NEWSPAPER HISTORY

The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1885 and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1917.

The old patriotism consisted of tribal loyalty. The new patriotism involves faith in humanity.

Appeal For Cloth

Watch School Kiddies Go By and You'll See Why, Says Overseer Walker

Rockland, Oct. 6.
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
So far this season I have not invaded your hospitable columns with appeals for the needy. However, on account of hurricane damage, material for mackinaws and coats has not come through. We should have had girls' coats and boys' mackinaws ready for school wear. Watch the boys and girls going by some day and you will observe the need. A good woman whose address is 194 North Main street called me up today and gave me two bags full of outgrown clothes and shoes. Will you "gentle reader" do likewise? I fear pneumonia will take its toll before our cloth arrives. Thank you all, as I have often done before.
Louis A. Walker.

During the past weeks Badminton, which has swept the country with its popularity, has taken a terrific hold at Community Building. Two courts have been drawn out and painted, and are being used constantly. Similar to tennis, this game is more interesting to watch, and faster to play. It is a grand game for an older person to play, due to the fact that it does not have any physical strain.

Along with pool, bowling and volleyball, the members find themselves with plenty to do during the winter season. For those who do not care for excessive exercise, but prefer light exercise such as tossing a medicine ball, may have this pleasure by letting Director Flanagan know.

The membership roll is getting larger all the time. Buy yours now, and help yourself, help the building. Later, if possible, a golf net will be installed, for those interested in that sport. Instructions in the game will be given under the watchful eye of Director Flanagan. It's a game for everybody, easy to play, and lots of fun. Several business men have voiced their approval.

already. No charge for instruction, this being for members only.

Adept at Badminton are Miss Alberta Knight, Ethel Rackliff, Mrs. H. J. Weisman, Miss Virginia Snow, Mrs. Fay Winslow, Miss Ruth Anderson, and Charlie McIntosh, Everett Frohock, Dick Perry, Bill Atwell, Bar Lord, Robert Allen, Rackliff and Wimpy Chatto.

Ping Pong is going strong, with four new tables set up, and they are serving their usefulness. Ken Wooster, John Duff, Fred Blackman, and the champs among the junior members, and Bar Lord holds the edge on all senior members so far. A tournament will be held in a few weeks.

Wednesday nights are reserved as ladies' night, and with more women bowlers joining the ranks, some new records are expected.

Beginning today, the bowling alleys will be open during the day and until 11 p. m.

Deer Isle Bridge

Both of the Main Towers Completed—No Damage From Storm

With the completion of the towers on both the main piers of the Deer Isle-Sedgwick bridge the crew of the Phoenix Co. is now moving the main cables to the Sedgwick shore preparatory to stretching them over the towers to the other shore. There are 38 reels, each holding 2400 feet of cable.

Temporary cables will have to be stretched first and on these will be suspended three cages from which the men will work—one at each side span and one in the center. There will be about two weeks of preliminary work before the main cables will be started.

The riveting is finished on the Sedgwick tower and will be done on the Deer Isle tower in a day or two. A great deal of apparatus has been and is being erected for the big job of pulling the cables, and the work of transferring across the Reach is slow because of the tides, only an hour or so can be used on each high tide. Everything for the superstructure is on the job except the steel for the suspension span and the roadway deck.

When the temporary cable is stretched it will be necessary to close the Reach to traffic for several hours. No damage resulted from the last storm. The Phoenix Co. has 45 men on the payroll.

Chairman Of Board

This is ex-Mayor Leforest A. Thurston who will be chairman of the executive board of Community Building the ensuing year. During his terms as mayor he saw the building grow from a dream to a splendid community serving reality and has been a tireless worker in its behalf since the very beginning. Associated with him on the operating boards will be Thomas H. Chisholm, Charles C. Wotton, James Connellan, Parker C. Worrey, Laurence Miller, Joseph Emery and John M. Richardson. It is noteworthy that in the secret ballot conducted for choice of chairman Mr. Thurston received all votes except his own.

Children Will Play

The Youthful Musicians of Thomaston Will Appear At Teachers' Convention

The Thomaston Toy Orchestra united direction of Mrs. Ruth Brackett will perform at the afternoon session of the Teachers' County Convention next Tuesday at 1.30. The instrumentation includes drums, cymbals, tambourines, jingle and rhythm sticks, bird calls, castanets, triangles, bells, wood block, harmonica, and xylophone. The selections rendered, arranged by J. Lillian Vandever will be: Canoe Song ..... Pestalozza Three Folk Tunes ..... Louis Gaume La Czarina ..... Louis Gaume The outstanding work of Mrs. Brackett over a period of years in this field has been the source of much appreciation and pride among the students and parents. Mrs. Brackett is assisted by Mrs. Arthur Elliot, acting as transportation chairman.

Harvest Festival

The Salvation Army at 477 Main street is observing the annual Harvest Festival during the coming weekend. It has long been a custom in the Army to set aside one weekend of the autumn in which to commemorate the harvest season.

The meeting hall is to be brightly decorated in the true spirit of autumn, and a large array of food and produce will be on display. Special programs have been arranged for each of the services in keeping with the occasion.

Monday night is to witness a special sale of food of many varieties. There is a large display of produce, gathered in from the fields and gardens of many of the farmers of the nearby countryside. There will be pastry prepared by the Women's Home League, and a large number of jars of jelly, preserves and canned goods. The affair is in the interests of the Army's Missionary work.

The schedule of meetings is as follows: Saturday, 8, Christian's praise service. Sunday, 10, Sunday school; 11, holiness meeting; 6.30, Young People's Legion; 8, evangelistic service.

From The Keaches

Comes Word of the Hurricane Down In North Adams, Mass.

Storm stories continue to come to hand. Under date of Oct. 4 Mrs. Florence Keach of North Adams, Mass., (formerly of this city) writes thus to Mrs. Edwin H. Crie:

"I am glad to say that the damage here on our own land was very little. For some unknown reason the wind tore above our heads and hit the higher levels with a terrific force. I do not believe it could have been over 50 feet higher up in the air, as at about that height trees and buildings were destroyed."

"Last Sunday all the men in town had a 'bee' and replaced a barn roof which had been torn off.

"The town as a whole was badly damaged by the rain which caused so many washouts. Some of the roads will not be reopened this year. The Mohawk trail is badly washed and where Black Brook empties into the Cold River the road is all gone. But we expect that to be fixed up by winter and think the trail over the mountains here will open up by then also. Now we are detouring in all directions.

"In the height of the storm the Summit House at Whitcomb Hill was demolished and burned and another barn was burned. They called the Summit House the largest gift shop in the New England States, and the loss is great.

"I must tell you how much Mr. Keach and I enjoy The Courier-Gazette. It is almost like being there. But so many changes in different things, church, stores, deaths and marriages, children who were in my Sunday school classes married with children now. I cannot realize it is so. When you are living there you almost think nothing ever happens, but in ten years all is changed."

FEEDING THE NEEDY

Uncle Sam Furnished Surplus Products To 2,500, 000 Families Last Year

The government supplied food directly to more than 2,500,000 American families during the fiscal year ended June 30.

The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation disclosed in its annual report that it had purchased more than 1,800,000,000 pounds of surplus farm products during the year for distribution to relief families. The cost to the government was placed at $48,400,000, including $1,018,000 for administration expenses. The retail value of the food was estimated at $62,210,000.

"The programs of the corporation have sought to encourage domestic consumption by salvaging surplus farm commodities which might otherwise have gone to waste and by making such surpluses available for the use of two and one-half million families," the report said.

Purchases listed for last year included 635,300,000 pounds of fruits and nuts; 646,400,000 pounds of cereals, rice and flour; 442,300,000 pounds of vegetables; 66,900,000 pounds of dairy products; 12,100,000 pounds of eggs; 9,800,000 pounds of cottonseed oil shortening; 3,700,000 pounds of fish, and 2,600,000 pounds of cane syrup.

Distribution to States and the average number of families eligible to receive the food monthly included:

Maine, 7,503,000 and 23,200; Massachusetts, 86,396,000 and 153,200; New Hampshire, 5,515,000 and 13,747; Rhode Island, 2,480,000 and 9,679; Vermont, 1,424,000 and 7,320.

Dr. Divine Speaks

Dr. F. H. Divine, who is conducting a stewardship campaign at the First Baptist Church this week, will speak at 10.30 on the subject: "The Church and the Community." The double quartet will sing, Church school with classes for all ages will meet at noon. The Endeavor's Inspiration Hour will open at 6 o'clock with Lillian Bates as leader. The closing service of the campaign conducted by Dr. Divine, will be held at 7.15. His subject will be: "What We Would Do if Jesus Should Come To Rockland Tonight!" This will be the culminating service in a series of great services held in the church this week. Come and enjoy it with us.

Theatre Guild

George Sleeper the New President — Play Is Due Next Month

The second anniversary of Community Theatre Guild was celebrated Thursday night at the Congregational vestry with a get-together and election of officers. The first year of the organization was marked with genuine dramatic success and it is hoped the coming year to achieve even higher standards.

George Sleeper is the new president; Mrs. Evelyn Haines is vice president; Mrs. Lucien Dean, secretary; Lloyd Daniels, treasurer; and Misses Katharine Rice and Ethel Hayes, hostesses to visiting guilds. Supervisor of productions will be retiring president, Almon B. Cooper. J. Winfield Chatto; stage manager and properties manager, Mrs. Raymond Perry.

Joseph Emery and Mrs. Josephine Perry will be members of the make-up committee; wardrobe mistress, Mrs. Clarence Staples; supervisor of one-act plays, Mrs. Seymour Cameron; publicity committee, A. B. Cooper, Jr., and Mrs. Lettie Cross.

The theatre guild will start work immediately on its first 1938-39 play which will be produced on Community Building stage some time the coming month. The name of the play will be announced in the immediate future. It is to be produced on the guild's own sponsorship.

Short Open Season

Com'r Stobie Yields To the Hunters Who Would Slaughter Pheasants

For the first time in the history of Maine, hunters this fall will be afforded an opportunity to shoot pheasants for five days in various sections of the State.

Fish and Game Commissioner George J. Stobie has declared an open season on the birds from Nov. 10 to 15 "from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset each day." He set the bag limit at not more than two pheasants a person each day and not more than four birds to each person during the open season.

Drunken driving was the text of yesterday's session in Municipal Court. Arnold Sturks of Port Clyde and Charles Ervine of Martinsville pleaded guilty. Sturks was sentenced to 30 days in jail and Ervine to 90, the latter having been previously convicted on a similar charge. The continued case against F. A. Gientzel of Camden resulted in a verdict of guilty with a fine of $100 and costs. He appealed.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin

BEDOUIN LOVE SONG

From the Desert I come to thee,
On a starling and my lattice breathe;
And the winds are left behind
In the speed of my desire.
Under thy window I stand,
And the midnight hears my cry:
I love thee, I love but thee!
With a love that shall not die
Till the sun grows cold,
And the stars are old,
And the leaves of the Judgment Book unfold.

