part of "Lohengrin" was destroyed by fire early in June.

A symphonic choir under the direction of Cantor Myro Glass has been organized in Palestine, where it will make a specialty of creating and performing compositions based on Biblical themes.

According to announcements another Scandinavian singer is rising on the horizon—Irma Björck, who has won a great personal triumph in the Stockholm Royal Opera season which closed in May. Her brilliant impersonation of Octavian in "Der Rosenkavalier" brought forth loud acclaim from the critics, and it seems that this young soprano has done the role of Brunnhilde in all three parts of the "Ring" and Kundry in "Parsifal," which indicates that her talent is wide and varied. Another Flagstad—who knows?

The September issue of The Etude carries a very interesting article by Geraldine Farrar. Entitled "How Can We Best Serve Our Students" Miss Farrar gives some sound and valuable advice based on her own experiences and observations. She bases her talk on the statement that the development of any artist depends upon three factors: first, what the artist himself brings to his task; second, what his training releases from within him; third, what the outside world contributes towards allowing him to express himself. Artistic progress, she says, must thus be built jointly by the performer, the teacher, the public. Miss Farrar in the article gives a delightful picture of her most famous teacher, Mme. Lilli Lehmann, whom she found to be not only understanding singing but her own individual needs. Speaking of her, Miss Farrar says:

"I was not yet twenty when I came to Mme. Lehmann, and I was already singing in the opera in Berlin. Regardless of my profession schedule, I had a lesson every morning at 9 which continued until a quarter before twelve. And what work we accomplished! Lehmann's greatest influence lay in her magnificent approach to art values. As a teacher in the strictest sense of the word, she inclined towards severity. She was a rigorous taskmaster. I well remember some of the arguments we had! Battles royal, to preserve my obstinate but individual approach.

"Mme. Lehmann conceived her roles with immense mental forcefulness. She would think out the most perfect way to play a part, and would then adhere to that conception. She once told me that in 46 performances of Isolde, she had never varied as much as a single gesture. I respected her point of view, based as it was upon her pre-conceived idea of perfection, but I was not in sympathy with such a method for myself. I had to sing each performance as I felt it. Once on the stage I forgot everything but the magnificent pleasure of making that other person come to life; and I thoroughly enjoyed myself at each performance. At first, Frau Lilli objected to this; but later she came to realize that I had to work things out in my own way, just as she had to work them out in hers. Neither of us possessed absolute youth, yet both of us held to truth for ourselves, in honest endeavor.

"In that, Frau Lilli was a great teacher. If a pupil's purpose was serious, she was willing to understand her limitations. She realized that the very person who possessed certain handicaps might prove to be the most painstaking student. Thus I learned that fine teaching lies not in imposing one set system upon all students, but in bringing forth from each the peculiarly individual gifts latent within."

It is an article very worth while reading—much food for thought for the vocal teacher and student.

Did you know that George Bernard Shaw, now 82 years young and still going strong, is a musician? At the age of 15 he had a fine keyboard acquaintance with all the great masters of music; and during his entire illustrious literary career he has never lost his intimate contact with the musical art. For many years he was a music teacher in London. In his struggles to establish himself as a writer in the English metropolis, he lived for years in great poverty. For nine years he was an assistant to a music critic, now long forgotten, while Shaw's criticisms are treasured as classics. He has become one of the richest literary men of the day, but still lives in great simplicity.

I FOUND LOVELINESS TODAY
I found loveliness today
Down along life's broad highway;
Saw its beauty in the trees,
Heard its whisper in the breeze;
Listed it in song bird's trill,
Then again in flowing rill,
Felt its warmth in glad sunshine,
Rhythm caught in swaying pine—
All along life's broad highway
I found loveliness today.

Appreciative Words

Ellen Tolman Comments on Various Matters Including "Flagless" Institution

Auburn, Mass., Aug. 29.
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
My heartfelt congratulations at your honor of being chosen State champion for "conspicuous community leadership." The choice was well merited.

After a visit "down home," The Courier-Gazette takes on new interest. "Steamboat Sonata in C-G" was a captivating title as was the article. The past summer it was my good fortune to go to Vinal Haven and North Haven, Stonington and Swan's Island. Perfect weather conditions on both days we went. The Roving Reporter could do justice to a description, but not the writer!

Both trips will give me pleasantest of memories for the coming winter and until I get an opportunity to take those excursions again.

"I have been told that there is a Knox County institution of a public nature where the American flag is not permitted to fly. I have no definite information on the subject but I can assure readers if I find the rumor to be true the location will be named."