My steps are nightly driven,
By the fever in my breast;
To hear from thy lattice breathe
The word that shall give me rest.
Open the door of thy heart,
And open thy chamber door,
And my kisses shall teach thy lips
The love that shall fade no more
Till the sun grows cold,
And the stars are old,
And the leaves of the Judgment Book unfold.

"The Black Cat"

Our foliage seems to have better judgment than the summer visitors. It is staying much longer than usual this season.

Radio fans who operate on Main street or nearby have been finding much fault with interference the past week. Isn't there some expert to tell us what the trouble is? And isn't there some way of getting rid of that short wave nuisance who breaks in upon legitimate reception with a long talk upon inconsequential matters?

Community Sweet Shop closes tomorrow night, but Beach Inn at Lincolnville Beach will remain open until the last day of the month. The closing of the wayside resorts again brings up the eternal question. Where has the summer gone?

"K.S.F." informs me that a number of the Garden Club members have this year been growing gourds for winter pleasure in home decorating purposes and may not know just the best methods for their preservation. They should be gathered before frost nips the vines (frost is very injurious to the gourds). Put them in a cool, airy place to dry, puncturing each end with a large pin or needle or any pointed tool. When they are dry they should be covered with shellac, some like orange shellac for this purpose—some think wax is best. "My experience" says K.S.F. "is that shellac keeps them better. They may also be painted if wished and are very gay in color.

Isn't there some way of transforming the scheme of the universe so that we can have some of these beautiful fall skies in summer, when the vacationists are here, and the fog mulls in winter, when there isn't much doing out of doors?

Auditions for the voice scholarship offered by the Boston Conservatory of Music are in progress and later there will be piano and violin auditions. Wellington Smith, so well known to Knox County music lovers, is a member of the faculty.

The Courier-Gazette publishes with much willingness the communication of Nellie M. Ervine of Tenants' Harbor who pleads with motorists to moderate their speed in order that there may not be constant slaying of cats and dogs which have strayed into the highway. The average motorist is very careful not to run over a fowl, possibly for fear of having to pay damages, but many drivers seem to have little compunction about running over cats and dogs which have become part and parcel of the household. We join cheerfully in Mrs. Ervine's plea.

Dr. F. F. Brown added interest to The Black Cat department yesterday by bringing to this office the carcass of a flying squirrel. It was 10 inches in length, had a spread of 6 1/2 inches, and a head which somewhat resembles that of a mouse. The squirrel was presented to Dr. Brown, who was especially interested as he had never seen one.

They used to be a source of great fascination to me on the Bowdoin College campus where I saw them leap from the top of one of those magnificent elms to another. The man on the flying trapeze could never emulate either the ease or the grace with which it was done.

Camden has a stout champion in R. W. Jameson, its well known gagerman, who has not only traveled from coast to coast but in Europe without finding a town which suits him better than the one that rests at the base of Mt. Battie and Mt. Megunticook. Bob tells me that he can count 18 bodies of water from the summit of Ragged Mt., and on clear days see Mt. Washington.

One year ago The Algine Corporation of New York was negotiating for the property on Crockett's Point owned by the lime company with a view to starting an experimental plant—The new fishway at Warren was approaching completion—Clyde Vining died at Crescent Beach—John Meehan & Son were making numerous paving shipments at Clark Island.

The Rotary Club

Rockland Members Hear Fine Talk By District Governor Vernon

Rev. Percy L. Vernon, governor of the 193d district of Rotary International, officially visited the local club yesterday. Mr. Vernon is pastor of the United Baptist Church of Lewiston. In a fine speech, which held his listeners to the end, he asked the question, What is Rotary? Answering his own question, he compared Rotary to a four-lane highway of club service, community service, vocational service and international service. Fellowship within the club, he said, is the corner stone of Rotary. Right dealings on the part of members in business and professional life in the community are essential.

Visiting Rotarians were Harold P. Oden, Melrose, Mass., Dr. C. W. Jamieson, C. K. Hopkins, Dr. C. H. Jameson and E. Ham. Hall of Camden.

Frank A. Winslow was guest of W. O. Fuller.

OWL'S HEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pearson of Brooklyn, N. Y., are occupying one of the Watson cottages on Norcross Point. They have as guests Mr. and Mrs. Ralph French of Millinocket and Mrs. A. D. Carpenter.

Mrs. Jane Dow is visiting at the home of Mrs. Annie Farrell.

Mrs. Chester Philbrook and mother, Mrs. Carrie Philbrook are in Boston for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. MacPhail are visiting in Nobleboro.

Mrs. Bernice Sleeper of South Thomaston is substituting at Timberville hill school for Mrs. M. E. Scammon, who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Kaler and father, Fred Maddocks, have returned from a week's visit in Watertown, Mass., with Mr. and Mrs. George Cole.

Miss Elizabeth Scammon has returned to University of Maine after being called home on account of her mother's illness.

The Farm Bureau meeting scheduled for Oct. 25 has been changed to Oct. 18. The subject "Good Nutrition" will be presented by Miss Esther Dunham, home demonstration agent. On the dinner committee are Mary Foster, Minnie Smith and Alice Woodman.

Our Book Corner

In the little village of Medan, west of Paris, a museum has been opened this past month devoted to the memory of Emile Zola, the famous leader of the Naturalist movement and defender of Alfred Dreyfus. The museum, occupying a room of a house in which Zola wrote several of his best-known works, contains three separate exhibits: one showcase filled with articles associated with Zola's private life; a second given over to the history of the Naturalist movement; the third displaying souvenirs of the Dreyfus case which was the great passion of Zola's later years.

Macmillan announces that it has taken over the publications of the Whitney Museum of American Art. The Museum has for several years been publishing outstanding books in the field of American art, with the purpose of disseminating an appreciation and understanding of the art of this country, and of creating a body of sound and accurate knowledge regarding it. These publications include a series of individual volumes, biographical and critical, on outstanding artists of contemporary America, written by leading authorities. They also included comprehensive and definitive works on American art of the past. All are fine examples of bookmaking, and their many illustrations add to their interest and value.

In the series are noted: A History of American Graphic Humor: 1865-1938, by William Murrell, to be published Oct. 18. This is the first and so far the only book in its field—a history of all phases of humorous art in America from 1865 to the present time. Like its companion volume, "A History of American Graphic Humor: 1747-1865," it covers every medium—newspaper cartoons, and comic strips, humorous magazines and book illustrations, individual prints, and even animated cartoons. Mr. Murrell, who has done a staggering piece of research, has assembled his material in chronological order.

Also, Thomas Eakins: His Life and Work, by Lloyd Goodrich. Thomas Eakins is now recognized as one of the greatest of American artists, and the most powerful realist of his time. Mr. Goodrich's book is the most complete record of an American artist that has appeared in recent years.

The American Artists Series—a series of monographs on American artists of the present or the immediate past—each volume devoted to the work of one outstanding artist, and contains a critical essay by a leading art critic, a biography, a bibliography, and 21 full-page illustrations, including a portrait of the artist. The artists selected are those whose work in the judgment of the Whitney Museum is of lasting merit. This is the most complete series of monographs that has been published on contemporary artists, and in time should form the "Vasari's Lives" of American art. Among the artists in this series are: George Bellows, Alexander Brook, Mary Cassatt, Charles Demuth, Guy Pene du Bois, Robert Henri, Edward Hopper, George Luks, Henry Lee McFee, Eugene Speicher. Each volume is priced at $1.

A catalogue of the collection of the Whitney Museum of American Art may also be obtained for $3. In this book are 210 excellent illustrations, many of them full-page plates, constituting a thorough survey of the American art of today, including painting, sculpture, watercolor and graphic art.

Have you seen "Your Washington" by Mary Field Parton? (Longmans, Green & Co.) This book tells young people of the many fascinating exhibits there are to see in the capital city. It emphasizes what other guides do not—that its exhibits, museums, and collections demonstrate those functions of government that serve the people continuously, irrespective of political changes. The book is a guide to democracy at work in laboratory, library and bureau. It is a guide not only to the many high spots for the sightseer, but also to little-known places of fascinating interest. It tells of movies and tours that can be arranged by appointments. It sketches briefly the work of the Government departments. The author has achieved an unusual work: not only packed a guide book with information, but given it life, color, dignity, and just the right proportion of fervor. It is good reading and good studying, and should be a "must" book for libraries, schools, and for visitors to Washington, adult as well as juvenile.

Dr. Russell Potter, director of the Columbia University Institute of Arts and Sciences, says that American audiences as a rule do not like women on the lecture platform. Of course there are exceptions—such as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Dorothy Thompson, Ruth Bryan Owen, Vicki Baum, Vera Brittain, Mary Ellen Chase, Margaret Ayer Barnes, Romola Nijinsky, Susan Ertz, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Martin Johnson—and others. But, according to Dr. Potter—the trouble with women lecturers is largely in their costumes and the high pitch of their voices. He says the "frou-frou of a silk gown is a distraction in the ears of any chronic lecture-goer, and a gown with a train is the despair of every platform chairman." Also—"There is the fact that a woman's speaking voice is not as pleasing as that of a man—in the lecture hall, at least. Its high pitch, its lack of tonality, its tendency to break and scratch at an emotional climax in discussion."

Rose Wilder Lane, whose novel "Free Land" has been a best-seller for some time, was born in the Dakota territory, in a claim shanty. Conditions had changed when Mrs. Lane was born, there was no more free land. Of course, there never had been free land. In the Dakotas men said that the government put up a quarter-section against $15, and five years' hard work, on a bet that a man couldn't make a living on the land. Her father won the bet. It took seven successive complete crop failures, with work, weather, and sickness that wrecked his health and interest at 36% on money borrowed to buy food, to dislodge them from that land. During the panic of 1893, the family joined the long wagon trains moving south and traveled for three months, crossed the Missouri River and settled in the Ozark Hills.

Since that time Rose Wilder Lane has done many things—been an office clerk, telegrapher, newspaper reporter, feature writer, advertising writer, and farmland salesman. She has traveled all over the United States, most of Europe and Asia. She is a woman of simple tastes. She likes buttered popcorn, salted peanuts and bread and milk. She likes Arabic architecture and the Moslem way of life. Mad about Kansas skies, Cedar Rapids by night, Iowa City any time, and all American boys about 15 years old playing basketball.

Heed This Plea

And You Will Save Heartaches For the Owners of Loved Pets

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

I often wonder if the hitting and killing of little cats and dogs by motorists which has been so prevalent throughout the St. George district, is really necessary?

I somehow think that if these same car drivers could only realize that which simply means "just a dog or a cat" to many of them, may be the dearly loved pet of some household, and the heartache that follows their loss, and the finding of their little broken bodies lying in the wake of the car, perhaps they might take just a little more care, and perhaps moderate their speed just a little.

Many of our homes in this neighborhood of Tenants Harbor have been bereft of dearly loved pets by this means. I myself, have lost two beautiful pet cats within six months.

I know they should not be in the road, but it is impossible to keep them from straying there once in awhile; but I think with a little care many of these accidents could be avoided.

Let's give the pets of our friends and neighbors, yes, and those of folks unknown to us, a break, and avoid hitting them if we possibly can. They are innocent and harmless and have a right to their little lives, and this is a plea in their behalf by one who loves all of God's dumb creatures.

Wild Game Like Being on Relief, Come Back to Eat

PORTERVILLE, CALIF.—Even American game birds are getting accustomed to going on the relief rolls, according to Superintendent R. J. Land of Bartlett park.

Part of Land's job is feeding baby partridges, pheasants and quail which are sent him from the state game farm until they are large enough to be turned loose, become "wild" game birds and fend for their living.

He finds, however, that quite a few of them get tired of working for a living and come back to the relief rolls of the park for a few square meals at municipal expense.

By L. L. STEVENSON

When William Fellow Morgan Jr., commissioner of markets, announced that he would issue no more licenses to peddlers of hot corn and baked sweet potatoes, he struck a blow at tradition. His decision means that vendors, who have been a part of the sidewalk life of New York even in years before Fourteenth street was away up town, will be seen no more next year. Thus will be still the cry of "Aah-t corn" and "Bay-kid switts" to which the ears of New Yorkers have become so accustomed. Vanished also will be the men with the tinpals over charcoal braziers and the sheetiron grids heated by charcoal fires. But Commissioner Morgan is more interested in public health than in tradition. Hence his stand that in the future the only food peddlers will be licensed to sell will be protected by wrappers or glass cases.

Hot corn vendors begin their work as early in the summer as roasting ears are available at prices which will allow them to make a profit on the customer's nickel. Fished from the tin pail, the roasting ear is drowned in melted butter, or the customer is given a dab of butter to apply to the corn himself. What happens after the customer accepts his purchase is of no concern to the vendor. Often I've suspected him of having an interest in a dry cleaning establishment or having relatives in that line. A roasting ear dripping melted butter is bound to leave souvenirs when eaten on the sidewalk. Still, thousands of New Yorkers, particularly Coney Island visitors and residents of the lower East Side, look on street sold roasting ears as a delicacy.

What baked sweet potato sellers do during the summer, I don't know. But they don't make their appearance until fall. Thus they come out with the roasted chestnut vendors who trundle their carts to corners and wait for customers, sometimes consuming part of their stock while waiting. The chestnut vendors are universal. But the baked sweet merchants do most of their business on the lower East Side. In fact, I have yet to see one—or a hot corn vendor either—in midtown.

A long court fight followed another order issued by Commissioner Morgan, the one putting to death Paddy's Market, that line of pushcarts along Ninth avenue from Forty-second to Thirty-sixth street which had been in existence more than half a century. The pushcart men carried their battle before the Court of Appeals at Albany before they gave up. While the fight was going on and even after it had been lost, the peddlers continued business at their old stands, offering bargains to housewives and being content with pennies as profits.

When the death knell finally sounded, there was no mourning among the market men, though some of them had been at that same stand many years. In anticipation of final defeat, they had quietly leased a vacant lot on Thirty-ninth street just off Ninth avenue. Having wired it for electricity and spaced it off for stands, about 70 moved there. Now they are safe from eviction—so long as the $300 a month rent is paid.

Only citizens, prospective citizens or those living in the city for a year receive pushcart licenses in the future, Commissioner Morgan also announced. Persons engaged in other businesses, those on home relief or working on WPA projects will be denied licenses. And speaking of charity reminds me of a well-known comedian who maintains a private charity. He has a charge account at a small hotel where the down-and-outers he recommends are given dinner, bed and breakfast for which the comedian settles at the end of the month.

7 Inmates Get Diplomas

IN PRISON HIGH SCHOOL
IONIA, MICH.—Seven inmates of the Michigan reformatory proudly held honest-to-goodness high school diplomas today.

"Now all we have to do is 'graduate' from the reformatory," one of them said.

In an unusual high school commencement program, the seven youths, ranging in age from eighteen to twenty-one years, received regular state department of public instruction diplomas for completing their high school course in the reformatory's academic school. The seven graduates are serving sentences for automobile theft, larceny and petty crimes.

Fence of 1830 Still in Use
MEXICO, MO.—A rail fence, built in 1830 by William and Jerry West on a farm near here, is still standing. It is believed to be the oldest fence of its kind west of the Mississippi.

At The High School

(By The Pupils)

J. Asbury Pitman for many years principal of Salem Normal School, whose former home was Appleton, will be speaker at Senior High assembly, Oct. 18. He will speak on experiences and observations in Czechoslovakia, Germany, Austria, Italy and France where he has spent several months.

The Sophomore Oral English classes of Mr. Smith have commenced a series of panel discussions concerned with current school problems. Committees which functioned admirably in the leadership of class discussion were: Div. 1, Ch. Ellis Hastings, Alaric Pearson, Pauline Carroll and Joseph Pietroski; Div. 3, Ch. Elmer Havener, Irving McConchie, Maynard Green, and Doris Gatti; and Div. 4, Ch. Clarence Butler, Christy Adams, Ruth Witham, Douglas Small, and Geraldine Norton.

A victrola has been loaned the typewriting classes by Annabelle Staples, sophomore. Twelve rhythm records are used to induce rhythm and continuity in typing. The music furnishes the inspiration and stimulation, and the beats mark the speed.

An interesting faculty meeting was held Monday afternoon, with Principal Blaisdell in charge, and excerpts from several books and articles by well known educators were read which could be incorporated in this year's work. Questions to be discussed at subsequent meetings were considered.

Office boys this week were Perley Bartlett, Raymond Scott, Bertram Snow, Everett Small, Ernest Dondis, John Munsey, Leroy Stickney, and Richard Sukeforth.

No school Tuesday due to the annual Knox County Teachers' Convention held at this building.

That pupils in this school are musically minded is shown by the fact that 324 members of Senior High are taking chorus music this year.

Sight and hearing tests are being given to all students by their home room teachers.

The "Curtis Vocational Plan" was unfolded at Senior High and Junior High assemblies this week by George Sprague of Owl's Head, representative of the Curtis Publishing Company. After a peppy talk on salesmanship, the benefits of the plan were disclosed. The school will receive 50% from the subscriptions to Saturday Evening Post, Country Gentleman, and Ladies' Home Journal, and possibly a silver cup. There are 32 individual prizes, home room prizes, and a free trip to the World's Fair or $300 to the student in New England selling the most subscriptions. Ione Louraine is business manager and the home room chairmen are Maude Johnson, Joseph Dondis, Doris Gatti, Veronica Murphy, Walter Butler, Billy Bicknell, Evelyn Bartlett, Perry Margeson, Victoria Anastasio, Marguerite Mahoney, Edith Gray, Perry Howard and Eloise Law.

In the Junior High Beverly Havener is general manager, and home room chairmen are Arnold Allen, Nancy Planders, Russell Kaler, Leona Parker, Eleanor Tracy, Robert Paul and Georgie Stevens.

Maxine Perry has been secretary to Principal Blaisdell this week.

In observance of National Letter Writing Week, the advanced typewriting classes wrote letters this week showing that their acquaintances were not confined to a local area. Letters were sent to Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Washington, D. C., Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, California, and Nova Scotia.

The first meeting of the Student Council was held Monday, at which time these officers were elected: President, Grant Davis; vice president, Richard Karl; secretary, Edith Gray. A budget committee composed of Grant Davis, Richard Karl, and Gerry Norton was also named. It was voted to have a moving picture next week in one of our week when there are no other entertainments. A committee chosen to select a movie for next week includes Edith Gray, Perry Howard, and Christy Adams—Edith Gray.

About forty Junior and Senior High faculty members and their families enjoyed the hospitality of Principal and Mrs. Blaisdell at their farm in Sidney last Sunday. A delicious chicken dinner was served, followed by a pleasant social afternoon.

members of the Junior Business Training classes have brought in some interesting heirlooms. They include a musket used in War of 1812, Raymond Young; mechanical bank, Madeline Munro; two dolls, Ruth Wotton; watch 250 years old, pin, and coins, William Burns; German helmet, Eugene Stickney; doll over 100 years old, Jane Packard; old musket, Bertram Snow; book autographed by Oliver Wendell Holmes, a Norwegian key, and old tintype, Virginia Bowley.

The first issue of The Highlight came out Friday, with Henry Bubier as art editor. The school paper is free for those who have activity tickets.

Fourteen senior girls have been chosen as student librarians during the year: Maxine Perry, Katherine Rice, Inez Bowley, Ione Louraine, Charlotte Staples, Eileen Cates, Edith Gray, Priscilla Staples, Katherine Jordan, Harriet Wooster, Dorothy Howard, Eleanor Carter, Maude Johnson, and Muriel Baum.

Officers for the Girls' Glee Club have been elected: President, Norma Havener; vice president, Laura Pomeroy; secretary and treasurer, Nathalie Edwards; librarians, Alice Bohn, Mary Lamb; pianists, Jerry Norton, Ruth Seabury.

The nominating committee to choose the Head for the Girls' Athletic Association met after school Wednesday. The Head is to be composed of four seniors and two juniors whose duty is to plan the athletic program for the coming year and to manage the Girls' Athletic Association. Those elected were: Seniors, Inez Bowley, Byrnie Havener, Katherine Delano, and Edith Gray; juniors, Victoria Anastasio and Barbara Murray.—Edith Gray.

The Sophomore class was in charge of a social held last evening in the gym, presenting a program, "Guest Stars from Screenland" with Richard Rising as master of ceremonies; Harmonica Solo, Buddy Eason (Kenneth Post); song and dance, Martha Raye and Eleanor Powell (Dorothy Stearns and Barbara Murray); "Small Fry," Bing Crosby and Charlie McCarthy (Kenneth Post and Elmer Havener); "Indian Love Call," Jeanette MacDonald (Mary Anastasio); "Nola," Johnnie Green (Ruth Seabury); "Winter Wonder Land," Boswell Sisters (Byrnie and Norma Havener); "Love Light in the Starlight," Rosemary Lane (Elaine Ames); "A Pocket Full of Dreams," Buddy Eason and Joan Davis (Kenneth Post and Byrnie Havener). Accompanists, Gerry Norton and Ruth Seabury.

Decorations were nautical and in blue and gray. Refreshments were served.

Committees were: Decorating, chairman Bob Chisholm, Priscilla Brazier, Nora Long, Jeanne Moulaison, Irving McConchie, Donald Borgerson, Barbara Robinson, Grace Blethen, Virginia Bowley, and Richard Brown; refreshments, chairman, Mary Lamb, Lucille Connon, and Naomi Rackliffe; entertainment, chairman Ruth Seabury, Ruth Witham, Geraldine Norton, Elmer Havener, and Priscilla Brazier; advertising, Priscilla Brazier, and Barbara Robinson; clean-up, chairman Jack Wood, Alaric Pearson, Charles Weed, Elmer Small, and Arthur Brewer.

When a highwayman holds up a citizen and takes his change—that's news. When a policeman holds up a citizen and take his change—that's perfectly justifiable, providing it's the price of a ticket to the annual ball, which this year is being held at the Community Building next Tuesday night. Music will be furnished by Young's Orchestra. The net proceeds will go toward the purchase of first aid equipment—and that surely interests all of us. So don't say "no" when the cop collars you.