The above item has set me wondering. For some time I have heard rumors of the statement, but never took the trouble to verify the same. I will say this: At a certain Knox County institution I have never seen any flag in evidence the several times of my visits.

There was criticism at the time of its dedication exercises but my reaction was, if the home people did not worry, why should I.

It is a pleasure to read that if the rumor has any foundation The Courier-Gazette will take up the matter. A firm believer in personal opinion of any citizen, I cannot quite understand why one opposed to the flag, or any other emblem is willing to assume custodianship of a public building, or accept money, even though it may be salary, from public funds.

Good luck to you in straightening this situation whether it be true or false.

Rambling on another tack! Your paper is full of interest but when I read items like this, my mouth waters in longing for some.

"At 6 a delicious supper of haddock smother and lobster was served by Host and Hostess Carver to the assembled 50 Lions, ladies and guests."

Here, for instance, "haddock smother." I've had the pleasure of eating that a few times and it is delicious. Please, do tell me, how to prepare a haddock smother?

"One of the large sea food wholesalers who represents a group in the industry that supplies hotel and restaurants stated that he 'would be highly satisfied if sea crawfish were not permitted to be sold except under the title of crawfish as the terms 'spiny' or 'rock' coupled with the word 'lobster' only confuses the public and the trade.' While The Federal Department of Fisheries permits these trade terms, the Fisheries Department of the Dominion of Canada is doing everything in its power to discourage their use."

Next: This man is right. There is but one lobster. When "spiny" or "rock" are coupled with the word "lobster," people are too confused.

Here are five pages of my new and most attractive Courier-Gazette stationery coming to you. Gladys St. Clair Heistad would have said all that I wish to convey, on about two sheets and incidentally she would have done a better job.

PERSONALITIES IN MUSIC

EDGAR LESLIE, A. S. C. A. P.

Songwriters Have No Textbooks

By Daniel I. McNamara

THE songwriter uses no textbooks except the unwritten volumes of experience. He doesn't dash off his lyrics in inspired moments. Struggle and sweat with meter and rhyme . . . perspiration, not inspiration . . . make for successful songwriting. Believe this on the authority of no less a personage as the author of thirty years one of the most successful of his profession, and for many years a leading member of the Board of Directors of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Leslie had written many popular song parodies for dialect comedians, thirty years ago, when he created his original smash hit, "I'm a Yiddisher Cowboy." He followed this quickly by a collaboration with Irving Berlin—"Sadie Salome, Go Home." These two numbers definitely established him as an up-and-coming author of popular songs. Hits multiplied. "Get Out and Get Under," "When Grown Up Ladies Act Like Babies," "America, I Love You," "California and You," "Oh, What a Pal Was Mary" and "Dirty Hands, Dirty Face" followed in quick succession.

Harry Warren and he wrote "By the River St. Marie," and left it, forgotten, in manuscript form, for eight years. It emerged from oblivion to become one of the great hits of recent years. "Among My Souvenirs" was written in London to the music of "Horatio Nichols," the composer being in reality a leading English music publisher, Lawrence Wright. Leslie has written songs with Walter Donaldson, Jimmy Monaco and many others. Recently he teamed with an old

Songs For Youth

Leslie has evolved a practical philosophy of songwriting. He believes the songwriter must address himself to youth, that the song must carry a simple and direct message. It should be easy to sing, and he points out that popular songs must compete with the movies. . . that they must paint an attractive word picture.

Leslie is a thoroughgoing New Yorker. His grandparents lived in Seventy-first Street when it was known as Bloomingdale Road, and they used to spend their summers at a cottage in Chelsea (Twenty-third Street). Happily married twenty-one years, he now lives in a midtown hotel; usually retires early.

He follows deep-sea fishing and golf, and enjoys sea voyages. His favorite outdoor sport—as a spectator—is polo. In the writing of songs he goes into the more mundane memories and experiences of his life, into things more in touch with America as it is to the great mass. And he writes to please them.

For That 3 o'Clock Fag

ONE BIG BUSINESS FIRM in Rockefeller Center, New York, started a new fad with the advent of hot summer weather by serving iced coffee during the middle of the afternoon to its fatigued workers and visitors. Employees welcomed the innovation, which started as promotion for National Iced Coffee Week, but which shows signs of spreading throughout the country. Picture shows workers enjoying their iced coffee interlude.

Happy Hope Farm

Blessed With Kindly Neighbors, Mrs. Savage Got the Hay In

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

This is a pleasant day for late August and I've noted the most steady procession of cars, buzzing this way and that. A few moments ago a string went along, all honking like a flock of wild geese. Perhaps a wedding party, or picnickers.