C. G. McDowell, the new division superintendent of the Railway Express Agency, arrived in Rockland on a tour of inspection of express operations in this district and was welcomed by R. E. ## SERMONETTE

"I Would Go To Rome"

Paul was a Jew in Tarsus. His Jewish name was Saul. His father, of the tribe of Benjamin, was a Pharisee; his mother a Jewess. He was educated in the law and was an orthodox Jew, but he was also a free born Roman citizen. He wrote and spoke Greek fluently. At that time the world was divided into two class distinctions—Greeks and Barbarians.

And now this great Jew is writing to the Christians at Rome. What can he have to say to them? He lays bare his great desire to preach Christ in the Imperial City. "To all that be in Rome, beloved of God, called to be Saints—First: I thank my God for you all that your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world. For God is my witness that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my prayers and that I, by the will of God, might come unto you. For I long to see you that I may import unto you some spiritual gift, that is, I may be comforted together with you by the mutual faith of you and me. I am debtor both to the Greeks and to the Barbarians, both to the wise and to the unwise. I am ready to preach the Gospel to you at Rome for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth."

Aye! Paul, your passion to preach salvation led you to Rome, there to die at Nero's hands, for the Christ you first saw in the blinding flash on the Damascus road. Apostle to all men.—William A. Holman

At St. Peter's Church (Episcopal), Rev. E. O. Kenyon, rector, the services for tomorrow will be appropriate for the 17th Sunday after Trinity: Matins at 7:10. Holy Communion at 7:30, church school at 9:30, Holy Eucharist and sermon at 10:30, Vespers at 7:30.

"Lost Art in Religion" will be Dr. Guy Wilson's subject tomorrow morning at the Methodist Church. At 7:15 he will speak from the topic "Bring Him To Me." A rally on religious education will be held at 7:15 Tuesday night with an outside speaker and a cordial invitation to the public.

Convinced by the response of the people that we are all concerned about the peril of democracy and that the plight of democracy is the most serious concern we have in life at present, Dr. Lowe at the Universalist Church Sunday morning will give the third sermon in his series on "The Peril of Democracy and the Collapse of Religious Faith." Music by the quartet choir. The church school will meet in the vestry at noon. Teachers and pupils are requested to be on hand promptly.

"A Timely Message" will be the sermon topic by Rev. Charles A. Marsteller Sunday morning at 10:30 at the Littlefield Memorial Church. There will be special music and a children's story will precede the sermon. The church school meets at 11:45 and the Christian Endeavor at 6. Praise service and sermon is at 7:15, the topic being "The Central Fact of Christianity." There will be special music. Prayer meeting Tuesday night at 7:30. The Ladies' Aid meets Wednesday night with Mrs. Alfred Lord.

"Are sin, disease, and death real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon that will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Oct. 9. The Golden Text is: "I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord" (Jeremiah 30:17). The citations from the Bible include the following passages: "For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver. The Lord is our king; he will save us. I am sick: the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity" (Isaiah 33:24).

At the Congregational Church the unified service of public worship and church school is at 10:30 a. m., with the children of the church school sharing in the worship services and attending classes during the sermon. The theme of the ser-

THANK YOU!

During the most difficult days of our history nothing has heartened us so much as the splendid co-operation and patience of you, our customers.

It would have been easy to complain and ask for special attention during those days, but you did not, and our people carried on knowing that you understood they were doing their utmost.

The job of restoration has been so big that few realize its magnitude. A statement of some of the materials we required may help to picture it for you. Twenty-two thousand poles, 27,000,000 feet of wire, 320 miles of cable, whole trainloads of miscellaneous equipment—all these were sent to us by the Western Electric Company.

Six thousand trained men using 1500 fully equipped telephone trucks have been engaged in clearing storm troubles. This army of workers—the largest the Bell System ever assembled in an emergency—included our own New England people and men from Bell System companies operating in 20 outside states.

We sincerely regret the delay in restoring service at a time when you have been most in need of it. We are grateful for your tolerance and consideration, and for the helpful co-operation you have given our repair crews, all working under trying circumstances. If, by any chance, your service is not yet normal, be sure that we shall not consider our job done until every telephone, including yours, is in working order.

We shall credit your account for each day you were unable to use your telephone. As we cannot determine all adjustments at this time, some bills issued this month will not carry a credit; in such cases the credits will appear on next month's bills.

mon will be another in the series of "Bible Biographies" by the pastor, Rev. Corwin H. Olds, and will deal with Samuel. The young people's class will meet in the auditorium immediately after the church service at 11:45, with Mr. Olds as teacher. Comrades of the Way will meet in the vestry at 6:30 p. m. After the devotional meeting there will be election of officers for the ensuing half year.

U. S. RELIEF MAP TO BE LARGEST IN THE WORLD

Work Started in 1923; Will Not Be Completed Until 1940.

WELLESLEY, MASS. — A huge curvature relief model of the United States, largest of its kind in the world, is being built at Babson Institute by a corps of geographical experts.

Work on the model began in 1923, but various obstacles delayed work during the depression. On January 1 of this year, Dr. Wallace W. Atwood Jr., Clark university geographer, was placed in charge of the project. Since then the rate of construction has increased about 15-fold.

Under the present program, completion is scheduled for January, 1940.

The model is in the Coleman Map building, erected specially for the model on the Babson campus. There is a giant dome-shaped, steel framework—63 by 45 feet—has been constructed by Bethlehem Steel corporation. It reproduces in exact proportion the earth's curvature.

Built in Sections.

On this framework is placed a plaster base map on which is painted the outline of the United States.

Because of the size of the model, it is being constructed in small sections, to be placed in their proper position on the curved framework. Each section is one degree of latitude wide. The finished model will contain 1,216 such sections, of which more than 400 now are completed.

Systematic mapping of the United States did not begin until 1885, when the first section of New England was surveyed. These first efforts were unsatisfactory, and a new start was made. Until now, only about 55 per cent of the country has been covered by the official topographical survey maps of the federal government.

In areas having no topographical survey, stream maps must be used. These are combined with airplane photos and supplemented by all obtainable spot-elevation figures.

Many Sources Used.

From this is created a topographical map that serves as a guide in construction of the model. Sources being used by Dr. Atwood and his staff include the regular United States Geological Survey maps, coast and geodetic survey charts, geological survey bench marks, state geodetic surveys done by the WPA, maps by chief engineers of railroads, by war department, county and state highway engineers.

Among the most important sources of information are the sectional aeronautical charts of the bureau of air commerce, designed primarily to show airline pilots the location of radio beams and beacons. Besides extensive areas in the West and South unmaped except for air charts and scattered elevation figures, are the Mount Wachusett section of Vermont and the northern section of Maine. North-central Pennsylvania and the Carolinas also have similar areas.

The Father of Umbrellas For Men Is Remembered

LONDON.—The recent sale of Jonas Hanway's umbrella at an auction room has recalled Hanway's fame as the philanthropist who introduced umbrellas into the rainy streets of London about 1750 and so saved thousands of Londoners from pneumonia and rheumatism.

Drayton, Swift and Gay all had written of umbrellas in London before Hanway's time, but umbrellas to them were a women's fashion. Hanway's achievement, after he returned from Persia with his umbrella, seems to have been the conversion of the male population, and so well did he succeed that not long after his death in 1786 even army officers carried umbrellas in London.

Eating 10 Meals a Day Job of 125-Pound Girl

BOSTON.—Petite Anna Martin is paid to eat 10 meals a day.

Employed by a chain restaurant to try out the menus of rival concerns, the slim professional "taster" is on the job six days a week endeavoring to "lift" the most palatable of rival concerns' dishes and transplant them to her employer.

Miss Martin keeps in trim for her job by walking every place she goes. While the exercise helps, it can hardly be compared to the energy-consuming occupation of six-day bicycle riders, the only other persons to approach the eating capacities of the 125-pound "gourmet."

Another of those series pictures will get underway shortly when that famous newspaper comic strip is brought to the screen. Of course, it's "Blondie." Penny Singleton will play Blondie and Arthur Lake will do Dagwood. It's the story of a typical young American family—the events of Blondie and her blundering young husband. A 4-year-old plays "Baby Dumpling."

Pat O'Brien and James Cagney will be co-starred once again in

Pays $300 for Old Stamps; Finds One Worth $50,000

LOS ANGELES.—A few months ago, Warren R. Du Bois purchased a stamp collection from an estate for $300. Included was a 1-cent blue issue which he marked for sale at $3. It went unsold. A short time later he found it bore a Baltimore, Md., first-day cancellation of August 17, 1861. Jubilant, Du Bois checked with experts. The stamp is worth $50,000.

That's the set-up and it goes far in explaining the caliber of the "Four of Charm" music. Every girl in the band is a talented vocalist, as well as a musician, and the same thirty girls form a glee club on the most striking effects in radio. Maxine of the velvety haunting voice, and Frances, Fern and Connie, a vocal trio, give voice to the brilliance and beauty of the music of the orchestra.

"It is as important that my girls can sing as well as they can play," said the distinguished maestro, "and it is only through long hours of hard work and deep concentration that any musician can hope to excel."

During the broadcasts the young ladies scurry back and forth to the microphones with their musical instruments, getting into proper position for the varied effects. Frequently this means a quick shifting of instruments as many of the girls

"BOYS' TOWN"

Bobbs Watson and Mickey Rooney in "Boys Town"

Dramatic true-life story of Father Edward J. Flanagan and his right to establish a home for underprivileged boys, "Boys Town," stars Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney.

With ninety borrowed dollars Father Flanagan founded his first home. Two newsboys and three juvenile delinquents were its occupants. From this modest start, courageous Father Flanagan worked for 21 years to build Boys Town, Nebraska, an incorporated village of 275, of which 200 are boys.

In the history of Boys Town was found a ready-made motion picture. Tracy portrays Father Flanagan, the first time he has played a priest since his Father Tim in "San Francisco" brought him universal acclaim. Rooney, recently praised for his performances in "Love Finds Andy Hardy" and "Lord Jeff," has the role of an incorrigible boy who thinks he is too tough for Boys Town. Brother of a gangster, he is placed in Father Flanagan's care. Despised by the other boys, he wins their respect with the help of Father Flanagan.

Norman Taurog directed the picture. Noted for his direction of child actors, Taurog's most recent successes were "Tom Sawyer" and "Mad About Music"—adv.

H-O-L-L-Y-W-O-O-D'S R-A-D-I-O R-O-U-N-D-E-R

By Chuck Cochard

Hollywood.—Movie flashes from here and there. Hollywood's number one glamour girl, Hedy Lamarr, will be teamed with Spencer Tracy in her first starring picture in this town in "A New York Cinderella." The exotic Lamarr created a sensation in "Algiers."

Despite the fact that Hollywood is considered the movie capital of the world, Russia has more theaters than the United States. The Soviet country has 26,000 motion picture theatres as compared to 18,182 in America. Germany has 5,395 or 387 more than England.

The next Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers co-starring picture will be "The Castles," a story based upon the lives of Irene Castle and her late husband, Vernon Castle, who, more than 20 years ago were internationally famous dancers. Mrs. Castle will act as adviser.

Mary Astor has completely recovered from her recent horse-back fall, according to her husband, Manuel Del Campo.

Marie Wilson's beautiful long eyelashes are real and not fakes as you have probably thought. I tried to pull them.

Next edition of the famous "Judge Hardy" family series will be "Out West With The Hardys" with the same brilliant cast of Mickey Rooney, Lewis Stone, Cecilia Parker, Anne Rutherford—and a new addition in Ralph Morgan. These pictures are always good.

Shirley Temple will be aided by lovely Anita Louise and Richard Greene in her next "The Little Princess."

One of the greatest casts of the year will be assembled for the picture "Tail Spin"—with Constance Bennett, Alice Faye, Nancy Kelly (that sensational youngster now on location with Tyrone Power for "Jesse James"), and that comediennes Joan Davis. A story dealing with women pilots.

Another of those series pictures will get underway shortly when that famous newspaper comic strip is brought to the screen. Of course, it's "Blondie." ### MICKIE SAYS—

"Oklahoma Kid," a story of the old West dealing with the life of cowboys.

"Valley of the Giants" starring Wayne Morris, Claire Trevor, Frank McHugh, and Donald Crisp is the best action picture we've seen this year. It's exciting from beginning to end and all in color. It is the story of preserving the California redwood timber for the future generations and the ousting of the land grabbers. You'll like it if you like fast action films. A 3 Star-Lite picture.

For some time Merle Oberon has been noted as one of Hollywood's most devoted sun bathers. This reputation and the prominent location of her Santa Monica beach home have brought floods, droves, herds, and flocks of Peeping Tom airplanes and a blimp cruising over her patio.

With the help of technicians at Sam Goldwyn's studio, Miss Oberon has had built a sliding roof which can be opened over a sun bathing area, but snaps shut the second an airplane roars into view. Not a bad idea, eh?

Freddie Bartholomew, the sensational young English lad who rose to stardom overnight because of "David Copperfield," was born in London on March 28. He is 14 years old. When an infant he was taken by his aunt, Miss Myllicent Bartholomew, who reared him at her home in England. He received his schooling from his aunt.

Has a very high-pitched voice, but is a regular. Hollywood has not spoiled him. His latest picture is "Listen Darling," in which he appears with Judy Garland.

ATLANTIC AIRLINES RACE NEAR GETAWAY

Planes of Five Powers Vie For Best Routes.

NEW YORK.—Five nations engaged in a race for commercial air supremacy of the North Atlantic are conducting experimental flights over routes which may soon be traversed regularly by planes carrying passengers, mail and cargo.

For years aviation companies of five nations have been jealously watching each other's designs on the North Atlantic. Each is hopeful of beating its rivals to establishment of air service over what, from the viewpoint of nationalistic prestige, is the most important route in the world.

Engaged in the race are Pan-American Airways of the United States and the following government-subsidized companies of foreign countries:

Imperial Airways, commissioned by the British government to establish an empire route connecting England, Ireland, Newfoundland, Canada and the United States; Air France Transatlantique, subsidized by the French government to the extent of $5,000,000; Deutsche Luftthansa of Germany; Ala Littoria of Italy.

Service by Fall Possible.

Theoretically, Pan-American and Imperial Airways are neck and neck at this stage of the race, and it is possible that each will be in the air by autumn, carrying mail and passengers between England and New York.

The Germans have made the most survey flights and have obtained permission to make more from Lisbon, Portugal, via the Azores to America.

The Germans, French and Italians already have established mail services across the South Atlantic, but Pan-American, with its South American and Pacific lines, has the most ocean-flying experience.

Both the American and British companies have obtained full commercial flying rights over both North Atlantic routes—via Southampton, Newfoundland and Canada to the United States, or via Portugal, the Azores and Bermuda. The others, have or are in the process of obtaining experimental rights only.

Pan-American Ready.

Pan-American flew the northern route twice and southern once last summer, but plans no further surveys because its personnel already has more than 4,000,000 miles of ocean-flying experience.

Imperial Airways made seven round-trip survey flights via Ireland and Newfoundland last year, and will make more this summer.

Imperial is experimenting with the Mayo composite craft, a small plane capable of carrying little beside mail which is catapulted from a larger plane.

Air France Transatlantique plans to make its first survey flights with the 80,000 pound Lt. De Vaisseau Paris. A fleet of flying boats, similar to the Boeing 314, will not be ready for another year.

Bachelor Is Host to 300 Weekly in Past Decade

TAMPA, FLA.—More than 200,000 guests have enjoyed the hospitality of Joseph F. Miyares, self-styled "old bachelor," at his home during the last 10 years. Most of his visitors have been children of high school age.

Miyares said "it's simply a hobby and the pleasure is all mine," as he explained that reputable organizations, high school fraternities and class parties were welcome to use his home at any time for "good, clean, wholesome fun."

An average of 300 guests a week during the past 10 years have taken advantage of Miyares' "hobby," danced at his home, used his 50-foot swimming pool and roamed the two acres of gardens which surround his home.

The parties given at his home always are well chaperoned, Miyares said, "but on some counts they must do as I say."

Solid Freezing of Earth Is Seen in 71,799 Years

MIAMI.—After two years of research, Prof. Hirsch Yankelwitz, formerly of the Institute of Technology of St. Petersburg university, declares that the earth will freeze into a solid ball in 71,799 years.

It's all a question of determining when the volcanic fires, which give life and vegetation, will burn out. He reaches his figure by comparing the dimensions of the earth, Mars and the moon, freezing three spheres of relative size, letting them form a coating of ice and then measuring the amount of moisture.

Traveling Around America

A THOUSAND-YEAR-OLD CITY

THIS attractive balcony-hung street runs through Quito, capital of Ecuador, one of the three oldest cities in the New World still in existence today—the other two being Cuzco, ancient capital of the Incas in Peru, and Mexico City, descendant of the Tenoctitlan of Moctezuma's time. Formerly center of the ancient Quito Kingdom, Quito antedates Cuzco founded in 1100 A.D.

Quito gives a truer picture of Spanish colonial days in South America than any other city on the continent for although it has taken on modern ways and characteristics, it has relinquished little of its medieval atmosphere. This is in part due to the fact that it has been practically shut off from the rest of the world—the railroad first entered the capital only twenty years ago. Now it is connected both by air and rail lines with Guayaquil, the chief port, which is visited regularly by ships from New York making weekly cruises to the west coast republics of South America.

Quito resting 9500 feet above sea level is surrounded by some of the most spectacular peaks of the Andes, among them the famous Chimborazo whose magnificent form reaches a height of 20,700 feet; Cotopaxi with a height of 19,400 feet and Tungurahua almost 17,000 feet high. In this gorgeous setting are some of the most beautiful edifices erected by the Spaniards in the New World—low buildings of stucco gleaming white with arcades and patios and richly carved balconies—centered around a main plaza adorned with gardens and fountains and tropical trees. It's a veritable dream city which travelers are just discovering.

Edward K. Thorndike

Edward K. Thorndike, 74, died suddenly Thursday morning at his home on Camden road. Although he had been in ill health the past few years and about a month ago had suffered a severe heart attack, he had been up and about the house each day even to the morning of his death, when he arose at about 6.30 and the end came suddenly about a half hour later.

Funeral services will be held this Saturday at 2 o'clock at the home, Rev. E. O. Kenyon of the Rockland Episcopal Church officiating. Burial will be in Mountain cemetery in Camden.

Mr. Thorndike was born in this town, son of the late Eben and Julia (Shepherd) Thorndike. His early life was spent in the town of his birth. At the age of 21 he went to Boston where for more than 25 years he was engaged in business. On returning here in 1912 he became manager of the local office of the Rockland-Rockport Lime Co., holding that position until the office was discontinued. An unusually active mind and a keen sense of humor made friends for him of all those with whom he came in contact and he will be greatly missed among his associates.

Surviving are a sister, Miss Nellie Thorndike of Rockport and two nieces Miss Margaret Simonds of Indianapolis and Miss Ruth Simonds of Rockport.

William J. Latta

Word has been received from Philadelphia of the death of William J. Latta, which occurred Sept. 29. Mr. Latta, a former general agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, died at his home at Chestnut Hill at the age of 96.

For many years Mr. Latta was a summer resident of this town occupying with his family the cottage which he built on Beauchamp Point, and which was one of the first cottages to be erected in that section of the town.

He entered the railroad service in 1870 as a telegraph operator, and making rapid advancement in his work he soon became superintendent of the Altoona division of the Pennsylvania in 1881. Three years later he was elected general agent. Resigning from railroading in 1889 he entered private business as a transportation agent for many Philadelphia industrial concerns. Three years ago he retired from active work.

Surviving are a son William J. Latta, Jr., and four daughters, Mrs. W. Griffin Gribbel of Philadelphia and Rockport, Mrs. Harry A. Frank, Mrs. Dozier Finley and Miss Katherine Latta.

Funeral services were held Oct. 1 with burial at West Laurel Hill cemetery, Philadelphia.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SNAPSHOT ODDITIES

Giant frog. Some wag painted eyes and mouth on a big roadside boulder—and an alert picture-taker came along and snapped an excellent "oddy" picture. Keep your eyes open for things such as this—they add interest to your album.

Do YOU keep your eyes open for odd and curious things which might be material for an "unusual picture" section in your snapshot album?

Watch for such subjects when you are on a picture-taking jaunt, and you may be surprised at the things you find. Oddly twisted trees that look like old men—a freakish bit of architecture—a wall-shadow that looks like a human face in profile—an unusually realistic scarecrow in a farmer's field—cloud formations—all these are candidates for the "unusual picture" collection.

Observe reflections, too. Picture the upside-down reflection of a building in water. Turn the picture right side up, and the water ripples look like heat waves. Extreme angle shots of some subjects, taken with camera pointed straight up or straight down, often produce weird effects. For example, put the camera on the floor at the bottom of a well-lighted circular staircase and take a "straight-up" shot—with short time exposure if you have a slow camera, or a snapshot if your camera has a fast lens. The resulting picture will be fantastic—but a good subject for your album.

Shadows often produce picture oddities. Shadows of bars at the zoo may put a striped coat on a lion. Curved surfaces, such as a chromium bowl or convex mirror, produce oddly distorted reflections you can picture. And here's an idea: put a small subject such as a kitten or puppy on a glass-topped lawn table, and snap a picture from underneath. If you take care that the glass picks up no reflections, it will be invisible—and the subject will seem to be floating in air!

These pictures are fun—both to take and to show to your friends. A good collection of "guess what?" or "guess how?" pictures can provide hours of entertainment at a party. Build up a clever album of such snapshots; it's not hard, and you'll have pictures worth while.

John van Guilder.

Modern Science Saves Day

SEVEN skilled workmen were saved a day's wages recently when radio-facsimile beat the mails by many hours. A sudden change in plans of the RCA exhibit building at the World's Fair grounds in Flushing would have made it necessary to lay off these men for a day while new drawings were coming from Philadelphia to New York. However, the architect in the Quaker City rushed the new plans to the R.C.A. Communications office there, and within ten minutes the radio-facsimile equipment, which had been installed previously at the World's Fair grounds, had placed the completed sketch in the hands of contractors. The photo shows C. W. Fitch, RCA representative, at left, and Louis Skidmore, architect, studying the finished plans with the contractors; insert, the men on the job a few minutes later.