As the Black Cat Editor remarked arnica is in bloom everywhere, a sign of autumn near. Wild asters and golden rod are especially lovely, flanking either side of our path to the spring. Buddy and I go down to get a pail of clear, crystal water once each day and coming back we always pick up a dry stick and bring it to the house. Buddy insists on carrying one end and if I forget the stick, something will come whacking against my heels, and it will be Bud barging along with a stick he has picked up himself. He is quite a large, rangy dog now, with no resemblance to the little timid pup we brought home from the Fair, with his big, solemn eyes and soft rabbit fur.

I noted the trouble a summer resident of Maine was experiencing with nephitis mephitis. 'Why wouldn't tear gas bombs drive them out? Of course there are gases that would destroy them, but the decaying carcasses would be worse than the living skunks. But with tear gas—well, I can imagine Pa and Ma and all the family coming forth weeping copiously, vowing 'Never again will we live in that rent!'

I'd like to trade our porkys for the skunks. Last year they broke down a Tolman sweet apple tree. I trimmed and fixed it up and hung a red flag in the tree. But porky didn't scare and has further wrecked the tree, stealing every green sweet apple. A little cherry tree, just set last year, was trimmed off its branches, the limbs piled in a heap at the foot of the tree. Pure malicious mischief.

Mr. S. in order to enlist in the Veterans' camp, had to leave before the hay was harvested. A neighbor had promised to mow for half a day and another to use our old mare to get it in. Then the horse had her leg badly cut and the wagon was broken while hauling wood, so there was no way to get the hay in. "Where there's a will there's a way," 'tis said, and the hay, enough for the horse, is in the barn.

The neighbor left his own work to mow, then some good friends walked over from Warren and helped hand rake. A hand cart Mr. S. made from two wheels of an unused buggy was the hay wagon. The good Lord gave me fine hay days and with many trips, of the hand cart, the hay was stored. I was very grateful, both to the neighbor who took time to mow and to the friends who walked away over to the farm to give me a helping hand for a day. A friend in need, is a friend indeed. I'm still hoping Boze or someone can tell me the author of that poem.

Hollywood (Exclusive)—A star is born with the release of most every picture in this city of make believe. While your Hollywood Correspondent has been lying in a sick bed some new lights have blossomed forth in Hollywood—names of persons destined to achieve fame and fortune throughout the world.

Marie Wilson, the blonde comedienne of "Boy Meets Girl," is now headed towards stardom all the result of that one picture.

John Garfield, that sensational young character actor, whose first screen work in "Four Daughters" created a sensation, is to be starred in "They Made Me A Criminal."

Robert Morley's first American performance in "Marie Antoinette" set all Hollywood on fire with praise for this Englishman who played the dull-witted Doulphin.

Others who have become famous during the last few months have been Hedy LaMar, whose performance in "Algiers" was sensational Terry Kilburn, whose portrayal in "Lord Jeff" started him star-wars.

An unknown girl has been given the feminine lead opposite Tyrone Power in "Jesse James," story of a historical bandit. She is the very pretty Nancy Kelley.

Bonita Granville has been cast as Nancy Drew, girl detective, in "The Passport to Larkspur Lane," first of a series of film features to be based on the famous character in adolescent fiction.

The average Hollywood girl is 17 years old, 5 feet 3 inches tall, weighs 116 pounds, has blue eyes and is either blonde or brunette. And she always confides in her parents.

Unless you can prove that you have $30 in Hollywood, you can be locked up for vagrancy.

At present it looks as if Errol Flynn will play Rhett Butler and Bette Davis will portray Scarlett in "Gone With The Wind."

Greta Garbo will return to Hollywood Nov. 1. Her first picture will be "Minotchka," a Russian story. She is scheduled to do the life of "Madam Curie," inventor of radium. Mickey Rooney is now a full-time actor.

IF YOU FEEL SUNK

Read this and cheer up

Are you so blue that life is no longer worth living? Do you cry easily? Do you feel low, mean, depressed—just absolutely SUNK? Then here's good news for you in case you need a good general system tonic—Just take famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature build up more physical resistance and tone up your system, so that it can more easily throw off the "blues" and give more energy to enjoy life.

MILLIONS of women have depended upon this Compound and have passed the word along to friends and neighbors, and to their children.

Why not take Pinkham's Compound and go "smiling thru"?

When I stroll down the shady street
Some neighbor friends I'm sure to meet.
They always smile, they never frown,
That's why I love my own home town.
Because I like them all, you see.