Mrs. J. Russell Davis will entertain the Federated Circle at her home next Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dorman went to Portland this morning to meet her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Fought of Mechanicsburg, Pa. who are coming to visit them.

The Baptist Choral Society had supper in the vestry Tuesday preceding rehearsal. The tables were attractive with autumn decorations and this tempting menu: fresh crabmeat salad, scalloped potatoes, buttered beans, squash, tomato pickles, hot muffins, coffee and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Richards White of Rockland were special guests, and the others present were Mrs. Grace M. Strout, choir director; Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Starrett, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. White, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Greene and Miss Margaret Simmons of Rockland. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Butler and children Joyce and Richard of Warren, Miss Laura Meserve of Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Foster and daughters, Miss Hester and Miss Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Strout and son Arthur, Mrs. Guy Lerner, Mrs. Lella Smalley, Miss Olive Rowell, Miss Louise Thurston, Miss Gwendolyn, Miss Ruth Butler, Miss Maxine Chapman, Miss Estelle Moore, Millard Gilmore and Edward Thurston.

The Garden Club will have the final meeting of this season next Thursday night at 7:30 at Mrs. W. T. Flint's home. Mrs. H. D. Crie will speak on her personal experience with carrier pigeons. Refreshments are in charge of Mrs. James E. Creighton.

Preceding the meeting of Mayflower Temple last night supper was served to members. Plans were completed for the dinner next Tuesday noon for the Farmers' Union stockholders' meeting.

The Contract Club met yesterday afternoon in the Harriet Levensaler house. There were four tables, Miss Lucy Rokes having highest score, Mrs. W. T. Flint second, Miss Lizzie Levensaler third, and Mrs. Maynard Spear fourth. Next Friday the Club will meet with Mrs. Flint.

The October meeting of the Nurse Association was held last night in the selectmen's rooms.

Pythian Sisters' Convention

The Knox County Pythian Sisters' Convention was held Thursday in the Pythian hall. The school of instruction in the afternoon was well attended and there was a large attendance in the evening, representatives present from the Temples in Friendship, Warren, Belfast, Camden and North Haven.

Officers were chosen from those Temples: Mrs. Oliver of Friendship, most excellent chief; Mrs. Abbie Stickney of Warren, past chief; Mrs. Esther Simmons, Camden, senior; Mrs. Elizabeth Greenlaw of North Haven, junior; Mrs. Shirley Bowley of Warren, manager; Mrs. Jennie Eastus of Belfast, protector; Mrs. Jennie Kendall of Belfast, guard.

The degree team was chosen from the floor, the leaders Mrs. Edith Wyllie of Warren and Mrs. Dora Maxcy of this town. The candidates were Mrs. Mertie Grover of Thomaston and Mr. Hall of Camden.

Following the work, Mrs. Mary Eider of Portland the Grand Chief gave an interesting talk on Pythianism. She announced that inspections will be held in these six lodges during November and she plans to attend at least three of them. The District Deputy Grand Chief, Mrs. Golda Hall of Camden, assisted in the work.

Supper was served by Mrs. Ora Woodcock, Mrs. Kathryn Studley, Mrs. Mary Henry, Mrs. Alcada Libby and Mrs. Dorothy Horsley.

'A Little Bird Told Me'

This little expression, "A little bird told me," for "I won't betray my informant," is not a literal quotation, but is undoubtedly borrowed from Ecclesiastes 10:29: "Curse not the king, no, not in thy thought; and curse not the rich in thy bedchamber; for a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter."

John Jenkins who was a patient at Knox Hospital, has returned home.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Cargill, observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home at Pleasantville, Sunday a group of nearly 40 giving them a surprise party. They received many useful gifts and refreshments were served.

Mr. Cargill was born in Washington son of Samuel and Rebecca (Rackliff) Cargill. A cooper by trade, he worked at that vocation in Washington, Waldoboro, and this town. He had resided here for the past 28 years. Mrs. Cargill was born in Waldoboro, the oldest daughter of Albert and Elizabeth (Gross).

Mr. and Mrs. Cargill were married, Sept. 28, 1888, by Augustus Cogswell, J. P. in Washington. They have four children, Mrs. John Smith of Thomaston and Mrs. Clarence Young of Woolwich, Mrs. Edward Leonard and Clinton Cargill; 16 grandchildren; and four great grandchildren.

Present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, and five children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and Franklin Smith of Thomaston; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Young and four children, Miss Beatrice Merrifield, and Percy Merrifield of Woolwich; Sanford Cargill, Philip Cemeau, Mrs. George Weaver, son Edward daughter Dorothy, and a grandson of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster of Topsham; Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Cargill and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leonard and three children and Edward Davis.

High School Activities

Warren High School played Waldoboro Tuesday in Waldoboro. They held their own 8 to 8 at the end of a game shortened because of rain and darkness. All those of this school who were interested in playing baseball had their chance and showed themselves worthy participants. Batteries were Winchenbach and Steele; Sili, Fales, Miller Robinson, and Wellington.

Miss Jennie Reilly, a missionary to India spoke Monday to the students on "India." Among some of the interesting facts was a striking comparison between education in this country and India. While only three percent of people in the United States can not read and write, in India there are only two percent of the women and ten percent of the men who can read and write. She described the revolts which took place a few years ago and gave countless other facts of interest.

The school has received an invitation to the pre-state series of football games at Bowdoin College and will attend the game a week from Saturday between Bowdoin and Williams.

The volley ball standing now finds the juniors in the lead with two victories and no defeats. The sophomores and freshmen have each won 1, and lost 1, while the seniors have lost the two games thus far.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lovejoy, and Miss Margaret Stahl entertained 41 members of Mrs. E. F. Glover's class with their husbands at "Trial Mark Farm." Owl's Head, Thursday night. One of the "snack suppers" for which the class is famous was served at 6:30, after which contract, 63, beano and flinch were played. The evening closed with the usual class-sing, John B. Robinson wielding the tuning-fork. A gorgeous sunset and a beautiful full moon added to the attractions of the occasion.

Mrs. Vernal Chapman has returned from Philadelphia, attending, while there, the graduation of her daughter, Miss Esther Chapman at the Methodist Episcopal Hospital. The exercises were unusually interesting, the class of 1938 numbering 19.

Samuel E. Rich of Isle au Haut is very ill in Knox Hospital. Mrs. Rich and Ava Rich are guests of Addie Rogers at 23 Spruce street, during his stay in the hospital.

The Ladies' Aid of Littlefield Memorial Church was entertained Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Harry Chase. During the business session, these officers were elected: President, Mrs. Christine Dorman; first vice president, Mrs. Katherine Gregory; second vice president, Mrs. Lillian Lord; secretary, Mrs. Edna Griffin; assistant secretary, Mrs. Berla Wikson; treasurer, Mrs. Maggie Farnham; work committee, Mrs. Lillian Lord and Mrs. Vivian Lord.

Mrs. Howard Chase and Miss Dorothy Lawry gave a bridge shower Thursday night, at the former's home on Broad street, with Mrs. Gertrude Blackington Moffitt and Mrs. Faye Hodgkins Winslow as honor guests. Mrs. Winslow was presented with useful kitchen articles and Mrs. Moffitt was given a table. Honors at cards went to Miss Mary Lawry, Mrs. Thomas Sweeney and Miss Pat Thompson. Others present were Mrs. Gordon DeWolfe, Mrs. Edward Barnard, Miss Anne Anderson, Mrs. Howe Glover, Miss Alice Hodgkins, Miss Joan Moulaison, Miss Marion Mulen, Miss Mildred Sweeney, Mrs. Samuel Dow, and Mrs. Nelson Giddens. Luncheon was served after the bridge game.

A happy time was enjoyed last night when Donald Clark entertained at his home on Orient street at a Halloween party, in honor of Raymond Rogers' 11th birthday anniversary. Decorations were cat o' nine tails and jack o' lanterns. Birthday cake, hot chocolate, pop corn and candy featured on the menu. Peter Sulides won the prize for pinning the tongue on the jack o' lantern. Guests were David Newcomb, Dale Lindsey, Curtis Lindsey, Oscar Fine, Donald Snowman, Raymond Rogers, Donald Clark, Lewis Leach, Peter Sulides, John Sulides, Sumner Archer and Donald Clark's sister, Gail.

HOME SERVICE

Do You Know That:

The thin, paper-like covering or "Fell" on a roast of lamb should not be removed? This is contrary to general opinion, as the thought has been that this "Fell" affects the flavor of the meat. As a matter of fact, it in no way affects the flavor, but rather helps the roast to keep its shape and cook faster.

Thorough chilling of canned fruit takes it out of the commonplace as a desert and lifts it into a new sphere. Keep a couple of different kinds stored on the back of the shelves, or pour the contents of a can into a freezing tray while preparing a meal, and it will be icy cold by the time you are ready to serve it as a dessert.

Certain fruits including melons and pineapple, unless wrapped may flavor ice cubes and butter in a refrigerator. We suggest placing them in paper bags, or waxed paper to seal in odors.

To get ice cubes released quickly from your trays, run a little hot water over both the top and bottom of the tray. Ice will fall out in a jiffy.

To segment oranges and grapefruit for a salad more easily, place the fruit in boiling water for three minutes. Then cut a piece from the top of the fruit with a sharp knife and pare as you would an apple. The outside membrane pulls away with the rind.

As a change from cheese stuffed celery, you may use a mixture of peanut butter and raw shredded carrot, or shredded carrot with drained crushed pineapple, a drop of onion and a little thick mayonnaise.

Coffee bags which are used in glass coffee makers may be kept fresh for a long time if they are kept in a jar of water in the electric refrigerator between uses.

When you use baking powder biscuit dough as a cover on your meat pie, mix 1 1/2 to 2 teaspoons of poultry seasoning with the flour baking powder and salt of your biscuit recipe. This makes a delicious addition.

When grinding raisins for a cake, try rinsing them first in boiling water and then in cold. This will keep them from sticking in your food grinder.

Keep a folded dish cloth wrung from warm, soapy water on your range when cooking, to wipe up splatters as soon as they occur. Do this and your range will always look bright and new.

The porcelain enamel oven lining is easily cleaned with a cloth wrung from warm, soapy water. Remove both units and racks. Charred food may be removed by gentle rubbing with fine steel wool. Cleaning is easiest when oven is slightly warm.

How 'Uncle Sam' Started

During the War of 1812 the government contracted with a certain Elbert Anderson to provision troops, and the casks of beef from his firm were stamped with the letters "U. S." A jovial inspector, Samuel Wilson, was known as Uncle Sam, and when questioned about the letters "E. A. U. S." on the goods replied that they meant "Elbert Anderson and Uncle Sam." The story was given wide circulation and "U. S." soon came to mean "Uncle Sam." The first newspaper cartoon of Uncle Sam appeared in the New York Lantern on March 13, 1852, F. Bell being the artist.

Deep Sea Fish Carry Lights

Fish that live in the dark depths of the ocean need some sort of lighting effects, and Nature has certainly done them proud. For instance, says Tit-Bits Magazine, the small shark lives at a depth of 9,000 feet, and finds its food on the ocean bed. It has lights on the under side of its body, so that it can see what it is eating.

'Don't Give Up the Ship'

Capt. James Lawrence, in command of the frigate Chesapeake, engaged the British ship Shannon off Boston Harbor on June 1, 1813. The Chesapeake was defeated and Lawrence was mortally wounded. As he lay dying, he said: "Tell the men to fight faster and not to give up the ship; fight her till she sinks." He died four days later, on June 5, 1813.

Music Used as Cure

People once believed that the only cure for the bite of the large hairy spider called the tarantula was lively music to which the victim would dance until he fell exhausted. From this belief came the name "tarantella" applied to a speedy Italian dance in which the tempo increases until the end.

Why You Say 'Hullo'

When you shout "Hullo!" you are really saying "A loup!" the warning cry given by forest residents in the old days, and equivalent to "Wolf!" It is said that "Hullo!" survives in Charnwood forest, England, as a halting term. If you repeat "A loup!" pronounced "Ah loo!" quickly you will see how "Hullo" arose.

Meadowlark Farmers' Friend

The meadowlark is the farmers' friend. Living near the ground as it does, it attacks most of the insect enemies of the crops. Its food is made up chiefly of insects, a smaller amount of weed seeds and some grain. The grain, however, is eaten in the late fall and early in the spring when insects are scarce.

Fine Ancient Picture

The so-called "Aldobrandine Nuptials" in Rome is said to be one of the finest ancient pictures in existence. Dating from the Augustan period, it is a copy of a Greek picture of about 400 B. C., and was found about 300 years ago.

Museum Named 'Victory'

A museum which takes its name, "Victory," from the name of Lord Nelson's flagship at Trafalgar, is operated at Portsmouth. Among the exhibits are Nelson's death mask and the original scale model of the Victory.

Early Name for Cincinnati

Losantiville was the name originally given to the settlement which is now Cincinnati, Ohio, by its founders, who had purchased land from the Scioto company in 1788. The name was changed in 1790.

One Form of Indian Torture

One form of torture practiced by the Indians consisted of sticking sharp, short splinters all over the body of a man tied to the stake. Then they would set fire to the splinters.

An Honest and Free Man

He who cannot wish that the whole world may think and act like himself, he has no right to call himself an honest and free man.—Auerbach.

REALM OF MUSIC

by Gladys St. Clair Heistad

When the famed Don Cossacks appear in their 14th Symphony Hall (Boston) concert tomorrow afternoon, the members will appear on the stage hatless. It seems that the traditional high conical Astrakhan hats the chorus used to wear for concert appearances proved a little too popular with Don Cossack fans who seized upon them in the dressing rooms and wings and carried them off as souvenirs.

It is said that many letters come to the manager of this organization each year protesting that the uniform the singers wear is not strictly "according to Hoyle." "Why do the Don Cossacks wear black tunics," hundreds of fans inquire, "when olive green and sapphire blue are the traditional Cossack colors?" The answer is simple—since the press of their concert schedule requires the singers to appear in a different city almost every night in the year, the chorus does not have time to send uniforms to the cleaners, and have adopted the black tunic as a practical measure.

Charpentier's opera "Louise" is to be filmed, starring Grace Moore. A French company has been formed to produce this picture which started on Sept. 15 at the Paramount Studio at Joinville, in the outskirts of Paris. The picture will be under the personal supervision of the venerable composer, Gustave Charpentier. The entire score of "Louise" will be used, and there will be 50 minutes of singing, the balance of the score being utilized for background.

"Louise" will be the most expensive production ever made in France, and the first one to use an American star. The composer, Charpentier, selected Miss Moore, whom he has known since she was a student in Paris and studied the role with him.

Lawrence Gilman's notes of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony concerts are to be transcribed into Braille to aid sightless listeners of the orchestra's programs. Numerous requests for such a book had been received, and Mrs. Donald M. Forgan, volunteer director of the New York Red Cross Chapter, offered its facilities to transcribe, print and bind the program notes. (The Chapter maintains a Braille service.) The book will comprise 100 Brailled pages, produced from plates by chapter volunteers who plan to issue the volume this autumn. Distribution will be made through the chapter, the Philharmonic-Symphony Society and through public libraries.

In connection with the Festival of Opera of the Zurich Stad-theater which began on May 28 with the premiere of Hindemith's "Mathis der Maler," it is of interest to note that shortly after the "Mathis" premiere a noteworthy address of introduction to the festival was delivered by Dr. Franz W. Beldier, Richard Wagner's oldest grandson, who lives in Zurich. He is the son of Wagner's daughter, Isolde, who married the Bayreuth Kapellmeister Beldier, a native of Switzerland. Dr. Beldier does not belong to the Bayreuth circle. What he had to say in his lecture about the Zurich Wagner tradition and festivals was new and original and often very bold. He called attention to the revolutionary aspect of Wagner's work and made the point that a festival should also have something new to offer, like Hindemith's opera. Furthermore, it should have something greater in view than the attraction of a moneyed snobocracy.

AUTUMN
Now the summer time is over and the autumn day is here.
The richest, rarest, ripest days through all the whole year.
For October's skies are bluer than the skies of any June.
And the earth is brimmed with beauty on this smiling afternoon.
There is not the simple sameness as in summer's robe of green.
For gay colors, bright and vivid, sparkle in the harvest scene.

Now the greatest, grandest artist with his magic brush and dyes
Has splashed the lanes and woodland with the tints of sunset skies.
From the hickories and hazels gleams of glowing crimson shine
And the grapes are deepest purple hanging heavy on the vine.

There the saffrass and sweet-gum flaunt a flag of scarlet hue
And the ragged wayside weedings blossom out in tender blue.
All earth's carpet soft, is turning just to match the russet brown
Of the leaves that crisp and flutter from the waving branches down.
But there is no sadder sadness in this of creeping age
For the year is brave, triumphant in the glory of her wage.

Though her days are growing briefer and her nights hold hint of cold
Yet from every tree and bramble shines her verdant wealth of gold.
As the Master decks the woodland with such beauty near the end
Will he not, to his dear children, richer, rarer garments lend?
In a radiant coat of colors will he robe the ripened soul
And in every rent or wrinkle place a patch of wisdom's gold.

When the spring of life is over and the summer is at its end
We will find life, brightest blessings have been kept until the last.
—Mary Tarver Carroll (Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser)

The writer of this column had a delightful visit with William Harms at his Rockport summer home just before that gifted young pianist left to take up concert duties and teaching for the 1938-39 season. Mr. Harms, who devotedly loves Maine, purchased a permanent summer home in 1937, a nice old house near the Capt. Eells Boat Barn. It has large airy rooms, particularly the living room and dining room, and an exquisite winding stairway leading to a large upper hall. Already Mr. Harms' artistic taste is beginning to show in the development—especially in curtains and hangings, pictures, furniture arrangement, color combinations, etc. He has a desire for drop leaf tables and here and there he has picked up some very good ones, some to be finished yet. Mr. Harms' summer evidently has done him worlds of good, for he has never looked so well, and judiciously, from his conversation he is returning to winter activities with enthusiasm and happiness. In addition to his study with Josef Hofmann, teaching at Curtis Institute of Music and in one other school (whose name escapes me just now), he has many concert engagements in the offing. His concert work, he commented, has never touched Maine, and he has the desire to tour the Pine Tree State for which he has such affection. It has been some time since he has been heard in concert in this section and it would seem such a tour might meet with success.

The September issue of Musical America carried a review of the summer activities of The Curtis String Quartet, the article accompanied by a picture of the charming sign which directs one to the Quartet's home, the Captain Eells Boat Barn, Rockport.

At Bates College

Registration This Year Is Third Largest With 683 Students

The third largest group of new students in the history of Bates College is registered for the fall term, according to announcement by the registrar. With a total of 241, the group is exceeded only by the 246 new registrants in 1931, and the 243 last year.

The student body is also the third largest in the history of the college. With a total of 683, the enrollment is bettered only by the 712 record set in 1931, and the figure of 697 last year.

Massachusetts with 96 students, leads the eight states and three foreign countries which are represented in the list. Maine is second with 73—35 of which are from Lewiston and Auburn. Other states are: Connecticut, 23; New Hampshire, 16; New York, 14; New Jersey, 9; Rhode Island, 6; and Pennsylvania, 1. Foreign countries are: Canada 1; India 1; and Germany 1.

The percentage of women in the group of new students declined from 43 to 39 percent this year, while the percentage of men increased from 57 to 61.

THE GARTHANNON SCHOOL

[For The Courier-Gazette]

I know this school full well:
Where tenderness and mercy dwell,
Where the dominant watchword stands
For infinite patience in all demands
That come from the clouded minds.
Whose sensitive hearts lack wisdom's ways.

With co-ordination left from out their days.
Little ones and large assembled
With eager eyes and watchful ever
Sensitive souls, benumbed yet longing
For some light on what is coming
In their fog-bound journey roaming.

Patient teachers, gentle nurses,
Busy day and night with striving
To open vistas through constant urging.
Searching for some spark of fire
To burn with gentle heart's desire,
And given them beauty and joy entire.

Flowers, gardens, lawns, and boating,
Swimming, dancing, singing, playing
Games and festivals of mirth—
These are taught with infinite skill
To the weary, restless yearning
In the school for the retarded in learning.

Naught of this work had e'er been known
Until a noble hearted soul
Remembered the Saviour's message:
"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto
One of the least of these."
And faithful to this trust, the valiant band
Still carry worthily this school in hand;
And prove the Doctrine of Divine Love
Is not of earth, but from above.

THE PAPER FROM HOME

[For The Courier-Gazette]

Have you ever been away from home
And lonesome as could be,
Just thinking of the home folk
And the ones you longed to see?
Or what they might be doing
If the old ones looked the same?
And wish you might meet someone
That could tell you by your name?

Then pausing for a paper
In your wanderings up and down,
You found the one you longed for
From your own home town?
Now didn't you feel happy,
As in fact you were indeed,
While you hurried back to your hotel,
Its every word so read
It seemed as though a friend had come
To visit you awhile.

And left you with such pleasant thoughts
Your heart turned to a smile,
You're sure that all agree with me
No matter where you roam,
There's nothing pleases better
Than the paper that's from home.

FOOLISH BIRDS

[For The Courier-Gazette]

You greedy grosbeaks eating all my peas
Why don't you stay up longer in the trees?
Why don't you leave my good legumes
Till they are all filled out and fully grown?
You then would get a bigger food supply.
The prodigal of my work would amplify,
You're just as foolish as some folks I know
Whose depredations cause their neighbors woe.

They cannot wait to earn their daily bread
By honest work and business but instead
They lie, defraud, they swindle, steal and cheat
In order to obtain the food they eat.

You foolish humans, can't you ever see
Much better fed and happier you will be
If you take time to reap from life's rich soil
The fruits of righteousness and honest toil?

Allison M. Watts

AUTUMN LEAVES

[For The Courier-Gazette]

Brilliant leaves dancing
In quick tempo so gay,
Flaunting bright colors
In gorgeous array.

Leaves of the spring time,
They adorned vine and trees;
And swayed to the rhythm
Of the soft summer breeze.

Strong winds now seize them,
In a firm, close embrace;
And fly off together
In a wild madcap race.

Some fall to the earth
And mix with the clay;
Some go with the wind—
Out of sight, far away.

BITS OF FUN

[For The Courier-Gazette]

A little boy sat on his grandpa's knee,
"Jump down, Buddy, a minute," said he.
"I want my glasses: where do you suppose?"
Oh, you scamp, they are on your nose,
Where did you find them, Bud," said he.
"Where you left them, and I put them on me."

"Gram, where do you keep your thinking cap?"
Do you ever lose it?" said he.
"Oh, no. It is always with me, dear,"
"I never saw it," said he.

WOULD INCREASE C. C. C.

Proposal that the Civilian Conservation Corps be expanded to accommodate an additional 50,000 jobless youths and that the number of camps for persons of the war veteran age be increased, was made Tuesday by Representative Jed Johnson of Oklahoma, chairman of the House Democratic Steering Committee. As the outstanding CCC advocate in the House, Johnson announced that he would lead fights to achieve both goals in the next session of Congress.

The Senior Maine History Class left E.S.N.S. campus, Castine Thursday afternoon and went first to the paper mill at Bucksport. They later visited to Fort Knox and then the Alumni Camps at Sandy Point, where they spent the night. On Friday, early, they were being shown over the Belfast shoe factory. In that city they viewed some of the old historic houses. Rockland was the next objective and The Courier-Gazette office the point of interest. That visit has already been described in a recent issue of that newspaper. It certainly proved a most interesting and instructive experience from the viewpoint of the students. The lino type slugs, which they were given as souvenirs have been highly valued.

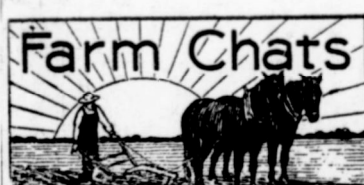

A picnic lunch was eaten in Mrs. Carl Chaple's hospitable home after which they went on for a visit to the State Prison. Warden Welch himself took them around the prison and was very kind about answering their many questions. They enjoyed buying souvenirs both in the prison and at the prison shop across the street.

Beautiful Montpelier came next. They were so charmed with the place and also with Mrs. Creighton, the hostess, that it was hard for them to tear themselves away. They were finally consoled by the fact that they could return and bring other friends who had never visited the spot.

That night the class spent at Crescent Beach as guests in Edward Gonia's cottage. The rain outside made the inside still cozier with corn being popped and marshmallows toasted in the large fireplace, while others played cards and still others took turns at the piano. It was a happy night.

Again they started early and after viewing the old German Church in Waldoboro went on to Pemaquid Light via New Harbor, stopping on the way at various points of interest. Pemaquid Fort was closed for the season but for them a special trip over it was made by the caretaker.

A brief stop was made at one of the girls' homes, in Gardiner, where they went on to Augusta. Although it was Saturday afternoon, through special permission they were shown over the beautiful Blaine Mansion and had also special consideration shown them at the State House. Return to Castine was made that night. The group felt that the trip had been most interesting and profitable. They have felt very grateful to so many people everywhere who seemed to want to do everything possible to help in making the trip a great success.

A careful inspection of the house for fire hazards now may save a costly blaze some cold winter night. Be sure to check the chimney and flues, common causes of preventable fires.

A study of farm family medical costs show that the average amount spent by U. S. farm families for medical service each year is $30. Drugs, health and accident insurance and other closely related costs account for an additional $12. expenditure.

A light application of hay—one ton or less to the acre—spread evenly over blueberry ground as soon as the leaves turn red is recommended by the Maine Experiment Station. This makes it possible to get an early burn next spring.

Hives of bees should be prepared for winter before November. Many bees are lost each year because the hive is not protected from the cold. Bulletin 226 of the Maine Extension Service gives instruction on elementary bee keeping. Copies are free from the Extension Service, University of Maine, Orono, Maine.

Farm mortgage recordings in six counties show that the average loan reached a high of $2,980 in 1920 and then fell almost continuously to a low of $1,710 in 1935. The average interest rate reached a maximum of 6.8 percent in 1921, then dropped almost without interruption to a low of 5.2 percent in 1935. Beginning in 1933 the federal land bank and land bank commissioner became the most important lender, with individuals second in amount of new loans.

GUARDIANS OF OUR COAST

What our lightkeepers and coast guardsmen are doing to protect coastwise shipping by day and by night. The day's news from many lonely outposts along Maine's waterfront.

SEA TOWN

In this salt-weathered town the men have quiet and sea-colored eyes. They know the rust, the sound of cloud. The tattered signals of the skies.

They know the slant of homing masts Against the squall, against the light; They read the signature of stars Upon the wheeling chart of night.

Along these steep and narrow streets They go—the calm, sea-hungry men. To hoist their patched and sturdy sails And beat into the wind again.

Saddleback Ledge

Hello, everyone! We are still above water, but do not know how long we shall be, as the additional keeper "One Buggy Osgood" is likely to squelch her any minute.

Mr. Osgood came here Sept. 19 from Mark Island, Mr. Alley, the first assistant going to his home in Beals Island.

B. E. Stewart, the second assistant, arrived Sept. 25 from the Marine Hospital in Portland. He still has a list to port and it will likely be a long time yet before he is on an even keel.

The tender Flex landed here Sept. 24 and left 600 gallons of kerosene. Previous to that the tender Hibiscus had unloaded 11 tons of coal and a small quantity of wood.

A. W. Bennett keeper of Heron Neck Light had an appointment with Dr. R. L. Stratton, dentist, recently. Dreading the ordeal, he put it off till the last moment and then made a dash from the Light to his boat. In his hurry, having his mind on his teeth, he did not quite make the boat but slid from the rocks overboard and had to fare back to the Light for a change of clothes, finally arriving at the doctor's office in his best trousers and new shoes.

Mrs. A. F. Osgood, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Orcutt, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wickerson, Minnie Pelkey and Albert S. Osgood recently enjoyed a picnic dinner at the Light. Mrs. Pelkey had a "touch of cold feet" when it was her turn to come ashore in the "bos'n chair," but she was finally taken in the station pea pod and landed very carefully on the boat slip by the skipper.

Ernest and Seth Norwood who were recently on a fishing trip with Orris Norwood called at the Light and left us clams and six quarts of fine milk.

Fish in this vicinity do not seem to be very hungry. The additional keeper and I fished for several hours and caught only four cod. Perhaps there was a Jonah in the crowd. By the way, the additional keeper caught the four fish. Since he has been here, he has been continually reading detective stories. While he did not land his man, he did land his fish.

Mr. Osgood and I rowed in Sept. 28 for mail and supplies. We had dinner at his home in Vinal Haven. Returning, we had a fine breeze and reached the Light in one hour and 15 minutes. That is good time for a pea pod.

Mr. Stewart and the additional keeper went ashore this week for the check, mail and supplies. While enroute to town, a rain squall came up and did it rain! They got thoroughly drenched.

I had planned to go to Mark Island the other day to get my hair cut and visit Keeper Robinson but company arrived and so I could not make the trip. However, I certainly intend to get there the first fine day if nothing else interferes.

Good luck to all keepers and families.

Portland Head

Busy days continue and after outdoor chores are completed, we stay inside as it is cool weather to hang around in the open.

A new road from the foot of Martin Hill in the Fort to the Light Station gate is under construction. A large crew of men are busy all day, so we have no dull moments.

Visitors are being escorted in the tower on schedule time each week day but they are much less in number. As usual, visitors drop off as fall days advance.

F. O. Hilt and family entertained last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Adrian

Kinney, daughter Corinne and son Robert of Lisbon Falls.

R. F. Sterling is still on vacation. He and his family were guests at dinner last Saturday at the home of W. C. Dow in Portland. Sunday they were joined by Arthur Harlow, and went on a trip to the White Mountains. They went Monday to Danvers, Mass., where they have been guests of Mrs. Sarah Webster and son Edgar for the week.

Superintendents' Conference

Herman M. Ingalls of Portland, superintendent of the Maine-New Hampshire Lighthouse District, arrived in Washington Thursday for a 10-day conference of the 17 light-house superintendents of the country.

Mr. Ingalls has the longest service record—45 years, five others have 40 years. The average service is 33 years; the youngest, in point of service is 21 years.

The conference will deal with technical and administrative procedure and everything which might add to the uniformity and efficiency of the service. The superintendents will go Oct. 15 to Cape Henry, Norfolk, to observe tests of new types of fog signal apparatus.—From Portland Press Herald.

TENANT'S HARBOR

Church Notes

"The Static or Dynamic Church" will be the subject of the sermon by Pastor Smith at the Church on the Hill Sunday at 10.30. Mrs. Lee Andrews will sing.

The Bible School under the direction of Supt. David Silverwright Sr. has resumed full activities, and with a call to rallying the former class members is on the climb for greater attendance and study. All officers and teachers of the Bible School are to meet at the church parlor next Thursday for conference.

The Happy Hour of Music and Message is held each Sunday at 7 o'clock, for informal fellowship singing. "What is that in thine hand" will be the subject of the pastor.

A series of classes for the study of the Epistle of Paul to the Romans was begun Wednesday. All are invited to attend these studies at 7 o'clock each Wednesday.

MARTINSVILLE

"Fret Not Thyself" will be the subject of the pastor of the Baptist Church at 10.30 Sunday morning. The Bible School will meet at 11.30. The topic "Prevailing Prayer" will be the pastor's consideration at the evening service at 7. The prayer service this week will be suspended owing to the Lincoln Baptist Association meeting in Liberty.

English Oysters

Will Be Given Chance To Thrive On Maine Flats, At Southport

Co-operating with William Ray of Southport the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries is conducting an interesting experiment in the propagation of oysters. Commissioner Greenleaf, said Wednesday, that three acres of "likely" flats had been set aside for this work in Southport Gut and that Mr. Ray, a recognized student and authority on oysters was financing and supervising the work.

Seed oysters of the English variety have been planted in the flats. Sea and Shore wardens will police the area to prevent it from being molested.

Mr. Ray believes that it is possible to develop a commercial oyster fishery on the Maine coast providing the right variety is used and has offered Commissioner Greenleaf the full benefit of his experience and research in carrying on experiments. Greenleaf said that if the Southport propagation is successful he will attempt similar activity in other localities.

Shell heaps and historians present evidence that oysters were abundant along the coast many years ago. It is believed that some great physical change in water temperature or other natural causes destroyed the beds.

Although there has been no commercial fishery in recent years small beds have been reported along the coast but the Department of Fisheries has no official records of this.

Mr. Ray states that the English variety is different that the species abundant along the mid-Atlantic coast and due to its hardness should stand a better chance of gaining a foothold in the cooler waters of the Maine seaboard.—By Dick Reed of the Maine Development Commission.
